Homecoming queen candidates will be judged Sunday at 2 p.m. in an elimination revue in the

SALE OF DIRECTORIES BEGINS AT BOOKSTORE

The Tech Student Directory for the fall semester is now on sale at the College Bookstore. The price is 35 cents. The directories list the faculty, students, and employees of Tech. Besides giving the name, address and phone number of the student they also list the division and classification.

Enrollment Shows

Women In Minority

One to three is the ratio of women to men students at Tech, according to a breakdown in fall enrollment released from the Registrar's office.

Total enrollment is 8,055, a gain of 900 over last year. Of that figure, 6,089 are men and 1,966 women.

Arts and Sciences lead the other schools with an enrollment of 2,793. School of Engineering is a close second with 2,449. Running third is Business Administration with a sum of 1,514.

Agriculture and Home Economics have 819 and 422 respectively. The ratio is, expectedly, lopsided in these schools, which claim four female ag majors and seven male "home ec" students.

In enrollment by classes, the freshmen have built up an overwhelming lead of 927 over second place sophomores. Their totals are 2,778 and 1,851. The juniors and seniors follow with 1,615 and 1,362 respectively.

Tech Union Ballroom, by a panel of Tech Vets, Double-T members and Mickey Whisnett, of Jesse Lee's Fashion School in Lubbock. Candidates will meet in the Ballroom, "in cocktail dresses," according to Bob Bentz, chairman of the homecoming queen committee. They will be interviewed individually by judges who will select five finalists on the basis of personality and beauty.

As of midnight Thursday only six of the 70 organizations invited to submit entries had responded, according to Carl Morrow, committee member for queen selection. Last year 17 girls entered.

Morrow urged groups sponsoring girls to give entry forms to him before 10 p.m. tonight. Before 5 p.m. entries should be turned in to the Ex-Students Assn. office in the Administration Building. From 8 to 10 p.m. Morrow may be paged in the SUB and will accept late forms.

From the five finalists picked Sunday, a queen will be chosen by all-college balloting next week

Talent For Show Will Be Selected

Preliminary screening was completed last night for the Regional Nine Intercollegiate Talent Show at A&M College. The Tech winner will be chosen tonight at 8:00 in the Union. The winners of the Tech talent search will be screened by Texas A&M and if chosen will pay their expenses to the A&M talent show in Dallas. Talent for the A&M show will come from Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

and will be crowned Nov. 2 at a pep rally.

The winner will be Tech's third Homecoming Queen, succeeding Sandra Shook, 1955 graduate, and will represent Tech at all official Homecoming activities. She will be presented at the Tech-Oklahoma A&M game Nov. 3.

Gym Work Halted By Lack Of Steel

Construction on Tech's gymnasium-natorium, begun last spring, has been delayed because of a shortage of steel, according to Marshall Pennington, Tech Vice President and Comptroller.

Work on the gymnasium has been at a standstill for approximately two months because of the lack of steel, Pennington stated. Deliveries are expected to begin within the next two weeks, and work should resume by the middle of November.

Other materials for the building, which is to be structural steel, have already been obtained, or are within sight. The arrival of the steel will set the wheels turning toward completion of the gymnasium, long needed on the Tech campus.

The foundation of the building is virtually completed, Pennington pointed out, and completion should be sometime next summer.

The million-dollar structure will contain 45,000 square feet of space for men's physical education classes. A 42 by 75 foot swimming pool will have spectator space for 300 persons. Also featured will be two handball courts, a gym apparatus room, two practice basketball courts, one varsity size court, with locker and basket facilities for 3,500 men.

NEW CLASS LEADERS—Class Presidents were among the new slate of officers chosen in Wednesday's run-off ballot return. Presidents from the left are: Dale Roberts, senior; David Steinman, sophomore; Bill Dean, freshman and Richard Ligon, junior. Ligon was the single president elected outright in the first election last week. The remaining three were selected in Wednesday's race.

