TEXAS TECH, LUBBOCK, TEXAS, MAY 6, 1927

Tech Is Admitted to Membership in Texas Intercollegiate Press Association at Meeting This Week

Toreador Is Accepted as Standard of College Newspapers; Next Meeting of Association to go to West Texas State Teachers College at Canyon.

Tech is now a member of the Texas Inter-Collegiate Press Association, having been admitted at the annual convention held by that body last Friday and Saturday. Delegates sent to the convention which was held in Waxahachie, report that Tech received the unanimous vote of all the colleges which are members of the T. I. P. A.

National "YW" Secretary Makes Visit to Campus

Many Meetings Feature Her Visit; Tech to Be Represented in National Meet

Miss Hilda K. Howard, National Y. W. C. A. Secretary for the South west, has been present in Tech for the last several days and has held several meetings with girls of the college.

The first meeting was held Tuesday evening at the farm of Dr. J. C. Granbery, which is five miles from the city. The special features of this meeting were the Y. W. C. A. symbolic service. A fire was lighted and the leader of each of the girls groups came forward with a token as a symbol of "Love," "Happiness" or "Strength" which was cast upon the burning embers to be consumed during prayer. Dr. Horn was present at this first meeting and closed the meeting with a prayer.

On Wednesday morning Miss Howard addressed all the girls of the College on "The Kind of a Girl the Successful Y. W. C. A. Girl Is." Miss Howard said, "The Real Life girls, is lived by the typical Y. W. C. A. girl, and not by those girls who go about with a sober more holy than their expression on their faces." Miss Howard stressed the highest beauty and importance of the whole movement.

Dr. and Mrs. Granbery were again hosts to the girls and their leader on Wednesday afternoon. Miss Howard there spoke upon the duties of the Y. W. C. A. Council and showed the girls how they could help them selves and their community.

The "Big Sister" movement was gone over with a group of girls in Mrs. Doak's office on Thursday morning at which time Miss Howard made arrangements for the girls to put the plan in operation at the beginning of school next year.

Miss Howard has met with various classes which are devoting their time to the study of social problems and the scope of her information on the various social questions is amazing. As a direct result of Miss Howard's visit the Tech Y. W. C. A. will be represented in Hollister, Mo., on June 7-17 at the 10th Conference of Y. W. C. A. delegates. Miss Jane Mast and Miss Eula Pearl Simmons have been selected as delegates from this institution.

Spring Election To Be Held Soon

The election of the officers for the student association for the 1927-28 term will be held Monday, May 23. C. W. Ratliff, student president announced this morning after conferring with members of the student council. The election will be held in a student convocation which will be called especially for the election.

Officers elected at the convocation will be the president, the vice president and the secretary of the student association. It is possible that an election of yell leaders for the coming year will also be held.

Mexican Holiday Is Celebrated With Spanish Club Feed

A banquet was held Thursday night in the Tech cafeteria by the Casa de España club in commemoration of the Cinco de Mayo celebration held annually by our Mexican neighbors. Over twenty members of the club attended the festa which was replete with the carnival spirit so dear to the Latin heart. The Spanish theme was carried out in the decoration of the tables and the music played, but American dishes were served.

During the course of the evening several enjoyable talks were made by members of the faculty and students. Some of the more talented imitators entertained with songs and special music. As a climax of the evening the group arose to sing the national anthems of Mexico and Spain.

"Dut," Benson states that the girl who falls to use cosmetics tries to win the game on a straight flush.

Aggies Postpone Barnyard Social

The first annual Barnyard dance of the agriculture club of the college which was to have been given last night at the assembly hall has been postponed until Monday night, members of the committee said last night. The affair was postponed indefinitely on account of the death of Mr. Harrison, but was set for Monday night later by the committee.

Everything is in readiness for the affair, the boys say.

Senators Advise Three Buildings For School Soon

President Horn to Receive Raise; Ad. Building to Be Completed.

The Senate committee on appropriations adjourned Saturday after suggesting that Texas Tech be given $282,000 for an Engineering building and equipment and $22,500 for a practice house for the Home Economic department, to be built the first year. They also advised that Tech be given $320,000 for the erection of two three story wing additions to the administration building. This structure is to be logical college is to receive $8,000 a year, according to the recommendation of the Senate Finance committee.

The president of Texas Technological college is to receive $8,000 if the suggestions made by the board are carried out.

Salary appropriations made for the long session total $309,700 while the summer sessions are to be provided with the sum of $25,000.

When asked to comment upon the recommendations of the Senate Committee, a member of the administration expressed no disapproval with any of the suggested items save the summer school appropriation. According to him the summer school item will have to be raised considerably in order for that department of the college life to receive sufficient emphasis.

The recommendation of the committee has no effect upon the summer school about to begin as that feature is already being taken care of by the legislature and money already appropriated for it.

Senior Class to Desert Campus on Monday, May 9th

We'll keep that Senior flag unfurled all day Monday, is the statement of Mr. E. M. Barrett, the President of the Senior class in commenting on the Senior's desire and intention to keep the class colors flying in the breeze throughout next Monday the 9th.

The Seniors will not be at school to guard their colors, however, for they have accepted the invitation of Miss Sylvia Wilson to be her guest at a picnic at Buffalo Springs on that day.

Mr. Barnett and the Impulsive and noisy D. Hobson Roberts have expressed a desire to get the President of the school proclaim Monday as Tech Senior Day, and to further affirm that the lovely Fish had better let those upper-class colors alone or they will be sorry.

Dr. Horn could not be reached as we go to press and it is not known just what action he will take upon the demands.

Home Ec. Girls Visit Amarillo

Leaving Lubbock about 6:30 a. m. fourteen girls from the Foods and Nutrition classes of the School of Home Economics, motored to Amarillo to visit the hotels owned by Col. Thompson. Arriving there about 12 o'clock they were honored with a lovely luncheon given by their host in the Herring hotel. They were shown how groceries were bought, checked in, distributed to their assigned places; how they were then taken into the kitchen and cooked, etc. They were then taken through the cold storage plant and shown how meat, fruit, vegetables, etc., were kept. The heating and water problem was explained and the method of taking care of the laundry as well as many other interesting and beneficial things.

