Lucille Melton Elected President For Women's Association

Lucille Melton was elected president of the Association of Women Students for 1944-45 Tuesday and Anita Hale president of Junior council. Miss Melton is a junior vocational home economics major from Olton; Miss Hale, a sophomore English major from Amarillo.

Jodie Wofford, sophomore speech major from Plainview, was elected vice president of AWS; Margaret Ann Bell, junior public school music major from Vernon, secretary; and Josie Lee Barnett, Earth junior, majoring in vocational home economics, treasurer.

All women students were eligible to vote, and 318 votes were cast. Of this number 298 ballots were valid.

Miss Melton was opposed for the office of AWS president by Monda Hamilton. Junior Council president was opposed by Eleanor Jackson, Margaret Leggett, and Betty Coffey.

Other candidates for AWS vice president were Marjorie Street, and Nancy Everline. Miss Bell ran against Jane Oliver. Others running for the office of treasurer were Betty Coffey and Louise Ince.

Present officers of the association are Menon Stangel, president; Lucille Melton, vice president; Jodie Wofford, secretary; Frances Ford, treasurer. Outgoing Junior council president is Anna Baker.

Candidates were nominated both by a nominating committee and from the floor at an all-girl dance last week.

Junior council is a campus service organization made up of outstanding junior girls. AWS is a member of the Intercollegiate Association of Women Students. All women students on the campus are members of the organization. The AWS council is composed of representatives of campus clubs for women.

Students' Exhibits Featured, AAUW Home Economics Program Planned

Exhibits prepared by students in the division of home economics will be a feature of the AAUW Conservation clinic which will be held at 920 Main street, Wednesday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock.

Miss Mabel Erwin, head of the department of clothing and textiles, is in charge of the class that is to exhibit methods of conserving clothing. Home management students have planned several exhibits on care of equipment and ways of saving time and energy in household tasks. Miss Frances Urban, associate professor of home management, is director of these students. Miss Mayme Twyford, associate professor of foods and nutrition, is instructor of the class that is to exhibit ways of conserving food and fuel. Government publications will be distributed and there will be several posters emphasizing conservation.

The program is planned chiefly to aid the individual, says Miss Twyford, chairman of the social studies group which is sponsoring the project. The five personal consultants for various problems are Miss Urban, household and child management; Miss Erwin, clothing and textiles; Miss Edith Coleman, instructor in applied arts, home furnishings; Miss Mary Alice Crosson, home economist for West Texas Gas Company, foods and nutrition; and Miss Clara Pratt, Lubbock county home demonstration agent, food preservation and gardening.

Besides preparing various exhibits, home economics students will register the visitors and act as assistant hostesses to find out the questions each individual wishes to ask.

Wiley Attends Band Meet

D. O. Wiley, director of the band, attended a meeting of the Texas Music Educators' association in Waco April 7 and 8. Purpose of the meeting was to make post-war plans for the state band program. At the meeting it was decided that bands in Texas would give a series of concerts next year to raise $1,000,000 to build a crippled children's home at the Warm Springs park in Gonzales. The home will be for children who have infantile paralysis, whether or not they are able to pay for treatment.

Wiley was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the association for the coming year.

All World War II veterans are asked to meet Monday 5 p. m. in room 216 of the Administration building for a veteran organization.

Dr. Lewis B. Cooper of the psychology department, veteran of World War I and a member of the American Legion, is calling the meeting.

James Allen Heads Faculty For Deans' Association

Dean James G. Allen was elected president of Deans and Advisors of Men of Texas Colleges and Universities for the ensuing year at a meeting of the association in Dallas last week. The deans' meeting was held in conjunction with a meeting of the Association of Texas Colleges there.

Dean J. M. Gordon of the division of arts and sciences was appointed a member of the committee on coordination for a four-year term. The committee is concerned mainly with testing and guidance. The association recommended that students lacking less than a year of high school work, when called into service after they are 18, have the privilege of being admitted to college. Postwar education was the theme of the meeting.

Other faculty members attending the meetings were J. H. Millikin, director of extension; R. E. Garlin, head of the department of education and psychology; W. P. Clement, registrar.

Officers of the deans' association, in addition to Dean Allen, are Deans C. C. Mason, North Texas Agricultural college, vice president; Mitchell Jones, West Texas State college, secretary.

ASTP Officers And Personnel Receive Orders

Several officers and the entire enlisted personnel of the Army Specialized Training unit at Tech, which was dissolved with the last ASTP term, have been reassigned. Most of the men have been with the unit at Tech since it began its first term last July 10.

Lt. Joseph F. Hink has been transferred to the 100th Replacement battalion at Camp Barkley. He left Friday. Lt. William E. Beck, who has been serving at Tech with the ROTC as assistant professor of military science and tactics, has been transferred to the Signal Corps Unit Training center at Camp Kohler, Calif. Lt. Roger W. Clapp left this week for the New Orleans port of embarkation.

Enlisted personnel transferred recently includes M-Sgt. Paul Campbell, Camp Headquarters, Camp Barkley, Tex.; M-Sgt. George A. Reeves, Medical Administrative corps, Officer Candidate school, Camp Barkley; M-Sgt. Samuel B. Morris, Medical Replacement Training center, Camp Barkley; T-5 Daniel Persyn, Medical Replacement Training center, Camp Barkley; Pvt. Richard H. Haber, Prisoner of War camp, Huntsville; Pfc. Joachim J. Fernandez, Armed Forces Induction station, New Orleans, La.

Pfc. Nathan J. Cohen, Recruiting district, San Antonio; T-5 Ernest L. Hammit, Armed Forces Induction station, Dallas; T-5 Woodrow W. Bowman, Armed Forces Induction station, Oklahoma City, Okla.; T-5 Prence A. Bourgeois, Armed Forces Induction station, Lubbock; Sgt. Kenneth C. Sherman, ASTU at Tulane university, New Orleans. Corp. George L. Adcock, formerly assistant in the ASTU, was transferred to the Tech ROTC. The men will assume their duties as operating personnel in the groups to which they were transferred.

Home Ec Dept. Gives Programs

A series of radio programs entitled "Design for Living" is being sponsored by the division of home economics beginning next week, according to Dr. Mina W. Lamb, associate professor of foods and nutrition, who is chairman of the arrangements committee.

