

A question occasionally asked by a local businessman, in good faith and all sincerity, is, "Why do you accept out-of-town advertising in your paper?"

For many years we have been confronted with this question from time to time, and whenever it has been encountered, we have done our best to furnish a forthright—and what we think justified—answer.

Our father, Hop Graham, who as publisher and editor of The Tribune for over a generation, became well-known for his square shooting-ness, has explained to us and to others: "Other businesses solicit and are glad to get all the business they can, regardless of where it comes from. Why is this newspaper any different?"

We have known some businessmen here in Texico-Farwell that have made boasts about the amount of trade they could attract from Clovis, Muleshoe, Hereford, or some other rather distant major retail center.

There have been cases where businessmen of a community which needed a newspaper would band together and offer special incentives to a publisher to move in and start a newspaper to promote the growth of the town and help the businessmen themselves, in the advertising of their wares.

In cases such as these, we believe there would certainly be justification for a feeling on the part of the publisher that he "owed something" to his boosters, and that it would be morally wrong to solicit advertising from outside merchants.

However, these situations are rather far removed from everyday practice, and certainly do not apply locally. We feel that The Tribune DOES owe its editorial influence to whatever it believes best for the betterment of the community it serves, but after that, it's "business as usual" so far as the advertising columns are concerned.

In fact, the second class mailing permit under which this publication does business with Uncle Sam stipulates that anyone must be allowed to buy space in the paper. We are a PUBLIC medium—not a select one.

Something else that has bearing on this subject is that we feel—and have always felt so—that the people of Texico-Farwell and trade territory deserve the best newspaper we can possibly put out.

If we governed the scope and thoroughness of our editorial content in proportion with the amount of all-local advertising which we have, The Tribune wouldn't be half the newspaper it is today.

Thanks to the sound thinking of outside businessmen who have seen the value of advertising their goods and services in our columns, The Tribune has been able to provide service in the news reporting fields that would never have been possible without this outside revenue.

We definitely have no apologies to make about our business policies. We welcome the business of everyone, because we have a public trust to discharge which knows no city limit, county, or state boundary lines.

Does your wife ever beat you to the last squeeze of toothpaste? Ours does it continually.

Knowing that we are stronger—or supposed to be—than she, we figure we ought to usually come out on the long end in this department. Invariably, though, we get the tube just at the time when it's been mashed flat as a flitter. We suspect she uses a hammer on it, but haven't been able to confirm our suspicions.

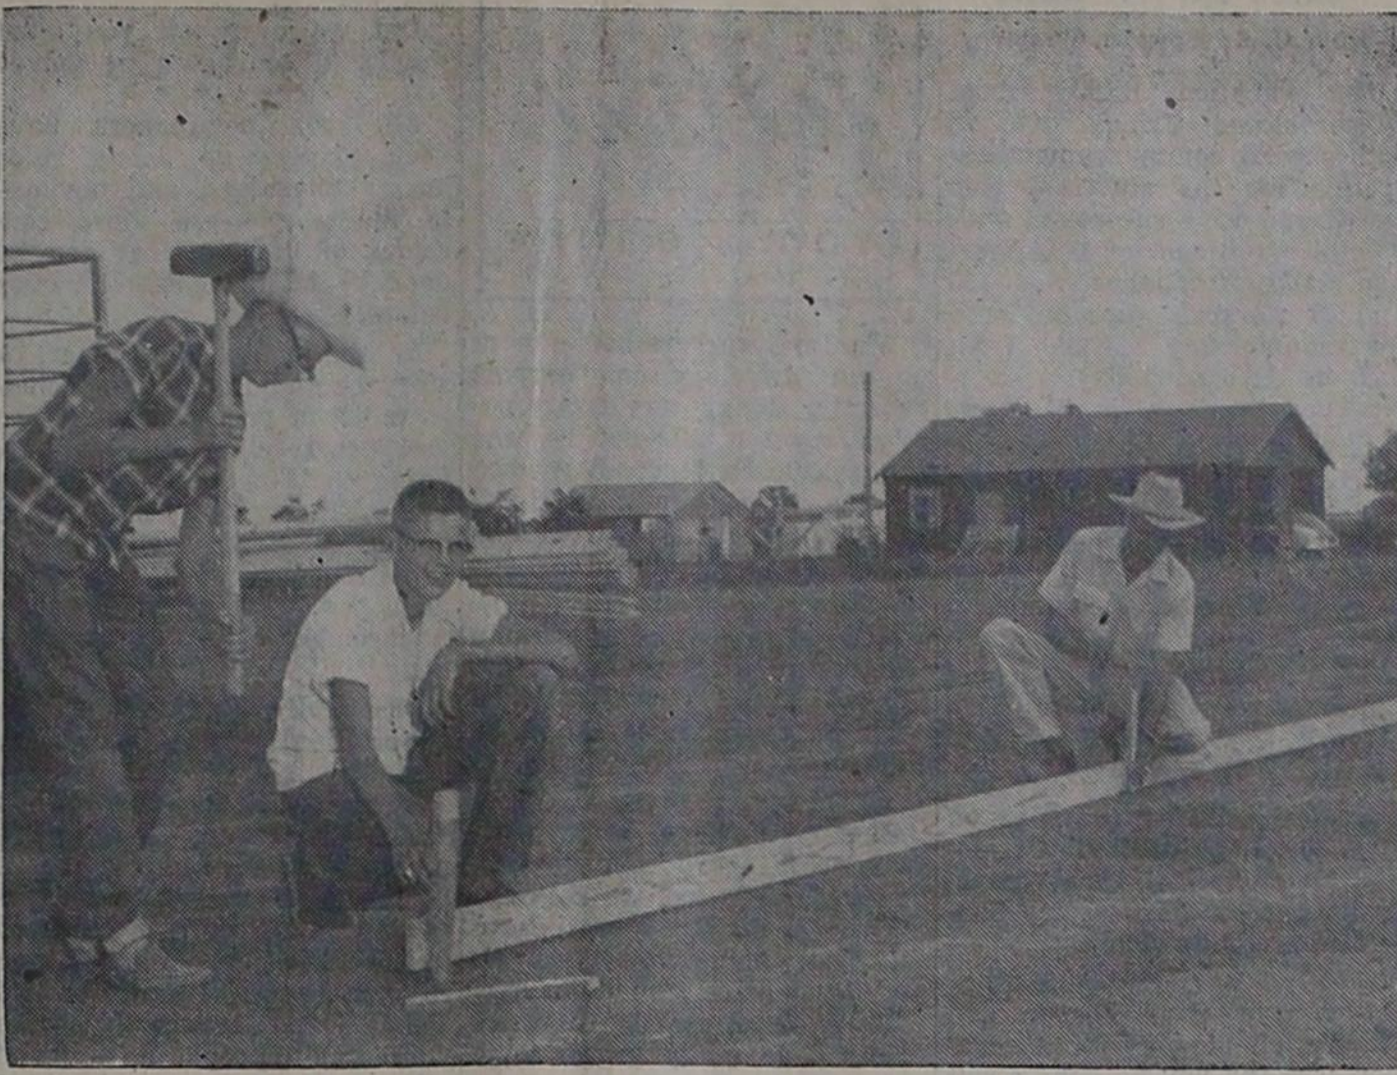

Sunday was Father's Day, and we breezed over to Silverton for a free meal off the in-laws. While there, we drove through the area devastated by a tornado over a month ago.

We didn't know what to expect, but actually, were a little surprised to see so much debris still covering the ground where the storm swept through. With all the junk that the tornado piled up, it'll be a long time yet before all evidence of its passage will have been removed, we'll bet.

