"He Profits Most Who Serves Best"

Good Friday and Easter Sunday

Today (Friday) is called Good Friday. It is the pre-Easter Friday. Easter is an annual church festival, commemorating Christ's resurrection, occurring on Sunday, the second day after Good Friday, and corresponding to the "Passover", or Pasch, of the Jews; also the day of this festival. In accord with the decree of the Council of Nice, Easter day is always the first Sunday after the full moon that falls on or next after the 21st of March; if the full moon happens on Sunday, Easter is celebrated one week later. The date of the full moon ascertained according to certain calendar rules, and may differ from that of the actual (astronomical) full moon. These rules include as preliminaries the finding of the golden number, enact, and dominical letter. The dates of all other movable feasts depend on that of Easter.

This is the day to plant your garden seeds not already planted, and some fishermen of the old school type claim this week-end the best fishing period of the season. Mr. Webster does not define that part of the program.

Wind up your week by going to church Sunday.

CELEBRATE 59TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Collier celebrated their 59th wedding anniversary at their home here March 23rd.

The editor intended to pay a visit to the Collier home and get a more lengthy mention of this venerable couple, but business duties this week kept us closely tied to the desk and streets. We will try to get an interview with Mr. and Mrs. Collier later and publish a biography of their lives.

Late Freeze Incurs Huge Loss to Sheep and Goat Raisers

The cold rain and freezing weather over the week-end, incurred heavy losses to sheep and goat raisers throughout the southwest.

Estimates Monday were as high as 750,000 to 1,000,000 goats died from exposure during the cold rain and freezing weather. Sheep losses were not so heavy.

Fresh shorn sheep and goats, young lambs and kids died in large quantities.

General rains and heavy snow were reported throughout the state. Moisture was greatly needed. Crop prospects are much improved and pastures were greatly benefited.

Former Deputy Sheriff of Coleman County Is Dead

C. E. Pipes, former deputy sheriff in Coleman county, died of flu and pneumonia, in Pampa last Thursday. Mr. Pipes was sheriff of Gray county at the time of his death. He was 56 years old, weighed 375 pounds, and was known throughout West Texas as a peace officer.

All Car Licenses Due March 31st

Motorists who took advantage of the extension of time for payment of automobile license will have to buy the tags on or before March 31, in order to avoid a penalty of 20 per cent, or an estimated average of about $2.00 to each auto. Because of confusion caused by the action of the legislature, no penalty was charged persons registering their cars and trucks between January 31 and the time the legislature finally passed the bill granting extension.

The extension granted by an act of the Texas legislature in special sessions ends the last day of this month, and the penalty goes into force after that date. March 31 was set by the act as the time limit for auto license payment not only for 1934 but for future years.

LEAGUE UNION OF COLEMAN COUNTY MEETS

The leagues of Coleman County met at Santa Anna, Tuesday, March twentieth. A large number were represented from Burkett, Coleman and Santa Anna. The program, "Making Recreation Count," was conducted by Rhea Boardman, Santa Anna. Hugh Garland, Coleman, gave an interesting talk on "What Are Our Recreational Needs?" Mr. Porter of Burkett gave a talk on "Creative Recreative Recreation." After the business session, the union met in the recreational department and played many games directed by Louise Miller and Hugh Garland of Coleman. After punch and cake were served, the group repeated the League benediction and adjourned.

The union is working hard to add other leagues to the union. The next meeting will be at Burkett, April seventeenth.

In Memory Of Miss Kate Phillips

"The measure of a life is its service." Miss Kate Phillips' life was filled with noble deeds and sacrifices long before she thought of caring for herself.

Miss Kate was the daughter of the late S. H. Phillips and was reared in Santa Anna. After finishing high school she attended Simmons University, later taking her degree from San Marcos State Teachers' College. She was a faithful member of the Methodist Church, rendering cheerful service in all literary and musical endeavors. Her accomplishments on the piano and violin caused her to be in great demand.

For three years she taught in the Santa Anna High school as head of the foreign language department. Through her untiring efforts the necessary affiliation was completed in her courses. Her work with the Camp Fire organization was of such outstanding quality that she received numerous citations for efficiency—at home and in other towns.

In 1926 her health began to decline, and she moved to Abilene, Texas to live with her sister and brother-in-law Mrs. and Mr. L. D. Terry. In 1927 they moved to Tucson, Arizona in search of a better climate.

