

Council Postpones Ruling On Hazing Case Until Friday

By BRONSON HAVARD
Foreador Assistant News Editor

The Interfraternity Council court has delayed the announcement of its decision in the Sigma Chi hazing case until Friday evening.

Although the court has made a decision, Pete Feather, IFC president, reported Wednesday at the Annual IFC Awards Banquet that the court said its decision was not fully prepared. The court will convene Friday at 5 p.m. to read its decision.

Charges were brought against Sigma Chi Nov. 7 by Feather, acting as prosecutor for IFC, on the grounds that the social fraternity violated IFC, college and state rules on collegiate hazing.

Sigma Chi Responsible

The prosecutor held Sigma Chi responsible for the "walking" of two of its active members by the fraternity's pledge class. It was admitted in the trial testimony by pledge class members that they took the actives some 40 miles from Lubbock and left them without means, other than by walking, to return to Lubbock.

IN THE TRIAL, Bill Wellborn, defense counsel, argued that the action was not hazing as defined by hazing statutes of Texas law and that Sigma Chi's legal rights were denied in the case.

At the Awards Banquet, Edsel Buchanan, director of intramural sports, addressed the assembled group of IFC officers and members, administration officials and campus leaders, and members of the Alpine Trio, who provided the entertainment.

Need For New Facility

"I am looking forward to the day when we here at Tech can have a recreational building and gymnasium like other schools," Buchanan said. "Sooner or later I think we will have one," he continued.

Buchanan spoke of the need for the new facility to provide a center where sports activities can be carried on every day from 7 a.m. until midnight.

He offered two ways to finance the building construction: (1) By a student fee of $5 per semester or (2) By building the center onto the present men's gym.

BUCHANAN PRAISED the fraternity system for being able to provide the best organized intramural teams and the role students play in the planning of the intramural schedule and program.

Present Intramural Awards

Leo Brown, IFC committee chairman for sports, presented six awards to fraternities for their participation in the intramural program last year.

The Sportsmanship trophy went to Kappa Alpha and was accepted by Larry Doty for the fraternity.

The football trophy went to Pi Kappa Alpha and was accepted by Billy Rachel.

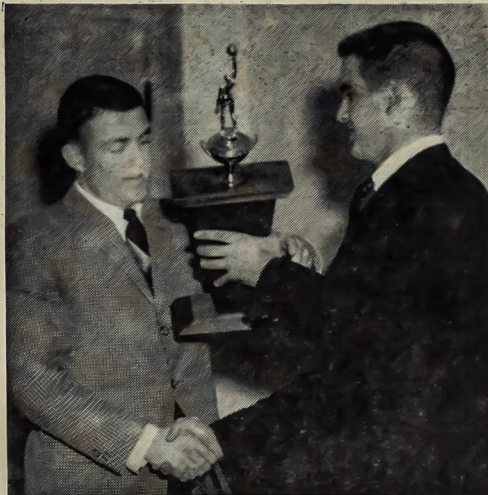

Phi Delta Theta won the basketball trophy. Jerry Avery received it.

ROYAL FURGERSON accepted the track trophy on behalf of Phi Delta Theta.

The softball trophy went to Sigma Alpha Epsilon with Guy Seibert accepting.

The red Sweepstakes blanket was also awarded to Sigma Alpha Epsilon which compiled the most points. Seibert accepted it for the SAE's.

Pete Feather presented the IFC checks to the fraternities with the winning Homecoming floats. Johnny Ayres accepted the $100 first place check for Phi Gamma Delta and Larry Doty accepted the $50 second place check for Kappa Alpha.

IFC TROPHY—An IFC trophy is presented Thursday night at the IFC Awards Banquet. Edsel Buchanan was speaker for the occasion, attended by IFC officers and members and administration officials.

Old Tale Has New Wrinkle

SUNRAY (AP) — "Man bites dog" stories have become old hat. But "dogcatcher bites man" stories add a new wrinkle.

Dogcatcher Joe Bice received a routine call to the Charles Austin home Saturday to check on some dogs. Bice said Austin resented the visit and gave this account.

During an ensuing scuffle, the owner shoved his hand into Bice's mouth. Bice bit. Austin lost part of a finger—down to the knuckle.

