1971 VOTER REGISTRATION ABOVE FORMER YEAR TOTALS

Voter registration in Coleman County is well ahead of past years, according to a recent report from John Skelton, County Tax Assessor-Collector.

Last week over 3,300 people had already registered and normally the largest number of registrations come in January. Last year 5,541 voters registered before the January 31 deadline.

Voter application forms were mailed with tax statements which resulted in the heavy early registration.

Skelton stated that 18, 19 and 20-year olds who wish to register should come by the office for application forms. He explained that this group can only vote in federal elections under the existing law.

Mountain Echoes

By Barbara Kingsbery

Local young people duck hunting Sunday afternoon bagged something a little different. They came home with ten rattlesnakes found at the Nazarene Church site north of Whom.

Dale Hicks, Beth and Rocky Dean killed the ten snakes, the largest of which was about five feet long and quite large around the middle. The other snakes were nearer the same size, all being about three feet in length.

Only two of the reptiles had all their rattles intact.

We had a nice letter from Mrs. Edna Haynie Keller of Oklahoma, City, Okla., wanting to subscribe to the NEWS. Mrs. Keller is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Haynie who moved from Santa Anna to Truscott in 1908. The Haynie family owned land one mile north of the Mountain, and were well known in the area.

One of the cleverest comments we've heard concerning the new year came from a Cross Plains man:

"It's good to see 1970 pass on," he said, "I'm just thankful I didn't have to go with it."

A surprised group of junior high girls looked "wide-eyed" as Bettie Bryan unpacked a box of new basketball uniforms last week. Bettie had found the right fabric at the right price and with permission of coach J. A. Harris purchased it to make 13 uniforms for the junior high team. New matching socks were purchased for the girls, making them one of the best-dressed junior high teams in the area.

In Our Opinion

By W. T. HAYS

THE TEXAS LEGISLATURE convenes Tuesday and they have their work cut out for them.

One thing they have to decide is whether Texas tax payers will pay a 40 per cent increase in taxes which is what it will take to finance the proposed budget for the next biennium.

Texans coughed up $3.1 billion during 1968-69 to finance the two-year budget and the state will collect $4.4 billion during 1970-71. Now a glimpse of state agency request for 1972-73 zooms the amount to over $8 billion.

No one would deny that progressive Texas needs money to operate, but the question comes up — are they needs or just desires? Also how much can the Texas taxpayer stand in the tax gouge?

During the last three years income of Texans has increased about 25 per cent; from about $30 billion at the close of 1967 to an estimated $38 billion at the end of 1970. This looks good, but the tax dollar requests grew by more than 40 per cent. How long can the taxpayer stand increases in those percentages?

An extra tax bite means that Texans will have to pull in their belts. The average wage earner will have to cut somewhere to make up the difference. The small business man will have to cut expenses somewhere.

And along with the increased tax bite comes the increased cost of living in general. The cost-of-living index has shown a consistent increase every year, which in most cases will override the increase in income.

Another increase that has hit the pocketbook of the average citizen is the boost in the cost of medical services. In 1969 $7.00 out of every $100 spent in the United States for goods and services went for health care, according to Congressional estimates. This is a 16 per cent boost over 1969, and far exceeds what was expected in increased costs. This level was not expected until 1975.

Included in these cost increases has been the price of prescriptions, but medicine has not increased in proportion to other health costs. According to the pharmaceutical people the increase in medicine is due to increased dosage rather than more per item.

But when it gets down to the nitty gritty, everything we buy has gone up faster than what we make and there is coming a time when the ends will just not meet. What will we do then?

Tax spending on the state and federal level has gotten so far out of the sight of the individual that we don't have any earthly idea what our money is being spent for, and not only that — we couldn't find out if we wanted to. Even the average Congressman or Senator doesn't know and, in fact, the administrative branch would be hard hit to come up with an answer.

Big government becomes so involved, even on the state level, that it is hard for the right hand to know what the left one is doing.

What we had better do is to push the priority items and take the rest as funds are available. The goose might run out of golden eggs.

EIGHTY DAYS without rain of any appreciable amount has put many of the area farmers and ranchers in precarious position. Stock water is short, grazing is scarce, and crops are at a standstill.

But along with this problem is the age-old one that costs continue in their usual manner.

Someone predicted the other day that the shoe was going to be on the other foot in a few years. Production of food is diminishing and consumption is increasing to the point that in a few years the farmer may be able to demand his share of the money spent for food. Prices paid to him have been a minor part of food costs.

Price supports have helped but in the main they have favored the big farmer and rancher and have left the small man in a position of having to depend on something other than the farm or ranch in order to exist.

A few of us can remember when a farmer could cultivate a small farm and pay out at the end of the year. Now he had better have a job on the side and let his farming be his secondary operation.

If the farmer showed the percentage of profit demanded by industry, there is no telling what we would be paying for food.

STATE Capital NEWS
 By VERN SANFORD

Austin — Legislators by the hundreds are assembling in Austin to tackle a mountain of inherited and new problems in a hastily-remodeled State Capitol.

Workmen barely completed the renovation of the new offices of Senators and Representatives before occupants (for at least the next 140 days) moved in.

There is little indication, of course, where the 62nd Legislature is heading, but nearly everybody agrees it faces a major fiscal crisis. Lt. Governor Ben Barnes says the session may well be "the most difficult in Texas history."

Estimates of needed taxes range from $645 million to $850 million, and even higher in some cases. Barnes says he would be surprised if the sales tax rate and range were not both hiked.

James McGrew, head of Texas Research League and an outstanding tax authority, thinks that a state income tax may be necessary despite lawmakers' commitments to the contrary.

A welfare fund shortage may force a $55 million to $70 million tax bill early this year as an emergency measure.

Legislative and congressional redistricting, threatening an end to many political careers, may be necessary because of the new census. And this job could keep lawmakers overtime if the tax bill doesn't.

A federal court decision last week knocked out Texas' annual voter registration requirement and, as House Speaker Gus Mutscher commented, it "added urgency" to pressing election code reforms.