Students To Attend 1956 Willson Talks

Dr. Louis H. Evans, Sr., who will deliver the first of the Willson Lectures Monday at 10 a.m. in the Municipal Auditorium, appears for the third time in the Tech lectures.

This is a distinction never accorded a previous lecturer. Dr. Evans has been named one of the twelve outstanding religious leaders and ten greatest Protestant preachers in America. He holds honorary degrees of Doctor of Divinity, Doctor of Laws, and Doctor of Humane Letters. He is currently minister-at-large of the Presbyterian Church, traveling about the United States for nine to ten months a year for speaking engagements.

He is the father of four children, three of whom are in full-time Christian service. Louis, Jr., an ordained Presbyterian minister, is married to Colleen Townsend, prominent Hollywood actress who gave up her career for missionary work.

Income for the Willson lectures is endowed by Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Willson of Floydada, who set up a $15,000 fund in 1947 to be used in bringing a prominent religious speaker to the campus annually.

Willson, lumberman, civic leader and prominent churchman, has established fifteen such lectureships. Other Texas colleges having them are: West Texas State College, Southwestern University, McMurry College, Wayland College, and Texas Wesleyan College. Each of the last three have two lectureships each. There are also six out-of-state colleges having Willson lectureships.

In connection with the lecture series, the papers of J. M. Willson will be given to Tech's Southwest Collection. The papers include books and certificates; medals, buttons, caps, coins and paper money gathered from Willson's travels.

Lectures later in the week will be at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday in the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium. General theme for the lectures is "Collegiate Choices."

'Casa Linda' Headline Confuses Residents

Casa Linda residents are urged by Treador issue editors not to panic if they can't find their "new resident."

In the make-up of Thursday's Treador a head saying "Casa Linda Has New Resident," was placed over a story on the Home Management House. In the wee small hours of the morning the editorial staff confused the two.

Actually, Casa Linda is a girl's cooperative dorm which would be in mild confusion at the thought of a new resident that is a three-month-old baby.

Techsans, Texas Impress Leader Of India's Youth

The leader of 200,000 youth in India, Hiralal Bose, says he is impressed by almost everything he's seen in Texas Tech and West Texas.

Bose has been a special Tech guest for the past six days, attending classes and visiting with civic groups in Lubbock and other South Plains communities.

"I was particularly impressed by the football game last Saturday (when Tech played West Texas State)," he said. "I just don't see how those fellows can throw themselves into each other—even with all that padding—without getting hurt."

"The game, the crowd—it was all very exciting," he explained. Most of Bose's time, however, has been spent on matters other than recreation.

In addition to numerous conferences with Tech officials and inspections of campus facilities, Bose attended a Lubbock Community Chest luncheon, a world affairs discussion group at Tahoka, and a Lubbock YMCA luncheon.

Yesterday and today he's visiting Panhandle points—Amarillo, Borger, Pampa, Hereford and Canyon.

"I've been very impressed by the community spirit of your people," Bose continued. "They seem eager to cooperate and work for even better communities than you have now."

"Our problems in India are so different that it's hard to compare the two countries' activities and methods," he said. "In India some of our main problems are teaching adults to read and write, to accept public health measures and to seek other advancements."

Bose is scheduled to leave at 7 p.m. today for Knoxville, Tenn., on another leg of his three-month tour sponsored by the National Social Welfare Assembly of New York City and arranged by the International Exchange Project.

Tech Band Takes Trip To Festival

The "Big Red Band" of Tech made one of its first official trips of the year by attending the Brownfield Harvest festival Thursday.

The band was chosen to lead the kick-off parade Thursday morning and to present a 45-minute concert Thursday afternoon at the Brownfield High School football stadium.

Tech band director, D. O. (Prof) Wiley, said the Tech bandsmen have attended all the annual Harvest Festivals since the event's inception ten years ago.

"We enjoy visiting with the folks in Brownfield," Prof Wiley said. "Relations between Tech and the city of Brownfield have always been tops."

Members of the Brownfield High School band were guests of the Tech band at the first football game this year. They performed at halftime of the Tech-Texas Western game.