On Monday morning, March 19 at 8 o'clock, Miss Kate embarked upon that mysterious sea which has never yet borne an image of a returning sail. Funeral services were held in Tucson by her pastor where loving friends paid their fond tributes in such flowery profusion that most of the flowers were sent to the Children's Hospital rather than have them wither.

AS WE SIT AND THINK (SOMETIMES JUST SIT)

Well, shake hands and be friendly. The business interests of Santa Anna join in a united invitation to you to come to Santa Anna next Tuesday and spend the day.

Bargains—did you say? Well, that is not the only reason we invite you to Santa Anna. Santa Anna once had a slogan "You'd Like Santa Anna." That was a good slogan and should be re-adopted. Just why should you like Santa Anna?

Well, the hidden things, the things unseen but that actually exist have been and are still a little source of embarrassment. Factories, banks, merchants, individuals, politicians, school teachers and all the rest have been relieved of their monetary values and the unseen embarrassment is felt, all know it exists, but have no words of sufficient weight to express it, or just how it happened.

Factories were opening up with unlimited faith; banks were functioning satisfactory, merchants were selling goods and accumulating nice profits, street vendors were doing a get-by business, all were happy, doing well, and did not realize it. Farmers were making money, ranchers were prospering, bootleggers and hoo-lums were getting their share. Education was approaching higher planes, religion was coming in for its regular pro rata, but something got in the way. Just what was it? Factories had to close their doors, banks and mercantile industries ceased to function. Farmers went broke and could not pay their taxes, people lost confidence in the public and many of them were in the act of losing confidence in themselves. Some quit, some committed suicide, others moved to different localities, but some, filled with the faith of our forefathers, continued the fight for existence. Some have held their own, some have held their own, some have lost their all, some have weakened, but some still continue in their efforts. A quitter will never win. Santa Anna still has a few who have never quit. They join in a united invitation to you, our friends and customers, to come to Santa Anna next Tuesday and enjoy the day with us. We don't have a show and exposition equal to the great southwestern exposition and fat stock show, but we have what little we have left, and are offering it to you for your pleasure and entertainment. We have provided the best for you that is left with us. We have a few bargains in merchandise, a few bucking horses, a few wicked steers, and some calves that hate the tightening of the rope flung by the skilled hands of cruel cowboys. (but not so cruel as one would think) it is just a match of wits between the roper and the calf. The roper bets he can rope the calf and get by with it, and the calf uses his legs, wits and strength to prove the roper can't do it.

We don't promise a big show and a whole lot of thrilling entertainment and amusement, but we will give you the best we have, and want you to come out and enjoy it with us.

See the list of business people listed elsewhere who invite you to come out and spend the day. Smile, shake hands, be friendly. Exchange a few good jokes, think of something good to say to your neighbors, offer a word of encouragement to your banker and merchant friend. Invite your neighbor over to spend the day with you. Divide with them what you have, kill a chicken or turkey and cook it in the old fashioned way. If you have no chickens or turkeys, just step out and kill a fat rabbit and cook it. If your neighbor turns it down, send for the editor. He'll eat your rabbit, tell you a funny story, drink your stump water, wink at your indulgence and extend your credit another year on our books if you desire. But slip him a buck if you can.

Baptist Meeting Closes Sunday

The special services at Baptist Church will come to a close Sunday night. Dr. B. A. Cozass, who is doing the preaching, is bringing some heart searching messages and good crowds are attending. Let me urge all who love good preaching and those who stand for clean Christian living to hear this prophet of God. Remember that we love you and want to help you in all struggles of life.

BRADY MAN IS BURIED HERE

William E. Hodges, 55, died very suddenly from heart failure at his home in Brady early Tuesday morning.

The body of Mr. Hodges was prepared and brought here for burial Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Hodges formerly lived in these parts and was known to be a respectable citizen. Mr. Hodges died about fifteen years ago, and was buried in the Santa Anna cemetery. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Brown of the Liberty community. Deceased is survived by one married daughter, living in the state of Tennessee, and one young son who lived with his father in Brady. He is also survived by one sister living in Rockdale, Texas and one brother, paid this office a pleasant call. Mr. McDonald made a hurried canvass over the town and moved on to other sections. He is the fastest campaigner we have met and he intends to cover the entire state.

