MATADORS WIN TURKEY DAY GRID TILT

Death Of Business Manager Is Great Blow To Tech

FIRST SERIOUS BLOW ROBS TECH OF SECRETARY

DILIGENT AND INFLUENTIAL WORKER IS LOST TO TECH

When the distressing pall of mourning has been removed from the campus of the Texas Technological College and the minds of students and faculty members have been somewhat relieved of the tension caused by the startling announcement of the sudden death of the late R. M. Chitwood,—when the conditions of the college have settled back to normalcy—then the problem of recovering from the loss of its secretary and business manager will first be seen in its actual reality, is the opinion of the officers of administration.

The death of Mr. Chitwood came as the first serious blow to the institution since its establishment. It is altogether probable that no man has been closer associated with the interests of the institution since the time the bill creating the Tech was introduced in the legislature until the time of his death than the late business manager. Within the past two years every action in the interest of the college, whether financial or otherwise, has been at his very finger tips.

Mr. Chitwood's connections with the business affairs of colleges in the past, and his work in behalf of education in the legislature, fitted him for the position he held in a manner in which few men are ever qualified for their positions in life.

His influence as a political leader was of especial importance inasmuch as the Tech is a state-supported college. Newspapers throughout the state have commented upon his death, the loss it means to the state and to education in general. This evidence that his influence was state-wide intensifies the loss to the institution.

The late business manager of Tech was a diligent worker in any undertaking, but his love for the college strengthened his efforts for the school. He looked upon the Tech as one does a cherished vision which he has seen develop.

"Tech became a ruling spirit in his life. He talked the college with his friends. He lived in its behalf," is the comment of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram on Mr. Chitwood's devotion to the college.

Spanish Club To Have Social

"El Capa y Espada," the Spanish club of the Tech, is gradually assuming its rightful place as one of the most important organizations in the college—its right since the school is built around Spanish influence, and the Spanish club should, as the standard bearer of that influence, be one of the outstanding features of the college.

There are at present some forty-five members of the club, and the scope of its work is being broadened from time to time, including in its regular programs a short study of such interests as parliamentary law, conducted, of course, in Spanish; anecdotes, puzzles and epigrams, also in Spanish, all of which tend to increase the use of conversational Spanish.

TECH SENIORS GET SWEATERS

SENIOR COMMITTEE WORKS ON PERMANENT RING DESIGN FOR TECH

Senior sweaters appeared on the Tech campus for the first time on Wednesday, Nov. 24. At one of its earliest meetings the class voted to have sweaters, and a committee composed of Edward Reed, Eldon Thorp, and Miss Pauline Tippet was appointed to select the design which, it is hoped, will become the permanent one for future classes.

The sweaters are of the coat style, attractively made up of the Tech scarlet and black. In order to make a distinction between the senior sweaters and those awarded for athletic merit, a black "T" on which "Tech" is woven in scarlet is substituted for the official "TT" of the athletic sweater. The numerals '27' are separated, one on either side of the letter design.

These sweaters were first in prominence in collegiate activities at the Thanksgiving game at Canyon, and they will again be displayed on Senior Day which will probably come at the last of the winter term or first of the spring term.

CHEMICAL WARFARE TO BE OUTLINED IN LECTURE

"Chemical Warfare" will be the subject of an illustrative lecture which Dr. W. T. Read, head of the department of Chemistry will give to a group of students and faculty members on Tuesday evening, November 30, when a meeting will be called to complete the organization of the Tech Science Club.

The lecture which Dr. Read is giving at this time is not open to the public, but if he can complete arrangements for motion picture films illustrating the lecture, it will be given before the American Legion at an early date which will be arranged later. It is possible that the films will arrive in time for the lecture next Tuesday, but if they should fail to arrive, slides will be used instead.

The lecture to the science club will be given in Room 322, and all students and members of the faculty wishing to hear the discussion are invited to attend.

