BELIEF EXPRESSED THAT MEXICAN REVOLUTION IS ABOUT OVER

LATE REPORT INDICATES GOMEZ AT LARGE

Federals Outnumber Rebel Force, Capture Now Seems Assured

MEXICO CITY, October 6.—Mexico's abortive revolution was believed today to be practically at an end, though so far as was known here two of the leaders of the rebellion, Gen. Arnulfo Gomez and General Hector Ignacio Almadro were still at large—their capture seemed imminent.

The Mexican Ambassador at Washington and the Mexican Consulate at New York reported last night they had private advices that Gomez had been captured, court-martialed and executed. But both the embassy and the consulate specified that the advices were not official. The same report was circulated in several towns along the Mexican border. United Press dispatches from Mexico however contained no references to the report and no confirmation of it.

At last reports last night Gomez and Almadro had succeeded finally in uniting their divided forces in the state Vera Cruz but were outnumbered by Federal troops who surrounded them.

Government forces were expected to establish contact with the enemy at any moment. The combined rebel troops were estimated to total not more than 1,000 men while the government forces numbered 4,500.

RAILROAD TRACKS NEAR VERA CRUZ DESTROYED.

VERA CRUZ, Oct. 6.—Rebels destroyed one and a quarter miles of railroad tracks near here today but government forces went promptly to work repairing them.

The State Governor established his headquarters here last night. Conditions throughout the entire state are quiet.

It is believed generally here that the revolutionary movement has been suffocated.

THREE DEAD AND ONE SERIOUSLY HURT IN SMASH

Automobile Turns Over On the Highway Near City of Fort Worth.

FORT WORTH, Oct. 6.—Three men were killed and a fourth is expected to die as a result of an automobile accident on the highway east of here today.

A fifth occupant of the car, Miss Lita Brewster, 27, was seriously injured. The car overturned when it struck the curb stone of the highway.

All of the occupants were from Fort Worth.

The dead: Ed R. Henry, R. A. Bird. The third man is unidentified. A fourth man who is unidentified was brought to a local hospital. His recovery was considered doubtful.

The car was reported to have been headed for Fort Worth, when it swerved to avoid another car and struck the curb stone, causing it to topple over an embankment.

Dear Sir:

It is alleged that Yaro confessed he shot and strangled the girl and hid her body under a bridge on a lonely highway. Sheriff John S. Stratton (left) and State Trooper Smith, with Yaro, contend that Miss Sarlo was mistreated before she was slain.

COMMITTEE ON JUBILEE MAKE FINAL PLANS

Reports Made At Meeting On Wednesday Show Much Work Been Done.

What has been done and what is going to be done, were the main things gone over at a meeting of all chairmen of the various committees of the Ranger Home Coming Oil Jubilee, held yesterday afternoon at the Jubilee headquarters.

J. E. T. Peters, secretary of the Cisco Chamber of Commerce was present and acted as chairman in the absence of Wayne C. Hickey, Ranger's commercial secretary.

That plenty had been done was shown by the splendid reports that were tendered by the chairman who were present almost one hundred per cent and that a good deal yet remains to be done, but for which provision has been made, was also evident.

With the exception of the plans for the entertainment of the women, the Jubilee entertainment took on very tangible and substantial form and the reports as a whole were concise and distinct as to what had been done, what aids appointed and what is yet to be done.

Walter Murray, in charge of the parade today announced as a sequel to yesterday's meeting the appointment of Roy Jameson and George Murphy as marshals for that event. He stated that the arrangements for the judges stand would be seen to, judges provided and that all things pertaining to the parade would be in readiness for that, the opening event.

Entertainment Ready
R. N. Brothers was appointed to attend to the securing of judges for the band contest and O. G. Lanier was appointed as marshal of the football and pep squad parade that will form at the high school and march to Lillard Field.

MOODY AT OUTS WITH PEOPLE OF AUSTIN TODAY

Trouble Starts When Governors Fail To Arrive At The State Exposition.

AUSTIN, Oct. 6.—Governor Dan Moody and the home folks of Austin as represented by the Texas State Exposition are at outs. When governors of other states of this country and Mexico failed to arrive for Governor's Pan-American Day, at the exposition, A. V. Riley, exposition president charged the failure to Governor Moody breaking a promise to send them invitations.

The governor retorts, "I do not care to be placed in a foolish position in the eyes of governors by extending an invitation which I know their duties would not permit them to accept."

He said he would not invite them here to capitalize on their appearance in drawing a fair crowd.

ALDRIDGE IS DRIVEN OFF MOUND IN EIGHTH

Pirates Show Weak Defense Which Aids the Yankees to Victory.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 6.—The Pirates' defense cracked wide open again today and the New York Yanks rode through to their second victory in the current world series. The score was 6 to 2.

George Pipgras pitching his first world series game held the Pirates in the hollow of his hand, allowing them 7 hits, no two of which came in one inning.

The Yankees clubbed Vic Aldridge from the mound in the eighth inning and took every advantage of the Pirate misplays in two big innings.

Loss playing by the Pirates was responsible for the start of the Yankee's scoring in the third when the Yanks scored three runs. Again in the seventh when they counted three times more. It was a weak defense as much as a hard attack which helped the American League champions to clinch their second victory.

The Exide Battery Company strung a radio set on the aerial of the Black & White Motor Company and installed it in the Times office.

If we had been forced to depend on our regular news channels for this play by play story of the game, delays would have made it impossible to get the complete story in our regular editions.

VALUE OF NEWSPAPERS.

