COOLIDGE AND PRINCE SPEAK AT MONUMENT

Will Pay Visit To The Tomb Of Washington And Other Places

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, May 28.—One day in this country has made their royal highnesses, the Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus and Crown Princess Louise of Sweden, American enthusiasts.

"America surpasses our expectations in every way," the crown prince said as he prepared to see the sights of Washington.

The unique architecture of New York, the hospitality and propriety of the people and their organizing genius were listed by the prince as the things that most impressed him.

After visiting the capitol and listening to congress debate, the royal party were to be entertained by President and Mrs. Coolidge at a state dinner at the white house this evening.

They plan to spend two and one-half months in idling around the United States before sailing for the Orient from San Francisco.

Coolidge to Speak.
President Coolidge will deliver the principal oration at the unveiling of the new John Ericson memorial in Potomac park, on May 29 at 3 p. m.

Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus, who will attend as the representative of the inventor's native country, will make a short address in English, while Crown Princess Louise will officiate at the actual unveiling of the monument.

The sculptor is James Earle Fraser, the designer of the buffalo nickel. All proceedings will be broadcast by radio.

According to the program, announced by Congressman Chindblom of Illinois, chairman of the John Ericson memorial committee, a preliminary concert will be given and the American Union of Swedish Singers will render several selections, while the music will be furnished by the United States navy band and the United States marine band.

Banquet.
In the evening there will be a banquet at the New Willard hotel, offered by the Swedish Engineers societies of New York and Chicago, where the first award of the new John Ericson gold medal will be announced.

On May 29 the postoffice department will place on sale the first of the John Ericson memorial stamps in the postoffices of New York, Washington, Chicago, and Minneapolis and after that in all most offices throughout the country.

Faith And Prayer Meeting Will Be Held Early Date

By VERNON EWING (Written for the United Press)
TAMARACK, Minn., May 28.—Those of little faith in prayer should consider the wonders of the universe, the countless worlds throughout a seemingly endless space and ask themselves if the intelligence behind this is not able to deal directly with us.

NITRO CAUSES PRODUCTION TO TAKE BIG JUMP

By the simple method of using 20 quarts of nitroglycerine, Jerome McLester of Ranger has transformed a 40-barrel well in the 1,300-foot pay at Cross Cut into a 350-barrel producer.

School Bonds Are In Danger, Says Expert

FORT WORTH, May 28.—The independent school districts of Texas are in danger of the same difficulties suffered by the road bonds in Archer county, according to T. P. Walker, auditor of the Texas Department of Education, in an address before the annual convention of the Texas County Auditors Association, here.

FIVE MEN HELD FOR RANSOM BY NOTED OUTLAWS

Fear Is Entertained As The Times Is Past For Turning Over Money

MEXICO CITY, May 28.—Americans here anxiously awaited word as to whether or not the Mexican bandits who kidnapped J. W. Shanklin, an American citizen had carried out their threats to execute him at 6 o'clock last evening unless the ransom was given.

"We refused to send 20,000 pesos demanded," O. M. Brown, local representative of the El Potosi Ranch, where Shanklin was employed, told the United Press.

Seror Sanchez, former mayor of Atoyac, which is nearby, is waiting near the bandit headquarters to hear what their final ultimatum will be and learn whether Shanklin has been killed.

The bandits are reported to be in camp about two miles from El Potosi Ranch in the state of Vera Cruz, from which he was captured.

Esquerida Flores, a Mexican servant, who was with him when he was kidnapped has returned to the ranch. Shanklin is one of the five Americans now held for ransom by Mexican bandits. He said the bandits were noted.

The American embassy here requested that no effort be spared to free the men and that the federal troops be ordered to catch the bandits.

The other Americans now held by Mexican bandits are Griggs and Greely, who were kidnapped at an oil camp at Rubero in the Tampico field and C. C. Braden and Gallagher, a mine worker and mining engineer. Gallagher and Braden was captured in the state of Durango on May 18, while en route to the mines from Laredo.

According to advices, Braden has been tortured by the bandits by being hung up by his thumbs.

COUNTY WINS $300,000 ROAD CASE

Eastland county was awarded $300,000 damages by a jury at Eastland in the case brought against G. A. Davison, road contractor, former County Judge C. R. Starnes and three former county commissioners.

The jury reported shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon. The jury found for the plaintiff—the county—on all matters. The trial was held in the eighty-eighth district court before Judge Elzo Ben and testimony consumed nearly two weeks.

Arguments by attorneys in the case of Eastland county vs. G. A. Davison et al., Eastland county's noted road case, in which the County Commissioner's Court is seeking to recover from G. A. Davison and other contractors on the county highway system, approximately $460,000 alleged to have been overpaid and damages for inferior work, was completed and the case went to the jury Thursday afternoon in the 88th district court after having been on trial for practically three weeks. At noon today the jury was still out and had made no report.

It Wasn't Hard To Do Bravely Asserted Hero

By United Press.

DALLAS, May 28.—"It wasn't hard to do!" bravely asserted Ted McFall, who rescued his tiny sister, Miriam McFall, from a pool of water in Oak Cliff. "I just waded in and pulled her to the bank. But the water was sure cold!"

Miriam, just 2 years old, was a bit excited. She stood by her brother while the 4-year-old lad here related the details of the rescue. "I jus' fell in," was all Miriam could say about the incident.

The children were playing near a pool of water a short distance from their home when Miriam's foot slipped and she fell into the water.

Ted didn't hesitate because the water was over Miriam's head. He waded in and brought her to safety. Meanwhile, persons in the vicinity heard the children's cries and ran to the rescue. But Ted had already carried his sister to safety when help arrived.