Incidentally, the crops in the eastern part of the Plains look splendid. They have had real rains over there all spring long, and the country certainly shows it. Much of the dryland wheat looks as good as our irrigated fields, and everybody seems happy about prospects.

But the eastern farmers, who usually run a week or ten days ahead of us climatically speaking, have certainly gotten behind on the calendar with their work on account of all the rain. The wheat has just begun to turn, and the fields are just now drying out enough for planting. Our daddy-in-law planted his cotton a week ago today.

This has really been a weird spring, hasn't it? For the first time in years, we have missed out on the traditional February, March, and April dust storms. Now comes June when we usually have some pretty de-

CONSTRUCTION BEGINS—Getting underway on Monday of this week was construction of the miniature golf course in Farwell. Here, Jerry Turner and Donald Barnes, left, members of the local FFA chapter, and Prof. Morton, chapter advisor, lay the first board. The course is planned as a means for raising money for the FFA chapter and the Texico-Farwell swimming pool project.

BOY SCOUTS ARE ORGANIZED HERE

For the first time in many years, Texico-Farwell now has a Boy Scout organization. Started several weeks ago, there are both Cub scouts and the advanced group in Texico and there are more than 25 boys already participating. Fifteen have signed up for the larger group and most of them will take their tenderfoot tests tonight (Thursday) at the regular meeting, says Louis Caillouet, Scoutmaster. They will receive their badges next Thursday and to be on hand for the presentation will be three state representatives from Rossell.

During the past few weeks the scout leaders have been instructing the boys on the tying of various knots, and the scout oath and motto, the requirements for receiving a tenderfoot badge.

The boys have been divided into two patrols and leaders appointed. Boys in one patrol are Freddy Warren, leader; Robert Tomlinson, Kenneth Bowers, Harry Henry, Buddy Spence, and Williams Richardson.

In the other patrol are Donald Caillouet, leader; Bill Roth, Bobby Hapke, Larry Richardson, Mike Jenkins, James Hudson, and Kenneth Murdick. Three members, who have not yet been appointed to a patrol are Tommy Wakefield, Kenneth Moore, and Tommy Moore.

Caillouet says that all boys between the ages of 11 and 18 are eligible to join the Scouts and he invites all Texico-Farwell youngsters in this age group to join the organization.

Presently, only Texico boys make up the patrols, but it is hoped that a patrol from Farwell will also join the group, the Scoutmaster says.

The meetings are conducted each Thursday night in the basement of the Texico Baptist Church, beginning at 7:30.

Dues for joining the Scouts is 50 cents per year, plus 10 cents each week for a refreshment fund. After some of the Scouts get more advanced, they will begin buying their uniforms, according to Caillouet.

The Scoutmaster says that they will be asked to buy only the shirt and neckerchief now and later obtain the complete uniforms.

After the boys receive their Tenderfoot badges, outings will be planned. The group organized too late this year for any of the Scouts to attend the Boy Scout Jamboree, but by next year they will be able to go, says Caillouet.

The sponsoring organization of the Scouts is the Texico Woman's Club and assisting Caillouet as leaders are Jerry Stallings and L. W. Warren.

Heading the Cub Scouts are Jess Richardson, Cubmaster; and Mrs. John Winkle, Mrs. Paul Skaggs, Mrs. Peggy Warren and Mrs. Henry, den mothers. The Cubs, all boys under 11, meet each Tuesday afternoon at 2:30.

Presently, there are fifteen boys in this group.

Special Meetings Called for Parents

Two special meetings have been called by Louis Caillouet, Scoutmaster in Texico, for all parents in Texico-Farwell who are interested in having their children join either the Cub or Boy Scouts.

The first meeting will be tomorrow (Friday) night at 7 in the Teen Center for parents of Cub Scout age boys. Boys eligible for the Cub Scouts are those under 11. The following Tuesday night at the same time, there will be a meeting for the parents of boys between 11 and 18 years old.

John Bloomschell, a state Scout representative, will be on hand at the meetings, to discuss Scouting plans in Texico-Farwell. The meetings have been called to work out more complete organizational details.

The meetings for the Scouts started several weeks ago but the leaders have never met with the parents or the Boy Scout committee, appointed by the sponsoring organization, the Texico Woman's Club.

It is hoped that more boys will join the organization and also that there will be more scout leaders. All men in the town who have had previous

First Barley Arrives

The first load of 1957 small grain was received in Texico-Farwell Monday morning, indicating that harvest time is near for farmers in the area.

B. W. Booth, who farms near the West Camp Community, delivered a load of barley to Worley Grain in Farwell at 10 a. m. Monday. It weighed 46 pounds per bushel and moisture content was approximately 9.0 percent, says Herbert Potts, elevator manager.

The yield on the barley was about 40 bushels per acre.

On Tuesday of this week, no wheat had been received at any of the local elevators, but the combines are expected to start rolling soon. Hot weather the past week has helped to speed up the maturing of the crop.

PART OF YOUTH PROGRAM—An additional phase of the Texico-Farwell youth program this summer is leathercraft. Here, J. D. Atwell, program director, instructs Edith Ann Walling on making a belt. Leather working is offered each Tuesday and Friday mornings from 8 until 12 and the class is open to all Twin City youngsters who would like to participate.

Watch Out for Skeeters!

"About 12 Texans have been stricken with infectious encephalitis this year," according to Dr. Paul Spring, Farmer County health officer.

"As far as I know, there have been no cases reported in the immediate vicinity of the county, but entomologists report that mosquitoes that transmit the disease are common in this area," Dr. Spring says.

Of three types of mosquitoes that transmit the disease, the Western Equine virus and St. Louis virus are present among two of the types in this area.

It is believed that birds and fowl may be the reservoir of the virus, and that mosquitoes contact the virus by feeding on them. A mosquito, once infected, remains infected for life, it is believed.

A large number of individuals were diagnosed as having the disease in the Plains area during 1953 and again in 1956. Farmer County had two cases in 1956, while neighboring Deaf Smith and Castro counties had 15 and four cases, respectively.

The disease appears to affect children and older persons more seriously than intermediate aged groups. It can and does cause death, and may leave in-fectured individuals mentally impaired in varying degrees. More frequently, the individual recovers without being noticeably affected.

Sanitarians listed the following as measures that should be taken to control mosquitoes.

1. Good screening to prevent adult mosquitoes from entering the home.
2. Liberal use of aerosol insecticidal sprays to destroy adult insects that may gain entrance into the home by the door being held open.
3. Elimination of unnecessary artificial containers that will hold water for an appreciable period.

Gene Lovelace is reported to be feeling better this week and will probably be able to return home Friday from the hospital in Lubbock where he has been confined over a week. Friends say that Lovelace's vision is improving and that his condition is improved.

Tax Rate Election For FM Roads Only

The tax rate increase, which Parmer County taxpayers have been asked to vote on July 25 will be only for increasing revenue for the acquisition of farm-to-market roads, it was pointed out this week by A. D. Smith, county judge.