Liquor-by-the-drink legislation, environmental pollution, auto insurance, education, judicial reform, utilities legislation, and penal code revision are only a few of the issues which will be making headlines at the capitol during the next five months... or more.

HOUSE CHANGES URGED — Speaker Mutscher applauded recommendations of his blue ribbon "Committee of 100" for House Representatives reforms as offering national leadership in legislative modernization.

This committee concluded that lawmakers are underpaid (at $4,800 a year, plus $875 a month expense account for Representatives, $1,700 for Senators) and suggested the appointment of a six-member commission to set maximum salary levels.

Fearing for the safety of legislators in an era of demonstrations, the panel also suggested — while questioning the practicality of its own recommendation — the glassing in of the House galleries and use of metal detectors there to discover concealed weapons.

One of the Committee's top reform proposals called for a strict new code of ethics governing legislative conduct.

Other recommendations ranged over a wide field — from publicity services for House members to a suggested new $3.75 million underground addition to the capitol and a long range capitol area parking plan.

PARKS HEAD QUILTS — In the middle of a boiling controversy over the proposal to buy Mustang Island park land, J. R. Singleton resigned his job as director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, effective March 5.

Singleton denied that Parks and Wildlife Commission Chairman Pearce Johnson is unning him off. Harry Jersig of San Antonio and L. P. Gilvin of Amarillo, two of the three-man Commission, asked him to stay, said Singleton. Gilvin, however, is due to be replaced on the agency soon.

Employment with an "international conservation organization" lured him from the $25,000 a year state job, Singleton told newsmen.

He recommended that his deputy, Robert G. Mauermann, be named to replace him. Johnson, who opposed the other two commissioners plan to buy Mustang Island land for $4.2 million, had no comment.

Meanwhile, funds to buy the island — state and federal — reached the state treasury but were frozen there, pending a federal court case hearing.

COURTS SPEAK — A three-judge federal court in Houston knocked out Texas' annual registration for voting requirement but retained jurisdiction while awaiting the Legislature's response.

State Supreme Court declined a new hearing of its December decision where it held a Denton land developer was entitled to $10,000 damages for libel because a newspaper erroneously stated he had filed bankruptcy proceedings.

Reversing lower courts, the Supreme Court concluded that a Houstonian who developed lung disease (silicosis) from breathing silica sand while on his job is entitled to workmen's compensation.

In another reversal, the High Court ruled that a construction worker from Houston and his widowed mother should draw workmen's compensation for a 1967 auto accident in which his father was killed.

AFL-CIO filed a district suit here to set aside the State Board of Insurance order directing a 14 per cent increase in auto insurance rates.

AG OPINIONS — Six months' prohibition on remarriage after a divorce applies only to persons who secured divorces from Texas courts, Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has held.

In other opinions, Martin concluded that:

- Maximum compensation for chief sheriff's deputy and assistant county attorney is $9,226; for other sheriff's deputies and assistants, $8,073.
- In the absence of conferred authority from the President, state officers may not execute a federal search warrant under the Comprehensive Drug Abuse and Control Act.
- Counseling service for debtors requiring disbursements from a bank account constitutes forbidden "debt pooling."
- City of Pearland does not have authority to appoint auxiliary police.

APPOINTMENTS — Governor Preston Smith named Dr. D.

Clifford Burross of Wichita Falls to the State Board of Medical Examiners.

Sen. Lloyd Bentgen named to his new Washington staff Ronald L. Katz of Houston, Denman Moody Jr. of Austin, George Lawrence of San Antonio, Timothy P. Furlong of Dallas, Charles Hodges of Dallas, Mrs. Ashton Gonella of Washington and Mrs. Sissy Schaeffer of Dallas.

INDUSTRY STILL EXPANDING — More industries located new plants in Texas last year than in 1966-68, in spite of the uncertain national economic climate.

Texas Industrial Commission reported 319 new industries were established here in 1970, second only to 1969.

Expansion of existing plants dropped off in the face of tight money — 367 last year as compared with 505 in 1969 and 444 in 1968.

Unemployment is up, but still below the national average. More layoffs are expected during the first quarter of 1971 due to continued expiration of government contracts.

MOVIE CURBS EYED — Senate committee, after hearing testimony that Texas is No. 1 in the number of theaters showing sex films, proposed the establishment of local motion picture licensing and review boards.

Committee promised additional recommendations. First proposal is aimed at making it possible to revoke licenses for theaters which show films unsuitable for minors.

Prosecutors, at the Austin hearing, claimed they are without adequate legal tools, as the result of court decision, to make effective cases against distributors of "skin-flicks."

SHORT STROKS — House historical preservation committee recommended acquiring historical sites in Val Verde County, at Sabine Pass. Committee on uninsured motorists recommended of up to $60 against drivers who carry no insurance.

State tax revenue from cigarette smoking increased $413,707 from December, 1969, to December 1970, climbed to $15.8 million.

Compensation For Fright?

Truck driver Fred, on a downhill slope, suddenly discovered that his brakes had failed. To his consternation, the truck began to pick up speed. Finally Fred managed to bring it to a halt against a hillside.

A short time later, however, he suffered a stroke. Could he collect workmen's compensation for his disability?

In a court test, the company argued that he could not.

"There was no physical injury at the time of the accident," said the company. "He just got very frightened. Workmen's compensation was never intended to protect a workman against a mere fright."

But the court granted Fred's claim, since the "mere fright" had led directly to serious physical harm.

In most cases, compensation is indeed payable for fright that is followed by clear physical consequences. This is true even if the consequences are not as immediate as in Fred's case. Take this situation:

Rumors of possible rioting began to swirl around an American agency in a foreign capital. The rioting never did break out, but several days of nervous tension finally brought one government employee down with a heart attack.

He too claimed workmen's compensation. And a court ruled that he was entitled to it. The court attached no great importance to the fact that his heart attack followed a prolonged period of nerves rather than a single scare.

Still, there at least must be a causal connection between the job and the disability. In another case, a workman with heart trouble suffered an attack after a mild disagreement with his foreman. Under these circumstances, a court decided that the man was not entitled to workmen's compensation.

