

INCLUDE HIM OUT . . . If Secretary of State George Marshall can be believed, there is at least one prominent public figure who will not be running either for president or vice president next November, and that is Secretary of State Marshall. Quizzed as to whether he would consider being running-mate for Mr. Truman this year, he shoved his hands deep into his pockets and answered: "I don't think any reply to that question is required in the light of what has been said. I will never be involved in politics. I cannot be a candidate for any office." Marshall's greatest desire is to retire from public life to his Virginia home.

Red Cross Fund Over Top In Parmer Co.

Parmer County has again gone over the top in its subscriptions to The American Red Cross, it was revealed by County Chairman W. E. Williams, of Bovina, this week.

Williams said that he was not in a position to give complete tabulations on all the funds raised, but hoped to have all reports in hand by the latter part of this week.

"I'm sure we will be over the top when all reports are in," Williams told a Tribune reporter, adding that some of the workers had expressed their intentions of continuing solicitations until the drive officially closes on the last day of March (today).

The quota for Parmer County this year was $792.00, and Chairman Williams explained that this was the amount asked for the National organization. A certain percent of the money raised in excess of this amount will be retained in the county for local work.

Vets Post Named For Justice and Williams

Honoring two local lads, believed to have been the first from this community to have lost their lives in World War II, the local Legion Post has been named the Justice-Williams Post, No. 516.

"Dence" Justice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Justice of this city, was killed in the Battle of the Bulge, after being reported missing in action in Italy earlier in the war. His body was returned to Fort Sam Houston, Texas, for burial early last December.

Harry Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Williams, former Texico residents, lost his life on Luzon. Belief was expressed here that Williams was taken a prisoner by the Japs after he had been wounded in battle and was in a hospital on Luzon.

Adj. Champ Porter said that plans were being mapped out for the formal opening of the newly constructed Justice-Williams Legion Hall at an early date.

Chamber Commerce To Elect, Tuesday Night

C. M. Henderson, president of the Farwell Chamber of Commerce, has called a meeting of the local organization for Tuesday night, April 6, for the consideration of numerous business matters, chief among which will be the annual election of officers.

The meeting will be held in the county court room of the courthouse and is scheduled to get under way at 8 o'clock. Henderson said there are several matters of importance to come up and "we want a full attendance of the membership, as well as anyone else interested."

Plans for the annual CC feed will be among the matters to be discussed, he added.

Club Dairy Show at Friona, April 9th

Parmer County 4-H and FFA club member are slated to show their various entries at the Friona show barns on Friday, April 9th, to hold their annual Club Dairy Day, officials of the affair announced today.

Some 75 to 100 registered dairy animals are expected at the show, with Jimmy Davis, extension dairy specialist from Texas A. & M., as the official judge of the exhibit.

Classified judging is being planned, County Agent Ollie Lner said on Tuesday. In this connection, he explained that entries will be placed by the judge according to their score card ratings. Those scoring 90 or above will draw purple ribbons and the rating of AA, with all below being rated the same way, on down to Class E. With this kind of judging, no actual "first place" winners will be named, as several entries could receive the same scoring.

Spectators at the show will be invited to fill out score cards during the morning, with the judge tabulating the cards and announcing the placements in the afternoon.

Following the dairy show at Friona, officials expect the top animals to be taken to the Plainview dairy show, which opens on Saturday, April 10th, and ends April 16th.

Deadline for having animals on hand at the Friona barn is 9 a. m., on show day.

District Grand Jury Called For 12th

Members of the grand jury panel have been called this week for service at the April term of district court, which will convene here on Monday morning, April 12th, at 10 a. m., District Clerk Loyde Brewer said today.

Sixteen men are on the panel from which the grand jury will be selected. They include: John Bengier, A. W. Anthony, M. B. Buchanan, J. F. Barnett, Aubrey Brock, D. C. Melu, I. W. Quickel, E. M. Ware, John Armstrong C. A. White, Webb Goben, C. C. Christian, Garvin Thorn, Glenn Dunn, C. V. Potts and Robert H. Schueler.

Clerk Brewer said that the complete docket had not been compiled, but indicated that the civil docket would be of "about ordinary size", with possibly two criminal cases to be heard.

Judge C. D. Russell, of Plainview, has not as yet authorized the calling of a petit jury.

