RANGER HOME RAZED BY EXPLOSION

Brooklyn Nabs Third Game 2 to 1

SPEAKER SCORES ONLY RUN FOR CLEVELAND

By Associated Press.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 7.—The Trolley Dodgers got to Ray Caldwell, Cleveland's veteran flinger, in the very first round of the third game of the world's series. Caldwell contributed the first step in his downfall by walking Olson. Johnston sacrificed and Sewell's error put two men on with one down. Wheat and Myers clubbed their way into the hearts of Brooklyn fans with hearty wallop which sent two runs across and chased Caldwell from the game.

"Dusty" Mails, the Pacific Coast leaguer who has been burning up the American circuit for the past month or so, took up the hurling burden. He carried it lightly. He retired the Brooklynites without further scoring and held them safe until the end of the seventh, when Nunamaker batted for him and hit into a double play. Uhle retired the Brooklynites in order in the eighth.

Sherrod Smith's fork-hand twisters were too much for the Clevelanders throughout the game. The hits were few—three to be exact—and they were badly distributed. O'Neill was the only successful hitman on the Indian squad, he drawing down two knocks. Free transportation several times placed the visitors in a position to count, but the finishing punch was wanting.

Cleveland's lone tally came in the fourth when Speaker busted a two-bagger into left and continued on home when Wheat failed to trap the bounding pellet.

There will be no game tomorrow, as the series is now transferred to Cleveland, where the next four games will be played.

FIRST INNING.

Cleveland—Evans looked two strikes over then rapped a grounder to Olson. Wambsgans walked. Speaker hit to Johnston and was nipped to first. Wambsgans-taking second. Burns sent a grounder to Olson. No runs, no hits, no errors. Smith threw three balls and two strikes to all batters except Speaker.

BROOKLYN—Olson drew a pass. Johnston sacrificed. O'Neill making the throw in first. Griffith was safe at first and Olson took third when Sewell fumbled Griffith's tap. Wheat lined a single into left, scoring Olson. Myers dropped a Texas leaguer over first on which Griffith registered and Wheat took second. Caldwell was derrieked and Mails took over Cleveland's hurling task. He opened auspiciously by forcing Konetchy to pop to Wambsgans, and Kilduff fouled out to Wood. Two runs, two hits, one error.

SECOND INNING.

Cleveland—Gardner lifted a fly to Griffith. Wood also hit to right, Griffith making a good running catch. Sewell rolled a slow one about twenty feet inside first, Konetchy taking the tap and Smith covering the bag. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Brooklyn—Miller waked, but Smith's attempted sacrifice was caught on the fly by Mails and Miller was doubled off first. Olson singled and went out stealing on the second pitched ball to Johnston.

THIRD INNING.

Cleveland—O'Neill hit a grounder to ward first. The ball glanced off Konetchy's outstretched hand and was deflected toward Kilduff. Kilduff heaved it to Smith, who rushed over the bag and O'Neill was out. It was a great play by Kilduff. Mails flew out to center. Evans went out on a roller to Kilduff. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Brooklyn—Johnston went out on a roller to Wambsgans. Neiss batted for Griffith, who is weak against left-handers, and grounded to Sewell. Wheat singled over short. Myers popped up to Sewell. No runs, one hit, no errors.

FOURTH INNING.

Cleveland—Neiss now playing right field for Brooklyn. Wambsgans was thrown out by Olson, who made a brilliant stop. Speaker rapped the first pitched ball to left field for two bases and went all the way home when Wheat failed to intercept the bounding ball. Burns and Gardner both hit sharp rollers to Johnston and were retired at first. One hit, one run, one error.

Brooklyn—Konetchy walked. Kilduff sacrificed him to second. Evans intercepted Miller's long fly to left. Smith was out at first, unassisted. No runs, no hits, no errors.

FIFTH INNING.

Cleveland—Wood struck out. Sewell drew a pass. O'Neill singled to center and Sewell was held at second. Mails hit into a double play, Olson taking his grounder and nipping O'Neill at second and Kilduff relaying the ball to first. The throw was hurried and wide, but Konetchy made an apparently impossible stab and retired the runner. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Brooklyn—Olson flew to center. Johnston struck out. Neiss popped up to Burns. No runs, no hits, no errors.

SIXTH INNING.

Cleveland—Evans hit a high one to Wheat. Wambsgans hit a hot one back at Smith, who held onto the tap and retired the batter at first. Speaker's foul fly was caught by Konetchy. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Brooklyn—Wheat's foul fly was taken by Burns, who reached over into a spectator's box in making the one-handed catch. Myers singled to left but Konetchy hit into a double play, Wambsgans to Sewell to Burns. No runs, one hit, no errors.

SEVENTH INNING.

Cleveland—Burns fanned. Gardner

Knocked Out

CALDWELL

Ray Caldwell was called "through" when Manager Speaker decided to try him. Spoke's faith in Ray was justified, Caldwell celebrating his return to form in mid-season, 1919, by pitching a no-hit game against his former teammates, the Yankees. The past season he has been one of the Indians' regulars. Toward the end of the campaign, however, he appeared to tire and lost his effectiveness.

GRAND JURY CENSURES LAW FIRM'S ACTION

Name of Firm Erased at Request of Judge Hill.

Special to the Times.

EASTLAND, Oct. 7.—When the grand jury this afternoon made its final report of thirty-six indictments in the Eighty-eighth district court, it was found that the report called the name of a firm of prominent lawyers who had been visiting the jail and soliciting cases. Judge E. A. Hill called the foreman of the grand jury back and by request of the foreman the name of the firm of lawyers was erased from the report.

The report of the grand jury is as follows:

Grand Jury Report.

Eastland, Texas, Oct. 6, 1920
Hon. E. A. Hill, District Judge.

We, your grand jury, beg to report that we have been in session at this term of court eleven days and have examined 101 bills of indictment for felony and 11 misdemeanors.

The fact that bailiffs received such small compensation for their services we have trouble in getting processes served and a large number of witnesses have failed to be served and testify before the grand jury. In this connection we recommend that where complaints are filed and examining trials held, that all necessary witnesses be placed under bond or served with proper process to compel their attendance before the grand jury and thus save the county a great deal of expense in resubpoening witnesses.

We find that a firm of lawyers are in a way guilty of soliciting business in that they visit the jail and come in contact with parties in jail and are thereby employed in a number of cases, promising to make the bonds of such defendants. We believe that this is a bad practice and that the officer taking such bonds should require of the sureties to furnish such proof of their solvency. We regret this practice is being carried on because of the fact that numerous complaints have been made to this grand jury by parties who report that such rumors are being made throughout the county.

We find that the offense of robbery and robbery with firearms is growing rapidly and a great effort should be made to suppress it. In a number of instances these offenses have been reported to the officers and arrests have been made, and the injured parties failed to appear and testify. This could be largely overcome if the officer taking such complaint would require by proper process such witnesses to be held to testify.

We also find that many cases of bad checks have been called to our attention. These cases are extremely hard to run down and testimony sufficient to warrant indictments cannot be had. The fact that the representations made at the time of passing such check cannot be established and also that the consideration for which such checks were given is sometimes very indefinite and cannot be established. We believe greater care should be exercised by those taking these checks.

We have visited the county jail and find the same in a very crowded condition, but sanitary and no complaints were made by prisoners in this body.

We recommend that a finance committee be appointed at this term to look into all the finances of the county.

We would recommend that judgment forfeiting these bonds be taken by the county attorney and prosecuted to final judgment which would, in our opinion, stop such failure and bring defendants to trial.

We have been rendered valuable services by the officers of this court, for which we extend our sincere thanks.

Respectfully submitted,
D. J. JOBE, Foreman.

Two Men Held For Depot Holdup at Breckenridge

Special to the Times.

BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 7.—Two arrests have been made in connection with the robbery at the Hamon-Kell depot here on Sept. 28. In a statement made before a magistrate one of the accused is said to have implicated the other man under arrest, claiming it to be an inside job.

T. F. Farrisburg, a depot employee, is in jail. J. F. Cottrill is out on $1,000 bond, charged with being an accomplice of a man who has not been arrested, in the armed holdup.

S. SMITH

Fans called Southpaw Sherrod Smith "the new Nap Rucker" when he joined Brooklyn in 1915. Was born near Mansfield, Ga., in 1890. Started his pro career in 1910 with Greenboro and was shunted around to Jacksonville, Pittsburg, Minneapolis, Ft. Worth, Galveston, Meriden, Springfield, Louisville, Grand Rapids and Newark before Brooklyn signed him.