A. A. Anderson, secretary of the Pacific Coast Building-Loan association, in an address at the Pacific states savings and loan conference, recommends newspaper advertising as the most economical means of reaching the public. Further, he urged that the building-loan associations throughout the United States should have a fund of at least $1,000,000 for such a campaign.

As Mr. Anderson knows, it has been fully demonstrated that the newspaper stands by itself as a carrier of messages to the greatest possible number of people. It is the only medium that is sure to reach the citizens of a community and be read. This fact is being more fully appreciated every day.

The smaller city dailies and country weeklies are the great medium for reaching the masses of the people who represent the majority of the reading and buying power of this nation.

WE ARE ALL AMERICANS.

Learned editorials in big metropolitan newspapers, discussing the inferiority complex of farmers as a class, lead to no good result.

Perhaps this complex is more marked as a characteristic on the part of the farm critics, for city folks show woeful lack in general knowledge of "country" affairs.

A great many "farmers" have become experts and prospered in dairying, stock raising, fruit and truck gardening, in spite of metropolitan fibes of hicks and rubes.

The people of our country, including city journalists and syndicate writers, better conclude that we are all Americans, with constantly changing habits and classes of occupations.

The farmers and country-bred people may make up the majority of medium and smaller-sized cities one day, while the progressive and enterprising dwellers and tillers of the soil are coming more and more from the cities.

SAFETY ON HIGHWAYS PERSONAL MATTER.

For the first seven months of 1927, 11,448 automobile deaths were recorded in our country, a gain of 418 over the same period last year. The total may reach 25,000 before the year passes.

Stringent licensing of drivers with cancellation of driver's permit for careless or dangerous operation of automobiles, would help greatly in reducing the number of automobile accidents and deaths. It would cost nothing at all, compared with compulsory automobile liability insurance, which is being advocated all over the nation, and would go far toward alleviating the necessity for such insurance—if such necessity may be said to exist at all.

Making it a prison offense to drive without a license, or after a license is revoked, as it is an offense to have burglar tools or explosives, would do what compulsory automobile liability insurance could not possibly do—it would enforce personal co-operation and responsibility, without which there is no safety.

BONNET AND APRON CLUB GIVE PRESIDENT SHOWER

"She tied her bonnet under her chin and tied a young man's heart within" and that is just what these little green bonneted members of the Bonnet and Apron Club are liable to do unless the young men are extra cautious.

Eastland Church Of Christ Service Gets Good Crowds

Noonday services at the Eastland Church of Christ are meeting with splendid success, crowds are growing and interest is good.

Rev. Busby selected for his subject a beautiful expression found in the 17th verse of the 3rd chapter of Do in Word or Deed, Do All in the Name of the Lord Jesus, Giving Thanks to God and the Father by Him.

Wednesday evening the Church was again filled and much interest manifested. Rev. Busby selected for his subject, verses 1 and 2 of the 5th chapter of Romans upon the question of Faith and Grace; the speaker went on to say that without faith it was impossible to please God, and the more faith a man exercises, the greater service he is in position to render, and in fact does render. That one of the reasons why many church members fail to do their duty is, because they do not possess obedient faith, in other words, it is a dead faith.

Gripings By GUS

A lot of the losers who have seen the fight films are griping their little souls away after having seen the film showing of the Dempsey-Tunney fight.

The seventh round is said to be shown in slow motion and there is much discussion among the losers as to just how much time was wasted by the referee while herding Dempsey from corner to corner. The mooted question will never be settled. When a man backs his judgment with his money and loses, it is only human and natural to try to explain it away to cast the old conscience for having misjudged.

Most of them thought it was framed for Dempsey to win anyway and had it all doped out that way, and bet that way. Now they say it was framed for Tunney to win. They selected the wrong psychological conclusion, since there was as much reason for having framed it one way as another.

If Dempsey had won, everybody would have yelled "frame up" and those that bet on Jack would have resented quite handsomely. The frame up, if any, was evidently the other way and it still hurts those who thought they were so wise.

We're satisfied. We picked Gens to win. Friday night is scout meeting night. You Boy Scouts that tell your boys you are going to scout meeting and then slip off and go to the show better be careful. They're going to send out a patrol to check up on you. You can take this tip for what it's worth.

It looked this morning like people coming in on the bus might have to get off at the city limits and walk into town. They were digging a ditch across one end of the alley and the other end was parked full of cars and the combination made an insurmountable barrier to traffic on the Main street of the world. It's "no fair" to either take on or let off passengers in the streets and the alley was blocked, so there you are.

We guess it's alright to pan the bus line for not spending any money in Ranger and not building a depot or not retaining a building on some other alley.

But it's also right to thank them for furnishing free transportation on a special bus for the performers who went to Fort Worth to broadcast a program in the interest of the Oil Jubilee.

It'll cost them a little jack to do that, but that is not the first time they have run specials to accomma-date Ranger people, and we will say this about them; they do try to operate their regular schedules to be of the most convenience to the public and not necessarily for their own convenience.

See you at the football game Friday.

COMMITTEE ON JUBILEE MAKES FINAL DRIVE

Reports that arrangements would be made for the various dances to be held on both evenings of the Jubilee were made.

One of the most complete reports given was that of the barbecue committee given by its chairman John Thurman, who stated that he had his committees, helpers and food arranged for and everything was "sattin' pretty."

COOKING SCHOOL ECHOES

To fry FISH without smoke or odor

1 Put Crisco into cold frying pan. To thoroughly cook the food (for example, a fish) without smoke or scorching, fry slowly, using enough Crisco to partly cover it. It will not require the constant attention frying does when only a little fat is used.

2 Put frying pan over low heat. As soon as Crisco is melted put in a small piece of bread. As soon as bread starts to brown put in the fish.

