"He Profits Most Who Serves Best"

"When It Rains It Pours"

The above is an old adage, been used every since the "woods were burned" but still it comes in handy as a common expression when one is caught "out in the cold thin clad" as it were, and was re-iterated Tuesday night by A. J. McDaniel, local manager of the West Texas Utilities Company, when he returned from McDaniel where he appeared before the grand jury Tuesday, and found that a short in the lights, caused by swinging bowers on some shade trees, had caused a contact in the wires, and the town was in total darkness. That was not all—the splendid team of four horses that had been used the past year for a delivery team to the ice wagon ran a muck during his absence, practically demolishing the wagon, killed one of the horses and crippled the other. The ice wagon was out of commission, the lights out, and lights being the principal products of the company, and both being out of commission, "Mac" thought it had all happened at once.

Fort Worth, Texas, Nov. 4.—Supt. J. C. Scarborough of the Santa Anna schools is among the latest to become a life member of the Texas State Teachers Association. There has been a gain in this group of 206 since Jan. 1, bringing the total to 958. The names of the first 1,000 will be engraved on a bronze tablet and placed in the headquarters of the organization.

Regular memberships have shown a gain this year equal in percentage of that of the life group. It is expected that near 25,000 will enroll for the year.

S. H. Duggins made a business trip to Austin last week.

"The Quarterback" Proves That Times Have Changed

The passage of time has a peculiar habit of effecting changes. Changes in one's way of living, the clothes we wear, things we do and even in the thoughts we think. 1899 witnessed the close of the Spanish-American War, the introduction of horseless carriages, dreams of airplanes, and the marriage of Elmer Stone to Nellie Webster. It happened prior to the annual State-Cotton contest and Elmer faithfully promised Nellie that he'd remain at school till Cotton beat their rivals. Elmer had no idea what he was doing when he made that promise. If he had—well—1926 found him still studying, with his son playing quarterback on the Cotton eleven. Interested? If so, go to the Queen Theatre Monday and Tuesday. That's the date Richard Dix's latest Paramount starring vehicle arrives in town.

Garner-Kingsbery Well to Be Cleaned Out--Other Drilling

H. W. Kingsbery, 6 miles south of town, has consummated a deal with Smyth and Livermore, to clean out the old Garner oil well, with a view of trying to bring it back into profitable production, and also, to drill another well to the Turner sand unless oil or gas is found in paying quantities at a less depth. The rig is on the premises, and work has already begun according to reports reaching the News. It will be remembered, when the Garner well was first brought in, several years ago, it was pronounced a 250 barrel well. Mr. Leman Brown is said to have been one of the time keepers when the well was tested. The development of this well will be watched with interest, and if it proves to be a profitable well, activities will take on new life in that vicinity.

Miss Elizabeth Turner of Daniel Baker, Brownwood, spent Sunday with her parents in this city. She was accompanied by James Lamb, also of Daniel Baker.

Rev. J. M. Burrow and wife are much rejoiced because of the birth of a nine and one half pound grandson, born to Mr. and Mrs. Lee of Dallas last Saturday.

Mrs. Jim Davis received a message from Fort Worth this week that her son-in-law, Jack Millburn, of that place was not expected to live.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tate of Giddings spent Friday and Saturday of last week with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Collier. Mr. Tate is a brother of Mrs. Collier.

Jack Kelley, Miss Marie Kelley, accompanied by their mother of Brownwood, were Santa Anna visitors Saturday.

They Lie in France Where Lilies Bloom

There lie in France,
 Where lilies bloom
 Those flowers pale
 That guard each tomb
 Are saintly souls
 That smiling stand
 Close by them in
 That martyred land,
 And mutely there the long night shadows creep
 From quiet hills to mourn for them who sleep.
 While o'er them through the dusk go silently
 The grieving clouds that slowly drift to sea
 And lately round them moaned the Winter wind
 Whose voice, lamenting, sounds so coldly kind.
 Yet in their faith those waiting hearts abide
 The time when turns forever that false tide.
 In France they lie
 Where lilies bloom
 Those flowers fair
 For them made room.
 Not vainly placed
 The crosses stand
 Within that brave
 And stricken land;
 Their honor lives,
 Their love endures,
 Their noble death
 The right assures,
 For they shall have their hearts' desire
 They who, unflinching, braved the fire
 Across the fields their eyes at last now see
 Through clouds and midst the hosts of victory.

MARRIED

Mr. Luther Weathers and Miss Thelma Green of Trickham, stole a march on their friends Sunday, Oct. 31, by driving out to the Baptist parsonage and getting themselves married. The happy young couple were accompanied by Misses Reba Green and Cleo James. Rev. Sidney F. Martin officiated, and pronounced them as one. These young people are popular among the splendid young folks of their community, who will join the Santa Anna News in extending best wishes.

