

Wheat Marketing Quotas To Be Voted On

Wheat marketing quotas will be voted on Saturday, May 31. If the marketing quotas are not voted, there will be no government loan, which is an important factor in keeping the price of wheat up.

Under the marketing quota, each producer, who is planted within his allotment, will be allowed to sell all the wheat harvested on the farm, or he may put his wheat in a government loan. This also includes carry-over wheat from previous years.

If a producer is overplanted, there will be a penalty on the wheat produced on the excess acreage. The number of bushels on which the penalty will be paid will be the excess acreage times the ACP yield or the actual yield, whichever is smaller. Payment of penalty may be postponed by storing wheat under government seal, or placing it in the government loan at 60 per cent of the loan rate. Producers that have 15 acres or less of wheat are not affected by the quota and are not entitled to a vote. Producers on whose farm the planted acreage times the normal yield is 200 bushels or less are not affected by the quota and are not entitled to vote. The penalty will be one-half the basic loan rate.

If there are any questions that you would like to have answered get in touch with your county committeeman or the county office. Remember the date, Saturday, May 31. Be sure to vote. Polls will be opened at 9:00 a. m. and closed at 7:00 p. m. at the following places:

Gorman - Higginbotham Store.
Ranger - City Hall.
Eastland - AAA Office.
Cisco - Chamber of Commerce.

Two Calls To Be Made In June

State Selective Service Headquarters announced the Army's sixteenth and seventeenth calls on Texas' 351 local boards for 2,319 trainees to be delivered for induction during the period June 11 through June 19.

General J. Watt Page, State Director, said that 214 negroes have been selected to meet the sixteenth call on June 11, and on the seventeenth call 2,105 white men will be inducted between June 12 and June 19.

When these two calls have been completed, Texas will have 29,704 men in training under the Selective Service Act. Texas is credited with 825,429 men registered last October, and the quota assigned by the War Department for the first year of the program ending June 30 is approximately 33,213 trainees.

General Page said that Texas leads the nation in number of men furnished the armed forces. In addition to the 29,704 men called under the Selective Service, Texas has more than 80,000 men—all volunteers—serving in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, National Guard and Coast Guard.

Local Boy Wins Award For Essay

Johanne Elvin Barron was one of the eight winners, and the only one in the local 4-H Club, in the recent Essay Contest on, The Advantages of the Cow-Hog-Hen Plan of Farming. It was sponsored by Sears & Roebuck and a barbecue was held in Abilene last Friday noon at the Sears & Roebuck arena at the Fair Park. As a reward for the winning essays the boys won registered gilts which were given them following a talk by Mr. Regenbrecht, Swine Specialist of A. & M. College.

Following is his essay: "Raising poultry is almost a science these days. It takes most of one's time keeping up with the developments. With good, pure-bred, blood-tested stock one hundred-fifty white Leghorn hens will furnish eggs for the table, enough for market to cover the grocery bills after paying for their extra feed. And there is always a market for nice dressed hens and fryers. They also have lots of vitamin B which one can eat in an appetizing meal instead of taking it out of the bottle. Eggs belong in the protective foods which protect against certain diseases. They are often the perfect answer for a family dish that will meet needs of all from baby to grandpa.

Hog and cow farming is a good way to put all waste on the farm into money; such as waste land makes good pasture if legumed. You feed your pigs and calves the skimmed milk which would be wasted; you can pasture the fields and consume all the waste feed, pea vines, and all vegetation. Good, pure-bred stock brings the highest prices and wins the prizes at all fairs and shows, if they are given good care, which makes it a profitable business. You have your meat, lard, cheese, milk, and butter at home, all of which are rich in vitamins and are essential to good health.

In our country a well known doctor studied a large group of school children. He found that children on purely vegetarian diets were undersized, under-developed and under-nourished, and had appearances of being much older than they actually were, while those on mixed diets were within the limits of the normal. You get all vitamins from cow, hog and hen, so why not Cow-Hog-Hen farm and have health, happiness and prosperity?"

HIGGINBOTHAM'S BUY NEW AMBULANCE

Careful Selection of Trainees Stressed

General J. Watt Page, State Selective Service Director, today urged the cooperation of all Texas local boards to make certain that no man is called for direct military training who is more useful for national defense in his civilian occupation.