Aggravated assault charges were filed Wednesday by police in this West Texas hamlet against the bitten man.

Artists To Exhibit In December Show

Works of the two painters who executed the fresco in the lobby of the West Texas Museum along with more than 75 examples of art work by other nationally-known artists will be brought to the Tech campus for exhibit Dec. 3-7.

The show, open to the public from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. in the Union Workroom, is being sponsored by the Interfraternity Council through the auspices of Ferrell Galleries of El Paso.

This will be the first time the IFC has undertaken such a project, according to Mike Denton, campus fraternity advisor.

Peter Hurd and Manuela Acosta, the two who painted the museum's wall mural depicting early times in the Lubbock area, are both contributors to the collection.

Hurd's wife, Henrietta Wyeth, will also be represented in the show.

Paintings by Tom Lea, author-illustrator of "The Brave Bull," and those of Vera Wise, a faculty member of Texas Western College, will be part of Ferrell's exhibit.

Other artists with work in the show include Rue, Elaine de Kooning, Frank Gervasi, Theodore Van Soelen, Jan Herring, I Mull, Loyce Easley and Frederick Carter.

The showing is expected to draw interested persons from over the South Plains, according to Denton.

Tech students may be relieved to know that the lives of Greek organizations are not in danger. Who said they were? In the Eastern portion of the United States, many colleges are doing away with fraternity system housing and in some cases the fraternities.

Although the Tech campus does not have fraternity and sorority houses, the "system" of social activities is in a period of growth rather than decline. The schools that have done away with fraternities are generally characterized as the "Ivy League set." Harvard, Princeton and Yale have ended or are strangling their fraternity systems. A Massachusetts school (Williams) has ruled that all students must live in the provided areas.

Tech, on the other hand, is still considering letting new organizations come on campus. Figures show that membership in Greek organizations is up all over the country. It could be that the so-called prestige "houses" have contributed to their decline in the world of college students. Our system of friendly rivalry on the Tech campus keeps a healthy atmosphere. Let's hope that it stays that way.

AS I SEE IT

The Phi Deltas and Kappa Sigas are certainly trying to keep it that way. Saturday night there is a dance for both the chapters at Van's Catering Service. The members got together last year and decided to have a party. It was so enjoyable that they have made it an annual affair.

Other parties this weekend include Alpha Tau Omega's "Babes in Toyland" dance Saturday night at the lodge. Pi Kappa Alphas will go western Saturday night at 7 p.m. at their lodge.

Delta Tau Delta is holding a casual dance at the Hillcrest Country Club Saturday at 8 p.m. The Delt pledges will dance again Tuesday at a mixer with the Zeta Tau Alpha pledge class at the Delt lodge.

Phi Mu sorority will have a Dad's Day tea at its lodge following the Tech-Colorado game.

Women Finish Journey Today

Pi Beta Phi will meet Knapp's team II in the all-school play-offs of the women's intramural volleyball tournament tonight.

The Gamma Phi Betas finished undefeated in division II of the sorority tourney. There was a three-way tie for first in division III between Alpha Chi Omega, Kappa Alpha Theta II and Pi Beta Phi I. In a round-robin play-off the Pi Phi's won first place standing, Alpha Chi Omega was second and the Thetas placed third. Gamma Phi Beta and Pi Beta Phi met last night to decide who placed first in the sorority division.

In archery the Chi Omegas placed first with 76 points, Sigma Kappa was second with 55 points and Delta Delta Delta came in third with 45 points.

Over-all point standing for archery and volleyball are:

Art Show Premieres

A New York art show premieres on Tech campus Friday in the West Texas Museum Art Gallery.

More than 65 paintings have been sent from the East Coast to the South Plains of Texas for this "Art to Own" display.

Mrs. Rosalie Berkowitz, art consultant and artist, selected the collection from New York art galleries. The paintings include oils, water colors, tempera, lithographs and graphic arts of mostly realistic interpretation by artist of established reputations.

"We want Tech students to realize that they can buy lithographs and other paintings from galleries in New York at reasonable prices in the museum during this showing," Dr. William C. Holden, museum director, said.

The price of the pictures will fit almost any West Texan's billfold. Prices range from $25 to $2,500.