HOWARD-DUGGINS

Wednesday evening of last week, Mr. Jess Howard and Miss Raney Duggins, accompanied by a few friends, presented themselves at the Baptist parsonage in this city and requested they be made as one. Pastor Martin officiated and they were pronounced husband and wife. The groom has been identified with the business interest of Santa Anna for several years, during which time he has been engaged in the barber business, being a partner with Mr. Lewis in the Lewis & Howard shop. He is a good citizen and an expert at his trade.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Duggins, one of the leading farm families of this vicinity, and has a host of good friends. She is a teacher by profession and is said to be excellent in her work. The News joins their host of friends in extending congratulations and best wishes.

Knox Campbell and wife of Pear Valley were Sunday visitors in the Tom Campbell home.

Methodist Missionary Society

The Methodist Missionary Society had a business meeting at the Methodist church Monday afternoon. Mrs. P. P. Bond read a very interesting paper on the district meeting held at Brownwood. Mrs. Bond was one of the delegates to the meeting. A nominating committee was appointed to recommend names for the officers to be elected at the next monthly meeting.

The San Saba News came out last week with a healthy edition, featuring Pecan Day, which was celebrated in San Saba, Monday, November 8. The pecan was crowned King of Nuts, Governor-elect, Dan Moody presiding. The meeting was a great affair and largely attended.

Mrs. Stafford Baxter visited in San Antonio last week. Her mother, Mrs. John Shoaf accompanied her home for a short visit.

Ray Wooten of the State of Kentucky, is here for a visit in the home of his uncle, V. L. Grady, and other relatives in this city.

JOHN STEPHEN BRANNAN

John Stephen Brannan, 58, died at the family residence in Brownwood at an early hour Wednesday morning, November 3, 1926, following an illness that extended through several months. Funeral services were held at place of demise at 1:30 Thursday afternoon, conducted by Rev. L. W. Predry of Brownwood, assisted by Rev. W. R. Hornburg, pastor of the Coggin Avenue Baptist church, followed by interment in the Santa Anna cemetery. Following were the pall bearers: Fred McCulley, Ray Williams, J. A. Rice, Boss McAnally, L. M. Cravens, E. B. Henley, Jr. John Stephen Brannan was born in Bell County, Texas, September 28, 1868. He moved to Coleman county with his parents in 1878, where he grew to manhood, moving to Brownwood, six years ago. He and Miss Caroline Williams were married August 31, 1892, and three children came to bless this union. He was a good man and citizen, a kind and affectionate husband and father and loyal friend, ever ready to lend a helping hand.

Deceased leaves to mourn his demise a widow and three daughters: Mrs. Carrie Brannan, Miss Edith Brannan of Brownwood, Mrs. Frank N. Belsor of Pampa and Miss Johnnye Brannan of Brownwood, also a mother, Mrs. Nan Brannan of Brownwood and a sister, Mrs. Mattie Bratton of Geary, Okla.—Contributed.

Eighteen Million Bale Crop New Federal Estimate

Washington, Nov. 8.—An increase of 646,000 bales in the indicated cotton crop during the last two weeks resulted Monday in a Department of Agriculture forecast of a total yield of 17,918,000 bales.

Basing its forecast on condition and other factors prevailing November 1 the estimate placed the crop at more than 1,750,000 bales larger than last year.

There is still some uncertainty with regard to the quantity of cotton that will be left unpicked. The Crop Reporting Board said, in commenting on the report. There is some disposition to leave the lower grades in the field.

The many friends of Dr. Thad Weaver of San Antonio, greatly sympathize with him in his bereavement in the death of his wife, who died Saturday afternoon. Those attending the funeral from this city were, Burgess Weaver and wife, Ernest Weaver, Mrs. A. U. Weaver, Mrs. Nettie Mitchell, also Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Critz of Coleman.

Members of the local Christian Church have received news of the recent death of Elder H. Ab Smith of McVer non Texas. He will be remembered by Santa Anna people as pastor of the Christian church here some years ago. He had many friends here. He died suddenly from an attack of acute indigestion.

Methodist Church

Next Sunday will be our last services together before the Annual Conference. Your presence will be appreciated by the pastor. Please attend to the business obligations of the church before Sunday. I will attend to your Advocate renewals if you so desire.

FINDING CONTENTMENT

Practically everyone who comes in to the world and stays long enough to comprehend the surroundings starts in pursuit of that elusive thing called happiness.

One may look for it in climate, in diversion, in companionship, in wealth, in goodness knows what. But there is one place it can surely be found—in congenial employment.

The happy man and the happy woman are those who have found the work that they are best suited to do and like the best to do, and happiness is impossible without this.

Comparatively few are satisfied with their work. Comparatively few are happy in their work. They do not know where the trouble lies. They only know they are discontented and that work is drudgery. Beginning with Monday morning, they look forward to Saturday night, they dread Monday morning. Day after day, week after week, month after month, year after year, it goes in. But for the everlasting and blessed hope that springs eternal in the human breast, people would quit right where they are.

