"GO FORWARD" SAYS PASTOR TO CONGREGATION

Rev. A. W. Hall Preaches His First Sermon to Ranger Methodists.

RANGER, Nov. 26.—"I wish to express myself in terms of gratefulness," said the Rev. A. W. Hall, in his first sermon at the Methodist church Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock service, "for the magnificent work done by my predecessor.

"I come to take up his work, but not to take his place in your hearts. This is a wonderful building. I need no other introduction to Ranger than to see this work of your hands."

Making his first appearance before the congregation of the Methodist church, the new pastor launched into some of his policies without hesitation. One calls for an increase in church membership. Still another for an attitude of looking forward and not backward. The minister took for his scriptural text the leading of a dispersed race of people to a new land by Moses, and he used frequently the injunction of God to the children of Israel when the Red sea, which had barred their progress, parted, "God forward." He used the phrase with striking effect in urging that new things be accomplished in the new year.

Not Like a Stranger.

"I don't feel like a stranger in a strange land," he said in telling of the number of former Ranger persons in his congregation at Weatherford. "I was on the streets here yesterday and lots of names were familiar."

Offering herself as a convert to Christ's church, Mrs. Charles Aiken of Holdenville, Okla., came forward after Mr. Hill made an appeal for non-members to "cast your lot with Christ."

After telling his congregation that they had a beautiful temple to worship in, he said there was "much more work to be done." He quoted the scriptures, declaring that when the Master spoke of the church, he always referred to a body of men and women and the incidents that took place therein.

"It means that we must give all we possibly can contribute to the spread of the gospel of the Lord," he declared. "We have a church. The next objective is a great throng of worshippers, men and women."

Church services always present more or less curiosity at the beginning when a new minister comes, he said. "Whatever curiosity there is in you this morning, I'm willing to gratify. I have nothing to conceal from anyone."

Lord of Promises.

The Biblical story of Moses leading a broken-hearted race of people from their country to a new land of promise at the behest of God, and the parting of the Red sea waters that the children of Israel might cross it to their new land, was used by Mr. Hall in illustrating what he indicated in his talk, will be his watchword during his Ranger pastorate, "God forward."

After passing over this account of the great travails, he said it convinced the travelers that they were free, and there was nothing to hinder them but to press on.

"He wants people under any circumstances at his command to attempt the impossible," he explained. "God wants men and women to place faith in him. So long as a man looks up in the face of God with confidence, there is victory ahead of him."

"We want to go forward this year in a number of new ways. We can't go forward without turning our back on the past. We must not look backward. Everywhere I go I find some folks looking backward. All the good folks lived in the past, they will say. All the good times were in the past. Well, that means a person has lost faith in the present and lost all faith in the future."

"A Christian's best days are always ahead. Heaven is ahead. There are a number of things we can do ourselves. Our membership must be increased. I have never been a pastor of a city of this size where the Methodist church membership was not larger than here. I know of a city no larger than Ranger where the Methodist church has between 1,300 and 1,400 members."

Reckless Squandering of Money and Exulting Boasting Leads to Arrest

BARNEY GOOGLE HAS CONFIDENCE IN SPARK PLUG

Challenges Zev, My Own and In Memoriam to Race.

Special.

NEWTON FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 26.—Holding the lead as the first stretch of the great $100,000 cross continental race is near its finish, Barney Google's Spark Plug with Sunshine up got a warm reception here as he rushed under the wire like a Yale buck being rammed over another touchdown.

Elated by the showing thus far made by Spark Plug, Mr. Google sent telegrams to the owners of Zev, My Own and In Memoriam challenging the latter to special match races anywhere along, or near, the route of the $100,000 cross continental classic.

"Sparky has run but a few hundred miles in this race thus far," said the smiling Mr. Google to reporters. "He's just hitting his stride. Not until today did Sunshine (and myself) have to put the bat to him. He's so fresh that I've wired my friends, Harry Sinclair, Admiral Grayson and Carl Wiederman challenging them to enter their fancy mules in match races with my brown-eyed beauty."