Stressing the need for this careful selection, General Page called attention to the recent announcement by National Selective Service Headquarters that the Office of Production Management and other national defense agencies report increasing shortages not only of skilled workers but also in vital professions. He cautioned local boards against calling men needed in factory or field and concerning the necessity of maintaining an adequate reservoir of professional and technical specialists by permitting promising students to complete professional training.

"While the recruitment of a large peacetime Army is essential to national defense," General Page said, "it is usually important that there be no interference with the production of defense supplies and material. We must arm, feed and cloth the military forces of democracy and we must also maintain the morale of the civilian population by protecting public health and general welfare. To do this, we must make careful and intelligent investigation of every registrant to be sure in each case that a call to military training will not interfere with equally important civilian work for national defense."

Selective Service Regulations with respect to occupational deferments, General Page declared, have the purpose of guiding local boards to three major results: (1) Prevention of avoidable shortages of necessary workers in the Nation's program for defense production; (2) Protection of the national industrial training program by deferment of individuals where there is evidence that they are "in training or preparation" for an occupation or employment necessary to the maintenance of "national health, safety, or interest, and (3) Anticipation of possible exhaustion of pools of highly skilled workers not now employed in defense activities but probably necessary in the near future for expansion of defense production, when such men "but for a seasonal or temporary interruption would be engaged in such defense activity."

Intelligent deferment of registrants must also include students in certain specialized professional and technical fields, General Page declared. He pointed out that recent studies made by the Office of Production Management have shown the supply of manpower is either "dangerously low," or there are indications of shortages in the near future in seventeen professional and technical fields.

"The local board has full authority and responsibility, subject to appeal, for deciding whether or not a registrant is a necessary man and whether he should be selected or deferred. It must consider all the evidence submitted in connection with each individual case and must decide each case on its particular merits."

Every student coming within the purview of the "necessary man" deferment policy should immediately get into the hands of his local board the "Student Statement of Information" and "Affidavit of the College or University," which are necessary to the boards in making proper classification, Page said.

Bass Lake Club Hostess To Meeting

The Bass Lake Home Demonstration Club was hostess to an area meeting at two o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, May 21, in the rear of Jay's Grocery Store.

A large number enjoyed the helpful suggestions made by Miss Ramey and felt like the afternoon had been profitably spent. Below is a tried recipe which we hope you might like.

To make deviled eggs use:

- 2 tablespoons mayonnaise or cream.
- 1 tablespoon vinegar.
- 1 1-2 teaspoon mustard.
- 1 1-2 teaspoon Worcestershire.
- 3-4 teaspoon salt.
- 1-4 teaspoon pepper.

Cut hard cooked eggs in half, crosswise or lengthwise, remove yolks and put through sieve. Add seasoning and whip or beat until very smooth and fluffy; refill shells. Garnish top if desired with chopped chives or parsley, paprika, etc."

Says, Ruth Ramey, county home demonstration agent, "Don't use your old canning bulletin—write your county agent or your congressman for Bulletin No. B-85. For pickling and relishes, write for Bulletin No. B-118."

After the program, the salads and deviled eggs were served with crackers and drinks, which Higginbotham Bros. so generously furnished to the following:

Mmes. J. Caraway, W. N. Stephens, Kokomo; Jake Adcock and Luther Palmer, Leon; John Wheeler and Viola Fuller, Lone Star; Hudson Collins, Marvin Jones and Nick Duggan, Grandview; Katie Dupuy, Desdemona; V. W. Naval Training Station, San Diego, Calif., where he will receive recruit training before further transfer to a Navy trade school or ship of the fleet.

Shower Honors Future Bride

Mrs. W. T. Shell entertained Wednesday evening at her home with a lingerie shower in honor of Miss Elya Shell, whose approaching marriage to Mr. Glynn Kirk was announced.

Yellow and white were used throughout the house in the decorations. Announcements were miniature white churches with the wedding date given inside. The serving table was covered with a Normandy lace cloth with a doll bride used as a centerpiece.

Frozen punch and cookies were served, with Mrs. L. D. Stewart presiding at the punch bowl, assisted by Mrs. L. T. Wright and Mrs. W. F. Clark.