"What matters in art is the beauty, not the money," Mrs. Berkowitz commented. The New York artist also selects paintings for the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts and the McNay Institute of Art in San Antonio, in addition to being very familiar with the New York art market.

Southwest art authority and noted painter John Meigs set up the "Art to Own" display. Meigs worked as one of Peter Hurd's assistants in 1953-54 when Hurd painted the "Fresco Mural" in the West Texas Museum.

Meigs will lecture at 3 p.m. Friday in the Museum Auditorium. His lecture will deal with the care and preservation of paintings.

The Museum Auditorium will again be the scene for another speech by the Southwest artist at 3 p.m. Sunday. The topic of Meigs' speech will be "The ABC's of Col-

Europe Plan Offers Seven Scholarships

Scholarship applications offered by the Institute of European Studies, are now being accepted for undergraduate study in Europe for the academic year 1963-64. Seven scholarships will be offered for study in three of the Institute's centers at Vienna, Paris and Freiburg, Germany.

Included in the seven scholarships are three full grants, covering tuition, fees, room and board and round-trip transportation by boat.

The programs in Vienna and Paris are open to college sophomores and juniors, while the Freiburg program is restricted to juniors.

The University of Vienna offers a full scholarship amounting to $2,230 and other partial scholarships of $500 and $1,000. The program there will include English-taught liberal arts, general studies courses, and German language instruction as well as supplementary lectures and seminars.

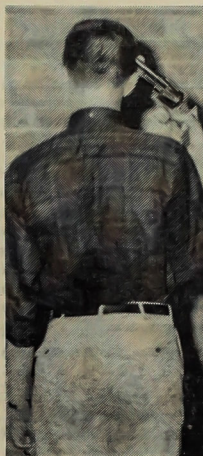

For its program the University of Freiburg offers a full grant worth $2,125 and a partial scholarship worth $1,000. The Freiburg courses are all taught in German and emphasize on political science, philosophy and literature and German history.

The University of Paris study offers a complete scholarship amounting to $2,475 and a partial scholarship valued at $500. This program is intended for the superior student and encompasses liberal arts and general studies with opportunities for independent study at institutes of higher learning in Paris.

The Institute announced that the scholarships will be granted on the basis of academic achievement, financial need and recommendation by the applicant's university or college.

Applications must be completed and submitted no later than Feb. 15, 1963. Further information may be obtained from Institute of European Studies, 35 E. Wacker Drive, Chicago 1, Ill. Awards will be announced about May 1, 1963.

Grades Available Next Week Read 'Em And Weep!

Students may pick up their mid-semester grade slips either next Wednesday or Thursday.

Don L. Renner, dean of admission and registration, said that the registrar's office would try to have the grade slips ready before classes are dismissed Wednesday. If they are not ready then, they may be picked up Thursday.

Grade slips will be in the registrar's office, room 160 of the Ad Bldg. for most students. Home Economics and Agriculture majors may obtain their slips in their individual schools.

Students' parents will be mailed grade slips over the Thanksgiving holidays.

Grades will be figured on the 4.0 system. A's will have a value of four points; B's, three points; C's two points; and D's one point. Each grade will then be multiplied by the number of hour the course carries. A 2.0 grade average is passing. Absences will be designated on the slips.

Union Shows 'Captain From Castile'

Furthering the drama aspect of Tech Union's Fine Arts Festival is the movie "Captain from Castile."

The movie will be shown at 4 p.m. today and Friday in the Coronado Room of the Union.

Stars are Tyrone Power, Jean Peters, and Lee J. Cobb.

The movie is notable for its presentation of the spirit of exploration and conquest characteristic of the Renaissance, which Lope de Vega influenced. Power is a Spanish nobleman who fights the Inquisition of that period. He is forced to escape to Mexico, where he helps Cortez conquer the Aztec empire.

Election Proves Conservative Loss

(Editor's Note—Apologies to both readers and columnists for the sporadic nature of this column's appearance. Changing advertisement loads have been resulting in the unexpected deletion of editorial space.)

By RONALD BENSON

The 1962 November elections were anything but "off year" elections for the moderates and liberals, both Democratic and Republican. Alexander Wiley, Homer Capehart, and Walter Judd, all Republican stalwarts, were defeated by their Democratic opponents. Carl Hayden defeated his Goldwater Republican challenger for the Senate race in Arizona. Gov. Edwin Mechem, a Goldwater supporter, was defeated by Democratic Jack Campbell for the governor's race in New Mexico. Republican Iowa has a new Democratic governor.