GERMANY NOW MAY JOIN LEAGUE, BARS ARE LIFTED

By United Press.

LONDON, May 28.—The Geneva Switzerland correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph today reported that Brazil has abandoned its right to veto which hindered Germany's projected entry into the League of Nations council.

This clears the way for the entry of Germany into the inner council. Brazil was the nation that kept Germany out in the spring session of the league. England has been backing Germany in her endeavor to enter, but met with opposition. Considerable politics were played in the matter.

The Locarno agreement came in for some criticism and it was freely expressed by the American press that Germany was used as a trading horse and jumped about.

This means that the next conference will be a sort of a love feast, and that some definite action will be taken on the disarmament question.

Plans for meetings at Gorman and Carbon of the Eastland County Better Farming association will be made next week, according to Senator H. E. Brelsford, Friday, who stated that the campaign for better farming in Eastland county will be continued until the farmer realized that the old methods must be scrapped.

Senator Brelsford stated that only by education that might take years can the proposition be put over with the success that it deserves, while the idea that the cities have no selfish interest in the matter was also a strong point that must be driven home in the farming communities.

The campaign for better and more scientific farming was a state-wide movement, he said, and only started after the economic situation had shown that farming in the state of Texas had reached such a stage that drastic measures had to be taken to save the state from the financial disaster that befell Kansas when that huge wheat growing country tried to live on wheat alone.

Diversified farming was the only means by which a state, county or community can become prosperous, he said.

DRY SLEUTHS FIND SHIP IS SELLING BEER

Federal Agents Are Seeking Advice From Washington on Matter

LOS ANGELES, Calif., May 28.—Whether a German warship can sell liquor in an American port was to be decided by the officials in Washington today following the reports of dry sleuths here that the German warship Hamburg was selling beer in Los Angeles harbor.

The federal agents claim they boarded the battleship, the first German man-of-war to visit the United States since 1914, and purchased beer at one dollar a bottle. They have the evidence locked up and are waiting on a reply from Washington as to what to do about the situation.

The Hamburg, according to reports, has taken on the aspect of a floating saloon in a dry port, rather than the majestic representative of Germany's navy.

The thirsty Californians are said to be patronizing the ship daily drinking German-made beer of high alcoholic content.

The question is a novel one, because it is known what would be done had the ship been a merchantman. Just what will be done is causing considerable speculation here. A reply to the query sent to Washington is expected to reach here immediately by wire.

GOLDSTROM IN RUSSIA IN WORLD TRIP

MOSCOW, May 28.—John Goldstrom, who is on a trip around the world on a race against time, arrived here by airplane at 6:30 p. m. yesterday, having made the distance from New York in the record time of seven days and 20 hours.

He then boarded the trans-Siberia express. At Chita he will take a Japanese airplane to Yokohama, where he hopes to make a quick connection with a liner for the United States.

He expressed the hope that he would complete the circle of the world by airplane next year in 12 or 14 days.

ORIENT CASE CONSIDERED BY JUDGES

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 28.—The United States circuit court of appeals took under advisement the protest of five interests against the sale under receivership of the Kansas City & Orient railroad.

The Orient, which has had an existence of a stony and thorny nature, has steadily increased in the volume of business that it handles from Southwest Texas until today its value is much greater than a year or two ago. While the railroad, from San Angelo to Alpine, traverses a country that has only a few scattered towns in a sheep and cattle region, the discovery and development of the Big Lake oil field—with its heavy shipments of crude oil and the fact that the development of this field and others which are opening up will provide a great volume of business for years to come—is playing a large part in the "come-back" of the Orient.

CHAUTAQUA.
 Within the next few days Ranger will be hostess to the oil belt and Eastland county, the occasion being the Premier Chautauqua.

Attendance on the Chautauqua means an education. The best talent of the platform, educators and those who have a message will be heard to say nothing of the amusement part, the plays and short operas. Chautauquas are educational institutions. They broaden the views of those who attend and are rapidly taking the place of the “Old Home” weeks that brought with them the “snide” show and carnivals that are worse than worthless to a community.

Messages delivered during the course are uplifting. They carry one above the mediocre things of life and show him how to look beyond to realms where only the spirit lives. They benefit mankind. The workaday world also is brought home to men, and experts in various professions are to be heard that have a message for the business man.

At every session there will be a message and those who attend will be benefited. “Smilin’ Thru,” the play to be offered has in it a message for those who get downcast, whose souls are burdened, and teaches the lesson of how to bear up that behind the clouds the sun still shines.

Chautauquas practically bring the best talent that colleges and universities have at your door. There is nothing connected with it that smacks of the carnival game. The attaches are young men who are seeking to better themselves, some of them earning money to go through college.

The advance notices this year are that the programs are the best ever arranged. Experience has taught the Redpath-Horner syndicate just what the southwest wants. A great part of the program this year will be given over to musical numbers. Music—not jazz—but music that lifts one into other worlds, where chimes are heard.

The Chautauqua should be packed at every session. Its worth while to attend the Chautauqua and let the good women backing the movement know where you stand.

BANKERS AND THE OIL GAME.
 In his address before the Texas Bankers’ association convention Tuesday in Galveston, W. S. Farris, president of the Humble Oil & Refining company and the American Petroleum Institute gave some facts that are worth considerable thought. Mr. Farris lives in Houston. He knows the oil game in all of its ramifications and the hardships and worries that go with it when one is trying to get financial backing from banks.

