Paving Estimated - -

Farwell Hires Auditor, Joins Planning Council

Farwell City Commission met Monday, May 14, in regular session with all commissioners present. Mrs. Janie Bowery, Farwell City Clerk, read the minutes and they were approved.

Bob Lydick and his son, Chet, of Clovis appeared before the Commission with an estimate of the costs to complete paving Farwell streets. Lydick estimated the cost of the project to be from $225,000 to $230,000.

According to Lydick, that figure includes 34,170 lineal feet for curb and gutter and 40,480 square yards of paving. Lydick suggested for every yard of curb and guttering done, a square yard of paving would have to be put in because of the equipment used.

He commented that it would be easier to go ahead and pave whatever needs to be paved with the larger equipment instead of having someone to come in to do costly handwork.

Lydick's estimate did not include Avenue I from Fifth to Ninth Streets where a two-owner situation exists.

An estimate of $16,000 to $17,000 was made by Lydick for the engineer's fee, but he said he hesitated to estimate

PURELY PERSONAL

by John

The beef about beef still lingers on. It gets curiouser and curiouser how certain folks get so worked up for so long about what is a very justified rise in meat prices. It remains curiouser and curiouser how the same people have sat silently on their duffs while the government has picked their pockets to the bone.

What about inflation? Where is the big bulge in inflation? It's in the government. Pure and simple. When the government continues, decade after decade, to spend more than it takes in, inflation is the inevitable result. Well, where is the big bulge in government? Again, simple. It's the vast expansion of so-called social services. This runs the gamut from the food stamp boondoggle to the urban housing hornswoogle. Of all phases of government spending in the last ten years, this segment (social) takes the grand prize for unrestricted growth. It also shows no sign of abating in the future.

Try this for a shock: In 1971 we spent a total of $332.6 billion for food, clothing, housing and autos. The same year we spent $338.5 billion on federal, state and local government. Mr. and Ms. Protor, how about protesting the very rising cost of government???

In 1954 all levels of government took about 31 per cent of our national income. According to the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, the figure today has risen to slightly over 40 per cent. This is the highest level of taxation ever recorded where the political system survived.

The place to beef is not about beef but about the refined art of buying a perpetual term of office with votes bought with somebody else's money.

Now read this item that came across our desk: "A hippie kid whose principle source of income seems to be from peddling copies of an underground newspaper once a week, is eligible for food stamps. He boasts that for 50 cents he buys $28.00 worth of stamps. Each week he uses the stamps to buy exactly $27.51 worth of groceries and gets back 49 cents in change. The maximum amount of cash change he can get on a purchase. Then he adds one penny to make the 50 cents to get his $28.00 worth of stamps the next week. The fourth week of the month he sells his food stamps to a friend for $15.00 cash. Thus, in a month he has paid out 53 cents for $112.00 worth of stamps, for which he gets $83.50 worth of food and $14.47 net profit in cash. Wait! I get my hands on him! Or maybe, we should write our Congressmen!"

With the Texas State Legislature now tilted toward the urban areas, we can feel this job in the pocketbook coming. It may be several years yet, but IT IS COMING. What's coming? Well, it will be a whopping raise in our taxes to support public schools. Here is how we know:

Governor Briscoe, Lt. Governor Hobby and House Speaker Price Daniel Jr. are backing current legislation which would require each school district to report its taxable assets to the state comptroller on specified forms by January 1, 1975.

Our usual dollar to a dog biscuit bet says that sometime after this takes place the rural school districts will be subsidizing the big city school systems. Sensitivity classes and all.

Oh yes. Have you noticed that the television commercials are getting longer? Once they gave you time to run to the refrigerator. Now they give you time to defrost it.

Meet, Pay Bills

Parmar County Commissioners Court met Monday, May 14, in regular session at Parmar County Courthouse. The Commissioners took no action other than paying bills.

GETS LIBRARY PLAQUE - Hugh Moseley of Farwell was honored recently by Friends of the Library of Friona Public Library. Moseley was presented with a plaque by Peggy Hamil, president of Friends of the Library, as a "Special Friend of the Library". Moseley said he has given books to the library on many different subjects. He noted that the library was started in 1946 as a project of Friona Woman's Club and has since been turned over to the city. The library is housed in the old Syndicate Hotel building.

SPECIAL ED GETS TRAMPOLINE - When Texico-Farwell Rotary Club visited Farwell schools several months ago during Texas Public School Week, they decided to do something for the students. Just recently, they purchased a trampoline for Mrs. Nelle Craig's special education class. Rotary President Rev. W. T. Perry, left and Dewey Fogerson, president-elect and chairman of the committee to get the trampoline, made the formal presentation Tuesday at noon. Special education students Jon Smith, standing; Rosalinda Galvan and Clyde Bibbs, seated on the trampoline, accepted on behalf of their class. Prentice Mills and Joe Jones were also trampoline committee members.

legal fees. He said the city could probably save a $10,000 bond discount if liens were sold individually or to businesses.

After making his presentation to the Commission, Lydick said he would be interested in making a formal engineering proposal if the city did go ahead with the project.

He said he would be interested in talking to an attorney about the financing of the project. He noted that his estimate included taking out 17 dip sections over the city which he would replace if he got the contract.

