VOTE IN TOMORROW'S AMENDMENT ELECTION

TWVA Opposition Continues; WTCC States Objections

Tech War Veterans association has re-stated its opposition to the proposed college building amendment, continuing the stand taken by the organization when the proposal was presented in the Fiftieth legislature, Floyd Read, TWVA commander, stated this week.

"It is not often that TWVA goes against the college administration," Read said, "but in this case, after a study of both sides of the plan, TWVA has taken opposition to the amendment."

"With an eye to the future of Tech, TWVA urges every veteran and every other qualified voter in Tech to vote against the amendment Saturday," Read said.

The Executive committee of the organization notified the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, which opposes the plan, that TWVA's original stand against the measure is being continued. The organization gave active support to Rep. Preston Smith's plan for division of the permanent university fund among all 16 state-supported colleges and universities. Smith's plan was introduced in both the Forty-Ninth and Fiftieth legislatures.

WTCC Reaffirms Objections
West Texas Chamber of Commerce this week reaffirmed its objections to the amendment, although the group has withdrawn active participation in the campaign.

H. C. Custard of Cleburne, president of the group, stated WTCC's objections, which were approved

The proposed constitutional amendment to provide building funds for state-supported colleges will be presented to the voters of Texas in a special election tomorrow.

Voters (with the exception of veterans discharged in the past 18 months) must present poll tax receipts or exemption certificates, County Attorney John Steele stated. If receipts or certificates have been lost, voters may make affidavit at the polls that they are qualified to cast a ballot, he said. Veterans discharged in the past 18 months may vote upon presentation of discharge certificates, Steele said. Residence requirements are the same for these veterans as for other voters: one year in the state, six months in the county, and six months in the precinct, he said.

Absentee balloting ended Tuesday. Payment of poll taxes and filing of exemptions closed last February. (For provisions of amendment, see page 2).

Record Breaking Enrollment Seen

Appeal Made For Rooms As Pre-Registration Set

A record high enrollment of between 6,000 and 6,500 students for the fall semester was the estimate of Registrar W. P. Clement this week.

"Enrollment will depend on the capacity for housing," Clement said. "Every day this office admits from 75 to 100 transcripts from Students planning to attend the Tech-Texas football game in Austin, Sept. 20, should begin registration for the fall semester before going to the game, Registrar W. P. Clements pointed out this week.

"If these students are unable to finish all enrollment procedure before leaving town, they may complete registration Monday or Tuesday without paying late registration fees," Clements said. Late fees will begin at 5 p. m. Tuesday, Sept. 23, as announced in the catalog.

prospective new students, but many of these will not be able to attend school because of the lack of housing facilities."

Pre-registration for the fall term will begin Tuesday, Sept. 18, when students may pay fees and will be assigned an hour for scheduling

Editorial . . .

Tomorrow is the day to vote on the proposed college building amendment.

The controversy aroused in West Texas over this plan should have awakened every Techman to the realization that the welfare of the college is vitally involved.

No Techman can afford to be indifferent.

NO TECHMAN HAS THE RIGHT TO BE UNINFORMED.

Ignorance and inertia too often have more influence than do the voters in constitutional amendment elections. Tomorrow the people of Texas will give their answer to the building amendment, and the weight of the total vote should make that answer decisive.

Four Football Games Slated On Old Field

Homecoming Changed To Cowboy Tilt In Jones Stadium Last Of November

By JOHN HASSON
Toreador Staff Writer

The Tech Athletic council ended conjecture last week as to where the 1947 Raider home football games would be played by voting to hold the first four games in the old stadium and the final game, Homecoming, in the new Jones Memorial stadium.

The Alumni and Ex-Students association had previously voted to change the Homecoming date from the Baylor game to the Hardin-Simmons game in order that all the available extra space provided by the new stadium might be utilized in taking care of all Tech exes wanting to attend Homecoming.

All reservations for seats in the new stadium will be voided, except for the Hardin-Simmons game Nov. 29, according to Morley Jennings, director of athletics.