Here in Texas, with one or two exceptions, the Republicans went down to a crushing defeat.

This election confirms what has been apparent for some time now: that is the so-called "conservative" candidates simply have little to offer the American voter. Many of these conservatives, with reference to West Texas and lower California, are simply frightened and confused people, striking out blindly at first one thing and then another. They are living in a world they don't understand, and unfortunately, the world won't stop for them to get off.

In the realm of domestic affairs, the 88th Congress would do well to consider the following problems: First, unemployment is still high, and the slow extinction of the small farmer is only going to swell unemployment in the cities still more.

Second, we are convinced that a Department of Urban Affairs is needed and ought to be created with all possible dispatch.

Third, a stronger Civil Rights stand by the Administration and Congress is needed, especially in regard to federal housing and projects financed by national funds, in whole or in part.

Fourth, federal funds to higher education for state supported institutions, as well as federal funds to schools supported by religious groups, if a method can be found which is in harmony with the recent decisions of the Supreme Court, can only serve to strengthen America.

And, fifth, any tax cut suggested by Congress should be designed to stimulate the purchasing power of the middle and lower income brackets most of all.

In foreign affairs, we must continue to support the United Nations, physically and financially. The Cuban situation has reaffirmed the usefulness of the U.N. once more. It is important that we continue to support India in the struggle to eject the Chinese Communists from its territory.

We ought, moreover, to reverse our present policy of trying to force England into the Common Market. We ought, instead, to put new pressure on France to admit England with terms which will not endanger the economic stability of the Commonwealth.

In conclusion, it is hoped that President Kennedy, after the experience of working with one Congress, will depend more on the leaders of the liberal-moderate coalition to carry the Administration's program through Congress. The American government cannot be carried on the shoulders of one man. It won't work, it's too heavy.

Let's Beat Buffaloes!

About 1500 people gathered at Lubbock Airport Sunday to welcome home the Red Raider football team, and its coach, J T King.

The plane was two hours late, but half that crowd remained.

The team was flabbergasted at this touching gesture of good faith on the part of so many supporters.

Members were so moved they could hardly talk.

Coach King still gets a strange catch in his voice when he speaks of it.

The TOREADOR submits that nothing else could have so much improved chances of winning our next game.

This type of support is an important ingredient in winning.

There's a possibility that it has been lacking in the last few games. There's a possibility that we'll win Saturday if these supporters are in the stands helping. There's a possibility we'll wipe up the field with the Colorado Buffaloes whose record is almost as perfect as our own.

"The boys really want to win this one," King said, "for themselves and for those people out at the airport."

"If we get an all-out effort from all our people, from all our supporters, we've got a real good chance to win."

Let's give the Raiders the support they need for this game. Let's see if we can get the visiting Dads to join in the cheering for our team. Let's let them know we're behind them win, lose or draw!

Let's stay behind the Raiders this Saturday!

IFC Creates Image

IFC is creating a new image.

So far there have been scandals and bad publicity and trials.

But that's all changing now.

Inter-fraternity Council is sponsoring an Art Show featuring the works of nationally and internationally known painters.

This is an event which will draw many interested people to Tech campus, and send them away with a new impression of the fraternity system.

After seeing this show, people are going to know that fraternities are good for something besides beating pledges and throwing parties.

It is the first of a long line of planned events which will result in a new image of Tech's Greek organizations.

Lubbock people are still talking about the time a fraternity took its pledge class to a local children's nursery to paint, repair and clean the premises.

There are many constructive ways in which fraternities can channel the efforts of pledges and at the same time show townsfolk that Tech is populated with mature, responsible citizens of which they can be proud.

The new image is a good one. Keep it that way.

NEW WOMEN'S DORMITORY

The New women's dormitory on 19th street will house 808 coeds and should be completed in August 1963.

It will contain 80 van-loads of furnishings and almost 72 miles of electrical wiring. Over 10 miles of plumbing will be connected.

Over six million pounds—or 321,000 tons—of brick and tile will go into its construction.