After more discussion with Lydick on the proposed paving project, the Commission asked if he could estimate what the cost would be to the property owner. Lydick said he would guess approximately $6 a running foot to finish off a street where there is strip paving. That amount includes curb and gutter. He estimated the cost where no paving exists to be $9 a running foot.

Following Lydick's presentation and a lengthy discussion concerning the proposed paving project, the Commission met with Ernest Clark and Grady Hollifield from Amarillo, representatives of Panhandle Regional Planning Commission.

The men explained that the Commission was an organization of city governments and that the purpose of the organization was to help local government in the areas where they need help.

After talking with the men, Farwell Commissioners decided to join the organization. Jim Berry and Mayor Gil Patschke were appointed to meet regularly in the general assembly of the Panhandle Commission.

A Clovis Certified Public Accountant who has a Texas license, met with the Commission in regard to a city audit. After a lengthy discussion, the Commission hired the CPA to do an audit through June 30 on the city books.

It was pointed out at Monday's meeting that the city books had not been audited since 1952. Commissioner Berry said he felt the books should be audited so the public would be aware of the financial position of the city.

I. W. Quickel met with the Commission concerning disability income insurance which he felt might be of interest to city employees. No action was taken on accepting the insurance.

The Commissioners went over bids for fencing for the sewer plant and wells and accepted a bid from Albert Shirley of Portales. They also discussed purchasing new chlorinators. They have asked for bids, but have not taken Texico High School Office Education Association students who participated in the National OEA Contest in Albuquerque Saturday through Monday, May 5-7, failed to place, according to Mrs. Mary Peyton, OEA sponsor.

The parliamentary procedure team, Linda Wilson, president; Steve Osborn, vice-president; Regina Kelley, secretary; Cindy Cain, treasurer; Dwayne Kelley, Beverly Duncan, George Alford, parliamentarian; and Starla Doshier, historian, made one little "goof", Mrs. Peyton said.

Miss Kelley also participated in the Accounting contest. "Regina is as good a bookkeeping student as I've had, but she didn't place," Mrs. Peyton said.

Mrs. Peyton said she was proud of the students' performances. She noted that it was the first time she knew of that Texico students failed to place at national in something.

"The kids did a real good job and I'm proud of them," she added.

It was decided to purchase new meters if the city receives notice of a price increase on the meters. In regard to Fireman's School July 22-27 at Texas A&M University, Parmer County Farm Bureau, Aldridge Insurance and Hughes Insurance have contributed $75 each toward expenses of sending Farwell firemen. The city decided to pay the rest of the expenses. At this time, two Farwell Firemen plan to attend.

Charles Aycock was hired as city attorney on a retainer basis. The city will write a letter to Midwest Video with a list of customers who have asked the city's help in getting them on the cable.

Loaning out city equipment was discussed at length. It was decided that there is certain equipment that will not be available to the public, but that in a few circumstances, the equipment could be used only by city employees on their own time with a $10 an hour fee.

TEXICO FFA OFFICERS -- Texico Future Farmers of America officers installed Monday, May 14, who will take office next year are, left to right: Dwayne Kelley, president; Craig Chumley, vice-president; David Turnbough, secretary; Roy Hagler, treasurer; Sammy West, reporter; and Randy Cain, sentinel. Lindley Named Top Individual At State

Texico High School track team placed fourth in state competition in Class 6-AA Friday and Saturday, May 11 and 12, in Albuquerque. Curtis Lindley of Texico was named high point individual in Class 6-AA at the State Track Meet after he accumulated 19½ points. Lindley was presented with a trophy.

Texico's 440-yard relay team placed second. Coach Bucky

Walters said the team ran faster than it ever had before. Team members are Lindley, Randy Harrison, James Stewart and Jimmy Ortiz.

The same four boys also competed in the 880-yard relay. The team ran the fourth best qualifying time but because of placing were not in the running in the finals. "They ran nearly a full second faster than they had been running," Walters said.

Texico accumulated 25 points with Lindley scoring most of them. Cuba and Kirtland Central tied for first and second with 29 points each. Truth or Consequences was third with 26 points.

Jal, the team favored to win, was fifth with 23 points. Walters noted that Tatum and Ft. Sumner, teams that beat Texico in district, scored very low.

Lindley was first in the broad jump with 21 ft., ¾ in. He was second in the 100-yard dash. He ran the fastest qualifying time of all classes in the preliminaries -- 10 seconds flat. He was first in the 220 yard dash.

Gentle Rain Falls, Moisturizes Crops

A gently falling rain which began Sunday and continued through the first of the week gave crops just put into the ground a refresher and moisturized the land in readiness for more crops which will be planted soon.

Texico-Farwell received approximately 65 inch of rain. In the outlying areas around the Twin Cities over an inch was received north of town and north of Pleasant Hill, over half an inch reported south of Farwell, .7 inch of rain in Lariat and about an inch south of Texico.

Comments received on the rain included "fell slow and easy" and "helped a lot, was what we needed". It was reported that some crops that had recently been planted were beginning to dry out and the fields, in some places, were dried out. Now it appears that the young plants have been refreshed and the land can be made ready for planting after the rain.