The court said he had not been subjected to anything worse than "the countless irritations to which all workers are occasionally subjected without untoward results." Therefore, said the court, his heart attack could not fairly be considered a product of his work.

Tax Payers Ask Internal Revenue

Q—I teach school. Can I deduct my room and board for the four weeks I attended a summer class as well as my books and tuition?

A—If the course qualifies as an educational expense then you may deduct your room and board for the time you are required to be away from home. Travel expenses to and from the place where the course was given may also be deductible.

To qualify as an educational expense deduction, the course must be required by your employer as necessary to keep your job or status. A course that maintains or improves the skills needed on your present job also qualifies. No deduction is allowed for courses that help you obtain a new job or one in another field.

Q—My income looks like it's going to be higher than I expected. Can I increase my withholding or do I have to pay estimated tax?

A—You may meet your increased liability either through higher withholding or through payments of estimated tax.

Increased amounts may be withheld either by not claiming all the exemptions you are entitled to or by having a specified additional amount withheld if you are now claiming no exemptions. Changes in withholding are made by completing Form W-4, which may be obtained from your employer.

To handle the increased tax liability through the estimated tax system, file an estimated tax declaration by September 15. Copies of Form 1040ES and instruction can be obtained from your local IRS office.

Q—I understand that under the new tax law farmers don't have to declare what they get from crop insurance in the year they receive it. Is that right?

A—Yes, proceeds from insurance received from damage to crops may be declared as income the following year. To make this election the farmer must show that income from the crops would normally have been reported in the following year.

This election applies only to cash basis farmers.

Q—I attended the annual meeting of my church group and was paid for part of my travel expenses. Do I have to pay tax on this? Also, am I allowed any charitable deduction for my other expenses?

A—If you are attending the meeting as an official delegate of your church, and not solely as a member, the expenses paid for you will usually not be taxable. If any portion of the expenses paid cover the expenses of a family member that portion is taxable income.

A delegate may deduct as a charitable contribution his unreimbursed expenses. Include travel costs, meals and lodging during the meeting but not personal expenses such as sightseeing or side trips.

Q—I had an extension of time to file my return so why did I get charged interest when I did pay?

A—An extension of time does not excuse you from the 6 per cent annual interest charge added when payments are not made on time.

Power lawn mowers—no toys where children are concerned

Cutting the grass on the family lawn, once a laborious chore for the man of the house, has been made faster, easier and more efficient by the introduction of the power mower. Unfortunately, the power lawn mower can also be a dangerous weapon and last year injured 140,000 people, an increase of 40 percent over 1968.

The power mower may well be the greatest thing to come along since grass, but it is also one of the most dangerous since it often is in the hands of amateurs, women and children. Children, in particular, are too often the victims of lawn mower accidents. The Council On Family Health, sponsored by the manufacturers of medicines as a public service, cautions parents to be watchful of young children when using power mowers during the summer months of fertile lawns.

A study of pediatricians at the Ohio State University College of Medicine reported that most lawn mower injuries to young children occurred under three circumstances: when the children, ranging in age from two to twelve years, were bystanders, when they were operating the machines, or when they were passengers on the mowers.

All three types of accidents could have been prevented if children under 13 had not been allowed to use these machines, if parents had not held children on their laps and if bystanders had been kept a safe distance away. Some additional advice to parents using power mowers is:

- Never adjust or repair the machine while the motor is running.
- Try to thoroughly rake the lawn

Family Kitchen Is Danger Zone

What room can be the most dangerous in the house? Research shows that it's the kitchen, but it does not have to be so, according to Jan Slabaugh, extension specialist in housing and home furnishings.

The kitchen is a combination factory, bakery, cannery, butcher shop, restaurant, household workshop and children's playground. "Each family member should put into practice all he knows about safety in this busy place," Mrs. Slabaugh says.

sincere concern for the well-being of oneself and others. Mrs. Slabaugh adds, "It is a willingness to accept rules and regulations and to apply them in all activities."

A safe kitchen starts with the development and practice of good habits in the selection, preparation, serving and storage of food. Safety continues its march to actuality as long as the family members observe strict rules designed to prevent fires and mishaps.

Keep matches in metal containers. Light gas burners by holding a lighted match to the burner before turning on the gas. Be careful not to place trays, pot holders, and plastic or wooden utensils on electric units which could be hot without showing red.

Mrs. Slabaugh also suggests that range burners should not be turned on until they are needed. And, they should be turned off as quickly as they are not needed.

Such flammable items as waxed paper, towels, cleaning agents and other combustibles should be stored away from the range. Turn pan handles to the rear or side of the range to prevent scalding from an accidental bump or spill. A supply of dry, thick pot-holders should be on hand for use with hot objects.

"A fire extinguisher should be part of every kitchen, and each family member should know how to use it," Mrs. Slabaugh reminds.

When using the oven, pans and other utensils should be placed or removed by pulling out the rack. Such precaution will save a lot of hand and arm burns.

Smother grease fires with salt, soda or a pan lid, but the best control is to not let them start in the first place.

"One important safeguard against disaster in the kitchen is to train the children in safety measures," emphasizes Mrs. Slabaugh.

If you are one who views creative food preparation as an exciting and rewarding challenge, here is an idea you might look into: meat curing.

Rural housewives have cured meat for years. Now, modern curing methods and the home freezer open exciting new vistas for the meat menu and make possible an endless array of new meat dishes the year around.

Not since the first freshly cured ham was hung in fragrant hickory smoke has the urban homemaker, too, had such an opportunity to verry the meat.

ment so easily. Curing magic can be worked with any pork cut. For example, ham, bacon, boneless loin, spareribs or back-ribs. A tempting, mild cure flavor can be given other meats such as beef, poultry and wild game as well.

Whether you live in town or out, if you would like to look into this intriguing approach to putting a different zing into your meat dishes, just clip this article and the name of your newspaper and send them to me marked "Meat Curing."

As an introductory step I will send you "A Condensed Guide to Home Meat Curing" plus a form on which you can order very reasonably everything needed to get underway. This includes the full, 42-page illustrated guide containing many recipes and a special section on sausages and describing butchering and curing pork, beef, lamb, poultry, veal and game, both large and small.