BIG AND LITTLE—Mrs. Rosa Lee Fulton, circulation librarian, holds the largest and smallest books in the stacks. The largest, "La Basilica di San Marco in Venezia," which weighs 35-40 pounds and measures approximately 25" x 29", contains plates in color of a cathedral in Venezia, Italy. Also featured is the smallest book, "Don Quixote," by Cervantes which measures only 2" x 3". According to Dr. John Dowling, foreign language department head, more editions have been made of it than any other book besides the Bible. The books will be on display in the library until the middle of next week.

QUEEN SHORTAGE...

Tech almost ran out of good-looking girls this week. Or at least that's how it appears from the outcome of nominations for Homecoming Queen for 1956.

Seventy letters were sent out to campus organizations by the Tech Vets Club, inviting each to nominate a candidate. Every organization which could be found was invited... and only six fair ladies of the campus were entered in the contest this morning. Today at 5 p.m. was set as a deadline.

But the real kicker to the whole situation is that only two of the six were nominated by men's organizations. That means that a two to one majority was nominated by women's groups.

Doak Hall and Alpha Tau Omega entered candidates—but where are the candidates from Sneed, West, Bledsoe and Gordon? And where are the good-looking Tech fraternities are supposed to be able to produce at a moment's notice?

Deadlines for entry have been slightly extended to allow campus organizations to enter a late candidate. Tech Vets will have a representative available for registration of nominations until 10 p.m. tonight.

Organizations which have a candidate to enter should call Carl Morrow in West Hall, room 337, before 8 p.m., or should page him in the Tech Union up to 10 p.m., which will be strict deadline for entering a nomination.

Every important campus organization should have a candidate, and certainly there shouldn't be a single male organization that isn't supporting their version of a "queen."

A between-classes look at the campus population will quickly reveal that there is actually no shortage of beauties at Tech. All they need is someone to nominate them.

Education Meeting Will Begin Monday

An Adult Education conference conducted by Dr. Bonard Wilson will begin at noon Monday in Tech Union.

Dr. Wilson of Chicago, field development coordinator of Adult Education of the United States, will conduct the conference that begins with a noon luncheon and last until 5 p.m.

Discussions will include how colleges and public schools can aid communities in plans for the future; effective techniques for fact-finding in a community and expansion of adult education in rural areas and small communities.

Presidents and other administrative officials from San Angelo College, Howard County College, Odessa College, Frank Phillips College, Sul Ross College, Wayland College and Clarendon College are expected. Representatives from 27 communities are also invited.

Dr. G. H. Peters, executive assistant of the Tech Adult Education Program, will be in charge of the conference. At present Dr. Peters is doing adult education work with 27 communities in the area.

The Tech conference parallels similar conferences being held in Massachusetts and Arizona.

Absentee Voting To Continue Here

Absentee voting for the coming presidential election began yesterday and is to run through Nov. 2, according to the local county clerk's office.

Tech Students will be able to vote absentee in their home counties if they will write their county clerk's office and ask for a ballot to be sent to them.

Local residents who plan to be out-of-town the weekend of Tech's Homecoming should go by the local county clerk's office and vote absentee before Nov. 3.

H-E Club To Hear Foreign Students

Tech's foreign students will participate in a panel discussion at the Home Economics Club meeting at 7:15 p.m. Monday in H105. The program is entitled "This Is Your World."

Circle K Continues Rummage Sale

Circle K, Tech's campus Kiwanis Club, is to continue its rummage sale for the next two weeks, it was announced today.

Proceeds from the sale will be divided between Circle K and the Hub City Kiwanis Club. The Tech club's percentage will be used to finance the campus service projects of Circle K.

Location of the rummage sale booth is at 14th and Ave F. Hours of operation are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

The foreign students will discuss the United Nations at work in native lands. They will describe customs and government of their respective countries, and make comparisons with the United States.

Mrs. Lila Kinchen will also be on the program, to narrate slides from her European tour last summer.

Dixie Templeton and Frances Allison are in charge of the meeting. Miss Lola Drew is faculty sponsor.