Farwell Baseball Team To Regional

Farwell High School baseball team won district Tuesday, May 8, after defeating Bovina once in a game in Farwell and once in a game in Bovina.

In a three-game series for district, Farwell beat Bovina 20-18 Thursday, May 3, in Bovina and again Tuesday, May 8, 25-4. Don Alana is coaching the team.

Curtis, Juane Jaime, Dwight Green, David Dannheim, Doug Johnston, Mike Woods, Weldon Embry and Larry Wardlaw. Barry Goldsmith is manager. Sandra Ensor and Caroline Anderson were statisticians.

Coach Alana said he was well pleased with the team's efforts, especially since he was skeptical at first as to whether Farwell would have a baseball team this year.

"The team did an outstanding job of hitting. Considering we had bad weather in which to practice and the fact we almost didn't get started, I thought we did a terrific job," Alana said.

He said that if Farwell could beat Wall, they would play

Whitney, which is close to Fort Worth, probably Friday (today) somewhere in between the two towns, maybe Abilene.

Alana commented on the hitting of Doug Johnston and Brigham. He also mentioned good jobs were done by Curtis, Gary Green and Bill Johnson.

In comparing Farwell and Bovina, Alana said the Farwell team outpitched and out-hit its opponents. "David Dannheim did a real good job of pitching in the second game. He is a strong pitcher. Bovina used four or five pitchers both games," Alana said.

"As a team, we batted .545," he added. "We had very few errors - only three errors in two games."

Farwell Yearbook Is Dedicated To Burton

Lynn Burton, Farwell band and chorus director, was honored recently when the newly-arrived 1973 Roundup, Farwell school yearbook, was dedicated to him.

In the dedication, the yearbook staff said, "We hope this partially expresses our appreciation for not only what he has done for the Steer Band, but for being a friend. He has rendered every possible service to uphold the spirit of F. H. S. We will always be grateful for his unselfish ways which have helped the Senior Class of '73 to succeed as a class."

The 1973 Roundup arrived bound in a two-tone blue cover accented with white. The front cover is divided into three parts with a picture of a boy and girl sitting under a tree studying on the top panel, rows of medium blue '73's in raised lettering on a darker blue background in the center panel and the word "Roundup" in white on a medium blue background in the bottom panel.

The inside covers feature a reproduction of a painting of a tree. The tree is yellow, green and brown in a sky of blue and white.

David Garner served as editor of the 1973 Roundup with Gerald Gohike serving as assistant editor. Mrs. Lucille Franze was yearbook sponsor.

Special tributes were made in this year's annual to Mr. Percy Tipton, who served faithfully for so many years as custodian at Farwell schools, and to Mr. Amos Tatum, who was principal at Farwell High School for 15 years.

Besides regular individual pictures of all students and faculty at Farwell schools, administration and school board members, the yearbook includes pictures of bus personnel, cafeteria ladies and custodians.

A collage made up of a variety of pictures taken during the school year introduces the beginning of the high school section of the annual.

The School Life section include pictures of Most Beautiful - Leslie Norton, and Most Handsome - Kevin Hardage, Mr. and Miss FHS - LaShawn Sheets and Ray Norton, Football Queen - Caroline Anderson, Pep Club Beaus - Ray Norton and Doug Johnston, Band King and Queen - Winfred Long and Beverly Roberts, FFA Sweetheart - Debbie Stancell, Plow Girl - Pam Mayfield, FHA Prince Charming - Ray Norton, and Boy's and Girl's Staters - Johnny Boling and Glenda Sublett.

The section also includes pictures of the other candidates for each of the honors mentioned above. Students chosen for special recognition, such as friendliest, most bashful, etc., are also pictured.

The last three pages of Student Life are devoted to thanking Bob Lilly of the Dallas Cowboys for judging the Most Beautiful and Most Handsome candidates, a "now and then" page and an activities page.

In the Activities section of the yearbook, each organization is included with individual pictures, group pictures and activity pictures portraying the year's activities. The Athletics section rounds out high school's part in the yearbook.

The rest of the annual is devoted to individual pictures of the junior high and elementary school students and their faculty and activity shots depicting the year's happenings.

VEGETABLE SEEDS TO START EARLY

Some vegetables for best results need starting early indoors before transplanting into the garden after danger of frost. Among the most important of these early starters are:

Tomatoes. Start seed of your favorite varieties eight weeks before outdoor planting in your locality. There are several good methods — but the easiest is to sow seeds directly into peat pots, starting cubes or peat pellets, thinning out the seedlings to leave one strong plant in each pot.