In clarifying the purpose for the election, the judge cited the way in which the petitions, asking the commissioners court to call the election, read and the way in which the order for the election was stated. The petitions, calling for the election, were as follows:

"We the undersigned, 10 percent or more of the resident property taxpaying qualified voters of Parmer County, as shown by the returns of the last general election, who have duly rendered the same for taxation, respectfully pray your Honorable Body to order an election to determine whether or not said county shall be authorized to levy, assess and collect ad valorem taxes upon all property within said county, except the first $3,000 valuation of residential homesteads, not to exceed 30 cents on each $100 valuation in addition to all other ad valorem taxes authorized by the Constitution of the State of Texas, provided the revenue therefrom shall be used for construction and maintenance of farm-to-market and lateral roads or for flood control, either or both, as the Commissioners' Court of said county may determine, as provided in House Bill No. 107, Acts, 51 Legislature, Regular Session, 1949."

According to the way this reads, farm roads are all that the tax increase can be used for, and "I do not believe it can be used for obtaining right-of-way for U. S. Highways," says the judge. When asked what would be done if the county ever did want to acquire the rights-of-way for four-lane highways, the judge said, "We'll cross that bridge when we get to it."

He said that at the present time all the county was concerned with was farm-to-market roads. "When the state offers us some farm roads, we plan to accept them." If the tax rate election fails to carry, the county will have to raise the property valuation, says Judge Smith. The county has not had a property valuation increase in many years and the commissioners court can raise the valuation to obtain the necessary funds without an election.

By doing this, though, it will increase the revenue in all other funds too, and this is not needed. "The tax rate increase will be the cheapest way for the taxpayers," the judge says.

Absentee Voting Begins July 5

The dates for absentee voting in the July 25 tax rate election have been set for July 5 through July 20, reports Hugh Moseley, county clerk.

Eligible voters who will be unable to vote in the election on the 25th may receive ballots from the clerk's office during that period, Moseley says.

Road Routes Discussed with Engineer

Four representatives from Farwell were in Lubbock Tuesday afternoon, discussing with the district highway engineer, S. D. McCarthy, proposed routes for a farm-to-market road and Highway 70-84.

The routes presented by the local representatives were those voted on at a recent meeting of Farwell businessmen and individuals. The four who made the trip to Lubbock were Joe Blair, J. H. "Johnny" McDonald, D. W. Bagley, and Sam Aldridge.

The chances of obtaining the farm route, which would tie the state line road south of town into Highway 70-84 and 60, are encouraging, according to reports of the representatives. As for the proposal that Highway 70-84 come to Farwell as far as Ninth Street, this was not too encouraging, they say.

The next step on the agenda locally is for the city commission and the Parmer County Commissioners' Court to jointly submit an application for the proposed farm-to-market route to the state. As for the highway, the thing to do will be to ask the state planning board to designate a route, according to one of the representatives.

The highway route which the Farwell men proposed to the engineer was that it come to Farwell as far as Ninth Street.

It is hoped by the four representatives that the farm-to-market route can be acquired and built in the not too distant future. But, as for the highway, it will probably be quite some time before anything is done on this, they report.

A complete report on Tuesday's meeting with the district engineer will be given at the regular Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday night at 8. All interested individuals are asked to attend.

Glen Phillips Has First Wheat

The first load of 1957 wheat rolled onto the scales of Sherry-Anderson-Pitman Elevator in Farwell late Wednesday afternoon, about 7 o'clock. It was cut by Glen Phillips, who farms east of town.

Phillips reports that the Concho wheat was "pretty wet"—about 16 percent moisture content—but he figured it would be dry enough to continue harvesting within a day or two. The field of 120 acres received an inch of rain Monday.

He and his brother, Bunk, cut three and a third acres, and calculated the yield at slightly over 50 bushels per acre. Glen said he was well pleased with prospects so far.

In all, Phillips has about 300 acres of wheat this year, and he believes that the remainder will yield as well as this first cutting.

Tuesday's cutting came from the A. L. Tandy farm.

Mrs. Sanders to Daughter's Bedside

Mrs. Grace Sanders of Texico received word early Saturday morning that her daughter, Norma Lee, who lives in Idaho, had been injured in an automobile accident Friday night. Mrs. Sanders learned from officials at the hospital where Norma Lee is confined that she was suffering from a fractured skull, several broken bones and other injuries.

Mrs. Sanders left by plane Saturday noon to be at the bedside of her daughter.

A letter from Mrs. Sanders Wednesday morning says that her daughter's condition is very critical. She is hospitalized in Boise, Idaho, and the wreck occurred near Weiser, Idaho. Norma Lee was found 125 feet from her car about 3:15 a. m. Saturday. It is not known when the one car accident happened.

Little League Baseball Begins

Baseball season for the three Texico-Farwell small fry teams got underway last week and the local squads came out on the short end of the scores in two of the three games. The lone win was recorded by the Pony team which beat Bovina 15-14 on the local field Thursday.

On Friday, the other two teams opened the season at Lazbuddie and the Pee Wees fell 13-3, while the Little Leaguers were bowing 11-10.

The Texico-Farwell team came from behind to tie the game 10-10 after the regulation six innings, forcing the game into two extra frames. The game was tied up at 12-12 after the seventh inning and Bovina took a 14-12 lead in the top of the eighth, before the locals pushed across three in the last of the inning to win.

Kenneth Murdick pitched seven of the innings for the home-team and was the winning pitcher.

Due to a shortage of Pony League material, Coach J. D. Atwell used six Little Leaguers on the squad. Boys seeing action in the game were Mike Billington, H. A. Leamons, Van Crume, Kenneth Murdick, Jackie Dyer, Tommy Wurster, Leon Lovelace, Mike Getz, Pete Roland, Billy McDonald, Robert Keith, and Butch Ford.

Pee Wees Lazbuddie pushed across 13 runs in the first two innings to rack up an easy win in the game for the seven- and eight-year-olds. The game had an hour time limit and went for only three and one-half innings. Morris was the winning pitcher and David Hardwick was the moundman for the local team.

Making up the local Pee Wee squad were Jimmy Wakefield, Hobby Coffman, Timmy Crume, Scotty Rundell, Johnny Schell, David Hardwick, Jimmy Mace, Donnie Vestal, Charles Morton, Rocky Sharum, Mike Camp, David Meeks, Ricky Lunford, and Anthony Rundell.

Breaking loose for 10 runs in the fourth inning, the Lazbuddie Little League team overcame a 5-1 Texico-Farwell lead to win the game 11-10. The local squad rallied for five runs in the top of the fifth inning but it was enough to overcome the Lazbuddie lead.

Bobby Hapke started on the mound for the Texico-Farwell team, pitching the first three innings, and Van Crume took over in the fourth. Handling the DOWN SHE WENT—Grayson Roberts found that this cesspool cover was not strong enough to hold up his heavy tractor Saturday afternoon as he assisted with clearing dead trees off the Texico park area. Swinging around to back up to one of the trees, Roberts unknowingly drove over the old cesspool. He stayed in the driver's seat until the tractor came to a stop and cut the motor off before crawling out unhurt. A winch truck from Blain and Son Blacksmith was required to lift the tractor out.

THE TRIBUNE'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

Unified Action

When a group of Farwell businessmen and individuals met recently to discuss a highway route through the town, the result was unified action — the only chance the town has in getting what it's citizens want in the way of a road.

The fact that almost 40 persons, with varying business interests, can get together for discussion of such a topic and all agree on one proposal is a commendable thing. There were some differences of opinion for sure, but no one got "hot under the collar," and caused ill feelings, which has been the case in the past.

The cards were placed on the table and with the majority knew what they were faced with, they unanimously voted to act as a unit. Unity can do much for a town and we are happy to see that the town leaders finally summoned the interested townspeople together for that one purpose.

The representatives chosen to present the proposal to the district and state officials were able to speak with authority and tell them that "this is the way the town wants it."