"Sparky is such a long distance darling that I can afford to take several hours off any time during the cross continental race and run him in a special event."

"If Zev, My Own and In Memoriam are not too tired after their recent contests, they ought to make Spark Plug extend himself over a mile and a few furlongs."

"Sunshine is just aching to show that he is another Isaac Murphy—a dyed-in-the-wool black Sander."

While supervising the rubbing down of Spark Plug, Mr. Google put himself on record as strongly favoring match races between high class horses.

"Though Sparky is naturally a long distance racer and prefers the going with a big field, I like duels—especially those where the finish gives everyone the heebie jeebies. If Sparky was in the field the day that Zev outclassed In Memoriam, I'd bet the winner's share of the present cross continental race that my brown-eyed beauty would have won by a tongue as he has done in close finishes of the past."

"You can put it in big letters," Mr. Google concluded, "that the only fear I have now is that Zev, My Own and In Memoriam may be too tired to meet my Sparky. They are great horses, of course, but fragile. My Sparky is tougher than the Yale line, faster than the Cornell backfield, and the greatest passer in the world not barring Notre Dame at its best. Indeed, if Spark Plug could play football, he'd be the All-American team himself."

"Sparky has only run a few thousand furlongs in the last few days, but even if they stall these match challenges for a few weeks, I'm willing to let Spark Plug run up the Rocky mountains while Zev, In Memoriam, and My Own run down and wager even money that Sparky will catch up and pass them before they reach sea level. That's how good I know Sparky is."

Reporters were shocked from the stable as Sunshine soothingly began to sing his pet to sleep with the new terpsichorean nocturne, "Come On, Spark Plug!"

The strains of that spritely song were wafted into the local telegraph office as the keys were clicking off Barney Google's challenges to the owners of Zev, My Own and In Memoriam, and the sporting scribes were typing the latest news of the cross continental epic.

Many Hunters Killed During Hunting Season In New York

VEGETABLE OIL TARIFF NEEDED BY THE SOUTH

Southern Tariff Congress Plans to Push Fight at Coming Convention.

Special.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 26.—J. J. Brown, commissioner of agriculture of Georgia, will preside over the session of the Southern Tariff Congress which will have under consideration the vegetable oil schedule of the present tariff law, it was announced at headquarters of the congress here today. The congress convenes here Dec. 7 for two days session. Delegates will attend representing 63 industries of the South, while about 500 chambers of commerce and 5,000 banks are backing the association in its fight to protect southern tariff schedules.

Industrial Antagonistic.

In a message to J. A. Arnold, vice president of the Southern Tariff association, Mr. Brown announced that his decision to accept the invitation from the tariff congress was made after he had received a letter from the Georgia Cotton Growers' association and the Georgia Peanut Growers' association urging him to attend the congress in the interest of these industries. Mr. Brown is a recognized agricultural leader of the South, active in advancing organized movements in the interest of the farmers. "It is now generally known," reads Mr. Brown's message, "that an effort will be made in the near future by the large interests in the North and East which use vast quantities of vegetable oil in the manufacture of soap, varnish, etc., to have the protective tariff on vegetable oil removed entirely or very drastically reduced. Such action would work very disadvantageously to the interest of southern agriculture, inasmuch as the removal of the tariff on vegetable oil would put the southern farmer in direct competition with the producers of Oriental oils, which are produced by the cheap coercive labor of China and other eastern countries."

While reaffirming his faith in the Democratic tariff principle, Mr. Brown declared: "I do not feel that it would be just to our southern farmers to compel them to sell their products without the advantage of a protective tariff while they are at the same time compelled to purchase their supplies, their food and clothes and everything which goes into the production of their products, at prices made under protective tariff conditions for the article."

Would Depress Prices.

Lifting the tariff on these oils would immediately result in depressing prices for peanuts, cottonseed oil and other products, Mr. Brown pointed out, as it would let down the bars to a flood of cheaply produced Oriental oils and bring them on the market in competition with southern oils.