Getting out of uncongenial employment is usually not easy. At least it impresses one as not being easy. In the first place, the average person does not know for what he is fitted or what he really wants to do. Even though a man has a desire for a given line of work, the trouble is he is not willing to do the necessary drudgery between him and the attainment of his desire.

As most great things are simple, the formula for finding one's niche is comparatively simple. The first ingredient is diligence. It is a powerful factor.

Somewhere within you is a talent. There is only one way to develop that talent and that is through diligence. Genius, after all, is but a special capacity for hard work.

The man who applies himself diligently and conscientiously, day after day, year after year, is going to climb, step by step, as surely and as positively as the days themselves roll by. He cannot help it. And every step he takes will be toward his niche. He may not know where those steps will lead when he starts. They may lead him through an intricate maze of toil, hardship and difficulty, but if he will keep on—if he will never permit himself to slip back—he will of a certainty find his niche, and with his niche, he will find contentment.

A MIXTURE NEEDED

The span of life for the average child born today has been increased twenty years and application of present day knowledge of the prevention and control of disease can still further increase the average person's life seventy years, a noted authority on medical science recently said.

We are approaching a "fountain of youth," long sought by mankind, he added, and the present knowledge, if applied, will give an average span of 63 years and make persons of 105 years old not uncommon.

The increasing span of life has been commented on frequently in recent years. The person reaching 100 years of age is not passed when they get mention in the newspapers, but such occasions do not arouse the discussion that they once did.

We often hear that this is the age of youth, but youth can not supply all the ingredients of success. What youth has to offer in enthusiasm and vigor can not be supplied by age, but nothing can take the place of ripened experience and sound judgment that comes with age.

We are learned that every enterprise needs a good mixture of both youth and age. Judge Elbert Gary recently celebrated his eighty-fourth birthday and in passing remarked that plans for his retirement as head of the great steel combine did not fit in with his plans; he intends to remain on the job at least another year.

Judge Gary was an old man, in the sense we used the word today, when he became the head of the business he directs. Many other such examples could be related where old men are the guiding genius of large enterprises.

Along with the increase in the span of life expectancy is to be found concrete evidence of what the medical men and the scientists have been talking about in recent years. A man is not shelved as early in life as he once was. And as the sum total of knowledge regarding prevention and control of human ailments grows, he will stay on the job longer.

Survival of the Most Efficient

Secretary of Agriculture Jardine keeps hammering away at the idea of cooperative marketing for the farmer, not as a political theory but as a desirable factor in economy. Some people shy at cooperative marketing because it apparently smacks of Socialism. Economically it does, but politically it is just the opposite. It encourages private investment and labor. Cooperative marketing feeds out of the public or collective trough only those who put something into it. Cooperative marketing for the prices of farm products is on a par with collective bargaining held sacred by the laborers in shop and mine. Apparently this is a "collective age," and we don't see why the farmer can't get into it as well as any other class of workers.

Some of the rising generation only gets up to sit down again.

MR. SCHWAB SPEAKS

Somebody asked Charles M. Schwab for a receipt for success, and he obliged with the following. His rules are not new, for nothing is new; making a success of life is no more complicated than making a failure or achieving mediocrity. But we lend a polite ear to Mr. Schwab, anyway:

Work hard. Hard work is the best investment a man can make.

Study hard. Knowledge enables a man to work more intelligently and effectively.

Love your work. Then you will find pleasure in mastering it.

Be exact. Slipshod methods bring only slipshod results.

Have the spirit of conquest. Thus you can successfully battle and overcome difficulties.

Cultivate personality. Personality is to the man what perfume is to the flower.

Help and share with others. The real test of business greatness lies in giving opportunity to others.

Be democratic. Unless you feel right towards your fellowman you can never be a successful leader.

In all things do your best. The man who has done his best has everything the man who has done less than his best has done nothing.

There will always be some who attempt to find a short cut to success, but so long as the world stands nothing will replace industry, honesty, thrift and good behavior. The practice of these virtues makes life easier, happier and more profitable, and that equals success.

Too many of us seek inspiration in gorgeous sunsets. But it's the sunrise that breeds optimism—the time of day when every moment floods the world with more of the light of day. The optimist is a sunrise. May his tribe increase!

WHAT ONE GOSSIP GOT

We hope all the gossips read the story from Savannah, Georgia, telling of the conviction of a woman there for defaming another's character. One woman talked about another, as some women—and men, too—have a habit of doing. The lady talked about took the matter to court and asked the talker to prove it. Of course she couldn't; she said she was only repeating what she had heard others say, but could not produce the others and was fined $200. That's fine. We would like to read of more convictions in these kind of cases. It might cause some people to find out what they are talking about before they start talking.

An ideal is something a man would like to pursue, but never has the time or means for putting it into practice.