In Our Opinion

By W. T. HAYS

THE TEXAS LEGISLATURE convenes Tuesday and they have their work cut out for them.

One thing they have to decide is whether Texas tax payers will pay a 40 per cent increase in taxes which is what it will take to finance the proposed budget for the next biennium.

Texans coughed up $3.1 billion during 1968-69 to finance the two-year budget and the state will collect $4.4 billion during 1970-71. Now a glimpse of state agency request for 1972-73 zooms the amount to over $8 billion.

No one would deny that progressive Texas needs money to operate, but the question comes up — are they needs or just desires? Also how much can the Texas taxpayer stand in the tax gouge?

During the last three years income of Texans has increased about 25 per cent: from about $30 billion at the close of 1967 to an estimated $38 billion at the end of 1970. This looks good, but the tax dollar requests grew by more than 40 per cent. How long can the taxpayer stand increases in those percentages?

An extra tax bite means that Texans will have to pull in their belts. The average wage earner will have to cut somewhere to make up the difference. The small business man will have to cut expenses somewhere.

And along with the increased tax bite comes the increased cost of living in general. The cost-of-living index has shown a consistent increase every year, which in most cases will override the increase in income.

Another increase that has hit the pocketbook of the average citizen is the boost in the cost of medical services. In 1969 $7.00 out of every $100 spent in the United States for goods and services went for health care, according to Congressional estimates. This is a 16 per cent boost over 1969, and far exceeds what was expected in increased costs. This level was not expected until 1975.

Included in these cost increases has been the price of prescriptions, but medicine has not increased in proportion to other health costs. According to the pharmaceutical people the increase in medicine is due to increased dosage rather than more per item.

But when it gets down to the nitty gritty, everything we buy has gone up faster than what we make and there is coming a time when the ends will just not meet. What will we do then?

Tax spending on the state and federal level has gotten so far out of the sight of the individual that we don't have any earthly idea what our money is being spent for, and not only that — we couldn't find out if we wanted to. Even the average Congressman or Senator doesn't know and, in fact, the administrative branch would be hard hit to come up with an answer.

Big government becomes so involved, even on the state level, that it is hard for the right hand to know what the left one is doing.

What we had better do is to push the priority items and take the rest as funds are available. The goose might run out of golden eggs.

EIGHTY DAYS without rain of any appreciable amount has put many of the area farmers and ranchers in precarious position. Stock water is short, grazing is scarce, and crops are at a standstill.

But along with this problem is the age-old one that costs continue in their usual manner.

Someone predicted the other day that the shoe was going to be on the other foot in a few years. Production of food is diminishing and consumption is increasing to the point that in a few years the farmer may be able to demand his share of the money spent for food. Prices paid to him have been a minor part of food costs.

Price supports have helped but in the main they have favored the big farmer and rancher and have left the small man in a position of having to depend on something other than the farm or ranch in order to exist.

A few of us can remember when a farmer could cultivate a small farm and pay out at the end of the year. Now he had better have a job on the side and let his farming be his secondary operation.

If the farmer showed the percentage of profit demanded by industry, there is no telling what we would be paying for food.

Austin — Legislators by the hundreds are assembling in Austin to tackle a mountain of inherited and new problems in a hastily-remodeled State Capitol.

Workmen barely completed the renovation of the new offices of Senators and Representatives before occupants (for at least the next 140 days) moved in.

There is little indication, of course, where the 62nd Legislature is heading, but nearly everybody agrees it faces a major fiscal crisis. Lt. Governor Ben Barnes says the session may well be "the most difficult in Texas history."

Estimates of needed taxes range from $645 million to $850 million, and even higher in some cases. Barnes says he would be surprised if the sales tax rate and range were not both hiked.

James McGrew, head of Texas Research League and an outstanding tax authority, thinks that a state income tax may be necessary despite lawmakers' commitments to the contrary.

A welfare fund shortage may force a $55 million to $70 million tax bill early this year as an emergency measure.

Legislative and congressional redistricting, threatening an end to many political careers, may be necessary because of the new census. And this job could keep lawmakers overtime if the tax bill doesn't.

A federal court decision last week knocked out Texas' annual voter registration requirement and, as House Speaker Gus Mutscher commented, it "added urgency" to pressing election code reforms.

Liquor-by-the-drink legislation, environmental pollution, auto insurance, education, judicial reform, utilities legislation, and penal code revision are only a few of the issues which will be making headlines at the capitol during the next five months. . . or more.

HOUSE CHANGES URGED — Speaker Mutscher applauded recommendations of his blue ribbon "Committee of 100" for House Representatives reforms as offering national leadership in legislative modernization.

This committee concluded that lawmakers are underpaid (at $4,800 a year, plus $875 a month expense account for Representatives, $1,700 for Senators) and suggested the appointment of a six-member commission to set maximum salary levels.

Fearing for the safety of legislators in an era of demonstrations, the panel also suggested — while questioning the practicality of its own recommendation — the glassing in of the House galleries and use of metal detectors there to discover concealed weapons.

One of the Committee's top reform proposals called for a strict new code of ethics governing legislative conduct.

Other recommendations ranged over a wide field — from publicity services for House members to a suggested new $3.75 million underground addition to the capitol and a long range capitol area parking plan.

PARKS HEAD QUILTS — In the middle of a boiling controversy over the proposal to buy Mustang Island park land, J. R. Singleton resigned his job as director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, effective March 5.

Singleton denied that Parks and Wildlife Commission Chairman Pearce Johnson is running him off. Harry Jersig of San Antonio and L. P. Gilvin of Amarillo, two of the three-man Commission, asked him to stay, said Singleton. Gilvin, however, is due to be replaced on the agency soon.

Employment with an "international conservation organization" lured him from the $25,000 a year state job, Singleton told newsmen.

He recommended that his deputy, Robert G. Mauermann, be named to replace him.

Johnson, who opposed the other two commissioners plan to buy Mustang Island land for $4.2 million, had no comment.

Meanwhile, funds to buy the island — state and federal — reached the state treasury but were frozen there, pending a federal court case hearing.