WOMEN SEVERELY INJURED BY FORCE OF GAS EXPLOSION

Tiny Baby Saved When Falling Timbers Form Arch Over Its Body; Impact of Explosion Rocked Houses and Windows For Many Blocks Last Night.

With almost every stick separated from its fellow, a four-room house on Rusk street lies in ruins this morning in mute testimony to the power of gas in conjunction with a lighted match.

The dwelling was demolished last night by a gas explosion. Crumbling timbers pinned Mrs. K. C. Kendal to the ground, breaking her left leg at the ankle and inflicting a scalp wound. Mrs. M. D. Hayler, who was also in the house when the explosion came, has an injured eye and other wounds about the head. Mr. Kendal has several minor bruises about the head and arms. An eight-months old girl baby, daughter of the Kendals, escaped without a scratch.

When the explosion came the timbers of the house, in falling, formed an arch over the child, preventing injury.

Husbands Not Hurt.

The husbands of Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Kendal were on the outside of the house at the time of the explosion. The injured women were carried to the Ranger hospital for medical treatment.

Match Lit Leaking Gas.

When interviewed this morning, Mrs. Kendal said that for some reason the gas would not burn in the house last night and both men went outside to investigate the matter. It being dark one of the men struck a match and the explosion followed.

The two families share the house and she and Mrs. Taylor were sitting in the kitchen. Mrs. Kendal said, and she had her baby in her lap. A part of the falling roof caught her left leg pinning her to the ground, but at the same time forming a shield for the baby.

Leaked Several Days. When questioned, she declared that she had been smelling gas around the house for several days and had told her husband about it. He, however, could find no leaks, and so paid the matter no attention.

Both men are employees of the Texas and Pacific Coal and Oil company and the building was owned by this company as were the gas lines. The families had only been living there a week, the building being furnished them without charge. The demolished structure had formerly been used by the oil company as an office for its garage.

Several men, who were acquainted with gas after investigating the explosion, find it queer that fire did not immediately sweep the wreckage. They say that it is not the nature of natural gas to explode and then extinguish itself.

This phase of the matter will probably lead to a thorough investigation by Texas and Pacific officials.

Injuries Not Critical.

Both the injured women are resting well in the hospital this morning. If no complications set up, Mrs. Taylor will be dismissed shortly. Mrs. Kendal, however, will probably have to stay in bed for several weeks.

The concussion from the explosion was so great that it was heard in nearly all parts of the city, and in the vicinity windows shook and dwellings rocked upon their foundations. Only a very small blaze appeared in the wreckage. This was near one corner of the building.

DOZEN KILLED IN EXPLOSION IN NAVY YARD

Oil Tank Ignition at New York on British Ship Believed Disastrous.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—An explosion occurred about 2 o'clock this afternoon aboard a steamer in the Brooklyn Navy Yard. It is reported that a dozen are killed and many injured. Ambulances and Red Cross workers were rushed to the scene. The vessel was declared to be of British registry and was in dry-dock for repairs when the explosion, believed to have originated in an oil tank occurred.

LACK OF RAINFALL MAY FORCE CATTLE MEN TO FEED STOCK

FORT WORTH, Oct. 7.—The fear that stockmen will be forced to feed this winter because of continued dry weather, is expressed in some of this week's range reports to the Cattle Raisers' association here. Practically no rain has fallen in three weeks in the stock grazing plains of the state, it is reported.

PHONE SYSTEM HERE TO SOON BE ADEQUATE

New Building and Full Equipment for City's Needs Immediately.

The local telephone company will move into new and permanent quarters soon and install a complete telephone system that will reach all sections of the city.

This information was given J. E. T. Peters, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, when in Dallas recently, by General Manager Carter of the Southwestern Telephone & Telegraph company. Before seeing Mr. Peters however, the official informed Mr. Newnam of the telephone company that a deal was pending for a building and the company's plans for an expansion would go forward rapidly.

While in Dallas Mr. Peters was told that the deal for the building would be closed this week and that he would receive notification of that fact. Mr. Carter also assured him that his company had plenty of money to carry out its plans for giving Ranger a first class system and would only be delayed by lack of material.

The Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Carter stated, would be kept in touch, through the company's head engineer, with plans for expansion and improvements as they are carried out.

The Chamber expects to receive an announcement within the next two days that the building has been secured.

DEFFEBACH SEES NEED FOR NEW SCHOOL

Agrees With Mayor Hagaman That Bonds Should Be Voted Soon.

"I believe that a new high school building is an absolute necessity if Ranger perfect the school organization now under way." This is the opinion expressed by Thomas G. Deffebach, member of the Ranger school board. Mr. Deffebach continued by saying that it required several months to care for the details of a bond election and that he was sure that by the time the bonds were voted and sold and the money secured, labor and the condition of the material market would be settled to such an extent that construction could go forward without delay.

The school district owns a double block where its present high school buildings now stand, and Mr. Deffebach thinks the new building should cost $250,000 and be erected just to the rear of the present brick structure. He thinks a more ideal site could not be found, since the land is high and dry and the location is almost in the center of population.

Together with other members of the school board, Mr. Deffebach is a strong advocate of efficient schools as a town builder.

ROAD PLANS FOR RANGER DECIDED ON

Tentative Routes for Bankhead Highway Evolved by Chamber Committee.

Tentative routes for Eastland county's good roads through Ranger were decided upon by the Chamber of Commerce last night.

The decisions will be recommended to the county's engineers who have stated that the chamber's road committee's recommendations will be accepted provided they do not involve engineering difficulties.

The Bankhead Highway, which is now graded to the city limits, will follow the course of the Strawn road to Hunt street. From Hunt street it will turn into Oak, thence to Main and to Marston street. It will traverse Marston to Humble avenue and then follow a course along the south side of the Humble properties through the McCleskey tank farm to a point where it will pass under the Texas and Pacific railroad.

The Pleasant Grove road will go out Main street and up the present road over Eastland hill, provided the engineering

Hamilton Laughs When Jury Gives Him Twenty-Five Years for Taking Diamond Ring From Billy Edwards

By M. McCULLOUGH

Special to the Times.

EASTLAND, Oct. 6.—Dan Hamilton was given a 25-year sentence in the state penitentiary by a jury in the Eighty-eighth District court of Eastland county Tuesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock.

The case was put on trial Monday morning. This is the second case tried against this man. The first case charged him with robbery with firearms and with forcing Cleve Barnes to turn over to him $600 in money in the Ranger gambling house. This second case charged him with robbing Billy Edwards of a diamond ring of the value of $200. In the first case he was given ten years in the penitentiary.

Witnesses Elsewhere.

A good portion of the time of the trial was taken up in hearing a motion for continuance filed by the defendant, in which he claimed that certain witnesses were absent who were present at the night of the robbery; and it was claimed that if they were present the defendant could prove that he was drunk that night and remained all the time in his room at the hotel. Mrs. Etta Moore, the proprietor of the hotel, stated that Hamilton came in early that night with two men and went to his room and that he did not come out of his room till next morning. The persons wanted by the defendant were: J. C. Hester, J. C. Fox, J. J. Wilson and Fleck Erick, and alleged affidavits by these men were attached to the application for a continuance.

The state ought to show that no such persons lived in Ranger or had been there. Several persons were called to the stand to show that these parties did not live in Ranger. The most that the officers at Ranger could say was that they had never heard of such persons. Tuesday John Mays, attorney for the defendant, was called to the stand and he explained that he wrote affidavits in his office, and that a man by the name of W. C. Hester, whom he had never known before, came in and stated to him that he knew three men who would swear that they stayed with Hamilton that night in his room and that he was not at the gambling house, that Mr. Mays wrote the affidavits in blank and sent them by Hester to be signed. Mays further stated that he had never seen the alleged witnesses, and that the affidavits were mailed back to him.

The principal witnesses for the state were the same as in the former case, Bill Edwards, Cleve Barnes and three others who were at the gambling house that night, all of whom were among those who were subjects to the hold-up.

Hamilton laughs.

Hamilton laughed heartily and conversed pleasantly with the sheriff and others when the verdict of the jury was read in his presence this evening.

Notice has been given that the defendant will first apply for a new trial and if that is overruled, the case to the court of criminal appeals.