TEXAS AND TEXANS

(By Will H. Mayes)

Cotton Clothing Style Show

An Ennis citizen has conceived the idea of giving cotton clothing style shows as a means of inducing the women to return to the use of cotton goods. Fifty-four Ennis women gave a style show there, and it is said by those who saw it that, dressed in Texas cotton goods, they looked as stylish as if they had been wearing Japanese silks. The Ennis show was such a success that the ladies were invited to go to Dallas and give it there. Doubtless this will result in other imitations. Here is where local merchants can help. In every town a cotton goods style show would attract attention to cotton goods. Plenty of the women will gladly assist if only there is proper leadership. Along with the style show, cotton goods of all kinds could be displayed to advantage. Why not organize and have a cotton goods week, featured by the style shows and cotton goods displays? The motto, "Wear more cotton, use more cotton," adopted by the Ennis women, is a good one for any town. The big Galvez Cotton Mill will be formally opened December 1, and the Marble Falls mill is placing its machinery and getting ready for its opening. There are now about 25 cotton mills in Texas, where there is room for about 500. The number is increasing at the rate of about two a year. It is easy to figure that about 250 years will be required for Texas cotton manufacturing to catch up with cotton producing, even if no more cotton is grown than is now being produced. The towns that get busy and organize cotton factories now will be contributing a large share to the right kind of consumption of cotton and adding to their own prosperity and that of the cotton farmer.

Stirring Up Bad Feeling

Aaron Shapiro, of California, general attorney for most of the farmer's co-operative organizations, is in Texas talking about the cotton situation, and especially about the co-operative marketing organizations' ability to handle the cotton crop to best advantage. While doing this, he is making vigorous attacks, according to newspaper reports, on the banks of the country and refers to the efforts of the Federal Government and the bankers' association to aid the farmers in a holding and acreage reduction movement, as mere gestures. To an interested watcher of the cotton situation, it seems that bankers and merchants, in Texas at least, are doing all they can to remedy a bad situation. They are forced to collect what is due them if they continue in business, and they also have to demand interest on loans and overdue accounts. Otherwise they would not long be in position to extend credit. Mr. Shapiro will do well to seek cooperation of all classes, if he really wishes to help the cotton growers.

Blaming the Other Fellow

It is unfortunate that whenever trouble of any kind overtakes a people they are inclined to place the blame on somebody else than themselves. At first, the slump in cotton prices was charged to the Government reports, but the country has since learned that these reports have not been very far wrong. Now, we are trying to find some other class to blame, and some are saying that if the bankers and merchants would only let the cotton growers carry over their debts to another year the country would be all right. The truth is that too much cotton has been grown, or too little is being consumed, and so much more is being thrown on the market than the market can buy, that prices have tumbled. If the cotton growers were not in debt they would be in position to carry their own cotton for better prices. If merchants and banks were not operating largely on capital of others, they might be able to carry the load, or a great part of it, for the cotton producers. There is nobody especially to blame for existing conditions, unless it be those who have had a part in growing more cotton than the world wants to use, or those who are responsible for the credit system on which practically all business is largely conducted.

Business—Like Philanthropy

Lew Wentz, of Ponca City, Oklahoma, is a philanthropist of the right kind—that is, he believes in helping people to help themselves. He has set aside $1,000,000 to assist worthy Oklahoma farmers in carrying over their cotton crops another year. He stipulates that no interest shall be received. He says he has made his money in Oklahoma, has been fortunate, and wishes his fortune used in a way to benefit the people. Wentz is noted for the unselfish assistance he has rendered Oklahoma. May his kind increase, not only that State, but throughout the country.

Mob Spirit in Athletics

The killing of Lieutenant Charles M. Sessums during a mob fight in a football game between Texas A. & M. College and Baylor University, at Waco, is one of the deplorable results of over-emphasis being placed on inter-collegiate contests of a kind that develops the brutal fighting spirit in men. There was an exciting fight, due to the tense spirit caused by the game, and in some way young Sessums received a blow from which he died. He is described as a bright young student in his senior year at A. & M. College. It is to be regretted that college authorities practically everywhere have come to regard such contests as football essential to student life. Unquestionably the emphasis now placed on football is encouraging the fighting spirit in youth, although it would seem that well-directed education should have an opposite influence. Alfred Dashiell, in The Forum, says "Football is a barbaric spectacle for a degenerate Roman mob." The Waco incident makes us wonder if he is not right.

Railroad Extends North

The Cisco and Northwestern railroad has received permission from the Interstate Commerce Commission to extend its line from Breckenridge to Throckmorton. Gradually, but with painful slowness, Texas railroad development is being permitted.

Abilene Shows Growth

Arrangements have been completed to erect a nine-story, $600,000 hotel in Abilene, which is splendid evidence that Abilene is a prosperous city that is expecting still greater growth.

The Humble Peanut

O. S. Robbins, a farmer near De Leon, has this year marketed four times the value of the land from six acres of peanuts, and he has not had to hold the crop for satisfactory prices. His neighbors who have been growing cotton have not made the expenses of cultivation and gathering the crops. Which is better, peanuts or cotton?

One good way to control reckless drivers is to take their cars away from them and turn them into walk-ers and let them do the jumping for awhile.