Wheat Suffers More From High Winds

The region's prospects for a wheat crop this year were further reduced this week when a two-day sandstorm, believed to have been the worst in ten years, raked this section throughout Monday and Tuesday.

Mondays' wind was moderately light, but Tuesday the velocity increased to give this region the highest wind of recent years. Thousands of acres of wheat, barely "holding on" through a combination of late plantings, dry weather and extreme cold, suffered untold damage from the storm.

Much of the wheat, farmers say, will be plowed up and the acreage planted to feed crops later in the season.

Bagley Leases New Station In Texico

D. W. Bagley, wholesale distributor for the Phillips Petroleum Company, announced the first of the week that he had leased the newly-erected station in Texico, located across the street from the Texico Hotel.

The new station was erected only a few months ago by Tom J. Finley, of Clovis.

Clarence Bell has been placed in charge of the new station, and will handle a complete line of Phillips 66 products. The business will be operated under the name of Bell's Gas Mart.

Prize Fish Story Of Season Told

Although the season for "fish stories" is yet young, Aubrey Brock, Bovina lumber yard manager, seems to be holding the spotlight at present.

In company with Reagan Looney and Glenn Dunn, Brock was fishing at Devil's Lake, near the Mexico border recently. They were having wonderful luck, they claim.

Passing a group of luckless fishermen along the bank of the lake, Brock pulled up the stringer from alongside the boat and displayed their catch of some 40 good-sized fish.

Later, returning by the same group of hard-luck anglers, Brock went by to how them how the string of fish had increased. Instead, all he was able to display was the frayed cord—where the fish had once been.

West Camp School To Merge With Farwell And Muleshoe

Supt. W. C. Cummings, of the Muleshoe schools, announced here the first of the week that a joint meeting of the Farwell, West Camp and Muleshoe school boards was held in Muleshoe last week, at which time agreements were reached whereby the West Camp district is to be divided and consolidated with the Farwell and Muleshoe districts.

West Camp high school students have been attending the Farwell high school the past several years, being transported here by bus.

It is understood here that under the new arrangement, the Bailey County School Board will divide the West Camp district, and the voters will then vote to consolidate the north portion of the district with Farwell and the south part with Muleshoe.

Officials stated the first of the week that all details were being worked out as rapidly as possible in order that everything may be in readiness for the opening of school next fall.

Playgoers Invited To Farwell, Friday Nite

Playgoers of the community are invited to the Farwell auditorium on Friday night, April 2nd, to see members of the 1948 graduating class change character as they present their stage attraction, "The Kissing Link".

The play is a lively comedy, concerned with the romantic adventures of kiss-minded Penelope Link, portrayed by Jo Ann Williams. In an attempt to secure material for her writing, Penny throws herself at every man that comes within kissing distance.

Included in the victims are T. Jasper Jelks (Sonny Graham), who is already engaged to Penny's half-sister, Lynda (Maxine Ford); Johnny Miller (Harry Sheets), likewise infatuated with Lynda; Peter Wetherill (Bobby Hart), who is dominated by his aunt Winona (Valarie Dial), the avowed foe of kissing; Godfrey Gayhart (Charles Felts), cute but a lisper; and W. Y. Zilch (Junior Robertson), the dumb detective.

Other members of the cast include Penny's Aunt Ada (Talma Randol) and Susan Piggot, the English cook, played by Rosamond Booth.

Curtain time on the first act is 8 o'clock, and admission charges are 25c and 50c.

LAZBUDDY TICKET NAMED

Patrons of the Lazbuddy school district have petitioned County Judge A. D. Smith to place the names of Reinhold Steinbock and Elbert Nowell on the ballot as candidates for school trustees of the Lazbuddy district.

The biggest crowd ever seen at an auction sale in this part of the country gathered at the first quarter horse sale held here last Thursday, at the auction barns of the Foster Brothers Quarter Horse Sales Co., located just west of the Texico Port of Entry.

Buyers from all the surrounding states of the southwest, and one buyer from Eugene, Oregon, were here to participate in the bidding, which saw 140 thoroughbred quarter horses go through the auction ring under the chants of Col. Dick Doshier, local auctioneer.