3 Cook slowly until fish is nearly done, then turn to brown the other side. With plenty of Crisco in the pan the fish is easily turned without breaking, if you wait until it is almost done.

4 Strain the Crisco into an empty can and use it for the next thing you want to fry. No one will know you have fried fish in it.

CRISCO
 For frying. For shortening. For cake making.

To test your cooking fat—taste it. Crisco's sweet flavor will astonish you.

NEW AIR RULES DISCUSSED AT CONVENTION

International Radio Men To Draft Regulations For Big Industry.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The most important radio meeting ever called will assemble here today, with delegates from more than 50 nations in attendance. With the United States as host, the delegates will seek to draft a new international radio convention governing the many international aspects of the fast growing industry. Secretary of Commerce Hoover and Admiral Bullard, chairman of the U. S. radio commission are expected to take a leading part in proposing and negotiating the new rules of the air. One of the most important questions to this country is involved in an attempt to obtain use of 10 new wave-lengths for broadcasters, whose numbers have literally clogged many airplanes already. The American delegation expects to propose that the S. O. S. ship emergency call wave length be at 700-meter frequency, instead of 600. This will provide ten additional frequencies for broadcasting in this country and, of course, the same number in other continents. The meeting was called to revise the 1912 London radio convention, which does not cover many radio problems of today. It was drafted when ship-to-shore communication only was carried on commercially, and did not even recognize the developments which have come since.

The revision was to have been made in 1917 but the world war caused postponement. The American Congress appropriated $92,000 to cover the costs of the meeting, held here on invitation of this government.

The program includes a discussion of plans for international supervision, communication between stations, broadcasting, handling of press messages and other commercial operations, radio telephony, measures to eliminate interference, distress messages, radio aids to sea and air navigation and other new uses of the radio.

Another important subject is radio exchange of weather reports, standardization of wave-lengths and langages to be used being necessary if this activity is to reach full usefulness.

Differences are expected especially in measures to regulate operation, as this country has left commercial radio almost entirely in the hands of private companies, while some foreign governments have made radio an official monopoly.

Censorship also may be discussed, but diverging views probably will prevent any definite rules being made in this regard.

The American government is represented as being opposed to the drafting of any detailed sets of rules to be imposed on American companies, preferring to leave that to conference among the interests involved.

Besides Hoover and Bullard, the American delegation of 16 includes Senators Watson, Indiana, republican and Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, Rep. White, republican, Main, John Hays Hammond, Jr.

Some of the world experts in radio are included among the American advisers, J. H. Dellinger, bureau of standards, L. W. Austin, expert on radio "fading," Maj. William Blair, army signal corps, and Capt. S. C. Hooper, U. S. navy are among these.

BIGGEST STATE FAIR WILL OPEN UP SATURDAY

Revival Of Horse Racing Will Big Drawing Card At Dallas

DALLAS, Oct. 6.—The biggest state fair in America will open to an audience of 1,000,000 people here Saturday.

The 160-acre tract on which is housed the mammoth exhibit halls of the State Fair of Texas, the auditorium, the stadium, the race track, the amusement features and countless other features of this greatest of all fairs was teeming with thousands of agricultural exhibits today as the finishing touches were made.

The immense size of the fair plant can be judged from the fact that the buildings on the fair grounds are valued at $2,000,000. Trains from all corners of the state will begin arriving here tomorrow and all next week as thousands of Texans turn out to see the spectacle. Special rates for fair visitors have been extended by all railroads running into Dallas.

For 15 days the cream of Texas will be on display. Entries in nearly every department exceed previous records. Roy Rupard, fair secretary, said today: "Not only agriculture is represented, but the immense manufacturers building will display every form of article manufactured in Texas. Automobile manufacturers will show the latest models of passenger cars, trucks and tractors. The oil industry and the lumber industry, both important in this state, will be amply represented.

One thing is strangely missing from the fair this year, despite the efforts of fair officials. That is the Texas longhorn cattle, for years the best known product of the state. During the past decade, the longhorn has been rapidly crowded off the expansive ranges by the hornless, more robust "white face" cattle.

In fact, the longhorn bordered on extinction until recently when the government searched the West Texas plains for the best available specimens. Few more than 20 were found and they have been shipped to a government reservation in Oklahoma for posterity.

Fair officials were unable to locate any desirable specimens for exhibit at the fair. Like a three-ring circus, entertainment features at the 1927 fair surpass any of the past. Eight football games will be played in the fair park stadium, including the Texas-Vanderbilt and Texas Aggies-Sewanee games, which attract attention throughout the south.

Horse racing will be revived on a larger scale than ever. Purses totaling $30,000 have been posted for the running races. Several strings from well known southern stables are already on hand. The fence has been removed from the three-quarter-mile track on the fair grounds and visitors will view the races free of charge.

The musical hit, "Countess Maritza," will be presented in the fair park auditorium with the original New York cast. Scores of other entertainment attractions are billed.

TO CONVERT HOTEL LOBBY TO BUSINESS LOCATION

The spacious lobby of the Stanley hotel on North Lamar street, Eastland, and the cafe adjoining, are to be converted into a business house to be occupied by a new firm coming to Eastland within a short while, according to rumor. These reports state that a lobby for the hotel, which is three stories high, is to be arranged on the second floor of the building.

Judge Cyrus E. Frost, one of the owners of the building and who has in charge, left Eastland early this morning for San Antonio and could not be seen in regard to the reported change.