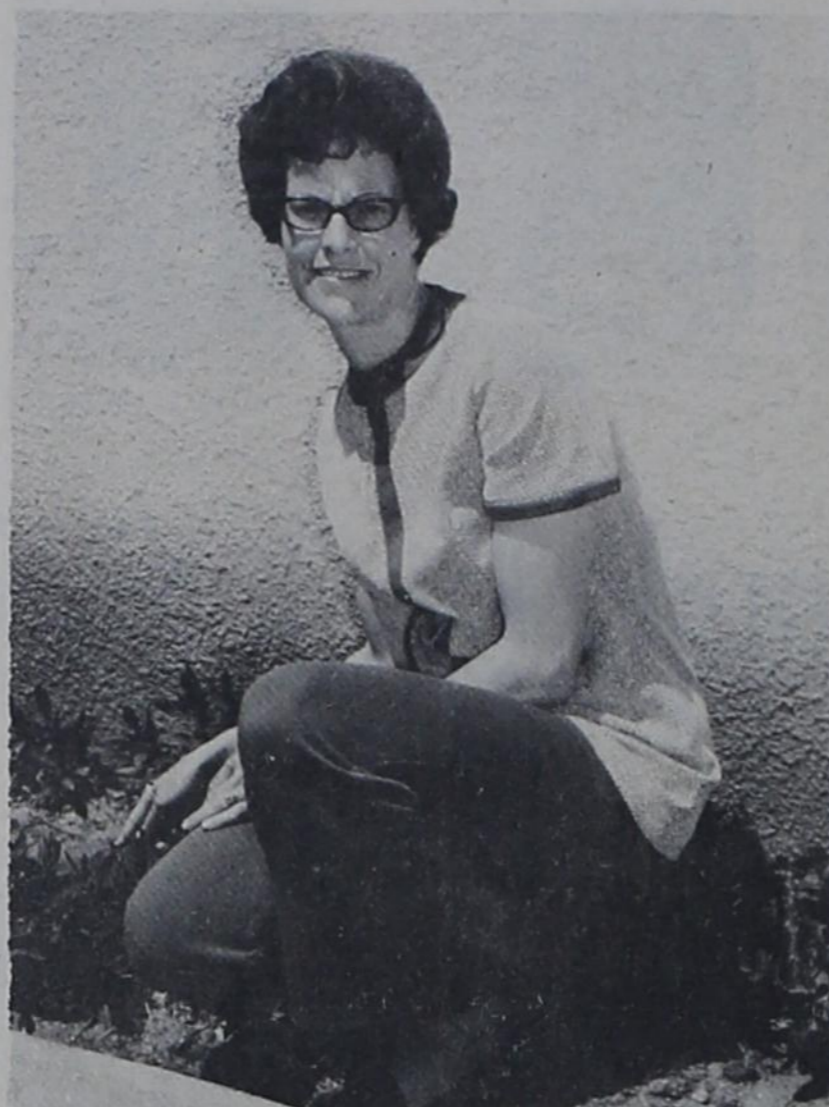

Peppers. At the same time you're sowing tomatoes indoors, sow a few pepper seeds. They enjoy exactly the same treatment as tomatoes. Foot high plants will produce an early harvest when transplanted into the garden.

Eggplant. Here's another plant that loves an early start indoors treated the same as tomatoes and peppers. Again, try to get them up about a foot high for setting out into your garden.

Cabbage. This vegetable staple will grow reliably from seed sown direct into the garden, but for earliest crops it's best to start seeds indoors in peat pots. Set the plants into the garden when they are six inches high, about six weeks after sowing the seed.

JEWELRY FROM THE KITCHEN

Play clay is a kitchen-made clay that hardens to a ceramic-like quality. Make a batch of play clay and then roll out or mold into jewelry shapes. Trim with fragrant herbs or spices for long lasting pungence. Paint with water colors, poster paints or felt-tip pens and finish with a protective coating of clear plastic spray or nail polish.

To handle, knead as you would dough until smooth. Working on a protected surface, shape clay free-hand or roll out to about a 1/4-inch thickness and cut shapes with cookie cutters. Shapes will harden and dry at room temperature in about 36 hours.

Fusible webs and films can simplify home sewing -- by eliminating several time-consuming tasks.

These new products utilize heat, steam and pressure to bond two fabrics together -- that is, any fabric that can be steam pressed.

Although they're not suitable for seams, fusibles simplify addition of trims and appliques -- and eliminate basting, hemming and some hand sewing. In addition, they aid in matching designs and prevent raveling. Also, fabric and belting material are joined invisibly through use of a web or film.

Several factors contribute to the product's popularity -- they make invisible bonds yet don't alter fabric flexibility. At the same time, they reduce bulk.

Fusibles are sold by the yard, in precut sheets or as tapes of various widths -- and come in several weights.

For best results, test product effectiveness on a fabric scrap -- before using it in the garment. Webs work better on some fabrics than others.

Although bonds usually are permanent, sometimes they loosen. When this happens, simply re-press the item -- resealing the fabrics.

To remove, steam the area heavily and pull fabrics apart.

Don't allow hot iron and webbing to come in contact -- they'll stick together. Should some webbing stick, use a mild abrasive or commercial iron cleaner to remove it. Then restore sole plate smoothness by gliding the hot iron over wax paper.

Morgan Billington of Texico was released Friday, May 4, from Veteran's Administration Hospital in Albuquerque where he had been undergoing treatment since April 17.

Jr. - Sr. Banquet, Prom Attendants In "Paradise"

Junior and Senior class members, sponsors and parents, faculty and administration members and special guests drifted up the "Stairway to Paradise" Saturday night at Farwell High School Junior-Senior banquet.

As banquet goers walked through the portals of Paradise, they came across a beautiful garden setting on either side of the entry. On their right was white lawn furniture accented by a bird cage hanging as if balanced on a cloud. A bird bath filled with steaming blue water completed the heavenly effect. On the left was another bird bath next to a peach tree.

