Handling Easter eggs and ham

BY JANETTE PIERCE

Hard-cooked eggs and ham are familiar foods that get special treatment at Easter. It's this "special treatment" of decorating and hiding Easter eggs or serving a fresh ham for a large family gathering that raises questions about food safety.

Consumers commonly have the following questions about food safety for these Easter treats:

Q: Is it safe to eat the hard-cooked eggs used in an Easter egg hunt?

A: Yes, but they must be handled properly. First, cool hard-cooked eggs in cold water immediately after cooking and then refrigerate until they cool all the way through. If any eggs crack while cooking, don't use them for the hunt since bacteria can easily get through the openings and contaminate the eggs. When you plan the hiding and hunting of Easter eggs, remember that they should not be out of the refrigerator for more than two hours.

Q: How long will hard-cooked eggs keep in the refrigerator?

A: Hard-cooked eggs in the shell should be used within one week. Use eggs with cracked shells or those with the shell removed within one day.

Q: Is there any danger of trichinosis from hams?

A: If you choose a fully cooked ham, there is no danger. They are specially processed according to USDA guidelines to kill trichinae organisms. These hams are ready to eat without further cooking.

If you choose a fresh ham, take extra care in preparation. Cook the fresh ham until the center reaches a temperature of 170 degrees F. To make sure this temperature is reached, insert a meat thermometer in the thickest part of the cut, not touching the bone or fat.

Q: How long can ham be safely refrigerated?

A: Uncured ham will keep in the refrigerator from 3 to 5 days. It will keep in the freezer from 4 to 8 months.

Cured ham will keep in the refrigerator for one week. Leftover cooked ham that is tightly wrapped and refrigerated 1 to 2 hours after

Baptist Women have brunch

Helen Bowers gave the thanks for the meal.

The regular monthly Bible study was taught by chairman Velma Kelley.

Mrs. Wanda Edmison gave a very interesting talk, using as her subject, "Flowers." She then read the scripture, Proverbs 4:10-18.

Names of the missionaries having birthdays on that day, were read and a short prayer was given.

Mrs. Edmison then read the "Navajo Indian" version of the 23rd Psalm.

The topic of the Bible study was "Love that Reaches the Extended Family."

Mrs. Kelley dismissed the Bible study with a prayer.

Helen Bowers, the W.M.U. director, conducted a short business session, in which a goal was suggested for "Home Missions."

Also a menu was planned for the senior banquet to be held at the church April 1.

RONNY AND ESTHER FERGUSON

Former Farwell residents receive business award

Ronny and Esther Ferguson, past Farwell residents, have received the 1984 Business Persons Award in Stratford, Texas.

The awards were given at the annual Stratford Chamber of Commerce banquet March 22.

Here's how the award was pre-faced:

"We realize you are suppose to only nominate one person for this honor, but when you think of the one person we think of both, as a business they are one. This couple married in 1953, at this time Ronny Ferguson worked for his father as a carpenter, and Esther worked for the State Line Tribune in Farwell. Through her job, Ronny was introduced to the newspaper and printing field. After returning from duty in the Army, Ronny worked for a publisher in Friona.

"Twenty-three years ago, this young couple, and their two sons moved to Stratford and purchased the printing equipment of the Stratford Star. Dave and Shirley McReynolds purchased the Stratford Star at this time. Stratford Printing was begun, and was located where the First State Bank now stands. In 1964 they purchased the Cowdrey building and moved the print shop to 208 N. Main. They added office supplies and overflowed that location. In 1982 they purchased the old First State Bank Building, and with a complete renovation of the building moved the office supplies to 211 N. Main.

"It is a family business with the entire family all working in all areas of the business. Their son Gary operated their store Du-Moore Office Supply in Dumas, Texas. Donavan works with Ronny in the printing division. Their daughter ViAnn Ferguson Reed is a junior at Panhandle State University and helps when needed, as does Donavan's wife Ann. The Ferguson's have raised three good kids all graduating from Stratford High School and are caring citizens of the community.

"Companies and businesses locally and in the surrounding area come to have Stratford Printing do their work. Like we sometimes do when we take printing in to Ronny and Esther and we are asked, "When do you need it," and reply, "yesterday! "When? Will tomorrow do?" Now you know our secret is Ronny and Esther Ferguson.

"Many long, hard hours have been put in by both of these good people to assure the best possible service and merchandise for the community. People can always count on Ronny for good ideas for their printing. If you need something from the office supply store, Esther is always there with a helping hand and "What can we do for you today."

The act of faith by expanding their business in this day of economic stress make these two a truly deserving recipient of the 1984 Business Persons of the year.

"I am delighted to present this plaque to Ronny and Esther Ferguson the "1984 BUSINESS PERSONS AWARD."