Dr. T. Richard Sealy spent Tuesday in Dallas attending the Southern Surgical Clinic

The Function of a Bank

We believe if the public kept in mind the true function of a bank it would make far better understanding and banks would be more esteemed by the communities which they serve. The officers who work in a bank work for its stockholders and they do not own the money which they handle and which they loan.

As we understand it the function of a bank is to gather up the resources of the community in which it exists and, as far as they can safely do so, loan these funds to the customers of the bank. These loans must be so made that they are liquid because the bank is pledged to return the deposits on demand and if its loans are bad or frozen then it can not be in a position to pay the depositors when they want or need their funds.

It is the duty of every person who borrows from a bank to not only pay his note, but to, for at least a part of the time, have funds on deposit in the bank that can be loaned to other customers. In other words a good bank is a mutual proposition, its customers combining their resources to accommodate each other and thus it follows that no one who is not a depositor of the bank should expect a loan from the bank.

WE BELIEVE IN AMERICA

We get a little tired sometimes of hearing people run down America. In the newspapers and magazines that come to our attention we see many articles which appear to have been written for the purpose of making readers believe that the United States is on its last legs, that we have got to discard everything that has been done in the past and change the whole nation over into something modeled on Russia or Italy or Germany, or we're going to be sunk. And there is no end to the books, novels and others, whose sole theme is that we Americans are a pretty low-grade, incompetent set of ignoramuses, lacking in "culture" and intelligence, not to be compared with the enlightened and highly-cultured citizenry of other nations.

We do not believe the authors of these books, stories and articles mean precisely what they seem to imply. If we thought so for a minute we would be glad to join a movement to banish them to these other countries that they think are so superior to our own. Rightly understood, much of this sort of talk springs from the peculiarly American passion for self-improvement. It has its roots in the same urge that sent our ancestors from other countries to this one, the urge to find a better way of life. These gentlemen see defects in our civilization—which everyone must admit there are—and by magnifying those defects hope that the public will be sufficiently stirred up to do something about them. But the net effect of their diatribes upon the young and impressionable is to make them feel inferior to the people of other lands, and to regard their country as rather a low sort of a place in which to live.

There is nothing wrong with America! We say that in the full knowledge that there are still a great many persons out of work, a great many people who have a hard struggle to make both ends meet. Whatever is wrong with America, we are ten times better off than the people of any other country we know anything about. And whatever may be wrong with our country, there is a distinctly American way of fixing it, and the American people now, as they have always done in the past, will find and apply their own remedies, which will not be remedies prescribed by either

Our Children

THE JEALOUS CHILD

We are likely to be impatient with the jealous child. Jealousy is an ugly trait and its possessor gets little sympathy. We look at the result of it and turn away from the offender in disgust. We are angry when we ought to be sympathetic.

Jealousy is an affliction. I believe that no healthy mind harbors jealousy. The day is coming when we will call in the mental hygiene specialist and ask him what he can do to ease the child of this complaint. Instead of punishing him we will get a prescription for him. Let us hope it works.

Anger and jealousy go hand in hand. One is as poisonous as the other. Neither of them can live in a mind that is open to the sunshine of love and service. When the healthy breezes of laughter and industry blow through a mind all the dark corners are swept clean of such dangerous clutter and the healthy mind goes on its way merrily, knowing no grudging and no self-seeking. A healthy self, which means a healthy mind, looks after itself and is certain of its ability to do so.

The helpless self, which means the unhealthy mind, the one that no sun and breeze may enter, is afraid, it falters, it leans on other minds, complaining while it does so. By that sign you can always know it. Then don't be angry about it. Don't turn in disgust away from it. It needs help.

How can you help a jealous child? Tell him what ails him. Tell him cheerfully and impersonally that he is thinking the wrong way, that he had worked his example wrong. Proceed to show him the mistake. "When you begin to think that Tillie has your place you are heading the wrong way. You see you are alive. So long as you are alive nobody can be you, nobody can stand in your place. It is silly of you to think he can." "When you think that Tillie is getting the love you ought to get you are making a great mistake. Love is not measured that way. The more it is given out the more there is to give. You can't lose the love that comes to you unless you shut it out. When you feel ugly and selfish you shut love away from you. You do this to yourself. Now I'll tell you what you do. Tillie is so little she can't get her own night things ready. Every night you slip upstairs and lay out that child's things for her, help her get ready for bedtime. Give the little thing a lift. If you do this you'll know better than to feel so jealous of every little kindness that is shown her. Be the first to help her and see how things come out right for you."

