-J-Most of the talk this week around here. . . and across the whole world, I guess, seems to be about the release of the hostages on the TWA flight and their safe return home. That is all but one, the sailor who the brutal murderers beat to death and tossed out of the plane, in a useless, senseless rage of anger. These murderers should be found, if possible, by their own country people and hanged for what they did to the defenseless man. If this type of outrageous situations continue no one will be safe anymore. Lets all pray that this type of thing will not happen to anyone ever again.

Talked to Milton Jensen the other day and he said he was having trouble getting enough folks to help with the needed jobs at the July 4th celebration at Frank Gray Park today. Sure hope he finally found enough because this is a very important project if the park association is to continue its great work of improvement at the park. They do a marvelous job folks, and they deserve all the support we can give Milton stated that he hoped to have a record crowd at the celebration this year. Many things are planned and everyone attending will have a lot of fun. So if you want to have a great day with your family and friends, go out to Frank Gray Park, beginning at 10 a, m. July 4th and enjoy the whole day, then stay for the musical, then top it off with the big fireworks display at dark.

Of course they need your financial help, so eat some of that great food they will have and pitch a little extra in the "Kitty" to help continue the great work that the Park Association does. Join the membership of the association. The dues are small. —J—

Talked with Charlie Garrett the other day regarding the land fill situation and he stated that the City Commissioners will conduct a public hearing on Monday, July 15 at 7 p. m. in the Gorman Senior Center for the purpose of allowing the public to give their imput and feelings on whether the City should continue to own and operate it's own land fill or to contract this service to a private contractor. Mr. Garrett stated that if you have any ideas on this to please come to th meeting and express them.

The city land fill is presently running out of space and something must be done, and soon, if the city is to continue operating its own land fill. So come on out and join the meeting to try and solve this question.

We have gotten a few nominations in for "Yard of The Month" and will have a picture of the winner either this week or next. So send in or call us on your nomination for yard of the

We hope that you and your family will have the greatest Fourth of July you ever had and that you will thank the Good Lord for the freedom that we enjoy in this GREAT LAND of ours. You really don't appreciate the freedom we enjoy until you are shocked into finding out how bad it feels to not have any freedom, like the hostages had to suffer recently. So lets all say a prayer to keep our land free from bondage and observe this Independence Day for what it should really mean to all of us.

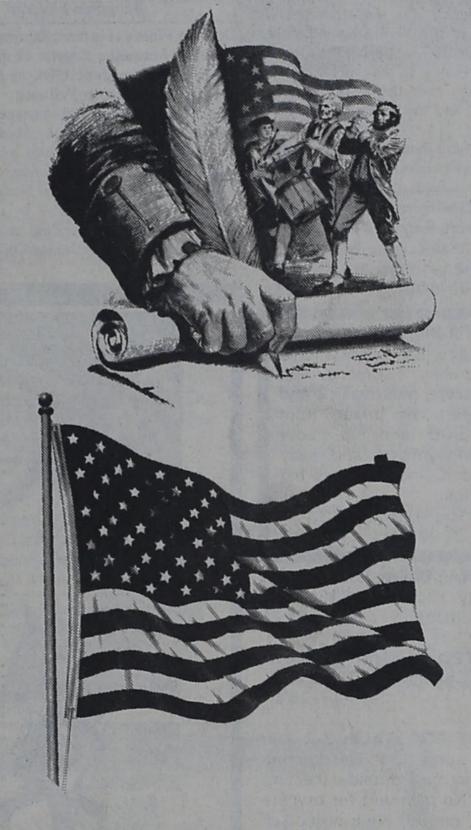

And remember to smile - - because God Loves You! -GP-

Grassroots Farm Bill wins subcommittee approval

(WASHINGTON, D.C.) - Major provisions of Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower's Farm Policy Reform Act of 1985 were adopted June 25th by a U.S. House of Representatives agriculture subcommittee. The Wheat, Feed Grains and Soybeans Subcommittee, chaired by Rep. Tom Foley (D-Wash.) approved on a voice vote several major commodity program components inspired by H.R. 2383, including a nationwide referendum among grain and soybean producers before requiring cuts in farm production to more closely match actual market demand. The bill also strengthens prices paid to farmers but virtually eliminates taxpayer subsidies. The entire House Agriculture committee is expected to consider the bill sometime in July.

Sponsored by Senator Tom Harkin (D-Iowa), Representative Bill Alexander D-Ark.), and co-sponsored by 20 other members of Congress, the Farm Policy Reform Act was developed in hearings which Hightower and others conducted around the nation beginning in late 1983. The proposal gained steam last

APPLICATIONS FOR PREKINDERGARTEN NOW BEING ACCEPTED

The State Board of Education has adopted rules specifying how state funds will be distributed to school districts to pay for prekindergarten programs. The Gorman Independent School District is now accepting applications for fouryear-old children who might qualify for a half-day prekindergarten program. This program is for children whose family income is at or below subsitence level and for children who are limited English proficient. Those children who have older brothers or sisters in the free lunch program would qualify.