Mrs. Hazel Hoffman, operator of the Hobby Horse Ranch at Taos, N. M., was the largest individual purchaser. The highest price paid for any one animal was $1,395.00 for a stud. Other prices ranged downward to around the two to four hundred dollar mark. The sale extended over a 12-hour period without a let-up, getting underway at 11 a. m.

Harvey (Red) Foster, who is in charge of the local business, expressed his satisfaction over the results of the first sale, and at the same time announced plans for additional sales to be held in the immediate future.

On Friday, April 9th, the first regular horse sale will be held, and Foster said that some quarter horses would be included. Friday, April 23, is the date of the next quarter horse sale, with already more than 50 thoroughbreds booked. The list is expected to reach at least a hundred.

Bovina City Election Is Set For April 27

In order to correct legal technicalities that appeared in the original incorporating election, held some months ago, a new election has been called at Bovina on April 27th.

This information was given out today by the firm of Aldridge & Aldridge, local attorneys, who are handling the legal phase of the incorporation proceedings. The incorporation is still in effect, it was explained, but there are some slight errors which must be corrected.

The citizens of Bovina voted almost unanimously to incorporate the town some months ago with the view of inaugurating steps to provide the town with an adequate water supply.

Elliot Withdraws As Trustee Candidate

C. R. Elliott, Bovina hardware dealer, who had been nominated as a candidate for county school trustee, has withdrawn his name as a candidate, it was announced here today by County Judge A. D. Smith.

A successor to J. D. Hamlin as county school trustee-at-large will be selected by the voters of the county when they go to the polls to name local trustees for the various Parmer schools on Saturday, April 3rd.

With Elliott withdrawing from the race, voters will choose between Robert Russell of Oklahoma Lane, and W. L. Edelman of Friona, for the office of trustee-at-large.

HEART ATTACK CLAIMS BROTHER BOVINA MAN

Henry Fuller, age 40, brother of Troy Fuller of Bovina, died suddenly of a heart attack in his home at Roswell, last Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Roswell man is reported to have been stricken while taking a bath at his home, and died a few minutes later.

Burial was made at Roswell, with Mr. and Mrs. Fuller of Bovina going down for the services.

WHEAT LOOKING GOOD

Bev Buchanan, who lives in the extreme eastern side of the county, was in town Monday, reporting that his wheat was looking good, and had been affording ample grazing for his small herd of livestock the past several weeks.

Buchanan said that a good rain covering only a small area, visited that section last October, and the moisture had been sufficient to carry the wheat through the winter with the supplemental moisture received in the form of light snows. He expressed the belief that his wheat would hold up until May 1 without additional moisture.

Trustees of the Texico school will hold a meeting on Thursday night at the school building, with the primary business expected to be the acceptance of a petition calling for a special election on a proposed school bond issue, and consequent announcement of a date for the election.

Supt. B. A. Rogers, contacted the first of the week, said that the election could not be called until 30 days had elapsed after the board received the petition, which indicates that the Texico voters will probably go to the polls in May.

More than 100 signatures have been secured on the petition, which asks a special election to approve the issuance of bonds to build a new gymnasium at the school, Supt. Rogers said, which is a majority of property owners in the district, as compared with ballots cast in the last state election. Only 10% of the property owners' signatures are required on such a petition, he added.

The school district has until July 1 to issue bonds which would go into effect this year, and with favorable sentiment running high on construction of the new gymnasium, it is expected that the election will be set at the earliest legal date.

Farwell Street Lights Ready End of Week

Farwell's new street lights are expected to be ready to turn on by the latter part of this week, it was announced today by Ouis Huggins, local manager of the Southwestern Public Service Company.

A crew of workmen have been here the past several days making the installations, and but for unfavorable weather conditions, which have hampered the progress of the work, the lights would have been glowing by now.

Twenty new lights were hung in the residential district Monday, but the high wind of Tuesday drove the workmen from the polls, resulting in another delay. Eighteen more lights are to be placed in the residential section, then work will begin along the main business street of the town.

All the materials have been on hand for some time, and Huggins said the work could be completed in a short time with favorable weather.

Former Bovina Girl Is Buried Saturday

Funeral services for Mrs. Dee J. Harchas, age 24, the former Miss Pauline Norton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Norton, were conducted at the Baptist Church in Bovina last Saturday afternoon, with Rev. Roger Woodall officiating.

