

Summer THE Session T O R E A D O R

"SERVING STUDENTS AND FACULTY ALIKE"

The Wednesday night sing-song will be held this week on Tuesday evening with an organ recital by Prof. Waghorne instead of the regularly scheduled event. You will find definite announcement in this issue.

You must place your orders for invitations to the August commencement exercises with the Texas Tech bookstore immediately. Orders for invitations will not be accepted after July 1. Caps and gowns must be reserved before August 1.

VOLUME ONE

THE SUMMER SESSION T O R E A D O R, JUNE 27, 1931

NUMBER TWO

July 7 Designated Texas Tech Day At Carlsbad!

PRESIDENT HORN DELIVERS ANNUAL SUMMER ADDRESS

Dr. P. W. Horn, president of the college in delivering his annual message to the summer school students at convocation Thursday morning, emphasized the tendency on the part of the students to over-work during the hot weather.

The president expressed his appreciation of the summer school enrollment and mentioned that "the big wheat crop now being harvested in this part of the country seems to indicate that our enrollment next fall will show an increase."

In speaking of the tendency to over-work, Dr. Horn made the following statement:

"The summer school demands many of the requirements of the regular terms with some modifications. There is a tendency, particularly among the mature students, to over-work. During these hot months it is advisable for the students to spend such time on their studies as is required to obtain a value in return. Do not try to crowd too much study and work into the preparation of your lessons."

Dr. Horn invited the students to take part in the recreational program planned by the summer school committee. He spoke highly of the Wednesday evening sing-song, laying emphasis upon the good fellowship that these gatherings develop.

Mentioning the annual trip to the Carlsbad Caverns, Dr. Horn remarked:

"The Carlsbad trip is a feature that none should miss. The caverns are one of the most interesting sights in the world and I recommend to all who have not seen the caverns to take advantage of the opportunity to do so."

Lubbock Hubbers, A Semi-Tech Nine, Plan Night Games

Another recreational feature will be offered the summer school students if R. D. "Dirty" Waller's Lubbock Hubbers carry out their proposed plan for night baseball.

Manager Waller recently launched a campaign to install a lighting system at Merrill park and from information leaking out of headquarters it now seems that within the next few weeks this city will enjoy after dark ball games. The season may officially open the evening of July 3 with the Lamesa Lobes as possible opponents.

The local nine, known as the Hubbers, includes several faces familiar to Tech fans. Morgan, the coach of the Matadors, Eyo Marshall, a former Tech baseball star, and Ray Waller, a former Tech twirler who is studying in summer school, are members of the team.

With the addition of night baseball to croquet, miniature and regular golf, swimming, horseback riding, tennis, fishing, hiking, and bowling the field of activity in sports contains a wide range of pastimes for the summer student.

TEXAS TECH EXCAVATING PARTY LEAVES SANTA FE ENROUTE WEST

SANTA FE, New Mexico, June 25. (Special)—Dr. W. C. Holden and his party of eleven Texas Technological college students left here today for Arizona to continue their study of pueblos.

For the past two days the archeological students have been studying in the museums of this city previous to their visit to Santa Fe. The party had camped for two weeks near the Teolote creek 16 miles northeast of Las Vegas.

The Teolote creek campsite is in the Penitente country of New Mexico and is noted for its many crosses and religious ceremonies. It was in this vicinity that Dr. Holden's party excavated an ancient pueblo, finding pottery, bones, designs, and the first perfect skeleton of the trip. The skeleton was one of an aged man who apparently had suffered from pyorrhea previous to his death. These specimens along with others gathered on the trip will be placed in the Texas Tech archeological museum.

Daily routine of the field trip includes several hours of lecture on the problems at hand, actual work in the field, and evenings of social entertainment around the campfire. Five men, Bill McWilliams, Travis Parker, Andrew Ligon, Frank Ward, and Herbert West, and six women, Misses Bonnie Carpenter, Hettie Carpenter, Myrtle Spurlock, Mildred Bagley, Kathleen Wood, and Willis Mae Hawthorne, are the students in the party.

Over the past week-end the young archeologists had as their guests Mrs. W. C. Holden, Miss Flora Goforth, Al Simmons, William Melle, and T. A. Rogers, all of Lubbock, Texas.