Some of the high lights in that part of his speech given over to the subject of the relationship of the banker to the oil business are that credits are for short periods. Frozen loans in the oil business are almost unknown. Production and other property in the oil business have just as solid value as any other class of security for loans.

These facts are true and can’t be gainsaid. They are true when production has been secured. Ranger, Eastland and many other towns in Texas owe their progress and prosperity to the oil business. The speaker stressed the fact that within the past quarter of a century, the oil industry has brought more new money to Texas than all the other industries combined. Monuments to the industry can be seen by looking around you.

Despite all this, Mr. Farris also warns against the gambling feature that goes with the game, the wildcat branch. Looking for oil by drilling in wildcat territory has lost millions. More money has been spent in looking for and drilling for oil than the wells of the oil produced, but when once found, the game may be played on a safe basis.

In discussing what the oil business is worth to labor, he said:
 “The payrolls of the oil companies in the state aggregate approximately $250,000,000 yearly. The amount of money spent by the industry for bonuses and leases aggregated approximately $225,000,000 last year. The oil industry, through the payment of bonuses, is revolutionizing the value of millions of acres of so-called waste or grazing lands in the state and is giving new values to immense areas. Great riches have been added to the university lands in many counties over the state due to the efforts of the oil producer.”

Back Yard Farmer In Ranger Raises Huge Radishes

A. H. Williams, a back yard farmer at 322 Houston street, claims to be the champion radish grower of Ranger. He brought two radishes to The Times office that measured approximately 12 inches long.

In addition to producing fine radishes, Mr. Williams also has demonstrated that Eastland county can feed itself and then throw the surplus over the back fence for the neighbors and that it is not necessary to have vegetables shipped in here for consumption.

On a small plot of ground he has produced more beans, radishes, and other vegetables that he could possibly utilize on his table. In addition, he set out $4.00 worth of onion sets and besides what he has eaten, sold more than $20 worth.

Ed J. Adams, a farmer-livestock seven miles out on the Caddo road has demonstrated that Eastland county can produce as fine Bermuda onions as any other section of Texas.

There are several truck patches out on the Breckenridge road that are eye openers and are real demonstration gardens.

Back-yard farming, according to Mr. Williams cuts down grocery bills quite a bit.

Life’s a lot of trouble. But then you only have to live it one second at a time.

Don't Experiment With "Pimple Cures"

Do you think so little of your delicate skin and face as to allow yourself to become the subject for experiments? By all means use only the thing which has stood the test of time and public opinion to get rid of your pimples, blotches, bumps, “breaking out,” eczema, etc. Black and White Ointment, and Soap, have not only stood this test, but you are sure of it—when you know that they are selling at the tremendous rate of more than two million packages a year.

The way they are economically priced, in liberal packages, has helped to make them so popular along with their dependability. The 50c size Ointment contains three times as much as the 25c size. All dealers have both Black and White Ointment and Black and White Soap, as they are called.

Former Eastland Dealer Arrested Under Sales Act

E. E. Ray, former owner of the Eastland Music Shop and now conducting a business at Breckenridge, was arrested and placed in jail last night on charges of false swearing and perjury. He is held in lieu of $1000 bond which has not been made. It is alleged that when Ray sold his business in Eastland he appeared before Judge Sam Day and swore that he had paid off all creditors and that the business was free of encumbrance. Later it developed that several were unpaid and arrest on this occasion was stayed off when Ray paid off and it was after this that Ray took the oath before Judge Day that the place was clear.

Since then however, Judge Day stated, other bills have come in and the arrest of Ray was ordered under the Buck Sales law.

LAST NIGHT’S RECITAL.
 A number of Miss Christine Carter’s voice and piano pupils were presented in recital last night in the High school auditorium. The stage was prettily decorated for the occasion in cut flowers and each pupil’s contribution to the program met with hearty applause from their audience, which was not as large as it should have been considering the nature of the program and the vast amount of work its preparation involved.

PLACE OF RECITAL CHANGED.
 It was announced yesterday that Mrs. Peters and Miss Nell Tibbels would hold their recital at the Legion hall. However, they have decided to hold it at the Gholson at 2:30 Saturday afternoon. While the program has not been given out, it is sure to please, as all the numbers are well chosen and will be well executed.

MODERN WOODMEN AND ROYAL NEIGHBORS MEET

The Modern Woodmen and the Royal Neighbors met last night in social session at the old K. of P. hall, on Main street, and enjoyed a delightful evening. A short musical program included a few numbers by Ernest Nichols, Victor Artist, from Hollywood, who is a whistler of note and may give a concert while in Ranger.

About fifty gathered around a pie supper, the proceeds from the sale of this great American dish, going to apply on the Royal Neighbors’ piano.

The Woodmen’s band made its bow for the first time and rendered some splendid selections. It is the plan of the two organizations to have a similar meeting on every fourth Thursday night of the month.

On Monday night week, a dance will be held for members of the two lodges.

TUESDAY BRIDGE CLUB MEETS

The Tuesday Bridge Club met with Mrs. K. C. Jones, last Tuesday and enjoyed an afternoon of bridge, which culminated in a delightful two course luncheon.

Cut flowers in profusion rendered this attractive little home, even doubly so and in the last course of the luncheon, which was an ice cream, a green flower pot, growing sweet peas, was filled with nut ice cream.

Mrs. D. L. Jameson and Mrs. Chas. Overley were the lucky ones, each receiving a dainty piece of lingerie.

Players were Mmes. H. H. Durham, C. C. Patterson, P. J. O’Donnell, D. L. Jameson, E. A. Tunnell, C. M. Edwards, Chas. Overley, Walter Murray, R. L. Norman, Wm. Cooze, Walter Cash and Miss Matie Mitchell of Fort Worth.