After asking the bride-to-be to sit in a prominent chair, the gifts were presented in a tiny "honey-moon express" wagon drawn by little Joyce Blair.

The honoree graciously expressed her thanks for the lovely gifts as she acknowledged the best wishes from her friends present.

County Agent Has Good Program For Tuesday

County Agent Elmo V. Cook in answer to the question, "How can we help to feed hungry mouths?", in a letter received from Uncle Sam recently, has arranged a program which will be instructive, and if this advice is followed, will go a long way towards helping in this one phase of increased milk production so urgently needed by the government to meet the demands of the United States and other countries.

A program to be held at the gymnasium here on Tuesday, June 3, has been planned and a large number is expected to attend. E. R. Eudaly, A. & M. Extension Dairyman, is to be on the program and will give information on the quickest way to increase milk production. The outlook for dairy prices is good and a good attendance for this meeting is promised. Motion pictures of outstanding dairy cattle in Eastland county will add to the interest of the program.

MAKES PET OF NESTING QUAIL

Don Carroll, seven-year old son of City Officer C. D. Carroll of Fort Worth, used considerable patience to make a temporary pet of a nesting quail. Young Carroll found a quail setting on thirteen eggs near his home. Don went out daily to see how the bird was getting along. He approached a bit closer each day until he was finally able to reach down and pet the Bobwhite. He stroked the bird several days. She finally hatched eleven of its thirteen eggs and mother quail and brood disappeared.

Infantile Paralysis Expected To Occur More Frequently

"Infantile paralysis can be expected to occur more frequently during the next three or four months," declared Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. "This disease is always more frequent during the hot months. The germ responsible for infantile paralysis is so small that it escapes detection even with the most powerful microscopes. The first symptoms are usually vomiting, headache, fever, stiffness of the neck, pain in the legs, irritability and drowsiness. Complete recovery may follow such an illness. In more severe cases, the germ penetrates the nervous system, resulting in paralysis of nerves controlling one or more groups of muscles. Some remarkable recoveries have been noted. Flies or other insects have not been demonstrated to play a part in the spread of this disease. Infection spreads from person to person with the droplets attending coughing and sneezing. Children and grown people who are healthy may be carriers of the germs. When present in epidemic form, about one child in each hundred is likely to suffer an attack. Early recognition and diagnosis are essential. The use of immune serum may be a factor in preventing paralysis. A period of complete rest is essential for muscles that are affected. If parents note any symptoms of illness in their children, the family doctor should be consulted at once." Elmo Franklin of Pleasanton is spending the week-end with his mother.

My Week by Eleanor Roosevelt

A Happy Family

In Seattle on my daughter's birthday and we celebrated by having a completely family day. At breakfast she was given a few presents and then her two eldest children presented her with the nicest possible gift. With the aid of their music teacher, they had each made recordings wishing her a happy birthday and playing two complete pieces on the piano for her.

At noon, to everybody's joy, we went off on the boat for a picnic lunch. I was told with great enthusiasm, that the cooking would be done by the gentlemen of the family, who would give us fried egg sandwiches. They proved excellent and the sun shone and we had a marvelous time. We returned early enough to play a while with Johnny, so he would not be disappointed. Then we had a birthday dinner with the necessary cake and candles. Thus ended a happy day.

The evening before my son-in-law showed Miss Thompson and me some of the movies taken of the inauguration in January and at various times when we have been out here. They will be a wonderful record for the children when they are grown.

MILITARY AIRCRAFT

The next morning we went down to the Boeing Aircraft factory. This was my first view of four-motored bombers. They also make smaller two-motored military aircraft, but I did not see any of them finished. One order of bombers was just completed, and the machines on the floor were there for modernization.

That seems to be one trouble with building military aircraft when a war is going on. In actual use, weaknesses of design or of armament are discovered and inventors try to find new ways of correcting them. This means that machines that have been out for a year, or even less, have to return for drastic changes.

This is a tremendous plant, covering an area which seemed at least a mile long as we walked around it. I was interested to find some women sewing in one section. They still do it better than men.

I never leave my family in Seattle without real regret, but I had to go. This was a rather longer visit than usual and we did more things which were not purely part of a family reunion.