I am taking for granted that nobody is deliberately fostering the passion for his amusement. Anybody that does that is a dangerous person to have about children. Teach him the error of his way or shut him out of the child's life. Jealousy is poison to the human body and mind. Who would deliberately feed poison to a child?

Teach him to love and to serve and say no word about the other thing and he will come through safely.

There's one nice thing about being poor. You needn't shoot yourself when the law inquires how you got that way.

Due to the lower birth rate there are approximately 500,000 fewer children entering school each year.

MUST MAKE A CHOICE

In normal times about one-fifth of the agricultural products raised in the United States was sold for export, leaving only four-fifths to be consumed in this country.

In recent years due to tariff walls being raised everywhere it has been impossible to dispose of this twenty per cent surplus of farm products in foreign countries, and, consequently, American agriculture has been sinking lower economically. The Roosevelt Administration is endeavoring to work out some cure for this situation, realizing that the prosperity of the entire nation depends largely upon the well being of the farmers.

At the head of the Department of Agriculture is Secretary Henry Wallace, comparatively a young man, but one who seems to have a keen appreciation of the problems involved. In a recent speech, which attracted considerable attention, Secretary Wallace pointed out that there were two courses which the American Government could follow in regard to agriculture and frankly he favored one involving a relaxation of our strict high tariffs in order to facilitate the export of agricultural products.

Secretary Wallace had previously stated that present methods of farm relief can only be temporary, largely because if they succeed in raising prices they will encourage evasion and lack of cooperation. If the Federal Government expects to permanently help the American farmer, he says, it must look to foreign markets for an outlet for the surplus or face the necessity of regulating and strictly controlling the use of all land.

Between the two alternatives, that of agricultural isolation or a modern revision of our tariff walls in order to secure foreign markets, Secretary Wallace favors the latter. He says: "Unless this country's tariff walls are lowered and the tendency to growing nationalism checked, America must be prepared for fundamental planning and regimentation of agriculture and industry far beyond that which anyone has yet suggested."

Then, concretely, Secretary Wallace presented for the consideration of the American people the following choice, as he sees it. "If we continue toward nationalism we must be prepared to make permanent the withdrawal from cultivation of over 50,000,000 acres of fairly good farm land, and face the consequences of all the social and economic dislocations which are bound to ensue. If, on the other hand, if we choose not to put our agriculture under so high a degree of interior tension and discipline, we must drastically lower tariffs and reorganize industry, so that we can receive from abroad another billion dollars' worth of goods each year.

The planned middle course I propose as a basis for present discussion is one precisely halfway between these two extremes, a line of march along which we would lower tariffs enough to bring in another half-billion dollars' worth of goods annually and permanent retraction of our good agricultural land some 25,000,000 acres."

The Department of Agriculture has been attempting to work out some plan of voluntary cooperation by farmers rather than the use of compulsion. So far, this voluntary cooperation has produced some results. Cotton recently reached its highest level in three years. At twelve cents a pound the loans made by the Government at ten cents could be liquidated and additional amounts paid to the farmers. The same success is evident with hogs. Six million pigs were killed last fall, otherwise they would be coming to the market now. And hog prices are at the highest level in three years. However, there are still many who doubt that voluntary cooperation will continue and feel that the man who cooperates should be protected against the selfishness of the man who refuses to keep in line.—Groom News.

IT'S A WISE CODE

Who ever would have thought that all industry, trade, professional service and everything in the United States would have to be given a course of 'codeine' in order to carry them over this period of trial and tribulation. Gene al Johnson says they have found that the code treatment has been overdone in cases, as some industries find themselves operating under eight or ten different codes—each prescribed by a different doctor of course.

Codeine is derived from the poppy. It is an alkaloid narcotic similar to morphine but milder in its action. The chemical symbol is "C18-H21-OSN" in case you want to mix up a batch for your own use. All physicians have to prescribe narcotics at times, though they don't like to do it; they never do it except as a choice of evils. The danger in using narcotics is the dose has to be made larger and larger. There is always a bad reaction and if the treatment is overdone the nation may fail to respond to the excitement and may collapse and pass out. If codeine doesn't bring this country around, perhaps morphine or something still more powerful may have to be used. Luckily in this case the patient is not an all-nourished subject but is really strong and healthy. In fact that's the main thing that's the matter with him. He works too hard and produces too much.