Friendly Fellow

DEAN J. M. GORDON

The Dean has personally supervised the arrangements for the annual summer school excursion to the Carlsbad Caverns. It is largely through his efforts that the cost of the trip has been greatly reduced and a special day, July 7, set aside for Tech folks at the caverns.

DEAN J. M. GORDON ANNOUNCES PLAN FOR ANNUAL TRIP

July seventh has been set aside by Colonel Thomas Boles, superintendent of the caverns, and the United States government as Texas Tech day at the Carlsbad caverns. Dean J. M. Gordon, chairman of the summer school committee, announced yesterday that the annual summer excursion to the caverns will be held July 6 and 7.

Classes will be dismissed both days. Classes will not be dismissed on July 4.

In previous years the excursion was held on July 4 but owing to increased Tech enrollment and the numerous holiday visitors at the caverns on the Fourth the date was changed so as to give the students opportunity to see the sights undisturbed by crowded conditions.

According to plans released by Dean Gordon, the Tech party will leave by bus and auto Monday morning and will visit the caverns the following day. The trip this year can be made with decidedly less expense than the cost previous years. It has been estimated that eight to ten dollars will cover transportation, food, and lodging. Students presenting summer recreational tickets at the caverns will have the two dollar entrance fee remitted.

Further announcements concerning the trip will be made in the next edition of the Torsador and on the bulletin boards in the main hall.

Graduate Students Plan Features For Remainder Of Term

The Executive Council of the graduate students attending Tech this summer at a meeting Wednesday afternoon discussed plans and set the date for the first formal graduate meeting. This event will be a combination business and social gathering.

The graduate students elected B. C. Shulkey of Olney as their class president. Mr. Shulkey immediately announced a program of activities for the organization and committees were selected as follows: Membership, C. C. Miller, chairman; H. P. Clements, T. E. Warren, Almeda Murray, J. E. Speer, Loula Denham, and Mary Steele.

Program: O. C. Southall, chairman; H. P. Webb, Sr., S. G. West, Willis Mae Hawthorne, and Glenys Honey.

Entertainment: J. L. Burke, chairman; Roxana R. Ford, Mrs. C. T. Atwood, Mrs. Georgia Holtzclaw, and C. R. E. Weaser.

TO GO EAST

F. A. Kleinschmidt, head of the Department of Architectural Engineering, is leaving Saturday, June 27, for the East where he will enter Harvard on the scholarship which was awarded to him last spring. Mr. Kleinschmidt will take courses on the Appreciation of Art.

ORGAN RECITAL IS NEXT TUESDAY

An organ recital at the First Methodist Church on Tuesday, June 29, at 8 o'clock will take the place of the usual Wednesday evening college sing-song. Mr. Waghorne, head of the department of music, announced. Mr. Waghorne is planning to play a variety of favorite organ compositions, alternating the usual singing of popular songs. The public is invited to attend the following program:

- March, Chorus in "Carmen" (Bizet).
 - Serenade (Schubert.)
 - Organ
 - Singing of old time songs by audience.
 - Ave Maria (Schubert.)
 - Traumerli (Schumann.)
 - Organ
 - Singing of vesper hymns by audience.
 - The Question (Wolstenholm.)
 - Wedding March "Midsummer Night's Dream" (Mendelssohn.)
 - Organ
 - Requested numbers (Organ.)
 - March in Tannhauser (Wagner.)
- Turn in a news item this week.

CARROLL HINTS BOLSHEVISM FLOP

Professor H. B. Carroll of the history department spoke last night before a large audience in the Chemistry auditorium on "An Estimate of Bolshevism." Following Professor Carroll's address the audience participated in an open air discussion of the subject led by Rev. Braden Moore of the St. Paul's-on-the-Plains Episcopal church.

"Russia has traded one form of dictatorship for another," said Professor Carroll, "with the present dictatorship possibly more benevolent than the Czar's. Today Russia has the autocracy of the party instead of one man."

Professor Carroll traced the early developments of Bolshevism in an attempt to find out how far the doctrine of socialism has been carried. Bolshevism, the speaker pointed out, is revolutionary socialism.

"Indications seem to point to the fact that Russia today does not enjoy socialism in the form the bolsheviks had planned," concluded the speaker.

Talk Texas Tech this summer.

AUGUST SENIORS ELECT THOMPSON

Members of the August graduating class in meeting this week elected O'Brien Thompson, president; Homer Maxey, vice-president; and Estelle Griffin, secretary-treasurer. Dr. Jackson is class sponsor.