Those making the trip were Flor Angila, Elizabeth Schatz, Mrs. Barnett, Rena Smith, Myra Floyd, Maurine Crowley, Lana Stephens, Mildred Trader, Ella Brown, Frances Ferguson, Anna Belle Collins, Nova Matthews, Irene McClellan, Misses Margaret Woods, Joanne McCree, Dorothy McFarlane, Mrs. Mary Doak, R. E. Friend, and Messrs. Province and Dan Gillean.

TECH LOSES BRILLIANT SCHOLAR

"Come, lovely and soothing Death. Undulate round the world, serenely arriving, arriving, In the day, in the night, to all, to each, Sooner or later delicate death. Praise'd be the fathomless universe, For life and joy, and for objects and knowledge curious, And for love, sweet love—but praise'd be the fathomless universe, For the sure-enwinding arms of cool-enfolding Death." —Whitman.

With the sudden death of Richard Clarence Harrison last night Tech suffered a tragic and irreparable loss. Mr. Harrison had been head of the English department since the opening of the school and by his pleasing personality, ready wit and extraordinary humanness had come to be loved by all with whom he came in contact.

Mr. Harrison was a scholar, a great lover of nature and a great admirer of Walt Whitman. Mr. Harrison was one of the greatest authorities on the "Good Grey Poet" in this portion of the country, and was to receive his Ph. D. this summer for studies made of this greatly misunderstood poet and his works.

Mr. Harrison as a man typified the living spirit of Tolerance. His characteristic and oft quoted remark, "Every man to his own taste," seemed to be his whole philosophy of life. Man, to Mr. Harrison, was no machinistic automaton, but was vitally alive, inherently imbued with the powers of all Nature.

Nature was a fetish to Mr. Harrison. In his class work he complimented the Nature poets, Emerson, and Bryant, with many superlatives, which only went to show the extent to which he had dedicated his life to Nature. The oft repeated quotation, "We can only judge a man by what his friends say of him," would show Mr. Harrison to be a most lovable and inspiring character. Mr. McAfee, in whose home Mr. Harrison had resided for the past year said last evening: "Mr. Harrison was the most lovable man I have ever been my fortunate to know."

Dr. John C. Granbery said of Mr. Harrison last night: "It is making no invidious comparisons to say that there was connected with the Texas Technological college no more brilliant and promising man than R. C. Harrison. As head of English in the Southwest Texas State Teachers College, at San Marcus, he had already won distinction, and President Horn selected him for the leadership of the English department of the Tech at the very start."

"No instructor at the Tech has made a deeper impression on his students. He was extraordinarily magnetic and inspiring as a teacher. "In the field of scholarship he was known as probably the greatest authority on Walt Whitman in the state of Texas, and perhaps in the Southwest. In these parts he was unequalled in his sympathetic knowledge of present-day poets. Many of us have often been charmed by his unique dialect readings. "R. C. Harrison was greatest as a man. His winsome personality, his wonderfully human insight and sympathy, his independent and unconventional spirit, the profundity of his thought and nature, and his ever-sparkling wit, are well known to those whose privilege it is to have been associated with him. "Our loss is irreparable."

"In the midst of life there is death." How true this is and how ruthlessly it is oftentimes exemplified. I have just gone over some letters that Mr. Harrison dictated yesterday afternoon. He expected to sign them today and send them on their various missions one answering an applicant for a position on the English staff, another to a book company to pay for books recently ordered in furtherance of his dissertation for his Ph. D. degree, one to the Folk Lore Society, one enclosing a check for his life insurance premium soon to be due, one with reference to a savings account for his son, Richard Junior, and others. He talked with members of his staff yesterday and among other things, he spoke, modestly, something of the work he had already done and something of what he hoped to do; indeed he was chatting with his loved ones last evening when the stroke suddenly came with seemingly no warning whatsoever and the earthly career of Richard Clarence Harrison was closed.

In trying to enumerate his wonderful qualities one finds a number crowding for his place. He was scholarly, affable, sincere, sympathetic, generous, broadminded, lovable a great teacher. He loved his work, he loved his fellowman. We are accustomed to think of greatness in some person far from us both in space and in time. But R. C. Harrison possessed the elements of greatness to a marked degree. Texas Technological College will sorely miss him. — Dean James M. Gordon.

Chapman was helping in decorating the hall for the Aggie Barnyard affair, tonight when the rope to which he was holding slipped and he started the fall head downward, students working with him say. About half way down he managed to catch hold of the rope and right himself enough that he hit the floor on his arm and side. He was able to walk soon after the accident and is none the worse except for the bruises.

en by the Tech and a booth will also be displayed in a prominent place at the convention.

DON'T FORGET MOTHER

Sunday is Mother's Day. A day set apart to remind our mothers of our appreciation of their love and kindness.

Let's not forget to let them know that we appreciate them. Send Mother something on Mother's Day. Even if it just be a letter, a telegram, or flowers, be sure to remember your mother.

Mother is the dearest person in the world. Poets have written of her more than any other, Edgar Allen Poe, in his "To My Mother," paid a fitting tribute:

"Because I felt that, In the Heavens Above, The angels, whispering To one another, Can find, among their burning terms of love, None so devotional As that of Mother."

Don't forget your mothers on Mother's Day.

Sociological Club To Meet With Buffs

A group of students from the Sociological club will meet Wednesday evening at Canyon as the guests of the W. T. S. T. C. Sociological club.

The local club will present a résumé of the work of the year and will in turn be entertained by a report of the Canyon club and their work. The Canyon group has been studying the "Social Aspects of Crime" and their director Mr. Duffot will present an analysis of the Geo. Hissell case.

The students making the trip will spend the night as guests of members of the W. T. S. T. C. organization and will make the return trip home Thursday morning.

Geology Class To Make Summer Trip To N. Mex.

Fifteen Members of Class Plan Field Trip to Study Structural Formations.