This is such a strange case that no wonder it puzzles the experts throughout the world. As one European economist asked: "How can increased prosperity be brought about by organizing and forcing curtailed production?" This European observer would understand the situation better if he realized that this nation is suffering from having too much, instead of having too little.

It certainly is ridiculous to assume that people can have more by producing less—but it works out that way. The boll-weevil tried to teach us this lesson—by cutting down the cotton crop—but we didn't apply it. Nature rights most wrongs in due time. The pendulum has to swing back after it has reached a certain limit; it cannot swing in one direction forever.

These are hard lessons we are learning but this spell of sickness will be worth all it cost if we only are wise enough to learn what its larger meaning is, and apply that knowledge in the future. Those who imagine that they can go right on just as they used to will no doubt have to be given a few extra doses of codeine—or perhaps morphine or strichnine and they may wake up in the bad place.—Pathfinder.

Next time we go to war it should be to make America safe for Americans.

SPRING IS HERE

Spring, that season of the year which triumphantly follows winter and indignantly ushers summer, came March 21. Do we welcome her? Yes, with all our hearts and brain, and especially our brains working during this season when our minds wander to green pastures mid hosts of blooming flowers. What a sweet thought! 'Tis almost enough to steal from our brain its working power.

Spring is a beautiful time; nevertheless, we should not let her conquer us in such a way as to take from us our interest in learning, for we must learn in order to keep this nation of ours strong and effective.

Practice Debate Tournament Is Held at San Angelo

Something very peculiar happened at the practice debate tournament at San Angelo Saturday, March the twenty-fourth. The boys team from Lubbock was winner of the boys tournament. Robert Hunter and Russell Hale, in a practice debate after the tournament, defeated the Lubbock team by a unanimous vote.

San Angelo girls team was winner of the girls' tournament. Armenta Ragdale and Emma John Blake have defeated the San Angelo girls' team in a practice debate at Ballinger by a unanimous decision, also.

Winners of League Events Are Announced in Chapel Wednesday

HOME-MAKING II AND III CLUB MEETS

The Home-Making II and III clubs met Tuesday, March the twentieth. The club was called to order by the president, and the club motto was given. The secretary then called the roll and read the minutes. Miss Valley, head nurse of the Sealy Hospital, gave a very interesting talk on the nursing profession. Everyone enjoyed this talk and looking forward to talks on other professions.

SIXTH GRADE NEWS

The sixth grade is very glad to welcome their teacher, Miss Durham, back to school after a weeks illness of chicken pox.

Who's Who in the Junior Class?

Industriousness is the keynote of this junior's character. She is well rewarded for her efforts, too, by her standing among the two or three best scholars of the class. Also, her dependability has been illustrated by the service she has rendered as secretary of the class. She is small, with large, wistful brown eyes and brown, curly hair. Who is she?

KEY THIS MENTAL TEST

When was the War of 1812? From what province of France was Joan of Arc? Who is the author of Macaulay's history of England? What two countries were participants in the Spanish-American War?

Relief For The Indigent Needy

(By W. E. Collins)

Hamilton Herald-Record.

Three hundred and fourteen years ago the Pilgrims came to America in order to obtain religious freedom; one hundred and fifty-eight years ago the Revolutionary war was fought in order that we might have political freedom; sixty-nine years ago the Civil war tore our country asunder in order that one class of people might be freed from the bondage of another; twenty years ago we fought to make the world safe for Democracy. On November 20th, 1933, our president, Franklin Roosevelt, struck a mighty blow at the dragon of despair which threatened to annihilate the people of America. The shackles have been broken and our citizens are regaining their economic freedom; but on April 1st a greater event will happen, for from that day it should not be possible for any man to say that he needs, must go hungry, go unclad, lack shelter, fuel or light. It seems to me that if this plan of President Roosevelt's is fulfilled it will be the dawn of the greatest era since Jesus Christ released mankind from spiritual bondage and ignorance.

Presby'rian Church

You are invited to attend the Easter service next Sunday. Let everyone come. It should be a glad day.

The Lord's Supper will be served. Every member of the church should be present.

There will be music suitable for the day. There will something take place in this service that has never happened before in the history of the church. This part of the service will be pleasing and fitting.