Dr. Read will make four divisions of the subject in his discussion, as follows: 1. History of chemical warfare, on both the offensive and defensive. 2. Chemicals used, including sneeze gas, tear gas, and the various deadly gases, analyzing each. 3. Methods employed as a defensive against the gases. 4. Development of chemical warfare units during the recent world conflict, and possibilities for development in the future.

AGGIE STUDENT REPRESENTS NURSERY

Lester E. Brooks of the School of Agriculture, is now employed as delivery agent at Lubbock for the Mount Hope Nursery company, of Lawrence, Kansas. His deliveries consist of many shrubs, fruits and ornamentals, and he says he was surprised at the number of fruit trees being planted in this country, a good number of which is cherry, which is growing more popular in this country.

RICHARD MORTIMER CHITWOOD

A MAN WITH A BIG HEART

As I think of R. M. Chitwood, the adjective that most nearly describes his is the adjective "big-hearted." It is impossible for me to think of him in connection with anything mean or little.

His body was not large but his brain was big and his heart was still larger.

Once when the locating committee was going about to select a place for the college regardless of its public address, "No matter where the college is located, it can never be located outside the domain of my heart."

This remark was characteristic of him. His heart was big enough to take in the college regardless of where it might be located.

He loved Texas Tech and everything with it. He was one of the men who introduced into the legislature the bill by which the Tech was created.

He will be greatly missed. We shall miss his handling of the business affairs of the college. We shall miss his influence with governors and with legislatures.

Most of all, we shall miss his kindly counsel, his warm handclasp, his genial smile.

We shall miss him as a friend.

R. M. CHITWOOD, STATESMAN, EDUCATOR, TECH SECRETARY DIES SUDDENLY

R. M. Chitwood, statesman, educator, editor, political leader, pioneer and colonizer of West Texas and its greatest champion, died at a Dallas hotel Sunday morning where he had gone for medical treatment. His condition was not considered serious, and the report of his death was a shock to his relatives and friends.

The remains were shipped to Lubbock Monday, where they lay in state in the Kimbro home until Tuesday afternoon, when funeral services were held from the First Baptist church, conducted by the Rev. W. A. Bowen. The body was sent to Sweetwater, old home of the deceased, for burial on Wednesday. He is survived by his wife and one son, who is a senior in Rice Institute.

Probably the most complete story of Mr. Chitwood's life was carried by the Abilene Morning News on Wednesday morning of this week. The story is a model within itself, and is given below in detail.

Abilene News: Robert M. Chitwood was born February 9, 1878 at Moulton, Lawrence county, Alabama, the son of W. P. Chitwood, judge of the Northern circuit court of Alabama.

BOARD TO HAVE PHOTOS IN ANNUAL

DIRECTORS SHOW INTEREST BY SENDING PHOTOS FOR LA VENTANA

The directors of the Texas Technological College will be included in the photograph section of the Tech Year-Book this year, according to an announcement from the staff of editors. Of the nine members of the board, six have sent in their pictures and it is expected that the others will respond in the near future.

The following is a letter which accompanied the picture of Mrs. J. A. Haley who is the newest member of the Board of Directors:

La Ventana, I surely feel it quite a privilege to have my picture in your Year-Book for 1927 and gladly send it to you.

I wish you every success in this annual year for it is one of the things in college life dear to the heart of every student, and something to which each one of you will turn with a feeling akin to reverence.

In future years, to refresh memories of a happy past and dear friends far removed.

I wish you every success in this undertaking and you may count one more copy sold.

Respectfully your friend, MRS. J. A. HALEY.

"If such men as Amos G. Carter, Mose Newman, R. A. Underwood, Clifford B. Jones, and T. H. Kimbro deem La Ventana so important that they are willing to make special efforts to get their pictures in it, surely it is important enough to justify you in spending one dollar and fifty cents of your savings and fifteen minutes of your time to get your picture placed there, not only you, but all of your classmates, will be able to see it at any time they wish during the years to come when your school life will be but a pleasant memory," is the statement of a member of the staff.