LAMB.
"Darling Mine," the exquisite comedy-drama starring Olive Thomas, the pretty little Selznick star, which opened for two days at the Lamb theater yesterday, is the epitome of effervescent humor characteristic of the Littoral Isle of perpetual smiles and romance—Ireland. Although the scenes are laid in America, the leading character role is that of a real Irish lassie, who never once loses her Gaelic identity, even in the maelstrom of the world's greatest melting pot, New York. And winsome Olive, herself a daughter of the Emerald Isle, fits the part like a glove.
The insistent spirit of mirth arrives with the opening scene of the picture and never once forsakes the plot until a knowing police dog takes up the trail of the buried slipper and actually "trees" the pretty star for her lover in the final close-up.
And, by the way, the incident of the "buried slipper" is in itself a moment of rare humor, it being the putting into practice of an old Irish tale asserting that the girl who buried her slipper with money in it would surely find out straightway the identity of her real lover.

As elfish Kitty McCarthy, Miss Thomas has scored the biggest success of her career. She is pleasing and at the same time convincing, making the part perfectly natural and true to life. She is supported by a most capable cast, the picture is superbly directed and shows excellent photography. It is a picture which will surely add a host of new friends to the legion already numbered by this pretty star.

WHIPPLE JOINS WEST TEXAS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

STAMEFORD, Oct. 7.—Wilson K.
Whipple, former manager of the Pan-

RANGER AND BRECKENRIDGE ARE SIAMESE TWINS OF OIL BELT, SAYS CURTIS HANCOCK

Slump in Either Would Injure the Other, Says Secretary of Commerce Club

BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 7.—That a community of interest exists between Ranger and Breckenridge, the dissolving of which will react to the detriment of both cities, is the belief of Curtis Hancock, secretary of the Breckenridge Chamber of Commerce.

No rivalry should be fostered between the two cities, according to Mr. Hancock, who declares that the hurt of one city would be the hurt of the other.

"It is, and has been, recognized that Ranger is the gateway to the fields of Stephens county. Through Ranger has come and will continue to come the largest proportion of the people and supplies used in Breckenridge and Stephens county fields.
This condition is so widely recognized that even now, persons outside of the state, who are unacquainted with the geographical lay-out of the two cities, believe that Ranger is in Stephens county.

"There is still another thing that links Ranger and Breckenridge together. Many of the leading spirits working in a constructive way in Breckenridge have similar interests of one sort and another in Ranger.
Constantly these men are traveling back and forth between the two cities.
"There is enough riches in the North Central Texas fields for the prosperity of both cities. If Ranger were to slump it would injure Breckenridge in a direct and serious way. The same truth, I believe, holds true if Breckenridge were to lose impetus. However, neither city will slump up, I believe, if the aggressive men in both cities work in co-operation for the joint welfare and progress of both cities.

Ranger Is Gateway.

"Because of her position as the gateway through the supplies of different sorts and individuals who are the potential population of the oil fields must come, Ranger holds a strategical position of much importance. Ranger is just as stable a city today as any in the state. This same is true of Breckenridge, a younger city, now out of its swaddling clothes and growing, but still conscious of the period a short time ago when it looked to Ranger as the parent city.

good it done me. There isn't a blotch on my head now and I couldn't help but

RANGER MEN TO ERECT BUILDING AT JIMKURN

JIMKURN, Texas, Oct. 7.—A. R. Mc-

"Beaumont at that time presented the same aspect of hurried growth," he continued. "Since then, by the investment of the underground wealth in other forms of industry, it has grown into a well built and prosperous city of some 40,000.
"I look for the same thing to happen to Ranger. Already the substantial buildings in the business district give evidence that the town is building for permanence and future growth. I look for Ranger to duplicate the experience of Beaumont. That city, in addition to its oil activities, because of its pipe line connections, has become the center of the largest oil refining district in the world. Ranger's pipe line connections in the North Central field should give it a tremendous opportunity in the same line."

JOHNSTON

Wheeler Johnston, or "Doc," as he is generally called, got into major league baseball by way of Cleveland, tried Pittsburg a while, slipped back to the minors, and then came back in a blaze of glory to Cleveland again—and has played such sensational baseball at first base that he is heralded as a leading first baseman. Not a little credit is due the Indians' lieutenant to the great play Johnston has shown at first base, especially during the first part of the season, when he was batting in wonderful form.

"Doc" pulled off his first professional baseball in the Southern association, picking out Chattanooga as his starting point. He was a regular the first year he tried it and batted better than .300. Cincinnati bought him right off, but didn't get him into even one big league game, sending him instead to Buffalo, where he lasted a few ball games before being moved again, this time to Chattanooga again. In 1911 Johnston became a member of the New Orleans club which disposed of him to Cleveland through a working agreement. He played forty-three games at first base for Cleveland in 1912.

Cleveland asked waivers on Johnston in the fall of 1914, and Pittsburg claimed him. He lasted two years with Pittsburg and then was sent to Chicago in a trade. Chicago released him to Birmingham, which club sold him to Milwaukee. In 1918, when young players were being called to service, Johnston again got a big league assignment. Cleveland bought him and there he sticks.

J. JOHNSTON

Wilbert Robinson has led his team over a rough and stormy passage in his career in the 1920 world's series—stormier and rougher perhaps than the average baseball fan realizes. For that reason he has been forced to do some strange things to his ball club to make it alright.

For instance, there is the case of Jimmy Johnston, who is doing the third base job on the Dodgers. Jim, as every baseball fan knows, started life in the major as an outfielder and did a very good job of it. When Chuck Ward and various other members of the Brooklyn club were injured, however, something had to be done about it. Robinson already had given Johnston some infield work, and Jim himself recalled that he once played the infield in a minor league, so Jim got the assignment.

Johnston is known as one of the fastest players in baseball, regardless of the fact that he has been unable to do any great amount of base stealing since he ran into major league throwing. During one season on the Pacific coast, however, he stole 124 bases.

Johnston started in professional baseball as an outfielder with the Kewanee club of the Central association in 1908. He spent two years there and then was sold to Portland, which, in turn, released him to Seattle, of the Northwestern league, later selling him to Ottumwa. The White Sox gave Johnston a trial in 1911, but didn't think much of him and sent him to Birmingham under an optional agreement. He was recalled, but immediately released to San Francisco, which sold him to the Cubs. James did fifty games for the Cubs, but couldn't get started right, so he went back to the coast, this time to Oakland, where he spent a year. In the spring of 1916 Jimmy jumped to the Federals, but the peace pact soon was signed and he was claimed by Brooklyn.

Twirling Star

GRIMES BROOKLYN.

Burleigh Grimes, from Wisconsin, will get into this year's world's series because Wilbert Robinson had faith in him and stuck to him when he didn't appear to be ready as a big leaguer. Robbie bought him from Pittsburg, including players in the deal, and declared himself satisfied even when it appeared Grimes couldn't last in the big show. Grimes has proven Robinson a knowing man, for he has been the most consistent winner and strongest worker of the great Brooklyn pitching staff this year.

Grimes started his baseball career with Ottumwa, of the Central association, and was taken to Detroit at the fall end of the same season—1913. He was released to Chattanooga early in 1914 and wandered around in the Southern league among various clubs and with one club in the Virginia league until Pittsburg bought him in 1916. He was with Pittsburg two years, showing plenty of ability but no knowledge of how to use it.

In 1917 Wilbert Robinson sent Grimes and Outshaw along with a wad of cash to Pittsburg in return for Grimes and Al Marzullo, another pitcher. Grimes won nineteen games and lost nine in 1918, but slumped to ten victories and eleven defeats the following year. This year he really has found himself. He will be Robinson's mainstay in the forthcoming series, according to indications.

LIGHTNING FIRES BARN

BAIRD, Texas, Oct. 7.—A bolt from an electrical storm struck a barn owned by Virgil F. Jones, just outside the city limits and set fire to the building.

The family horse was rescued, but was so badly injured by the fire that it was necessary to shoot the animal. The barn was full of freshly harvested feedstuffs, none of which was saved. The loss was $2,000. There was no insurance.

The storm was preceded by a light rainfall of rain. Following this the zenith actually rained lightning bolts and the thunder crashed with cannon-like loudness. The storm lasted about thirty minutes.

Rock Island to Build Graham to Stamford Line

STAMFORD, Oct. 7.—Announcement that the Chicago Rock Island and Pacific railroad will shortly start construction on its west Texas line from Graham was received here with deep interest as it means that the line will probably come to Stamford as was contemplated several years ago. It is reported that Graham has raised $300,000 for the extension of the line to Eliasville and Crystal Falls, where he many coal beds of superior quality.