The meeting was called for the purpose of organizing the class, arranging plans for several social events, and hearing announcements relative to ordering invitations and serving caps and gowns.

All orders for Senior Invitations must be in hands of the Texas Tech bookstore by July 1 while reservations for caps and gowns can not be made later than August 1. The invitations will carry the same features as those of the June graduation with the exception that a revised list of graduates will be contained.

MEN OF FACULTY AND STUDENT BODY TO BE HONOR GUESTS AT ANNUAL CHICKEN BARBECUE JULY FIRST

The second annual men's chicken barbecue of the Texas Technological College summer session will be held Wednesday, July 1, at Buffalo Springs, according to Prof. C. M. Rogers, president of the men's organization. The meeting last year, he said, was well attended and exceedingly helpful. A much larger attendance is expected this summer.

The party will leave the administration building at four o'clock in the afternoon. The transportation and ticket committee will see that everyone has a way to go. The price of the chicken dinner is 75 cents each. This committee is composed of J. L. Warren, C. A. Wallace, and T. H. McDonald.

According to J. L. Burke, chairman of the program committee, a good time will be had by all. Coach Pete Cawthon has agreed to conduct some athletic features, including swimming. Prof. Dick Waghorne will have charge of the sing-song program, and Prof. B. C. Shulkey will referee a speaking program. All long talks are banned, he says. If time permits some good jokes may be told, old ones not being allowed.

J. L. Burke and S. G. West are the other members of this committee.

Dr. A. W. Evans and Dean J. M. Gordon are on the general arrangement committee. Prof. J. T. Shaver and Prof. O. C. Southall will arrange the menu, and they promise good things to eat in abundance, including barbecued chicken and ice cream. Prof. W. P. Clements and Prof. W. H. Gordon will have charge of the preparation of the chicken.

All men of the faculty and student body are urged to attend.

THE ART OF BALLYHOOGING

From the Northlands come the inviting suggestions of "Cooling lake breezes bring joy"—"Come to romance and nature"—"By the big blue waters"—"Amongst virgin pines"—"Where fish are the gamest"—"Cool breezes filtered through the pines"—"The tourists' paradise"—"You'll meet delightful people"—but not one word about the fish that refuse to bite, the torture of sunburn, or the nightly serenade of the mosquitoes. Nor do the advertisements mention the chigger bites, blisters, aching muscles, flat tires, empty gas tanks, hotel bills, wet feet, poison ivy, and uncertainty that accompanies the moderns' idea of a vacation.

When West Texans, too, develop the art of ballyhooging their country to the world we shall have a summer playground unsurpassed by any section of the entire universe. Right here at home can be found majestic canyons, snow-capped peaks, pine forests, roaring trout streams, quiet lakes, sporty golf courses, cool theaters, sparkling swimming pools, and the finest people on earth.

The best vacation you have ever had can be spent in and around this city. A few minutes investigation will prove it!!!

BAN THE FINESSE

Law and good taste are united against gambling. Our modern game of bridge, if it is to continue as an accepted pastime in the minds of the morally elite, must clean house. The finesse must go.

An attempt to capture a trick with a smaller card than one held by an opponent is an outright act of chance. It is in this particular phase of the game that the gambling factor or the finesse has met with disfavor. Mr. Work and his associates must eliminate these evils from the game or the evil will eliminate the game.

Yea verily, for the welfare of our shins, the future of our silk hose, and the success of our own corn plasters the finesse must be prohibited by an act of Congress.

Write to your Congressman today!!!

ALL-AMERICAN BASKETBALL MEN TO ASSIST IN COACHING SCHOOL

Five of the greatest basketball players in the entire Southwest will assist Jimmy Kitts and Sam Burton during the Texas Tech coaching school, August 3 to 15.

Several years ago Kitts visited the Kickapoo creek bottoms near Athens and formed the Tompkins Boys' team. Kitts, Bennie, Freddie and " Honest John," later entered the Athens high school and under Coach Tutelage developed into basketball players who brought national prestige to the tiny high school. All three rated the All-American high school quintet while performing under the colors of Athens' national championship team.

These boys, along with Doc Sumner, Texas Christian ace with an all-Southwest conference rating, and Lanna Henderson, an All-State man, will illustrate Kitts' classroom lectures on the local basketball court during the coaching school. These boys are also former Athens stars.