About fifteen geology students accompanied by Dr. Leroy T. Patton will leave June 8th for central and western parts of New Mexico where they will make first-hand studies in structural geology. They will be gone about six weeks, returning in time for the students to enter the second session of the summer school.

The trip will be made in the new college bus, with T. J. Gist as driver. They will visit Roswell, Lordsburg, Deming, Cloudcroft, and many other points of geological importance, confining themselves chiefly to lead, copper, and zinc districts, the most notable of which are located in the White and Sacramento mountains. A thousand miles will be covered by the party.

While in Roswell the United States Geological Survey man will lecture to the students on "The underground water of the Roswell district." His services have been secured by arrangement of the state engineer of New Mexico who is a relative of Dr. Patton.

Expenses for each member of the party will be seventy dollars. This amount will cover board, and all minor expenses. The college will furnish all equipment necessary for the field work.

A large number of applications for this trip are expected and some may have to be rejected on account of inadequate transportation and camping facilities.

Valuable Fossils Found Near by Tech Professors

Drs. Patton and Russell are highly elated over a valuable find of Triassic fossils which they made last Saturday. The fossils were found on the Swenson Ranch, according to Dr. Patton. Triassic fossils are extremely rare and valuable.

The fossils were found in great abundance, the instructors having found over 120 teeth and other fossil remains of the Triassic monsters.

Dr. Patton states that Tech is very fortunate in being within striking distance of both the Permian and Triassic locations. Only a few weeks ago the department was able to obtain many Permian fossils due to a field trip by Drs. Patton and Russell to Willberger county.

The Permian deposits, when discovered were considered of enough importance for the University of Michigan to send several delegations to work over this deposit. Tech is able to add to their collection from either the Permian and Triassic fields, by only a short journey into the heart of both deposits.

Mr. Clifford E. Jones arranged the trip for the department and secured guides for the geologists. The department is indeed grateful for the interest shown by Mr. Jones, who only recently was elected as chairman of the Tech Board of Directors.

Entire School Mourns Death Of R. C. Harrison, Head Of English Department, Here Thursday Night

Dies Suddenly Following a Stroke of Apoplexy; Seemed In Good Health and Taught Regular Classes Thursday; Funeral Held Today and Burial in Austin Sunday.

R. C. Harrison, head of the English department died suddenly last night at 10:40 following a stroke of apoplexy with which he was stricken shortly after nine o'clock. After the stroke Mr. Harrison lapsed into unconsciousness from which he was never aroused. He had been in apparent good health, meeting all his classes as usual, Thursday.

Scores of students and faculty members of the Texas Technological college, together with other numerous friends in Lubbock, are viewing the body of Prof. Richard Clarence Harrison, Tech English department head, who died suddenly at his home 2004 Main street last night at 10:40 following a stroke of apoplexy, as it lies in state at the residence this afternoon from 2:30 until 4:30. Funeral services will follow at 5 o'clock at the home with Dr. J. C. Granbery head of the department of history and a close friend of the deceased in charge.

The body will be sent to Austin tonight and burial will be held there Sunday.

Pall Bearers Announced. Pall bearers at the services this afternoon will be: Active, Prof. R. A. Mills, K. L. Knickerbocker, R. W. Fowler, G. A. Lyle, Don V. D. Murphy, C. B. Qualla, and Seth Cummings and Gus McFees, Honorary, Dr. Paul W. Horn, Dean James M. Gordon, Dean William J. Miller, Dean A. H. Laidig, Dr. J. C. Granbery, Prof. W. R. Wagborne, H. T. Kimbro and Senator W. H. Bladsoe.

Mr. Harrison is survived by his widow, a member of the high school faculty, his son, Richard, Jr., a high school student; his mother, Mrs. S. A. Harrison of Handley, Texas, and several brothers and sisters.

Dr. and Mrs. Clay Landerdale of Austin arrived here this morning and aided in making the funeral arrangements. Dr. Landerdale is a brother of Mrs. Harrison. They arrived with Mrs. Harrison, Richard, Jr., and Dr. J. C. Granbery.

His Death a Shock. Mr. Harrison's death came as a severe shock as he has been in apparently excellent health all of his life. He attended the entire day yesterday and no illness of any nature was observed by members of his classes. Late yesterday afternoon he complained to members of his family and friends of feeling lightheaded after 9 o'clock, plunging him into unconsciousness from which he never recovered.

Officials of the college feel deeply moved by the loss of Mr. Harrison from the administration. He was one of the leading professional men of the college and enjoyed the friendship of both among the faculty and the students. He was admired by all of his students and numbers of tributes were paid him this morning by those acquaintances who were personally acquainted with him. Many beautiful floral offerings were sent to the home this morning.

Here From San Marcos. Mr. Harrison came to the Tech at the opening of the school from Southwest Texas State Teachers College at San Marcos, having occupied a position as head of the English department there for a number of years. He attended school at the University of Texas where he received his bachelor of arts degree. He later taught in there. He also held a master's degree from Harvard University, holding a fellowship while making his study there. The past study on his doctor's degree and he would have finished the work this summer. He was a deep student of Walt Whitman and was considered by many to be one of the best authorities on that poet of any man in this section of the country. His study for his doctor's degree was being made upon Whitman.

Dr. Horn in Austin. President Paul W. Horn, who is in Austin, will be unable to attend the funeral services here but he will be at the burial in Austin. Prof. R. A. Mills professor in the department, will attend the burial at Austin. A number of the board of directors of the college will attend the burial at Austin also.

Mr. Harrison was born in Johnson county, Texas, and was a descendant of the old Harrison family which organized Harrison county. He was about 49 years of age.

In memory of Mr. Harrison, the flag which floats over the college campus has been at half mast throughout the day.

This is the second death which has come to the Tech faculty in the past year. R. M. Chittwood, business manager of the college, died suddenly also in his hotel at Dallas, on November 31, 1925.

Pre Med Studies Hear Dr. Krueger At Last Meeting

Local Surgeon Tells of Important Doings in the Profession.