These programs are to acquaint the public with the advantages of a college education with special emphasis on home economics training. They will show how individuals may benefit both now and in the future.

The scripts for the programs will be written and presented by high school seniors and college students in home economics. Other faculty members in charge of arrangements are Miss Martye Poindexter, head of the department of applied arts; Miss Bernice Borgman, acting head of the department of child development and family relations; and Miss Frances Urban, assistant professor of home management. Names of students participating will be released later.

Senior Class Meets To Discuss Senior Day Plans

Senior class will meet this afternoon at 5 o'clock in Ad 302 to discuss plans for Senior day, according to Kenneth Dowell, class president.

At the same time they will discuss payment for the senior gift. Senior gift this year is a portrait of President Clifford B. Jones painted by John Young Hunter, Taos, N. Mex., artist.

Faculty For Summer Band School Named

The eleventh annual summer band school will be held during the first six weeks of the summer session, which begins May 29. Registration in the band school is open to high school, college and graduate students, as in the past. Men and women of college classification may receive credit for work done.

Faculty for the band school will consist of D. O. Wiley, director of the Tech band; R. A. Dhossche, director of the Technical High school band at San Antonio; D. W. Crain, director of the Abilene Christian college band; Milburn E. Carey, who directs the Phillips university band at Enid, Okla.; Richard Young, director of the Lamessa High school band and others to be chosen later.

Concerts will be given for students attending the summer session each week. Several guest conductors will direct the band during these out-of-door performances.

Subjects to be taught during the band school session will include all subjects taught in the long session, and additional graduate courses. There will be classes in band conducting and methods, special instrumental instruction, class instruction, and rehearsals for the concert band two hours daily. College students not regularly enrolled in the band school will be permitted to play in the concert band and receive one hour's credit for the work.

Professor Wiley says that he is expecting a larger enrollment in the band school this summer than last year. He has received more inquiries concerning enrollment than in either of the past two years.

Tech's summer band school has made a nationwide reputation as one of the best and largest in the whole country. It was first held in 1934, with 40 students enrolled. Normally, as many as 250 people have attended.

Tech Research Employee Has Returned

Lucille Finley, representative of the Cotton Research committee at Tech, returned last week from New Orleans, La., where she visited the Southern Regional Research laboratory, particularly in the division of fiber research, cotton processing and the fabric testing section of cotton chemical finishing.

Miss Finley reported that research at the laboratories at present is largely devoted to cotton spire cotton and some work on synthetic finishing for fabrics to resist weather, fire, rot and mildew. This work is being done at the request of the Quartermaster corps of the U. S. Army.

Research is also being done on cottonseed, peanuts and sweet potatoes. A satisfactory peanut fiber has been made, and also a very good peanut vegetable glue. In the cotton division, a bandage fabric has been developed after about two years of research which has a great deal of elasticity. Army and Navy hospitals that have tried the bandage find it satisfactory, according to Miss Finley.

Miss Finley was in New Orleans about three weeks.

Art Institute Holds Annual Children's Exhibit

Texas Tech Art institute's sixth annual children's art exhibit will be held May 5 to 22 in West Texas museum. School children from the surrounding area will exhibit paintings, which will have been selected from the best in their home rooms.

Since only 200 works may be shown in the exhibition, it is suggested that about two pictures from each grade be presented. One is to be selected by teachers and one by popular vote of the children.

Any original art work, regardless of subject or medium will be acceptable if it was produced by a school child of this region during the 1943-1944 school year. Work must be submitted by May 5.

Prizes will be given for the best work of each grade represented in the show, and a grand prize awarded the best in the exhibit.

"Texas Outlook" Accepts Article By Mary L. Morris

An article entitled "Education and the Marital Problem" written by Mary Lynn Morris, has been accepted for publication in the "Texas Outlook" at some future date.

The article deals with the marital marriage courses can play in helping to solve the pending social conflicts caused by the high rate of marriages and divorces during wartime.

Lucerne Letters Opens Thursday At High School

A typical international girls' school in a neutral country as the war breaks out, divided by each student's patriotism to her native land, is the theme of the three-act play "Letters to Lucerne" which will be presented Thursday night at 8 o'clock in Lubbock High school auditorium.

When the play opens near Lucerne late in the summer of 1939, the girls are just returning to school after the recess. Under the protection of a nice and pleasant schoolmistress they are living an idyllic life apart from the hatreds of the world. In their dormitory at night it is their custom to read aloud their letters from home. When the war breaks out, Mrs. Hunter (played by Marguerite Ince) hopes to keep the school isolated from the terrible things that are happening outside, but the letters carry the bitterness in.

The braggart letter the German girl (played by Louise Ince) receives from home turns her schoolmates against her. Some of the news, especially from Poland, is devastating. Although the German girl is not responsible for it, she is charged with the blame. The concluding letter manages to absolve her completely.

Members of the cast include five freshmen; Ned McCleskey, Maxine Hennersdorf, Mary Finley, Mary Nixon and Pae Beth Hill; three sophomores; Louise Ince, Jodie Wofford and Anita Hale; two juniors, Marjorie Holmes and Jane Wilson; two seniors, Marguerite Nobles and Lois Chalmers. Two students, Jodie Wofford and Anita Hale, appeared in last year's three-act play "Ladies in Retirement."

The New York Herald Tribune said in a review of the play, "With sensitivity, good taste and genuine feeling, the authors describe the wreckage which results to human feeling and human decency through the horrors that the Nazi spirit has brought upon us. 'Letters to Lucerne' is a drama of honest emotion, is written in the deepest sincerity and most of it is lovely and moving."

The play is under the direction of Miss Helene Blattner, associate professor of speech. The production staff includes Miss Annah Jo Pendleton, head of speech department, technical director; Eadline Rogers, stage manager; Lorene Silman, Doris Bynum, Kiddy Bell Cole, copy committee; Emily Cowan, Billie Berry, Jimmie Hopson, costume committee; Ruby Cowan, house manager; and Alpha Psi Omega and Sock and Buskin members.

Students will be admitted by activity tickets or by general admission of 50 cents. The play will be open to the public.

Mrs. Ruth Jackson Resigns Position

Mrs. Ruth Jackson, who has been in charge of reference and documents in the Tech library since last fall, has resigned her position. She is now with her husband, who was a member of ASTP, at Camp Barkley, Abilene.

