Castleberry Is Picked For Head Of Student Body

STUDENT ASSOCIATION OFFICERS ELECTED IN HOT CONTEST AT CONVOCATION

Run-Offs Required

PUBLICATIONS RACE LEAVES SIX CANDIDATES IN FINAL BALLOTING

In a hotly contested election at convocation yesterday, Wayne Castleberry, sophomore in the School of Liberal Arts, was chosen president of the student body for the year, 1930-31. He won the contest by a narrow margin over Orval Brothers, the only other candidate put forward. Other student offices were filled in short order without opposition. Run-off in the publications offices will be held Monday, May 11. The first voting for these positions Monday and Tuesday of this week resulted in three run-offs, with Country Coker, candidate for business manager, edging out his single opponent. Eugene Adair, for the only clear majority in the races.

Student offices, other than the president, filled at the convocation yesterday are as follows: James Harley Dallas, vice-president; Lizzie Belle Clements, secretary; and Mose Witherspoon, student representative on the athletic council. It was decided in lieu of likely prospects for the position of chief yell leader to postpone election to this position until next fall.

RUN-OFFS MONDAY

The run-offs in the race for the publication offices will be held Monday between the following persons: H. Y. Price and Frank Emison, for the editor of the Treador; Claudine Cook and Flop Marshall, for editor of La Ventana. The run-off for the business manager of The Treador, scheduled to be between Wayne Castleberry and Byron Claunch, has been complicated by the former's election to the presidency of the student body. Although the opinion of the student council has not been secured as The Treador goes to press, it is believed that a run-off will be staged between Claunch and J. Doyle Settle, the third high man, due to the ruling of the student elections. Castleberry is ineligible to hold two elective offices at the same time under a provision of the constitution. His withdrawal from the race for the business manager's position leaves Settle the second high man.

Taylor Does Well In Oratory Meet

RANKS CLOSE TO ARIZONA BOY WHO WINS CONTEST ON CONSTITUTION

Speaking on the subject, "Constitution Ideals", Yale McPate, of Northern Arizona State Teachers college won the Southwest Regional Oratorical contest held at New Mexico Normal University, Las Vegas, New Mexico, in which Robert Taylor, representing Texas Tech, spoke on "The Constitution of the United States".

A communication to The Treador from the New Mexico school stated that Taylor ranked close to the winner and indicated that if more than one of the contestants were to be sent from this region to the zone contest at Corvallis, Oregon, May 21, the Tech entry would be one of the representatives.

Wayne Castleberry, who accompanied Taylor to the contest, stated that Tech was well represented at the event and that both of them were royally entertained while in Las Vegas.

It is said that the change in fashions for women can be traced by the migration of the vaccination scar.

Gaiety Abounds In Final Affairs Of Senior Class

LINDSAY ENTERTAINS GROUP WITH THEATRE PARTY AT PALACE

Seniors and their guests attended a lovely dinner-dance at the Hilton Hotel at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening. A five-course banquet was served to more than 150 guests. The tables were made lovely through the use of baskets filled with pink and white carnations and sprigs of ferns.

Dr. Horn Speaks

Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of the college, and B. F. Condray, one of the class sponsors, addressed the group. James G. Allen, the other sponsor, rendered a beautiful piano solo. The "inharmonious" male quartet of the Senior Class, composed of Warren Huff, Holmes Webb, Charles Lehrer, and Robert Webb, sang a "farewell melody". Elmer Moore, Carl Pflueger, and Warren Huff made short talks to the group. The note which characterized the program was one of "brevity" and not of sadness. Dean W. S. Miller of the school of Engineering reminded the seniors of their duty to the Alma Mater which they are preparing to leave soon.

Following the dinner, dancing was enjoyed. Music was furnished by Frank Stone and his Collegians.

On Friday the seniors went to the Palace theatre at 1:30 P. M. the guests of Mr. Lindsay.

Y. M. C. A. TO SPONSOR VISIT ASSOCIATION MEMBERS FROM TOUR ABROAD

"Imperialism As I Have Seen It", "The Titanic", "Upheaval in the Orient", "What Will Happen When the World Owes America Fifty Billion Dollars?" and "How to get the Most out of Life", are some of the subjects which Kirby Page will discuss with the student body next fall when he visits the campus, according to present plans.

Mr. Page has just returned from a years study in Europe and the Orient; he is thoroughly familiar with the situation there and will be able to give some interesting information concerning these subjects.

He will be brought to Tech next fall under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Because of his deep knowledge of campus life and problems, he is expected to be especially beneficial to student leaders and thinkers.