Reserve Seat Preference

Persons having reserved space in the old stadium in 1946 will be able to retain their former seats for the first four home games of the season which includes: West Texas State, Oct. 4; Tulsa, Oct. 11; Baylor, Oct. 18 and Arizona, Nov. 8. To retain seats for these games, 1946 ticket holders will have to claim the seats by calling the athletic office by 6 p. m., Sept. 13, Jennings said.

Separate reservations will have to be made for the game (or games) played in the new stadium, and Jennings emphasized that these reservations will be handled independently of the old stadium reservations on a first-come, first-served basis and in no case will persons holding season tickets in the old stadium be entitled to claim reservations in the new stadium.

3,000 Requests Received

Approximately 3,000 requests for reservations in the new stadium have been received, Jennings said.

It was also pointed out that space in the old stadium will be at a premium this fall because of increased enrollment at Tech, the new requirement that all students must buy activity tickets, and the need for more student space in the stands due to an improved home schedule. Indications are that season ticket sales will surpass any previous year and few, if any, reserved seats will be available for single games.

Compulsory Activity Fee

The new law, enacted in the last state legislature and becoming effective Sept. 4, requiring all college students to pay a combination health and student activity fee ($15) is expected to greatly increase the student demand for seats at all home games next year.

Veterans attending school under Part VII and VIII of the GI bill of rights will have the new fee taken care of through the veterans office, according to VA officials. Payment of the fee had previously been discontinued because it was not compulsory, and the VA would not authorize payment.

Wayne Kittley, superintendent of the Tech Press, is attending a printer's convention in Cleveland, Ohio.

Long-Range Plans Will Be Possible, Advocates State

Long-range planning, which is essential to any first-class educational institution, will be made possible if the proposed college building amendment is approved by the voters tomorrow, Pres. W. M. Whyburn stated. He added that the proposal is the only certain method of obtaining critically needed funds for buildings.

"For the first time in history, college officials would have an assured sum of money to plan an over-all building program," a spokesman for the Texas State Teachers association said recently. The association had previously endorsed the amendment.

The 30-year plan would provide Tech with approximately $7,425,000 for building purposes, advocates of the measure state. The estimated sums to be received by the 14 state-supported colleges (other than the University of Texas and Texas A & M) were determined on the basis of past ad valorem tax receipts, T. C. Root, assistant to the president, said this week.

Interest Deductions Made

Root added that deductions for payments of interest on bonds to be issued were made when the figures were compiled. The amendment would authorize the 14 colleges to issue bonds against estimated income from the proposed five-cent ad valorem tax reallocation.

Approximately $2,475,000 would be immediately available for Tech, since the amendment is self-enacting officials state. This sum would be the first of three 10-year installments.

Atty. General Price Daniel urged Texans to vote for the amendment on a state-wide broadcast Monday

Whyburn To Speak To UT Graduates

"Rural Life and Economic Security" is the subject of the commencement address to be delivered by Pres. William M. Whyburn of Tech at the University of Texas August 31.

Dr. Whyburn is an alumnus of the University, having received three degrees from the institution—bachelor of arts, master of arts, and doctor of philosophy. He has also received a fellowship in mathematics from the University. Dr. Whyburn will return to his alma mater to deliver the address exactly 25 years from the date on which he received his first degree.

More than 800 degree candidates, including 200 candidates for masters degrees, will receive degrees in the ceremony that will be held on the south terrace of the Main building.

ENTRE NOUS

The last issue of the 1947 summer Toreador—the last day before the college building amendment election—and we are ready to rise up in righteous indignation, sometimes called anger. Or to put it in the vernacular, we are mad, MAD.

Students of varying shapes, sizes, and political predilections have descended upon us like locusts. They demand to know why the paper has not taken one side or the other of the amendment controversy—and completely ignored the other side.

Strange as it may seem, this is a newspaper. In Lubbock generally, the news may be one-sided. But on Tech campus, it's two-sided. If it is a sin to attempt to be fair, then the gates of Hades are yawning for this editor.

For anyone who is interested, vital statistics on last week's stories follow: "pro" story was one-half inch longer than "con"; "con" story had three-fourths of an inch more front-page space. Any Techsian who wants to argue about that will find us locked securely in the darkroom.