The Pre-Med club met Wednesday night in their last meeting of the year. At this time Dr. J. T. Krueger of the Lubbock Sanitarium made an address on "How To Make A Success As A Physician." It was a very interesting as well as beneficial address and will help the Pre-Meds greatly in pursuing their chosen profession.

One of the first things Dr. Krueger advised the Pre-Meds to learn was public speaking. He said he thought that this subject should be compulsory as doctors are called on often to make speeches and very few of them can talk well. Dr. Krueger named several rules that a doctor should follow in order to make a success. Some of them are:

1. Live the day; do not let anything escape you.
2. Speak the truth; no doctor can afford to be dishonest.
3. Let the patient know that you know what is the matter.
4. Be humane; it has been said that cleanliness is next to Godliness, but it is important that a doctor be gentle in treating his patients.
5. Don't be an egotist; doctors tend toward egotism, but they should be careful in that respect.
6. Guard your health; in order to restore and protect the health of others in the most proficient manner it is necessary that the doctor himself be in condition.
7. Be careful of your appearance.
8. Read intelligently.

After the program of the evening a business meeting was held at which time officers for next year were elected. They were as follows: President, Geo. M. Waddill; vice-president, Loy Cross; secretary-treasurer, Junita Haney; reporter, Alvin Dow.

Next Thursday, May 12, the Pre-Meds will hold their last affair of the year, which will be in the form of a picnic. All plans have been completed for the occasion and everyone is expecting a fine time. Those who attended last year's celebration know what kind of an affair the club can put on and will be back to enjoy it this year.

Leaving the administration building at three o'clock the picnicers will journey to Bud Johnson's ranch where the main event will take place. One improvement over last year's picnic is that the members are allowed to take their lady friends this time. This will add a certain spice to the party. All members that have not already done so are urged to buy their tickets as soon as possible.

W. A. A. Girls To Dallas Meeting

Delegates representing Texas Tech at the state-wide meet of the association which convened in Dallas Thursday for a three day session left Wednesday evening for that city. Miss Glikson, instructor in Physical Education, Miss Elsie Derick and Miss Elsie Derick are the local representatives for the meet.

The Tech delegation is to present a short paper on the work of the organization in Tech. At this time it is not known which one of the representatives from this institution will make the address to the large organization. The three delegates are to present a short stunt for the edification of the convention, likewise.

The work of the local W. A. A. is very commendable and the recognition secured in the larger assembly in Dallas will be very great.

Miss Ruth Horn has returned from a visit of about six weeks to Houston, Texas, and points in Mississippi. Miss Horn crossed the Mississippi river at Natchez, Mississippi and reports that the high water stores are all true. In fact the trip on which Miss Horn crossed the river was forced to proceed with the water up above the tops of the cars.

Meeting for the last time this year, the Pre-Law Club met Thursday night to elect officers for the coming year. Mr. Truitt Smith was elected President, J. W. Jackson, Vice President, Lillard Pass as Parliamentarian, Alvin Allison was selected to be next year's Secretary, Marvin Pynes, Reporter.

Judge Mullican is to address the club on May 19 at an informal meeting of the club. Visitors are invited to hear this address.

The Girls' class of the First Baptist Church is to entertain the Berean Class with a picnic on next Saturday evening. Those who wish to attend and are members of either of these classes are asked to be at the church at five o'clock.

ARE GIRLS REAL JOURNALISTS?

In the recent Journalistic contest held at the Texas Inter-Collegiate Press Association the College of Industrial Arts succeeded in winning six first places out of seven contests. Not satisfied with this remarkable display of ability the girls from Lubbock took a large number of second and third prizes. There must be a reason for this wonderful showing of one school over the efforts of the perhaps twenty other colleges and Universities in the State which comprise the association. Is it that the girls from Blue Serge are more brilliant than those of the rest of the State? Is it that a few hundred miles down in North Texas have more ability than any other college students in any part of the State.

If the above reasons are not correct, what can be the reason that they have such a super abundance of prizes? Perhaps one would say that writing is a woman's work. Let us see if history bears out such a surmise to be the case. How many talented women authors can you name? There are not so many. O. O. McIntyre is a man, Arthur Brisbane does not wear skirts, H. G. Wells does not answer to "mother," John Erskine and Sherwood Anderson are assuredly anything but feminine. On the other hand there is a single woman who is at the peer of a journalistic field. (I know I throw myself open to criticism on this point but just think it over; is there a single one who could compare to any of the men mentioned?)

The crux of the whole matter lies within the single word W-O-R-K. Within the compass of that single four letter-word and the toil it represents is bound up the whole secret of success. By the unceasing work of a few girls, C. I. A. is able to show the other schools of the State just how much they can really do in the field of journalism.

Work and its attendants, perseverance and ingenuity, cause the whole state to acclaim C. I. A. victors over the other colleges of the State. Here in Tech we have a group of talented students who are ever way capable of turning out a quantity of work equal to the work done by any undergraduate student. Will Tech rally around and cheer for its journalists and will those writers apply themselves to the task sufficient to beat C. I. A.? Of course we were not eligible to compete this year in the T. I. P. A. contests but there is no time like the present to outline the essays, poems, or whatnot to be entered in the contest next year. With the admittance of Tech into the ranks of the T. I. P. A. the members of the association showed a certain faith in this institution. We must not fail them. We must endeavor in every way to reach the standard set by the girls of C. I. A. and W-O-R-K.

MOTIVES OF COLLEGE

Is the modern system of education subject to a radical reform? We are all familiar with criticism from various sources. Perhaps the strongest, most logical, and most timely attack on modern systems is by I. N. Rubinow B.A., Ph.D., M.D., who writes in the May issue of the Atlantic Monthly:

The motives for a college career are any and varied: (1) quest for scientific knowledge; (2) desire for a general education and culture; (3) desire to obtain the preliminary preparation necessary for the study of a profession; (4) desire for the social distinction conferred by a college degree; (5) belief that a college training offers a competitive advantage in future efforts for economic success; (6) the lure of college life; (7) primarily for girls, the opportunity for a marriage market; (8) parents' insistence upon it, even though the student would rather do something else; (9) "Nothing else to do, except work," and college is preferable to that; (10) "Everybody is doing it."