Members of the squad who will likely make the trip are as follows: Carson Wells, Olney; Aaron Hays, Arlington; David Russell, Fort Worth; John Simmons, Fort Worth; Harvey Wright, Fort Worth; Paul Middleton, Fort Worth; Austin Griffith, Dallas; Howell Hopkins, Dallas; Howard Baxter, Dallas; Clifton Bruce, Stamford; Elbert Lavender, Fort Worth; Hubert Dennis, Memphis; Leo Butler, Holland; Clyde Roberson, Hugo, Okla.; Les Swafford, Ranger; Joe Galloway, Arlington; Joe Lohus, Electra; Gordon Copeland, Cleburne; Othol Martin, Jackboro; V. C. Roberts, Carlton; Cyrus Leeland, Lubbock; Clark Lee, Cleburne; A. T. Barrett, Fort Worth; John Hirstine, Fort Worth; Sam Sain, Terrell; Howard Carroll, Godley; Bob Minton, Ft. Worth, and Albert Flynn, Ft. Worth.

Meyer has not definitely decided on his starting lineup but the forward wall likely will be made up as follows: Bruce and Roberson, ends; Hopkins and Swafford, tackles; Butler and Martin, guards; Hirstine, center. He has been using three sets of backs. The first string combination is Sain, quarter; Lee and Griffith, halves, and Dennis, fullback. The others are, Lebus, Wells, Minton and Leeland and Copeland, Roberts, Carroll and Barcus.

The battle with the Bulldogs will be the first game for the Freshmen. The only other action they have experienced this fall is several scrimmages with the T. C. U. varsity.

Two former teammates at T. C. U. will be vying when the teams of Cherry and Meyer clash. Both Cherry and Meyer played together at T. C. U. in football and baseball. Meyer also was a basket ball star.

Bulldogs Fight With Pollywogs To Be Real Test

By GUS COLEMAN (Sports Editor Ranger Times)

When the referee says, "Are you ready, Captain Short?" at Lillard Field Friday afternoon, Captain Short will pronounce the words that will eliminate a week's intensive training for the occasion—"We are ready."

To start the week the Bulldogs met the Mountaineers from Mineral Wells on Monday and defeated them with ease and came back Tuesday with a scrimmage with the Junior College eleven and since then they have been working out daily and perfecting both offense and defense that will be used against the Pollywogs.

It is fairly certain that the Bulldogs will stage their first real attempt to play a passing game, for David Whitehall has been out there all week snagging passes from every conceivable angle and Coach Cherry has announced that he will in all probability start Hammett at left half and Hammett bids fair to be one of the foremost passers of the district this fall.

The team as a whole is in fair shape for the game, there being no serious injuries and no serious charlie horses and such like. However, Byron Reeves' knee may not permit of his playing his usual game for he hurt it slightly this week and it is still a little stiff from a sprain it received last year.

From the standpoint of scientific football this will probably be the best game that will be played on Lillard field this year. There is no particular rivalry between the teams that would make the players get sore, do reckless things and lose their heads in an effort to win. Of course, the Bulldogs would like to have it said that they went out there and cleaned up on the T. C. U. Freshmen. It would add quite a feather to their caps, in fact a feather of a brighter hue than the one now worn by Cisco for having defeated El Paso. And the Pollywogs certainly don't want it said that they came out into the West with a team composed of practically all-state men from previous years and took them back defeated by a team of mere boys, most of whom still have three years of football yet to play in high school.

Each team will put out everything it has in an effort to win and it is safe to forecast that neither will win by any overwhelming score, but, to repeat, this game will probably exhibit more inside football than any that will be played on the local field this year.

Following is the T. C. U. Freshmen squad giving the name of each player, his home town, his position and playing number:

- Les Swafford, Ranger, line, No. 1
- Carson Wells, Olney, back, No. 2
- Aaron Hays, Arlington, end, No. 3
- David Russell, Ft. Worth, center, No. 4
- John Simmons, Ft. Worth, line, No. 5
- Harvey Wright, Ft. Worth, end, No. 6
- Paul Middleton, Ft. Worth, line, No. 7
- Austin Griffith, Dallas, back No. 8
- Howell Hopkins, Dallas, line, No. 9
- Howard Baxter, Dallas, line No. 10
- Clifton Bruce, Stamford, end, No. 11
- Elbert Lavender, Ft. Worth, line, No. 12
- Hubert Dennis, Memphis, back, No. 13
- John Butler, Holland, line, No. 14
- Clyde Roberson, Hugo, Okla., end, No. 15
- Joe Galloway, Arlington, line, No. 16

- Joe Bobus, Electra, back, No. 17
- Gordon Copeland, Cleburne, back, No. 18
- Othol Martin, Jackboro, back, No. 19
- V. C. Roberts, Carlton, back, No. 20
- Cyrus Leeland, Lubbock, back, No. 21
- Clark Lee, Cleburne, back, No. 22
- John Hirstine, Ft. Worth, center, No. 23
- Sam Sain, Terrell, back, No. 24
- Howard Carroll, Godley, back, No. 25
- Bob Minton, Ft. Worth, back, No. 26
- Albert Flynn, Ft. Worth, back, No. 27

Following is the probable starting line up of the two teams.

Eastland Elks All Set For Big Minstrel Show

The committee in charge of "Minstrel Echoes," the production being featured by the Eastland Elks club for the sake of charity, announces that everything is in readiness for the opening performance tonight. Tickets for the initial nightly performance have been going good, however there are approximately 200 seats yet unsold for tonight. Tickets for Friday night's show have been selling rather briskly also but there are plenty of seats left, according to the chairman of the ticket committee. The matinee Thursday afternoon is for the school children and will start at 4:15 o'clock. Night performances will start promptly at 8:20 and not a minute before or after.