Behind the head table was a rainbow with a pot of gold at the end. A leprechaun guarded the pot. In another corner of the room, an angel hair cloud filled with light beamed down upon a harp.

Along another wall, a gold spiral staircase lined with doves was topped with a cupid. Along the walls were blue and white streamers and stars. Angel hair clouds with cupids peeking over them hung from the ceiling. Two large "clouds" of angel hair and parachutes floated through the air on dark blue streamers. Miniature colored Italian lights blinked above the "clouds".

Banquet goers were seated at card tables. Each place setting was designated with a small blue name tag imprinted with a stairway among the clouds. Small blue program books with gold pencils attached and blue napkins completed the table settings.

Before feasting on Bird of Paradise, Ambrosia, Nectar, Heavenly Hash, Angel Food, Honey Dew and Manna, Master of Ceremonies Lynn Blankenship started the evening's events.

Carl Kirkland, president of the Junior class, gave the welcome. The response was given by David Garner, Senior class president.

After the meal, the program continued with Carola Moore of clovis singing several songs, accompanied by Vicki Smart on the piano. Miss Smart also played dinner music.

Caroline Anderson and David Garner read the class prophecy. Cheryl Haynie and Jimmy Franse gave the class will.

Junior class mothers presented class rings to their children. After the banquet, the two classes were honored with a dance in the cafeteria. A band from Clovis, Syndrome, provided the music. The dance was sponsored by Senior class parents Messrs. and Mmes Darrell Norton, Melborn Jones and Harry Sheets.

Tests for Good Vision Urged for Vacationers

The American Optometric Association recommends that vacationists go in for an "eye check" when the car goes for a safety check before leaving for vacation.

Stating that about 90 per cent of driving decisions are based on what you see, the Association reminds us that you should be able to see effectively ahead, to the sides and in the rear view mirror and your depth perception should enable you to judge distances between your car and other cars or objects.

Say Law Enforcement Agencies - -

Crime Prevention Progress Being Made In Texas Today

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth and final story in this series about organized crime in Texas. Organized Crime does exist as evidenced in the preceding stories. The Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council, the Attorney General's Office, the Department of Public Safety and many other agencies are working with law enforcement officials at the local level to help put an end to organized crime. This story deals with some of the progress which has been made. This series is part of a public education program developed by the Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council with assistance from the Texas Criminal Justice Council, the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, the Texas Department of Public Safety, the Office of the Attorney General of Texas and local law enforcement agencies.)

Leading the list of crime categories in profits by far is illegal gambling.

Texas wagered more than $815 million in football bets alone during the 1971 season and with some $98 million flowing directly into the mainstream of organized criminal activity.

But during the calendar year from which the Council's gambling figures were taken more than 130 arrests were made as the bookies began to feel the heat.

"I regard this as a sizeable accomplishment in such a period of time, when the problems and restrictions in making bookmaking cases are taken into consideration," says Col. Speir. "Our records indicate that on the average, it takes 360 man-hours to make a single case on a bookie."

Increased pressure is being applied daily on drug traffickers in Texas. The DPS Narcotics Service has been averaging over 200 cases per month, mostly for sale of narcotics and dangerous drugs.

Agents estimate they will file some 3,000 cases against 2,000 defendants this year, compared to some 960 cases against 680 defendants three years ago.

As law enforcement officials move ahead with arrests on all fronts there is accelerated activity behind the scenes as well.

A "Texas Law Enforcement Intelligence Unit Association" has been formed which will:

Promote the exchange and sharing of confidential information on organized crime activity through establishment of an intelligence system involving law enforcement agencies throughout the state;

Exchange information on organized crime with appropriate neighboring states and federal agencies;

Establish a central file or clearing house for criminal intelligence information and provide it with data and authorized dissemination;

Develop personal relationship and trust among members of the organization and all law enforcement agencies;

Promote professionalization of law enforcement; Execute the planned law enforcement program through investigation and vigorous prosecution of organized crime.

One of the major areas of concern among law enforcement officials is the lack of public awareness of what constitutes organized crime.

Says Col. Speir: "To understand organized crime, a definition is in order. Organized crime, in general, consists of unlawful activities of the members of a highly organized, disciplined and sophisticated association engaged in supplying illegal goods and services including, but not limited to, gambling, prostitutions, loan sharking, narcotics, labor racketeering and other unlawful activities.

"Organized criminals seek to infiltrate and control legitimate business. They also strive to corrupt public officials and others in an effort to minimize exposure and the possibility of legal intervention."

The Texas Criminal Justice Council, working through Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, is helping fund an approach to public education.

As one officer points out: "The public itself needs to understand that a seemingly innocent little football bet is a contribution to organized crime."

"The public needs to understand that 'cheap' bargains on some items of merchandise very well could be from a 'fence' who is peddling stolen goods."

"The public needs to understand they are the one being victimized, and it won't stop until all citizens awaken to the fact that organized crime is everybody's business."

Members of the Texas Organized Crime Council along with Atty. Gen. Hill and Col. Speir are District Atty. Ted Buttler, Bexar County; Dallas Police Chief Frank Dyson; San Antonio Police Chief Emil Peters; Harris County District Atty. Carol Vance and Dallas County District Atty. Henry Wade.