Out of these ten motives for going to college Mr. Rubinow says that he believes the lure of college life, its freedom from responsibility, from worry, from economic pressure and hard work attracts the student more than any other.

Read the article. Think it over.

WHAT IS A FRIEND?

The following extract by Thomas Dreier on "What Is a Friend" is well worth close perusal.

"Two men were talking about friendship, and one of them had praised Emerson's splendid essay. The other said, 'I don't know what Emerson wrote on friendship, but I am willing to accept for myself the definition of a friend, written by some unknown writer, that I found somewhere the other day printed on a little slip of paper. Let me read it to you. "What is a friend," he read. 'I will tell you. It is a person with whom you dare be yourself. Your soul can go naked with him. He seems to ask you to put on nothing, only to be what you are. He does not want you to be better or worse.

When you are with him you feel as a prisoner feels who has been declared innocent. You do not have to be on your guard. You can say what you think, so long as it is genuinely you. He understands those contradictions in your nature that leads others to misjudge you.

With him you breathe free. You can take off your coat and loosen your collar. You can avow your little vanities and envies and hates and vicious sparks, your meanness and absurdities, and in opening them up to him they are lost, dissolved on the white ocean of his loyalty. He understands those contradictions in your nature that leads others to misjudge you.

You can abuse him, neglect him, tolerate him. Best of all, you can keep still with him. It makes no matter. He likes you. He is like fire that purges all you do. He is like water that cleanses all that you say. He is like wine that warms you to the bone. He understands.

You can weep with him, laugh with him, sin with him, pray with him. Through and underneath it all he sees, knows and loves you.

A friend, I repeat, is one with whom you dare to be yourself."

Friend! Wonderful word! Now is the time to make friends. College days when all are young and have more or less the same interests in common is the time to fix the tie that will bind forever in eternal friendship. You college students have heard your fathers and mothers say that the friends of their youth are the dearest companions of their older years.

Love is easy when one is young. The petty business worries and partisan ideas that separate older people have not yet been formed. Youth cries to youth, and if unstilled, youth will answer the cry. Human nature has always been the same. Man was in the beginning a gregarious animal. The social compact theory and the converts it has found throughout all the civilized world gives credence to the idea of man's call to man. Only through the artifices of a sham civilization and through the mocking forms of society are men turned from their companions.

Now in young life, and in this a new generation, is the time for us to turn and make for all mankind a band of communion and a bond of everlasting understanding.

Students of Texas Tech, is there not something that we can do to more firmly cement the bands of society? Re-read the excerpt from Dreier. Isn't it wonderful? What would we all give to have ten or even five comrades who would stand the test as he outlines it? Why, to have even one person who could hear all our joys, to sorrow with us when we sorrow and to understand, would be more valuable than all the king's rubies. The test of friendship is the most trying test any one can undergo. Are you anyone's friend? Is anyone your friend?

Friendship cannot be bought. No, it is not for sale for any price, save one. Friendship will buy Friendship!

Let us all try to buy at least one Friend during our college life. If we only could. College education would be worth the price, all the trying hours spent, wrestling with hard and difficult tasks, all the money spent for the necessities of life. Yet if in spending this money and investing our time we could procure just one who would measure up to Dreier's idea of a true friend, we would have accomplished all we need to strive for.

Friendship! Wonderful Friendship!

IS IT FAIR?

Recently Tech was the host to almost two thousand students from eighteen counties represented in the Interscholastic League. Classes were dismissed for two days, and the majority of the students went home or visited friends in nearby cities.

Only the "faithful few" remained to assist with the work of carrying on the meet.

Do you have the interest of your school at heart?

During those two days every Tech student should have been "on duty." People were here to be shown over the campus and the buildings. They wanted to know what was going on. Some were looking for a place to send their boys and girls when they are graduated from high school. A word from you might have caused them to decide in favor of Tech.

While you were away on a two-day frolic some one was carrying on the work that you should have been doing. Now, when these "faithful few" get in on some of the good things, you "raise the roof" and cry "UNFAIR."

IS CHRISTIANITY BEST?

"There are four great faiths, each with a following of many millions. What do they teach? Which comes nearest to meeting the spiritual needs of everyday?"

So runs the sub-title of an article appearing in this week's Colliers. Bruce Barton, nationally known feature writer, has written a series of articles which deal with religion and its effect on the human race. Mr. Barton is a close student of human nature and although much of his information is gleaned from second-hand sources, his articles are pertinent and well worth the perusal.

Articles such as Mr. Barton writes deal with the constructive features of the four great religions, all founded upon the teachings of four great men: Buddha, Confucius, Mohammed, and Jesus. Without such leaders all four religions would be but empty shells.

Mr. Barton regrets that these four religions have so degenerated from the lofty ethical teachings of their founders. He states that Jesus would be greatly surprised if he could return and observe the great services and ceremonials made in his name. Jesus was a simple man and his was a simple religion until man's desire for show caused it to degenerate into the formalism it now is.

Articles and papers such as Mr. Barton has prepared merely show the liberal attitude of the 20th century. This is a century of investigation. A century of doubts, and a century where scientific proof is the only proof. One cannot conceive of the 19th century mind, that is the 19th century lay mind, delving into questions of doubt and questions of disbelief.

Such investigation is good. Investigation is a sign of knowledge. Knowledge is truth and Truth is Toleration. Tolerant and Truth go hand in hand. A Tolerant people are a happy people.

Bruce Barton and his contemporaries are bringing a great message to America. The type of mind that has never tried to grasp the true meaning of religion in its many forms are brought to a realization of religion.

TECH STUDENTS—LUBBOCKITES

The student body of Texas Tech is rapidly becoming imbued with the characteristic Lubbock spirit. Lubbock has always been known for the splendid support that has ever been given to any constructive measure. Lubbock has been noted for the way she has always extended the glad hand of Western hospitality to any possible visitor who sojourn for a few minutes or hours in her midst.