The flexible provision of the tariff act as a permanent tariff policy of government will come in for general discussion. John H. Kirby of Houston, Texas, president of the association, will deliver his annual address on the opening day. Reports of state chairmen from Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Texas, Virginia, West Virginia, and Wisconsin will be read.

Would Depress Prices.

DRINKING ORGY BREAKS OUT IN PHILADELPHIA

Eight Dead, 100 in Hospitals and 500 in Jail, Following Big Week-End Spree.

By United Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26.—Eight men are dead from drinking poisonous liquor, 100 are in hospitals here under treatment for acute alcoholism and more than 500 are under arrest for being drunk in a record breaking week-end liquor drinking orgy, police said today.

The alcoholic debauch is believed due in part to the sudden drop in temperature and in part to the approach of the holiday season. Others believe it due in part to an organized effort on the part of the wets to prove that prohibition cannot be enforced here.

Four men picked up by the police in the street, all unconscious, died before reaching a hospital. Death was said to be due to alcoholism. One man found unconscious in a rooming house died in St. Mary's hospital. All were unidentified.

Peter Graham, arrested on a charge of being intoxicated, was a little later found by the police dead in his cell. When arrested the police did not consider his condition serious enough to send him to the hospital.

The hospitals here had a busy week-end, the busiest since the enactment of prohibition, it was said. Oxygen was used to revive the victims who had reached a critical stage. Others, too, required medical attention, but their cases were not critical. At one station house 216 "drunks" were rounded up and at another the rooms were so crowded that many prisoners had to be sent to the city hall.

Buy Water System, Get Pure Water, Ranger Folks Say

Ranger property owners and citizens gave their opinions today on the proposal of the city to buy and operate the Ranger Water Works company's system and plant.

As many persons as can be reached will be interviewed to learn the position they will take, pro and con, before the proposal is put up to the people in the form of a bond issue election.

Here are some views gathered today by a newspaper man:

Maurice Leveille, part owner of the Leveille-Maher Motor company and a property owner—A city should own its water works plant. I'm not in favor of buying the lake. If we can afford to buy the system, we should have a good supply of water. A nice, big dam near the city, within six miles, is needed. There was a survey made several years ago, between Ranger and Thurber. Maybe the land can be dammed where this survey was made.

Arthur G. Jury, manager of the Gholson hotel.—I'm for it. When the state health board approves of the filtration plant design and a reputable engineering company sets the appraisal figure, the way is clear. If a city hasn't a good and plentiful water supply, a manufacturer doesn't consider a town as a location.

J. L. Thompson, oil producer.—I believe Ranger should own the plant if it means cheaper water. Cheaper water means more beautiful lawns and more contented homes. I think the city should find a source of more water. The Tee Pee land east of town has dam possibilities. Then, there is Cisco lake water. If a drought comes there won't be water enough for a city of Ranger's size.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—President Coolidge today directed Attorney General Daugherty to investigate the case of Comptroller Charles L. Craig of New York, sentenced to serve 60 days in jail for contempt of court and for whom a pardon is being sought.

Boy Scouts Trained While Young To Be Useful As Grown Men

I am heart and soul behind the Scout movement in Ranger as it forms one of the greatest attachments between boy and man and later on in life, between man and man. This is due to the training received right from the very beginning.

To instance: The scout oath. "On my honor, I will do my best to do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the Scout law, to help other people at all times, to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight."

I do not know of a more beautiful, exacting, and encouraging oath. I took that oath about 14 years ago and I have had it before me ever since. Thus I believe it is well worthy of careful perusal, thoughtful consideration, and perpetuation and so well accords with my views that I have taken the liberty of reproducing it verbatim.

A Scout stands "on his honor." To do what? "His best to do his duty to God and his country." What else? "To obey the Scout law." What is the Scout law? "A Scout is trustworthy, friendly, obedient, brave, loyal, courteous, cheerful, clean, helpful, kind, thrifty and reverent." "A Scout helps other people at all times." "Physically strong," "mentally awake" and "morally straight."

The organization is non-sectarian, but truly religious. Non-military, but truly patriotic. Non-political, but essentially civic.