The last rehearsals were held Wednesday night at the Elks club and the Connellee theatre. The cast of the show began rehearsing at 7 o'clock and finished at 11 o'clock then ad-

This unit will seat 4,000, and while these will be used for the Simmons university game Oct. 15, their installation was made necessary by the scheduling of the game with Texas A. & M. college on Friday, Oct. 20, the first conference team ever to invade the Panhandle of Texas.

In addition to the 4,000 new steel bleachers there is a present seating capacity of 3,250, making a total of 7,250 seats. Enough temporary seats will be erected to make the total seating capacity for the A. & M. game at least 10,000.

Abilene Player Held Ineligible By Chairman

Lane Britton, alternating quarterback for the Abilene Eagles, has been declared ineligible for this year by Superintendent L. T. Cook of the Breckenridge schools and chairman of the athletic committee for Class A. schools in this district, it was announced yesterday.

Britton was regular quarter back for the Stephenville high school eleven last year. He moved to Abilene and has been working out with the Coach Mayhew's bunch daily and was assured a berth on the team.

Information for Stephenville revealed the fact that Britton finished his work in that school during the summer instead of during the spring term as the rules require.

Abilene, Mr. Cook stated, has the right to appeal the case from this decision to the full body of the committee.

Eastland-Breckenridge To Play First Conference Game

ATTENDANCE EXPECTED BE FULLY 3,000

Breck Expected to Bring 500 Fans and Big Pep Squad to Tilt

Fully 3,000 people are expected to attend the opening conference game of the oil belt district Saturday afternoon when the Eastland Mavericks meet the strong team from Breckenridge on Eastland's new athletic field.

It was definitely decided Monday to hold the game in Eastland rather than transfer it to Breckenridge or a neutral town.

Breckenridge is expected to bring at least 500 or more enthusiastic fans over to witness the first material change of their Bucaroos.

Preparations are being made in Breckenridge for the entire student body to attend the game and it is thought that a great majority of the students will be able to attend. The band and pep squads will be brought along and it is the plans of the leaders to stage a parade in the downtown district shortly before the game starts. Rumors from Breckenridge state that daily and nightly pep demonstrations are being held there by Breckenridge students. Stickers for windshields have already been widely distributed.

Officials in charge of the game stated Wednesday that the rains of last week have not injured the field to the extent that the game could not be played. Breckenridge made efforts to get the game played on their field but a committee from that town was assured that the field would be in perfect shape for the game.

The two teams have met six times in as many years and the games have been divided evenly, Breckenridge winning three and Eastland winning three. The contest last year was one of the most thrilling ever seen on an oil belt gridiron.

Just what form the demonstration of the Eastland pep squad and band will give has not been definitely decided. However, it is presumed that both the band and squad will stage a parade sometime Saturday.

Fans from Ranger, Cisco, Gorman, Breckenridge and surrounding towns are expected to turn out for the first class A game of the 1927 season. Many from these towns will be inquisitive as to the nature of ball the Bucaroos will exhibit this year. Shotwell has kept his bunch pretty well covered up so far this season, having beat the opposition by just a small score each time. The Eastland Mavericks have played but one game, which was their first for the year, and not much knowledge could be gained from the encounter.

It is not known yet whether an effort will be made to petition the business houses of Eastland to close for the opening encounter or not. Cisco closed its entire business for the opening game the Lobos played which was not a conference game but with a class B team. Ranger did the same to give the Bulldogs a great sendoff when they met the Wolves from Colorado. As a tribute to Coach Pena and the Maverick squad this should be done, but no definite plans have been laid along that line.

The two teams are about as evenly matched as any two in the oil belt. When Coach Pena runs his 1927 team upon the field it will be the lightest team he has been the mentor of since he has been coaching in Eastland and will be the lightest that Eastland High school has put out in years. What the Mavericks lack in weight though they make up in swiftness and perfect interference.

Although little information has been given out regarding the Bucaroos it is generally known that Coach Shotwell will place a strong and contending aggregation upon the field next Saturday afternoon. Shotwell has about twice the material to work with that Pena has and he has been working strenuously every afternoon this week and last in order to have the Bucaroos in shape to win the opening encounter of the year.

Starting lineup for the Mavericks has not been definitely announced, but it is presumed that the same crew will start against Breckenridge that started against Gorman.

Pate's Career In Majors Was Very Unusual Case

By BILLY EVANS.

A major league career without parallel is that of Southpaw Joe Pate of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Joe is no longer a big leaguer. Near the close of the past season he was shipped back to his old stamping ground, Fort Worth. Next year he will again be doing business in the Texas league and no doubt will be one of the stars.

For years prior to 1926, Pate had been one of the big numbers in the Texas league. Many a major league club had angled for his services but Joe always expressed a preference for the Lone Star state.

Eight years back, Detroit made a deal for Pate but Joe said he wanted none of the big league. Knowing this, Detroit relinquished its claim and he continued to go big in Texas.

Two years ago pressure was brought to bear on Joe and he consented to take a whirl at the majors as a member of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Pitched in 47 Games. When Pate made his debut as a big leaguer, he was in the early thirties and had passed the peak of his pitching days. The heart was willing but the arm was weak.

It didn't take Connie Mack long to discover that Pate would be of the greatest value to the Athletics as first pitcher. He delegated this duty to Joe and told him to take his place in the bull-pen at start of each game so as to be ready for any emergency.

A relief pitcher must have control and something a little bit different to offer the batters in attempting to stop a rally. Joe had control and a knuckle ball that was tough to hit.

In the role of pinch pitcher last season, Joe Pate was used on 47 different occasions, stepping into the breach often with only a thread line margin in his favor.