Mrs. Harchas died unexpectedly under rather mysterious circumstances last Thursday morning at Oil Center, a small community nine miles north of Eunice, N. M. Her husband said that she was well when she left home for work at 6:30 a. m., adding that she died some time between then and 11:30 a. m.

According to information furnished a Tribune reporter, Mrs. Harchas was scheduled to take her husband his lunch. When she failed to appear on time, Harchas telephoned a neighbor to investigate her delay, fearing that their five-months-old baby might have become ill. When the neighbor lady entered the Harchas home, she found Mrs. Harchas lying prostrate across the bed, fully dressed. Efforts to revive her were of no avail, and she passed away about two hours after being found.

Mystified relatives expressed the belief that her death was due to a cerebral hemorrhage. Burial took place in the Bovina cemetery.

Mrs. Harchas, who was married to Dee J. Harchas in January of 1947, is survived by her husband and one daughter, Charlotte Dee, five months of age; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. (Chester) Norton of Quemado, Texas, formerly of Bovina.

Baptist Revival Will Begin On Sunday

With Evangelist Paul Ray doing the preaching, a revival meeting will begin at the Texico-Farwell Baptist Church on Friday, April 4th and continue through Sunday, April 11th.

Rev. E. M. Treadwell, local pastor, has announced that services will be held twice daily, at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend the services.

Health Notes

By Texas Department of Health

AUSTIN—"Too much emphasis cannot be placed upon the need for reading labels on drugs and medicine before taking them," says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. "Frequent reports are received of accidents, some of them fatal, affecting people who have formed the hazardous habit of taking medicines without carefully reading the labels."

Equally dangerous is the habit of taking medicine after directions on the label have become obliterated, which many people do, thinking that they can remember what the bottle contained. Reaching for a bottle and taking medicine in the dark is another dangerous practice. It is important to remember that the law requires labels to be attached to drugs and medicines in order to protect the public.

Dr. Cox urges people to follow the simple rule of reading the label before using anything from a carton or bottle, either as food or as medicine. In brief, his advice to the public is: "Be sure you know what you are taking, and when in doubt DON'T TAKE IT!"

The ex-service men and women included GI students at TCU, North Texas Agricultural College, SMU and Southwestern Junior College, among others. WAA says that as additional set-aside items become available, they will be offered over the counter on a one-per-vet basis.

VETERAN'S QUESTION BOX

Q. What happens if a disabled vet fails in his course while he is being rehabilitated under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act (U.S. Law 16)?

A. Generally, VA will take special steps to enter him in another course in which there is every likelihood he will be able to complete successfully. The situation depends on the facts and circumstances in each case.

Q. I am considered totally disabled for insurance purposes but receive only 20 per cent for compensation. Can my award be increased?

A. Your compensation will be increased only if the service-connected disability is shown to have increased in severity. For insurance purpose, there may be other disabilities, not service-connected, which combined with the compensable condition, produce total disability. Facts and material for determining the existence of permanent and total disability are different in insurance and compensation matters.

Q. Will a disabled veteran's compensation be reduced because he goes into training and receives subsistence under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act?

A. No.

Q. What are the conditions of eligibility for rehabilitation under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act?

A. A disabled veteran must have had active service on or after Sept. 16, 1940, and before July 5, 1947, with a discharge under conditions other than dishonorable. He also must have a compensable service-connected disability incurred in or aggravated by such service. He must be in need of vocational rehabilitation to overcome the handicap of his disability.

DRAFT PLAN INCLUDES ALL

WASHINGTON—Selective Service is studying plans, which is adopted, will provide for the drafting for national service of women and children as well as men in the event of another war.

Appearing before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee to seek restoration of a cut in Selective Service appropriations, Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service Administrator, said that the proposed plan is a "breath taking idea. We have had almost no experience in trying to control everybody."

He added that the plan calls for mobilization of men at a much faster rate.

TRAFFIC SAFETY
(Ninth of a Series)

At the baseball game, you can't tell the players without a scorecard, and behind the wheel, you can't drive safely without knowing traffic laws and obeying them, according to W. J. Elliott, chief of Texas Highway Patrol.

"It's as simple as that," he said. "You can't be a safe driver unless you are a smart driver—and you are not smart unless you know and obey traffic rules."