Eastward from Stamford for several miles there is a railroad grade which was thrown up several years ago when financial interests here proposed the building of a railroad to Fort Worth. A wonderfully rich territory east from Stamford would be quickly developed by a railroad. Throckmorton county, rich agriculturally and a good stock country, at present has no railroad. It has been figured that this country will follow Stephens county as the trend of development seems to have been from Desdemona to Ranger, Ranger to Caddo, Caddo to Breckenridge, and Breckenridge to Eliasville, Crystal Falls, etc.

Stamford has three railroads at present, all of which have their division points here. All directions from the city are served save the east. A line to Graham by the Rock Island would mean the opening of another eastern outlet.

STORY IN TIMES FINDS HOME FOR TINY BABY HERE

The six-day-old basket baby brought here by Captain J. T. Lynn, found a home yesterday afternoon shortly after the Times was on the street announcing her arrival. After her adoption Captain Lynn wrote a letter to the Times in which he says:

"I wish to thank you for your liberal assistance in finding my little girl baby a home. Within two hours after the paper was on the street the happy mother had the baby in her arms saying the words to it that only the instincts of a mother can coin, and loving it with caresses as if it was the blood of her body. She said that as soon as she could run and see her husband and bring him she was sure that they would want to take her. When she returned with him they were ready and willing to take the little girl into their home.

"The names of those adopting the child is withheld by request.

Captain Lynn, together with his wife, go about over the country with orphan babies seeking them homes. Where the child is very young, as in the case, they are carried in baskets by the venerable old man and woman, who are giving the last days of their lives to this work.

They have no orphans' home. They take the babies where they find them and keep them until a good home can be found. Their sole means of support is from donations from people who realize the good that is being done and are anxious to help the cause along.

NEW TRAINS TO BE RUN TO BRECK. SUNDAY

Two Additional Schedules to Begin Between Ranger and Breck, Announcement.

Staff Correspondent. BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 7.—Beginning next Sunday two additional passenger trains will operate between Ranger and Breckenridge on the Hamon-Kell line, it has been learned here. Four new passenger coaches have been added to the equipment of the road.

The new trains will probably run in mid-morning and mid-afternoon. The exact schedule has not been announced. The new addition of the two trains will bring a total of eight trains a day on the railroad between Ranger and Breckenridge.

Captain Lynn and his basket which has become famous over the state, expects to come to Ranger again soon and on the contemplated visit the basket will be occupied by a boy baby who is now one week old.

Though she is but eighteen years of age, Miss Pauline Buenzie has been placed in charge of the California state finger print department. Miss Buenzie is a finger print expert of exceptional ability.

TENDERFEET AT ROARING CAMP TRIMMED OF MILLIONS BY BAD-EYED BUCKAROOS

"You are charged with misuse of valuable time!" said the judge of Roaring Camp last night when a culprit was hailed before him. The specifications alleged by the vigilante who brought the culprit into court were that the defendant was idling about the city, taking advantage of the opportunities afforded him for paying court to the goddess, indulging in "shooch" or shaking a wicked ankle in the camp's dance hall.

"You plead guilty," the judge solemnly announced, and the culprit agreed. "And you are fined five Bucks," the official continued.

The source of revenue recognized that an appeal was of no avail. He reached into his pocket and produced a $5 bill of the U. S. variety.

"That money is counterfeit," announced the judge.

"Here, I'll sell you some real (B. P. O. money)," proffered a bystander, who appeared to have prospered in the camp.

"Arrest that man!" thundered the judge, and the profiteer was led away to the hoosegow.

That was a sample of the swift and sure justice meted out to evildoers at the opening of Roaring Camp last night. The miming camp of '49 was jammed with effete tourists from Ranger and the outlying communities. There were guns and "chaps" and bandana handkerchiefs and all accoutrements of the Wild West. A carnival had strayed into the haunts of the rollicking miners and dispensed entertainment and food for reflection to the curious. It out-barnumed Bailey at his worst.

Roaring Camp will continue its garish appeal to the fun-loving for the remainder of the week. The funds derived will go toward the Elks' benefit activities.

SIXTEEN ARRESTED LAST NIGHT, DRUNKS NUMEROUS IN CITY

The records for the week were broken last night by the police department for arrests when sixteen were made. Gambling charges and charges of drunkenness tied for first place, there being seven of each. The total was made up with two arrests on charges of fighting.

Seven men were arrested this morning at 3 a. m. in the Terrill building for gaming. The drunks were gathered in from all sections of the downtown streets.

SENATOR BRELSFORD SUGGESTED AS MEMBER OF COTTON COMMITTEE

Special to The Times. STAMFORD, Oct. 7.—That a West Texas man be one of the two composing the committee which shall go to Europe and study the cotton situation so as to relieve the present cotton dilemma in Texas is the request that has been made by telegraph upon Governor W. P. Hobby by Porter A. Whaley, manager of the West Texas Chamber of commerce.

The contents of the telegram to the executive reads:

"Urgently request and suggest that a West Texas man be one of the two men sent to Europe to study the cotton situation in accordance with the activity of the state legislature. Great cotton meeting participated in by representatives from all over West Texas held here Saturday and a very practical plan of handling low-grade cotton is now being worked out. Suggest you confer with Hon. H. P. Brelsford of Eastland, or J. A. Kemp of Wichita Falls, president and vice president, respectively, of this organization."

Two thousand ex-service men who, although living, are officially listed as killed, are forming a "Dead Men's club."

A POPULATION PICKUP.

The increase of population of Eastland county in ten years has been 25,034, and the total increase has been in the towns and villages. Outside of the towns the population is about the same as it was in 1910.

At that time 16,574 inhabitants lived on farms in Eastland county. The recent census gives 17,655 people living outside of the cities and towns. The bulk of this population is centered in oil camps and on oil leases and are not inhabitants of farms. According to this estimate the farms are nearly depopulated.

In 1910 2,663 people lived in Ranger precinct. Of this number probably 1,800 of them derived their livelihood directly from the filling of the soil, and the remainder were supported by the labor of the farmers.

Today in Ranger and vicinity there is a job for every man; no one need be idle if he is able to work. If 3,000 additional people should come into the city in the next two months there would no doubt be a surplus of labor. Yet to increase the population by that number would be desirable provided they could be properly supplied with work that would earn them a comfortable living.

If a factory should come to town that would give sustenance to that number of inhabitants it would be herded far and near. Around Ranger exists the opportunity for the community to absorb 3,000 or more people. The farms are the answer.

If filling the soil would provide for that number of people ten years ago it will do that and more now. An increase of population to that amount would be agreeably felt by the business in Ranger. The additional money they would put into circulation would amount to not less than $30,000 per month. It would take considerable factory to equal that.

The vicinity around Ranger should be especially attractive to the farming element for the reason that no time during the year should either he or his teams be idle. Here during the off months employment could be derived to provide a family during the year. Neither is there any doubt as to the fertility of the land. In other years men have raised large families here, and to raise large families it is necessary to raise other things.

One citizen who is a back-to-the-farm enthusiast declared that his father raised hogs and corn and cotton and kids and he knew that any man willing to work can make farming pay around Ranger.

PUBLIC FORUM

RANGER—ITS MORALS AND FUTURE.

The feverish excitement which prevailed in this city during the months when the rich strikes in oil were first being made is now a thing of the past. During this reign of buoyancy, all classes of people of varied characters, came in take on their abode here not knowing when conditions would change, not giving that much thought. Their sole aim was to make money.

No civilized man relishes conditions similar to those which existed here during the rush, either from a standpoint of comfort or morals. Consequently the people who came here, came not for the purpose of bettering conditions but were directed by purely selfish motives.

Without I know of no better situated city in the whole country from a commercial viewpoint than Ranger. It is truly the "Hub of the Oil Fields." But our good fellow-citizens, will you be satisfied with a more commercial city? Are you satisfied with present moral conditions? Isn't there something of greater value than money? Will money without morals stabilize your city and assure of permanency? Practically no laws are enforced more rigidly than public sentiment demands. God's morals do not prevail without enforcement of law. Without morals there is no Christianity. We are the public. Does our sentiment demand the enforcement of law?

When the good people of this city adopt the motto, "Morals first, the rest will take care of itself," the sea of righteousness will swell and the riff-raff and scum will float off to parts unknown. The world will learn of Ranger as a decent place in which to live and the best of people, the foundation material for a real city, will be attracted by its wonderful possibilities and opportunities. Respectfully,
 J. W. MCKINNEY,
 Minister Church of Christ.

THE WOMAN WHO SAW

Not in vain.