COURTS SPEAK — A three-judge federal court in Houston knocked out Texas' annual registration for voting requirement but retained jurisdiction while awaiting the Legislature's response.

State Supreme Court declined a new hearing of its December decision where it held a Denton land developer was entitled to $10,000 damages for libel because a newspaper erroneously stated he had filed bankruptcy proceedings.

Reversing lower courts, the Supreme Court concluded that a Houstonian who developed lung disease (silicosis) from breathing siltita sand while on his job is entitled to workmen's compensation.

In another reversal, the High Court ruled that a construction worker from Houston and his widowed mother should draw workmen's compensation for a 1967 auto accident in which his father was killed.

AFL-CIO filed a district suit here to set aside the State Board of Insurance order directing a 14 per cent increase in auto insurance rates.

AG OPINIONS — Six months' prohibition on remarriage after a divorce applies only to persons who secured divorces from Texas courts, Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has held.

In other opinions, Martin concluded that:

• Maximum compensation for chief sheriff's deputy and assistant county attorney is $9,226; for other sheriff's deputies and assistants, $8,073.

• In the absence of conferred authority from the President, state officers may not execute a federal search warrant under the Comprehensive Drug Abuse and Control Act.

• Counseling service for debtors requiring disbursements from a bank account constitutes forbidden "debt pooling."

• City of Pearland does not have authority to appoint auxiliary police.

APPOINTMENTS — Governor Preston Smith named Dr. D.

Clifford Burross of Wichita Falls to the State Board of Medical Examiners.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen named to his new Washington staff, Ronald L. Katz of Houston, Denman Moody Jr. of Austin, George C. Lowrance of San Antonio, Timothy P. Furlong of Dallas, Charles Hodges of Dallas, Mrs. Ashton Gonella of Washington and Mrs. Sissy Schaeffer of Dallas.

INDUSTRY STILL EXPANDING — More industries located new plants in Texas last year than in 1966-68, in spite of the uncertain national economy.

Texas Industrial Commission reported 319 new industries were established here in 1970, second only to 1969.

Expansion of existing plants dropped off in the face of tight money — 367 last year as compared with 505 in 1969 and 444 in 1968.

Unemployment is up, but still below the national average. More layoffs are expected during the first quarter of 1971 due to continued expiration of government contracts.

MOVIE CURBS EYED — Senate committee, after hearing testimony that Texas is No. 1 in the number of theaters showing sex films, proposed the establishment of local motion picture licensing and review boards.

Committee promised additional recommendations. First proposal is aimed at making it possible to revoke licenses for theaters which show films unsuitable for minors.

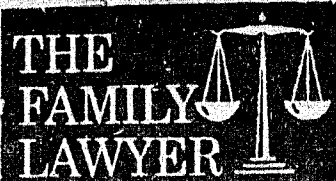

Prosecutors, at the Austin hearing, claimed they are without adequate legal tools, as the result of court decision, to make effective cases against distributors of "skin-flicks."

SHORT SNORTS

House historical preservation committee recommended acquiring historical sites in Val Verde County, at Sabine Pass. Committee on uninsured motorists recommended of up to $60 against drivers who carry no insurance.

State tax revenue from cigarette smoking increased $413,707 from December, 1969, to December 1970, climbed to $15.8 million.

Compensation For Fright?

Truck driver Fred, on a downhill slope, suddenly discovered that his brakes had failed. To his consternation, the truck began to pick up speed. Finally Fred managed to bring it to a halt against a hillside.

A short time later, however, he suffered a stroke. Could he collect workmen's compensation for his disability?

In a court test, the company argued that he could not.

"There was no physical injury at the time of the accident," said the company. "He just got very frightened. Workmen's compensation was never intended to protect a workman against a mere fright."

But the court granted Fred's claim, since the "mere fright" had led directly to serious physical harm.

In most cases, compensation is indeed payable for fright that is followed by clear physical consequences. This is true even if the consequences are not as immediate as in Fred's case. Take this situation:

Rumors of possible rioting began to swirl around an American agency in a foreign capital. The rioting never did break out, but several days of nervous tension finally brought one government employee down with a heart attack.

He too claimed workmen's compensation. And a court ruled that he was entitled to it. The court attached no great importance to the fact that his heart attack followed a prolonged period of nerves rather than a single scare.

Still, there at least must be a causal connection between the job and the disability. In another case, a workman with heart trouble suffered an attack after a mild disagreement with his foreman. Under these circumstances, a court decided that the man was not entitled to workmen's compensation.

The court said he had not been subjected to anything worse than "the countless irritations to which all workers are occasionally subjected without untoward results." Therefore, said the court, his heart attack could not fairly be considered a product of his work.

Tax Payers Ask Internal Revenue

Q—I teach school. Can I deduct my room and board for the four weeks I attended a summer class as well as my books and tuition?

A—If the course qualifies as an educational expense then you may deduct your room and board for the time you are required to be away from home. Travel expenses to and from the place where the course was given may also be deductible.

To qualify as an educational expense deduction, the course must be required by your employer as necessary to keep your job or status. A course that maintains or improves the skills needed on your present job also qualifies. No deduction is allowed for courses that help you obtain a new job or one in another field.

Q—My income looks like it's going to be higher than I expected. Can I increase my withholding or do I have to pay estimated tax?

A—You may meet your increased liability either through higher withholding or through payments of estimated tax.

Increased amounts may be withheld either by not claiming all the exemptions you are entitled to or by having a specified additional amount withheld if you are now claiming no exemptions. Changes in withholding are made by completing Form W-4, which may Sunday Larry Rector of ACC at Abilene preached at the morning and evening services at the Church of Christ, and was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Fryar.

Visitors Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Grady Williams and Johnny were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lowe and children of Morris Ranch, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Williams and Danny of Coleman. Wednesday evening visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Williams and children of Coleman. Friday Mr. and Mrs. Farley attended the wedding of Kathi McCoulskey and Gary Wayne Reeves at San Angelo. be obtained from your employer.

To handle the increased tax liability through the estimated tax system, file an estimated tax declaration by September 15. Copies of Form 1040ES and instruction can be obtained from your local IRS office.

