Magazines still missing

By Pat Nickell Campus Editor

Three magazines, "Playboy," "Evergreen" and "Ebony" are still missing from the University Center (Union) newsstand, according to Nelson Longley, director.

"They were cancelled by the administration while still on order, during the court proceedings concerning the Catalyst, Longley said.

The books were included on an approved list of periodicals last spring by the Union Board, now the University Center Board. At that time, the Board was instructed by the administration to maintain a status quo in regard to the magazine list until the lawsuit was

The Board will meet Tuesday, Sept. 8 and will probably discuss the issue at that time, Longley said. "We might try to bring the magazines back, and the administration has the option of stopping them again," he added.

Dr. Owen Caskey, associate vice president for academic affairs, emphasized the administration did not "ban" the magazines. He said while the lawsuit was in progress, the administration preferred to make no changes. Since the three magazines had not been on the list previously, the administration simply asked that they not be added in the spring, Caskey re-

Caskey agreed the Board can decide to re-open the issue but when being questioned as to how he thinks the administration will react if the Board decides to re-order the three magazines, he interrupted with, "I don't think

Philadelphia policemen wounded in gun battle with black militants

THREE MORE Philadelphia policemen were wounded Monday, this time in gun battles with militants barricaded in Black Panther centers, where preparations were under way for a weekend convention of revolutionaries. The shootings brought the toll of police casualties in that city since Saturday to one dead and six injured.

Elsewhere, a Mexican-American leader asked President Nixon to order an investigation into a Los Angeles riot Saturday that claimed one life, and was followed 24 hours later by the shotgun ambush of four Riverside, Calif., policemen in a Mexican-American neigh-

Communication Commissioner says FCC silencing dissent on Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) - Federal Communications Commissioner Nicholas Johnson said Monday the FCC appears to have moved toward silencing dissent on the Vietnam war.

Citing FCC rulings on efforts of antiwar forces to gain television time, Johnson said, "it is difficult to avoid the conclusion that this Commission has taken great strides towards silencing direct dissent in the country on the war.'

The remarks were contained in a concurring opinion to an FCC order of Aug. 18 granting some television time for response to five televised war speeches by President Nixon while denying there is any absolute right of anyone to answer a television telecast.

Johnson took issue with the commission's holding that the string of five presidential speeches constituted a unique situation and said he concurred improvement over the situation as it had

Q. Not long ago you sent a letter or telegram to the Auto Workers pledging the federation's aid and assistance if needed in their situation. Would that include finances if they happen to need it? What would that include?

A. As far as them needing finances, I don't think they are going to need it. But the point is, on a strict trade union matter, with a great big union, whether it happens to be outside the AFL-CIO, is really not the point, that when you get a great big union, if they got into a real struggle and needed help we would give them any kind of help that we could give them because it would certainly have a bad effect on the whole trade future of the country if a union of that size could really get slaughtered.

Senior students or those 21-years-old must sign the self-determined hours permission card, have it validated and approved by the hall counselor, pay a $5 fee for the night clerk each semester, have a Tech ID, and attend an orientation session before they have the right to selfdetermined hours.

Eligible students neither 21 nor seniors are those who have lived in a university residence hall two semesters or have earned 30 credit hours.

They must have a parent or guardian sign a permission card, have the permission card validated and approved by the hall counselor, pay the $5 fee, have a Tech ID and attend an orientation

Any coed failing to complete these qualifications will not be allowed to participate in the new hours policy.

ANIMAL SCIENCE

DR. ARCHIE MAX LENNON -Lennon has just received his doctorate in animal science from North Carolina State University and will serve as an assistant professor at Tech. While pursuing his work toward a PhD degree, he served as a research assistant and a laboratory instructor in animal science courses and was chosen to the top 25 per cent of the teaching faculty during the 1969 year by the university's students.

Lennon received his bachelor degree from North Carolina State. He has owned and operated a general crop and livestock farm in Columbus County, N.C. He is married and has two children.

DR. WILSON WOHLER—

Wohler is coming to Tech from 13 years of private veterinary practice in Aledo, Tex., just outside Fort Worth. He has also taught on a part time basis at TCU.

Wohler earned his DVM in 1951 from the University of Missouri, His teaching at Tech will be animal physiology and diseases. He will also be director of the pre-veterinary program and faculty supervisor of the campus horse herd. He is a member of the American Veterinary Medicine Association, American National Cattlemen's Association and a Director of the Texas Cattle Feeder's Association.

PARK ADMINISTRATION, HORTICULTURE AND EN-TOMOLOGY

ARTHUR N. GLICK-Glick will be teaching landscape design and urban planning courses at Tech this fall. He holds a BS degree in landscape architecture from Michigan State University being graduated with honors and a master's in Urban planning from the same university.

Glick has worked professionally as a landscape architech and has also held a graduate research fellowship in that area. He has been honored with a Dunbarton Oaks fellowship awarded by the trustees of Harvard University and with a certificate of merit from the American Society of Landscape Architects. He is 27 years old and single.

DR. JAMES MERTES—

DR. JAMES MERTES-Mertes has just received his PhD from Texas A & M University. His teaching fields are resources development and conservation. He received BS and MS degrees from Michigan State University in forestry and has taught and worked professionally in the forestry field. He has also worked in park resources with the U.S. Department of the Interior and on a research project with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. of Engineers.

Mertes is a member of the American Forestry Association and the National Recreation and Park Association. He is 29 years old and married.

Marines hire fem instructor

NEW YORK (AP) - U.S. Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, N.Y., has its first female instructor, a petite professor who teaches computer science and says, "I'm used to being one of few women."

Isobel (Milligan) Kelly began teaching at the academy early teaching at the academy early last month helping prepare young men to become officers in the Merchant Marine or the U.S. Naval Reserve. She says she's encountered no opposi-tion, either from her 30 students or her male colleagues. "Generally everyone seems very pleased to have me," she said in a telephone interview Monday. "People have gone out of their way to help me."

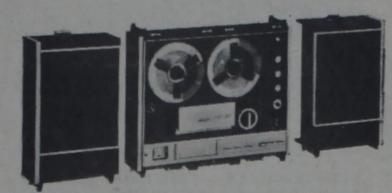

The 34 - year - old, 5 - foot brunette is used to being one of the only females ar-one of the only females around. Before coming to the academy, she taught computer science at Pace College in New York City. "At first there were mostly men in the class," she recalled. "Later on, it was not unusual to have girls in the class."

Mrs. Kelly was bornin Brooklyn and attended public schools. She received her bachelor's and master's degrees in mathematics at Brooklyn College and worked for computer company in New York City. She said she has experienced "very little" discrimination because of her sex. As for the drive for feminine equality, she said, "I have very strong feelings about the women's libera-tion movement. I believe in women's liberation, but I have mixed feelings about it as a movement,"

Raiders meet sports writers

The Red Raider Footballers met the press Monday as members of the Southwest conference touring press made their first stop in Lubbock. The Raider players were ushered into a room full of sports writers in groups of twos and threes to answer questions and provide information.

The touring scribes were whisked away from the Hub City early Monday afternoon for the next stop on the weeklong tour: Arkansas.