Whang! Bang! "That," said the Woman, "must be the cover of a garbage can." It was the cover of a garbage can, but not removed this time by the grumpy little hands of the sportive youth of the neighborhood. A dog—no particular kind of dog, just a dog, a plump black and white—no, rather a black and dingy gray—animal of mingled pointer and bull terrier lineage—stood on his hind legs investigating the interior of the can with an enthusiasm which is equalled only by a candidate for a patriotic society engaged in research work in the genealogical room of the public library.

The dog was plainly not starving. This was the cult of beauty for beauty's sake. There was something rare and priceless in that can, something compared to whose scent the perfumes of Araby the best were merely whiffers, for while he rooted his plump hindquarters quivered and his tail wagged a symphony of joy.

He was rapt—but his canine intuition told him that an approaching step was that of a sympathetic and dog-loving soul, and he removed his head from the can in the hope of a pat. However, it was a conscientious young man who saw in the sharp-rimmed cover lying on the pavement a menace to pedestrians. He replaced it on the can, and with a friendly word to the dog would have gone on his way.

But the dog was quite sure that here was indeed the understanding soul. Dangling himself on his hind paws, he showed at the cover with his nose, whining his remonstrance. And the young man proved to be one of the twelve elect souls. Laughing, he removed the lid, placed it safely behind the can, and with a friendly pat, went on his way. Was he a gentleman? A really truly gentleman? The dog's head was once more buried in the can, but his tail told the world that Sir Philip Sidney after all was not the only one of his kind.

Cheated.
 The Canteen Girl was putting in a busy day at the cash register at the Navy club. But she was not too busy to notice that one faithful gannet's mate was showing marked ardor in his attentions to the Comely One in cap and apron who was responsible for tables 1 and 2. He had helped her carry trays, and stood for two hours with ice cream clippers during the evening rush—and what greater proof of true love than this, oh you with theaching wrists—and during the lulls, had found her comforting caresses and brought her food.

As they both passed the desk near closing time, the Comely One turned to say over her shoulder to Him-who-was-never-far-behind, "My two little boys would love to hear about that, if you can arrange to come to the house while you're in port."

His mouth drooped, eyes blinked, and he turned to the Girl, "Married?" with a significant pointing of his thumb in the direction of the idol, who was now on the run for a last order of "ham and." The Girl admitted that such was the respectable fact.

"My Gawd, and I wasted a whole day talking to her."

 "Camp is no longer a fad; it is a necessity. It takes the growing girl away from the contaminating influence of promiscuous bathing beaches and the gossip of board porches. It brings her into contact with fine companions. It develops the spirit of fair play, and through the guidance of high-minded counsellors it brings her to loftier methods of thinking." So said the camp director when the Modern Girl entered her younger sister in a camp in the White Mountains.

The Very Modern Girl went up to visit her for the week end. She was thinking of those high ideals as she went from tent to tent inspecting. But suddenly she passed outside the counsellors' tent. As she passed she heard:
 "Where is my soap; where is my soap? It must have gone the way of the wicked. If I can't find it I'll be some looking specimen."
 "Some-looking, I'll say you'll look like the end of a misspelt life. Don't stand there grinning; it's time for the bell. For Pete's sake, get a wiggle on."

TINKER BOB
 By CARLYSLE H. HOLCOMB

This afternoon me and Puds Simkins was setting on Pudes' front steps feeling like doing something but not being able to think of anything to do, and I sed, I tell you lets wade do, lets take a long wawk somewares, there and back.
 Gosh, G, all rite, lets take the longest wawk we ever took, sed Puds.
 Wich we started to do, wawking fast as anything and swinging our arms ambitious, me saying, This is grate exercise all rite, wen it comes to wawking theres nothing like a fine long wawk.
 You bet, it makes the blood circulate and everything, sed Puds.
 And we kept on wawking and wawking, almost as fast but not quite, and after a wile Puds sed, This is grate all rite, how much fether shall we wawk? mutch?
 Sure, lets go about 10 times fether, ony dont forget we haff to wawk all the way back agen, you dont want to start back yet, do you? I sed.
 Heck, no, lets take a fearse long wawk sed Puds. Wich we kept on doing slower and slower, and after a wile I sed, I dont believe wawking is the best exercise, do you, Puds?
 No, it all goes to the legs, sed Puds.
 And we kept on wawking about 5 more blocks the slowest yet, and a huckster wagging with a big step hanging down in back started to go past in the other direction, Puds saying, There goes a peechy hitch, Benny, wat dou you say we catch it back?
 Sure, wat do you say? I sed, and we snuck up, in back of the huckster waggin and scrouched down on the step and it took us all the way back all but 3 blocks.
 Proving you cant judge the end by the beginning.

THE CHALLENGE ON THE TREES.
 When this stranger appeared before the King of the Forest, he was more puzzled than ever before. For he never expected to see this fellow mixed into any kind of trouble with the other dwellers. "Speak to me, quickly," said the King. "Why are you so breathless, and what are you going to do with that bundle of sticks on your shoulder?"
 "Oh, King, I am hurrying with the sticks to the hole that I dug, for I must keep Snoopy the Bob Cat out. It was Mr. Wood Chuck that was talking. But Tinker Bob could not understand what Snoopy the Bob Cat had to do with Lady Duck and her trouble.
 Mr. Chuck had been digging all his life, and there wasn't a Creature in the whole Forest that could dig a hole as deep and as fast as he. But if Lady Duck was there in the hole, buried, why should he be afraid of Snoopy the Bob Cat—for Snoopy was very careful not to take anything to eat that was dead. He always wanted to kill his own food.
 "Mr. Chuck, tell me where the hole is that you are so careful about."
 "It is the distance of two oaks away from the home of Lady Duck." Mr. Chuck always measured the distance by oaks and the West Wind. "The Bob Cat has not found the hole yet, and I must hurry before he comes this way, for this is his path to the river." Mr. Chuck had only spoken the last word when there appeared from behind a great Elm tree the form of a Creature chouching to the ground. His ears were back and a low growl proceeded from his mouth.
 "Oh, he has heard me, he has heard me," cried Mr. Chuck, and away he went through the thicket as fast as he could go.
 It was Snoopy the Bob Cat crouching to the ground, and he had heard every word that had been said, and was very angry to think Mr. Chuck would say such things about him when he wasn't around.
 "What do you mean by getting so angry?" asked Tinker Bob. "Have you done any harm to Lady Duck? You straighten yourself right up here and come with me." Snoopy said not a word but followed the King.
 "Now for the home of Lady Duck," said Tinker Bob to the Creatures that were with him. "I shall soon see who is guilty and who is not."
 They had gone about the distance of two oaks when the King noticed a peculiar mark in the trees nearby. About a foot and six inches from the ground the bark was off. Usually this meant there was a challenge to some Creature to fight in the Forest. The King could not think who would make such a mark. Then Snoopy said as he crouched to the ground, "There comes the fellow that made the marks."
 Who do you think it was?

JOHN-A-DREAMS
CLVIII. DREAMS OF OLD AGE.
 Today I shall tell you of most wonderful dreams. They are those of old age.
 Have you ever dreamed that, suddenly, you have been changed into a feeble old woman—you, who are young and vigorous and have no silver strands among your tresses?
 In the case of a single woman, such a vision means that she will not wed for at least three years, though the day following the dream be set as her wedding day. Yet, she will be recompensed. For she will be far happier single than had she become a wife at this particular time.
 A married woman dreaming thus may prepare herself for the heartache of discovering that she has a rival; and, thereafter, she will be beset with fears every time she discovers a wrinkle in her face, lest her husband may see it also and seek youth and beauty elsewhere.
 A single woman who sees the man she loves suddenly change from young manhood to grizzled old age, is warned that she had better not marry him. The dream tells her that, though he be all that may be desired in a lover, he will be unable to make her happy as a husband.
 If a married woman's husband seems to turn into a feeble old man, the dream is a hint that, before long, her thoughts will begin to stray and finally settle upon a younger man. Such a vision, while apparently indicating a sweet adventure, really foreshadows unhappiness, for what else can result from the cravings of a wayward heart?
 To see a relative, near or distant, in the guise of old age, is a sign of wasting illness. Be it father or mother, brother or sister, uncle or aunt, a black fate hangs over that person.
 To dream that a friend has suddenly turned old is a sign that you and he

 One dream in this class is of particular importance. If an unmarried woman dreams that she is being kissed by a very old man, she will, in real life, become an old man's darling, will marry a man at least twenty years older than she. Though removed from all financial cares, she will deeply regret that she gave her Springtime into the frosty keeping of Winter.
 The next chapter will deal with Dreams of Spiders.