GERMANY SEEMS APPROACHING DICTATORSHIP

Dr. Albert Willing to Accept Post of Chancellor Only Under Conditions.

By United Press.

BERLIN, Nov. 26.—General Von Seeckt, Germany's unofficial dictator, still will be the power behind the government if Dr. Heinrich Albert, the latest to try his hand at the helm of the floundering ship of state, succeeds in forming a cabinet.

General Von Seeckt's power is growing. It is understood that President Ebert, before inviting Dr. Albert to form a cabinet, consulted the general as to whether the former minister of the treasury in Cuno's cabinet would be acceptable. Dr. Albert, prior to the entry of the United States into the war, was Germany's fiscal agent there.

It is understood that Dr. Albert has agreed to accept the chancellorship only on condition that he shall have a mandate enabling him to dissolve the reichstag at any time. If he should go to this extreme, Dr. Albert would remain the nominal head of the government, but the actual power would revert to the military and General Von Seeckt. The reich is said to be lukewarm towards Dr. Albert.

POLICE HOLD ALLEGED BOLD HIGHWAYMAN

Man Arrested in Cleveland Thought Implicated in Brooklyn Hold-Up and Murder.

By United Press.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Nov. 26.—Reckless expenditure of money and boasting to a woman are said by local police to have furnished the clues which brought about today the arrest of Bartlow M. Diamond, said to be from Brooklyn, and wanted in connection with the robbery of $33,000 cash in that city, Nov. 14, in a holdup in which two bank messengers were killed.

The police said that Diamond squandered money on the girl and also boasted to her that he was a "stick-em-up" man and had just made a big haul.

The Cleveland police are confident the man arrested by a New York detective assisted by two members of the local force, is one of the men who participated in the Brooklyn robbery and murder.

Ranger Police Are Continuing Search For Stolen Autos

RANGER, Nov. 26.—Recovery of more stolen automobiles and the arrest of additional alleged members of the huge automobile swindling gang of Stephens and Eastland counties, will result from the recovery of a Ford touring car in Ranger last week, it was said today by Assistant Chief L. E. Davenport. The auto was taken to Breckenridge Sunday, where the arrests and discovery of stolen cars is expected to take place.

The touring car, it was revealed, was innocently taken in a trade between the Leveille-Maher Motor company of Ranger and a Breckenridge man, for whom, it has developed, the Stephens county authorities now have a warrant. A new automobile was involved in the deal, Davenport said today. The Leveille-Maher company will probably help prosecute the case.

More than 20 automobiles have been recovered with the arrest of six men and the breaking up of the alleged automobile swindling gang in the two counties by the police of Ranger and the sheriff's department of Breckenridge in the last two weeks.

The touring car recovered had its motor numbers almost obliterated, but not enough not to be able to read them. One number was lost, however, the letter T being over the first number of the original motor serial number. By the copious use of sand paper, Assistant Chief Davenport was able to read the numbers.

Charles Bebout, automobile thief hunter, employed by an insurance company, was in Ranger Saturday evening for several hours, but returned to Breckenridge.

GOVERNOR FIELD TO PUT DANCING UNDER A BAN

Invites Churches to Hold Prayer Services in Executive Mansion.

By United Press.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Nov. 26.—"There will be no dancing in the executive mansion during my term of office as governor," William J. Fields, governor-elect of Kentucky, declared today.

Meanwhile plans for the inaugural ball to be held Dec. 10 go merrily on although Governor Field and Mrs. Field plan to remain at their home at Olive Hill during the festivities.

The governor-elect has also promised that "if any church denomination cares to use the executive mansion for prayer services while I am governor they will be welcomed there at any time."

The Field regime promises to be one of the most religiously inclined Kentucky has had for many years and may go far ahead of any in the past. Governor Field and Mrs. Field are devout Methodists and the governor has named as his private secretary the Rev. George C. Waggoner, a minister of the Christian church, who is expected to wield considerable influence in the new administration.