And the next fellow student who accuses us of lacking the courage to take a stand editorially will not have a happy reception. In the first place, just when has this summer's Toreador lacked the courage to voice any opinion that it felt was justified?

In the second, third, fourth and fifth places, the early issues of the summer carried much editorial comment on the amendment. In those days, and since, we have frequently asked students what they thought of the proposal, and not infrequently have received blank stares and the query, "What

Sprague, O'Neill Will Attend Meeting Of International Fraternity Next Week

Marion Sprague, headmaster of Cornucopia society, and Edward L. O'Neill, senior warden, will leave Lubbock Sunday morning for Minneapolis, Minn., to attend the Grand Chapter congress of Delta Sigma Pi, international professional fraternity for business administration men. The convention will be held Aug. 27-29 at the Radisson hotel.

Action will be taken at the convention on the petition of Cornucopia society to become a chapter of Delta Sigma Pi. Southern Methodist university is also petitioning for a chapter of the fraternity, which has over 60 chapters in the United States.

Cornucopia society was organized last spring with 46 charter members for the purpose of receiving a charter in the international fraternity. Faculty sponsors are T. C. Root, acting dean of the division of business administration, and Dr. H. E. Golden, associate professor of marketing.

The society has remained active this summer, having made tours of the new Sears-Roebuck building, Keeton's Packing company and Gorman's Food as its professional activities. Socials included a sport dance and a picnic. A smoker is scheduled for tonight at 7:45 p. m. in the Chimayo room of the Hilton hotel, Sprague said.

Ray Moody, junior warden of the society, will assume leadership this fall, Sprague said.

GOES TO NORTHWESTERN

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Sprague will move to Evanston Ill., the last of this month. Last spring Sprague received an assistantship in the accounting department, School of Commerce, of Northwestern university.

Sprague will also work on his master's degree.

Putting out this little paper is no picnic, yet it's worth every headache that it cost. It's even worth the 30 pounds to which we waved goodbye, though we could ill-afford to lose them. But many's the time we have shaken our head in the wee hours of the morning and lamented, "Bea Green (Mrs. John Culver, that is) said this would happen!"

And many's the time we have aimed a bleary gaze at the Anderson lad and said, "You'll find out."

An editor reaps his just rewards in reader interest; his culminating iniquity is repaid if he goes un-read. When a Techsian says, "I read in the Toreador that..." our mission is fulfilled.

(When UT's Daily Texan took note of the Toreador in an editorial last week, we said "Hmmm!" When we saw ourselves referred to as a

Special Election Slated Tomorrow; Provisions Of Amendment Listed

The proposed amendment to the Texas constitution to provide a building fund for state-supported colleges and universities will be presented for a vote of the people tomorrow in a special election. Provisions of the amendment are as follows:

1. The 14 state-supported senior

Three Graduates Accept Positions With Dairies

Three dairy manufacturing graduates have accepted positions with a dairy concerns throughout the state, according to K. M. Renner, head of the dairy manufactures department.

Duke Gardner, who will complete work for a degree in dairy manufactures, in August, has accepted a position with Sanitary Farms Dairies in Houston. Gardner will do laboratory control work.

Max Perry, dairy manufactures graduate in August 1946 has recently accepted a position in the ice cream department of the Borden company in Dallas. Perry was formerly with the Borden company in El Paso.

Norman Hoback, June 1947 dairy manufactures graduate, recently accepted a position with the Borden company in Midland. Hoback will work in the milk department.

colleges, other than the University of Texas and Texas A & M, would share the revenue over a 30-year period from a tax of five cents per $100 property valuation.

The revenue would be distributed proportionately on the basis of enrollment of the 14 schools with adjustments every 10 years by the state comptroller.

The sum allotted to each college would be awarded in three 10-year installments, the first to be available immediately since the amendment is self-enacting.

2. The University of Texas would be permitted to issue $10,000,000 in bonds and A&M $5,000,000. These bonds would be paid for over a 20-year period out of the income from the invested portion of the university permanent fund, which the two schools share.