OH, BOY! There's a delightful, refreshing, cleansing kick in a FITCH SHAMPOO! The Fitch Shampoo dissolves and removes from the scalp every particle of dandruff and foreign matter, leaving the scalp clean and healthy and the hair soft and fluffy.

The tonic in the Fitch Shampoo actually penetrates into every hair follicle, thereby invigorating the growth of hair. The latter is then gradually created by the application of water and, when rubbed out and rinsed, the latter carries with it all dirt, dandruff and foreign matter, leaving every pore open and functioning as nature intended.

AFTER THE SHAMPOO, there is a FITCH TONIC for every hair and scalp condition.

If the scalp has been sore and itchy, use FITCH'S IDEAL. If your hair is inclined to be oily, use FITCH'S QUININE or FITCH'S TONIQUE SU-FRÈRE. (Both are aromatic and antiseptic.) If you want the hair to lie in place, use FITCH'S LA ROMA.

Write to the F. W. Fitch Co., Des Moines, Ia. for free trial bottle of any of these preparations.

Bad Color (liver trouble)

"OCCASIONALLY I am troubled with spells of constipation and inactive liver," says Mrs. John L. Pence, Broadway, Va. "I always use Theford's Black-Draught when I feel a spell of this kind coming on, for it saves me a bad headache. My color gets sallow at times. I get real yellow, showing that the trouble comes from the liver."

"I have found Black-Draught to be the finest kind of a remedy for this. I take Black-Draught and make a tea out of it, and take it, along in small doses for several days. I have never found anything that served me so well."

"Since I have known about Black-Draught, I have not suffered nearly so much with headache, caused from indigestion. If I find my tongue is coated, and I wake up with a bad taste in my mouth, I know I have been eating indiscreetly, and I immediately resort to Black-Draught to straighten me out."

WHAT'S DOING IN WEST TEXAS

(By West Texas C. of C.)

Graham—The chamber of Commerce of this city recently sponsored the building of a new road on Slater Hill about six miles north of here, raising over $250 to apply to its improvement.

Bowie—Brick work on the new municipal auditorium of Bowie was completed more than a week ago, and roofing is under way which will finish exterior work of the structure. The new civic building is one of the handsomest and most commodious structures ever erected in Bowie.

Stamford—Manager Homer D. Wade of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has written to various chambers of commerce in West Texas and has appealed to federal and state authorities to resist flagrant violations reported against rules and regulations of the Livestock Sanitary Board in regard to movement of hogs. Reports have come to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce office here telling of this new form of "bootlegging" in which hogs are imported from border towns of Oklahoma and New Mexico and introduced to Texas farms without dipping, vaccination, inspection and proper certification required to be done under the supervision of the Livestock Sanitary Board. Infractions of these regulations will be resisted to the extent of serving injunctions against hog importations made in violation of regulations.

Decatur—Farm diversification in poultry and the dairy industry of Wise County were shown and explained here recently to a delegation of Collin County citizens who desired to introduce similar diversity methods in their section.

Brady—Brady's third annual Turkey Trot Day, announced to be the greatest and most unique celebration undertaken in the Heart of Texas section, was staged here November 6. Co-operation of traveling men who united in the entertainment with the Peddler's Jubilee made possible a number of stunts and features. The purpose of the day was to advertise Turkey as King in the Heart of Texas. Motion pictures of the parade was taken during the day.

San Saba—Number 8, Volume 5 of the "Pioneer Pecan Press," the only magazine in the world devoted exclusively to pecan culture and questions related to the industry, has been released from the press here. The issue contains 24 pages of reading and advertising matter, 21 pages being devoted exclusively to discussions of Texas' native nut. Celebration of "Pecan Coronation, King of Nuts" was held in San Saba November 8. Officials of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and prominent men of the state were invited to attend.

Stamford—As a part of their program in the reduction of cotton acreage, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is advocating more wheat and oats and other grains for West Texas farmers. Reports to headquarters office here indicate that conditions are ideal and that a mammoth grain crop can be harvested in 1927. Forage and feed crops, and grain sorghums are also advocated.

Decatur—More dairy and poultry produce of this place will be handled by Dallas consumers upon construction of the Northwest Highway from Dallas to Rhame, according to word of John Boswell, executive manager of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce development bureau who visited here recently.

Paducah—The Cook Hotel, Paducah's new home for traveling men has thrown open its doors here. The new hostelry is rated as one of the prettiest buildings in this part of the country and is equipped with all modern fixtures.

BARTON TO HEAD BAPTIST PROGRAM

Missourian Will Lead Effort to Increase Mission and Benevolent Budget

CHURCHES GIVE TOO LITTLE

Survey Reveals Low Standards Maintained by Many—Plans Are Laid For Improvement in 1927

To lead Southern Baptists in greatly increasing their budget for the support of missions, Christian education and benevolences, Dr. A. J. Barton of Kansas City, superintendent of Baptist work in Missouri for the past three years, and one of the most prominent men in the denomination, has accepted the position of general director of the Baptist Co-operative Program, and will move to Nashville, Tenn., to assume his new duties at once.