Presti And Lagoya Play Here Tonight

Ida Presti and Alexandre Lagoya, well-known European guitar duo, will appear in concert tonight at 7:15 in the Tech Union Ballroom.

Both Presti and Lagoya had been established solo concert guitarists when they joined forces to form a guitar duo in 1955. Since then, they have won critical praise from all over Europe. Their American debut in 1961 brought praise from American critics as well.

"The most phenomenal husband and wife team to appear in music in many years made a triumphant debut. They have to be heard to be believed," said the New York-World Telegram and Sun. And Miles Kastendieck, writing in the Journal-American, said, "Ida Presti and Alexandre Lagoya have a rapport and a consummate skill that should delight audiences for years to come."

French-born Ida Presti studied the guitar with her father, a noted musician, and at ten was proclaimed a prodigy in Europe. Alexandre Lagoya had played the guitar since the age of eight and made his recital debut at the age of thirteen in Alexandria. After the war, he settled in Paris and there met Miss Presti. Following their marriage, the couple formed the guitar duo which has brought them world fame.

Their initial appearance at the Festivals of Menton, Aix-en-Provence and Bordeaux created a sensation. The famous critic, Clarendon of Figaro said of Presti-Lagoya, "Can be compared only to Segovia," while Combat, Paris, called them "One of the wonders of the world."

Their program tonight will consist of Renaissance and contemporary Spanish music, both original works for guitar and transcriptions ranging from Bach to Debussy.

Students and faculty will be admitted free with ID's. Tickets will be $2.

Footnotes

by Miller

The Fine Arts Festival under way this week is one of the best ever presented by the Union in our opinion. Events this year cover a wider range than ever before, and almost every phase of artistic endeavor is represented.

The idea of a theme is good, and we wonder if there will be a theme every year from now on, or if this year is going to be a flash in the pan.

In the press release on Lope de Vega, it says the Renaissance is "the height of physical, intellectual and spiritual achievement perhaps never surpassed by man." And for this reason, the Fine Arts Festival theme is "The World of Lope de Vega."

That's nice. But is it right? We disagree.

Let's not limit ourselves. The minute we say that man reached a height somewhere in the past, we automatically assume that he will never reach it again, and that it is futile to try.

Today man's imagination is freed as never before. Art, music, literature in forms never before imagined are appearing on the scene. And just because something is new doesn't mean it isn't good.

We have a suggestion. How about a festival based on the future? We could display the new forms of art, present the new plays and symphonies, discuss the new trends. We're living in a fast-moving age. Only time will tell whether our efforts now are worthwhile. But at least an effort is being made. Let's recognize it.

"ON THE CAMPUS"

Tech Hosts Dads Saturday

By GRETCHEN POLLARD
Toreador Staff Writer

It may be a "woman's world" most of the year 'round, but Saturday will be different.

Hundreds of Tech dads will be honored Saturday to prove that it's a "Dad's world" too.

For the past eight years many activities have been planned by the Association of Women Students to celebrate Dad's Day. The men who "pay for your college diploma" will hold the key to the campus.

Beginning with registration and coffee at 9:30 a.m. in the Union Ballroom, the dads will have an opportunity to mix and mingle with each other informally. And if you listen closely, you might find them playing the "Do you know so-and-so?" game.

Following the coffee, the Dad's Assn. will conduct a business meeting at 11 a.m., also in the Ballroom. Membership to the association may be obtained by purchasing a membership card during registration. Annual membership is $3 and permanent membership is $10.

Mom isn't forgotten during the activities, as a barbecue for the entire family is planned at noon at the coliseum. Tickets are $2 and may be purchased during registration or at the door.

Jones Stadium will be the hub of activity when the Raiders meet Colorado University at 2 p.m. During the halftime ceremonies, awards will be presented to the oldest and youngest dads, the fathers with the most number of students enrolled at Tech and the dad traveling the farthest distance.

Two new members of the Tech Athletic Hall of Honor, sponsored by the Dad's Assn., will be introduced at the game. They are Marsh Farmer, Fort Worth, and Hurley Carpenter, Lubbock.

The Dad's Day committee of AWS is headed by Vangie Young.

Parsons Attends Textile Meet

L. E. Parsons, textile engineering department head, attended the annual meeting of the National Council for Textile Education in New York City last week.