These men are charged with combining top talent from law enforcement agencies all over Texas to combat organized crime.

"Public office holders in all states have a mandate from the citizens to stamp out organized crime, and it is essential that we all cooperate to live up to that mandate," Atty. Gen. Hill said shortly after taking office.

While the major responsibilities within the state's organized crime prevention and control operation have been assigned to the Department of Public Safety, all law enforcement agencies in Texas are playing a role.

Enforcement, and especially prosecution, at local levels are fundamental to the operation's success, according to Hill, who added:

"Until we break the cycle and crack down in areas which supply so much of the illicit cash which bankrolls the mob's operations in illegal drugs, auto theft, murder and robbery we can't truly say we are breaking up organized crime."

An "omnibus crime bill" is being prepared at this time for presentation to the 63rd Legislature now underway.

It will contain a wide range of requests for new legislation and some Constitutional revisions.

Legislative needs which have been delineated for Texas include:

1. Admissibility of oral confessions of criminals;
2. Electronic surveillance under strong safeguards;
3. Concurrent jurisdiction for the State Attorney General and statewide grand jury capability;
4. A law making possession of gambling paraphernalia a

- felony;
5. Receiving and concealing stolen property law.

Also, there is a need for a general overhaul of criminal statutes to cope with specific offenses subject to organized crime, such as loan sharking, prostitution, bookmaking and others.

Electronic surveillance (popular name, wire tapping) is probably destined to become the most controversial new law being sought.

Law enforcement officials feel, however, such surveillance is grossly misunderstood.

With the news media telling daily of "bugging" in high places, the process has rapidly become a code word meaning "invasion of privacy" to many people.

"But without such investigative aids," Col. Speir says, "it is almost impossible to get to the top of major illicit narcotics distribution systems and other organized crime activities simply because the most powerful mobsters never get involved beyond their telephones and penthouses."

The same situation holds true with organized gambling.

What will be proposed to the Legislature will be a tightly controlled electronic surveillance law - patterned after Federal law - which could be used only under formal orders by a District Judge, obtained only for a specific period of time and only after the Judge has become convinced that there is probable cause to believe that a person or persons are involved in organized crime.

"With these proper safeguards," says Col. Speir, "the public can be guaranteed its right of privacy. The only people who need fear a wire tap are those with something to hide from the law."

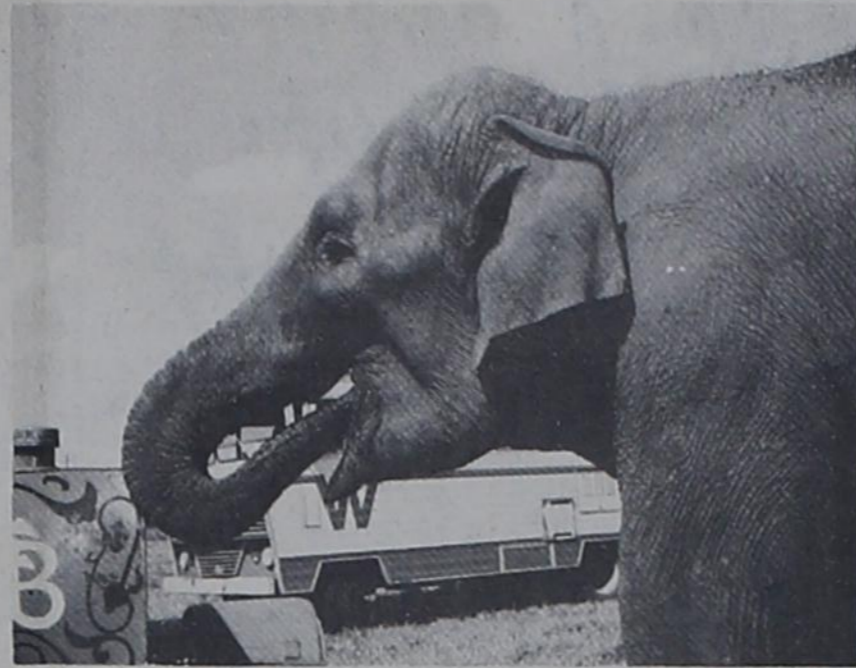

The Organized Crime Prevention Council also is recommending a state statute to create and finance a statewide organized criminal investigation commission with independent, permanent status.

It would contain an adequate staff of investigators with subpoena power to keep a constant watch on danger areas.

The commission would make periodic reports to the Governor and the Legislature and maintain close contact with law enforcement officials for possible prosecution purposes.

Both Hill and Speir are confident Texas is moving in the right direction - and rapidly in efforts to control organized crime.

"We have identified the problem, begun to speed arrest and push prosecution and the word is increasingly spreading that organized crime can't

BUILT-IN DRINKING FOUNTAIN - Dixie, the elephant that performed recently at the Fisher Bros. Circus sponsored by Texico-Farwell Lions Club, has her own personal drinking fountain. Of course, before she can shoot water into her mouth she has to find some coming out of a tank. Before Dixie tucked her trunk into her mouth to shoot refreshing streams of water down her vast throat, she grabbed the nozzle on the tank in the lower left hand corner and turned the water on.