Q—I understand that under the new tax law farmers don't have to declare what they get from crop insurance in the year they receive it. Is that right?

A—Yes, proceeds from insurance received from damage to crops may be declared as income the following year. To make this election the farmer must show that income from the crops would normally have been reported in the following year.

This election applies only to cash basis farmers. Q—I attended the annual meeting of my church group and was paid for part of my travel expenses. Do I have to pay tax on this? Also, am I allowed any charitable deduction for my other expenses?

A—If you are attending the meeting as an official delegate of your church, and not solely as a member, the expenses paid for you will usually not be taxable. If any portion of the expenses paid cover the expenses of a family member that portion is taxable income. A delegate may deduct as a charitable contribution his unreimbursed expenses. Include travel costs, meals and lodging during the meeting but not personal expenses such as sightseeing or side trips.

Q—I had an extension of time to file my return so why did I get charged interest when I did pay?

A—An extension of time does not excuse you from the 6 per cent annual interest charge added when payments are not made on time.

Power lawn mowers—no toys where children are concerned

Cutting the grass on the family lawn, once a laborious chore for the man of the house, has become faster, easier and more efficient by the introduction of the power mower. Unfortunately, the power lawn mower can also be a dangerous weapon and last year injured 140,000 people, an increase of 40 percent over 1968.

The power-mower may well be the greatest thing to come along since grass, but it is also one of the most dangerous since it often is in the hands of amateurs, women and children. Children, in particular, are too often the victims of lawn mower accidents. The Council On Family Health, sponsored by the manufacturers of medicines as a public service, cautions parents to be watchful of young children when using power mowers during the summer months of fertile lawns.

A study of pediatricians at the Ohio State University College of Medicine reported that most lawn mower injuries to young children occurred under three circumstances: when the children, ranging in age from two to twelve years, were bystanders, when they were operating the machines, or when they were passengers on the mowers.

All three types of accidents could have been prevented if children under 13 had not been allowed to use these machines, if parents had not held children on their laps and if bystanders had been kept a safe distance away.

Some additional advice to parents using power mowers is:

—Never adjust or repair the machine while the motor is running.

—Try to thoroughly rake the lawn

Family Kitchen Is Danger Zone

What room can be the most dangerous in the house? Research shows that it's the kitchen, but it does not have to be so, according to Jan Slabaugh, extension specialist in housing and home furnishings.

The kitchen is a combination factory, bakery, cannery, butcher shop, restaurant, household workshop and children's playground. "Each family member should put into practice all he knows about safety in this busy place," Mrs. Slabaugh says.

sincere concern for the well-being of oneself and others. Mrs. Slabaugh adds, "It is a willingness to accept rules and regulations and to apply them in all activities."

A safe kitchen starts with the development and practice of good habits in the selection, preparation, serving and storage of food. Safety continues its march to actuality as long as the family members observe strict rules designed to prevent fires and mishaps.

Keep matches in metal containers. Light gas burners by holding a lighted match to the burner before turning on the gas. Be careful not to place trays, pot holders, and plastic or wooden utensils on electric units which could be hot without showing red.

Mrs. Slabaugh also suggests that range burners should not be turned on until they are needed. And, they should be turned off as quickly as they are not needed.

Such flammable items as waxed paper, towels, cleaning agents and other combustibles should be stored away from the range. Turn pan handles to the rear or side of the range to prevent scalding from an accidental bump or spill. A supply of dry, thick pot-holders should be on hand for use with hot objects.

"A fire extinguisher should be part of every kitchen, and each family member should know how to use it," Mrs. Slabaugh reminds.

When using the oven, pans and other utensils should be placed or removed by pulling out the rack. Such precaution will save a lot of hand and arm burns.

Smother grease fires with salt, soda or a pan lid, but the best control is to not let them start in the first place.

"One important safeguard against disaster in the kitchen is to train the children in safety measures," emphasizes Mrs. Slabaugh.

If you are one who views creative food preparation as an exciting and rewarding challenge, here is an idea you might look into: meat curing.

Rural housewives have cured meat for years. Now, modern curing methods and the home freezer open exciting new vistas for the meat menu and make possible an endless array of new meat dishes the year around.

Not since the first freshly cured ham was hung in fragrant hickory smoke has the urban homemaker, too, had such an opportunity to vary the meat menu so easily and economically. Curing magic can be worked with any pork cut. For example, ham, hewon, boneless loin, spareribs or back-ribs. A tempting, mild cure flavor can be given other meats such as beef, poultry and wild game as well.

Whether you live in town or out, if you would like to look into this intriguing approach to putting a different zing into your meat dishes, just clip this article and the name of your newspaper and send them to me marked "Meat Curing."

As an introductory step I will send you "A Condensed Guide to Home Meat Curing" plus a form on which you can order very reasonably everything needed to get underway. This includes the full, 42-page illustrated guide containing many recipes and a special section on sausages and describing butchering and curing pork, beef, lamb, poultry, veal and game, both large and small.

Accent On Health

Just a year ago Texas was at the crossroads in establishing a meat and poultry inspection program, but since that time the Texas State Department of Health has made the turn and moved ahead in providing necessary inspection.

Faced with the responsibility of providing adequate state inspection or having the federal government take over the program, the Texas Legislature passed a new Texas Meat and Poultry Act, effective Sept. 2, 1969. The new law parallels minimum federal inspection requirements, which still apply on all red meat and poultry processed for interstate shipments. Authority for the new state inspection program was invested in the Division of Veterinary Public Health of the Texas Department of Health.

In San Antonio, Leon Barrett, a lay meat inspector, is on the training staff and Mrs. Virgie Rutledge, office secretary, has given instruction in non-professional categories, such as record keeping and filing. Some federal representatives have helped with classroom instruction.

In addition to class work, training has been given in federal and state inspected packing houses located in a 50-mile radius of Yoakum.

Aim of the program, said Dr. Rich, is upgrading of the meat industry and protection of the consumer.

OUR HEALTH

ANS

Question: Are Bunions Anything to Worry About?