Before leaving, I went to see some of the National Youth administration work. Their resident project here is not as yet finished, but they have some defense training similar to that going on in various places. I had some difficulty getting clear in my mind the various types of training which I had seen. That which is being done under the Apprenticeship Council and in collaboration with the Edison Vocational School, is under the Smith-Hughes act and has nothing to do with defense training.

Defense training is being carried on in three other vocational high schools. As in other places, they must take 50 per cent of the people to be retrained from the WPA program. I was told there had been some difficulty here because so many of their WPA people never had a skill. The other 50 per cent in this defense training program are either employed and coming in for refresher courses, or young people from NYA who can qualify, or from some other qualified source.

WPA CUTS

I think it is safe to say that cuts in WPA everywhere in the country are affecting adversely the married or single woman who is the breadwinner for her family. In many cases a really serious condition is being brought about. The whole question of WPA cuts should have some careful revision and consideration. People removed from WPA and who still cannot find work, go on relief, with an increased burden on the locality and a loss of self-respect to the individual.

In addition to this just now, I think there is on the part of many of the women a great sense of injustice. In the case of NYA, the quota everywhere continues to be filled, because all eligible young people were never on NYA in the past.

Now I want to talk to you for a little while on the subject which has long been on my mind, namely: the improvement in our schools of physical education, instruction and guidance in healthful living, a wider recreational use of school facilities and the development of school camps. All these purposes are gathered together in a bill sponsored by Mr. Plus L. Schwert, a member of congress from the Forty-second district from New York state.

He suggests the appropriation of certain sums of money to be distributed to the various states for these purposes. I hope that in New York state this summer there will be some camps for high school students under the guidance of the school system. I feel that the draft is proving to us that our young people are not receiving proper medical care or adequate diet for the best possible physical development and the schools can do much to improve the situation.

Health Notes

"The importance of 'feeding for fitness' as a part of the national defense program cannot be over-emphasized because proper nutrition is the basis of health and physical fitness," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"America is beginning to realize that intelligent selection of the proper foods necessary to maintain optimum health is more important than merely eating food without regard to its nutritive qualities.

"In a comparative study made on the health of school children in two widely separated districts—one in an agricultural community and the other in an industrial area—a large percentage of the children from the farming sections were found to be malnourished, while those from the industrial area were in better shape physically.

"Although milk and other dairy products, fruits, and fresh vegetables—all of which are essential to a well-balanced dietary, were readily available in the farming sections, the children had been allowed to indulge their preferences for less familiar and less nourishing foods, with the results already mentioned above.

"Certain factors that affect nutrition—and not all of them apply to food—must be given consideration in 'feeding for fitness.' The State Health Department would stress the importance of the following:

"First, the diet must be adequate; it should include on a day-to-day basis a generous supply of the protective foods—milk, fruits, vegetables, eggs, whole-grain bread and cereals.

"Second, sufficient sleep and rest to maintain a good physical condition.

"Third, remediable physical defects, such as decayed teeth or diseased tonsils, should be corrected in the individual to insure the best utilization of food.

"Fourth, correct elimination is essential in the utilization of food.

"Fifth, exercise and fresh air are needed to stimulate the appetite and give tone to the physical condition.

"Sixth, good posture aids digestion."

Barge Captain, Near Drowning, Saves Life With Slack-Wire Act

A dangling strand of wire, found after a half hour of swimming in darkness and icy sea water under a deserted New Jersey pier, saved the life of Capt. Holger Petersen, of the barge Adelaide.

The captain was going ashore by way of a ladder from his barge on to the Hudson Street dock, Jersey City. He was half way up when the ladder broke, plunging him into the water. A series of waves from a passing tug swept him under the pier, where he began clutching at the piles to keep afloat.

He was fully clothed with heavy overcoat, sweater and shoes. In the pocket of the overcoat was a flashlight. The captain managed to get this out. He began using it to try to locate some means to climb up on to the dock.

He shouted as he swam along the rows of pilings, but nobody was there to hear him. He was hidden from the view of river craft by barges similar to his own.

For half an hour the captain alternately swam and clung to the piling. Exhaustion and the cold water were beginning to make his struggle seem hopeless when the beam of his light showed the piece of wire. This hung about half way between the pier flooring and the water. Petersen grabbed the wire, stuffed the flashlight back in his pocket and, using both hands, at length pulled himself up on to the pier.