"PRARIE FIRE" IS THE NAME OF TECH MAGAZINE

"Prairie Fire" is the name that has been selected in the contest for the submission of a title for the new Tech Magazine. Miss Marguerite Bennett, cashier of the college suggested the winning title as significant and appropriate for a publication of the Plains country. Dr. J. C. Granbury, Mr. R. C. Harrison, Dr. W. T. Read and student representatives John Young and Odgen Horne were on the committee that made the selection.

The magazine is a monthly publication containing twenty-four pages, and is devoted to giving expression to literary and humorous efforts of the students. Harry Montgomery who is editor expects cartoons, feature articles and humorous stories to be submitted. All are urged to contribute material and especially are English students and those interested in journalism looked to for support.

Debaters Will Elect Officers Next Wednesday

Interest in forensics in the Texas Technological college was given a big impetus this week when the announcement was made that more than thirty young men students had enrolled in the contest for the Lynch Davidson scholarship of $250. This scholarship is based upon declamation, extemporaneous speaking, after dinner speaking, formal oration and debating. The first of the series of contests will be held in declamation December 15.

A remarkable interest is being shown in debate. The two debating groups of last year will be reorganized into one club on next Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, room 211. This group of debaters has met once this year, at which time an invitation was extended the pre-law students to affiliate with the debaters. It is expected that a large number will be present for the organization Wednesday evening.

A student manager of forensics will be elected from the debating club. Irwin Coleman has been elected temporary chairman until after the club begins to function. All debates will be arranged throughout the year by the student manager.

FIVE THOUSAND FANS SEE TECH MATADORS WIN FROM BUFFALOES TO CLOSE SUCCESSFUL SEASON

History Repeats Itself As The Matadors Close Another Grid Season By Winning Hard Battle From Strong Rival Team Of Plains School

History repeated itself again yesterday when the Tech Matadors closed the gridiron season by defeating the sturdy Buffaloes of West Texas State Teachers College, at Canyon. The attendance at the game was estimated to have been larger than that of any Panhandle game in history, more than five thousand fans witnessing the second annual Turkey Day game between the two teams. The game was played in a blinding sandstorm which was responsible for many fumbles and a small score.

Sidelights On The Trip

With 700 howling fans aboard, the largest special train ever pulled in West Texas arrived in Canyon at 11:30 after having faced a strong "baby cyclone" all morning. Reports from the north were that more wind was due, but this did not phase the followers of the Scarlet and Black as they marched through the street of Canyon.

Quite a contrast, the Scarlet and Black rosters and the bewhiskered and overalled fans of the Buffaloes. An old trick but one which looked perfectly silly, Thursday.

Brown-eyed matadors from the college driving through the streets, fuzzy faced lads with blue denim, a sand filled town, both restaurants filled, and cars coming in from the north and all around to see the game—Canyon.

"Wreck Tech," "Beat Tech," "Gore the Matadors," "Down with Tech," and other signs greeted the Tech fans from almost every point in the town. Some teacher trying to get funny displayed a sign, "Beat Tech."

The Tech stands began to fill at 1 o'clock and by 2, the entire south section was filled with eager students and Lubbockites awaiting the coming of the Buffaloes. The Tech band began hitting it up early and got the jump on the Teacher group. A cheer went up from the Teacher stands as their team came on the field, which sounded like a whisper beside the roar the Matador rosters gave out for their squad.

Teachers show sportsmanship as Miss Marie Miles, led on the field by student manager Landis, presents Captain Carpenter with a large box of candy. The whistle sounds and both stands are in an uproar.

Tech Girls Pen Squad conquer stands as they go through brilliant formations on the field between halves ending their activities in a "T" formation. The Teacher squad gave their "WTSTC" as of last year, making a colorful formation.

Johnnie Clingsmith throws crowd into a fright as he appears on the field in his attire. "Is that Will Rogers?" was heard.

Teachers try to get funny with their funeral march but we notice that they only used big hats in trying to represent the Tech. Maybe big hats are alright, anyway, Tech has a mighty good reason for wearing them, who wouldn't have with a school like ours?