Southern Baptists are seeking to raise $9,000,000 for the Co-operative Program during this convention year and Dr. Barton will seek to enlist the aid of every agency and church of the Southern Baptist Convention in the accomplishment of this task.

Has Served Denomination

To his new position Dr. Barton brings a wide denominational and public experience. He has held prominent pastorates in the South and has served as associate secretary of the Foreign Mission Board, field secretary of the Home Mission Board, general secretary of the Arkansas State Mission Board, and secretary of the Texas Baptist Education Commission prior to taking up his work in Missouri. He has also long been prominent in the cause of temperance. For sixteen years he has been a member of the executive and legislative committees of the Anti-Saloon League of America, and during his incumbency as superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Texas he saw prohibition written into the constitution of that state.

DR. A. J. BARTON
New General Director Baptist Co-operative Program

Bringing the Baptist churches of the South to a higher standard in giving to the missionary, educational and benevolent program of the denomination, known as the Co-operative Program, will be the first and chief task to which the new general director will address himself.

According to a recent survey of the record of the Baptist churches of the South, compiled from the letters of the individual churches to their district associations for 1925, made by Dr. E. F. Aldredge, statistical secretary of Southern Baptists, 5,927 churches listed as co-operating with the Southern Baptist Convention, gave nothing to missions and benevolences last year. Other interesting information gleaned from this survey reveals that 12,310 other churches, or slightly more than one-half of the total number of churches, retained from 75 to 99 cents out of every dollar coming into their treasuries for purely local work; 1,665 churches applied from 67 to 75 cents, and 1,655 churches from 51 to 66 cents out of every dollar contributed to their own local work; whereas, only 501 churches in all the South gave 50 cents or more out of every dollar coming into their treasuries to missions and benevolences beyond the borders of their own communities.

The Southern Baptist Convention has established an ideal of a fifty-fifty distribution in that it is recommending to the churches that they endeavor to give half of all the money raised by them to the general work of the denomination, retaining the other half for their own local expenses.

Included in the plans of the Co-operative Program is an every-member canvass this fall in every Baptist church with a view to enlisting every member in making a subscription to missions and benevolences.

Another effort is that of enlisting at least 500,000 Southern Baptists as titheers, or giving one-tenth of their incomes to religious work through their churches. In this connection the number of titheers which each state in the Southern Baptist Convention will undertake to enlist is given as follows: Alabama, 37,850; Arkansas, 21,250; District of Columbia, 2,000; Florida, 13,650; Georgia, 55,950; Illinois, 8,700; Kentucky, 42,950; Louisiana, 16,800; Maryland, 2,450; Mississippi, 30,000; Missouri, 31,400; New Mexico, 1,500; North Carolina, 50,000; Oklahoma, 17,000; South Carolina, 29,500; Tennessee, 37,500; Texas, 71,500; and Virginia, 80,000.

INCONSISTENCY

The local press and the Commercial Club are trying to improve local conditions by boosting for home trade. This is done for the benefit of the local merchants, some of whom show their appreciation in a queer way. This week two firms are sending out circulars printed in Temple asking people to come to Cameron to trade. We wonder if either one of them realizes how illogical this appears to the innocent bystander. The logic of the situation is about like this—"You ought to buy your dry goods in Cameron, but Cameron is not a good enough place for us to buy our printing." It is hard to help those who will not help themselves.—Cameron Enterprise.

When you feel the need of a helping hand, look in your pocket.

A Man is as Old as His Oats are Wild. We recall that it was the late Luther Burbank who, in speaking of Theodore Roosevelt's strenuous life, said in effect, that a great strain, or crisis comes to every person at some time in life. If, by right thinking and proper living, sufficient energy and reserve power have been stored up in the body, the crisis can be withstood. Roosevelt withstood the crisis of fever while in the tropics.

If the balance of us proceed along in an orderly manner, observe the technical rules of the road and the aded rules of gentlemanly decency the day will pass off with nothing worse than a few fender cresses and an occasional jolt between a spare tire and a front bumper. Patience, kindness and a willingness to grant the other fellow possibly an inch or two more than his just due works wonders and speed up the whole long line. The gasoline trail will be at its busiest and the care of the drivers must be at a maximum.

Something like three-quarters of a century ago, so the story goes, a United States patent commissioner resigned his office because there soon wouldn't be anything more to do; and he had good conscientious objections to holding an office which was a sinecure. About everything had been invented, he said, and there wasn't much left to patent. Just now the United States patent office is issuing new patents at the rate of about a thousand a week. There's a lot of work yet for the patent office which would have gone out of business if one had had his way—three-quarters of a century ago.