The proposing of a definite route by the local group does not mean that it will be followed, even though it does greatly increase the possibility of getting what the town as a whole wants and what will be of the most benefit.

Chances are that the town won't get just what it wants, but by working as a unit, more can be accomplished than would be otherwise. If several groups, each with varying special interests, would appear before the officials, quite likely nothing could be derived that would benefit Farwell.

As for the route which was proposed, we believe that it is the one which would best serve the interest of the town. Even if it didn't come quite as far as Ninth Street, it would still be better than several miles on down the road, missing the town by a great distance. We will later give our reasons for believing so, but whatever the route proposed by the local group might have been, it would be all right with us if the majority of the people wanted it.

For the majority to decide and for the rest to accept their decision, is still the best way.

Local Students At Band Camp

Several band students of Texico and Farwell schools returned this weekend from the annual band camp at Eastern New Mexico University.

Enrolling at the camp from Texico were Raymond Hadley, Beth Peyton, Charlie Stockton, D' Rene Danforth, Connie Tharp and Christy Bowers.

Hadley and Beth Peyton were fortunate in being able to take private instructions during the school. Fred Danforth, Texico band director, says that both were taught by very able instructors. Hadley received private lessons in bass horn and Miss Peyton received oboe lessons.

Attending from Farwell besides Mrs. Erma Jones, band director at Farwell schools, were Sam Pool, Neil Anderson, Jerry McCuan, Joe Hughes, Carolyn Watts and Johnny McCuan.

TEXICO BAPTIST NEWS

Rev. C. C. Morgan, Pastor

The vacation Bible school which closed Friday evening with special commencement exercises for the students, was considered very successful with a total enrollment of 149. Average daily attendance was 135 and 27 workers were on hand for the morning sessions from 8:30 to 11:30 each day.

Included in the daily meetings were Bible stories, mission studies, memory work and hand work. Hand work done by the children during the week was on display for parents and friends to view after the commencement program.

Each department of the school presented a portion of the program.

Sunday School attendance on June 16 was 155 with 77 in training union. Special guest speaker for the evening service Sunday was a missionary.

Rev. and Mrs. Morgan and Wanda left Monday for a vacation trip and will be gone about three weeks. Jerry Poteet is taking charge of the services during Rev. Morgan's absence.

Five young people of the church are attending camp at Inlow Youth Camp this week.

When the workers began work on our driveway and carport recently, Ronny was pretty excited about it all. But he was just a little condescending when he ran to us, and explained, "mama, there is a big truck and it just spilled dirt in our street."

He was right, it was a dump truck and it had "spilled" a lot of dirt. Ronny was satisfied when he realized the sand was to be used for the driveway.

The rains have been beneficial to the lawns and flowers, and the weeds too, we notice.

There is nothing more beautiful than home-grown flowers and if you drive around the community, you'll see that our residents have really grown some outstanding ones. Gardens have never been so pretty.

Our next door neighbor, Mrs. Rea, has given us the prettiest bouquet of pink roses and honeysuckle, and our other neighbor, Mr. Hall, gave Ronny a big bunch of home-grown radishes last week. Did we ever tell you what wonderful neighbors we have?

All area newspapers have been playing up safety rules during tornadoes, and obviously the people are more conscious of damage that can be done by high winds, than ever before.

In the Panhandle paper, a story on the front page included a list of people in town who had storm cellars and were inviting their neighbors to make use of the underground rooms during severe weather. The Crosbyton paper has a front page box reading "if you sight a tornado, call 3421 immediately."

Practically every editor has editorialized on the dangers of tornadoes.

After visiting in Silverton and seeing the tragedy there, we're all for it. We should be aware of the dangers. Even more fantastic was a story that appeared in the Tulia paper following the Olton tornado. People around Tulia found letters that were addressed to people in Olton and other items that were identified as having been in Olton originally. One man was even driving along, and was amazed when a dead cat fell from the sky onto the hood of his pickup. Tulia is quite a distance from

New laws that go into effect provide:

2. Parents will be liable up to $300 for property damage by minor children.
3. Drivers licenses for youngsters under 16 will be harder to get. Department of Public Safety, rather than local county judge, will have say-so.
4. A special "license" will be needed for driving motor bikes and scooters.

Home Economist to Give Demonstration

Miss Earnestine Gary, home economist of Southwestern Public Service in Clovis, will give a demonstration on electrical appliances at the Farwell home economics building on Tuesday morning, June 25, at 9:30 a. m.

Mrs. L. B. Penick, home economics instructor at Farwell School, says that all women of the community are cordially invited to this demonstration. Also on the list of activities of the summer FHA and home economics program at Farwell is a swimming party scheduled for the FHA girls and girls who will be entering high school next fall.

The swimming party is to be at Mulshoe, Wednesday evening, June 26, and a bus will leave Farwell at 6:15 p. m. Mrs. Penick suggests that girls bring money for pops and hamburgers after the swim party. The party is to last from 7 to 9 p. m.

NEW TYPE MOWER—H. R. Crook, bus foreman at Farwell Schools, is shown with his new invention, a three-bladed rotary mowing machine. Also in the picture are his two sons, Randy, in the driver's seat, and Darrell.

Crook Builds Three-Blade Rotary Mower

In an effort to come up with a machine that would speed up grass mowing operations at Farwell Schools, H. R. Crook, bus foreman, recently completed building a three-bladed rotary-type mower.

The new machine, built from Crook's own design, will be used chiefly to keep the football and practice fields mowed. The three rotary blades of the unit are attached to the diagonal part of a triangular frame and the mower is powered by a Wisconsin air-cooled motor. The 22-horsepower, 4-cylinder motor was acquired by the school as war surplus.

The machine will mow a four foot strip and all controls to the unit can be reached from the driver's seat.

The front end consists of an old motorcycle fork and wheel, which Crook purchased at a Clovis motorcycle shop. The differential, transmission, and back axles and housing were acquired from a wrecking yard. Considering the various parts needed for the machine, the inventor says that it was constructed at a reasonable cost. Most of the parts, coming from wrecked motor vehicles, were bought well worth the money, he says.

The only conventional parts of the mower, which had to be purchased new, were the rotaries, the hubs, and shaft.

The blades will lift and lower, making it possible to cut any distance from the ground.

Maintenance is one of its better features, says Crook, "because there is very little to wear out." Unlike the small single-blade conventional type machines, there are no small parts which will continually give the operator trouble, he points out.

Crook says that he first came up with the idea for such a mower last fall. He has been formulating plans for it during most of the school year and it was built this spring. It was built in his spare time and was completed just before school was out.

The machine was given its test trial and found to be effective. It should speed up mowing operations considerably, according to Crook.

He says that several changes might still be made on the machine, but otherwise it is "ready to go." One addition has been a shield over the blades for the protection of the operator.

As for the possibility of this new mower being manufactured and put on the market, Crook does not think this would be successful. "Manufacturing the parts which were acquired second-hand, would be too expensive," he says.

Siren Blasts Explained

Just what does it mean when the nine-stroke fire whistle, recently installed in Farwell, sounds? That question has arisen since it sounded last Thursday morning, signifying a fire south of Farwell.

Otis Huggins, member of the local volunteer fire department, says that when the whistle blows nine times, it means there is a fire in Farwell. The new type whistle does not have just one steady stroke, as does the one in Texico, but it has the nine short ones. It will make nine strokes each time it is set off, Huggins says.

Should there ever be a storm warning for the city, the whistle will blow continuously.

As for the Texico whistle, it still remains the same—one blast signifying that the members are to come to the station, two that there is a fire in Texico, and three that there is a fire in Farwell.