Postmaster Asks Mail Correction

Postmaster Vaughan has recently made an announcement advising Tech students who receive their mail at the college post office to instruct their correspondents to address their mail to "Tech Branch" in order to enable mail clerks to distinguish between this mail and that which goes out from the main office.

Mr. Vaughan states that much of the mail is delayed due to the fact that mail addressed to "Tech College" is often delivered to a street number. He states that if all the mail intended to be delivered at the Tech station was marked "Tech Branch" the entire difficulty would be eliminated.

TECH FACULTY AT EDUCATION MEET THIS WEEK

The faculty of the Texas Technological College is well represented at the meeting of the State Teachers' Association being held at El Paso during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Dean J. M. Gordon, of the College of Liberal Arts, will appear on the program for a discussion of "The Influence of Latin on Correct English." Miss Elizabeth H. West, Tech librarian will have charge of the library section of the meeting.

Other prominent speakers on the program are: S. M. N. Marrs, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Austin, Texas; Dr. Paul Goods, Professor of Geography, Chicago University, Chicago Ill.; B. F. Pittenger, Dean of School of Education, Texas University, Austin, Texas; Dr. P. W. Horn, President of Texas Technological College; Dean Margaret Weeks, Dean of Home Economics of the Texas Technological College; Dr. L. Thomas Hopkins, College of Education, Colorado University, Boulder, Colorado.

TECH LOSES

Newspapers and prominent individuals throughout the state of Texas have commented upon the death of the Hon. R. M. Chitwood. These reports have set forth the loss of this "leader of men" from the ranks of statesmen, political leaders, educators, business men, and "Four-Square" fighters of the common rank and file. Texas has lost a statesman; West Texas has lost its greatest champion; education has lost a statesman; West porter; and the masses have lost their most ardent evangel of moral and social uplift.

But the loss falls heaviest on Texas Tech.

Of the many classifications into which this man of West Texas might fall, it is probable that the most fitting, and the one of which he was proudest, was that of champion of education for young people. And it is this phase of Mr. Chitwood's life that can most plausibly be pointed out by students of the Toreador who have seen his efforts in this direction and who have associated with him on the campus.

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram, in speaking of the death of Mr. Chitwood, stated that it "removes one of the most prominent men in the political and educational life of Texas. His ardent devotion to the good of West Texas was the outstanding characteristic of the man." The Abilene Morning News laments his death as follows: "West Texas has many a friend in court, but it never had a friend stauncher and more able than the late R. M. Chitwood." The Lubbock Morning Avalanche: "He was appreciated by all who knew him for his fair, square, firm convictions, and for his fidelity to his constituency. To Texas losses." But the Lubbock Daily Journal gets a little closer to the loss as it is felt by the Tech: "He was the engineer who guided the new, yet powerful, education machine along its maiden run; the deft mechanic who negotiated perilous curves and difficult hills in safety."

This last presentation of the late business manager of Texas Tech will be accepted by students of the college, but the euphonious language would not have been used by a student. He was looked upon more as a fellow-worker and benefactor—one whom students called upon when in need of help to put over any movement, whether of individual or collective interest. And he always won.

The battle with the Grim Reaper was the first one students of the Tech have seen their veteran champion lose. And then, according to physicians, his antagonist was treacherous, stealing along in the night-time while the victim slept.

Tech loses.

SAY "HELLO!"

Say "Hello!" Say it with a smile and as if it came from the bottom of your heart. Make "Hello" the pass word for every day. Don't pass anyone up. In case you do a penalty of one friendly slap on the back will be given you. This should not be carried to too great an extent, especially by Satch Hill and Doney White.

Something must be done in order to create a better feeling of friendliness and kindness toward one another. Every one you meet any place on the campus, get into the spirit of friendliness and knock everyone down with a smile.