We desire that all come for Sunday school and remain for the sermon and Communion Service.

A glad welcome awaits all.

M. L. WOMACK, Minister

This program he has the privilege of availing himself of this service. There are a few drones to be sure, but the red blooded American will use this program only as a stepping stone and will allow the protective arm of the government to assist him only until he shall reach firmer ground.

A strange condition seems to exist relative to civilization and that lies in the fact that habitually civilization has traveled from East to West. Briefly, witness the rise and fall of China, India, Persia, Egypt, Rome, Greece, France, England and America. Each one of these countries has felt the thrill of world supremacy but each has fallen for as mankind gains power, he forgets his God who was with him in his pioneering struggles and instead he worships money, treasures and gives himself to licentiousness and greed. The year 1929 is a monument to our own spiritual, moral and economic folly. We have followed the course of all other nations, and we had headed for oblivion but a leader arose in the person of our President, Mr. Franklin Roosevelt. He has attempted to lead us out of the bottomless pit, we are climbing to the heights, but now this new program comes to us which will require the assistance of the state, the county, the city and our citizens are regaining their economic freedom; but on April 1st a greater event will happen, for from that day it should not be possible for any man to say that he needs, must go hungry, go unclad, lack shelter, fuel or light. It seems to me that if this plan of President Roosevelt's is fulfilled it will be the dawn of the greatest era since Jesus Christ released mankind from spiritual bondage and ignorance.

HELP TO OVERCOME THE DEPRESSION

Men and women of this nation have for three years been in the throes of a depression. Some of the rich have suffered along with the poor, for they have seen their wealth shrink until there was nothing left. Self-respecting men have shivered in bread lines, waiting for the dole that charity handed out to them, that they and their families might not die of hunger or cold.

The psychology of the world has created an atmosphere of fear and gloom. The very air has been tense with discouragement. Those who have had money have been afraid to launch out into new enterprises, or put it to work in constructive business. The wheels of the factories have stood idle, while little children shivered in rags, with unsatisfied cravings for sufficient food.

A man with a great heart that beats in unison with the heart of humanity has been elevated to the presidency. His soul has been in travail over the deprivations and sorrows of his people. By his side stands a woman of large mind and deep sympathy; she too suffers with the nation. Roosevelt has put into operation the mightiest project ever launched to help the whole nation, and bring back prosperity.

Men of high and low degree are busy criticizing his methods. Would they do as well, or would they do anything, were they in his place? No man or method can be perfect for human beings are too selfish and full of imperfections to carry out any great enterprise without many mistakes or even wilful disregard of any duty.

If the Master Himself could not induce men to obey His teachings, which would have brought them peace and happiness here, and a glorious future in the life beyond, how can a man, though he occupy the highest position within the gift of a mighty nation, work such a miracle that a polyglot population would cooperate with him wholeheartedly?

No, we will not see the president's plans succeed as we should like, and as he had hoped, but already the depression is lessening. The psychology of the masses is more hopeful and that is an auspicious augury for the new year.

Let us put aside gloomy thoughts and talk cheer, resolving to meet the future with brave hearts, bearing whatever burdens we have without complaint, and day by day doing what we can to help the other wayfarers along the rough pathway of life. Then everybody will be happier and more prosperous. —Growth News.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH NOTES

Because of the very bad weather and much sickness, the attendance at the Anniversary service last Sunday was not what was expected, but Bro. Henry came all the way from Fort Worth to bring us a great message, which all present enjoyed. The congregation was much encouraged to go forward with their enlarged plans for the Lord. In a conference after the morning service Bro. Henry told of how other congregations are going ahead, building, and improving their property. He will be with us again on Thursday night, April 19th when it is hoped our improvement plans may be greatly advanced.

The Memorial service was postponed until next Sunday at the close of the Sunday School period when it is hoped there will be a large attendance.

Bro. Forrester will be with us again next Sunday night. All members and friends of the congregation should take advantage of the opportunity to hear him as he will probably be with us only a few more times.

Miss Kate Phillips

on the long trip to her home.

Mrs. J. O. Middlebrook, a sister of Abilene, accompanied the body to Texas to join other sorrowing loved ones. The remains reached Abilene Friday morning where many friends waited to offer sympathy to the bereaved, and to accompany them to Santa Anna.