$50,000 TO SETTLE SUIT ON $200 LOAN, PONZI SAYS
 BOSTON, Oct. 7.—Charles Ponzi testified today that he had settled for $50,000 a suit of Joseph Daniels, based on a loan of $200, because the action of profits and tied up $521,000 of the money invested in Ponzi's get-rich-quick scheme, and, with a run on, Ponzi needed the money to meet demands.
 When he opened offices, Ponzi said, he bought his furniture from Daniels, paying $50, and, having no further funds, borrowed $2,000 from the furniture dealer. Today, for the first time in answer to a direct question, he said he had no partners and that he acted alone in his scheme.

heads plan to let the coal miners fight their way forward to a strike, which, with its accompanying inconvenience for the middle classes, is bound to be unpopular, and then confront the nation with a choice between an opposition, of which labor is a strong part, and a government which wants peace and prosperity in domestic affairs. To this end, declares the Star, the Unionist or Tory leaders are already quietly assembling their spellbinders and working out poster and publicity campaigns.

Await Ripe "Occasion." The pot is boiling over. Events will show what will develop, for the government must have a ripe occasion for throwing the nation into the disturbing period of an election, else face unpopularity itself.

In an election on such issues Lloyd George would be returned. Again an "if." He would be picked to head the ticket and would be returned if the men-behind-the-scenes thought Lord Birkenhead, until lately known as F. E. Smith, and of some fame in Ulster, to be not yet ripe for the premiership. He is being trained for that post.

BORDER REGULATIONS IRKSOME IN EUROPE

VIENNA, Oct. 7.—Instead of relaxing, the frontier regulations of the successor states of the old empire seem to become more rigorous. In Czecho-Slovakia they are particularly irksome and travelers register a great many complaints against the restrictions imposed. Baggage is searched to the last handkerchief, no food-stuffs of any kind may be taken out of the country and not more than 1,000 crowns in money. Business men are forced to go through tangles of red tape to secure permits to carry enough money to take them from city to city and pay hotel bills.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Gordon Woodbury.

BRASS BANDS DROWN MEMORIES OF WAR'S HORROR IN BELGIUM

BRUSSELS, Oct. 7.—American visitors to Belgium this summer were greatly struck with the almost incredible number of brass bands marching in the hundreds of street parades, celebrations of one sort or another, which occurred almost daily at Brussels or Antwerp.

In enjoying her first period of peace since the war, Belgium is observing every possible fete day and each of these seems to call out literally scores of brass bands.

Rheumatism

A Remarkable Home Treatment Given by One Who Had It.

In the Spring of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and sub-acute Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a treatment that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bedridden with rheumatism, some of them 70 to 80 years old, and results were the same as in my own case.

I want every sufferer from such form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of getting rid of your rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

Irish Crisis May Pry Lloyd George Loose From Power

By EARL C. REEVES. LONDON, Oct. 7.—Two gigantic things stand out in the political situation of Britain to date that are, perhaps, important enough to penetrate even the frenzy of political talk in which America is reveling at the moment.

They are: First—There is a strong suspicion abroad, voiced without equivocation by some that Lloyd George, after a career that is almost a miracle, has finally lost command of his Government. That Bonar Law, the leader of the Unionist party, and behind him, Sir Edward Carson of Ulster, Ireland, hold the reins.

Second—There is talk of another general election, another appeal to the country, in the air.

Result of M'Swinye Case. In simple form, the first situation is the result of the MacSwiney case and of the workings of the so-called coercion bill in Ireland. The story goes that the governors of Ireland, the men on the ground, agreed to attempt operation of the "restoration of order" bill on condition that they have absolute power, without interference from Downing street. The hunger strike cases made the issue international in its appeal. Lloyd George sounded a compromise keynote in Switzerland, then hastened home to find a graceful way of releasing the hunger strikers. Once here he ran into the promise he had given the government of Ireland. For two days he struggled then was faced by a flat ultimatum that if he released the hunger strikers his Irish government would resign and make no further attempts at operating the "restoration of order" law. It meant a Cabinet crash. Under pressure he signed an unequivocal pledge to carry out the law and let the hunger strikers die.

Was it an article of abduction? Did Bonar Law and Sir Edward Carson take over the real control of the government at that moment?

The next day officials of the Irish office pointed to the signed statement and said: "We've got him now." And Sir Hamar Greenwood, the Irish secretary, runs with Bonar Law.

Election Rumors. As to the general election. A week by political journal was the first to sound the warning. Its version was that Lloyd George planned to stand pat in opposition to relaxing vigilance in Ireland, and oppose to the last ditch the miners' strike agitation as revolutionary; then at the critical moment issue a call for a general election and go before the country on a law and order platform—maintenance of order in Ireland, and the defeat of all "reddish" or radical labor moves at home.

Since the MacSwiney episode the tune of the general election talk has changed appreciably. For months it has been no secret that the banking and property class has held that the way to save England from "Sovietizing" influences is to go to the mat with labor at once, and once and for all. The success of the Unionist or "Conservative" or "Tory" element in getting a strangle hold on the Premier in the matter of the hunger strikers has resulted in a new interpretation of general election talk. In this the Star, an opposition paper, leads, with the assertion that the "Tory" government

MAKE YOURSELF A BE-RIBBONED BLOUSE

By ELOISE. One of the prettiest new novelties in women's wearing apparel is the blouse made entirely from ribbon. It may be easily made by the handy needle-woman at little expenditure of time or money. In fact, it is a pleasant relief from the knitting of summer sweaters and sports hats and scarfs. These little be-ribboned blouses also make dainty gifts. They are usually made in the over-blouse style and there are any number of pretty designs to follow. The lines of the blouse are determined to a great extent by the width of the ribbon used. Dark broaded and oriental colored ribbons make very pretty suit blouses, while the lighter ribbons make afternoon and informal blouses. Here is a pretty little blouse fashioned of two-inch ribbon in a burnt orange shade with piped edges. It is made in a plain, simple style with three rows of ribbon forming the circle, which is worn outside the skirt. The sleeves are a little more than three-quarter length and a bit of orpardy or chiffon is tied in a studied careless fashion at the cuffs and the neck. The neck line is quite unusual and original in design.

Welling Tide of Immigrants Swamps Forces at Ellis Island

Millions on Millions of Aliens Seeking "Eldorado;" Many Forced to Sleep Standing Up

By Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Ellis Island, melting pot of the world, is boiling as never before, with the greatest flood of immigrants in history pouring into it. Millions more are clamoring at Europe's exits, anxious to come to America, and congress will be pressed to quickly enlarge both the physical plant and working force on the island to more than double its present size, according to Immigration Commissioner Frederick A. Wallis.

Since early last summer, aliens have been entering America's front door in unprecedented numbers. The problem of housing them until they can be admitted to the country has become painful to all parties concerned. Recently, hundreds of immigrants detained for investigation had to sleep standing up, as the floors, benches and chairs already were filled with the backwash from the congested dormitories.

The tide is certain to become greater with each passing month, Commissioner Wallis felt assured. Steamship operators informed him their accommodations are booked to capacity for twelve months ahead. Government officials announced 267,000 applications had been made for passports in Poland alone, mostly by Jews, while hundreds of thousands in other parts of Europe also were anxious to cross the seas to this country.

"Between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 Italians are seeking domiciles and citizenship here and more than 3,000,000 Poles want to come over," said Commissioner Wallis, who attributed the exodus from Europe to the harsh post-war living conditions and the economic situation.

"No Money, No Eat." Frequently the commissioner asked the alien why they left Europe. Most of them replied "no money, no eat," he said. Many Italian farmers declared they quit their native soil because of the danger from explosions when plowing in former battlegrounds.

Added to the prospective influx of immigrants from the countries of the war allies, will be millions in from Germany who, as soon as the way is clear, will seek passage to America. The immigration authorities have been informed by reliable and official sources. "The immigration in the future will be limited only by the capacity of the vessels," Commissioner Wallis said.

In the meantime wondering how many years it will be before aliens quit coming across the sea at their present rate, Ellis Island workers are perplexed over their existing problems. The normal capacity of the island is reached when 2,000 immigrants are inspected daily. Yet, on a recent day, 10,000 aliens were fed there. During another day the same week 11,000 persons detained in the holds of the vessels which brought them over, while officials struggled with the island. For two days the island doors work of examining the 4,000 then on the were shut against incomers, who remained on boats. The rapidity of handling them depends upon the aliens themselves. Commissioner Wallis has found that some groups are easier to examine than others, while care must be taken in separating the many nationalities which make the island conversation sound like at the Tower of Babel.