The student body of the college, contrary to most student bodies, has accepted the challenge laid down by the citizenry of Lubbock and Lubbock's guests are Tech's guests. A guest of the city of Lubbock is likewise a guest of the students of Tech. On every occasion when guests are received by Lubbock the college officials and students are glad to be considered as hosts.

When the recent Amarillo Trade trippers visited this city they were received by a group of citizens and students and given the keys of the city. It is noteworthy fact that the group of students present at the reception of visitors outbalanced the number of adult Lubbockites present. This was true at the formal welcome which was tendered our visitors from the North Plains held on the square and likewise held true at the dance given for the visitors at the Hotel Lubbock in the evening.

Tech and its student body are integral parts of Lubbock. The far-seeing citizen cannot but visualize the benefit derived from having a college such as Tech in its midst. Conversely, the far-seeing student cannot but feel that he is a part of the vital, throbbing life of Lubbock, the city. By a close co-operation the student body and the citizenry of Lubbock will be able to continue the good work begun by the old inhabitants of Lubbock. Lubbock will continue to be characterized as the city of Western Hospitality.

COLLEGE INN COLYUM

"My kingdom for a man," is the popular cry from College Inn. And please deliver him within four weeks is always added. It really doesn't matter the kind, blonde or brunette, white headed or bald, tall and thin, little and fat, just any kind just so it is a man.

It was rather a hard proposition for Ruth and Edna to sit in the parlor all afternoon just to see who walked under the door after hanging a pulley-bone over it.

Everything is rosy now. After that lovely dinner, Sunday, could it be otherwise? He loves her, she loves me? How about it?

When a young lady spends more week-ends in Amarillo and Canyon than she does in Lubbock, there must be a reason, eh, Nova?

Just four more week-ends. How are we going to manage to get all the things in?

DOAK HALL DOINGS

Did you ever wake up about 4:30 a. m. Freshman Day, creep stealthily downstairs, and blindfold all available upperclassmen? Did you ever bang on the door of the two upperclassmen that persisted in keeping their door locked on Slime day? Doak Hall slimes did. Then did you ever in a last effort, resort to the window and in the struggle crash through the pane? Thelma Ann and Gooler sure were cut up last Thursday.

Lois Stallings, the nightgale of Doak Hall has finally found someone that will just sit and listen to her sing. I have heard too, that John is taking a course in music appreciation 333.

It is said that every dog has its day. Well the Doak Hall slimes sure had their day. They turned out in a body Thursday for the fish picnic. Since the hallucious day each and every one of them have been trying to get shade lighter. I believe it has just been the planning to try from all effects; don't you?

Margaret's father thought he was in a zoo of a nursery when he visited Tina and Margaret's room. He had lumbergo trying to look at all the sights. But from all reports he enjoyed himself immensely.

Sally P. has gone on a strike of sumpin'. Anyway she is at W. T. H. being kept alone by Doak Hall visiting her.

Sally P. is in the sanitarium suffering from an attack of appendicitis.

Believe me, Vivian Watkins sure knows how to make good sandwiches.

Evelyn and Lois Stallings say that they may go out for track as it sometimes pays if you have to walk home after the show.

Mart and Kate created a great deal of noise Tuesday night. They gave what rats as an excuse for the disturbance. Anyway Mart sure can use a fishing pole.

The Y. W. C. A. secretary sat at our table Tuesday night. We surely did use our Sunday manners.

CHERI CASA COLYUM

There seems to be a unanimous vote to eat off the mantel this week. The fish surely believe in utilizing all the time allotted to them for their fun. They started at one minute after twelve and kept it up until the following mid-night. I hope they don't feel hurt over the event.

Bob says the reason his car does not have lights is because he put wood alcohol in the radiator and the thing went blind.

Weekly Moral: Where there is light there is heat.

Jonney says his whole social position is just hanging by two little strings. Suspenders are great things.

Well Mexico must be a great place; that's all we have heard since the boys got back.

Oh yes, have you noticed the nice "twenty nines", painted on the fish from Cheri Casa? They are nice red letters and tend to make the slimy individuals remember April twenty-eighth.

"Laetie Beatie One's" check from home must have been a large one, judging from the dates he lets the girls have.

Hilly liked the scenery in Crosbyton so well that he brought some of it home with him. What did you say or name was Hilly?

The question that rises before the eyes this week is: Do gentlemen really prefer blondes? Slagie says as how they do. Sam says they don't and Prof. Reese says they are both wrong.

Blondes may be fickle and put on a better and more pleasing display, but I think that gentlemen really marry brunettes.

Seniors Are Not Satisfied with Baseball Games

Two More Games to Decide Supremacy of Campus; Both Teams Ready.

"A task well done; a task complete" runs the old adage. Aasop or Bill Shakespeare evidently did not have the Texas Tech Senior class of '27 in mind when they proclaimed them words of wisdom to the waiting world. Despite the fact that the men of the faculty defeated the chesty seniors to the tune of 456 or some such "unusually" score, those self-same seniors have come back with a burning challenge to the effect that the victory won by the faculty was only brought about by the unprincipled run of Dean Gordon, and have demanded two more games to decide once for all the burning question of the day.

D. Hobson Roberts is to be the manager of the diploma seekers and he states that the first tilt will be fought on the Tech diamond next Tuesday. Runt Stangel is to supervise the bat weaving endeavors of the faculty nine. This boy from A. & M. is to introduce a bit of the old Red and White spirit into the contest and a good time is expected by all.

Manager Roberts and the Faculty mentor have been in close conference for the past few days and although they have kept the utmost secrecy in regard to the result of the confab, the Toreador which sees all, knows all, has delved into the mystery and solved it to the satisfaction of all staff members. "Dean Gordon is to play the whole game or none at all!" So the information has leaked out.

After all difficulties have been ironed out it is hoped that the senior delegation will be satisfied for the faculty mentor swears that he will have a squad on the field that will administer a more severe to the upperclassmen than his crew was able to put across last week. And that was a plenty.