It is more than probable that "Sam" Burton, head basketball coach at Canyon Teachers' College, will bring several of his Buffalo stars to this city to assist in teaching basketball tactics to the student coaches.

Burton and Kitts were added to the teaching staff of the coaching school to meet a popular demand. Wallace Wade, head coach at Duke University, and Jimmy Phelan, former Purdue mentor who is now teaching winning habits to the University of Washington grid team, will instruct football during the school.

METHODIST PROGRAM

- 9:15—Special Sunday School Classes.
- 10:30—Morning Worship, sermon, "A New Declaration of Independence."
- 6:00—Open House: Singing old favorites with Harry LeMaire and his College Girls Band.
- 7:15—Epworth League, "Book Discussion."
- 8:15—First of a series, "Home Builders," "O Promise Me," Orchestra, Young People's Choir.

NATION-WIDE SCOPE

Applications for enrollment in the Texas Tech coaching school, the only one to be held in the Southwest this year, have been received from residents of eighteen states.

It has been predicted that West Texas will harvest an exceptionally large pecan crop this fall.

Amarillo plans to complete a coliseum seating 20,000 in time for the Tri-State fair this fall.

A campaign against wolves has started near Runge.

The Near Great

The following students, because of their devotion to the cultivation of the intellect, are honored today as the all "A" students of the campus for the spring term.

Canon Clements, Carl McAdams, Mrs. H. L. Merriman, Gaston R. Bacon, Coleta Joy Baker, Russel Bean, Mrs. Lucille Laisey, Allison Self, Vida May Simpson, Herbert R. Southworth, and W. T. White.

Sixty-five other students maintained an "A" average for the spring term.

Mr. C. M. Rogers of Amarillo has been teaching in the Tech Summer school for the past three seasons. At Amarillo, Mr. Rogers occupies the post of supervisor or both the junior and senior high schools.

Mr. B. C. Shulkey, president of the Graduate Club, has been superintendent of the Oiney City schools for the past six years and has been in the Tech Summer school for the past three years.

All prospective August graduates are urged by Dean J. M. Gordon to check up on their courses with their respective deans so as to make sure that there will not be any chances of error in their graduation plans.

Bishop Seaman of the Episcopal Church was introduced to the students at the convocation by Dean Gordon. In a short talk, Bishop Seaman urged the students not to neglect church attendance during the summer.

The Panhandle-Plains Historical Society has raised eighty per cent of the $25,000 needed to house the organization's museum. The remainder may be appropriated by the state.

New figures on enrollment issued by the registrar now place the number of students enrolled in the Tech summer school at 1330 or 14 more students than enrolled for both terms last summer.

Miss Sylvia Wilson, secretary to the Dean of Women, is leaving in a few days for Madison, Wisconsin, where she will enroll in the State university for the remainder of the summer.

N. S. Holland of Breckenridge, who will join the teaching staff of the department of education for the second summer term, was a campus visitor last Monday.

ANNOUNCES SERMONS

Rev. J. O. Haymes, pastor of the First Methodist church, announces a series of "Home Builders" sermons beginning Sunday evening. The themes are: June 28, "O Promise Me;" July 5th, "How to Start a Home Right;" July 12, "Broken Homes;" July 28, "Delinquent Parents;" August 2, "The Eternal Honeymoon."

Miss Lucille Haley of Big Springs visited friends here early in the week. Miss Haley is planning to enter the textile school next fall.

John Chatfield, the biggest man on the campus last year, has enrolled for summer work. Last quotations were 285.

A card received from the "Hank" Morgans was post-marked from old Mexico. The Morgans are enroute on a honeymoon trip to California.

Attend the football games next fall.

ADOBE RESIDENCE OF AUTHOR OF "ALKALI TRAILS" IS ATTRACTIVE

An expression of the beauty and grandeur of Pueblo Indian architecture is to be found in the new home of Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Holden in the 3100 block on 20 street, that is nearing completion.

The home was designed by Jimmie Atcheson, a senior agricultural student of the college.

The idea was taken from the communal houses of the Pueblo Indian as found by the first Spanish explorers that visited sections of New Mexico.

The building was made from adobe bricks, the material for the adobe being taken from the yard. The walls vary in thickness from two feet at the bottom to about 18 inches at the top. The outside of the house is very rough, carrying out the Indian idea, as the Indian women finished their houses with wet white sand put on by hand.