Can't Mix Races.

"If we mix English, Irish and Jews there will be a free-for-all fight in ten minutes," said the commissioner. "The English won't eat with the Jews, and call them 'foreigners.'"

Despite congestion everything possible is being done to make the treatment of the aliens on the island humane. Babies are given warm milk and crackers. Candy, cigarettes, fruit and other comforts are furnished adults. Sunday concerts, with bands, grand opera stars and others on the program, are held weekly. For those who cannot find a bed, 10,000 army blankets recently received from Washington are available for improvised sleeping equipment.

Ellis Island authorities are trying not to keep the aliens in the holds of the vessels after the arrival and are striving not to delay commerce by holding up ships in that manner and so far they have succeeded. But, no matter how fast the immigrants arrive, the examinations will not be made less rigid, but will continually be made more severe, Commissioner Wallis said.

Aliens who are refused admittance—and the percentage of rejected ones has increased greatly since before the war—are returned to the port from which they came at the expense of the steamship. Most of these admitted to America are going to industrial centers, but many are fleeing to rural districts and farms, the Commissioner said.

FIRST JEWISH ASSEMBLY CONVENES IN JERUSALEM

By Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The first Jewish constituent assembly of Palestine convened in Jerusalem today, according to advices received at the headquarters here of the Zionist organization of America.

Although the labor element in the assembly has a majority, no ultra-radical legislation is expected, the advices stated. The National Radical party being moderate and the "capitalist" group favoring modern social innovations. Women delegates took their seats notwithstanding orthodox protests, the advices added. The assembly has the sanction of Sir Herbert Samuel, British high commissioner to Palestine.

In the elections held last April and not only did many women vote but several were elected as delegates, including two from Pithul, Bikaner, oldest Jewish agricultural settlement in Palestine. The National Radical party, according to the Zionist organization, favors development of co-operative societies as well as encouragement of private initiative.

The "Ezra" or "capitalist group" favors profit sharing and other modern social innovations. All parties recognize the sovereignty of the Zionist organization, it is said, some even proposing that it shall have veto power over all legislation adopted by the assembly.

ENGINEER OFF DUTY DIES TRYING TO PREVENT WRECK

PITTSBURGH, Mont., Oct. 7.—A. E. Metz, engineer, one of the six men killed at Piedmont, east of here, when forty cars of a Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul freight train plunged down a grade into a grave, died as the result of his attempt to avert the accident, though he was not on duty at the time, according to dispatches from Three Forks, Mont., published here today.

Metz was standing at the station at Piedmont with his wife, about to board a passenger train for Three Forks when he saw the runaway cars plunging down the grade. He jumped into the cab of a motor standing nearby and started the gravel train into a siding, but before it was clear of the main line the forward car of the approaching runaways crashed into the gravel train and a flying insulator from the overhead power line struck the engineer and killed him.

Wreckage more than forty feet high was piled on the track for more than 200 yards distance as a result of the collision. On one of the two unidentified bodies removed from the wreckage was found a cigarette case bearing the name of C. A. Hanson and the address 3316 Maple street, Omaha, Neb.

MONEY COULDN'T BUY GOOD IT DID

Herbert Gained Twenty-three Pounds—'I will Praise Tanlac Long as I Live.'

"If it were possible to sell the good Tanlac had done me there is no enough money in the universe to buy it," said A. M. Herbert, well known painter, living at Alderwood Manor, Bothell, Wash.

"I had suffered from stomach trouble for several years and got to where everything I ate disagreed with me," continued Mr. Herbert. "My kidneys, too, were in such bad shape I nearly always had a pain in the small of my back and I had the rheumatism in the shoulders so bad I had to give up several different jobs on account of it. My nerves broke down and I could hardly sleep nights and finally got to where I was hardly able to get about. To tell the truth, I doubted whether I would ever be able to work any more."

"Then I began taking Tanlac and I never saw anything to beat the way it knocked out my troubles. I have taken five bottles now and I never felt better in my life. The stomach trouble, rheumatism, pains and nervousness are entirely gone. I eat everything set before me, sleep sound as a log and work hard every day. Yes, sir, Tanlac did the work for me and I pass the good word on to others every chance I get. Tanlac is sold in Ranger by Phillips Bros., and in Eastland by Butler Drug Co.—Adv.

AND THEY SAW WOVIE PLOTS ARE IMPROBABLE

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 7.—Nine years ago William (Boss) Fauch had almost nothing in the world but courage. That led him into a burning house at Claremore, Okla., where he rescued the 11-year-old daughter of J. J. Roberts. Roberts gave Fauch some oil company stock, which it was hoped some day would be worth something.

Day before yesterday Fauch, who is 33, was glad enough to have his job here selling papers. Yesterday, he got a check for $1,500, first of a series of dividends on the oil stock.

Today Fauch is debating which auto he will buy, probably to use on his wedding trip after Oct. 24.

OUTSIDE MONEY ADDS TO WEALTH OF OIL REGION Three New Wells At Breckenridge

Texas Tied Up and New Wealth Has Beneficial Effect on Development.

Though Texans by no means have lost interest or confidence in the oil fields of North Central Texas, a large portion of the money being used to finance operations in the Ranger-Breckenridge oil districts, is being attracted from other, and at times, distant parts of the nation.

This condition is partly due to the fact that Texans, interested in oil at all, have already invested to capacity. Now the greater field for stock sales and oil field financing lies in the Western states and in the East, according to authorities on the subject.

Many Californians. Without the last few months an ever-increasing amount of money has been flowing from the western states, particularly California, into the Texas oil fields. Not only is money coming from that direction but large numbers of people also are coming to North Central Texas and engaging in business in and out of the oil game.

The difficulty of obtaining money for oil operators in Texas has caused many of the companies organizing to go outside of the field, some of them East, and others West, to sell stock. Many of the companies organizing now in the Ranger-Breckenridge districts have opened offices in other parts of the country and their agents are plying out of these offices instead of from the Texas headquarters.

South Texas Invests. Because residents of the Mid-Western states, Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma and Wyoming, have oil fields of greater or lesser degree closer at home, little finance is coming to Texas from these districts. Of late a considerable amount of money has been coming to the north Texas fields from South Texas and, oddly enough, from Louisiana, many oil men say. The virtual elimination of the wild-cat stock promoter of shady reputation

OIL FIELD TOWNS HAVE MANY RESOURCES BESIDE LIQUID GOLD, SAYS EXPERT INVESTIGATOR

By DICK DONAHUE.

Timorous ones who have entertained doubts as to the stability of the chief towns, cities and communities within the compass of the North Central Texas oil fields, would be reassured could they converse with J. K. Underhill, economic authority formerly of the statistical departments of the Wanamaker stores in New York and Philadelphia, who is now in the Ranger-Breckenridge oil districts in the interest of a group of Danish and Eastern financiers who intend to make investments in oil and business projects in the oil fields shortly.

"One of my clients in this particular assignment is the head of one of the largest five-and-ten-cent chain store organizations in the world," Mr. Underhill said, in an interview with a Daily Times reporter. "When I terminate my inquiry into the oil field communities, I shall report back to him the results and from them he will decide whether or not branches of his organization will be placed in the oil fields. The cities and towns in which those branches will be established also will be determined from my report."

"I have gone into this matter during the two weeks I have already spent in the oil fields in an unbiased and purely dispassionate manner. I have not gone to persons who have selfish ends to foster, except where they possessed figures and data the soundness of which I was convinced."

At Least Six Years. "Although my work will continue for some time yet before I send in my report, from what I have already learned, I am able to say with a great degree of certainty, that no slump in business in cities located in North Central Texas will come for at least six years. I do not mean that a slump will come in six years. It may or may not. I merely mean that from the data I have on hand at the present time, I cannot conscientiously predict conditions beyond that time. Although some of the towns will experience slight declines in business from time to time," Mr. Underhill continued, "these slumps will not be serious or protracted. If the full realization of the basic economic wealth of this part of the state is possessed, no anxiety as to its future prosperity will be felt. Although the oil industry at the present time is the major attraction in North Central Texas, and is the lodestone that draws thousands of new-comers into the territory daily, it should not be held up as the only resource of the district."

"I have learned that considerable numbers of stock cattle have always been raised in Stephens county for instance, and even now, so I have been told, D. E. Powers, a well known stock raiser of that county, is casting about for a shipping point for two thousand steers. There still is a considerable amount of farming in this section also."