REGRETS

The Treador staff regrets that, contrary to expectations, it was found impossible to run more than a four page paper this week, necessitating the elimination of certain material that had been prepared by the special staff. It is hoped that a great part of this material may be included in the remaining two issues of the paper.

Freiburg Players Present Passion Play In Tech Gym

LIFE OF JESUS PORTRAYED IN IMPRESSIVE SCENES BY TROUP

Given In German

FASSNACHT PLAYS ROLE OF CHRIST WITH UNUSUAL EFFECTIVENESS

Before the most appreciative audiences, the greatest of all stories, the life the death, and resurrection of Jesus Christ was successfully presented at the Tech gymnasium Friday night, Saturday afternoon and Saturday night.

The play was spoken entirely in German, but the poignant drama was put across forcefully to responsive audiences despite the fact that very few understood the spoken lines.

Adolf Fassnacht, as The Christus, Willi Ehrhardt, as Judas; and Elias Fassnacht, as Mary, the mother of Jesus, were superb, enacting their roles with such reality as to give a vivid cross section of Biblical times. The soft, resonant voice of the Christus seemed to cast a spell over the audience. Fassnacht's portrayal was backed by his inheritance of seven generations in the same part. The acting of Judas was outstanding.

Saturday night the performance was considerably smoother than the two previous ones. The solo of Adolf Fassnacht was omitted the last night.

Despite the fact the production was given under weary handicaps in the college gymnasium, it was given unqualified approval of Lubbock audiences. A local chorus under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Scoggins and composed of about a hundred Tech students aided in the performance.

From the opening tableaux of the eviction of Adam and Eve from the Garden of Eden followed by the glorification of the Cross, the audience was carried through the eventful history of the life of Christ, including His Triumphant entry to Jerusalem; enmity of the Priests and Scribes; prayers on Mount Olive; betrayal of Judas; sentenced to death by the High Priest; repentance of Judas; trial before Pontius Pilate, march with the cross; crucifixion, resurrection and the final tableaux of the glorification and triumph of Jesus.

Other characters giving splendid portrayal of their roles were Amalie Fassnacht, as Mary Magdalene; Paul Dietz, as Pontius Pilate; Victor Robert as King Herod; Fritz Schoeller as Caiaphas; and also the disciples and priests.

The Passion Play was brought to Lubbock by the Freiburg Players from Freiburg, Baden, Germany; they are making a tour of America for the first time.

The Bull Wheel

Miss Erwin teaches that it isn't the shortness of the skirt it's the upkeep.

Louise Sneed says that a girl's dormitory such as College Inn should be called an academy of design.

Walton Nixon calls Mary Lois Gamble "ANGEL" because she is always up in the air, always harpin' on something, and never has anything to wear.

Fish Jones said that he is going to be a man of letters. One of his instructors said that he must mean a postman.

Let's not forget that Elmo Powell was reported "sick in bed" one day, and came to school the next day wearing pressed and cleaned trousers.

FRESHMEN TO MAKE MERRY AT CROSBYTON SATURDAY

Annual Physics Show Is Staged

GEORGE CONDUCTS EXHIBITION OF WONDERS OF SCIENCE

Displaying the wonders of science to a crowd of students, faculty, and interested citizens, the department of physics held its annual show last Friday and Saturday evenings in the laboratories of the chemistry building. Dr. E. F. George, head of the exhibits, was in charge of the exhibits. Utilizing the secrets of electricity, pressure, light and sound the professors and assistants of the department created some seemingly baffling phenomena for the amusement and education of the audience.

Fifteen exhibitions were given. The most interesting included reflecting on the blackboard the image of a voice, the measurement of lung pressure by means of a novel device, the electric torch that represented real fire which could seemingly be handled without harm, and a tin can motor that had more motion than anything else. It is planned to give these shows once each year.

Plan To Complete Drive For Special Gifts Very Soon

STUDENT UNION CAMPAIGN TO BE EXTENDED TO SUMMER AND FALL TERMS

Preparations to push to an immediate close the special gifts campaign in the Student Union drive are now being made by the students in charge of the program. Final plans and assignments to duties will be made tonight, May 8, at a meeting of the Special Gifts Committee at 7:30 in room 312 of the administration building. It has been requested that all who are members of the Special Gifts committee attend this meeting.

Due to the crowding of events with the nearing of the close of school, it has been deemed advisable to delay the staging of the general campus drive until next fall. Because of the already productive nature of the special gifts drive, however, it has been decided to carry on that campaign until the close of the spring term. Solicitation among the seniors for their part in this drive will also be carried through without a halt. It is further understood that some sort of concentrated effort will be made to get the support or persons attending the summer sessions.