TEST OF CITIZENSHIP

Are you a good College citizen? Are you doing all that you can for your college? Are you doing enough that after you are gone, you will long afterward be remembered. Are you supporting and encouraging every activity in the College? If you have not—now is the time to begin. We have talked pep. We have talked college spirit. We have insisted that every one else talk these things but do we have them? What is the use of talking these things if you yourself don't have the right attitude toward it? It's not your college. It's you individually. What are you going to do about it. Start today. Back the old college in every activity. When someone is trying to put something over that is for the good of the College—help him. At least give a little encouragement. Boost the old school for its real worth. Make others proud of it. For you know that really and truly you are proud of it. Put out just a little effort. Work just a little harder and you will find that you get twice as much out of college life.

RICHARD MORTIMOR CHITWOOD

Regarding the deviation of the deceased from the Tech, as active secretary of the Institution, newspapers have commented as follows:

Star-Telegram: His acquaintance with the industrial life of Texas was broad and his understanding comprehensive and the board of directors of the college virtually drafted him for the secretaryship of the new institution. He accepted it when convinced that he could be of genuine aid to the college and the territory.

"Tech" became a ruling spirit in his life. He talked the college with his friends. He lived in its behalf. Only a few days ago he was in Fort Worth and, talked with the writer for a time about the college—its potentialities, its phenomenal success, its needs, and its value to Texas. No individual ever gave a more unselfish loyalty to an institution or a territory than did Chitwood to "Tech." He regarded—

COLLEGE INN COL-YUM

Three Cheers! Mrs. Studeman is back home again. Of course we enjoyed having Mrs. Tubbs with us and she was very dear while here but we are glad our mama is back home again.

Some of the girls have been getting rather high powered of late. Just because they couldn't rate a good date Sunday night they thought perhaps they would organize a club, to be known as the C. I. C. C. club. Only five members were taken in Sunday night but others will be taken in later as after they have undergone the proper initiations.

Be careful girls. We have an officer in our midst. This officer is with us daily. At times we feel the officer's presence. Other times we do not. Yet this officer is with us constantly. But do not fear girls for it is only Ruth.

Some call us College Indians. Others College Onions. But we believe a more appropriate name would be College Raisins.

College Inn turned out strong for the trip to Canyon. Eight girls from the dormitory were in the pep squad, three girls in the band and at least thirty others made the trip. Think we aren't supporting our college. Most of the girls went to their respective homes after leaving Canyon. Misses Marion Butler and Ruth Officer, Turkey, Shirley, Ann Dobbs, Wellington, Lucille Davis, Amarillo, Edna Tonge and Estelle Hutto, Sweetwater, Mary Woods and Annette Weathers, Tafoka, Helen Beard, Memphis.

The football season is closing for Texas Tech but has just begun at College Inn. For instance we had a most interesting game the other night in room 209. Ruth Officer is a star-tackle playing center. Marion made a grand thirty-five yard dash and Anna Belle isn't half bad at calling signals.

Some one said Elois Speed had a fellow from home this week but she couldn't let any of us meet him so we don't know whether to believe her or not.

We were very sorry indeed to have Miss Christine Fletcher leave us this week for her home in Hamlin.

as vital to the life of his adopted state, and to the region he loved best.

Lubbock Morning Avalanche: He was deeply interested in the institution and spent many hours of his time studying plans for the college. He was a man of influence with powers of great state, and was instrumental in getting many favors at the hands of executives of Texas that meant much to the school.

R. M. Chitwood will be missed in Texas. Texas loses! The Texas Technological College will suffer as a result of his demise, and while other men will come after him and will take up his work the severing of his connections with the institution, whose every detail he had at his finger tips, will mean that the college will suffer.

Lubbock Daily Journal: To say that Mr. Chitwood was business manager of Texas Tech leaves more than half untold concerning his relations with the institution. He was the blood—he was bone, brain and sinew—the guiding spirit in its realm of its finance. He was the engineer who pulled the new, yet powerful educational machine along its maiden run. To him was trusted grave problems—problems which he solved quickly—unerringly, as the southwest's newest institution of learning continued along its path of glory, making history all the while.