The club will meet June 2 with Mrs. Tunnell.

Raid On Still Nets 3 Arrests Near Dallas

DALLAS, May 28.—Three persons were arrested, 12,000 gallons of mash and 50 gallons of corn liquor were destroyed and three automobiles were captured by officers who raided a still in North Dallas county early today.

A 200-gallon still was found as a part of an elaborate liquor-making layout. The bulk of the output has been used for distribution in Kansas City and adjacent territory for several months, according to one of the prisoners.

Sweetzer Enters Finals In Golf Championship

Muir Field, Scotland, May 28.—Jeff Sweetzer of New York and A. S. Simpson of England will play the final for the British golf championship Saturday.

Sweetzer won his way through the semi-finals in a hard fought match which went 41 holes against W. G. Brownlow of the Addington club, England. Sweetzer defeated A. Jamieson of England two and one.

Jamieson’s defeat came after he entered the semi-finals by administering to Bobbie Jones of Atlanta a surprising defeat in the sixth round.

Jeweler Keeps Floor Waste And Saves $1000 Year

DALLAS, May 28.—Saving $1,000 a year just by keeping the waste on his floor is the unusual statement of Arthur A. Everts, jeweler here.

According to Everts, president of the Texas Louisiana Jewelers’ association, the sweepings from the floor of his workshop are worth that much each year. The workmen in the jewelry shop are equipped with sliding trays which fit around the men and catch filings from their work.

This is saved. The men are expected to wash their hands in a tub of water which is saved and the tub is filled with sawdust. This is burned, leaving the gold and silver which is salvaged and kept.

Other methods are used according to Myron Everts to save every particle of silver and gold dust which otherwise might go to waste and the total amount at the end of the year will amount to something like $2,000.

A complicated process is used in taking the metals out of the sawdust sweepings and out of the other particles it gets mixed with in the course of the day’s labors.

Jap Immigration Becomes a Problem Throughout Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO.—The question of Japanese immigration to Brazil again became a prominent issue with the local press as a result of news from Tokyo to the effect that the Japanese immigration authorities are studying the convenience of sending large colonies of Japanese laborers to settle a 250,000 acre strip of land in the Brazilian state of Amazonas, which it is reported the Brazilian government has offered free to Japanese who may desire to live on and develop the land.

THOUGHT LAST MOMENT HAD COME

But Kellogg’s ALL-BRAN conquered constipation, the cause of her trouble

Now she’s healthier and happier than ever!

“I awoke with a most disagreeable sensation around my heart and, together with fear, thought my last moment had come. After that I began to be troubled greatly with indigestion. This I treated diligently with supposed cures, but never found anything that completely relieved me except ALL-BRAN.”

EDITH M. MASON. (Address on request.)

Constipation is the hideous bugbear of health. It fastens its ravaging hold on young and old. Sallow complexion, pimples, headaches—are all symptoms. Cleanse your system of its poisons for good. Kellogg’s ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation permanently if eaten regularly. It is 100 per cent bran. That’s why doctors recommend it!

Kellogg’s ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek, Michigan. A ready-to-serve cereal, delicious with milk or fruit. Used in cooking too. Served everywhere. Sold by all grocers on a money-back guarantee.

Thomas Fontress is only four and he can't read yet. But he spends more time in the Richmond (Va.) public library than anyone else. He prefers books that have lots of pictures but isn't adverse to poring over those that have none. He comes to the library every day, pulls out a book—and sits down with it.

Flying Guinea Pig is The Latest Thing in Aviation

LONDON.—England’s latest aviation novelty, the “Flying Guinea Pig,” so-called because it is an airplane without a tail, has caught the popular interest more than any aviation development since Cierva’s flights last fall in his amazing “windmill” or “flying palm-tree” machine.

It is claimed for the new machine which has been invented by Capt. G. T. R. Hill of the royal air force, that it is practically unshakable and crash-proof.

Instead of the usual airplane tail horizontal stability is affected in the new machine by a pronounced sweep-back on the wings while lateral stability is maintained by means of flexible wingtips.

To date the new machine has made 21 successful flights and it has been found impossible so far to “stall” or “spin” the machine.

SCOTT BLUFF, Neb., May 28.—Secretary of Interior Works and Federal Reclamation Commissioner Meade, were hung in effigy to a lamp post in the business section of Scott Bluff early today.

The effigies were the outcome of aroused feeling of the irrigation farmers of this section who charged the federal reclamation bureau with breaking faith in not supplying them water for their crops.

Flying Guinea Pig is The Latest Thing in Aviation

LONDON.—England’s latest aviation novelty, the “Flying Guinea Pig,” so-called because it is an airplane without a tail, has caught the popular interest more than any aviation development since Cierva’s flights last fall in his amazing “windmill” or “flying palm-tree” machine.

It is claimed for the new machine which has been invented by Capt. G. T. R. Hill of the royal air force, that it is practically unshakable and crash-proof.

Instead of the usual airplane tail horizontal stability is affected in the new machine by a pronounced sweep-back on the wings while lateral stability is maintained by means of flexible wingtips.

To date the new machine has made 21 successful flights and it has been found impossible so far to “stall” or “spin” the machine.

Mother Alone Continues Her Search For Body

LOS ANGELES, May 28.—Search for the body of Aimee Semple McPherson was abandoned today by authorities. Life guards and other officials who have been looking for the body of the evangelist since she was reported drowned last week, said that a further search seemed futile.

Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of the evangelist, continued her search where the authorities left off, directing a band of several hundred followers in a patrol of the beach.

Minchew Case Is Nearing End; Denies Charge

DALLAS, May 28.—Introduction of evidence in the trial of A. P. Minchew, charged with conspiracy to slay his former wife, Mrs. Stanley C. Smith, of Denver, last February, closed here shortly before noon.

Minchew resumed the witness stand and repeated and reiterated his denial that he had negotiated with anyone to kill his former wife. He branded as untrue the testimony of Tommie O’Grady, former employe, who testified for the state that Minchew had offered him $50,000 to kill Smith and his wife.

Closing argument will get under way as soon as the court has prepared his charge.

A MAN OF INTEGRITY

A physician who reaches out to benefit humanity leaves a record behind him that is worth while. Such a man was Dr. R. V. Pierce.

His study along medical lines, and his knowledge of the remedial qualities of herbs and plants led to the discovery of his wonderful herbarial remedy, Doctor Pierce’s Favorite Prescription. It is just the tonic required if a woman is borne down by pain and sufferings at regular or irregular intervals, by nervousness or dizzy spells, headache or backache. Favorite Prescription can also be had in tablet form as well as liquid at drug stores.

EVERETT TRUE

BY CONDO

BOYS WILL BE GIRLS

Syd Chaplin has passed the supreme "patience" test—and another virtue may be credited to him. Moreover, it was a test few men have had occasion to undergo, or will—and since the feminine is usually ascribed with possessing more of this particular attribute than the male, the complimentary aspect is correspondingly heightened.

In the wardrobe—the women's wardrobe—of the Warner Bros. West Coast Studios, Syd stood for long tedious hours being fitted for the feminine apparel he wears in "Oh! What a Nurse!" which is now being shown at the Lamb Theatre. The procedure was especially difficult, as Miss Margaret Whistler, who is responsible for the "creations" Syd wears in this picture, declares, because fitting a man for women's clothes is more difficult for both the fitter and the fitted. Considering this, who would doubt the word of the fitter herself? And the word is, that Syd was more patient than any woman she had ever fitted! And there is yet more. Miss Whistler declares further that Mr. Chaplin would invariably call her each morning and ask if she wanted him to come in for a fitting—while the majority of the feminine stars in similar situations, must be diligently pursued.

So, ladies, what are you going to

SICK HEADACHE

No Pleasure, Says Ohio Lady, to Go Places, Till She Took Black-Draught Which Brought Relief.

Langsville, Ohio.—"For years and years, I suffered with severe headache," says Mrs. Jane Campbell, of this place. "It wasn't any pleasure for me to go places, for I came home with sick headache. If I went to church or to any social gathering or to town to shop, when I got back I would have these headaches and have to go to bed for a day or more, till I would just get out of heart and would not try to go."

"About 15 years ago I discovered that Black-Draught was good for these headaches. I began using it. I would take it two or three nights in succession if I felt the least bad, and it sure did wonders for me. It is about 14 years since I had sick headaches, and I can go places and really enjoy life. It surely is splendid."

Headache often is a symptom of constipation. The best relief is secured by treating the cause of the trouble and in such a case many people have been greatly helped by the use of Theford's Black-Draught.

Purely vegetable. Recommended for young and old. No harmful after-effects. Sold everywhere. NC-169 do about that? Your record for patience is slipping!

The occasion for the feminine disguise in this picture is the role of a young newspaper reporter who is called upon to take the place temporarily of the editor of "Advice to the Lovelorn." The complications which attend this commission may well be labeled "Riot and Pandemonium."

Presbyterians Combine For Huge Service

By automobile train and road huge crowds of Presbyterians are expected to invade Eastland Sunday, when congregations from seven cities and the Eastland Presbyterian Church join hands for a mammoth conference and service in the local church. Congregations and pastors from Ranger, Breckenridge, Albany, Cross Plains, Sabana, Baird, Strawn, and other points have signified their intention of being present.

The program for the day is as follows: Morning. Sunday school, 9:45 a. m., Mr. G. W. Briggs in charge. Three-minute reports from each church, participating. "The Best Thing My Church Is Doing." Preaching by Rev. G. D. Robinson, Ranger. Noon recess. Basket dinner. Each church bringing dinner.

Afternoon. Men, led by Rev. S. P. Collins, of Cross Plains. Women, led by Mrs. G. D. Robinson, Ranger. Young people, led by Charles F. Hemphill, Cross Plains. Children, led by local people and others.

General Meeting. Our new pension plan, Rev. J. T. Bryant, Cisco. Young people's work, Rev. A. W. Yell, Baird.

Our summer conferences, Rev. L. R. Hogan, Eastland. Presbyteries and other church councils. Why attend? Next place of meeting.

Evening. Young peoples' rally, 6 to 7 o'clock, Charles F. Hemphill in charge. Vesper Service—Musical, led by the Breckenridge choir. Sermon, Rev. H. C. Schneider, Breckenridge. Adjournment.

All local Presbyterians are asked to attend in order to make the meeting the success that it deserves and to show the visitors a good time with that hospitality for which Eastland is famed.

Altogether nine churches of the group in this section of the state will combine for the service in Eastland and there will not be any service in the towns taking part.

Early reports from Breckenridge show that a large delegation will attend, while each church will bring with them basket dinners. The success of the undertaking is assured, according to L. R. Hogan, pastor of the Eastland Church, who stated that he expects the largest crowd in the history of Eastland.

Does Football Have Many Followers In Ranger?