Benjamin Franklin was the first Postmaster of the United States.

Farwell Seniors Tell of Trip

(Editor's note: The following is a resume of the Farwell senior trip to Colorado last week and was written by members of the class.)

The senior class of '57 left on their trip Saturday morning, May 25, and arrived at Canon City, Colo., at 2:30 that afternoon. On Sunday they went to see the Royal Gorge where they enjoyed crossing the Gorge and riding the cog train down into it. After lunch that day, they toured the state prison.

Later in the afternoon the group started to Colorado Springs and arrived there in time to attend church.

Monday, the seniors "loafed around" and visited the town. That afternoon they went to Seven Falls where many members of the class climbed to the top of the mountain to the grave of Helen Hunt Jackson. Before they started down, it had begun to rain and snow.

A trip to Denver was the highlight of Tuesday's activities. There they toured the capital building, museum and amusement park.

After sleeping late the next morning, the group enjoyed ice skating and swimming at the Broadmoor Hotel. Thursday they went up the Manitou Incline and when they reached the top, rode donkeys to one of the lookout towers. Swimming, ice skating and visiting the zoo filled that evening.

Donning extra clothing, the group boarded the cog train for a trip to the top of Pike's Peak on Friday. On the way up the snow was falling so fast they could hardly see, and the trip up took one hour and 20 minutes.

About the Pike's Peak trip, one of the sponsors remarked, "When we got to the top, there was 25 feet of snow, the wind was blowing 15 miles per hour and you couldn't see a thing!"

After coming down, they went to the Van Briggle Pottery Company to see how pottery is made.

The homeward trip began early Saturday morning and the group arrived in Farwell about 6:30 that evening.

During their stay at Colorado Springs, they stayed at the Redwing Motel where they were welcomed by the managers who presented them a large bouquet of flowers with a streamer bearing the words, "Welcome Seniors."

Twenty-six class members, one sponsor, H. K. Milford; and the class parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dee Owen and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Carpenter; and the superintendent, Jack Williams; made the trip, and they all report that they had a wonderful time.

Aerial application of chemicals for brush control have proved to be both effective and economical. Extension Range Specialist A. H. Walker, reports that farmers or ranchmen should not expect miracles from chemical control, but if the job is properly done, dividends will be good. To insure success, Walker advises that the right chemical must be used at the right time; qualified flying personnel should be hired for the flying job and all treated areas should be rested after spraying. Local county agents can supply the latest information on chemical brush control.

Prospects now are for a good grain sorghum harvest in Texas this year. Harvest will be later than normal in many areas because of delayed plantings due to the weather but conditions warrant the optimistic outlook.

Extension Agricultural Engineer W. S. Allen, advises farmers to line up their storage needs early and if on-the-farm storage must be provided that it be made ready well in advance of harvest.

When weather conditions become favorable for farm and ranch work, farmers and ranchmen will be busier than in many years trying to catch up with all the jobs which are behind schedule. The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council passes on this word of warning. "Fatigue plays a most important part in farm accidents—don't drive yourself nor your farm workers to the point of exhaustion. It will pay to conserve your health and well-being just as it does to conserve other resources. Just plain be careful," advises the Council.

On December 27, 1776, George Washington was made dictator of the United States—the only one we have ever had.

At least ten countries use the eagle as the symbol of supremacy.

Henry Clay is credited with saying "I'd rather be right than president."

Step Lively to Bigger Windrowed-Crop Profits

Use a BIG-CAPACITY JOHN DEERE No. 55 COMBINE

The hungry hum of the No. 55 Self-Propelled sings out two important messages. First, there's a lot of work being done. Second, there is plenty of capacity in every unit to handle the heavy crops, the heavy windrows, without overloading, loss of grain, or slipshod cleaning.

In addition to the big daily capacity and steady good work, the No. 55 gives you unmatched comfort and ease of operation... hydraulic selective ground speed control... balanced weight on all four wheels... double-ram platform control... big, auger-unloading grain tank that empties in 1-1/2 minutes, standing still or on the go, and many other outstanding advantages.

We will be glad to give you complete information on the No. 55; call us or drop in any time you're in town.

Get in Touch With God

Ministers in close touch with the people say that prayer is one of the least-used lay activities of the Christian religion. Yet, this seems strange, because surely, it could be the most powerful.

Through prayer, you can speak directly with God, and it is amazing what a few minutes of "long-distance" talking with God can do for the average person.

"As near as your telephone" is a phrase that turns up often in advertising. God is even nearer than that!

Two Appear Before Equalization Board

Only two taxpayers appeared before the Parmer County Commissioners Court last Monday in regard to their taxes, when the group met as a Board of Equalization. "Both went away happy," said one of the commissioners following the meeting.

Tax discussions topped the day's business which was termed an "extra busy session." The commission called an election, appointed several juries of view, approved warrants and bills, and handled other miscellaneous business.

A time warrant for $15,000 with Security State Bank in Farwell was renewed and interest in the amount of $404.10 was paid. Also, the group voted to borrow $15,000 on time warrants from the bank for one year at five percent interest.

Other business included the appointment of Cary Joe Magness to the Veterans' Land Board. He replaces R. W. Anderson, who recently resigned.

cent weather, and we've been having, as you might guess, the dust storms that were due months earlier! Life's never dull around here.

Seeing "Giant" the other night has reminded us: C. O. (Crude Oil) Foerster called up again a couple of weeks ago to find out what's cooking in the oil news department.

We told him we didn't have much news to report. Seems like the fever has sort of died down from the well up north in Oldham County, but still, people haven't forgotten about oil prospects for the Palo Duro Basin.

Clyde Magness, who worked with a number of local landowners last year to get up a drilling block southeast of town, says he'd be glad to talk to Crude Oil about the same kind of a deal they were propositioned with last year. Unfortunately, the deal fell through, and the hole was never put down, but the paper work was all taken care of.

Clyde says that he's not so sure about finding people who'll be willing to give leases for a test any more, but maybe something can be worked out. The deal last year was a drilling contract that tied up slightly over 1,200 acres. Then, there were about another 6,000 acres surrounding the sites that were to have been leased at $3 per acre.

Anyway, Foerster says he'll be coming out to see us "some-time this summer" and he wants to get a really good look at the country. He'd had a lot of experience promoting wildcats tests in truly rank territory, we understand.

We thought we were a shining star in an otherwise mediocre Latin class when we were in school at SMU a few years back. However, Mrs. Scott Levins threw us back on our haunches the other day when she quizzed us about the meaning of "sic," which appears from time to time in more or less everyday reading matter.

For the life of us, the answer wouldn't come to our mind, and we didn't admit to her that we were supposed to know, since it was a Latin word, and a rather frequently used one, at that.

We dug out our old textbook, and would say that the most literal English translation we can offer is "exactly thus." When "sic" appears after a direct quotation of what someone has said, for example, this is the writer's means of underscoring that he had repeated the EXACT words uttered.

What with some of the boneheads we pull around The Tribune office, we haven't much use for the word, frankly.

Members of the M.Y.F. will have a swimming and watermelon party this coming Monday evening at 8 at the swimming pool in Clovis. We need at least 25 who will go and swim. Each person is to bring a picnic lunch and their swimming togs. For more information please call Sharon Coffman.

The Young Adult Class was off a little in attendance due to Father's Day trips. The interest was very high and we will discuss a class project and a class social this coming Sunday morning. We will be served hot coffee by Mrs. E. R. Coffman, and Mark Fairman will preside at the business session.