Bonds To Be Issued

3. Governing boards of the 14 colleges sharing in the five cent tax levy would be authorized to pledge funds allotted to them to secure bonds or notes issued for acquiring, constructing and initially equipping buildings.

4. These 14 schools would be prohibited from receiving appropriations for buildings from the legislature during the 30-year period.

5. The five-cent ad valorem levy would be drawn from the unused portion of the seven-cent tax now authorized for confederate pensions. The state has levied only two cents of the authorized seven since 1943.

6. The property tax for the state's general fund would be reduced from the present maximum of 35 cents to a maximum of 30 cents per $100 valuation.

TO TECH STUDENTS:

YOUR STATE TAXES DOUBLED

The State Tax Rate This Year Is 72c On $100 Valuation—Last Year the Rate was 37c—Who Said, "No New Taxes?"

VOTE! VOTE! VOTE!, SATURDAY, AUGUST 23 AGAINST

ON SATURDAY, AUGUST 23, AN AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF TEXAS WILL BE VOTED ON TO ALLOCATE 5c OF THE AUTHORIZED 7c CONFEDERATE PENSION TAX TO FINANCE A BUILDING PROGRAM FOR STATE OWNED COLLEGES OTHER THAN THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AND TEXAS A & M.

AN ADDITIONAL TAX—"They" say this is not a new tax, but you have not been paying it for many years. It certainly will be an additional tax you have not been paying. If voted by the people of Texas on August 23, it will be added to your 72c State tax, making a total of 77c on the $100 valuation.

SMALL TAXPAYERS PAY—The veteran, the farmer, the small business man, everybody will have to pay this 5c tax in addition to the 72c State tax, if this amendment carries. This State tax is in addition to local taxes—County taxes—School taxes—City taxes—and perhaps others.

WILL NOT PROVIDE BUILDINGS—If passed, this 5c additional tax will not provide adequate and sufficient buildings at today's cost of construction. In the next 10 years West Texas State Teachers College at Canyon MIGHT get $487,200. The College of Mines at El Paso MIGHT get $423,000. Sul Ross at Alpine MIGHT get $189,000. Texas Technological College at Lubbock MIGHT get $1,500,000 in these 10 years.

AN UNNECESSARY TAX—This is an unnecessary tax. By a division of the so-called Permanent University Fund more buildings can be built at all the State owned colleges than this tax will provide. They also can be built much sooner. And the State University and Texas A&M still get more buildings than they can use.

42 COUNTIES EXEMPT—Forty-two of the State's richest counties pay no ad valorem taxes for State purposes. None of these counties are in West Texas. WHY? Should you pay another unnecessary 5c tax when 42 of the State's 254 counties will not be paying to help our State colleges.

HELP—VOTE AGAINST—You will actually be helping all 14 of our States colleges if you vote against this amendment. All these colleges can and will get more money by regular appropriations if this amendment is defeated than they could get by the passage of this 5c tax amendment. Your vote against the amendment will help instead of hurt these 14 State colleges.

DON'T BE LED ASTRAY

Do not be led astray by this proposed amendment which levies a 5c tax on your property for 30 years and saddles a $45,000,000 debt on you and all other taxpayers. If passed, this amendment will open the flood gates of the State treasury to dozens of new colleges and you again will pay the bill.

Go Vote Saturday, August 23, "AGAINST" this 30 Year Constitutional 5c Tax Amendment

Mooney Is New Backfield Coach

Appointment Of Former Pro Completes Tech Coaching Staff For 1947 Season

Tipp Mooney, former Chicago Bear professional football player, has assumed new duties as assistant coach of Texas Tech, filling a vacancy which has existed since last spring.

Mooney, whose appointment was announced by the Tech Athletic Council, is 28 years old and a native of Shamrock. He was educated in the Shamrock schools and was graduated from Abilene Christian college in 1942. He won football letters at Altus, Okla., Junior college, Oklahoma Baptist university and ACC, and in the fall of 1942 became a professional grid player.