Frosh Tennis Champ Joins Tech Netters

By BILLY ELLIS
Toreador Sports Editor

Bob Macy could have played on anybody's tennis team, but he came to Tech to study agriculture and as a result the Red Raiders' tennis prospects, received a "shot in the arm."

Bob hails from Coral Gables, Florida. His high school team had 79 straight wins, including five consecutive state championships and two national championships, in 1953 and 1955.

Macy and a former schoolmate, John Skogstad, now a freshman at Baylor, teamed to take the National High School Doubles Championship in 1954 and again in 1955. Macy and Skogstad won the Florida Junior Championship last season for the third consecutive year.

"I've done better in doubles competition," the modest Macy says. The young Floridian teamed with Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn, N.Y. in 1953 to win the National Boys' Doubles Championship.

But Bob is no slouch in singles competition. Last year he won the Florida Junior Championship, downing Skogstad, his doubles partner, in the tourney finals. Macy also took the New Jersey state championship and went to the finals in the Eastern Juniors while on an eastern swing with his old high school team.

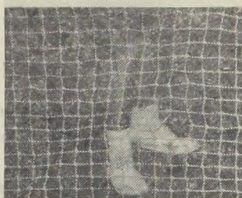

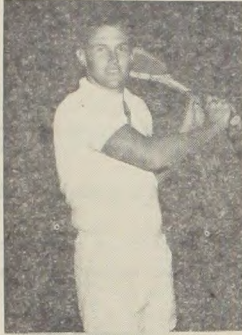

Macy doesn't hold these accomplishments in very high esteem, however. He avoids mentioning other tournament victories by his quip "Oh, I've won several small tournaments, but you wouldn't be interested in them." This statement is a tribute to the lad who first saw that his educational desires were fulfilled, and then turned to his first love, tennis.

Macy had offers from the University of Miami, the University of Florida, and Baylor to attend on a tennis scholarship. Besides Skogstad, two other former teammates at Coral Gables are at Baylor. They are the White brothers, Ed and Hal.

Baylor, then, had an inside track to Macy, but the intelligent youngster had plans of his own. Macy became interested in agriculture while working during the summer months on a ranch near Post. Hearing of Tech's agriculture department, and taking a liking to the West Texas country, he discovered that Tech was for him.

George Philbrick, tennis coach at Tech, received a letter from Macy last summer inquiring about a tennis scholarship. He wrote back to Bob, asking him to please list his qualifications. Macy did so, and Coach Philbrick almost somersaulted.

As for Tech, Macy says it's a great school, the students are wonderful, and that he's mighty proud he came. About the weather, Macy says "It's been colder here the past couple of days than it ever gets in Florida, but I don't mind. I'm looking forward to some cold weather for a change."

TENNIS STAR — Bob Macy former Florida high school tennis star is expected to be a valuable addition to the Tech tennis team this year.

Macy will team with Warren Zimmerman of Amarillo, another freshman, on the team's trips this year. The addition of this pair of netters gives Coach Philbrick's Raiders additional strength for their first official Southwest Conference competition, slated for 1957-58.

Tech's tennis team was second in the Border Conference meet last year, with David Kent and Billy Edd Gowan winning the conference title in No. 1 doubles.

Freshmen Cancel West Texas Game

Coach Tom Hamm announces that the game between his Pica-dors and the West Texas State B team, schedule for Canyon tonight, has been cancelled.

Hamm said that another date had not been agreed upon as yet, but that one was pending.

Next game for the Tech freshmen, and only other one on the schedule, is set for Jones Stadium the night of Nov. 9, against the Hardin-Simmons frosh.

Texas Tech Opens Basketball Practice

Texas Tech's basketball squad started drills Monday, seven weeks prior to their opening game with the mighty Kansas State Wildcats Dec. 3 in Municipal Coliseum. That encounter will open a 24-game schedule that is one of the toughest in Tech's history.

Raider varsity squad is one of the largest to represent Tech in several seasons. It is comprised of seven lettermen and eight freshmen numeral winners.