The Jones Brothers have just finished cleaning the 16 dead Elm trees on the lot south of the church. They are cleaning and leveling the lot, too. This should make a fine spot for a youth recreation area.

Our church attendance was 120 in the morning, 95 in Sunday School, and 46 in the evening service. Many of our people were visiting in their parents' homes. Were my father alive I would make every effort to see him at least twice a year. This is a wonderful time to try to express our appreciation for the love, work and companionship of our fathers and mothers.

The Methodist summer camp program at Sacramento, N. M., has a special camp for all age groups within the church. You are all urged to take advantage of this program for yourself and your children. Family accommodations are also available. Our special interest right now is our Clovis District Intermediary camp to be held July 8-12. Your pastor will be one of the instructors and we would like to have a big class from this church. There will be room for several in one car, but we may need another one to help. The camp will be an excellent experience for everyone. The cost will be $16 plus spending money.

The commission on education is working on a program for a higher interest in the church school work and attendance as well as laying plans for our vacation Bible school.

We were privileged to have the following persons as our registered visitors last Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Sam McMillan of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bell of Friona, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Pool and Lynnie of Portales, and Mr. and Mrs. George Cleland and son Joe from Topeka, Kans.

Two weeks from this coming Sunday we will begin our Sunday School at 9:45 a.m. This will allow us to miss the 10 a.m. train that so often blocks the crossing and will also give us a little more class and social time together. We are counting on your co-operation in this endeavor.

The band recently completed arrangements for securing new uniforms and Mrs. Jobs says the order will be placed soon.

Electric Living is FUN!

Linda Baxter demonstrates, to her mother, modern cooking techniques learned in school homemaking class.

Under guidance of teacher, Mrs. Quentin Adams, Linda Baxter practices cooking techniques on modern electric range.

"Our daughter sold us on ELECTRIC COOKING!"

says Mrs. CLYDE BAXTER College and 5th Streets LOCKNEY, TEXAS

Mrs. Clyde Baxter, like many adults, has had the advantages of electric cooking pointed out to her by her high school student daughter, who learned that the modern way is the accurate, dependable way. Of course, it's electric! Says Mrs. Baxter, "I'm mighty glad we installed an electric range when we built our new home. The counter-top height oven gives perfect baking results and we get more broiled foods since getting the new range".

Sixteen-year old Linda Baxter is a sophomore student with two semesters in homemaking. Her teacher, Mrs. Quentin Adams, says, "Although our department has both types of household cooking equipment, most of our girls prefer to use the electric range". Why not "take a tip from your teenager"? If you are not yet cooking electrically, ask your daughter to tell you why you should.

This is the new gin under construction east of Lazbuddie. When completed, it will be the 14th gin in Parmer County.

New Gin To Serve Lazbuddie Area

A new gin is under construction in the Lazbuddie community by O. C. McBride and Sons. It will be completed in ample time to serve the area this year, reports O. C. McBride.

Owners are O. C. McBride Sr., O. C. McBride Jr., and Bill McBride, who operate as a father and two sons' partnership.

Combined, the owners have about 80 years of cotton ginning experience. They operate a gin at Earth under the same title.

Most of the equipment in the gin under construction is to be new, with some used equipment to be from a gin being moved from Sherman. It is to have five stands, and a new Murray, Mitchell and Moss Co. lint cleaner. Electric power is to be used, and the building is to be of all steel material. The gin is located about two miles east of Lazbuddie.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

It is commonly recognized that the solution to our cotton production and sales program problem is a difficult one, and that trial and error are necessary for the solution. Everyone growing cotton is interested in producing a fair quantity and selling it at a profitable price.

Farm Bureau, along with the National Cotton Council, has for the past year or longer, been advocating methods of making increased acreage possible, with a view to selling on a competitive market in enough volume to keep government warehouses from overflowing.

Farm Bureau coined the phrase, "Amount sold times price minus expenses equals net income" several years ago, and has based proposed solutions to the problem of net income for farmers on this premise.

When cuts in acreage began, many people believed they could stand the cuts, so long as the price stayed high enough. It soon developed that prices could not be expected to rise high enough to allow a decent net income for producers with the cuts in acreage brought about by production of synthetic materials at just under the price of cotton.

Farm Bureau was unpopular in some quarters because it stated that it believed competitive (slightly lower) prices would give assistance to the producers in making a better net income. We are happy that now several opponents of this theory have come up with the same idea, and are giving their support in Washington to it. We hope congress will lend an ear to this plan soon.

The bindweed map, prepared by the ASC office staff from answered questionnaires from farmers, shows approximately 175 plots of the weed. Have you sent your answered questionnaire in yet?

We believe the new standards set up by Texas Board of Education members will benefit students and everyone with whom they are associated. It looks like a long needed healthy approach to this growing problem.

CONSIDER THIS: Then I saw that that wisdom excelleth folly, as far as light excelleth darkness. (Ecclesiastes 2:13).

THE GOLDEN GRAIN — Sifting a handful of wheat of the first load to reach a Parmer County elevator this year is Burke Hand. The weight was 62 lbs. per bushel, and tested 12.50 percent moisture.

Parmer County's First 1957 Wheat Goes To L. R. Hand

First 1957 wheat is in the elevator. Cutting started Monday and about 2:30 p.m. it was on the scales at Friona Wheat Growers' Elevator.

Grower is L. R. Hand, who farms about seven miles east of Friona. Hand says the grain is from a 30-acre field of wheat planted early in October. He says he fertilized with 80 pounds of anhydrous ammonia per acre in September. He then deep-broke and irrigated the field before seeding. He watered it two other times after it began growing.

Estimated yield is 65 bushels per acre. The wheat was not grazed during the winter. Variety is Early Premium.

Arthur Drake, manager of Friona Wheat Growers, says the wheat tested 62 pounds per bushel at 12.50 percent moisture. The wheat was left in storage.

For having the first load of wheat at the elevator, Hand received a $25 premium.

Weed Workers To Meet Friday

About 17 Parmer County farmers who are cooperating in locating bindweed infestations along road rights-of-way will meet Highway Department officials in Bovina Friday morning.

To begin at 7:30, the meeting will bring together the two groups and lay groundwork for a cooperative program for the eradication of the noxious weed.

The Highway Department already is doing considerable work in this field.

The name, United States of America, originated when it was written into the Declaration of Independence.

4-H'ers Reminded Of Grain Contest

Members of the Parmer County 4-H Clubs were reminded this week by County Agent Joe Jones that there will be another grain sorghum production contest, sponsored by the Parmer County Grain Sorghum Producers Association.

4th—$15
5th—$10

Lots of people have great aims in life, but never pull the trigger.

Moderate interest was generated last year, in the first time to launch the competition. Jones said this week that he expects interest to be up considerably in 1957.

Detailed records will be maintained of production statistics, and forms have been prepared by the county agent's office for this purpose. Full details will be carried in subsequent issues of the paper, but the deadline for entering will be July 15. Additional information on the contest particulars can be secured at the agent's office.

Jones also emphasized this week that the cotton production contest will be held, the same as it was last year, and that boys are not only permitted, but encouraged to enter both contests if they desire.

In the case of the grain sorghum contests, cash prizes for the winners will be distributed as follows:

- 1st—$50 and plaque
- 2nd—$35
- 3rd—$25

Awards Night At Black

"Awards Night," a time set aside for the giving to Black community leaders the awards they achieved in the Rural Neighborhood Progress Contest last year, will be held Thursday night.