Answer: Unfortunately, many people regard bunions as "cosmetic" defects, yet the swollen malformed foot and toe joints can be a serious and highly painful handicap. Bunions can sometimes require treatment such as surgical correction. If you have a bunion or one just beginning to form, there are two things you should do. First, take pressure off the joint with cushioned pads especially made for this discomfort and secondly, make an appointment immediately with a podiatrist. Because bunions are initially caused by ill-fitting shoes, throw the old ones out and buy ones that fit properly. In the long run it will be less expensive and much more comfortable.

Question: What is Pruritus and What Causes It?

Answer: Pruritus is the medical word for itching and it can have many causes—some real, some imaginary. A little soap inadvertently left on the skin or moisture between toes can bring itching sensations. Along with minor reasons like these, itching can also be symptomatic of very serious illnesses like jaundice, leukemia, uremia, Hodgkin's Disease or sensitivity to certain drugs. Insect bites, fungus infections and allergic reactions to clothing can result in itching. Itching can be an occupational hazard with professions like grocers and bakers where a mite is the culprit. Constant itching is more common in older people because their skin no longer secretes large amounts of lubricating oils and the resultant dry skin is often flaky and uncomfortable as well as itchy. Seasonal itching is not uncommon. "Winter-Itch" is due in large measure to the overheated rooms that dry out the skin. Summer itch is due to a similar condition in reverse; cool air-conditioned rooms that lack moisture and are as drying as overheated ones.

What can be done for itching? First of all what should not be done is scratching—because that never solves anything and often aggravates a condition. For discomfort due to dry skin, many dermatologists suggest the use of a therapeutic bath-oil like Alpha Keri to restore to the skin surface many of the lost natural oils. A capful of Alpha Keri added to the bath water coats the skin with a thin protective film that "locks in" the skin's own moisture. Popular home remedies for itching include alcohol on an insect bite, hot water, or ice packs. Actually, these do not relieve itching but substitute another skin sensation, so the itching seems to become secondary. Chronic or prolonged itching, skin irritations, should be brought to a physician's attention.

Many farmers are making preparations to sow grain since the fine rains that have fallen here recently. Right in the Santa Anna vicinity the rains have not been as bounteous as they have in other parts of the country, but the moisture has helped wonderfully. It is not a bad idea to sow spring oats, barley or wheat.

ASC News . . .

by Joe K. Taylor

The set-aside feature of the 1971 farm programs for feed grain, wheat, and cotton should help producers concentrate on the crops they can produce best, according to Rankin McIver, chairman of the Coleman County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Committee.

Under the new program, a producer agrees to set aside a pre-determined number of acres of cropland from production and devote it to approved soil-conserving uses. He then can plant his remaining cropland to any crop he wishes except for sugar cane and for quota crops such as peanuts, tobacco, rice and extra long staple cotton.

In this way, Mr. McIver said, a farmer can plant the crops that he prefers to grow and which give him his best net returns. Agricultural specialists who helped develop the new programs point out that this greater freedom to plant will eventually lead to the concentration of certain crops in areas of the country where they can be grown most efficiently. They expect more corn production concentrated in the Corn Belt, more small grains in the Great Plains, more soybean production in the Southeast, and an expansion of cotton production in the most efficient areas.

One of the basic ideas behind the set-aside feature, according to Mr. McIver, is that producers in all of these areas can be better off because they will be producing the crop they grow best at a lower cost. He added that some farmers for years have been locked into certain patterns of producing their crops because of the acreage control features of past programs. A farmer who had allotments or bases for several crops was encouraged to grow them, and this discouraged specialization which could lead to lower production costs.

Mr. McIver said the set-aside idea seems to fit with trends that have been building in farming over the years. These include the trend in which American farms have grown fewer in number and larger in size, and the trend for producers to become more efficient and more productive. The efficient, competitive producer will be in the best position to take advantage of growing demands for farm products, Mr. McIver said.

WASHINGTON AND SMALL BUSINESS

AS HEARD BY HEARD

Whose News Is News?

Although it has not been titled as such, there seems to be some kind of a war on the press. The extent of it is so great that even the Wall Street Journal recently felt it was a proper subject for the front page.

Liberals, conservatives, hawks and doves, civil rights groups, anti-civil rights groups, union leaders, and anti-union groups, the hippies and the "straights" all charge that the news media are biased. And sometimes a single report on some happening will be subjected to a charge of bias by all these groups. Any news-writer who can cover the story, for example, of a labor dispute, and be charged with bias by both the labor leaders and the management is really more than a news-writer... he is a ruddy genius.

Perhaps there is a modicum of need for what might be called "truth in news." But where does this start?

It would be much easier, more effective, and make the newsman's job much more simple if everybody who seeks coverage of their ideas, or actions, would first of all tell the media the truth.

A common habit among bureaucrats is to call in the press and espouse their ideas. If the newsman then print their position word for word, the newsman are hailed as great, statesmanlike, objective journalists.

But if they follow their professional ethics and get the viewpoint from the opposing side, and include these views in their reporting of the matter, they become biased, sensation-seeking hack writers.

According to the story on this subject by the Wall Street Journal, newsmen were being accused by those who opposed the nomination of Judge Carswell to the Supreme Court on the grounds that they were writing that the nomination could not be stopped.

This, they held to be biased reporting, never inquiring into the question as to whether or not these reporters had made a count of the Senators pro and con for nomination.

Some bureaucrats who are determined that school kids should be bussed, take great umbrage when the press reports many parents are opposed to the idea. By also reporting the position of these parents, this is considered indisputable evidence that the writer is biased.

Perhaps the problem is that newspapers have been too gentlemanly in their conduct. It would be interesting to see what the reaction would be if just before election, newspapers generally printed what the candidate for re-election said, he would do and stand for in the last campaign, with a full report of what the candidate actually did, or said, on each specific issue. Naturally, the reporting of such facts would quite often be instantly assailed as completely biased.

Trickham News Notes

Rev. McBride and wife, the Methodist minister of Bangs, filled his appointment here on Sunday morning and night. There was a nice group out for Sunday night services.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Martin attended a dinner and program at Chisom's Restaurant at Brownwood last Friday evening. The occasion was to honor Mr. E. J. Hughes, Area Conservationist of Area 14, on his retirement. About 250 were present.