He was with the Wichita, Kan., farm club of the Chicago Bears in 1942, becoming a regular for the Bears in 1943. He continued with the Bears as halfback and fullback until the middle of last season, when he injured a leg and was sent to Akron, O., as backfield coach of the farm club.

Last spring Mooney was assistant football coach at Baylor university, serving under Bob Woodruff, new head coach of the school. Mooney's resignation from Baylor was announced last Saturday.

He is the son of Mrs. C. W. Aydelott of Lubbock. His wife is the former Vera Hodson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Hodson of Altus, Okla. They have a daughter, Marsha, 4.

In the main, Mooney will assist with the Red Raider backfield. G.

Courses On Labor Problems To Be Offered Next Year

Two new courses to meet the need for better understanding of current labor problems will be offered at Tech next year, officials have announced.

The government department will offer a course on the role of the government in the field of labor, emphasizing legislative, administrative and judicial policies relating to labor problems and labor management disputes.

Attention of the new course offered by the economics department will be devoted to current labor issues, labor legislation and recent developments and problems in labor relations.

Ousting Of Females First Step Toward High Grade Toreador

HEADLINE BY ANDERSON
STORY BY LARABEE

The world is retrogressing and the woman's place will be in the home next year, so far as The Toreador is concerned.

For the first time in five years, both major positions on Tech's newspaper will be filled by males, beginning with the next issue, Sept. 24.

John Anderson, senior journalism student from Roosevelt, will take over the editor's desk, and Elmer Hargrove, senior agronomy student from Rotan, will continue as business manager, having served in that position this summer.

of Brownfield and Lubbock, in May, '45. The scholarship amounts to $350 a year or $1,400 for four consecutive academic years, provided the holder maintains a "C" average in his courses. The scholar is selected upon the recommendation of the Spanish staff of the department of foreign languages.

One scholar is chosen each year, from graduates of high schools in the Panhandle and South Plains areas for the scholarship, and awarded to deserving students of Latin-American descent. The donor's hope is that the assistance of the scholarship will encourage the students of Mexican descent to continue through high school and college.

Masculine Influence

This preponderance of the masculine influence could have begun last June, since the rules of the Publications committee state that the editor and business manager elected to serve during the regular term have the refusal of the summer offices. Elmer took the summer job, but I twisted John's arm and he said, "All right, then, I'll work for money on the Avalanche-Journal."

The Committee appoints summer publications officers in the event of refusal.

New Editor Is Two-Timer

John has served double-time as a news man this summer, as sports writer for the local paper in addition to his position as general flunky on The Toreador staff.

Two other staff members have filled dual positions this summer. John Hasson is employed on the local paper, and Mary Ann Erskine is working at KCBD. Halcyon Pollard left the staff after the first six weeks session to become woman's editor of the Daily Herald in Mount Vernon, Wash.

Since 1942 the sexes have had a 50-50 balance of power on the paper, with a woman holding sway either as editor or as business manager. But it's a sad situation next year, and female Techsians may have to resort to the soap box.

Opposition---

by a two to one referendum vote of the membership, in a letter to Dudley K. Woodward, Jr., chairman of the central steering committee for passage of the amendment and chairman of the University of Texas board of regents. Woodward had announced that WTCC had "formally withdrawn its opposition" to the plan.

The objections stated by Custard were "that it (the amendment) was unfair to the taxpayers and veterans; that it was discriminatory to the 14 colleges; and that full utilization of the permanent university fund would provide more adequately and efficiently for all of the 16 colleges' building needs."

Fourteen Schools Restricted
Opponents of the amendment say that the University of Texas and Texas A & M will receive 75 million dollars in the next 30 years from the permanent university fund, while Tech and 13 other schools will be restricted to one source of revenue for buildings—the proposed five-cent ad valorem tax.

Harley Sadler, Sweetwater legislator and West Texas showman, said at a rally staged by the opposition at Mackenzie park Tuesday night that the proposal is morally unfair and economically unsound.

"We (West Texans) already pay 25 percent more than our share of the state ad valorem tax," Sadler said. He asserted his belief that the 42 tax remission counties in other areas of the state would not pay into the building fund if the amendment passes, and that other unequal property tax would be imposed on West Texans.