To begin at 7:30, the program will feature several important sponsors' representatives, including D. W. Williams, vice-chancellor of agriculture and acting president of Texas A&M College.

Also on hand will be a representative of the Farmer-Stockman magazine, which with the Extension Service sponsors the annual contests state-wide. An announcement has not yet been made who this will be, but it is expected that Sam Whitlow, Texas editor of the publication, likely will attend.

Also to be there will be Reagan Brown, rural sociologist with the Extension Service, and Edith Lois Wilson, district home economics agent.

Black this year won, for the second time in a row, second place in the contests. They have announced their intention to enter again.

Insect Warfare Takes to the Air

Chemical war against mosquitoes progressed the past week over farms in the east and southern parts of Parmer County in the Hub and Lazbuddie communities. About 46 farms were sprayed from the air, and about 16 others signed up for the attack to come to their places, reports Elvie Jennings of Benger Air Park.

Jennings said the Lazbuddie and Hub communities had initiated a joint effort to control heavy infestations of mosquitoes and contacted him to apply the insecticide from the air. Several persons near Friona also arranged to have a barrage of chemicals sprayed on their farms.

Jennings said the 46 different farms sprayed were located in about one-third of the county. He said several reported good results from the spraying.

A mixture of benzene hexachloride and DDT, one and one-half gallons diluted with 10 gallons of water, is being used. More persons are expected to contact him to arrange for the aerial application, Jennings said.

Persons whose farms have been sprayed include Gene Smith, Kenneth Precure, Don Bryant, Mrs. A. W. Black, Jimmy Dale Black, Willie Frank Wagon, T. L. Gleason, DeWitt Precure, Wyle Bullock, Elbert Nowell, R. Steinbock, Ernest Nowell, John Seaton, H. H. Briggs, W. C. Harlan, J. B.

County Clubbers Home

(Editor's note: The following is a brief report of the recent 4-H Club state Round-Up held at A&M College. Preparing this report were Cooper Young and Billy Hardage, two of Parmer County's four delegates to the Round-Up.)

On June 10, Cooper Young and Billy Hardage, Lazbuddie 4-H Club boys, accompanied their adult leader, J. B. Young Jr. to College Station for the State 4-H Round-Up at A & M.

We registered on June 11 along with 2000 other 4-H boys and girls from throughout the state. Girls from Parmer County attending were Misses Lexie Stevenson of Bovina and Judy Billingsley of Farwell. They accompanied another group of 4-H'ers from District 1 to the meet.

Theme of the 1957 Round-Up was "People to People Partnership", as the 4-H Club organization is one of four groups appointed by President Eisenhower to carry out this "People to People" plan. The 4-H Club is the only youth group included in the appointees.

Topics for study during the three-day session at A&M were "The Role of a 4-H Citizen," "4-H in Civil Defense," "4-H in Action," "4-H in Agriculture and Home Economics," and "Fitting 4-H into Farm and Home Development."

The session was ended with a chuck wagon barbecue supper. We feel that we learned a lot from our trip to Round-Up and really enjoyed the trip. We want to express our appreciation to the Farm Bureau for helping to sponsor it for us.

THE PARMER FARMER

Today is "it" for the nation's wheat growers. Most prognosticators expect the referendum to pass (as has been customary) by the required two-thirds majority.

We will agree with the critics of this type of vote, in that there isn't much choice left to the farmer. The gulf between the "aye" and the "nay" is wide and deep. It isn't surprising that farmers have traditionally stuck with marketing quotas.

We also feel that the referendum returns do not necessarily reflect an attitude prevalent among the majority of those voting for that reason.

At any rate, it's up to you, Mr. Wheatgrower. What'll it be today?

The weather really turned for a few farmers between Farwell and Oklahoma Lane Tuesday afternoon, and heavy crop damage was reported, though not in a wide area, fortunately.

As a whole, the farmers of this part of the Plains have been lucky in this respect, compared to their neighbors a few miles to the east.

J. T. Ford's 70 acres of onions near Farwell are really looking good, and we have heard from an unofficial source that they ought to be hitting the market in a couple of weeks.

J. T. really took a long jump with such a big acreage of this speculative vegetable crop—especially since last year proved lucrative and many other farmers are helping swell the planting in onions to record levels this year.

We hope to check on him between now and harvest time, and get the low-down on how he's made out with this project.

Our spring-planted crops are really making good headway now that warm weather is here to stay. It is amazing to see how fast the young cotton plants and the sprouting grain sorghum leaves can "take off" under the warm sun and with adequate moisture for growth.

A few farmers are worried about getting off to a late start this year, but actually, this part of the High Plains is ahead of nearly everyone else in the state this year.

If we have an even average fall, we should do at least as well as nearly all of the farming country to the east and south of us, which, traditionally, beats us to the gins and elevators by 10 days to two weeks. Jack Frost, stay away!

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Native ranges or native pastures are no longer Parmer County Soil Conservation District's most important agriculture product. However, what native pastures that still exist will bear some attention.

For the most part there are two significant range sites in the district. One is the hard land range site and the other is the mixed land range site. The hard land site consists of those lands containing tighter, less permeable soils. In good condition they will contain unlimited amounts of blue grama, side oats grama, western wheat, little blue stem, with about 25 percent buffalo grass.

In poorer condition these grasses will be in less abundant and less vigorous quantity. Invading plants such as loco, broom snake weed and other harmful or less palatable plants will be present.

Mixed range lands in the district are those more sandy lands, that absorb water more readily. In an excellent or good condition they may contain blue grama, side oats grama, hairy grama, black grama, little blue stem, Indian grass, and switch grass in unlimited amounts, with buffalo grass, three awn, sand dropseed and tabosa grass making up about one-third of the cover.

In fair or poor condition, these grasses will be in less abundance and show less vigor and an invasion of annual weeds, and less desirable grasses will take their places with a great infestation of yucca and sagebrush. To improve the condition of a range or pasture, a farmer should pick out his most desirable grasses, find out about their growth habits, and manage grazing so that they are allowed to make a seed crop every year or so.

It is never a good practice to graze more than half of the current year's growth of these more desirable grasses.

A good method of determining the carrying capacity of a pasture is to select a spot where conditions are average, measure off a plot 3.1 feet square, clip all the vegetation on the spot and weigh it in grams. The weight in grams multiplied by ten times are the pounds of forage an acre has produced.

The figure divided by the number of pounds of forage (20 or 30 pounds) a cow will eat per day will give the number of days that an acre will last for a cow.

Carrot Men Seek 100 More Acres

Carrot men of Friona Growers & Shippers, vegetable processing firm, are interested in increasing acreage in the area "by about another 100 acres," announced Kenneth Neill, this week.

Neill suggested carrots as a possibility for area farmers who either have not decided what to plant their land to, or who have been washed out or hailed out in earlier plantings.

"You can plant carrots 'til about July 10-July 15," Neill said. The growers already have put in about 225 acres, and most of them are up and looking "awfully good."

If they can secure an additional 100 acres, there will be 425 acres planted to carrots for the Friona shed this year.

Parmer County Is a Land of 1,000 Lakes

By W. H. Graham Jr.
Minnesotans proudly brag that they are the state "with 10,000 lakes." Whether anyone has ever counted that many is subject to conjecture, but there's no doubt that they have plenty of that valuable commodity, water.

County with 1,000 Lakes." Of course, like most Texas tales, this one has a catch to it, and the catch to this story is that most of the "lakes" of Plains counties stay dry most of the time. However, that's typical, to a greater or lesser degree, of even the rivers in this part of the country, so maybe the claim isn't so absurd after all.