Visitors with the Fred Haynes Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Estess and Laura, her mother and aunt, Mrs. Herrington and Mrs. Russell, Sherman and Dortha Stearns, Mattie and Jim Linebery, Hilburn and Leona Henderson. Other visitors through the week were Sug and G. K. Stearns and Russic James.

Dinner guests of the Oscar Boenicke Sunday were Rankin and Natalie McIver, Sherrie and Chris. Visitors with the O. J. Martins Sunday afternoon were Ora and Joe Stacy, Oma Lee Dockery and Carrie McClatchy, Carl and Laura Harris visited them Sunday night, and Nova Cole visited them Saturday evening.

Mabel and Pauline Sheffield visited Minnie Wilson and Gray Laughlin Monday evening. Pauline Sheffield of San Angelo is staying with Mabel while Carl is away at the stock show at Abilene.

The Oscar Boenicke attended the stock show at Coleman Monday. The 4-H and FFA groups had nice stock there.

I always enjoy meeting up with old friends I have made in home demonstration work years ago.

May and Bernice McIver and Grady and Genia McIver and Keetie Haynes went to Temple Monday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Gid Matthews. They said he knew them but cannot tell if he is any better. He may be holding his own but he is suffering a lot. He is in Scott & White Hospital, room 461, at Temple. It might help him for friends to send him cards to cheer him up. I am sure it would help his wife to hear from their friends.

Daisy McClatchy and J. S. Martin of Santa Anna visited the O. J. Martins this Monday evening.

The Hilburn Hendersons visited the Jack McSwains at Rockwood Sunday evening. Sherman and Dortha Stearns and Clint visited the Hendersons Saturday evening.

How to build a family nest egg with U.S. Savings Bonds.

It takes money to feed a family.
It takes money to clothe a family.
It takes money to house a family.
It takes money to send the kids to school, buy a car, give birthday presents, make insurance payments and pay the doctor.

With all the dues it takes just to make it from one day to the next, how's a man going to find a buck to tuck away? How's he going to sock away enough to make tomorrow a better day? How's a man going to build a family nest egg?

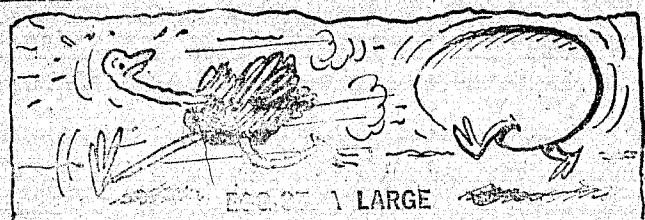

It might be easier than you think. All you have to do is sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. That way you can have a small amount taken from your paycheck, before you receive it, and invested in U.S. Savings Bonds. Your nest egg grows automatically each and every payday.

And now, U.S. Savings Bonds pay 5% interest when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year; 5.20% thereafter to maturity). That's the highest rate ever.

Join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. Before you know it, those small deductions and the new interest rate will have grown into a comfortable kitty, a respectable family nest egg, a better tomorrow.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

Take stock in America.
With higher paying U.S. Savings Bonds.

The official Coleman rainfall report for 1970 was 19.34 inches, .79 inch more than the Santa Anna yearly total.

According to the Coleman report, 1970 was the driest year since 1954 when the total came to 17.33 inches. The seven-year drought during the 1950s had rainfall of about 20 inches each year.

Other low totals for the county have been 1917 when only 12.74 inches was reported, and 1948 with 14.62. The wettest year on record is 1935 when the total was a sopping 45.28 inches.

The Coleman County livestock show was a success this week with a number of Santa Anna youngsters exhibiting stock in the three divisions. The county show is the last for many of the exhibitors, but a long show season remains for several who will take their lambs, calves and swine to Abilene, Fort Worth, San Antonio and Houston.

Many hours of work go into the feeding and fitting of show stock and we have great admiration for those who take part.

Santa Anna High School athletic program has included golf for the past few years. Boys who take part have had to purchase their own golf clubs, which has hindered several from learning the sport.

School officials would be happy to have used golf clubs of any kind if there are generous golfers or former golfers who would like to donate their clubs. If you have unused golf clubs around your home, they could be put to good use by the local youngsters.

County Baptists To Meet Tuesday With Novice FBC

An added thrust to the new bold mission emphasis launched by Texas Baptists at their annual convention last fall will be felt locally when the churches of the Coleman Baptist Association come together Tuesday night, Jan. 19 for their Mission-Stewardship Conference.

The conference will begin at 7:00 p. m. in the auditorium of the Novice Baptist Church.

The conference, one of more than 100 similar meetings being held across Texas, will feature leaders from the Missions and Stewardship Divisions of the 1.8-million-member Baptist Convention of Texas. The conference leaders will be Mr. Loyd Henderson and Mr. Daniel Aleman.

The meeting will include an hour-long general session and individual stewardship and missions sessions. Pastors, deacons, church stewardship chairmen and chairmen of church missions committees will attend the conference which begins at 7:30 p. m.

"The meeting is designed to help churches catch a vision of missions - stewardship possibilities locally and around the world. It could well be the most significant meeting of the year," said Dr. Cecil Ray, director of the BGCT Stewardship Division.

Dr. Ray said the conferences will serve to launch locally the state-wide missions thrust projected by the Baptist General Convention of Texas at its annual meet last fall. Under the theme, "Missions Our Mission," the convention called on its 4,400 churches to become personally committed through an enlarged Cooperative Program support and direct mission involvement.

The priorities for 1971, said Williamson, are churches in crises, metropolitan centers and youth.

Rev. Bill Brewer and a number from the First Baptist Church will attend the Tuesday night meeting.

Rev. Bill Brewer On RA Program

Rev. Bill Brewer, pastor of the First Baptist Church, was in Fort Worth Monday and Tuesday to attend the Texas Baptist Evangelistic Conference. On Wednesday he went to Dallas to assist with the program of instruction for leaders of Royal Ambassadors from throughout the state. Rev. Brewer is RA leader for the Lake Brownwood Baptist encampment.