Mrs. Jackson was formerly with the Detroit Public library and was secretary in the plant industry department at Tech for a short time.

New Songs Are Written For Texas Tech

Three new songs are being added to Tech's repertoire, after having been approved by a committee Wednesday afternoon. The songs were composed by Thornton W. Allen of New York and were written for Tech, according to President Clifford-B. Jones.

Titles of the pep songs are as follows: "Texas Tech Has Got To Win," "Fight On For Texas Tech," and "Let's Go Texas Tech." These songs are short and peppy and will be suited for playing and singing at football games, reports D. O. Wiley, band director.

"I think the students will like them as I did," says "Prof" Wiley. "They will be an addition to our other Red Raider songs."

Thornton W. Allen and company, a New York musical publishing house that publishes college songs for different schools over the nation, offered to publish at their expense the songs of Texas Tech, announces President Jones. These three songs were composed especially to be accepted and published with the rest of Tech's songs.

"The chances are that we will accept these songs plus the publication of our own songs, if the assignment of rights can be arranged," says President Jones.

The songs were sung by Anne Birkman, Panze Butler, Marion Chandler, Beth Floyd, Ruth Strain, Margaret Ann Bell, Carolyn Reynolds, Nancy Stiles, and Joyce Watson, accompanied by Mrs. Julien P. Blitz in Dr. Blitz's studio. The committee that heard the songs was composed of the following: President Jones, Dean James G. Allen, Miss Bonnie K. Dysart, Director Wiley, and Dr. Blitz.

Prince Of Baritones On Artists Course Program

GORIN, hailed as "reigning prince of baritones," appeared in Lubbock High school auditorium Tuesday night under auspices of the Tech Artist course. With a program of mainly unfamiliar music, Gorin sang to an audience of towns and college people which praised his singing but would have liked different songs.

The song which Gorin was the first to present in America, Shostakovich's "The United Nations," was one of the best received. "Si Tu Le Veux," the two Polish folk songs, and the aria "Di Provenza Il Mar" from Verdi's "La Traviata" were the best liked numbers on the first part of the program. Among the songs of the second part, Gorin's two compositions, "Within My Dreams" and "Caucasian Melody," were especially liked. "None but the Lonely Heart" (Tschalkowsky) was welcomed as a familiar selection.

With the conventional number of encores, Gorin pleased his audience by singing "The Lord's Prayer" and "Figaro." Greeted by sprinklings of laughter, he sang "Sing a Song of Sixpence" and "Old Mother Hubbard" (in the manner of Handel). "Tours Is My Heart Alone," done by request, was a favorite among the encores.

In spite of the slight disappointment in the program, however, the audience agreed with Gorin's publicity agents in calling him, if not "reigning prince of baritones," at least a very good singer. With a really pleasing personality and stage appearance, he was one of the most charming singers. Artist course audiences have heard Robert Macdonald, Gorin's accompanist, played three classical numbers for the piano. Debussy's "Reflets dan l'eau" was the favorite among these selections. Macdonald was brought back for one encore.

Backstage after the concert Gorin smilingly autographed programs and answered questions. Born in Ukraine, he has been in America eight years and, he said proudly, has become an American citizen and has acquired a typical American wife, whose maiden name is Mary Smith.

"Americans are coming to like good music," he said, although they are still fond of swing, which he says is not music at all. At this point he did a little interviewing of his own. "And how do you like Sinatra?" he asked.

Gorin said he liked to sing to college audiences. He had just come from Denton where he sang for college students and was going from Tech to the University of Arkansas.

Student Council Gives The Most

All Organizations Are Asked To Contribute

ALMOST $2,200 has been contributed to the Student Union building fund by various campus organizations this week. All clubs will be asked to make contributions toward the drive, Maxine Craddock, Student council president announced Wednesday.

San Jacinto Convocation Next Friday

Haley Is To Be Guest Speaker At Annual Meeting

J. Evetts Haley, Texas author-rancher, will speak next Friday at 10 a. m. to the second annual San Jacinto Day convocation in the gym on some phase of Texas history.

He will be here in connection with the West Texas Museum association meeting Thursday. The fourteenth annual meeting will honor Texas pioneers who came to the South Plains prior to 1901. The museum association meeting's program will include a board of directors luncheon at noon in the Aztec room of the Hilton hotel and a chuck wagon supper in Aggie grove at 6:30 p. m. Pioneers who came to the plains prior to 1901 will be guests of the association at the supper.

Walter S. Posey will be chairman of the afternoon session of the meeting which will begin at 4 o'clock in the museum. The meeting, consisting of reminiscences by pioneers, will be open to the public.

Haley's address to the museum association will be at 8:30 p. m. in the museum and will also be open to the public.

Haley is a native Texan, born at Belton July 5, 1901. He was educated in the Midland public schools, received his A. B. from West Texas State Teachers colleges in 1925, his AM from the University of Texas in 1926. He has been a cowpuncher, field secretary for the Panhandle Plains Historical society, 1925-29; collector in research for the University of Texas, 1929-36; and rancher. For several years he managed the J. M. West Ranches. He now has a ranch of his own on the Canadian river near Spearman.

He is the author of The XIX Ranch of Texas, Charles Goodnight, and, most recently, The Life of Major Littlefield. He is also a contributor to Southwestern Historical Quarterly, The Cattleman, The Alcalde, Yearbook of West Texas Historical Association, Panhandle Plains Historical Review.

From 1931 until 1939 Haley's mother, Mrs. J. G. Haley of Midland, was a member of Tech's Board of Directors.

Passing Rumors

TECH campus is infested with rumors. They are being passed around like collection plates to which every one contributes a small bit. At present the most plausible one is that three of the dormitories are to be occupied by Techsians and 17-year-old reservists and the fourth one be turned into a Student Union building.

Such a project as a union center is already underway, for already contributions are forming a fund. Chorus voted to donate their excess money for the cause, and the Home Economics club advanced a hundred or more dollars to the account. Other clubs and organizations that have money lying idle should be willing to follow suit and help increase the pot. There is no reason why the existing deposits should be carried over for next year, it seems that such a plan would tend to cheat next fall's members out of having to do their part to meet the year's budget. Since the present members have exceeded their expenses, it seems only reasonable to donate the excess to a worthy project that will in the future be of use to the college and club as a whole.