Captain Polk Ivy of the Amarillo District said that accident reports indicated left turns at intersections as one of the common situations which cause trouble because drivers do not know the rules. As part of the nationwide "Know and Obey Traffic Laws" program in which the Texas Highway Patrol is participating, he listed the following things a driver should remember about right-of-way on left turns.

1. When you are turning left, you must give the right-of-way to a car in the intersection or approaching closely.
2. When you are approaching the intersection and a car which has been waiting in the intersection to turn left (then starts to make the turn) you must allow it to make the turn in front of you.
3. When you turn left, be sure you are in the correct lane and that you give the correct signal.
4. Don't insist on your right-of-way at the risk of an accident.

Wayland College Asks Senior Accreditation

The question of Wayland College's accreditation as a senior college was put before the Texas Association of Senior Colleges' Committee of Reclassification and Standards at Dallas last week, according to Dean S. E. Cranfill.

Application for senior accrediting was made by Dr. J. W. Bill Marshall, president; Dr. Cranfill, academic dean; and J. U. Harden, business manager.

Officials are awaiting the association's approval of the Wayland application, pending inspection of the campus by a representative of the committee. The college must satisfy demands for the raising of deficient standards before it can be given recognition.

At present school officials are doing their best to see that Wayland can meet the minimum required standards. Although Wayland has rigid standards to meet before final approval is given, Dr. Cranfill believes it has excellent prospects for reaching its goal of being a fully accredited Christian college by next September.

Serving foods in the dishes in which they were baked saves time and energy for there will be fewer dishes to get out, wash and put away.

Railroads Collect Scrap Steel, April 5-10th

The Santa Fe Railway will join other American railroads in the observance of April 5 to April 10 as "Railroad Scrap Collection Week" in an effort to help increase production of steel, badly needed for construction of new equipment and other purposes.

Railroads always have been one of the largest and most dependable sources of purchased scrap. They produce normally approximately 4 million tons annually, and this amounts to about 20 per cent of the total scrap other than that provided by the steel industry itself.

During the week set aside for collection, all railroads will intensify their collections of all available scrap and move it as promptly as possible to foundries and steel mills to replenish the critically low scrap stocks, which are now a million tons below the lowest war-time level.

LESS JUICE CANNED

AUSTIN—Grapefruit juice canning in Texas for the current season through January 31 was 35 per cent below last season's totals, The University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports. Through January 31 total production was 2,087,033 cases. Shipments of 1,416,564 cases were 3 per cent below a year earlier. Grapefruit juice stock on January 31, totaling 1,432,851 cases, dropped 22 per cent below the year-ago level.

Grow Yourself An Unusual Garden

COLLEGE STATION—Try growing the unusual vegetables in your garden this spring to dramatize the garden, says J. F. Rosenborough, extension horticulturist of Texas A. & M. College. The usual garden has carrots, beans, tomatoes, beets, cabbage, spuds and other well-known foods that the children fuss about eating.

Chives, the first of these unusual vegetables, is a small onion-like plant that grows in dense clumps any place onions will grow; chives are very good for flavoring soups and stews. Just plant a part of a raw chive on one side of the garden out of the way, and a small amount is all that is necessary for the whole family. Space the plants one-half to once inch apart in rows 16 to 18 inches apart. Then every 4 or 5 years—that's years—take up the old clumps and re-set them so they won't get too thick and matted. Chives grow best in areas of considerable spring rainfall.

Corn salad, also called lamb's lettuce, is an annual that may be mixed with lettuce or water cress as a mixed salad. It is sown in the early spring in 16 to 18 inch rows about a foot apart in the row, and is handled about the same as lettuce or mustard in fertilization and cultivation. The flavor of corn salad is very mild and may be improved some by mixing with other salad plants.

Endive is another crop similar to lettuce, but is more tolerant to the summer heat. It should be planted about the same time as lettuce, and thinned to 8 or 10 inches in the row. The other instructions are the same as the plants already named.

Garlic is another of those onion plants, and the main thing to remember about garlic is that a little goes a long way. They are planted and handled like onions and chives. When the tops break and fall over, the bulbs are pulled, dried and braided into springs by their tops or tied in bunches and stored in a cool, dry place. Be sure they don't freeze.