COAL MINERS ENTOMBED BY GAS EXPLOSION

First Report Says 500, but Later Advances Report Nearly All Escaped.

By United Press.

BENTON, Ill., Nov. 26.—Five hundred men may be entombed in a shaft of the Chicago, Wilmington & Franklin coal company's mines at Orient, 7 miles southwest of here, as result of an explosion there today.

Seven men, partly burned in the gas explosion, were taken from the mine this morning. Eleven hundred men are said to have entered the company's mines early this morning and it is believed that as many as 500 may have been in the shaft when the explosion occurred.

The coal company, which has its main office here, has refused to give out any information concerning the explosion. Mine rescue crews from all parts of southern Illinois have been ordered to the scene.

This mine holds the world's record in the number of tons of coal hoisted in an 8-hour shift and has been operating steadily.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—All but 14 of the 922 men who went into the Chicago, Wilmington & Franklin coal mines at Orient this morning have been accounted for, according to advances received by George G. Herrington, president of the company, he said at noon today. Twelve men are in hospitals suffering from bad burns, Herrington said had been reported to him over the company's private wire.

The size of the mine and its record breaking output have caused exaggeration rumors concerning the explosion, he said.

SUPREME COURT TINKERERS
 It has been the favorite indoor sport of a few congressmen and senators to try to change the character of the supreme court of our country. It has been a popular political pastime to air the grievance of reformers, labor leaders and radical politicians by attacking the validity of the last court of resort for interpreting laws and constitution.

Senator Borah has been particularly savage in talking about five to four decisions and proposed a bill requiring that 7 out of 9 judges concur in pronouncing any act of congress unconstitutional.

Charles Warren, former assistant attorney general of the United States, in the Saturday Evening Post of Oct. 13, shows that the actual fact in this particular matter is that in 134 years of existence of the United States supreme court, there have been exactly nine of these five to four cases in which an act of congress was held unconstitutional.

Senator La Follette goes further and proposes to amend the constitution so that if the supreme court or any inferior federal judge declares an act of congress unconstitutional, congress may, by re-enacting the law, nullify the court action.

Senator Borah's amendment would give a minority of two judges such tremendous monopoly of power that majority rule on the supreme court in rendering decisions will seem to any ordinary mind to be infinitely more fair than seven to two decisions.

The La Follette amendment would destroy the theory of equality between the three great branches of our government—the representative, executive and judicial.—Manufacturers' Industrial News Bureau.

Daily Columnist
Scintillates Color
Says Kindly Critic

Carl Van Doren devotes his department of literary criticism in the Century Magazine for December to newspaper columnists.

"The columnists are a perpetual relief from what may be called the newspaper grand style," writes Mr. Van Doren. "Nothing is too great for them to bring it before the bar of laughter; nothing is too small for them to flash a beam of light upon it. It is true that they are sometimes accused of forming a smug corporation, exchanging compliments from column to column, overpraising one another's books and plays, capriciously shutting out the dull barbarians who do not habitually cross their paths; but these accusations have so far not become very ominous. If the columnists were not felt to be untrammeled personalities, they would not be felt at all."

Columnists, says the Century editor, "are licensed jesters of the town, free to catch the most respectable citizen momentarily off his guard, without fear of being taken too seriously. They can turn a mayor to ridicule, send hundreds to a theatre or keep dozens away from it, stimulate the sales of a book, give a clever phrase household currency, fix public attention upon some neglected figure or episode, past or present, laugh some general hysteria to sleep."

"The great audiences which they have by virtue of their positions they hold by their particular qualities. They are immensely personal. They take the public into their confidences with whimsical candor. One of them devotes a day each week to publishing his diary. Another calls out joyfully when he has found a new book or a new drink. Another makes charming capital out of the sayings and doings of his son. Thus through the confusion of the daily news they pick their ways and yet preserve their identities."

Home Revivals Are Much Needed Says Head of Kansas Bar

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 26.—The majority of crimes are committed today by boys under 21 years of age and 75 per cent of them by boys under 25 years of age; the average home is nothing more than a place to eat and sleep and has ceased to be a place for moral and religious training.