I doubt if ever a pitcher in his first year turned in such a unique and extraordinary record. Pate, working in 47 games, was credited with nine victories and no defeats. He saved perhaps as many games as he won.

No Luck This Year. This year Pate encountered just the reverse "breaks" of last season. His control wasn't so good and the opposing batters refused to offer at his almost unhitatable knuckle ball, knowing that a majority of times it failed of strike specifications.

Pate wasn't able to win a single game from the opposition this year. As August drew near Pate had worked in something like 35 games and had not been able to score a single victory. Despite this, it wasn't until late in June that he was beaten. In all his major league career he has lost only three games, his record being nine victories and three defeats.

A game in which the opposition made seven hits while he was retiring one batter settled Pate's big league career and the finish was of his own volition. He requested that he be sent back to the Texas league.

Praise From Boss. At first Connie Mack refused to take Pate seriously, but his continued insistence caused Mack to accede to his request. So Joe went back to dear old Fort Worth and was again the "old master" of the Texas league.

Just before the close of the season I was discussing Pate and his retirement with Connie Mack. Here is what the astute manager of the Athletics had to say of him:

"Pate was one of the most courageous pitchers I ever had on the Athletics' payroll. His sunny disposition added to his value to a ball club.

"If Pate had the stuff of a lit of pitchers who are warming the bench in the majors, he would have been a star to rival Plank or Waddell. He had the brains and the heart, but the arm was weak."

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 1.—Inhabitants of the colder northern states are expected to begin drifting into San Antonio during the next week to escape the approaching frigid temperatures of the north.

The first chill sweep of the north wind across the northern half of the country starts tourists this way, according to Sidney King of the chamber of commerce tourist department. King said he was receiving an average of 20 inquiries a day already from persons seeking living quarters.

Last year 65,000 visitors registered here during the winter season, an increase of 15,000 over 1925. More than 80,000 are expected this season due to the $125,000 advertising campaign staged by the city during the past summer.

The country is becoming more prosperous. Every pig you run over on your motor trips is a thorough-bred worth $100.

To maintain a supply of hot water for the home, an electric belt has been introduced in England. It is simply strapped about the tank and warms the water above it by heat caused by the resistance to the passage of the current through the conductor, which is adapted to 500, 750 or 1,000 watts. An asbestos-lined cover insulates the heating element, and if desired, two belts may be used on the same container to insure a more abundant supply of heat.

Carbon Club Boys Makes Success With Peanuts

Russell Barton, Eastland county club boy, residing near Carbon, has just completed harvesting his peanut crop which paid him handsomely. Off of 10 acres of land Barton secured 564 bushels of splendid peanuts and 238 bales of good hay.

At prevailing prices Barton gets $1 per bushel for his peanuts and 75 cents per bale for hay, making a total of $742 from 10 acres, or slightly better than $70 per acre.

Barton's success with his peanut crop, according to County Agent Patterson, is due to proper cultivation, good seed, good land and favorable weather conditions.

GOOD WOMEN MAKE REAL HOMES

"Every woman owes it to herself and family to keep healthy, for the reason that it takes strength and energy to successfully manage a home," says a well-known social worker.

No one realizes the truth of this more than the mother in the home. That's one reason you find such an ever-increasing number of weak, run-down women now using St. Joseph's G. F. P.

In Little Rock, Ark., Mrs. Ed Bradford, who lives at 1117 Garland Ave., says, "I was weak and run-down when I started using G. F. P. The first bottle helped me so much, I kept right on using it. Now I'm on my fifth bottle and I feel like a new woman. I have plenty of strength and energy and am always on the go."

In many instances St. Joseph's Antiseptic Powder used externally in connection with St. Joseph's G. F. P. will be found very soothing.

NORFLEET

The Manhunter's Own True Story

As told to Gordon Hines

ALL RIGHTS RESERVED - IMPERIAL PRESS - SUGAR LAND, TEXAS

WHAT HAS BEEN TOLD

Frank Norfleet, a Texas ranchman, is swindled out of $45,000 by a group of stock exchange swindlers in Dallas. He resolves to follow the crooks and break up their organization. Lacking a better clue, he recalls a little red memo book belonging to one of the con men that had a list of names in it. He concludes that this is the sucker list. A man he knows, named Cathey, of Corpus Christi, heads the list. Norfleet goes to Corpus Christi, stopping at San Antonio on the way. Here he learns that the leader of the gang had registered at the St. Anthony as J. Harrison. He learns by a peculiar fluke, that Harrison has probably bought a stolen fur coat from a little shopkeeper. He lets that clue drop for the time and goes to Corpus Christi, where he learns that Cathey has gone to California. Following a strange hunch his wife has Norfleet goes to California, dropping off at San Bernardino. Here he finds two of his men in jail. . . .

CHAPTER SIX

"So you found us, did you, you damned old fox?" It was Ward's heavy voice. His tone was sullen. I turned cold, then hot and the perspiration broke out all over me. I wanted to batter down those bars and strangle the life out of him. In my several subsequent meetings with the crooks, I never again gave away quite as I did then. I was really blood-thirsty. Shay's voice steadied me.

"There's Gerber, too—there in the next cell."

My eyes grew accustomed to the dim light and I looked them over. So here were the suave, clever pseudo-secretaries of the Dallas and Fort Worth Stock Exchanges. They hardly looked like themselves. I had last seen them as polished, well-dressed business men. Here, in the cells, they looked like ordinary criminals and I wondered how I had ever let them deceive me. But that was only the environment. Outside, they would have looked like gentlemen again and would have been able to deceive others as they had me.

Gerber, who heard Ward speak to me, rushed from his stool to the bars between us and began a pleading, hysterical harangue:

"Norfleet, for God's sake, don't identify us."