Here is an unusual vegetable that is not commonly grown anywhere in Texas, but will do well in the Panhandle. It's rhubarb, sometimes called pie plant. This is a hardy perennial that will live for several years; the small, rooted crowns are planted about this time of the year, three to four feet apart each way. Give them plenty of space, and six crowns will be enough for the entire family. The edible part is the leaf-stalk or petiole, and the gardener is reminded not to eat the leaves. After the plants are out, give them a year before harvesting, so there will be plenty year after year without replanting.

These are a few of the more unusual vegetables that will give a garden the "new look" in foods, says Rosenborough, and add zest to the family meals.

Catherine I, Empress of Russia, was originally a peasant girl.

CHICK

DON'T NEGLECT LAYING FLOCK

Preparing for the arrival of baby chicks and getting them started right requires a poultry raiser's careful attention to detail. He should not, however, allow himself to become so involved in this problem that he overlooks the importance of exercising good care of his laying flock.

This is the time of year when a good many laying flocks suddenly hit a production slump. In many of those cases it is possible that good management methods might keep the hens in full production stride. So let's consider some of the things we can do to keep those layers laying.

Cull Non-Layers

First of all, there certainly will be a small number of poor producers in almost every flock. Cull them right now. No measure will increase profits quicker or reduce labor more than the culling of unthrifty birds. Admit your errors in culling judgment now and eliminate all those hens you thought earlier would meet your production expectations. The ones that are left will make up the difference.

Hens won't lay unless they eat—and they must eat a well-balanced ration to produce the most eggs. The average mash and scratch feed consumption of a good laying flock will be around six pounds per bird each month, supplemented by a good quantity of greens, chopped vegetables, etc., if these are available. A minimum of 36 feet of hopper space per 100 hens should be allowed.

Try A Good Tonic

When appetites lag, try feeding moist mash. Or use a dependable tonic to supply digestive stimulants. Often, commercial tonics will restore jaded appetites where other measures fail.

Keep the litter dry, clean, and loose. A deep litter is excellent insulation against the cold. Stir it frequently, remove wet litter as soon as it is noticed, and add new litter every two weeks or so.

Irrigation Water May Have Too Much Salt

LUBBOCK—A number of farmers outside the already established South Plains "irrigation belt" are in serious danger of ruining their land indefinitely because of high salt content in irrigation water, is a warning sounded by Dr. A. W. Young, head professor of plant industry at Texas Tech.

A large percentage of water samples from relatively deep wells around Morton and Pecos showed high contents of salts, especially chlorides, carbonates bicarbonates and sulphates of sodium, according to tests Dr. Young has run recently. He urged all farmers in that area to have chemical analyses run on irrigation water before using it.

Although this water would probably produce satisfactory crops for two or three years Dr. Young explained that it will leave heavy deposits of salt on the top soil, making it unfit even for dry farming. Natural rainfall is the only source of water that could then remove the chemical deposits, and that might take as long as 25 to 30 years, he stated.

Do not buy enough poultry mash to last over six weeks because long storage periods cause loss of vitamin A content in feeds.

How Much Feed Equals Ten Gallons of Milk?

COLLEGE STATION—How much feed does it take to produce enough milk to fill a ten-gallon can? That depends a lot on the cows, says G. G. Gibson, extension dairy specialist. If it takes six cows to fill the can, they will need about 85 pounds of hay and 30 pounds of concentrates. Three cows would need half as much hay, and about the same amount of concentrates. The big difference is that only three cows have to be milked and cared for. That's why it means more money to have the right number of good cows than a lot full of poor milkers. The four sources of feed for cows during a twelve-month period are grass, hays, silage and concentrates.

Knee deep in good green grass is the way dairymen like to see their cows. Lots of green grass means lots of milk, and lots of milk means more money to the dairyman, Gibson says. But there isn't good green grass through all the year, so the dairy farmer has to turn to plenty of good hmay and silage. most of them are feeding concentrates too, but the whole job can't be done with concentrates.

There is only about a fifth as much milk produced in the winter as in the summer time, Gibson says. A good many dairymen see the value of having hay and silage on hand when the pastures are gone. When the cows have lots of good grass, they won't eat nearly as much hay and silage. But there isn't a year-round supply of grass available.

Enough feed for the cows all through the year and more fall freshening cows will go along toward a more stable milk production. The number of good cows on a farm that can be properly fed and managed means more milk at less cost, says Gibson, and goes a long way toward a program of balanced dairying.