Students Advised To Watch Absences

A meeting of the deans of the Tech was held Saturday in the cafeteria for the purpose of discussing the various problems which are arising in their respective schools.

The deans are considering at length the matter of student absences and are to bring in their report at the regular meeting of the faculty, Dec. 7. As a preliminary to adopting a report the following is being made public in order that those interested in the college may have some idea of the situation regarding student absences, and means suggested for regulating absences.

The deans feel that no absences should be excused but that legitimate absences may be made up.

Following is the suggested scheme which is being considered by the deans for regulating absences:

- 1. Students are required to be diligent in the pursuit of their studies and regular in their attendance at class. Those who fail to meet these requirements will be requested to withdraw.
2. Students are required to attend all meetings, and examinations of courses for which they are registered. For each 10 absences per term the student will be required to complete one extra hour for graduation. The grade point rule to apply to extra hours thus required.
3. Absences with athletic teams, debating teams or other organizations, which leave the college on official work, and absences of individuals who are permitted by the president or the deans to leave the college on official business pertaining to the college, or some organization thereof, are counted as half rate absences, before leaving the college, a certificate, upon a form prescribed by the college, for each student who proposes to make the trip.
4. Absences due to sickness of the student, or of a member of his immediate family, or to death in the student's immediate family, count at half rate, provided the student files in the office of the registrar, not later than one week after his return to classes, upon a form prescribed by the college, a statement of the cause of his absence, verified by the certificate of the attending physician. Such certificate forms may be obtained from the office of the registrar.
5. Students intending absences in accordance with the above regulations may have the privilege of making up the lost recitations, as evidenced by turning in written work, or in some other manner satisfactory to the instructor concerned. When such lost recitations have been made up, the recitation absences are removed. Applications for the privilege of making up absences must be made to the registrar and approved by the dean of the respective school within one week from the time of return to the college.

Curtain Again Lowered On Grid Activities To Find The Matadors Repeat Record Of One Defeat

With the curtain lowered again on the Matador grid activities, a glance backward shows that the team had brought much credit to itself and to the Tech. Playing a schedule as strong as any school in the state outside of the southwestern conference, the Tech has met 10 schools this year and emerged with only one defeat, that at the hands of the strong T. C. U. aggregation.

Two defeats in two seasons is not a bad record for a school so young as the Tech and already the coaches are pointing for an undefeated season next year. At a Thanksgiving dinner in the Lubbock Hotel last night, the coaches and the players talked over the season and built plans for next year. Every man is counting on returning and with the array of players coming in, Tech will throw a good scare into the teams of the southwestern conference.

To show the strength of the team, Tech made more points against T. C. U. than any other southwestern team. Although the weaker teams of the schedule played closer games, with the Tech the scores do not show the relative strength of the teams. In one or two of the games, the boys did not fight as hard as they did in the bigger games. This was unavoidable in three cases as the teams put up hard fights.

for a touchdown in the last quarter when he intercepted a Buff pass on his own 23 yard line and raced back to mid field, one lone tackler being between him and the goal.

Walker was the marked man of the game and the Buffs showed determination to get him as soon as possible. He was covered on every run by an excessive number of players who finally sent him out of the game with a dislocated shoulder. His runs which he made were not for long gains but he was proving effective and would probably have given the Buffs much worry had they not laid for him.

Hill played his same old stellar game and went through for good gains several times. He was never stopped behind the line of scrimmage. Hamilton with his face resembling a beef steak played a bang up game and gave the Buffs misery time after time with his thrusts at the line off tackle.

Woodridge played a good game and almost got away for a touchdown on an intercepted pass in the last quarter. Jennings, White, Reed, DeWitt and the line in general played their usual game and proved effective in the tight plays. Calloway played fiercely after bad pass.

First Quarter: Elkins won the toss and chose to defend the west goal. Hill kicked off to Jennings, who came back for 20 yards to the Teachers 39 yard line. On the next play the Buffs fumbled and Tech recovered on the Buffs 46 yard line.