In the back of our minds and thoughts we are visualizing a shiny new union building, say in the center of the circle. But such a dream can not possibly become a reality until after the war and maybe six months later. Yet the situation of our needing such a center remains with us, war or no war. We Techsians would like to have our dances on the campus and be independent of the local hotels and public dance floors. We need a place we can call our own to have formal socials and casual between-class get-togethers. We want a place where we can relax or let off steam in a heated bridge game or a fast game of ping-pong. Many a dreary afternoon we Techsians take our dates to a picture show for lack of a better place to go.

Since the stage is set and the facts established that Tech should have a Student Union building that cannot possibly be built until peace is affirmed, why should not such a rumor as using one of the dormitories as a temporary student center be advisable. The building as it stands will either have to be closed up or probably only half filled. Such a plan would just call for the use of the lounge, the dining hall, and a few of the front rooms that could serve as club rooms. The rest of the rooms and floors could be closed up. Surely using a building in this capacity, which would be for the welfare of the entire student body and could be operated by the Student Council itself, would be satisfactory as a temporary means of relieving the existing problem. Likewise it should encourage the actual building of a new and permanent one as soon as everyone accepts it as having an important role on Tech's campus.

We must realize that to ground this rumor as practical, finances will have to come into the picture. The present building fund can or cannot be tampered with, depending on whether or not it would be advisable. If a plan could be worked out to use only that which will be needed in the beginning to revise the dormitory into a temporary union center, the rest of the money needed to finance the project, which would be principally the overhead and upkeep expenses, might come from another source. Each student could pay a fee, such as one dollar, in addition to the student activity fee or breakage deposit. Also, each club and organization could pay a small rental for use of a clubroom. All-college and club dances would also help take care of expenses. We Techsians should not find financing the student center such a problem, especially since it will be an asset to us. And there is no reason why such a plan could not be satisfactory until the new building is erected and ready for use.

After the war the dormitory will need to fulfill its original purpose and the increased enrollment will clamor for a Student Union building after having seen its value. If the rumor is transformed into a reality, we could be utilizing what we already have and at the same time laying a foundation for the future.—G. J.

Unsightly And Unsanitary

THE typical West Texas winds that have been blowing across the South Plains recently have stirred up more than sand and dust on Tech's campus. Fine-grained gravel beating into students' faces carries with it evidence of the need of a much-discussed but long neglected clean-up campaign—candy wrappers, discarded kleenex (not only unsightly, but unsanitary), bits of hair ribbons and cloth and paper flowers and miscellaneous pieces of paper.

Tech's campus is unsightly enough without its collection of torn packing boxes and wadded notebook paper. It has very few flowers and trees, and its grass serves to hold candy wrappers and the like rather than cover them up.

Obviously, Lubbock's winning of the state's cleanest city title for 11 consecutive years was either not because of the appearance of Tech's campus or because Tech students in the past have been more careful about depositing their waste paper in receptacles provided in the buildings.

However, waste paper does not make up the total amount of rubbish found around the buildings and blowing across the grounds. Everything from coke bottles to broken twigs makes the campus a little more unsightly, a little less clean looking. Paper cups dropped en route from the drug store at night do not add to a sidewalk's beauty the next morning. Nor do empty cigarette packages make Tech's many hard beaten paths across the circle any the less conspicuous. Cigarette stubs also add to the sloppiness.

There seems to be no way of arousing students to a voluntary cleaning up of the campus, but it seems that those enrolled at Tech could at least keep from making it any worse. It takes very little effort to put a candy wrapper in a pocket until one finds a waste basket, or to carry coke bottles inside where they can be kept, turned in, and a deposit collected. Such a little bit of thoughtfulness could improve the appearance of the campus so much! Do your part in keeping it clean.—VC.

2.... Another By COUNT MEOUT

The Easter bunny having come and gone, the Count will now lay a festive egg on the lawn.

Practice-teacher JEAN CONNER nearly lost control of her class Monday when she appeared sporting (believe-it-or-not), an orchid, an Easter gift from the sheep-herder. Wedding bells will ring for AVA NELL HUNTER and BOB CHEEK Tuesday at St. John's Methodist church. Bob is a flight officer, formerly of Texas A&M.

You can just call "BECK" Ko Shari "Pete" from now on. By some odd coincidence he happened to be in the city last weekend at the same time the club was there. And "Beck" wasn't the only one from what we hear.

ELLEN HELM MILLER and ELEANOR COTTON have gone to Iowa City, Iowa to read proof for the "Lafayette" or at least that's what they say.

"SLEEPY" HARLAN went to Sundown last weekend, just to make sure that HOPE CADE made it back to Tech after Easter.

Campus Observations

EVERY week there come letters to the Toreador office, as to students of Tech, from students who have not finished school but are away in military service saying that only now are they really appreciating "Good ole' Texas Tech" and "The Home of the Red Raiders." Adding how happy they will be when once more life becomes a proposition of one making ones own decisions, and a normal way of life can be resumed and back to Tech they can come.

In most of these letters is expressed the hope that the spirit, the "Howdy" practice, the democratic student government, and an enthusiastic student body will be the same as when they left. Supplications as, "Please, may things remain the same out on that Plain where Tech lives," are common.

Freshmen and even sophomores students are accustomed to hearing the phrases, "Back when Tech was Tech" and "When it like it used to be" and no doubt they wonder what exactly it used to be.

These hopes for things to be as they were does not mean that we should not progress, and an enthusiastic student body will be the same as when they were in a rut merely filling the lamp with oil until their return and not one thing accomplished would hurt worse than if everyone went around not speaking, enthusiasm was lacking in all college events. These ex-Techsians want Tech to go on carrying its traditions with it as it builds, not sit and reflect on what has been done while it slowly decays. This is also the desire of the students leaving Tech in the hands of a capable young group who will soon be in charge of leadership.

When a muscle is not used it becomes useless and when again slightly exercised it gets sore and aches, so maybe Tech needs a few sore muscles.

We could do deeds now for the future even though we are living in a critical period, an emergency era. For instance we can vote when the election comes up for new campus officers this month. We can vote conscientiously for the best candidate who will do the most good for Tech. We can apply ourselves to our purposes of being in college, namely learning, and thereby raise the standards of our beloved school. We can back new projects that are for the good of the school even if they do mean we use a little brawn and brain. We can help past student bodies' dreams come true for this recent pioneer institution on the West Texas Plains.