Senior Play Is Held In Texico, Friday

"Demon in the Dark", a surprising three-act mystery, was presented by seniors of the Texico school, last Friday night, when a large crowd gathered at the auditorium in Texico.

Attendants gave acting honors of the evening to Margie Baker, who did an exceptionally realistic portrayal of Mary McTravis, a crippled girl, who is almost driven crazy in thinking she hears the voice of her brother, supposedly dead. Actually, the brother, the "demon of the play" is very much alive, with Bobby Poteet taking the part.

The play dealt with the adventures of Sandra Trevor and her sister, Ethelind, played by Mary Harding and Phyllis Mendoza, respectively. The two inherit a supposedly haunted house, where, according to legend, the ghosts of three murdered men reside.

Sandra goes to her new home to consider the marriage proposal of Deryk Forrest (Melvin Curry), who is really a bank robber, and has his cache in the house Sandra inherits. In the end, Sandra discovers true love with Bob Heider (Gerald Baldeck), a bookkeeper in the bank which was robbed by Forrest.

Other members of the cast included Aileen May as Lizzie Scruggs, the tippy maid, who always took "bitters"; Polly Tapp, as "Ditto", a negro cook; Beale Stewart as Duncan McTravis; Grace McDaniel as Janet, his wife; and Clay Hale as Juniper, the negro man-of-all work. The play was directed by Mrs. Gladys Prescott, with Jimmie Allman, of Clovis, assisting in the make-up.

CARD OF THANKS

We shall be forever grateful to our friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness in the burial of our beloved wife, daughter and sister, Mrs. Dee J. Harchas. We are especially grateful for the many beautiful floral offerings.

Retail Sales Drop In Texas In February

AUSTIN—Texas retail sales fell off 9 per cent to an estimated $358,000,000 in February, according to preliminary tabulations of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. The decline was counter to the seasonal pattern. However, February sales were 4 per cent above a year earlier.

February sales of durable goods stores decreased 13 per cent, while non-durable goods stores sales slipped 5 per cent from January.

Family clothing stores registered the sharpest monthly decline as sales fell 19 per cent. Men's and boy's clothing stores sales ran second, with 17 per cent; and other apparel stores, 16 per cent. On the other hand, farm implement dealers sales gained 11 per cent; florists, 9 per cent; department stores, 6 per cent; and women's ready-to-wear shops, 2 per cent.

Food sales dropped 13 per cent from January to February, reflecting the recent downturn in commodity prices. Compared with February 1947, food sales were down 1 per cent.

Compared with February 1947, shoe store sales slipped 16 per cent; jewelry, 15 per cent, and men's and boys' clothing stores, 10 per cent. Gains over February a year ago ranged from 1 per cent in filling stations to 14 per cent in furniture stores.

True Stories of West Texans

(By N. H. KINCAID)

TALL TALES OF STAMPEDES

"It was darker'n the inside of a cow with her lights drilled out!" explained Frank Mitchell, night rider of the JA herd, as he described a stampede that won for his horse a new name—that of Flying Machine.

It seemed that Mitchell was one of the tight or ten cowhands that was helping to trail break the 2000 head from the Palo Duro canyons as they stretched out towards Dodge. Now these cattle were the progeny of Goodnight's new cross-breeding program, which he had started with 100 Durham bulls in 1877—just three years before, when they had moved down from Colorado. Their hides were a little darker and perhaps their legs a mite shorter, but that old Longhorn spirit seemed to be with them still. They liked to sniff up a stampede, especially on a dark night.

The night was too still, for one thing; and when the darkness had begun to settle, it hadn't wafted down gently. It dropped like a stuffed shroud. There had been no sign of breeze, and the air was clear as a bell. The least sound cut the night like a whip.

Mitchell began singing to the cattle as he circled their bedding ground, but he soon found that he had turned in too soon and was in the midst of the herd; he had been unable to see. Then a glimmer of lightning showed him those animals, every head was lifted expectantly, as if awaiting some certain signal.

"Let me out of here quick!" he muttered as he tried to quietly turn his horse about without frightening them. It wouldn't take much to jump that herd now.