The structure contains seven rooms, some of which are elevated. This is quite true to the native style for a historical style is said: "An Indian woman spends most of her time going up and down stair-steps from one room to another." One of the most interesting and attractive rooms is Dr. Holden's study, which contains a rounded corner fireplace, a large bookcase, and is to be furnished in accordance with the "Big Chief" idea.

Glass doors, carved with symbols dear to the heart of the red man, open out to the patio at the rear of the house. The roof of the back porch is made from unfinished logs taken from a pine forest in New Mexico. Near the center of the court is an old fashioned well with its rope and bucket suspended from roughly hewn logs that stand several feet above the casing of the well. On the door opening into the court from the outside wall is to be found famous cattle brands that have had a snare in the history of West Texas.

The lighting fixtures are to be wrought iron on which will be carved various Indian symbols. According to Mrs. Holden the home will be furnished with hand-made furniture, Indian rugs, blankets, baskets, curtains of bright hue, and santos. This custom began when the Indians were converted to Catholicism by the Spanish priests.

Various kinds of Cactus, Sage and Yucca will be an added feature in the front yard, while on the front door is carved a jackrabbit, a buffalo, an antelope, and a coyote which once roamed in great numbers over the plains of West Texas.

College Avenue Paved By Autumn

Contract for the paving of College Avenue from Fourth Street, south to Nineteenth Street and for the paving of Nineteenth Street on the south side of the campus has been let according to Mr. W. T. Gaston, business manager of the College. The paving on College Avenue will consist of two twenty foot slabs of concrete the length of the street if present plans are carried out.

Work on the paving will begin within the next thirty days and all of the paving adjacent to the college will be completed before the fall term begins.

WEST END BAPTIST

"The Modern Home," is the sermon announced for Sunday morning by Rev. Boyd P. Milburn, pastor of the West End Baptist church. His sermon Sunday evening will be, "A Need for the Present Day." Sunday school services will begin at 9:45.

"Warming the Devil's Fire by Eating the Devil's Food" is the sermon subject from which Dr. R. C. Campbell, pastor of the First Baptist church, will preach Sunday evening.

REV. W. F. FERGUSON

Revival Services At West End Will Begin Sunday, 5th

A ten-days or two-weeks of revival services are to be held at the West End Baptist church, beginning Sunday, July 5, during which Rev. W. F. Ferguson, pastor of the First Baptist church at Slaton, will do the preaching, according to Rev. Boyd P. Milburn, pastor of the local church.

Rev. Mr. Milburn will assist the Slaton minister in conducting the revival and states that the public is cordially invited to attend each service during the revival.

The West End Baptist church was organized April 27, 1930, with only nine members. It now enjoys a membership of 190, thirty additions having been received since last February when the present church edifice was constructed.

Mr. and Mrs. Conner Cole will attend the convention of the College Bookstore Association in Salt Lake City, Utah, August 2 to 5. Mr. Cole is manager of the Texas Tech bookstore.

Reduced Rate Is Offered Students

Admission to either the Lindsey or Palace theatres at the reduced price of twenty-five cents can be secured by presentation of Tech registration at the box office. Recreation tickets can still be obtained at the business office of the college. This reduced rate is for summer school students only.

Co-ed Whistler Features Program

Miss Dorothy McFarland, former radio broadcaster and Public theater entertainer, was a feature of the first convocation of Texas Technological College Thursday morning in two whistling numbers. Accompanied at the piano by Miss Helen Tomack Miss McFarland pleased her audience with a charming interpretation of the "Indian Love Call," and answered an enthusiastic encore with the popular number, "Sam, the Old Accordion Man."

BEAUTIFY ATHLETIC PLANT

Grounds surrounding the gymnasium are being planted with grass and shrubbery in an attempt to beautify the campus. By use of student labor and plenty of water, P. W. Cathon, director of athletics, hopes to make his end of the campus unusually attractive.

MORRISON TO LECTURE

Ray Morrison, head football coach at Southern Methodist University, will give several lectures on "the forward pass" in connection with the Wade-Phelan football coaching course to be offered by the college he first two weeks of August.

A COOL SPOT
The Texas Tech bookstore is one of the coolest spots on the campus. In the store a visitor may inspect the many interesting books, novelties, and stationery that the store offers at reasonable prices or enjoy a cool drink or sundae at the fountain.

R. M. Walker of Lano has killed 82 rattlesnakes so far this season.