"Locating that piece of wire among scores of pilings was a good deal like finding a needle in a haystack," Petersen said, "and without the flashlight I was as good as drowned. But the fresh batteries I had put in the light kept it working even after they had been soaked over and over as I floundered around under the pier. If they had failed at any time I would have been completely out of luck."

Petersen got to a nearby saloon, where an ambulance was called. He was in the hospital for four days under treatment for exhaustion and the effects of his icy swim.

Capt. Holger Petersen

AUSTIN—(Special) — Another week will about end the 47th regular session of the Texas Legislature.

The members are weary, very weary. It has been a terrific strain on the nerves—this session which began and carried through nearly five months of a period when everything or anything can happen to governments and peoples all over the world. Much of the uncertainty that exists in the world today has been reflected in many attitudes of the legislators toward measures of all kinds. During the last two weeks, in particular, observers in the galleries have noted a slackening on the part of many of the legislators, who give vent to their pent-up energies in a loud manner. Cat-calls, loud cheers, much hand-clapping and bursts of yelling are now just part of the business each hour of each day the boys are in session. And most of the members are now most certainly not in a mood for kidding. After they go home and rest up for several weeks, many of them will see clearly where many mistakes were made. But there also have been many accomplishments if the enactment of more laws means accomplishment. After all, the 150 House members and the 31 senators pretty nearly represent a true cross-section of the people as a whole. They are not wholly bad, neither are they wholly good; just average folks. They are inadequately paid. They will go home only to dig into other jobs at which to make a living for the next 18 months. The $1300 they drew in salary will not last long; most of it is already spent. With all their faults, the legislators are a good decent bunch of men (and two women). If you, average reader, believe you could have done a better job, you just ought to try it one term. Most of the boys will be ready to swap jobs with you. The legislators, after all, have a job to do. They have done it to the best of their knowledge and ability. Our hat is off to them! That Hot Senate Race

While many more people are now discussing the special election to be held June 28th in Texas, there is a very noticeable slowing down of guess-work as to who will lead among the 21 candidates now filed with the secretary of state for the place in the U. S. Senate held by the late Morris Sheppard. In fact, the great majority of folks, in big city, small town or at the cross-roads store, will now readily tell you there is but one answer as to the probable winner and that is Governor O'Daniel. Most of the discussion now gets back to speculation as to who will go into second place or third place. Many still believe the young attorney general can go into second place but more, day by day, begin to believe he will drop into third place with either Martin Dies or even Lyndon Johnson taking second heat. Even football passers sometimes lose their stride. Two candidates already have resigned from the race in favor of O'Daniel, Hal Collins of Mineral Wells, and Virgil Arnold of Houston. There are likely to be several others in the next few days.

Will Texas Print Its Own Textbooks?

There is a bill on the calendar of the House of Representatives, authored by W. W. Bridges of El Paso, that will meet majority approval of all red-blooded Texans. It is a bill to require the printing of all school textbooks in Texas. The fact that it must be a good bill is indicated by the heavy opposition it has received from folks who can be influenced by big publishing houses of the North and East. There are even some misguided members of the State Board of Education who are against it.

Clean Up Started By O'Daniel

Following alarming reports in Austin of rotten conditions around some of the many Army camps in Texas, Governor O'Daniel asked special consideration last week-end of a proposed bill that would outlaw whisky and beer and wine within ten miles of any army camp. Legislator Jim Taylor of Kerens has agreed to sponsor the bill. It is the same kind of law Senator Sheppard asked of Congress before his death.

The Outstanding Inland Vacation Spot Of Texas

Yes, sir, it is, as you guessed, in the wonderful Kerrville area, high up in the Hill Country where the beauties of the Gaudalupé River never fail to entrance the visitors.