The complete drive toward the Student Union building is expected to cover several years in order to reach its goal of $1,000,000.

Alumni Members Plan Banquet To Be Given May 26

OLD STUDENTS WILL ELECT ASSOCIATION OFFICERS AT ANNUAL AFFAIR

The executive committee of the Alumni association met Saturday in room 310. The committee consists of C. W. Ratliff, president of the association, Sylvia Wilson, secretary, Mary Dale Buckner, editor of the magazine and Bailey Carroll, representative on the athletic council. Various committees were appointed, but no definite plans are to be announced, other than that the annual banquet will be held on Commencement night, May 27.

DAY'S PROGRAM WILL BE FULL —MANY FEATURES OF ENTERTAINMENT

Final plans for Freshman Day, which is Saturday, May 10, were made at the call meeting Tuesday evening. The traditions of the Freshman trip to Silver Falls resort, which is near Crosbyton, will be carried out again this season. Miss Ruth Pirtle and Mr. Lonnie Langston, class sponsors, and Mr. Truitt Brooks, class president together with various committees made the arrangements for the occasion.

Tickets will be on sale at the business office all this week for $3.

All freshmen who buy them will be dismissed from school Saturday, but officials report that cuts will be given to all freshmen who do not buy tickets on the special train.

The heaven of fishdom will begin at mid-night, May 9 and continue until mid-night, May 10. At 7:30 o'clock the special train will leave from the Santa Fe station for Crosbyton and will probably arrive there about 9:00.

C. of C. to Help

Through the courtesy of the Crosbyton Chamber of Commerce means of transportation from the special train to the falls will be provided. Then after the tickets have been presented at the gates, the activities of the day will begin.

Seventy pairs of skates will be available at the skating rink, and in order to make the skating more enjoyable there will be persons in charge of putting on and removing the skates.

A nine-hole golf course may be used, but officials state that all who are interested in golf must bring their own clubs and balls.

Boating may be enjoyed by a few, and for those who are not satisfied with the rowing, a motor may be rented.

Bathing Suits Furnished

One-hundred new wool bathing suits will be furnished the bathers, towels will also be furnished.

An orchestra will furnish the music, and there will be dancing from 10:30 a. m. to 11:30 a. m., and from 2:30 p. m. until 5:00 p. m.

The committee on arrangements urges that each one try to see that all do not engage in the same sports at the same time.

To Serve Lunch

If the weather is favorable, a cafeteria style lunch will be served in the cotton-wood grove nearby; but if the weather is unfavorable, the lunch will be served inside. The menu consists of hot turkey, dressing, and gravy, peas, mashed potatoes, pickles, and tea or coffee.

The Methodist ladies, who are serving the lunch, report that there will be plenty of food and that one may be served at any time in the afternoon.

To Elect Officers

A call business meeting will be held soon after lunch. At which time class officers for 1930-31 will be elected.

Soon after the class meeting a track meet will be held. There will be potato races, blindfold races, and various games will be played by all who so desire.

The officials wish to emphasize the fact that all should take every precaution; however there will be a physician present all day, and experienced life-guard will be in charge of the swimming pool.

At six o'clock the special will leave Crosbyton for Lubbock. After the arrival of the train here, the freshmen will enjoy various kinds of amusements until that dreaded hour.

At that time officers for the coming year will be elected. Definite plans for the banquet and other activities of the association can not be announced until another meeting of the executives committee, which is to be held in the early part of next week.

WHY A "SLIME" SHOULD BE PROUD OF HIS NAME

By Truett Brooks

I once heard a high school student say, "I wouldn't be a Slime." I at once began to feel sorry for this person, for I knew he did not know "just how ignorant he was." But I could not reserve all my sympathy for him, for many high school students are in the same predicament. With high school students all over the land forming the wrong opinion of what a "Fish" really is, it is not surprising that the percentage of illiteracy is increasing. After they finish high school, they go no further in education because they fear the slander of being called a "Slime".

It is the duty of the Freshman Class of Texas Tech to uphold our name in the eyes of the would-be college students, so that they will relish the idea of becoming a "Fish" instead of dreading it because that name brings shame and humiliation to its bearer. We must begin at home. I am sorry to say that some of the present freshmen of Tech need to be enlightened on the subject of what a Freshman is. They should be the first to become acquainted with some of the various characteristics existing in their class and to learn something of the significance of the name "Slime" that they may uphold and cherish it as a name signifying all the noble virtues. Since the people should, in all fairness, learn a few things about a freshman, I shall endeavor to explain why it is an honor to be a "Fish" and to give some reasons why a "Slime" should be proud of his name.