Residents of the irrigated portions of the High Plains, and Parmer County in particular, have had good reason to do a little bragging themselves about the amount of water they have on tap—but their bragging has been limited to the underground variety.

What is the explanation behind all of the lakes?

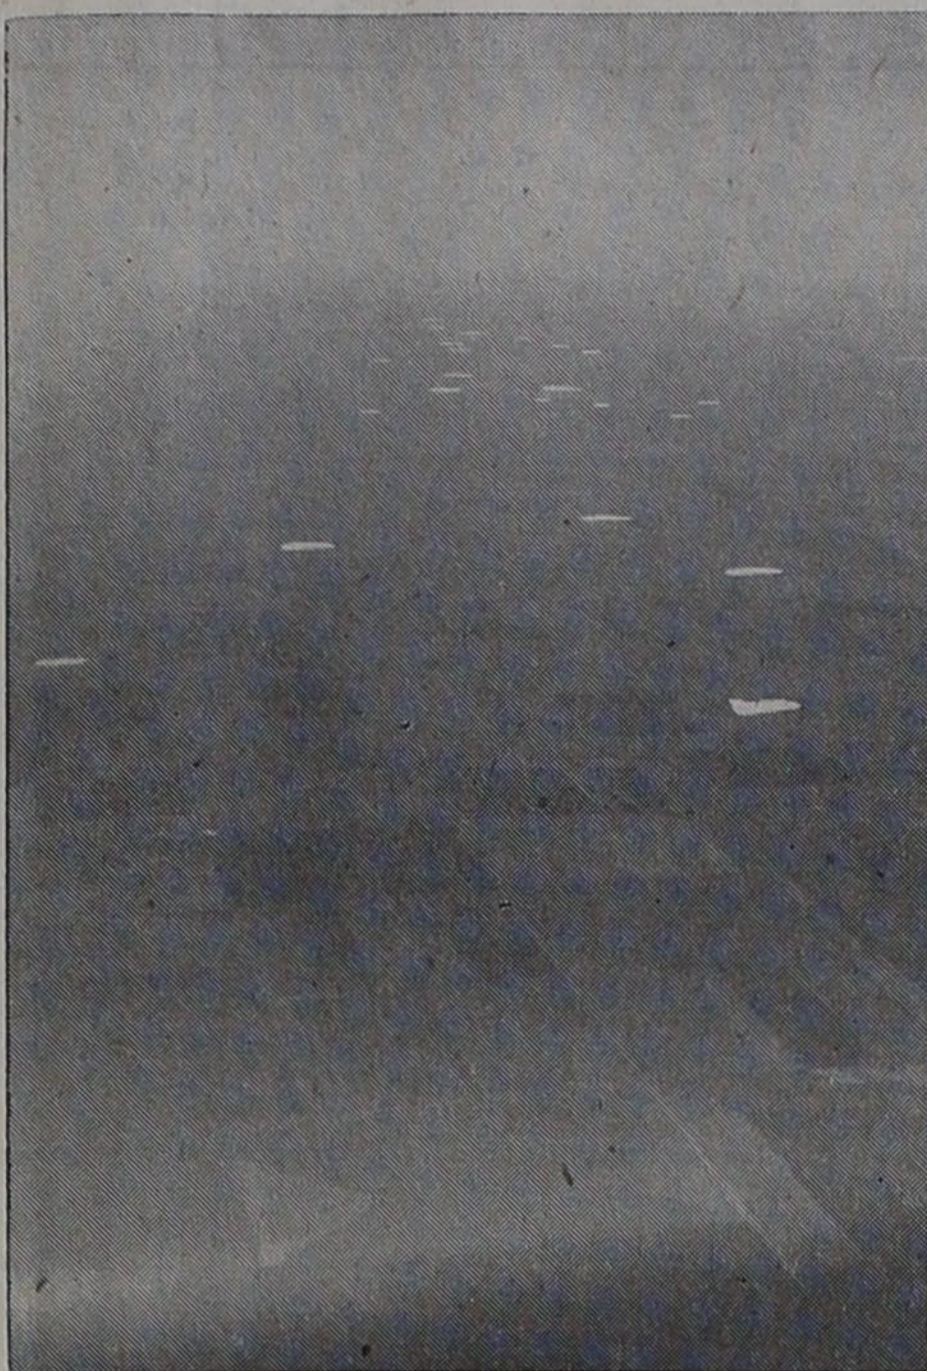

Parmer County has more water in storage than any other county in Texas. The 1955 inventory was 13,600,000 acre feet, as a matter of record.

If you're not well versed in geology, it might be hard to explain a question like that, but even the amateur student of the land can see that the High Plains is a tremendously vast chunk, bounded by the Pecos River on the west, the Canadian River on the north and the "caprock" on the east. What's more, for all practical purposes, this sizeable piece of the Southwest is flat.

Now come the statisticians who are giving us a new kind of brag, though. If Minnesota thinks it's flying with 10,000 lakes, then it ought to look at the Plains of the Southwest, which will, under close inspection, reveal more than 35,000 lakes right here in the dry Southwest!

Oh, sure. Everybody who lives here knows that the land really isn't flat, and that the undulating fields give irrigation farmers all kinds of trouble, and that the entire Plains is tilted so that it gradually slopes to the southeast, making the difference between the western side and the eastern side about

Parmer County's share of this phenomenon is something on the order of 1,100 puddles—so a motto for ourselves might well be, "The

1,000 feet in altitude.

But don't forget that if you could "back off" from everything and look at the High Plains, comparing them with the Rolling Plains to the east and south, they would, in actuality, be flat as a table top.

The Canadian River slices through the middle of the Plains, separating them into the northern and southern tiers. It's the southern Plains that we're mostly concerned with here, of course.

While scores of draws appear on the Plains' surface, and they carry some water from time to time, there isn't a single river or draw or creek or any developed drainage area of any kind that carries any significant amount of water from the Plains.

The water that falls from the skies onto the Plains stays here—kerplunk. It moves around a little, dribbling into the draws, into the bar ditches, and into the thousands of "wet weather" lakes we have, but it doesn't leave us.

Without any drainage development of any consequence, therefore, the Plains has become a land of thousands of lakes, with small depressions dotting the landscape like stars in the skies.

Most of the time, these ponds or lakes are dry. Whenever there's any significant rainfall, however, they hold water, and some keep water in them the year around.

That's why farmers in recent years have shown great interest in these potential sources of water supply, and are seeking to put the lakes to good use.

These lakes, when they have water in them, can be utilized in a number of interesting ways. First, they can be "siphoned" with centrifugal pumps to supplement the water ordinarily taken from beneath the ground to water crops.

Or, they may be used in that manner and also be depended upon for recharge of existing wells when it is not desirable to use the water somewhere on the surface.

Hydrologists of the High Plains Water District figure that the water standing in these lakes in an average year will be about a million and one half acre feet. The typical lake will cover about 30 acres.

The shame of all this is that studies indicate that about 90 percent of all water that drains into these ponds is lost to evaporation. The low humidity readings common on the Plains, plus the constant winds, wring water out of the lakes at a surprising rate.

If the area that these thousands of lakes take out of cultivation should be added up, it would total tens of thousands of acres, but really, this is not a big problem, since there is still plenty of land left to farm on the Plains, in most instances.

However, in years to come, when a need for expanding the agricultural plant is seen, it may be felt that the rich land that now is put out of cultivation by the often-dry lakes should be reclaimed.

A jackass rarely brays with his tail down.