Judge W. C. Harris of Emporia, president of the Kansas State Bar association, so stated in his address at the opening of the state convention today.

"The people have gone amusement mad," he declared. "Jazz life, cheap breeding and cheap thinking are destroying character. The people of the United States are the most notorious law violators of any people in the world who pretend to be civilized." He quoted statistics of Great Britain and France in comparison with the United States to prove the far greater prevalence of law violations in this country.

"What this country needs is a revival in the home that teaches morality," he declared.

STUDEBAKER AUTO RUNS CONTINUOUSLY FOR A PERIOD OF SEVEN DAYS

Running continuously for seven days for a distance of 5,504 miles at an average speed of 33.9-16 miles per hour, a Studebaker light-six has just completed another remarkable performance record at Syracuse, N. Y.

The run was undertaken by Gere & Willis, Studebaker dealers in Syracuse, to demonstrate the merit of Studebaker light-six cars for performance, endurance and economy. In seven days' time the light-six delivered more than the average mileage for a whole year and did it so decisively that it is causing wide comment among motorists in that section of the country.

Outstanding features of the long run were the fact that the highest average for any one hour during the run was 48 miles; the highest speed, 67 miles an hour; the use of but three gallons of water for the whole run and the further fact that no air was put into the tires during the entire seven days.

The best gasoline average for a six-hour period during the trip was 23 miles, and for the whole trip, the average was 18.1 miles to the gallon. Thirteen men took turn about driving and at all times an observer of the Syracuse Post-Standard accompanied the car.

Exclusive mechanical features of the light-six motor account largely for this remarkable record in the opinion of Oilbelt Motor company, local Studebaker dealer.

EASTLAND BOY PLAYING IN THE LONGHORN BAND

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 26.—From more than 150 try-outs, the University of Texas Longhorn band has selected 60 enthusiastic students to wear the orange and white caped uniform of the organization for the coming session. W. S. Ruff of Eastland has been selected a member of an organization which is one of the liveliest and most loyal college activities on the campus. Students at the university regard it as a distinct honor to themselves and a privilege to serve the school when they become a member of the Longhorn band.

Appearing at all the football games on the home field and at out of town games, the 60-piece organization has made a favorable impression. Dressed in the new $3,000 uniforms with the flowing orange cape and high orange egrette attached to the bus-bow, the band makes a colorful and inspiring appearance as they march across the field at the football games.

N. Y. BOXING COMMISSION MAY WIN RESPECT LOST BY MULDOON'S POLICY

By HENRY L. FARRELL, (United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Announcing a policy directed at construction, rather than destruction, a spirit of co-operative supervision instead of autocratic dominance and a preference for common sense, the recently reorganized New York Boxing commission has a good chance to assume the place of respect to which it is entitled as the governing body of boxing in the sport's biggest and most important field.

William Muldoon, whose misdirected, though honest and sincere zeal, caused the commission to become the laughing stock of the boxing world, has been set back to a rather minor seat in the council, and William I. McCormick has succeeded him as the dominating personality of the commission.

"McCormick is young and he has 'been around.' He started as a laborer on the East River water front and worked himself up until he is now general manager of the biggest trucking firm in New York. He knows how to handle men, and as a thirty-third degree boxing fan, he knows how to handle boxers.

McCormick's first active stroke in the attempt to get the commission back into repute came with the announcement that the commission would revert back to the old cardinal rule of the game that championships are won and lost only in the ring.

Muldoon's administration had tried to establish the precedent of deposing champions and setting up new ones by passing resolution in official session, and it resulted in open ridicule for the commission.

McCormick then started a campaign to bring the commission down to boxing instead of lifting the sport to the heights that Muldoon had assumed were the rightful provinces of the commission.

Muldoon would not suffer boxers, managers or sport writers near the sacred confines of the commission offices and he acted on the theory that there was no appeal from the rulings of the commission.

McCormick threw the doors of the commission wide open and invited all the boxers, managers and sport writers to come in, take off their coats and go to it.