Preceding the funeral services in Santa Anna, the remains rested in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Kelley where intimate friends and relatives were waiting. At three o'clock March 22, a second funeral service was held in the Methodist Church which Kate loved so dearly. Wonderful words of consolation were spoken by Rev. G. A. Morgan, pastor. Interment followed in the family plot amid a bower of flowers from San Jose, Cal., Abilene, Gonzales, Quannah, Coleman and Santa Anna. Special tributes attesting the magnetic personality of this loved one came from the Eastern Star, Gonzales, Abilene, Santa Anna Public Schools, and the Class of 1925 of Santa Anna High which was the last class sponsored by Miss Kate.

She will be missed by her mother, Mrs. S. H. Phillips, three sisters and their families: Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Middlebrook and Hubert of Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Terry and Phillips of Tucson; Mr. and Mrs. Alva Shaller, Janet and Charles of San Jose, Cal.; numerous other relatives, and a host of friends. We sometimes ask why should those in the prime of life be removed from our midst; but—

"Not till each loom is silent,
And the shuttles cease to fly,
Shall God unroll the pattern
And explain the reason why.

The dark threads were as needful
In the weaver's skilful hands,
As the threads of gold and silver
For the pattern which he planned."

One of Miss Kate's last messages should be an inspiration and challenge to any who feel that life has not been kind: "The game of life is not always won by holding a good hand, but by playing a bad hand well."

Active pallbearers were: W. L. Bourne Weaver, Ogden Brown, James Harvey, R. D. Kelley, Carroll Kingsbery, and Jack Mobley.

WHAT NEXT?

Last week a young man called me into his study. I could see he was much distressed. Said he: "I am thinking of quitting the ministry."

"You cannot afford to give up these times, my brother," I told him. "Yes, but you see my salary for this week is $6.43," he replied.

This young man is only 23, a splendid gospel minister. He has a membership of three hundred. They have what they want. They buy new cars, radios, have good homes, live well, and yet paying this young man, he told me, not any month over $50.00. I personally know that his people say they like him. I wonder what we are coming to? There are hundreds of ministers just like this young man. I know of one of our own Presbyterian churches whose membership contains business men, merchants, bankers, land-holders—in fact the wealthiest people of a town of 1,600. Yet they never pay their pastor over $45.00 a month. They secure new cars, have good homes, live well, but talk to them about paying and they say, "We don't have it."

Two years ago cotton sold for only four cents. People said, "Oh, if we could get something for our cotton we could help the church." It is now close to 15 cents, and the churches are paying less than they have for thirty years.

We have one of as good state executives as found in our whole church, a good man with a big mellow heart, but if any minister in Texas were to go to him and say, "I need work, I must feed my family," he could not move some elders in the Long Star State with dynamite. It has been known that churches able to pay a good salary have asked to recommend to them some one with an income. "Are we headed for the last round-up?"

Rev. M. L. Womack went to Waxahachie Thursday to bring home his son, Ernest Lee, who will spend the week-end and Easter Sunday here with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Bonefede of Bangs, and Mr. and Mrs. Howell Wells of Brownwood visited in the Sam Forehand home Sunday.

Rev. J. R. McCorkle of Coleman was a visitor here Monday.

Mrs. Herman Thate was able to be returned to her home at Burkett first of the week, after being treated in the Sealy Hospital for several days.

Dr. M. D. Anderson is spending this week in Dallas.

Misses Elizabeth Kelly and Olga Nell spent last Thursday, Friday and Saturday in Temple attending the State Hospital Association. Dr. Sealy attended the Association Friday.

W. W. Evans returned Monday from McDade, in Lee County, where he visited for several days with a brother. Dates as he is generally known here, will be with J. G. Williamson again in the shoe repairing business.

Deputy Sheriff H. T. O'Far of Coleman was here on official business Monday.

W. A. Powell of Coleman was here on business Tuesday.

Follow named Evans at Kibbey Grove, Texas, conducts a grocery store, and had a record of 100 consecutive page ads in the home-town paper, and has contracted for 52 more. If that isn't an argument on the efficiency of advertising then Reporterman doesn't know an argument when he sees it. Mr. Evans has proved to his own satisfaction that a page at each week is an investment—not an expense. —John Cooke in Rockdale Reporter.

It should be borne in mind that it was man himself who got the idea that he was 'lord of creation.'