"Then there is another phase of the question as I see it. Did you ever take into consideration the amount of oil supplies shipped into this section and the amount of building established by the larger companies? Do the anxious clammy howlers in this part of the state (few in number, I am glad to state) believe that the larger oil companies and supply concerns are investing millions of dollars in North Central Texas without knowing they will get their money back several fold?"

'Bolsheviki' Burn Gins 'to Raise Price of Cotton'

Special to the Times.

STAMFORD, Texas, Oct. 7.—The Lueders gin at Lueders, 15 miles southeast of Stamford, was destroyed by fire Monday night, following a warning received by the owner a few days previously to the effect that if the gin was operated further while cotton was being ginned for less than 40 cents a pound it would be burnt.

This is the second gin in Jones county to have been burned in less than three days after threats had been made against the owners if they continued to gin cotton while the price of the staple is low. The other gin was the Rowland plant near Anson, which went up in smoke Saturday night.

Feeling is running high in many parts of the county. Gimmers are preparing to have their premises protected by night watchmen. Citizens are watching out for all suspects. It is believed that I. W. W. or bolsheviki are at the head of a general plan to destroy cotton ginning property in this section.

It is known that a number of other owners of gins in this section have received anonymous letters threatening property destruction unless plants close down pending an expected rise in the price of cotton.

It is understood that no clue has been found to the perpetrators of the destruction at Lueders and Anson.

Insured as that type of visioner always is. Business in North Central Texas from the date on will grow more and more stable.

"To the small number of timid ones I would advise a course of calm, unflurried business and hard work. If they do not grow panicky and do not attempt to get out from under a purely imaginary slump, conceived in their own anxious minds, business will continue as usual."

OIL PRODUCTION MOVES NORTHWARD IN STEPHENS

Special to the Times.

STAMFORD, Texas, Oct. 7.—The big oil production is now within two miles of here on the south, being a northern extension of the Breckenridge pool. There is also production to the north and east of town. Three-fourths of a mile north of town the Gulf Production Co. is drilling at 1,500 feet and a big well is expected. At the south end of town the Roxana Petroleum company is now drilling, while to the east the Prairie Oil & Gas company is putting in a big camp preparatory to drilling. A score or more of derricks can now be seen from the townsite.

PLANE DESTROYED CROP AND FARMER TOOK IT

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 7.—The law that holds it possible for a farmer to hold his own crops which has got into the field and destroyed his crops until the owner settles does not allow the combination of an airplane which has fallen into the field and created havoc.

This was the ruling given by Paul J. Thompson, acting county attorney, to the constable of the village of Bloomington.

The ruling applied to the case of James Herbin, a farmer living near Bloomington, who asked the constable if he could hold an airplane which destroyed part of his onion patch.

Under the new law the general staff of the United States army is limited to eighty-eight officers.

WIFE OF BANK ROBBER REFUSES $10,000 LOOT SENT BY HUSBAND FROM HIS HIDING PLACE

Mrs. Lucille Hayes and one of her sons.

When Charles Hayes of San Francisco, who is sought in connection with the theft of $50,000 from the Anglo and Lohdon-Paris bank there, sent his wife $10,000 she refused to accept it. She turned the money over to the police despite the fact that she is working at a small salary to support her two children. Hayes was a chauffeur and disappeared with the money while collectors for the bank were making the rounds.

Many Had Narrow Escape in Second Fatal Gas Blast

BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 7.—A pillar of flame by night and a pillar of smoke by day. That paraphrased biblical sentence aptly describes the scene at blocks 15 and 16 in the Hanks addition a few blocks west of the courthouse, where explosion of casing head gas resulted in the fatal burning of three men Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning.

The fire, which continued to shoot high in the air intermittently until late Wednesday afternoon, has finally been stemmed. A number of boilers were moved close to the casing from which the flames were shooting when head flows came and steam was used to snuff out the blaze.

The flow tanks which caught fire today are black masses of wrinkled metal, twisted out of shape by the intense heat. It has been learned that a number of persons attracted to the scene of the explosion by the first concussion, in which Everett Higgins, a truck driver, was fatally burned, had just left when the second explosion occurred. Only a few remained nearby. Several people had walked down the street at the point scorched by the combustion of the casing head gas just before the two men were burned fatally in the second explosion. Although the odor of gas was strong, according to these individuals, it did not suffocate and did not seem dense enough to explode if ignited.

All day Wednesday a high pillar of smoke, reaching hundreds of feet in the air like a giant sable plume, could be seen with a dull red glow at the bottom where the flames were speared from the head of the casing.

Hunting Bargains in Ranger

Bargains discovered in trips through Ranger shops and department stores are here presented briefly, for the benefit of Times readers. Any of the articles described meets your needs, you may learn the shop where it may be purchased by calling the Times, telephone 234, and giving the shopping editor the number of the paragraph which tells of your particular bargain.

I. Among other articles reduced from 20 to 40 per cent are the following: Percale, 19c; gingham, 25c; outing, 25c; unbleached domestic 19c; 9-4 bleached sheeting, 69c.

II. Shoes are cheaper this year which makes us proportionately happier. High-topped shoes in black and brown kid and suede hold their usual important place and are priced around $12 and $14. For afternoon wear nothing could be better looking than the black satin pump with the single instep strap on the instep and ankle strap. To wear with woolen stockings for walking there is the brown oxford, with the new half-square toe and medium low heels. These usually run a couple of dollars cheaper than the high shoes.

III. One of the newest model hats arriving from the city of fashionable things is a tam-o'-shanter effect in rich brown panne velvet with a wide band of self color georgette tied around the bandeau, the long bows and ends hanging from the side back.

IV. Tailored shirtwaists of silk shirting or crepe de chine are fashionable as well as applicable. Blending pink and white stripes in a heavy grade of silk was chosen for one model that looked just right to wear with anything. The tiny accordion plaited frill for the collar and cuffs was of white.

NEGRO SHOT THREE TIMES IN QUARREL AT LEERAY

BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 7.—John Barton, negro, 34 years old, was brought to Breckenridge Tuesday night from Leeray, where he is said to have shot another negro, whose name is not known here, three times, the shooting following an argument between the negroes. It is not expected that the wounded man will die. Sheriff Sears of Stephens county has sent another deputy to Leeray to maintain order there following a recurrence of disturbances when another deputy was temporarily withdrawn.

HIJACKERS IN LUCK WITH GOODLUCK CASING CREW

Staff Correspondent.
BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 7.—One hundred and twenty dollars was taken from five members of the Goodluck casing crew on Breckenridge avenue, just out from the center of the city here, Monday night by two hijackers who surprised the crew and held their victims at bay with revolvers. Both the hijackers wore masks. They made their escape before an alarm could be sounded.

TEXAS GIRL IS ATTORNEY FOR BIG OIL COMPANY

AUSTIN, Oct. 7.—Miss Mildred Marshall of Austin, who received her LL. B. degree at the University of Texas in June, 1920, has entered the New York office of the Texas company in the capacity of assistant attorney for the firm, according to news received by her friends here. During the past year Miss Marshall was employed in the oil and gas division of the Texas railroad commission and at the same time was completing the requirements for her degree in law. She was among the first women law students of the University of Texas.

SOCIETY LEADER ASKS FLYER'S ARREST ON GEM THEFT CHARGE

Extradition of Capt. William N. Barrett, former American aviator, from Los Angeles to London to answer a $125,000 jewel theft charge, has been requested by the British government. A warrant has been issued in Los Angeles accusing Captain Barrett of embezzling a necklace valued at 30,000 pounds from Mrs. John D. Spreckels, Jr., young society matron of California. The theft is alleged to have taken place in London.

Captain Barrett's wife was Alice Gordon Drexel, daughter of John R. Drexel, Philadelphia millionaire. He eloped with her in 1919. They separated last July, a month after a child was born to them.

REPORTER GETS BACK TO NATURE WITH VIM, NOW TURNIP PEDDLER

Sing a song of spinach. A million bucks a gill. It beats apomdin "copy" From a halting, spavined "mill."

—Songs of a Greengrocer Scribe.

A good many people might not think there was any poetry in "peddlin' greens," Paul Yates, former Times staff man and poet declares there is. Oh, yes, Paul is "peddlin' greens" from the forty acre farm he is occupying near Breckenridge. Turnip greens and mustard greens and the more aristocratic spinach is his stock in trade as he goes about over the country crying "any greens today?"

In the evening when "old Salem" has had his oats and the cart is in the shed, he settles his day's travel into verse.

The embryo farmer left the Times about two months ago to take up the more poetic life of a farmer.