Walker hit right tackle for 1 yard, and Hill followed with 4 yards at right guard; Hill hit right tackle for one yard; on next play Hill falls for first down and the ball went over to the Teachers own 29 yard line.

NO DELAY SEEN IN CONSTRUCTION OF BIG GYM

"Work is going on fine," was the statement made by Mr. J. B. Maxey, local contractor, who has the contract for the new gymnasium, when asked about the progress of the building.

The gymnasium is to be a hollow tile and stucco building that will be 110 feet by 120 feet and will have a playing ceiling 32 feet high. The playing court will be fifty by 90 feet. The seating capacity will be 1,800 or 2,200 when it is completed.

"Weather conditions is the only thing to hinder the work, as all the material is here," said Mr. Maxey, when asked about the time the building would be finished.

Mr. Stangel goes to Chicago for the annual livestock exposition and fat stock show at Chicago, Ill. In general interest of the school, he will stop at the Hereford cattle sale at Hereford, Texas, where it is possible that he may purchase a few individuals for the college.

At Chicago on Friday and Saturday he will attend a meeting of the American Society of Animal Production. This society is composed of the leading livestock men, both college and breeders of the U. S.

It is the greatest livestock show in the world and the best livestock produced, compete there for the high honors. It is those also, that the best livestock judging, tests of the colleges of the U. S. come together in contests.

INTERMURAL ATHLETICS GIVEN IMPETUS BY ENTRY OF LIBERAL ARTS TEAM; TO MEET ENGINEERS

With the Liberal Arts team practicing daily for a game with the senior champion engineers, intramural athletics in the Tech are assuming a place of importance among the student activities.

After the defeat of the aggies by the boys from the north side of the campus last Saturday, the Liberal Arts boys gathered Monday afternoon and laid plans for a severe drubbing of the competitors of the farmers.

Prof. C. A. Lyle, erstwhile math instructor, was selected as coach for the "gentlemen" and began work with more than 20 candidates for the team on the field. He has been working the squad daily and states that he will have an aggressive and fighting eleven for the game Saturday week.

This line-up will include stars from the various high schools of the state as well as a number of college men of other schools.

Reports from the engineering camp are to the effect that a flawless display of team work is being prepared for the game.

Student Dairy Elects Officers: At a meeting of the Student Dairy association held Monday night, a constitution and a set of by-laws were adopted. The association is confronted with many problems resembling those of other successful cooperative associations, marketing a similar product.

The governing body of this association is known as the "executive committee," and is composed of the head of the animal husbandry department, the president of the association, and the college dairy headmen.

At a previous meeting of the association the officers elected for the new year were: Albert Issacs, president; Raymond Reed, vice-president; Guy Stack, secretary-treasurer.

John Tarleton Club Organized: According to E. L. Reed who with Mrs. Reed was elected sponsor of the club, the graduates and former students of John Tarleton Agricultural college who are now attending Tech have organized for the purpose of furthering social activities and for the purpose of selling Tech to John Tarleton graduates.

The club plans to send an invitation to each member of the senior class of that institution this year asking them to attend Tech next year and explaining to them some of the advantages offered by our institution. By this means they are sure that they can influence a majority of the John Tarleton graduates to attend Tech next year.

Fourteen students attended the first meeting of the club. They decided that the membership should be divided into two groups. One of these groups will be composed of John Tarleton exes who are attending Tech now. The other group will consist of those John Tarleton exes who are not attending Tech but who take an interest in college activities.

Application has already been made by members of this club for a section in La Ventana.

Engineers Beat Aggies In First Game: Fighting valiantly though outclassed in weight, the aggies lost a hard fought game to the engineers Saturday 7 to 6 in the first intramural football game to be played in the Tech. Both teams showed poor defense but were brilliant at times on the offense, making several long gains.