Do you remember the old axiom, "It takes a live fish to go upstream".

Then in order to go up stream one should be a fish and should be a live one. All freshmen in Tech are alive; therefore they will go up stream. They will not be carried on the on-rushing current of life as driftwood or trash, but they will break loose from the usual swim of the channel and fight against the falls and rapids in order to live in fresh water near the river's source. All the time the fish is swimming, it is allowing the water, laden with bits of fish food, to pass in to its mouth. The water, after it has been separated from the food matter passes off through the gills of the fish. This same manner of obtaining food might be applied to the Freshmen. "The Fish" in college is surrounded by those who try to teach him. He takes in all suggestions, criticisms, and instructions, analyzes them, keeps the part taught him by the real teachers and discards the evil and harmful things which would tempt him and ruin his life. Are not these characteristics of a fish one to be proud of?

Did you ever see a fish that was not slick and hard to catch? No, you never did, and you never will. "Slick" is a word used in business way as a synonym for shrewd. This is another outstanding characteristic of the fish.

It is said that a fish cannot live out of water. From this statement one draws the conclusion that fish are "all wet". This is indeed true, not in the sense of politics, but in the sense that they are not dry. I ask you, Freshmen, hadn't you rather be wet than dry? The majority of our schools where freshmen do not rule supreme, are just a slight bit too dry to be interesting. I think we should add just a little moisture to all of the classes; but this act, generous as it would be meant, would be dangerous, for sometimes when water is added to dry things they are dissolved, because they cannot stand the test. I would be willing to take this risk, however, even if some of the clay did dissolve, for it might settle enough dust for the uppers to see with their own eyes what the "fish" really is.

People say that "fish" are green. This is true and I am glad of it. Did you ever see anything green that wasn't alive and growing? I never did. I believe this color is one of the essential things that makes Freshmen lively and wide awake, for green is so loud that it is hard for one to slumber in its presence.

Another thing that makes the Freshman class outstanding is the fact that they are regarded with interest by all the student body. Receptions of warm variety are given the year around for the "Slimes". Certainly there must be something great about a class which can receive so much attention. There is always a warm spot about a Freshman. After the Freshman's heart is so warm with gratitude and love for his upperclassman friends that he hesitates when approaching a chair—for he thinks the "upper" might like to sit down. Does this not show the love the Freshman has for the members of his sister classes?

I once heard a prominent upperclassman giving a discourse on the subject of what a Freshman is. He proclaimed that a Freshman was nothing. This is untrue for it contradicts all the laws of nature. You cannot make something out of nothing, therefore, if a "Fish" is nothing the one who delivered the discourse is either a strange variety of evolutionist or else he is nothing also. A "Fish" is something. I base my proof of this on the same source of law as before. Matter cannot be destroyed. A senior in high school is everything; therefore, a Freshman must be something for there is no destruction of matter. I do not insinuate that "Fish" are only matter, but merely use these laws to prove the upperclassman's theory incorrect. Then, in conclusion, "Here's to the Freshmen, oh let it be said, who cherish the colors black and red." Their blood is as red as their caps are green, and to them college life is only a dream, but freshmen are not as dumb as they seem. Green is the color which shows signs of life; therefore, Freshmen are always found in the strife, ever working and never shirking and giving all that they are worth. Here's to thee, "Slimes" of '32! You are the salt of the earth.

Portuguese Makes Inquiry About Tech

Letters of inquiry received by the college show that interest in the institution is being manifested in ever widening areas. Recently someone in the Bowersy wrote Pres. P. W. Horn for information concerning the work done here, but the latest letter comes from a gentleman in Lisbon, Portugal, who desires to send his son to this country for a technical education. His message, expressed in very interesting English, is as follows: Texas Technological School, Lubbock, Texas,

U. S. A.

I beg leave to write to you, by American Textile Directory recommendations, on account of having a son whom I wish to send to take a course of Textile work in your school.

Therefore, gentlemen, I beg you to send me as soon as possible your catalogues with the prices and explications of how your courses are taken. Please, gentlemen, accept my best thanks in advance.

REMEMBER MOTHER

SUNDAY, MAY 11th

Although MOTHER'S DAY is new as special days go, the significance of its observance is as old as time itself. It stirs to action the heartstrings of a nation, and thoughts of MOTHER take you back through the years, to cherished memories that you treasure among the precious things of life.