SWCD Officials Discuss Soil Stewardship History

In our own land it has met an evident need of the people to set aside a week each year to acknowledge before God our gratitude for His gifts of soil and all the bountiful resources associated with it, say Farmer County Soil and Water Conservation District officials. The week has become a special time to remind all people that these gifts warrant their best in Christian stewardship.

In America, the soil stewardship observance has always traced its origins to the Rogation Days, they say, earlier in this century, churches and their congregations began to set aside the fifth Sunday after Easter as Soil and Soul Sunday.

Subsequently, this became Soil Stewardship Sunday when, in 1946, the publishers of Farm and Ranch magazine suggested to religious leaders in a few southern states that one Sunday be set aside each year to remind their congregations of man's duty to be a good steward of the land.

business in Texas," Hill says. "If the public will join in to a greater extent, the day when Texas can become free of organized criminal activity will come much sooner," adds Speir.

Auto Wrecks Injure One, Tickets Given

Several auto accidents have occurred in and around Texico during the past few days, according to Texico City Marshal Willie Ronquillo.

Monday, May 14, at 10 a.m., a tractor-trailer driven by Florencio Barragan apparently went out of control on wet pavement as it was traveling east on Highway 60-70-84. According to Ronquillo, the vehicle apparently jackknifed and ended up on the west-bound lane. The accident occurred 1/4 mile west of the port of entry.

Wednesday, May 9, at 2 p.m. a vehicle driven by Rufus Carter of Farwell collided with a vehicle driven by Philip Ruther of Clovis. Ruther was headed west on Highway 60-70-84 when the Carter vehicle apparently pulled out from the Transport Truck Stop Cafe and the vehicles collided. Carter was cited for failure to yield. Ruther was taken to Clovis Memorial Hospital suffering from minor facial lacerations. He was treated and released.

Thursday, May 10, at 8:30 p.m., a vehicle driven by Seral Longo of Texico apparently went out of control and hit the highway railing in front of Clara's Spur Restaurant. Longo was traveling east on Highway 60. He was taken to Friona hospital by Texico emergency vehicle apparently suffering broken ribs and other minor injuries.

Sunday, May 13, at 3 a.m., a minor auto accident occurred when Sam Miller of Muleshoe apparently backed into a vehicle driven by Alfred Dasher of Stratford in the parking

Government originally came about for the purpose of preserving order, according to Pennsylvania State Senator Richard A. Snyder. "Now, in a western society which depends more on government than ever before," he said, "we have less and less protection for the public's life and property."

On The Farm In Palmer County

By R. MACK HEALD
County Agent

Some garden vegetables need more nitrogen than is provided by the complete fertilizer recommended for a general garden plot.

Sweet corn, okra, peppers, tomatoes, squash and greens will need additional nitrogen applications.

Any time after corn emerges from the soil, it should be sidedressed with six table-spoons of ammonium sulfate per 10 feet of row. This amount equals about 90 pounds of nitrogen per acre.

Okra should be side-dressed after the first picking with one to two table-spoons of ammonium nitrate or three table-spoons of ammonium sulfate for every 10 feet of row.

Peppers and tomatoes need a side-dressing when their first fruits are one inch in diameter. For every two feet of peppers, apply one teaspoon of ammonium nitrate or one-and-a-half teaspoons of ammonium sulfate.

Apply the same amount around each tomato plant and repeat applications at three-week intervals during picking.

For squash, apply a half to one teaspoon of ammonium nitrate or two teaspoons of ammonium sulfate around each plant when runners are 12 inches long.

Greens need one teaspoon of ammonium nitrate or one-and-a-half teaspoons of ammonium sulfate along every two feet of row.

To avoid foliage burns, do not get fertilizer on wet plants while side-dressing.

When buying lawn fertilizer, beware of elaborate wording, labeling and packaging. Instead, check for the actual nutrient content of the fertilizer.

Fancy packaging and elaborate wording can lead the homeowner to spend extra for a lawn fertilizer.

The sequence of three figures on the label indicates the percent content of the three primary fertilizer ingredients -- nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium, in that order. Thus, a 12-12-12 fertilizer contains 12 percent nitrogen, 12 percent phosphate and 12 percent potassium. It is important to use a complete fertilizer at least once a year, usually in the early spring.

After that, a nitrogen fertilizer such as ammonium nitrate, ammonium sulfate or urea will give good results.

When buying a nitrogen fertilizer, determine the cost per pound of nitrogen. A 50-pound bag of fertilizer that has 20 percent nitrogen contains 10 pounds of actual nitrogen (50 x .20). Divide this figure (10) into the total cost of the 50 pounds of fertilizer to obtain the cost per pound of nitrogen.

Lawn grasses need nitrogen at about six-week intervals during the growing season. Usually applying enough fertilizer to supply two pounds of actual nitrogen per 1000 square feet per application will give good results. This would be six pounds of ammonium nitrate, 10 pounds of ammonium sulfate or five pounds of urea. If urea is used, it should be watered immediately after fertilization.

A major cause for poor lawns is inadequate nitrogen -- either too little per application or a lack of repeating applications during the growing season.