We'll admit in advance that what fellows is old, but it is good enough to repeat besides it helps out beautifully in filling a Monday column: A traction company received the following letter: "If the simpering, snub-nosed, faedebaunched, tittering little nunny who stuck her gum on the seat of a Southside street car last Friday evening and permitted us to sit down in it, will call at my office, room sixty-nine, Blank Band building, she can have her gum back. It is safely parked on the southern front of my other pair of pants and if she can't get it off she may have the pants."—Mineral Wells Index.

Crowding the Driver

Attention is called to many young people riding in automobiles who feel it is necessary to snuggle closely up to the drivers of these cars, with three or four of them in the front seat, while the back seat is not occupied. They seem to enjoy such crowding, which may sometimes be a menace to the public. The driver thus hemmed in is hardly in a position to do a skillful job in operating his car, and quite frequently in such a position he thinks he has to speed up a little in order to arouse the admiration of his fair companions. The man who attempts to drive in these times has about all he can do to operate his car, and he should be given plenty of space in which to do so.

Rural Free Delivery

When rural free delivery of mail was suggested a few years ago, protests were made that it would be so expensive that it could not be maintained. It was given a try-out. It met with a warm reception and gradually the routes were extended until there is now a delivery to every nook and corner of the country. In 1897 the rural delivery routes measured only 1,843 miles. In 1926 the routes have been so widely distributed that mail is delivered over 1,250,000 miles a day. Naturally the flyover must be given some of the credit for the expansion of the service. No rural carrier would attempt to carry his route on foot as the city man does.

Voluntary Disfranchisement

Altho this is not a Presidential year there are important issues before the voters. We can at least hope for a good vote at the coming election.

With all the talk about "getting out the vote," and all the effort directly toward that end, there are still only about 50 per cent of the voters who exercise their rights.

Whether it is lack of interest, lack of time, or lack of physical ambition to go to the polls can not be determined.

Take the right of suffrage away from the non-voters of this country today and there would be a revolution in this country by tomorrow!

Such voluntary disfranchisement means not only disrespect for law, but disregard for the privileges and immunities that our forefathers had to wade thru blood and fire to get for us. The familiar slogan is a good one: Vote as you please, but vote!

Easy street is something constantly being sought but seldom reached.

A pessimist is a politician talking about the prospects of his opponent.

Anyway, after Marie's tour, we'll always know what's "fit for a queer."

The most difficult thing about being a professional politician is keeping excited.

Only one person in five in Mexico is able to read or write, but they all evidently know how to fight.

The rest cure would be a fine thing for the world if it could begin with tongues.

When a man is wrong he usually tries to dodge the blame by thinking the world is wrong.

Medical science is now giving attention to the prolongation of life after the age of fifty, and particularly after seventy; claiming that too little attention has been paid to what the Roman philosopher, Seneca, called a disease itself—old age.

The best "remedy," however, is proper care of the body before attaining the proverbial three-score and ten. If the baby, the child, the young man and young woman and the middle-aged are looked after as Nature intends, the situation relative to the "old man," and the "old woman," will largely take care of itself.

Old age is a kind of crisis which, when taken calmly, resolutely and philosophically will admit of much happiness and health, provided human resources have not been dissipated in earlier years.

Know Texas

Texas is now the leading oil state, producing 601,451 barrels a day to 800,000 for California and 467,110 for Oklahoma in September.

Spindletop and the Panhandle moved Texas from third place among the states in production of petroleum to first place.

Texas stands away up in the list of oil producing states where crude oil is processed into the finished product.

Texas leads all the states in the use of natural gas for fuel in producing power and in industry.

No other state has such potential and developed diverse fuel resources as Texas has in petroleum, natural gas, and lignite.

In 1926, Texas stood fourth among the states in the percentage of increase in income tax payments as compared with 1925. Texans paid almost forty-three million dollars in Federal taxes in 1926.

According to the latest census the average Texas family contained 4.6 persons compared with 4.3 for the whole country.

The value of school buildings in Texas is in excess of ninety million dollars.

Texas stands thirty-fifth among the states in density of population with 17.8 people to the square mile.

If Texas were as densely populated as Rhode Island, there would be more than one hundred and fifty million people living in Texas.

ENVY

Worry, hard work, dissipation, poor judgment, ill health, despondency—all these are enemies of success, but none of them has a more evil effect than envy.

This little demon is always on the alert for a chance to pop into the most unsuspecting head. If the soil is ripe for him, he insinuates that you are not receiving enough of this world's goods for what you are giving. He blackens your friend's character by causing you to draw unfair conclusions about him.

Envy tells you that you are not appreciated; that honest work has no reward—only grafters and hypocrites get on in the world. He gives you a false estimate of your own ability.

Then you begin to loathe your job and hate your friends. Your work is not up to its former high standard. You become a confirmed pessimist and see nothing but the bad in everyone.

Happily, however, there is a cure for this condition of mind that envy produces. If your friends are prosperous, be glad, because it indicates what can be done with the proper amount of determination. Let their prosperity be a lesson.

If your friends are well liked you may be sure there is a good reason for it, and that you can learn the secret by close observation.