I was calm by now and, without answering him, I turned and followed the sheriff back to his office.

"How did it happen?" was my first question.

"Why a man brought me a clipping from a San Francisco paper the other day. It had a detailed account of your swindling and a description of some of the gang who 'did' you. The man said he had run into a bunch of stock brokers right here in San Bernardino and was about to close a big deal with them when he saw this item. He had read it carefully and decided that its descriptions fitted some of the members of the crew that was about to trap him. They had used the same methods that you described; one or two even gave the same names. He wanted them pinched, so I took a chance and staged a little raid. I only succeeded in landing these two. The others got away. I wired Sheriff Clark at Fort Worth and he wired back for me to hold them. So here they are."

"I wouldn't have wanted a better Christmas present," I replied. "But I wish I had known you had them." I was thinking of my railroad fare.

"I sent a wire to you at the ranch, but you must have missed it, Milton Williams, a deputy from Fort Worth, is on his way here now. He'll take the pair back to Fort Worth for trial."

"Who was the fellow who brought you the newspaper clipping?" I asked out of curiosity.

"A man named Cathey, from Corpus Christi. Cathey—I believe he said it was, I have a note—"

"Cathey!" I exploded, nearly tipping over my chair. "Cathey! Well, I'll be hanged!"

"If it hadn't been for that newspaper story, these birds would have been gone with his money by this time."

I looked Cathey up.

He told me he had been approached in much the same manner as I had. He also had sat on the mysterious Mr. Stetson's wall. They had used the same set of business credentials on him that had been my own downfall. To Cathey, too, they had made a fine impression and gained his full confidence.

Just as the deal was about to be closed, he saw the news story, recognized his "friends" as my swindlers and woke up with a bang! He dashed out bareheaded from the hotel and inquired of the first policeman in the street for the sheriff's office. He was seen asking directions of the policeman by one of the gang. They knew their game was up and the whole lot of them made an instant dash for freedom.

Ward and Gerber rushed for the railroad station. Stetson and Spencer left via the fire escape and disappeared.

Fortunately Cathey got to Sheriff Shay in time for him to head off Ward and Gerber just as they were boarding the train.

In a suit case Ward was carrying, the officers found the original papers and credentials used on both Cathey and myself. The name Stetson was signed to most of them. It is probable that Ward or one of the others was using the name "Stetson" in San Bernardino, as the Stetson I had known was registered at the hotel as Mr. Peck. The authorities at first thought they had captured the master mind of the ring. I regretted this was not true, but we can't have everything—not all at once, anyway.

One of the most interesting documents in the case was a check book of Stetson's. The stubs showed that checks for large amounts had been drawn in favor of M. H. Harrison and Dede Winters. Who these were, I did not know, of course, until much later. We also found the original copy of my contract with them.

I couldn't help wondering if Stetson had a Hudson seal coat under his arm when he went down the fire escape.

Milton Williams, the deputy sheriff from Fort Worth, arrived next day and we made preparations to take Ward and Gerber back to Texas for trial. They resisted extradition and it was necessary to wire back for requisition papers. This meant a delay of several more days. Sheriff Clark wired that he would go to Austin personally to get the governor's signature and bring the papers to San Bernardino as quickly as possible.

While waiting, I allowed no grass to grow under my cow boots. I visited near-by towns, going as far as Los Angeles. At the Police Headquarters there I found a picture of Stetson in the rogue's gallery. The brief information on the back gave several aliases with "Furey" as the name he principally used. It was also conjectured that this was his real name.

I took the picture to the executives in the sheriff's office. They recognized him and said they knew quite a lot about his operations. They promised to keep a sharp lookout for him. I referred, tactfully, to the reward I was offering, but they impressed me that duty was their noble motive and goal.

I told them I wanted to leave my suit case with them until I went out and perfected my disguise and I caught an amused flicker as they glanced about at each other. My amateurishness was quite a treat to them and they enjoyed encouraging me, just to see what I would do.

When I left the office I was wearing a wide-brim Stetson hat, such as the men of my part of the country wear, and an old corduroy suit, with the trousers tucked into the tops of high-heeled boots. My mustache had been allowed to grow as freely as nature intended it should.

When I returned, my upper lip was clean as a whistle and my hair was cropped close. I wore a neat, inconspicuous gray business suit and, in place of the big sombrero, I wore a cap. The outfit seemed foolish to me and I felt very self-conscious.

"I'll thank you to give me my suit case and overcoat," I said to the officer in whose charge I had left them.

"You'll thank me to do what?" he snapped, giving me the up-and-down.

I repeated my request for my belongings.

"Say, how do you get that way? Those things belong to a West Texas cowboy. What're you trying to pull off?"

I finally convinced them that I was the rightful owner and their chagrin was amusing; they endeavored to pass the matter off in a careless way as if they had known who I was from the beginning.

Delays blocked me again. On returning to San Bernardino, I found Sheriff Clark with the papers, but the authorities refused to allow us to remove the men from the state on mere charges. They insisted that we should have grand jury indictments against the men.

We wired Jesse M. Brown, district attorney at Fort Worth, forthwith, and asked him to call a special session of the grand jury; I would hurry to Fort Worth to appear before them on the day of my arrival. I left the next day.

I am a sociable soul, which is characteristic of West Texans. When I was addressed by an elderly gentleman sitting across from my section in the Pullman, I was glad to fall in conversation with him. The newspapers had widely circulated the report of the arrest of Ward and Gerber and the probability of them being taken back to Fort Worth for trial. So it did not seem out of the way that he should speak of the pair and their capture. He folded his newspaper and looking across at me said:

"My name is Garst, Perry Garst. I have just been reading about the capture of these fellows Ward and Gerber. It looks like they're in for it now, doesn't it?"