And the season for vacationing outdoors and fishing is just now opening. Most of you folks have heard of "Mountain Home," "Ingram," "Hunt," "Mystic Inn," and a dozen other summer retreats located in and near Kerrville. This "Heart of The Hills" city is ready for the greatest season in history. With all the vast defense payrolls in Texas, additional thousands will visit Kerrville this summer. And the fact is that it is less than six hours from 50 percent of the population of Texas. On a visit to Kerrville last week, the writer found the folks up there so friendly and so ready to extend an old-fashioned handclasp that he didn't want to go back to Austin. Then just one look across the blue hills lining both sides of the beautiful river! And he was told about the game fish that are being caught this summer. And about the new trails for horse-back riders. And about the new camp lodges along the river for many miles. And the facilities for golf. And about the beauty spots one could "shoot" with the camera! And how the night air was so invigorating these warm nights!

Already, Kerrville entertains 5,000 church folks each summer at the church camps; already, over

1000 boys and girls attend camps of their own; already, several hundred camps are found along the River that belongs to "old customers."

But, as any citizen of Kerrville will point out, the city can offer the summer visitor his choice of 1000 rooms, from hotels to lodges on the mountain-side. And they know how to be the perfect host. Their big aim in life is to entertain visitors and make them come back.

Kerrville, with 6,769 people, is 1650 feet above sea level with elevations in the county as high as 2500 feet.

Yes, sir, Texas is proud of Kerrville as it belongs to all of us. We can enjoy a real vacation right here at home this summer.

I Give You Texas

By Boyce House

The Mexicans have a proverb for it.

Guests and fish stink on the third day.

He who would be rich has not to pile up money but to diminish his wants.

It is a bad hen that feeds at home and lays abroad.

If the pitcher knocks the stone or if the stone knocks the pitcher, it is equally bad for the pitcher.

He who will revenge every spider's web, catch the fly and let the hawk go free.

By night, all cats are gray.

Keep yourself from the anger of a great man, from the tumult of the mob, from fools in a narrow way, from a widow that has been thrice married, from wind that comes in at a hole, and from a reconciled enemy.

Over the hill trailed a man behind a mule drawing a plow. Unexpectedly the plow hit a root; mule stopped and the man began to grumble as he fixed the hames: "Bill, you are just a mule, the son of a jackass, and I am a man made in the image of God, yet here we work, hitched up together year after year. I often wonder if you work for me or I work for you. Verily, I think it is a partnership between a mule and a fool, for surely I work as hard as you do, if not harder. Plowing or cultivating, we cover the same distance but you do it on four legs and I on two, therefore I do twice as much as you.

"Soon we will be preparing for a corn crop. When the crop is harvested, I give one-third to the landlord for being so kind as to let me use a small speck of God's earth. One-third goes to you and the rest is mine. You consume all of your portion except the cobs while I divide mine among nine children, six hens, two ducks and a banker.

"If we both need shoes, you get 'em. You are getting the best of me and I ask you, is it fair for a mule, the son of a jackass, to swindle a man, the lord of creation, out of his substance?"

"Why you only help to plow and cultivate the ground and I alone must cut, shock and husk the corn, while you look over the pasture fence and hee-haw at me. All fall and most of the winter, the whole family from baby up picks cotton to help raise enough money to pay taxes and buy a new set of harness and pay the mortgage on you. And what do you care about the mortgage? Not a thing, you ornery cuss. I even have to do the worrying about the mortgage on your tough, ungrateful hide.

"About the only time I am your better is on election day, for I can vote and you can't. And after election I realize that I was fully as big a jackass as your papa.

"And that ain't all, Bill. When you're dead, that's supposed to be the end of you. But me? The preachers tell me that when I die I may go to hell forever. That is, Bill, if I don't do just as they say. And most of what they say keeps me from getting any fun out of life.

"Tell me, William, considering these things, how can you keep a straight face and still look so dumb and solemn?" (Quoted from Lon Boynton's Lamar County Echo).

Around the corner I have a friend in this great city that has no end; Yet days go by and weeks rush on, And before I know it a year is gone.

And I never see my dear friend's face, For life is a swift and terrible race.

He knows I love him just as well As in the days when I rang his bell And he rang mine. We were younger then.

We were not busy, tired men— Tired of playing a busy game, Tired of trying to make a name.

"Tomorrow," I say, "I'll call on Jim, Just to show that I am thinking of him." But tomorrow comes and tomorrow goes, And the distance between us grows and grows.

Around the corner! Yet miles away!

"Here's a telegram, sir."

"Jim died today." And that's what we get and deserve in the end— Around the corner, a departed friend!