Recently, after the announcement had been made that no more titles would be declared forfeited and that champions who would not defend their titles would be penalized only by suspension, McCormick invited all the champions, their managers and the boxing writers to come in and talk it over.

Mickey Walker, suspended welterweight champion, and Joe Lynch, suspended bantamweight champion and their managers, were surprised when they were invited to attend the meeting.

Managers of champions in the good graces of the commission, also expressed surprise, because the commission had shown an inclination to even permit them within the outside rail.

McCormick told them that as long as he was a member of the commission that the boxer was going to get an even break.

He criticized the actions of Muldoon and said that he would not be a party to any more unfair mistakes.

AFTERNOON TEA HAS PLACE IN EVERY CLIME

According to Helen Harrington Downing, authority on foods and table service, afternoon tea is an acceptable social function in every part of the country.

College girls trained in the east have gradually carried back the custom of afternoon tea to their friends in the middle and far western states, eastern people moving west, and new tea rooms springing up over night, have all given us the suggestion of what to serve.

At a hotel tea dansant for a dollar and a half, you may have a choice of tea, coffee or chocolate, a choice of chicken or lobster salad, or a stuffed crab—bread and butter, or assorted sandwiches, and for dessert, pastry or ices. In a tea room, though it is a little less expensive, it is very often out of the question if one wishes to entertain very many guests.

For the hostess who wishes dainty cakes to serve with her afternoon tea the following recipe is recommended:

Calumet Cake Squares.
Two cups pastry flour, 2 level teaspoons Calumet baking powder, 1 cup granulated sugar, 1-4 cup butter, 1-2 cup milk, whites of 3 eggs, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla.

Sift flour once, then measure; add baking powder; sift three times and set to one side. Cream butter and sugar, add milk and flour alternately and beat very hard. Fold in beaten whites. Bake in two-inch square cake pan 30 to 35 minutes. When cool cut in squares and set away until icing is ready. Put icing in bowl over teakettle and dip in squares. Bake in moderate oven.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed with Sulphur it Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.—Advertisement.

MR. AND MRS. MABEN MOVING TO FORT WORTH.
Mr. and Mrs. J. Floyd Maben concluded a deal Saturday by which they sold their interest in the Charlotte hotel to Mrs. Mabel Shinholt, who has been their partner several months. The Mabens leave Dec. 1 for Fort Worth, where they will make their home. They have occupied a leading place in Eastland's social, business and church circles, and will be sadly missed.
Mrs. Maben has been an officer of the Music Club of Eastland the last two years, and is president of the Women's guild of the Episcopal church. Perhaps no persons in Eastland have done more toward establishing and nurturing the Episcopal church congregation in Eastland than the Mabens. All last year the parlors of the hotel were used for the church services each week.
Mr. and Mrs. Maben have a married son living in Fort Worth, and a daughter. They have told their Eastland intimates that whenever they visited Fort Worth they expected their home to be the headquarters of Eastland guests.

Main Drag Stuff

Suggestion to Stimulate the Loving Swain Just Before Christmas; Another Word From the Hunters.

By P. G. T.

A slogan that ought to be as important to the dear girls as "do your Xmas shopping early" should be "write your old sweetie today."

If she is a modern girl she should have at least 15 or 20 broken hearts in her wake and a few words of this everything-is-forgiven-lets-be-friends-again stuff should bring her at least a box of candy or perhaps something more valuable if the ancient lover is in funds.

She could also get nearly anything she wanted by inserting a hinting clause in each of the letters. A few suggestions:

No. 1—Charlie brought me a box of McGoofers gum drops last night. Surely love McGoofers gum drops.

No. 2—You remember that vanity I had last year? Well it's almost worn out.

No. 3—I would put lots of things in my hope chest now, but I have no hope chest as yet. I think cedar chests are wonderful.

No. 4—I am sorry to write you on such stationery as this but I haven't any other and the kind I like can only be purchased at Blanks in (name of town where flame resides).
An so on indefinitely. It would be just like writing to a mail order house. The lady would know she would get what she was asking for but couldn't exactly tell how good it would be. This would be an advantage over mail orders, however, because it wouldn't cost anything to try to get what she wanted and she'd be more sure of getting it.