Instructors Go To Borger

Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, head of Teacher Placement Bureau, E. H. Foutler, deputy state superintendent, and Dr. R. E. Garlin, head of education and psychology, went to Borger Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday as a part of an evaluation criteria committee for the high school there.

Dr. Jackson spoke to the Rotary club and the high school Home Economics club on Tuesday and to the Lion's club Wednesday. Twelve members of the Texas education system met with Dr. Jackson, who is head of this committee.

Life With The Exes

Cpl. Ollie Linder, '42, was featured as the "Enlisted Man of the Week" in the Panel, post paper for Bryan Army Air field. Corporal Linder, who majored in animal husbandry here, received his basic training at LAAF. He was assigned to the Medical Corps.

W. F. (Billy) Nivin is enlisted in the Coast Guard. For ten months out of 18 months of service he has seen sea duty in the South Pacific area.

Wanda L. Allen, who has been assigned to the WAC hospital detachment at Camp Carson, Col., was promoted to the rank of Tech-1 the first of this month. Sergeant Allen, who was sworn into the U. S. Army in Boston, La., in April 1943, advanced training at Bakers and Cookers school in Boston and Ft. Oglethorpe Ga., then was transferred to Camp Carson Aug. 4, 1943. There she has been assigned to Unit Personnel.

Second Lt. Austin D. Terrel is now a student in the four-engine pilot school at Roswell Army Air field. Lieutenant Terrel recently received his pilot wings at Peconic, Long Island, N. Y. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army Air Corps this month after completing bombardier training at Carlisle Army Air field. In addition to the regular bombardier course, Lieutenant Caldwell completed instruction in navigation and aerial gunnery.

Thurman Duke Gardner was commissioned a lieutenant in the U. S. Marine Corps reserve upon recent graduation from the Naval Air Training Center, Corpus Christi, Texas. Gardner, a bombardier pilot, was assigned to a combat unit and is to active duty with a flying squadron of the fighting Leathernecks.

Lt. James S. Atkinson is serving at an Army base section in Australia after serving seven months at an advanced base where he belonged to a unit cited for participation in the Papuan campaign in New Guinea. Lieutenant Atkinson received his basic training at Camp Wolters and was shipped "down under" in February, 1942. After serving 17 months in the enlisted ranks he received an appointment to OCS "somewhere in Australia" and was commissioned a second lieutenant in December, 1942.

Capt. Winston McCarty, '39, has been reported as killed in action March 1, 1944, in a bombardier unit over Germany. Captain McCarty has been reported missing since last March.

A. C. Cole, who received his MA in 1937, has recently been promoted from assistant district geologist of the Stanolind Oil and Gas Company, Tyler, to district geologist of the Shreveport district.

Sheriff Charles O. Trimble has been recently notified by the Federal Bureau of Investigation out of Dallas that his appointment to the National Police academy had been accepted. Trimble will enter school in Washington, D. C. this month, where he will receive specialized training in law, chemistry, criminal investigation, fingerprint classification, lifting patent prints, use of firearms, art of self protection, jui jitsu, crime detection, how to identify criminals, etc. This course will require 12 hours daily for study and training for the next 14 weeks.

Second Lt. Warren Adams has recently graduated from the Big Spring Bombardier school, where he has been training for the past 18 weeks.

Lt. Terry M. Diggs, who recently married the former Kathleen Burnett, is now stationed at the Perry school, Colorado Springs. Lieutenant Diggs is a pilot, having graduated from Columbus Army Air field in Mississippi.

Capt. Moyle Hicks is now a transport captain on one of the giant Liberator transports of the Ferry and Transport service in the E. T. O. Captain Hicks is the possessor of the DFC and Air Medal for valor as Command pilot of the leading flight over the Ploesti refineries. This ex-geology student received training at Kelly and Randolph fields and was commissioned Feb. 8, 1941.

T. S. Omer E. Wade is in the Army and is stationed somewhere in the Pacific area. He entered the service in February 1943, going from Ft. Sill, Okla., to Camp Robinson, Ark. Further training was received at Springfield, Mo. Then he went to Camp Carson, Col. He was assigned to the U. S. Army Air Corps in training at a California flying field.

The former Marie Street is now Mrs. Donald Lusk since her recent marriage to Ensign Lusk at the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis in Plattburg, N. Y. Marie was a member of Sans Souci and Theta Sigma Phi. She received her BA degree in journalism last year and since that time has been with the Naval Photography department in San Diego.

Aviator J. Higgins, Jr., is the holder of the DFC and Air Medal. The fighter pilot, during a recent visit at Fort Worth, found it easier to talk about anything but his feats in a P-40. Captain Higgins, who went overseas in July, 1942, was stationed in Guatemala and Panama before he joined Gen. Claire Chennault's Flying Dragons a year ago. He has also gone to Africa and India. Captain Higgins received his DFC after a strafing mission over the Tung-Ting Lake area in occupied Burma, and the Air Medal was presented to him for a dive bombing trip into Burma. He enlisted as an aviation cadet in November, 1941, and was commissioned at Mission in June, 1942.

Seaman second class Billy J. Chesley is stationed at the Coast Guard base at Wilmington, Calif. He enlisted in the Coast Guard Sept. 15, 1943, and received radio training at Wilmington.

Naval Aviation Cadet W. O. Boswell has reported to the U. S. Navy Pre-flight school at Atlanta, Ga., for three months of physical instruction in advanced ground school subjects. Upon successful completion of the course, he will be transferred to a Naval air station to begin progressive flight training program in August, 1942, received training at Cimarron field in Oklahoma and Garden City, Kan. He received his commission at Altus Army Air base.

Capt. George W. Long, who for five months in China has been a navigator for Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's personal plane and 14 months in the Indo-Burma theatre of operations as bombardier-navigator with a group flying Mitchell bombers, has been assigned to Midland Army Air field in charge of teaching navigation at the Instructors school. Captain Long flew 51 bombing missions for a total of 310 combat hours and holds the DFC and the Air Medal. He received training at Maxwell field and Kelly field in January, 1942. He was commissioned at Bolling field, Washington, D. C.