Abilene Series Split by Netmen

By taking 4 out of 5 from Abilene Christian college the Tech netmen were able to keep the edge in their Abilene tilts. The Tech squad had previously dropped three out of seven to the Simmons tennis team. In the Tech-A. C. C. contests Tech made a clean sweep of the double encounter. The senior double event counted for two matches. This event was won by Sewell and McKirahan of Tech while their colleagues L. Lahm and Ross McDonald at McKirahan took his single match while Bill Sewell dropped a like match to the A. C. C. netman.

Tech was not so fortunate in the Simmons met but counted two victories in the singles event. Ross McDonald and Wilson McKirahan gleaned two clean cut victories from the Simmons men but Sewell and Lahm dropped their match to the Cowboys. In the doubles event Tech was able to split with the Abilene men. Sewell and Lahm defeated their opponents while Ross McDonald and McKirahan failed to hold the boys from the university dropping the senior doubles contest.

The final count against the Simmons aggregation stood 4-3 against the boys representing the Scarlet and Black. The Matador netmen report a series of good games.

Simmons university is to meet the Tech netmen here on Monday May 9th. Four singles matches and two doubles matches are to be played. This contest is to be a return match with the boys from Abilene.

McKirahan, Sewell, Lahm and McDonald will again represent the local school. According to present arrangement the girls' court east of the cafeteria will be used for the struggle.

It is reported that Dr. Sam Dunn, the College Medico, has come out with a statement that the modern girl as typified by the Tech co-eds, could neither walk, stand, nor sit properly. The Dr. refused to comment upon her ability to talk or dance.

Ferral Roark, the Fish president asks Elmer Moore if it is worse to lie about the fish you caught on Sunday than on week days.

"BETTY JANE"

(By Richard Cavett)
I know it's horrid, quite inane,
To annoy you,
Betty Jane
With my company or call
When they're welcome
Not at all—
If 'tis so!
When I fuss, I fuss too long,
Or agreeing, get in wrong,
Never singing the right song—
'T does seem so.

Not complaining at the wane
Of your interest,
Betty Jane,
But just wondering, by the way
If perchance you
Had your say,
'Twere goodbye?

I'm not ready yet for that—
Have my rest, but not my hat,
So I surely don't, bless Pat,
Want to hie!

So if I try with might and main
To be real nice, now,
Betty Jane,
If I leave for your own self
Your "make it tight upon yourself"
May I stay?

But gosh! I near forgot a date—
I really must not make her wait—
Please call your roommate, pretty
Kate,
Betty Jane!

Sophs Feature With First Annual Hodge-Podge

Hot Dishes, Peanuts! Red Lemonade! such were the cries that emitted from the Assembly Hall Saturday night when the Sophomores forgot for the moment their worldly manner and the burdens of the earth that have rested upon them for the last eight months. The Sophomore Hodge-Podge given in honor of the Freshmen was indeed a glorious affair.

First the ring-master in the person of Mr. Elmer (Silent) Moore introduced the performers in the Circus burlesque which was to occupy the attention of the tremendous gathering assembled to visualize the bedazzling spectacle.

J. E. Cavett in the image of Slim Ferral Roark, the Freshman president and his lady Miss De Ann Simmons who impersonated "that Bryarly chile," led the funny business.

"Iron Man" Waller reverted to type and became for the evening "Catcho—The World-Famous Juggler." Only by a view of this man's effort are we able to see how he really did the Abilene Iron-man stunt.

Jim "Evolution" Cloud and his group of Simian performers brought joy into the hearts of his many childish admirers. Especially were the youthful Freshmen gratified.

The feature Ballet act of the evening was carried off in typical Winman Millerman style and Fee Wee surely did her stuff.

Only after great effort was the management able to obtain such stellar talent as they displayed in the Premier girls chorus of the evening. Lila Underwood, Ruth Noah, Melba Crawford, and Little Nell Hollar frolicked through a "lighter than air" act.

The Band Headed by Prof. Clyde Brown and his group of syncopating artists entertained while Ralph Fikes and his elephant troupe thrilled the crowd with a series of breath-taking acts. Brother Scott Fikes and Johnny (Shooter) Clingsmith were the mirth-provoking clowns of the evening. Thus with a full three-ring-circus did the Sophomores entertain the Freshmen.

The Circus being over the real authentic Freshman president and Miss Kathryn Bryarly led the grand march. Then the dance began and in the words of one who knows, "The fun went on until 12 midnight."

Punch was served throughout the evening to the five hundred who attended the affair.

Hodge-Podge Dope

Well, that's over. More darn fun, surely had a warm evening. The stunts were silly and every one of the talented (?) performers got over big.

Mc Elmer (President) Moore was able to strut his stuff to the tune of Prof. Clyde Brown and his melody boys and get away with it for once. Wouldn't it be terrible if Elmer would break down and talk a piece for once. If that boy ever forgets his dignity after last Saturday here's one bid for a season ticket.

"Ole" Waller surely is a juggler. No wonder that boy hates to lose to Abilene so bad. That's alright. Waller old boss, keep on trying and if you juggle those pills on the diamond as well as you did at the Hodge-Podge you will slip up on them bye and bye and administer that defeat. One thing though at the Hodge-Podge, Waller did not have to depend on 7-1-2 other saps.

Sam Dunlap knows just how he and that sweet young thing Burney looked after looking over Red Rollins and Sallie Ann. I did not believe any one but Sam and his shadow could be so silly but we all live to learn.

Little Ruth Noah said she wanted her name in the paper so here goes. The only thing that bothers this goof is why on earth did she pick such company. Shame, Ruth, ever-lasting shame!

The old fashioned family act went over big. John Burroughs and Anna Belle were superb in their role. One thing though they did not have to do much acting. Just be natural—in other words, Be Yourself, Big Boy.

Those tight rope walkers took a great chance. What if they had fallen off and broke their fool necks? Answer me that, will you.