This is rather hard on the languishing lovers, but they might get something out of it some way. There would be a chance that the ice being broken in this manner would give them another shot at capturing the lady's heart.

And still we hear from the valiant big game hunters who can be compared only to the great Theodore Roosevelt for their enormous undertakings and the meticulous care and valiant bravery with which they slay their prey.
At least one of the members of this daring expedition has a heart as tender as that of Honest Abe Lincoln. Read this:
Dear Bobby:

I thought that I would be able to write you a real thrilling letter when we went on the hunt this morning, but due to the way the thing turned out an afraid it will be a bit prosaic.
For several days we have heard a great howling noise from the top of one of the highest peaks, hereabouts. We asked the boss of the N-Bar ranch what it was and he said it sounded like a blood-sweating beemoth or hippopotamus, telling us that he had killed one on a neighboring peak the year before.
Charlie Terrell and I determined to sneak out in advance of the others and get our first shot at. With any other car I believe it would have taken a half a day to reach the top of that mountain peak, but with my Studebaker we ascended in just a few hours, going through snow and over trails that had been made by mountain goats. We found the blood-sweating brute and shot him in his tracks. Being too fat to protect himself it was very easy to shoot. I shot the animal in the head and as I did so it raised a pair of the most beautiful and saddest eyes I have ever seen, and glanced reproachingly at me. I persuaded Charlie to go and get Drs. Holland and Lauderdale because I could not see the hippo die without medical attendance. Both of the doctors gave me the horse laugh but I believe they are sorry for the animal, too, as they are extending every effort to save its life.
Must feed my hippo his pickled egg plant now.
Yours in truth, JACK.

The Cat's Meow Listen—!

Which would you rather be, knock-kneed or pigeon-toed?

Did you ever heed the "shop early" slogans? And then try to keep the presents you bought a secret? We have done so. And now we understand the last-minute-shopper complex. No wonder people wait until the last minute. We've been concealing an ordinary looking little package for weeks and weeks, and only our admirable self-control has kept us from tearing the wrappings from the thing, flinging ourselves upon the ultimate receiver, and crying hysterically, "Merry Christmas!"
But wild horses cannot drag the secret from us. And they say women can't keep a secret!

Of course women can keep a secret, painful as it is—but it's lots more fun telling one.

Have you eaten your spinach today?

Have you bought your Red Cross Christmas seal?

Have you done your one good deed today? (Boy Scout code.)

Sounds like a questionnaire, doesn't it? You remember the original questionnaire story, of course—when the boys were going away to war, and the conscientious youngster came to Born—and he answered—Yes.

Were you ever marooned On a southern isle Like a gem in an azure sea, With a beautiful girl You loved the while, You weren't? Neither were we.

The Lady at the Boarding House says that she thinks turkey isn't a bit better than chicken. Of course, if you want to put on dog, why, turkey is all right—but don't you really, deep down in your heart, prefer chicken?

Time was, when one was invited out to lunch, it really meant dinner, and you didn't eat much breakfast, saving room for the approaching feast. Now, after mincing daintily over a consommé, a sample of chilled salad on a lettuce leaf, smothered in a spoonful of whipped cream, accompanied by three really delightful salted crackers, and finished by a gaily colored ice and macaroon, one hurries home, and with famished eagerness turns on the percolator, slices last night's roast, and falls avidly upon large portions of real nourishment.

CHEVON RAISER SAYS EASTERN MARKET IS WARY

STAMFORD, Texas, Nov. 26.—The West Texas Chamber of Commerce has been requested by B. M. Halbert of Sonora, who is one of the leading authorities in Texas on Angora goat industries, to assist him in popularizing the eating of chevons.
This meat, as is well known, is goat meat, and it is gradually gaining a considerable market in Texas and the Southwest. But according to Mr. Halbert the people in the east are still skeptical about it and he thinks a market for this meat should be developed in the eastern states.