Are there as large a number of tennis players in Ranger as the numerous tennis eye shades would indicate? It is likely that non-tennis players are wearing them to shade their eyes from the sun when they are out on the street. At any rate, the shades are quite attractive looking and, being light weight, doubtless are comfortable and also effective in shielding the eyes from the glare.

Does Football Have Many Followers In Ranger?

Does football have many followers in Ranger? The Rambler was discussing next year's grid outlook particularly backfields, in the Oil Belt with E. H. Whitehead, noted football authority, yesterday at lunch when the dark-skinned waiter took a hand in the conversation to the extent of declaring, "You all has to have good tackles of you wants to win games." Questioning brought out the information that the waiter had played four years on a high school team and he admitted he was so good that he received college offers of free tuition to attend and play football. When then the colored folks talk football in May, there must be lots of interests in the game in Ranger.

Boston Claims To Be Home Of "Mother Goose"

BOSTON, May 22.—Mother Goose of fable fame has been positively identified as a former Boston woman, according to James O. Fagan, historian and director of the Old South Meeting House.

Elizabeth Foster, born in the Charlestown section of this city in 1665, was the original Mother Goose, Fagan claims. She married Isaac Goose in 1693. Her eldest daughter married Thomas Fleet, who conducted a printing business in Pudding Lane (now Devonshire street).

Following her husband's death, Mrs. Goose went to live with her daughter. When her daughter's first child was born, Grandmother Goose was much delighted, and spent considerable time singing songs and duties of her own composition for baby's benefit.

Fleet, a lover of quiet, scolded and coaxed, but in vain. Grandmother Goose continued her songs. Unable to silence the old lady, Fleet decided to capitalize the rhymes and jingles. He collected the ditties and published them under the title, "Songs for the Nurserv, or Mother Goose's Melodies for the Children."

Caddies Big Aid In Helping To Win Golf Games

DALLAS, May 27.—There are golf matches and golf matches but even the best of golf matches must have caddies.

A good caddie can often help a player win his match. If the caddie is a good one, he sympathizes with his player and tries the best he can to help him get out of any rut he may be in—that is if he be a good caddie.

If he is a good caddie he helps select the club for a difficult shot, if the player makes a poor shot the caddie makes excuses for the shot if it is a good shot the caddie tells the "world" it is a good shot and thereby carries the player on to more victories.

The caddy reads the players mind and knows what club he should use for such and such a shot, thereby eliminating a lot of worry for the player.

The good caddy knows where to stand when the player is making a shot, the good caddy knows when to talk and when not to talk, he knows how to take care of the bag and how to take care of the balls—in fact the good caddy often is the prime factor in winning a golf match.

Stars for Reds

One of the early season's stars of the National League is Ray Bressler of Cincinnati. Bressler has been hitting the ball hard and often and the first five weeks of the chase finds him right up with the leaders. His stickwork has had much to do with keeping the Reds around the top of the heap.

Ranger Beasts Fall Easy Prey To Eastlanders

The Eastland Lions gave their Ranger brethren a lesson in the diamond pastime yesterday afternoon at Nimitz Park by plastering them with a 13 to 8 defeat. The roaring nine from the county capital outbatted and outfielded the Ranger team and that's all there is to the story.

Features for the Eastland team were the hitting of Nunnally and Day and the fielding of Martin in left field, who made a pair of big league catches. Nunnally, clerk of the court of civil appeals, slammed out a homer, a double and a single in four official times at the plate while Day, justice of the peace, made two hits in three official appearances at bat. M. E. Collier, who pitched well for Eastland, made a home run in the first inning.

Blair Cherry, Ranger High School coach, drove out a home run and a single, Lambert hit a three bagger and Boyd made three hits, one of them a double, for Ranger.

Other features of the game were W. B. Collier, Eastland shortstop, kicking a grounder into the second baseman's hands on the fly; Underwood, Ranger right fielder, losing sight of the ball and turning wildly around and around while the ball was on the ground not a foot from him; and the action of the Ranger second baseman who, with men on second and third, fielded a grounder in time to whip the ball to third for a force-out and there would still have been time for a double play but instead he tossed to first for one out.

The achievement of "Doc" Craig of Ranger in hitting a home run to left field and then after racing 'round the bases had to bat all over again as the ball was foul and he thereupon struck out; and the good fortune in escaping injury of Keith of Ranger who was "beaten" right on top of the head while at bat but was able to play throughout the game—and incidentally, played a good game.

The game was good natured throughout, perhaps the fact that one of the umpires had a six shooter being largely responsible. Speed Cop Bob Hammett was the base umpire—that is, he was not base—he was the umpire on bases. Although the balls and strikes umpire was the recipient of kicks every once in a while, it was noticeable that, no matter how close the play, no one ever objected to a decision by Hammett.

At the close of the fray, the fans united in nine raps for Murphy, Ranger fire chief and baseball captain, and then gave nine raps for W. H. Madden, Eastland druggist, right fielder and chief coach. It was the second defeat of the year for the Rangerites at the hands of their Eastland rivals.

Pennant Race To Be Resumed In Oil Belt Towns

The pennant race will be resumed in the Oil Belt League Sunday with games at Ranger and at Thurber.

The Eastland Tigers will meet the Magnolias on the Ranger diamond, thus giving another opportunity to test out the new and winning lineup that Manager Andrews of the Tigers has collected. The Magnolias on the other hand, fresh from their victory over the hitherto undefeated Breckenridge Dynamos, are in no mood to give up the chance to move into a tie for first place because if they can win Sunday and the Dynamos should lose, Ranger would be tied with Breckenridge for the top rung.