Take advantage of every opportunity to help and serve that is within the scope of your ability. Then you will have a different view of the world in which you live. Your change in attitude will bring rewards unexpected. Envy produces nothing but misery for the envious.

SORE GUMS

CITATION

STATE OF TEXAS

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Coleman County; Greeting—

Whereas oath has been made before me by B. T. Vinson (of B. T. Vinson & Co.) that Dick Lane is absent from his usual place of abode and whereabouts unknown, so that the ordinary process of law cannot be served upon him; you are hereby commanded that you, by making publication of this writ in some newspaper printed in Coleman county, for four successive weeks prior to return day hereof summon the said Dick Lane to be and appear before me at a regular term of the Justice Court for Precinct No. 7, in said County of Coleman, to be held at my office in Santa Anna, Coleman county, on the 15th day of November, 1926, to answer the suit of B. T. Vinson & Company, Plaintiff, against Dick Lane, Defendant, said Plaintiff's demand being for a debt of Eighty Dollars and interest, from the 30th day of June, 1926.

Herein fail not, and of this Writ, make due return at the regular term of Justice Court in Precinct No. 7, in Coleman County, to be held in my office on the 15th day of November, 1926, as the law directs.

Given under my hand, this the 20th day of Oct. 1926. Suit filed June 30, 1926.

—J. S. JONES, Justice of the Peace No. 7, Coleman County. 43-4tc

Millions Now For Safety

Notwithstanding the fact that the railroads now offer the safest means of transportation consistent with speed, the Pennsylvania System is spending $8,000,000 to install stop devices in engine cabs that will automatically bring the train to a halt when any other than a clear signal is passed. In this fast age, it is necessary to make even locomotives "fool-proof" to overcome the possible failure of the human element.

Automobiles and Homes

It seems for the past few years there are some people more ambitious to own automobiles than homes. This fact is proved by the rapid increase in automobiles and the slow increase in homes. There are many who are willing to live in small rented homes in order to own an automobile and the demand has come for small cheap homes. For that reason many who build for rent are building small residences and renting at a low price so that the renters can own automobiles. A country is safe with home lovers, with people owning their own homes. If the American republic is to be saved for the future it must encourage more home owners and home lovers. It is the home that makes values more permanent and makes a people happier and more patriotic.

The Planetary Transmission Makes Driving Easier

The planetary transmission, as used in Ford construction, is the simplest, most direct and most reliable means of speed control for light cars. It costs more to build, but its numerous advantages far outweigh any other consideration. It makes the Ford car more flexible in traffic—with starts, stops and speed changes accomplished faster and more easily. Complete control through foot pedals makes it unnecessary to remove your hands from the steering wheel.

The Ford transmission will stand almost any amount of hard usage; there are almost never any replacements.

Ford economy methods alone make it possible to build this superior transmission into Ford cars, yet keep Ford prices the lowest ever offered.

Trade in your old Vacuum Cleaner

Do you know that you can now turn in your old electric vacuum cleaner as part payment on a brand new easy-running, deep-cleaning PREMIER DUPLEX? No matter how old your cleaner is, or in what condition, we will make you an astonishingly liberal allowance for it which will mean a big reduction in the price of this famous ball-bearing cleaner that needs no oiling.

This offer means money to you. If you have an old cleaner, or one of inferior make do not pass up an opportunity like this to own the wonderful PREMIER DUPLEX at a price within easy reach. Our easy payment terms apply as well.

Only $5.00 Down

Even if you haven't an old cleaner to trade in, our easiest of easy payment plans makes it easy to own the new one. Only $5.00 down and you can enjoy all the advantages of this high-grade, guaranteed, labor-saver in your own home. Then you can arrange to take care of the balance in easy installments so small that they are never missed.

For Thorough Housecleaning

In order to keep your rugs in the best condition and to clean them as thoroughly as they should be cleaned, you must have an electric vacuum cleaner that will get the fine sand and grit deep down in the nap as well as the surface lint and litter. The PREMIER DUPLEX does this double job of cleaning to perfection, by means of its double action.

MANVILLE BROS. TO SHOW NEXT WEEK

An ad appears elsewhere in this issue of the News calling your attention to the coming, and extolling the virtues of the above named attraction which will play a week's engagement in Santa Anna, beginning next Monday, Nov. 15th.

This excellent company comes here from Oklahoma points where they won the admiration of the people and the praises of the press.

The plays used are of a nature that comes just about as near pleasing everyone as is possible for a company to produce. They have been chosen with an idea of allowing the comedy to predominate. The opening play Monday night will be "Wedding Bells." Its a comedy drama from the Century Play Company of New York, and it is a candy good one, according to our information. There will be a good clean vaudeville between each and every act every night. A good orchestra will entertain you before the show starts each night. The tent will be located north of the skating rink, and will be well heated. Ladies will be admitted free Monday night when accompanied by one paid adult ticket.

The Manville Bros. Players have played here on former occasions, and so far as we know gave general satisfaction.