WEATHER AFFECTING HERBICIDES - Wise use of herbicides (chemical weed killers) is especially critical during periods of adverse weather such as this spring. Due to wet conditions, weeds will be abundant in crops this year. However, undue haste in using herbicides when conditions are unfavorable or increasing rates beyond recommendations can be detrimental. Over-the-top herbicide applications should be avoided on cotton. Extreme care is essential where replanting is necessary since certain crops can not be planted where particular herbicides have been applied.

Are cattle feedlots a major contributor to America's growing pollution problem?

The answer is an emphatic "NO" in the opinions of Dr. Myron Paine and Dr. John Sweeten, who both have a good understanding of the situation.

Paine is located at Oklahoma State University and is a regional Extension Service feedlot waste management specialist serving a six-state area of the Southern Great Plains. Sweeten is an agricultural engineer in animal waste management for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A & M University.

With some 25.5-million cattle fed in lots across the nation annually, and each animal producing about a ton of manure, the potential for waste management problems is there. But one very real reason why a mammoth problem has not been created is simply good public relations on the part of the operators.

Most operators keep the manure moved out as a matter of animal health. After they move out a load of cattle, they clean the pen. However, this soon results in a huge pile of manure, and here is the problem.

According to the specialists, most feedlot operators have solved this problem by developing close working relationships with local farmers.

They have convinced farmers to take the manure on the basis that it is valuable fertilizer. Some farmers are even paying as much as $2 a ton. But in areas where the farmers are not convinced of the fertilizer value, private deals to move the manure have been worked out in many ways.

Another reason the pollution potential of feedlots has not been reached and unlikely ever will is that only a small percentage -- research shows only about 2 percent -- of the solids reach a stream.

If that total of 25.5-million tons produced annually went directly into a sewage system -- as do human wastes -- the effect would be devastating.

But actually, one human contributes 10 times as much toward water pollution as one feedlot animal.

The specialists feel conflicting and misleading statements have posed an out-of-focus view of feedlots in the overall ecology picture.

If all the animal wastes from one animal fell directly into a

AUSTIN, TEX. -- Daring more federal court challenges, the House Reapportionment Committee has advanced a "redistricting" bill that makes virtually no changes in present representative districts.

The Committee bill, approved 12-8, would retain multi-member House districts in all but the three metropolitan counties of Bexar, Dallas and Harris.

Rep. Joe Wyatt of Bloomington, the sponsor, said he would accept an amendment on the House floor to give Tarrant County single-member districts like those in the three larger counties.

Chairman Rep. Fred Head of Troup favored dividing all urban counties, which now have two or more representatives, into single-member districts. Committee action, in affect, took control of the bill from Head on the floor.

A three-judge federal court in January, 1972, ordered single-member House districts for Bexar and Dallas counties and gave the legislature until July 1 to rewrite a 1971 reapportionment scheme.

Representatives were warned before the vote that if the U. S. Supreme Court upholds the 1972 ruling, it is likely to order single member, individual House districts in all urban counties.

The bill as advanced further did not meet federal court disapproval of a 9.9 per cent population spread between smallest and most-populous stream, that one animal would equal 16 persons in pollution contribution. But the actual fact is that manure falls on land and it's 85 percent water. This evaporates and the only way the manure gets into a public water stream is in case of a rainfall in excess of one inch. Then, we might get runoff into the stream.

Most of the Southern Great Plains states now have laws requiring feedlots to have a system of runoff retention structures. About 90 percent of the cattle fed in Oklahoma are in lots that are in compliance with this law, and 95 percent of Texas feedlots with a capacity of 1,000 head or more are in compliance or moving toward compliance.

On the federal level, guidelines are being established by the Environmental Protection Agency relating to feedlot pollution protection. A new federal water quality law will prohibit the discharge of pollutants into water courses by 1985.

All in all, Paine and Sweeten feel the feedlot operators of the Great Plains are doing a good job of housekeeping. "They're producing, beef, not pollution," they say.

Texas House districts. However, Wyatt contended the Supreme Court in a Virginia case later upheld a 16.4 per cent deviation.

UNNECESSARY "ENERGY" ADS - The House Natural Resources Committee held a hearing on HSR 131 last week -- a measure that requests advertisers to "not use advertisements to urge the public to use more power or energy than is reasonably necessary."

House authors are Representatives Ben Grant, Marshall, and Woody Denton, Houston.

Grant testified before the Committee that his bill was not intended to regulate advertising of energy companies in Texas -- but to urge advertisers to "teach or persuade the public to conserve or decrease the use of energy and to avoid all wasteful uses of power."

He cited some of the copy used by Conn Edison -- a major utility in the East.

A spokesman for the Southwest Electric Power Company told the Committee that his company was against the bill because they did not feel the state should "get into the business of curtailing advertising."

"We have a surplus of power," he said. "Conn Edison has a shortage. We need to urge our consumers to use more electricity in the winter for heating purposes. We have the power available, and we need to sell it in order to pay for our bonds."

"Our consumers use our power supply in the summer when air conditioning is needed," he continued. "But we need to 'sell' them on winter-time power consumption through our advertising programs. We don't think the state legislature should get into advertising controls in Texas."

Grant said he was merely trying to encourage advertisers to avoid waste of energy, and that he would oppose "mandatory" regulations also. The bill was sent to the Oil and Gas subcommittee of the Natural Resources Committee.