I told him I was sure they were if I had anything to do with it. I was still suffering from the humiliation of the financial sting they had given me and my blood pressure was pretty high. Perhaps, at first, I was given to talking a little too freely. Within a few months, I had learned better. Now I was overzealous to pour out the tale of my misfortune. I told Garst the whole story.

He seemed deeply impressed and to sympathize with me sincerely. In fact, he became so interested that he declared his intention to stop off at Fort Worth to see how the matter turned out.

"I have never been in that town and it will be an opportunity to see it."

He dismissed the matter and leaned back, falling into a doze. As he slept his head slipped into the corner against the window. A strong light played straight into his features. I looked away, outside at the fleeting scenery, but my eyes were drawn back to the man's face by an odd attraction.

he's a husband. One knows where one is with Jack. He is certainly the most faithful ex-husband I ever saw. Now if Jerry Macklyn had had the good judgment to prefer an experienced woman—a blond, at that—to a foolish virgin who runs off chasing another man and gets herself kidnapped—

"I rather that Jerry has been rather difficult?" Vee-Vee laughed. "When are you going to marry him? Or is this taste of caviar life going to turn your head?" Flora demanded, in lieu of an answer.

"I rather think," Vee-Vee said softly, "that I shall wait till he asks me again."

"Then you'll marry him tomorrow and lose this fairy-tale job of yours, for he will ask you tonight. He's coming, of course?" Flora retorted. But there was really no danger of Vee-Vee's losing her "fairy-tale job," the next day, or any day during the long weeks that followed for Jerry Macklyn did not once take advantage of her invitation, seconded by the Crandalls, to visit her at the Manhasset Bay estate. He wrote her fairly frequently, and it always seemed that she was opening mail to which she had no right, when she slit the envelope bearing the name, "Miss Vivian Crandall." His first letter explained that his reception, as Vivian Crandall's sole male caller, would arouse a storm of gossip and rumor, a storm which might break over their heads when Vee-Vee's "job" was finished.

Of course she had to accept his judgment as sound, but she reflected resentfully that he might have worded his refusal a little more respectfully, have begun and ended his letters a little more warmly. As it was, she treasured every apparently careless word of affection the hasty scrawls contained, and paled miserably over his frequent references to both Rosemary Fitch and Vivian Crandall.

"He probably fell in love with Vivian because she looks like me, and than fell out of love with me because I'm not as wonderful as she is," Vee-Vee told herself in a fit of extreme depression. "But if I'd had her advantages I might have been more like her. She is wonderful," she added honestly, but her fairness gave her little happiness in the realization that she had lost the man she should have loved all along and whom she now loved far more deeply and genuinely than she had ever loved Schuyler Smythe.

When she consoled herself with the reflection that Vivian Crandall was safely out of his reach, because all her love was given to Paul Allison, she would remember, with startlingly severe pangs in her lonely heart, that his letters contained quite as many references to Rosemary as to Vivian Crandall. It seemed that if he did not dine with Vivian Crandall and Paul Allison that he took Rosemary Fitch to Coney Island or to a Long Island roadhouse for a shore dinner.

During those long weeks she had no direct word from Vivian Crandall, and her retirement was so complete that the outside world had no opportunity to discover the deception that was being practiced upon it. It was not an easy time for any of the three of them, for the Crandalls—mother and father—were obviously suffering the keenest anxiety over the mysterious behavior of their daughter. Vee-Vee had told them that her "job" was to last only two months, and that at the end of that time Vivian would release her from her agreement to impersonate her. As the time drew near for her release from her amazing contract, Vee-Vee found, oddly enough, that she was almost sorry, for life stretched rather empty and purposeless before her.

It was true that she would have 10 thousand dollars, hence leisure in which to look about her and find just the work which would offer her the most in salary and opportunity. But her brain, lulled by luxury and the effortless ease of her life on the Crandall estate, seemed curiously ambitionless. It was hard to picture herself as a private secretary again, taking a proprietary interest in a business which she could never really own, sinking all her newly discovered femininity into a career. If she had some special talent—if only she had not lost Jerry—

Vivian's telegram, signed "Vivian," came on Friday in the middle of September, a day or two before she was expecting it. It said merely, "Come immediately. Tell no one."

What did it mean? Had Vivian failed to convince Paul Allison that she was the wife for him? Or was everything settled and was this Vera Cameron's last day as Vivian Crandall, ex-princess, and heiress to 40 million dollars?

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Mrs. Nancy Goodwin 87 Years of Age Dies at Eastland

Bereft of her sight many years ago and last week bereft of the light of her life, her only son, who passed away at Gorman, Mrs. Nancy Goodwin, 87, died at Eastland yesterday and will be buried at Merrimac cemetery, near Ranger, this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Truly with this aged mother "the light of her whole life died, when love was done," for on being told that her only son had passed away, she lapsed into unconsciousness from which she never came back.

"Aunt Nannie" as she was known far and wide was a sister to the late "Uncle" Jack Phillips of Ranger and those who knew her best, say that in spite of blindness which dated back over half of her life she was one of the happiest souls and was always singing. She is survived by a brother, A. Phillips.

Rocking the baby by motor is now possible in an attachment fitted to the carriage. It rocks the body of the buggy from side to side and also rolls the entire vehicle alternately forward and backward. RANGER OIL OPERATOR SPUDS PALO PINTO TEST

Mr. Clements has 2,500 acres blocked in the big bend of the Brazos river on which he says he has "the oil hemmed in." The location is in semi-proven territory.