This will be the first time that half-day prekindergarten will be offered in Texas public schools. The purpose of the program will be to assist students in learning English and to prepare them for kindergarten. A prekindergarten class will not be taught unless there are at least 15 four year olds who qualify under state guidelines.

For more information contact the school at 734-2614 or pick up an application at the high Walter Goodwin school office.

week when House Majority Leader Jim Wright of Fort Worth circulated a letter of support to all other House members.

"We know that farmers must be able to make a profit to stay in business. We must act to save our precious topsoil and protect our natural resources. It may be the last chance for many of our farmers; this is our last chance in this decade to deal with this crisis. Farmers themselves under this legislation will have the final say in its implementation by a national referendum," Wright said.

He added that the bill will cost the government less than the Administration plan. "This market-oriented bill," Wright said, "will keep our people on the land and our agricultural production in the hands of family farmers. It will stop the madness of selling more for less that grips the world markets. This bill will say to the world that farmers deserve a fair price for their labor."

"We're just a little way down the long row that we still have to hoe," said Hightower. "But we've already astounded the Washington 'experts' who thought a commonsense proposal from the turnrow would never get a congressional hearing. But our 'farmer bill' is not only getting heard, it's collecting more support every day from rural and urban members of Congress alike who realize that the Farm Policy Reform Act is in the best interest of consumers, taxpayers and family farmers."

Would our forefathers be proud if they could see what became of the nation they began? We think so, for the doctrines and ideals they set into motion 209 years ago have survived, and our cherished freedom still serves as our greatest strength. We believe that if they could see their handiwork, they would celebrate. And so, we celebrate, for their dream is our reality.

DEATHS ESTIMATED FOR

AUSTIN-The Texas Department of Public Safety estimates that as many as 17 people will die in traffic accidents in the state during the 30-hour July 4 holiday period.

Though this year's estimate is lower than last year's death toll, the final figure could be even lower if Texans refrained from drinking and driving, stayed within the speed limit and buckled their safety belts," said Colonel Jim Adams, director of the DPS.

Lars year, 20 persons died in crashed on Texas streets and highways during the July 4 holiday period. Three additional fatalities resulting from serious injuries during the period pushed the final toll to

"This year's estimate of 17 deaths compared to the higher number of fatalities last year is in keeping with a downward treand in Texas traffic fatalities," Adams said.

In 1984, 48 percent of the fatalities reported during the July 4 period resulted from accidents in which speed or DWI was listed as a contributing factor.

"In an effort to limit the number of deaths, additional DPS troopers will again be patrolling rural roads and highways during the holiday period," Adams said.

The Department's "Operation

Motorcide," in which the number of fatalities will be reported at intervals through the period to remind Texas drivers of holiday driving dangers, begins at 6 p. m. Wednesday, July 3 and continues through midnight Thursday, July 4th.

refered to as the Children's Trust Fund, the Legislature changed the marriage license fee from $7.50 to $25 for each marriage license issued. This, in and of itself, would not be remarkable or particularly noteworthy except for the fact that $12.50 of each such marriage license fee is dedicated to a fund, administered by a new nini-member Council on Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention, with funds to be used to prevent child

I suppose that this theory of "user fee" pretty well carries the concept to its ultimate, logical conclusion. The reasoning appears to be that the recipients of marriage licenses will likely have children, that a percentage of these children will be abused, and that the persons causing the abuse should pay for the prevention thereof. The logic may be correct but it is a little complicated.

The motives are good and the program has at least a reasonable chance of success. I have some personal reservations about creating yet another bureaucracy to administe the funds; however, the creation of bureaucracy seems to be one of the things the Legislature does best.

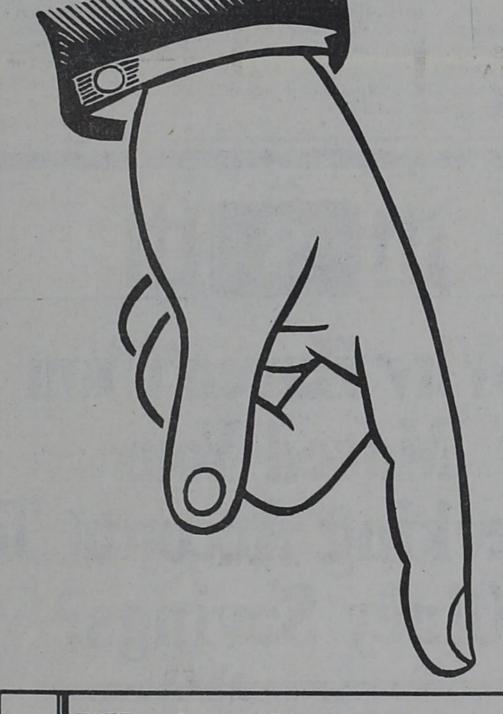

I think it is important that I point out the historical fact that social programs funded with tax dollars, good or bad, are most beneficial to those persons and those areas with the knowledge and sophistication to use the programs. As I understand this specific program and funding mechanism, the council created to administer the funds will channel funds back to local areas to deserving groups who can prove that they have the organizational strength and ability to implement and carry out local programs of child abuse prevention.