Lt. Tom L. LeMond, jr., has been reported missing in action over Germany since Mar. 18. The former engineering student was a Flying Fortress pilot and had been overseas since Feb. 18.

Captain Noel E. Thompson, '39 is now stationed at the Marine Corps Air depot, Miramar, Calif. He has completed more than one hundred sky freighter hops throughout the Solomonis in which he amassed 1,200 flight hours. His most recent combat assignment was that of pilot for Maj. Gen. E. F. Mulcahy. Captain Thompson previously was a pilot for the South Pacific Combat Air transport com-

Schedule Released

Jennings Makes Final Report Of Grid Program

Four Southwest Conference Teams Are Scheduled

Mesley Jennings, athletic director at Tech, has announced the Red Raider schedule for next year with 11 games to be played.

Nine games on the Raiders' list will be with other colleges and two are Army games.

The definite schedule was announced after the final signing of the Southern Methodist university team for a game and the decision of West Texas State at Canyon to have a gridiron team next year.

Removal of the 25 mile travel rule for Army bases added the two non-college games to Tech's program.

Seven games will be played here. Four of the games played will be with Southwest conference colleges and all but one will be played away from Tech.

Two old rivals of the Raiders are the Canyon Buffaloes and New Mexico Lobos. The Buffs had not decided definitely on a grid squad for this year, but with service men to add to their strength, they have decided to stay in the running.

The other Southwest conference teams besides the Mustangs of Southern Methodist are the Texas Aggies, Rice Owls and Texas Christian Horned Frogs.

Last season Southwestern university at Georgetown produced one of the strongest teams in the Southwest, and again they have been added to Tech's schedule. They have another good team for this year, according to recent sport predictions. Their team last season was composed mostly of former Texas Longhorns, and the Navy is again furnishing men for this year's squad.

New contracts have been signed with the Rice Owls and with Texas Christian university for the next two years. Both Rice games will be played in Houston, but the second game with Texas Christian will be at Red Raider stadium in 1945. The Army will help open the season with a game between the Raiders and Lubbock Army Air field team. The season will close Dec. 2 with another Army game for the Raiders against South Plains Army Air field team.

The first four games in Lubbock will be played at night, and the last three, also played here, will be in the afternoon.

The present schedule as it stands is:
Sept. 23—LAUF at Lubbock (night).
Sept. 30—Texas Aggies at San Antonio.
Oct. 7—Oklahoma Aggies at Lubbock (night).
Oct. 14—Tulsa at Tulsa.
Oct. 21—Southwestern at Lubbock (night).

WAVES in Action

Yeoman

This Yeoman, Third Class, is receptionist to the "Cominch"—Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Fleet, at the Navy Department, Washington, D. C. Her insignia—one chevron and crossed quills under an eagle—doesn't show in the photograph because it is worn on the left sleeve, but is reproduced in the inset. The WAVES need thousands of girls as secretaries, stenographers, typists and clerks in the offices of high-ranking officers, as well as for numerous other duties. A new booklet for young women interested in the WAVES is available at Navy Recruiting Stations.

Summer Session Courses Are Announced

Home Ec School Makes Final Plans With 28 Courses

Twenty-eight courses for graduate as well as undergraduate students are being offered by the division of home economics during summer school this year.

These courses are designed to offset present shortages in the field of home economics," Dean Margaret W. Weeks says. Miss Sannie Callan, head of the department of family relations and child development, who has been on leave this semester, will return to the faculty this summer. Otherwise, there will be no change.

Four courses in applied arts will be offered during the first term. Costume design and interior decoration will be taught by Miss Martye Poindexter. Miss Elizabeth Hawley will teach special three-week courses in crafts including textile design work in bookbinding, leather and wood, and work in metal and jewelry.

During the first term, principles of dressmaking, pattern designing, and advanced dressmaking will be taught by Miss Josephine Looney of the department of clothing and textiles. During the second term, elementary textiles and advanced dressmaking will be taught by Mrs. Lila Kinchen. Miss Mabel Erwin will teach textile economics and special problems in teaching clothing.

Courses in child development will be taught the second term. They will be special courses to prepare seniors and graduate students for nursery school teaching. The basic course in child development and two advanced courses will be taught by Miss Sannie Callan and Miss Bernice Borgman.

Miss Frances Urban will teach three courses in home management during the first term. They are residence in home management house, problems in home management and house care and management.

Eight courses are being offered in the department of foods and nutrition. Miss Mayme Tseyford will teach freshman foods and nutrition, and food purchasing during the first term. Mrs. Jonnie Michie will teach dietetics and nutrition work with children. During the second term, Mrs. Neva Bavousett will teach a special six-week course in food preservation and the second half of the freshman foods course. Courses in food selection and elementary nutrition will be taught by Miss Margaret W. Weeks for non-home economics majors. It is of special interest to primary education majors. Dr. Mira Lamb will teach a graduate course in readings in nutrition.

Work in home economics education will be offered both terms in an effort to relieve the teacher shortage. Graduates of the division of home economics who do not hold the Vocational Certificate of Approval may secure a temporary certificate this summer. Supervised observation and teaching in home economics will be done in the local high schools both the first and second terms. Application for student teaching must be made in advance. Methods of teaching home economics will be taught during the first term and home economics education will be taught the second.

Home Ec Club Contributes To Student Building

The Home Economics club has taken the lead among student organizations by contributing $200 in war bonds toward a Student Union building.

As a result of this year's work, the club has also contributed $100 to the Margaret W. Weeks Loan fund and $100 in bonds toward furnishing a home economics club-room in the proposed Home Economics building. This money was made by sponsoring a picture show, club dues and the Double T Round-up.

Social activities of the year will be climaxed by the annual Spring Festival which will be held April 21 in Aggie Grove. Other notable social events were the parties given to 100 preflighters during the fall semester and about 125 engineers during the spring semester.

Campus clubs were entertained at the annual open house held in the Home Management house in December. Two programs were given to solidify in each of the hospitals at LAAF and SPAAF. Informative talks on food and clothing problems have been presented regularly at club meetings.

Captain Sewell Visits Campus This Week

Capt. Steward Sewell, '40, animal husbandry major, visited on the campus this week. He wore a Silver Cross and two Service Stars for campaigns in the China-Burma area, where he has been stationed for the past 21 months. The Mitchell bomber pilot has been on 38 missions under the command of Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault.