Opponents of the measure state that if these tax remission counties do not pay into the fund, the amount each of the 14 schools would receive would be materially reduced. Earl B. Collins, chairman of the Tech Legislative committee of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, states that Tech would get only $4,500,000 in 30 years instead of $7,500,000.

Stating that protection of the university fund is the "only reason" behind the proposed amendment, J. D. Hassell, Jr., Lubbock merchant, said at Tuesday night's rally that "the talk of campus improvements" is "the sugar coating on the pill."

O. B. Ratliff of Lubbock, Tech director, has opposed the plan, and Elmer Tarbox, president of Tech Alumni and Ex-Students association, made a radio address in opposition to the measure this week. The Association, as an organization, has not taken an active part in the campaign either for or against the amendment.

Registration---

classes. Registration dates are Sept. 19-20, and classes will begin Sept. 22, Clement said. Dormitories will open Monday, Sept. 15, as announced in the catalog.

Miss Mozelle Craddock, manager of the dormitories, said this week that more reservations for girls are available in the dormitory. As soon as the west portion of the new girls dorm is completed this fall, men will be housed in Doak, although reservations for men students for Doak will not be taken until after the fall term opens.

Lubbock citizens have been asked by college officials to help house students this fall. Anyone having a room to rent for any length of time is asked to call the dean of men's office and leave the address and the number of boys that can be accommodated. A list will be compiled from these calls and posted on the door of Ad-109 beginning August 22.

Advocates---

night, stating that the amendment would guarantee veteran students the things they need—"dormitories, new buildings, additional classrooms and more equipment."

Immediate Improvements
"It is the only plan which will enable our colleges to begin these improvements immediately," Daniel stated.

Advocates of the measure have pointed out that the plan does not involve a new tax or an increase in presently authorized taxes. The plan would reallocate a five-cent portion of existing taxes for the college building fund. They point out further that the amendment would reduce from 77 cents to 72 cents the maximum ad valorem tax assessable per $100 property valuation.

One provision of the amendment lowers the ceiling on the property tax for general revenue purposes from the present 35 cents to 30 cents.

Tech's Plans Announced
Tech officials have previously announced plans for campus additions if the amendment is adopted. These include a new gymnasium, completion of the Administration building, erection of a new Home Economics building, a Petroleum Engineering building, completion of the Textile Engineering building and provisions for additional office space.

Endorsements Given
Other state officials in addition to the attorney general who have broadcast messages this week urging adoption of the measure include Lt. Gov. Allan Shivers and Sen. Keith Kelley of Fort Worth,

Vets Should Apply Now For Leave Pay

Veterans attending Tech under Part VIII of the GI Bill of Rights must apply for leave not later than Aug. 26 if they wish to receive pay for the three week period between summer and fall semesters according to H. A. Anderson, coordinator of Veteran's affairs.

Part VIII vets must report at least once during the fall semester, and disabled veterans must call by the office within two weeks after registration. Otherwise, the student's check will stop, Anderson said.

By the time fall semester opens Sept. 19, some VA offices will be located in the army surplus building south of the Agricultural pavilion building. R. L. Hooten, chief of the guidance center, James Gammill and W. H. Hatcher, training officers, and John Howell and J. C. White, on-the-job training officers, will have offices in the surplus building. Anderson will move into Ad-109 and continue coordination work there.

author of the plan.

A recorded transcription by Gov. Beauford Jester will be broadcast tonight favoring the proposal.

Endorsements of the amendment by state organizations include groups such as the Texas State Bar, Texas Press Association and Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers.

A majority of the Tech Board of Directors endorsed the plan, as well as a majority of the governing boards of other state-supported institutions.

The committee, in making up this schedule, has endeavored to place every class at a definite time. If there is, any class not schedule, a petition should be made to the Schedule committee to place the examination at a certain time. Any change in this schedule, which would affect a group of students, must be approved by the Schedule committee. Requested changes in the schedule of an individual student will be considered by the dean of that student.—The Schedule Committee.