Members of the council are heads of the eight textile schools in the United States. The purpose of this year's meeting was to explore employment possibilities for textile school graduates in the fields of textile sales and merchandising.

Representatives of some of the nation's largest textile firms met with the educators. The group learned that the textile industry offers excellent employment possibilities for college graduates interested in sales and merchandising, Parsons said.

The group toured the Fashion Institute of Technology in New York City. The educators were especially interested in the institute's teaching techniques, Parsons said.

Assignment: find a filter paper that works harder the dirtier it gets

In chain-drag test, truck raises heavy dust clouds to check air filter efficiency.

Results: Up to 30,000 miles between filter changes in Ford-built cars for '63!

The 1963 Ford-built cars you see on the road these days can eat dust and keep coming back for more, thanks to improved carburetor air filters.

In our continuing quest to build total quality and service-saving features into Ford-built cars, our engineering research staff explored the entire field of physical chemistry for new air-purifying properties in materials.

The result: a filtering material made of chemically treated wood pulp and paper that permits Ford-built cars under normal operation to go from 24,000 to 30,000 miles before carburetor air filter replacement is required.

The new, tougher filter paper is accordion folded to increase surface area four-fold, permitting higher filtration in a smaller package. The more matter it accumulates, the better it filters right up to its full rated service life. It saves owners time and money. It keeps Ford-built engines livelier longer.

Another assignment completed—and another example of how Ford Motor Company provides engineering leadership for the American Road.

Tech Adds To Hall Of Honor

By TOMMY SEAY
Toreador Sports Writer

William (Red) Hurley Carpenter and John Marsh Farmer, former Tech athletes, will be inducted into the Texas Tech Athletic Hall of Honor at the annual business meeting of the Dad's Association Saturday at 11 a.m. Paul Gustwick, immediate past president of the association, will make the recognition.

Carpenter and Farmer will join five other Tech greats previously recognized for their athletic achievements while at Tech. The Hall of Honor was begun Oct. 4, 1961.

The elite members of the group previously entered are Ransom Walker, Elmer Tarbox, Walter Schlinkman, Pete Cawthorn, and W. L. Stangel, now dean emeritus of agriculture at Tech.

THREE-SPORT LETTERMAN
Carpenter, now director and assistant general manager of Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma Coaches, Inc., was a standout performer in football, basketball, and track. He attended Texas A&M before coming to Tech and lettered as a freshman in football and track.

He came to Tech in 1925 and lettered four years in football and two years in track and served as captain of the 1926 football team as a sophomore. His most notable achievements as an athlete were starting every game during his four years as a player (with the exception of the final game missed because of an injury) and scoring the first touchdown in a game played on the Tech campus. His college coach was E. Y. Freeland.

CAMPUS LEADER

Carpenter was also an outstanding leader on campus serving as vice president of the student body in 1926.

He was married to the former Magdalen Dederick (a 1936 Tech graduate) on Dec. 17, 1942 and they have one son, George, of Lubbock. Carpenter and his wife reside at 1907 36th in Lubbock.

Farmer attended Tech from 1936-40 after attending Weatherford Junior College and was a star performer on Earl Huffman's track team as a hurdler.

In 1938, he was the Border Conference champion in the high and low hurdles and set records in both events. He became the National Junior AAU Champion of 1939 by setting records in the low and high hurdles at the Junior AAU meet in Lincoln, Neb. He also placed third in the Senior low hurdles.

TIED WORLD RECORD

Farmer had his big year in 1940 when he tied the world's record in the 70-yd. high hurdles at the Maryland Indoor Games. The same year he was the champion and record holder in the Sugar Bowl meet and was the New Jersey AAU champion, setting records in both events. He was the champion record holder in the 110-meter high hurdles at the Cotton Carnival and he ran in the Princeton Invitational. Farmer also ran the winter indoor circuit in New York at Madison Square Garden.

In 1941, he placed fourth in the 120 high and 220 low hurdles in the Senior National AAU meet in Fresno, Calif.

Farmer is now a real estate developer and home builder in Fort Worth. He married the former Frances Ann Lukeman in 1961. He has two children by a previous marriage. They are Kitty, age 13, and John, 10.