And then it happened. A clap of thunder split the air, and the cattle arose as a unit. The herd swept forward, and so did Mitchell, riding their fetlocks.

"Well, the stampede headed for a bluff that I didn't know was there," Mitchell continued with his story, "and so did I."

"But you know, that horse didn't shift a leg goin' down, he was that steady. And when he hit on his all-fours, I was still a-settin' the saddle. But the funny thing was that when he hit, he stayed lit—didn't move; just seemed to be restin'."

"Come morning, I saw the reason for it all. That Flying Machine horse was bogged up to his knees in solid rock!"

Sales Reviewed Over State For February

AUSTIN—February sales of department and apparel stores declined 4 per cent from January, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports. However, dollar sales rose 3 per cent over February, 1947.

January-to-February changes in sales of Texas department and apparel stores varied throughout the State. For the highest monthly gain Temple registered a 31 per cent increase in sales. Other increases occurred in Marshall, 9 per cent; Cleburne, 6 per cent; Laredo, 5 per cent; Dallas, 4 per cent; Austin, 4 per cent; and Beaumont, 3 per cent. On the other hand, Lockhart department and apparel store sales decreased 32 per cent from January; Texarkana, 30 per cent; New Braunfels, 22 per cent; and Plainview, 19 per cent.

Compared with February 1947 sales of Texas department and apparel stores varied from a 32 per cent decline in Texarkana to a 25 per cent gain in Temple.

Sixty-three per cent of February sales were made on credit, compared to 58 per cent a year earlier. Dallas led Texas cities in credit sales with 73 per cent of net sales made on credit. Corpus Christi, Ft. Worth, Houston and Waco, with 5 per cent, were contenders for second place.

Among types of stores, women's specialty shops registered a ratio of 71 per cent, for the greatest use of credit.

Cotton Mechanization Conference Slated At Lubbock In October

COLLEGE STATION—The second annual nation-wide cotton mechanization conference will be held October 14-15-16 at Lubbock, Director R. D. Lewis of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, announced Tuesday.

Decision to hold the conference at Lubbock was reached Monday at the meeting of the 18-member mechanization steering committee of the National Cotton Council held in Memphis, Tenn. An invitation to meet in Texas was extended by the Agricultural Experiment Station and the Extension Service of the Texas A. & M. College, and by the Texas State-wide Cotton Committee.

Director Lewis said the mechanization group adopted as a theme for the 1948 meeting, "the challenges of the mechanization of cotton and related farm crops." He added that initial plans for the three-day program call for a demonstration of the various phases of mechanized cotton production, and for addresses by some of the nation's leading agricultural and mechanization authorities.

Holding the conference at Lubbock will give cotton industry members from other states an opportunity to study the highly mechanized operations on the High Plains of Texas, Lewis said. Already, he pointed out, some High Plains farmers have reduced the man-hour requirements for cotton production to 6.9 per acre.

Ransom E. Aldrich, Michigan City, Miss., chairman of the permanent mechanization steering committee, advised Director Lewis that attendance at the 1948 conference is expected to exceed that of the first conference held last year at Stoneville, Miss. Nearly 1,000 representatives of agriculture, farm implement companies and governmental agencies attended the Stoneville meeting, Lewis said.

Mechanization demonstrations at Lubbock will be under the supervision of D. L. Jones, superintendent of the Lubbock substation. They will emphasize High Plains mechanization practices including harvesting the crop with strippers, Lewis said.

Hosts to the conference will be the Texas A. & M. College, the Texas State-wide Cotton Committee and the Plains Ginners' Association, Lewis said.

Texas A. & M. College members of the mechanization steering committee of the National Cotton Council include Director Ide P. Trotter of the extending service; H. P. Smith, research agricultural engineer, and D. L. Jones, superintendent of the Lubbock substation.

PARENTS WARNED

V. C. Venable, superintendent of the Texico-Farwell Waterworks, today issued a warning to local parents of the dangers always present at the water plant, and asked that parents cooperate in keeping small children away from the plant.

During cold weather large chunks of ice were continually falling from the tower, and endangering the lives of youngsters. More recently, Venable said, the little tots have been wading in a large lily pond deep enough to drown many of the youngsters.

Venable said he could not be always present at the plant park, and has asked the cooperation of the parents in keeping children away. "Some of them are going to get drowned," he warns.