The Thurber Miners, who have been hammering the ball in the last two games, will endeavor to give the Dynamos a shove downward in percentage Sunday on the Thurber diamond.

Modern Woodmen Will Invade Rising Star on Sunday

The Modern Woodmen of America baseball team of Ranger will invade Rising Star for a baseball game Sunday. As the "Star" nine is a fast team that has shown up well in all games this year, the Woodmen will have a hard struggle to emerge victors.

A cooler for hooch that can be carried in a car was also suggested to the convention.

Thousands of Mothers Grateful to G. F. P. Because It Takes Away Nausea and That Uncomfortable and Uneasy Feeling.

It is a revelation and a joy that will not soon be forgotten to those who have witnessed the results, to see the heartfelt gratitude and the deeply sincere expressions of everlasting thanks only a mother can bestow who countless tender hearts are heaping on St. Joseph's G. F. P. for the wonderful relief it has given them from the agonies they dreaded and actually suffered during pregnancy.

With the one thought of bringing relief to mothers during this trying period in their lives the constant incentive, some of the nation's greatest chemists and authorities studied, searched and experimented to find that something which they felt sure would release womanhood from the dread of that which she so earnestly and proudly anticipates. Finally, after years of hard work, their aim is realized—motherhood, beautiful in all its glory, through the faithful use of their product which is known as St. Joseph's G. F. P.

NEIGHBORS' WIVES

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Largely because the advertising agency of GRAHAM AND MILBURN has just landed an important new contract, JOHN and FAY MILBURN, to whom a baby girl has just been born, buy a new house.

John Milburn, a romantic, impractical individual, is a partner in the agency and does all of its copy writing.

Previous chapters tell how John, while Fay was in the hospital, had accepted an invitation from PAT FORBES, a married man with three children, to attend a swimming party. There he met NELL ORME and was attracted by her beauty. Pat Forbes tells him Nell is having trouble with her husband and later hints that he is somewhat dissatisfied with his own marriage.

To John, who has been married only two years, this is a little hard to understand. He refuses an invitation from a friend of his, PAUL DAVIDSON, a lawyer, amateur actor and libertine, to go on a wild party.

DR. RICHARD MENEFE, John's best friend, and his fiancée, Margaret Wayne, are the first visitors at the new home, and they play bridge. After they go Fay accuses John for some misconduct on his part and then tells him she has something on her mind.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
(The names and situations in this story are fictitious.)

"Now Fay," said John, "don't bawl me out any more. I'm sorry if I put my foot in it."

"I'd forgotten all about that," Fay remarked, still gazing at the lamp. "What I had in mind was a housewarming."

"A what?"

"A housewarming. We've been here three days now. As soon as we get actually settled and all straightened up, we must give a party. It's always done, you know, when a family buys a new house."

"No, I didn't know it," said John stubbornly.

"Well, you know it now."

"I'm for a party, anyway," he laughed. "Who're we going to invite?"

"There's Dick and Margaret, of course."

"And Clara Wayne," put in Fay.

"We can't ask Margaret and not invite her sister. Whom shall we invite for her?"

"Why not Nat Graham?" suggested John.

"Oh, I don't think Clara is crazy about Nat."

"Well, how about Paul Davidson, then? If Paul doesn't think the party too tame for him."

And so they talked far into the night, selecting the guests for their housewarming.

Invitations were duly mailed to Pat and Marian Forbes, Noel and Vera Boyd, Margaret and Clara Wayne, Dick Menefee, Nat Graham, Paul Davidson and Eleanor Mason, a close friend of the Boyds, whom Fay invited as a "partner" for Nat Graham; and the eventful day arrived.

"Now you won't forget those candy mints, will you?" Fay reminded John at breakfast. "I want you to get them at Rankin's; they have the best in town."

"I'll get 'em, all right. Never fear."

"Well, you know how undependable you are when I want you to do something for me downtown."

"I'll get 'em," said John doggedly, his mouth full of toast. "Who'd care, anyway, even if I did forget 'em?"

What difference does it make to a party whether you have mints or not? Now, if it was ice cream, or ham, or salad dressing, it would be different. But mints—humph. He snorted to show his contempt for such trivialities.

He went out in the hall and got his hat. Returning, he said, "Or if it was liquor—that's the really important thing at a party these days. You can bet your bottom dollar I won't forget that. He turned to go out."

"John, don't you forget those mints," Fay called after him as he went out the back door. She threw up her hands in resignation after gazing at his tall figure swinging down the walk to the garage.

Just before lunch Fay called him up to ask him not to forget the mints.

"I won't be assured her. 'I'll get them on my lunch hour.'"

But he didn't. At three o'clock Fay called again and he felt guilty.

"Sure, I got 'em," he lied, and as soon as he could hang up the receiver he grabbed his hat and went out to get them.

But he hadn't forgotten the gin. There was a gallon bottle of it at his feet as he drove home.

Dick Menefee and Margaret and Clara Wayne arrived shortly after eight o'clock and Nat Graham arrived shortly after. Everyone else was late, and the Noel Boyds were later.

John was in his element as the genial host. There were few introductions necessary, for most of the guests already were acquainted, but those few he made with a flourish. When the Boyds arrived, after nine o'clock, he stood them up in the hall-way and, striking a pose, announced: "Attend, everyone. This is the late Mr. Noel Boyd and his wife."

"I refuse to laugh at that one," said Boyd with his set smile. "It came out of the ark." He was a fair-haired man with squinting eyes and a laugh that was at times hearty and at times a sneer. You never knew which kind you were going to evoke from Noel Boyd.