"We don't have a real big boy and that will hurt us," Coach Robison said, "but there's a lot of hustle and spirit. Every position is wide open and the boys know it."

The loss of the scoring power of Jim Reed, Gene Carpenter and DuWayne Blackshear, also Carpenter's height, will hurt the Raiders this year. The tallest Raider in 1956 will be Podd Hill, 6-6 sophomore.

A complete Border loop schedule is planned for the Raiders even though they are not eligible for the title. They will be trying for an at-large berth in the NCAA playoffs.

Before reaching the playoffs, Tech must play Kansas State, TCU, Tuisa, Iowa State, SMU, Nebraska, Baylor, Phillips 66, and three games in the All-College tournament at Oklahoma City.

Several Raiders Out With Injuries

Texas Tech's Red Raiders have an open date this week, giving them a chance to catch their breath in the midst of their most trying season in recent years.

Actually, it would be disastrous for Tech if they were to play a game Saturday. No less than seven of the Raiders have been sidelined by injuries, topped by quarterback Buddy Hill, Tech's leading offensive weapon, and Ken Vakey, leading pass receiver.

Hill, who leads the team in total offense, passing, and punting, was a consolation in last week's loss, hitting nine of 13 passes. Vakey snared three of these. Tech coaches hope the duo will be ready for the Arizona Wildcats next week.

Other injured Raiders include Bob Kileullen, Barton Massey, Charles Dixon, Ray Howard and Floyd Hood.

Top Honor Society Okays Chapter Here

Texas Tech has been approved to receive a chapter of Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic honor society for college men and women.

Final approval for the chapter was received for Phi Kappa Phi's national officers, Extension Committee, and chapters in the South Central Province. Tech officials have announced.

The Province includes schools in Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Arkansas, Missouri and Louisiana.

"The presence of a Phi Kappa Phi chapter at Texas Tech is very gratifying," Dr. E. N. Jones, Tech president said. "The prestige and stature which go with the organization are another sign of increasing academic achievement at Tech."

Phi Kappa Phi eligibility is limited to seniors in the top eighth of their class and to second semester juniors in the top five per cent of their class.

The organization of Phi Kappa Phi is the most cosmopolitan of all college honor societies, accepting qualified students in all fields of study.

The organization currently has 76 student chapters which are divided into six provinces located throughout this country, Hawaii, Alaska and the Philippines.

Installation date for Tech chapter has not been decided, but Tech officials said they hope arrangements will be completed soon.

afternoon. The retreat will be turned into a workshop in late afternoon with the members explaining to the pledges their duties as officers and committee members. Rita Martin, social chairman, is in charge of the retreat.

PI BETA PHI . . .
The Pi Beta Phi's will retreat Saturday and Sunday at Ceta Canyon, Amarillo. No special activities have been planned; the purpose of the retreat is for the members and pledges to become better acquainted. Janice Newson is in charge of the retreat.

GAMMA PHI BETA . . .
A big-little sister party is key event this week for Gamma Phi Beta. Tonight they will eat as a group at the Chicken Shack, according to Carolyn Gouse, chairman.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA . . .
Buffalo Lakes will be the site for the Kappa Alpha Theta retreat Saturday and Sunday. Joan Roberts, social chairman, is in charge of the arrangements and the food and Kay Alexander is responsible for the Saturday evening program.

The main feature of the day will be the annual pledges versus actives softball game. Sunday morning Jack Gray, Assistant Minister of the First Methodist Church, will officiate at a Sunrise Service.

10 Companies Seek Engineering Grads

Ten firms will be represented the week of Oct. 29 to interview seniors for placement in most phases of engineering and business administration.

Nine of the firms are interested in mechanical engineers. Five companies each are wishing to confer with electrical, petroleum and industrial ones. Four wish to see chemical engineers. One firm wishes to see civil engineers. Although primarily interested in engineering, several of the firms wish to talk with BA majors, (for sales or office work), chemistry, mathematics, physics, and geology majors.

Interested students should check with the Placement Service for additional information and arrangement for appointments.