The aggies made the first counter in the first quarter when an engineer fumble gave them the ball in mid-field. From then on the game was a seesaw affair with the aggies in the territory of the blue shirts for a major part of the time.

The game was well played considering the fact that it was the initial contest between the two schools. Both coaches were well pleased with the showing made by the teams. The aggies made only a few substitutions while the engineers changed teams at least twice during the fracas.

Time-Limit For Annual Photos Extended Because Of Holidays

The time limit on photographs for La Ventana has been extended until December 7, on account of the many interruptions that have occurred in the last few days. The holidays have so disturbed the normal trend of college life that the taking of pictures for La Ventana has been seriously interfered with.

The staff is working hard this year to produce an annual that will be the best in its class in the state. Many new and unique features will be incorporated in the 1927 La Ventana. But the important thing, and the most essential thing in any annual are the individual photographs of the student body. "Everyone should have school and class spirit enough to want to help to make La Ventana the best and liveliest college annual in the state. And the one thing the staff can not do is build an annual without the essential thing, a representative class and club section," is the statement of Ogen Horne, business manager of the book.

Another feature of the year-book that is being neglected, according to the editors, is the beauty section. A nationally known artist will judge the photographs submitted for his section and any student of the Tech may submit any Tech co-ed entry in this page. No announcement of the names turned in, except the winners, will ever be made. The editors state that more pictures should be turned in for this section.

The editors are especially anxious that all students give prompt attention to the matters of individual and club photos.

Don't embarrass yourself by telling your friends you have been to college, be able to show them your picture in La Ventana.

Pre-Meds To Hear Lubbock Physician

Announcement was made Saturday by the officers of the Pre-Med club that Dr. C. J. Wagner of the West Texas hospital staff, will lecture to the club at its regular meeting Monday night, November 29. The club is functioning solely for the purpose of promoting the interests in the study of medicine and lectures will be given by Lubbock physicians throughout the year.

All students of the Tech who have not yet joined the club and are interested in the work, are requested to attend the meeting Monday night. The meeting will be held in room 314 of the administration building at 7:30.

THANKSGIVING BREAKFAST

On Thanksgiving morning at 6:30 about thirty-five students met at the First Baptist church to offer their thanks for the blessings of the year. This is an annual affair among the Baptist students. The program follows:

Opening prayer: Rev. W. A. Bowen, pastor.

"Our Thanksgiving"—Irwin Coleman, president B. S. U.

Christmas carol singing.

An expression of thanks from everyone present.

Breakfast.

Dismissal by prayers of thanks, closed by Mr. Kilpatrick, Sunday school superintendent.

After this delightful service, all went to see the Canyon special train off, and many of those in the service went to see the Matadors engage a second victor over the Buffaloes.

TEXTILE SCHOOL IS ADVERTISED BY BULLETINS

Mr. Brink was sent here by Mr. and Ranch of Dallas, visited the Textile Engineering school last week with the view of publishing a bulletin on the work of the cotton mills of the school.

Mr. Brink was sent here by Mr. John W. Carpenter, who is a member of the board of directors of the school.

The bulletin is to be published for advertising purposes and will contain about sixty pages. About half of the bulletin will be pictures," said Mr. W. E. Camp, of the Textile Engineering department when asked about Mr. Brink's visit.

The bulletin will contain photographed illustrations of the machinery in the textile mills, the classes doing laboratory work, and other various features of the department. These bulletins will be printed in large quantities, it is understood, and will be distributed to manufacturers throughout the world.

Mr. Brink states that he can not understand why more of the students are not interested in textile engineering. However, the department has more than doubled its enrollment from last year, now having an enrollment of near 100 students.

Textile Man Is Pleased With Tech

G. H. Pendland, president of the Waco Twine Co., visited the Textile department last week and expressed his appreciation of the work of the school.

Pendland's company loaned some of their machinery to Tech last year in beginning its work.

"The mill is the most interesting thing I have seen on the South Plains," said Mr. Pendland after he had been shown through the building by Mr. W. E. Camp, head of the Textile department.