That Bryarly chile has a double. Who would have thought it? DeAnn surely did strut her stuff. DeAnn if Mrs. Simmons isn't proud of you now, I don't see why.

Cavett and Roark. Rah! Rah! Rah! Cavett you had better be a good boy or all these annual printers and engravers will be after you to sien a contract! That is not little job, is it Ferral, old kid?

Many Socials For Tech Bride Elect

Miss Irma Dalrymple who is to be a bride of the month upon her marriage to Mr. Ross McWhorter on the 17th, has been the honor guest at many socials and receptions during the past week.

On Tuesday Miss Dalrymple was honored with a hose shower at the home of Mrs. L. R. Gamble. Thursday Mrs. R. L. Moxley was the hostess to the charming bride elect who was the recipient of many beautiful floral articles.

Today Miss Dalrymple is to be entertained by Misses Rossie Beth Bennett and Kathryn Bryarly at the Pagoda Tea Rooms. Bride is to be the feature of the afternoon.

Several other social affairs have been planned in honor of Miss Dalrymple for next week but at this time definite arrangements for such functions have not been made.

Miss Sarah Williams is resting easily after an operation for appendicitis which was performed Tuesday. Miss Williams attended the Freshman picnic Thursday but was stricken later and the operation followed on Tuesday morning.

Students Present Recital Wed. Eve

Several Tech pupils appeared in the music programme which was given at the Methodist church Wednesday evening. This number was sponsored by the music club which has been very active in producing entertainments during the past few weeks.

The programme which was prepared by Miss Margaret Huff, Mrs. R. L. McKnight, A. G. Pfaff, and Miss Annis Owens, embraced selections in vocal, piano and violin rendition.

Misses Edith Carter, Lois Stallings, and Francis Garland sang to the accompaniment of Miss Marjorie Leland.

Misses Lurie Sawyer, Margaret Barker, and Audrey Stoker were presented by Miss Owens in a violin number which was enjoyed by all.

The piano pupils who took part in the evenings entertainment were: Mrs. Will Tucker, Misses Dorothy Duncan, Lillian Hopping, Hazel Groce, Norma Hulme, Rose Mary Nelson, Wilma Dyer, Faye Kelley, Lorraine Pass, Iris Crawford, Josephine McBride and Gussie Suggs.

Matador Nine Splits Series With A.C.C. Wildcats Monday and Tuesday

The Matador squad displayed their stuff Tuesday to come back and win the second encounter with the Abilene Christians after dropping the first tilt to the same nine on Monday. The first game was a poorly played comedy of errors with the Matadors taking the big end in the error column and consequently copping the small end in the tally column. "Iron Man" Waller, who has borne the burden of practically all the mound duty of the season, opened for the Matador nine Monday. For the third time this season Waller saw victory slip out of his grasp by a single tally.

In all these games some one of the Abilene Colleges has been the victor. The Wildcats of A. C. C. put over the necessary punch Monday, coupled with a group of costly errors on the part of the Tech squad, to emerge with a 13 to 12 victory. The Freelandmen showed Monday that they were greatly in need of skill practice. One costly boner after another went to make up one of the most loosely played games ever to feature the Tech diamond. In the second frame Tech seemed to have a comfortable margin which was increased through the next three innings. In the sixth the Wildcats pounced upon Waller's offerings and costly errors upon the part of Hamilton and Rigney allowed the A. C. C. delegation to cop three runs.

Tech tried valiantly to hold the Wildcats but to no avail. Through out the last three innings Abilene scored four runs to pass up the 12 markers given to the Tech delegation. The last of the ninth saw three men up and three down. The game ended 12-13.

Time of game 2 hours 17 minutes.

Coming back Tuesday with a desire to avenge the defeat administered to them Monday the Matadors succeeded in routing the Wildcats to the tune of 7 to 3. The second game was a great improvement over the preceding encounter, Eddie-man, former Plainview high hurler was able to hold the Abilene nine to 11 scattered hits. The errors which characterized Monday's game were conspicuous by their absence in the Tuesday combat.

Powell of Abilene Christian, a former Ralls Jackrabbit man, allowed ten hits to the Matador machine. Powell is also a football man of no little ability.

Only in the second and third innings were the Wildcats able to get to Eddieleman for runs. The other frames were featured with goose eggs for the Abilene crew. Eddieleman allowed one base on balls while Powell was letting five of the Scarlet and black slip to first.

College Seniors Are Given Party By Mr. and Mrs. Ford

Seniors at the Technological college were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gus L. Ford Wednesday evening for games of bridge and forty-two, at their home, 2311 15th street. Miss Kay Ingram assisted in entertaining and in serving dainty refreshments at the close of the evening. Guests were Messrs. and Mesdames E. C. Bruckner, L. T. Green, E. M. Barnett, R. T. Groves, Misses Alice Alverson, Mayme Alexander, Alma Spikes, Willa Mae Hawthorne, Rebecca Quinn, Mary Hope Westbrook, Messrs. Claude Denham, Ned Camp and Eldon Thorp.

There is no kind of life, whether we are transacting public or private affairs, at home or abroad—those in which we are alone concerned or with others—that is free of obligations. In the due discharge of these consists all the dignity, and in their neglect all the disgrace, of life.—Cleero.

Matadors Playing West Texas Nine

Coach Ewing Y. Freeland and his crew of Matador baseball aspirants left this morning for Canyon where they are engaged in a two game series with the Buffaloes today and tomorrow. It is a return engagement with the Buffs the Matadors split twin bill, however, in a recent series with the A. C. C. Wildcats the Buffs dropped two straight games and in a more recent series between the Wildcats and the Matadors the Freeland machine split a twin bill, which indicates that the two game card with the Eckhardtmen will be one of question.

Ray Waller, ace right hander of the Matador ranks, will assume duties this afternoon for the Matadors while it is thought that "Tige" Edlins, former Amarillo high school product, will work on the hill for the Teachers.

Eddieleman, Plainview high school turned the Wildcats back with a 7 to 3 game here this week, will try his hand with the Buffs in the last game tomorrow.