Vera, his wife, was black-haired and silent, with smoldering dark eyes.

"I must say for John," remarked Paul Davidson drily, "that he does the honors with all the flourishings

"I am quite unsold on marriage," he said in his best stage accent. "It's nothing but a relic of barbarism."

of a big butter-and-egg man." He was tapping a cigarette against his elegant gold case.

"I wanted you to feel at home, Paul," John retorted. Vera Boyd caught Davidson's eye and the latter handed her a cigarette and lit it for her. She inhaled deeply, closing her eyes as she expelled the smoke from her mouth.

Cigarettes were passed around among the other women. Clara and Margaret Forbes clamsily and Fay, after one puff, laid hers down.

"I want one of yours, Paul," Eleanor Mason said, shaking her blond bobbed hair as John offered her the cigarette box.

"Want 'em strong, eh?" he laughed. "I've got cigars, if you'd rather have them, Eleanor," laughed John, and retreated to the kitchen, Eleanor's reply, "I might take you up, at that," ringing after him.

In the kitchen, gleaming with fresh white paint and linoleum, he busied himself with lemons, mineral water, cracked ice and gin. Fifteen minutes later he emerged, bearing a tray.

"Get the ladies this trip," he announced. "Marian"—he paused in front of Marian Forbes—"ave a highballs." He made the rounds of the women, elaborately serving each one with a tall glass.

"Now for the men," he announced, retreating once more to the kitchen.

"Hold on!" cried Eleanor Mason. "I'm suspicious. Are the men's any more authoritative?"

"Not a bit of difference, Eleanor," he returned. "The tray just carries six glasses—that's all."

But he winked at Pat Forbes as he disappeared through the door.

"Now then, gents," he invited as he returned, once more bearing the tray, "just step up to the bar and help yourselves."

"Not bad," said Paul Davidson, compressing his lips.

"Nat?" said John, pausing in front of Graham.

"No thanks, John." Nat lifted his hand.

"I'll take it," Eleanor Mason slipped up beside Nat and reached out her hand. "I see you and I are going to get along famously," she said to Graham. "I'm in luck," she proclaimed to the crowd. "My gentleman friend doesn't drink."

Then, "Ooh, gosh! This IS strong, John Milburn!"

Graham laughed. "You're welcome to my share, I'm sure," he said, and John looked at him a little uneasily, thinking he detected disapproval of Eleanor in Nat's manner.

Pat Forbes set his glass back on the tray. "Groot, John. I don't know whether it's the gin or the bartender, but it's the best I've tasted for a long time."

"The bartender is modest enough," returned John, "to give the credit to the gin. The gin," he added, "ought to be good. I saw it made this afternoon."

"Wow!" exclaimed Dick Menefee. "That's frankness for you."

Noel Boyd eyed his glass suspiciously, his lip curling. "It's had four of five hours to age," he said slowly, "so it ought to be pretty mellow. Imagine keeping gin that long!"

"Shut up, Noel, and don't be sarcastic," retorted John. "How about a dividend?" he asked. "I'm coming around again, boys and girls."

"Oh, well," said Forbes, "if you insist."

"How about you, Noel?" asked John. "Will you consent?"

"Oh, well," shrugged Boyd, "I suppose I ought."

John looked inquiringly at the women, but they all held up protesting hands—all save Eleanor Mason, and she was still engaged with the glass she had got from Nat Graham.

Paul Davidson sat down at the piano and began to skim softly through a few airs. John returned with the drinks and Paul set his down on the piano, first spreading his folded handkerchief beneath the glass.

He turned around and caught Fay's eye. "After seeing what gin will do to varnish," he smiled at her, "one wonders what it does to the stomach."

"You're horrid, Paul," she answered.

John strolled over next to Davidson, and the latter, glancing at him, smiled and played a bar or two, and then stopped. "Remember that?" he asked.

"Do I? Many's the time I've sung that—over a scuttle of beer. The tune was 'Samuel Hall,' one of the many songs of uncertain origin and obscene words that are so popular among college undergraduates."

Paul kept playing it, and John hummed it, improvising words as he went along. Eleanor Mason sidled up beside him. "You'd better be careful," she warned, holding up a finger. "I'm not unacquainted with that myself, although I don't recognize those words."

John reddened, and stopped. "We're being censored, Paul. Better give 'em something more refined."

Paul instantly switched to grand opera. "I defy anybody to sing the words now," he said, and the company settled back and listened. Paul, it seemed, was in the mood to play, and when he was in the mood everyone listened.

After a while he settled back and finished his drink, and the silence was broken by Marian Forbes, who said to Fay, "Did you hear that Ed-

Curtain on Ranger Chautauqua To Rise on Monday

The curtain on Ranger's 1926 chautauqua will rise Monday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock on one of the most entertaining and unusual programs of the entire group.
The Alamo Serenaders are an aggregation of young musicians who present a program of bewitching music typical of the name under which they tour. The Serenaders are costumed in the garb of wandering minstrelsy. Their tinkling coins and sandy colors are romantic. They fling themselves into an abandonment of music, with the guitar, mandolin, violin and piano, with ensemble singing, such as makes one think of the flashing fires of vagrant camps, twinkling stars and creeping shadows of the night.
In the evening, the Serenaders will appear, followed by Everett Kemp, known as "the man with the million dollar smile." He will read the play, "Thank You," and everyone will laugh at his humorous interpretation.
As the week advances, the program gains momentum and no time should be lost in buying a season ticket and thereby effecting a big saving in the cost of attending all the presenta-