Prior to his entrance into the Air Corps August 1942, Captain Sewell was ranching at Jackboro. While he was a student at Tech, he was high point man in the National Dairy Cattle Judging contest, Columbus, O., in October 1939. He is the only student who has won that honor for Tech, according to Prof. W. L. Stangel, head of the animal husbandry department. Captain Sewell was a member of Aggie Club, Block and Bridle, and was a senior assistant in the department. He was also on the American Royal Judging team.

Ko Shari Elects New Officers

Ko Shari recently elected the following officers for the coming year: Jane Oliver, president; Reta Norman, vice president; Alice Lawrence, treasurer; Jane Watson, recording secretary; Jean Gibbons, corresponding secretary; Francine Young, rush captain; Marjorie Holmes, reporter; Betty Walters, historian; Selma Mullins, patroness chairman; Ann Cox, parliamentarian; Anita Hale, pledge advisor; Elizabeth Schmidt, AWS representative; Moreene Roberts, WICC representative.

ASTP Men Sent To Five Posts

Former Army Specialized Training men who left here last week were sent to five different army posts throughout Texas and two other states, according to Maj. Frank E. Hangs, commanding officer of the unit. Mechanical engineers were sent to the armored division at Camp Barkley; civil en-

Young, Yocum Give Hints On Victory Garden

Gardening Course Is Being Sponsored By War Food Board

Dr. A. W. Young and Prof. W. W. Yocum of the plant industry department are giving practical hints on how to make a victory garden successful at a ten-hour gardening course being held at Shallowater this week and next. The school, which is sponsored by the War Food Production board under the United States Department of Agriculture, is one of a series taught in this section of the state. Several such courses were held last year.

Purpose of the schools is to stimulate interest and to provide information for victory gardens. Last year an amazing number of people responded to the victory garden call, with about 3,000,000 new gardeners joining the ranks of the 20,000,000. The goal this year is set for 2,000,000 more gardeners than last year by the federal department. In addition, every one of the 20,000,000 original gardeners is being asked to produce from 25 to 50 per cent more vegetables, according to Dr. Young.

On Tech's farm a quarter of an acre of English peas have already come up, and two acres of three different varieties of potatoes have been planted, reports Dr. Young. The vegetable gardening class has tomato plants in the greenhouse in beds now, and expects to pot them out next week, according to Professor Yocum.

In this section advisable plants to be raised in victory gardens are tomatoes, carrots, peas, beans, okra and leafy or salad crops. Celery can be grown if it is watered and cared for sufficiently.

District Agent Addresses Tech Aggie Club

K. C. Edwards, district agent of the agricultural extension service at A&M, spoke to Aggie club this week on extension work in the state. Jason Gordon, Lubbock county agent, and Raymond King, assistant county agent, both former presidents of the club, also spoke at the meeting.

Team three won the volleyball tournament, defeating team one for the championship. Eldon Finley was elected captain of the softball team, which is practicing for spring games with other clubs this week. President Paul Payne appointed two nominating committees to present candidates for officers at the next meeting. Those on the first committee are: D. H. Brewster, chairman, Carol Jones, and R. N. Groves. The second committee is composed of: Jack Noel, chairman, Lewis Cobb, and Carol Wilson.

Phi U Presents HE Club Program

Installation of Phi U officers for 1944-45 took place Monday night after the Home Economics club meeting.

President for the forthcoming year is Anna Baker; vice president Lucille Melton; recording secretary, Audrey Melton; corresponding secretary, Maxine Wiese; treasurer, Margaret Leonard; liberian, Betty Rae Fryer; historian, Corinne Suggins; pledge captain, Betty Huckabee; marshal, Nan Carpenter; and candle editor, Josie Lee Barnett.

The coolest spot on the sun is 10,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

engineers are in an engineers unit training center at Camp Claiborne, La.; electrical engineers were sent to a signal corps unit at Camp Crowder, Mo.; and men with an infantry background went into the 103rd Infantry division at Camp Howze. A small group not qualified for overseas duty or needing further training went to Ft. Sam Houston.

Jack Is Added To Horse Division Of Animal Dept.

A 3-year-old Jack is a new addition to the horse division of the department of animal husbandry. The purchase was made by W. L. Stangel, head of the department, and Bill Rodgers, farm superintendent, from M. G. Michaelis of Kyle, last week.

The Jack is very compact in build and unusually strong in bone, according to Professor Stangel.

"His ears measure 33 inches in length, which is an outstanding feature of valuable mules," says Stangel. "When the animal is mature, he should stand 15.2 to 15.3 hands tall, and should weigh 1100 pounds."

Tech owns seven grade Percheron mares and five registered Percheron mares, which in recent years have been bred to a jack, to answer the demand for good mules, according to Stangel. As a result of this practice, the college has sold 15 mules, ranging in age from one to three years, Stangel points out.

Phi U Officers To Be Installed

In answering the timely questions, "Should one quit school to take a defense job?" or "Should one finish college with an eye to helping win the peace?" the local chapter of Phi Upsilon Omicron national honorary home economics fraternity presented a panel discussion on "Fight with Knowledge" at the regular meeting of the Home Economics club Monday night.

Participants in the discussion were Jo McDuff, Fern Brannen, Iva Lea McKay, Yvonne Hartsell and Ida Botkin. Eugenia Butler is to be leader. Program chairmen are Betty Huckabee and Josie Lee Barnett. Miss Frances Urban, assistant professor of home management, is faculty adviser and Miss Mabel Erwin, head of the department of clothing and textiles, was in charge of publicity for this program.

There will be a business meeting after the program.

Freeze Damage Is Reported On Tech Farm

Many questions are being asked as to the damage done crops on Tech farm by the recent freeze, according to Dr. A. W. Young, head of the plant industry department. He states that relatively no general damage has been done on the small grain crops. There has been, however, a setback which is especially noticed in the alfalfa, reports Dr. Young.

In the orchards, the apples and sour cherries are safe from damage, for both were far enough advanced not to suffer from the freeze, states Prof. W. W. Yocum, professor of horticulture. After investigating the pear trees, Professor Yocum reports that 5 to 10 per cent of the blooms are still alive on the trees of the best varieties, Bartlett and Clappa Favorite. Plums, Sapa, Opata and Wild Goose will make a fair crop, although not 5 per cent of the blooms were left alive after the freeze, states Yocum. He also reports that the peaches and apricots are about gone.