As I see the impact of this plan, realistically, each county in my district must establish some sort of program to take advantage of this funding. If we do not do this our money, as has historically been the case, will be transferred to major metropolitan areas and used in their programs.

I do not necessarily like the game, well motivated though it might be, but if we want to get our share of the prize we have to play the game.

For any of you who have an interest in this area and feel you are a part of, or would like to establish a local organization of this general type and nature, to prevent child abuse, and would like to avail yourselves of these funds to finance your operation, please contact me.

It is the same sad story, if we don't gei it, someone else will.

INVESTMENT TAX CREDIT IS NEEDED BY NATION'S FARMERS

WASHINGTON* D.C. — The chairman of Deere & Company today urged the House Ways and Means Committee to retain the investment tax credit at least as it applies to the nation's farmers.

In a statement submitted to the Committee, Robert A. Hanson said . that the repeal of the investmentcredit in President Reagan's tax reform proposal would add an estimated $590 million a year to the tax burden of farm operators "wwo are still enduring one of the longest farm recessions in history."

He estimated that the increased personal exemptions and the lower tax rates provided by the tax reform proposal would decrease farmers' Federal income taxes by $380 million but the repeal of the investment credit would increase their taxes by about $970 million.

Under current law, if a farmer purchased equipment for $30,000, he would be entitled to an investment

Hummingbirds: Spoon-fed and Bedded

Suppose you want hummingbirds in your backyard but, for one reason or another, you can't provide the bright-colored flowers that best attract them. Must you go hummingbirdless the rest of your life? Not necessarily. In fact, many people confine their attempts to attract "hummers" by placing feeders around the yard.

Nutritionally, feeders are not ideal for hummingbirds, but, properly stocked and maintained, they can serve as good food supplements and the birds will visit them. If you opt for feeders, here are some tips:

Feeders: Choose a red plastic feeder, since hummingbirds are strongly attracted to the color red. If you can't find a completely red feeder, look for one with lots of red on it. Failing that, dress the feeder in red—a bow or a sock; or hang a red hat or place a red bow nearby. Anything red will catch a hummingbird's eye. Make sure the feeder comes apart easily so that regular cleaning will be a simple process.

Placement of feeders: Hang a feeder where you can see it easily from a window or a deck, but don't place it so close to a window that the hummingbirds will fly at their own images reflected in the glass-a major cause of hummingbirds' deaths around part table sugar, heated only long enough to completely dissolve the sugar. You don't need to add red food coloring but be sure your feeder is, in part, red. Fill the feeder and store the remainder in the refrigerator in a clean glass or plastic container. A higher sugar concentration than four parts water to one part sugar can, in the long run, cause kidney or liver damage.

Feeder care: Feeders need cleaning every two or three days to prevent the solution from fermenting, thus possibly harming the hummingbirds. When you are on vacation and can't keep up with the cleaning service, take the feeder down.

Nesting Habitats

Hummingbirds nest in a variety of habitats throughout the U.S., many in the mountainous west or in deserts; others in deciduous or evergreen forests across southern Canada, and throughout the United States. To be a hummingbird host you might also consider their nesting needs.

A nesting box will not entice hummingbirds, but several moderate-sized evergreen or deciduous trees and shrubs in your yard may encourage the birds to nest there. They'll build in dense foliage, usually in the fork of a very small limb. They make their tiny, camouflaged nests of spider webs, hair, bits of lichen and other materials.

If you're lucky enough to get nesters, you can be sure to hold their attention with flowers and feeders-and perhaps a sprinkler or shallow pool for baths.

NEWTIME SHARE

Previously I have discussed some of the problems Texans have faced with resort timesharing. During the recent legislative session I lobbied the legislature long and hard to enact new consumer protection laws. They saw the magnitude of these consumer scams, and did pass legislation which should help eliminate some of these problems. New timeshare resorts will have to comply with the law beginning in September. Resorts which began sales before July 1 will have until January 1, 1986 to comply with the

WHAT THE NEW LAW SAY

 The most important provision in the new law is a three-day right of rescission for those consumers who did not purchase at the site of the resort. This is a right to cancel for anyone who purchased off-site and anyone who did not get a chance to inspect a uni substantially the same as the one they purchased.

Purchasers who go to the resort and look at a unit like the one they are purchasing do NOT have the three day cancellation right.

 Anyone who wants to sell timesharing in Texas will be required to register with the Texas Real Estate Commission. Check first to make sure the company soliciting your business is registered. If not, report them.

The law requires that all promoters of timesharing inform consumers they solicit that they will be subjected to a sales pitch. This is important because many unsuspecting people have been lured to timeshare presentations through promises of gifts, without being told that they would have to endure a sales pitch in order to claim their gifts.

Of course, we do not expect the law to solve all the problems that have arisen in the past. And, we will still have high pressure salesmen trying to talk you into "the deal of a lifetime."

• The consumer must always remember that a deal that seems "too good to be true," probably is. Always read what you are asked to sign, and insist on taking a day or two to think about the offer. Any salesman who tells you the deal he is offering you is good only at the time of the offer is not to be trusted.