The word hippopotamus is derived from the Greek hippo, meaning horse, and potamus, meaning river.

New Reservists Start School At Texas Tech

A group of Army Specialized Training reservists arrived Wednesday and are quartered in Barracks No. 3, according to Maj. Frank E. Hangs, commanding officer. They started classes in the new term April 10.

The ASTP reserves are in the 17 and 18-year age group and are not on active duty with the Army. They are given what amounts to a military scholarship, which includes textbooks, meals and quarters. They wear ROTC uniforms to classes in military training, civilian clothes to others. Upon attaining their eighteenth birthdays, they will be sent to replacement training centers for basic training in the Army.

New Furniture Installed In Library Permits Better Reading Facilities

New furniture, including reading tables, chairs, and periodical and book shelves, is being installed in the library. The material was received about two weeks ago and has been stored in the first floor reading room.

Tables and chairs will be used in both reading rooms. A part of the reserve reading room will be set aside for periodicals and some of the shelves will be used there.

Cream Filtering Is Shown At State Meeting

An exhibition showing the factors that influence filtering creams was shown this week by Prof. K. M. Renner, head of the dairy manufacturing department, at the West Texas branch of the state Dairy Products association meeting in Plainview.

The department has developed the exhibition as a partial result of a research project on sediment standards for cream, which is still in progress. Use of the material will call attention to the need for producing good dairy products for the armed forces, according to Renner. Factors which influence the filtering of creams are the water, ingredients used to dissolve the curd, and the age and acidity of the cream.

Judging Contest Held On Campus

The seventeenth high school judging contest will be held on the campus for vocational agriculture students of West Texas Saturday, April 22. Some 60 high schools are expected to be represented by 350 boys, according to T. Leach, associate professor of agricultural education.

Division of agriculture has offered its facilities for these spring contests each year until the last two years, when the measure was dropped as a wartime non-essential. However, this year questionnaires were sent out by the agricultural education department to the various vocational agriculture teachers in high schools of this section, and each one replied that he thought the contests were valuable training for students and asked that they be reinstated.

Judging will be in the following divisions: livestock, crops, poultry, and milk. Ray L. Chappelle, head of the agricultural education department, will be general superintendent of the contests. Livestock superintendent will be Ray C. Mowery, professor of animal husbandry; crops superintendent, Cecil Ayers, instructor in plant industry; poultry superintendent, J. D. Strickland; milk superintendent, K. M. Renner.

Ag Club Elects New Officers Tuesday Evening

Election of officers for next year and voting on an amendment of the by-laws will be the principal business for the last Ag club meeting Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Stock Judging pavilion.

The amendment that will be voted on is stated as follows: "Be it resolved that any balance remaining from the Aggie club dues for the year 1943-44 be held in the General Fund to be used as operating expenses for the year 1944-45," according to President Paul Payne. The article in the by-laws, as it now stands, states that such balance should be turned over to the loan fund.

The Ag club is planning a hayride for Friday, April 21. The committees consist of the following: program - Bob Boyd, Barton Willingham, and Carroll Jones; food - Thomas Miller, Dewey Wells, and Lewis Cobb; general arrangements - Jack Creel, Kenneth LaMaster, and John White. Deadline set for paying hayride fees, which are to be paid to the general arrangements committee, is noon Wednesday.

Members Will Be Announced

New officers and new members will be announced at the meeting of the Fireside Forum Sunday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock in Annex G of the Home Economics building.

Miss Lucille Gill, associate professor of English, will be guest speaker for the forum. Following the regular program, Lt. Mary Lou Randall of SPAAF will speak. Lieutenant Randall was a member of the Mortar Board at the University of Kansas where she received her degree in journalism in 1941. She also belonged to Chi Omega, Theta Sigma Phi and Phi Lambda Theta. Lieutenant Randall received her commission as a second lieutenant on April 22, 1943. Her home is in Battle Creek, Mich.

Renewal Of Deferments Is Requested

Men students majoring in engineering, physics, chemistry or geology who wish to renew their deferment must make application to their local draft board immediately, according to Dr. H. L. Kent, administrative assistant.

In January each college was allotted a quota for deferring students in each group. Recently all deferments under this plan have been canceled by the War Manpower Commission, and each student must now apply to his draft board for continued deferment. The college is required to send a statement regarding the courses of study the student is taking, a certificate to show that he is passing his work satisfactorily and that he can conplete all college work within 24 months.

The draft board then sends this data to the state director of selective service who advises them whether or not the individual should be deferred.

Deferments for students who can graduate before June 1, 1944 and for pre-professional students majoring in medicine, veterinary medicine and theology are being reconsidered.

Pan-American Day Is Celebrated By Open House

Pan-American Day will be celebrated by members and guests of the Foreign Language club at an open house tonight from 8 to 9 o'clock at the F. R. Friend residence, 2005 Broadway.

Members of the foreign languages staff and club officers will receive the guests and Mrs. C. B. Qualla will pour. Several members of the houseparty will wear Latin-American costumes. The room will be decorated with Pan-American colors and flags.

Music will be played throughout the evening. Carolyn Reynolds, violinist, will play a medley of national anthems of Pan-American countries, accompanied by Marion Chandler at the piano. Rosemary Burns will sing several Spanish songs and Marie Hunsucker will entertain with several piano selections. A trio composed of Betty Hurt, Doris Higley and Marie Hunsucker will sing Spanish songs accompanied by Monda Hamilton.

Huganir To Speak At Quarterly Club

"Student Life at Oxford in the Middle Ages" will be discussed by Dr. Kathryn Huganir, assistant professor of English at a meeting of the Quarterly club, made up of women faculty members, Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in room 102 of the Home Economics building.

A report will be given by the nominating committee and officers for next year will be elected. At this, the last meeting of the year, all standing committees will give a final report for this season's activities.

This year's officers are Mrs. Johnnie Langford, president, and Miss Bernice Borgman, secretary and treasurer.

Phi U Will Hold Meeting At Picnic In Aggie Grove

Phi U's final business meeting for the year will be held at the picnic Tuesday afternoon at 6 o'clock in Aggie Grove, announces Jean McLaughlin, outgoing president.

Faculty members who are members of Phi U and several alumni members are expected to attend the picnic.
