Times sure have changed

It's always fun to look back at old city ordinances, regardless of where you live.

Texico is in the midst of updating their ordinances. They probably will get rid of some that no longer have any meaning, while altering others that need updating.

I got a copy of the list of ordinances last week and found them most interesting. What it showed was how a community can change over the years.

For example, among the earliest Texico ordinances was one listing "Bawdy House Regulations and Penalties." Kind of liberal, huh?

Later, though, came ordinances putting penalties on bawdy houses, and a prohibition against loitering in saloons on Sundays.

Still later came an ordinance prohibiting minors from entering saloons, then ordinances prohibiting gambling and requiring businesses to be closed on Sundays. Getting conservative.

Then came ordinances prohibiting card playing, public dances and drunkenness. Texico was changing.

More recent ordinances were ones you would expect, vacating certain streets and alleys, requiring health certificates for food handlers, etc.

Looking back at those old ordinances, especially ones from 1908, were most interesting.

Like the one on bawdy houses, ordinance No. 14. "It's unlawful for the master or mistress of any bawdy house to permit any prostitute to remain in their place for a longer period than 24 hours unless the above named prostitute has a permit from the Clerk..."

See, even then, government had its hand in the till. Here's another one from 1908:

"Any person who shall aid, countenance or assist in making any riot, disturbance or other improper diversion or shall fight in any public place in the said town or who shall be guilty of indecent or immoral or insulting conduct, language or behavior in the street or elsewhere in the said town, or who may remain prostrate in the streets or elsewhere in the said town, and all persons who shall collect in crowds in said towns for unlawful purposes or to the annoyance or disturbance of the citizens, shall for every such offense be punished by a fine not less than $5..."

Ordinance No. 1, the first ever passed in Texico, dealt with city scavenger and sanitary regulations. These included:

- "All persons whether owners, renters, leasees or users of any property in the Town of Texico where there may be any privy or water closet are hereby required to clean and purify the same every 30 days or more often if necessary. Such purifying to be done at night and lime shall be kept and used in all water closets..."

- "It shall be unlawful for any person to deposit or throw or permit to remain any slops or waste water, feathers, refuse, rubbish, manure or other unwholesome thing in or upon these streets or alley and it shall be the duty of the scavenger of the Town of Texico to inspect said town regularly every 30 days..."

The ordinance that brought the biggest smile to my face was Ordinance No. 2. It dealt with dogs running loose.

Some things don't change...

Did you hear the news of the huge hike in second class postage that goes into effect in April?

That means the Post Office is putting another huge bite

Arguelles faces drug charge

Pedro Puente Arguelles Sr., a former Farwell area resident who moved to rural Portales last year and lists his occupation as a horse trainer, was arrested March 19 in a major drug raid near Zapata, in southern Texas.

Arguelles, 53, has been charged with possession of narcotics with intent to distribute after law enforcement agencies raided a ranch and uncovered 535 pounds of pure cocaine, with a street value of $90 million, according to Hobbs, N.M., Police Chief Steve Lasater.

Lasater said he believed it was the largest drug seizure ever in Texas.

Six persons were arrested in the raid by law enforcement personnel from Hobbs, Lea County, the FBI and Texas narcotics agents. Arguelles is being held in Laredo, Texas, without bond, pending a court appearance.

Lasater said 2 boats, 1 houseboat, 3 vehicles, 4 handguns and the ranch were seized.

Lasater thanked the Parmer County Sheriff's Office for its cooperation in the 3-month investigation.

Parmer County Sheriff Bill Morgan said police began checking on Arguelles, who moved to a site just east of Farwell in 1982, in 1984. The checks intensified within the past 18 months. "People think you're not doing anything, but trying to get the big law enforcement people involved - who have the facilities - takes time," said Morgan. "We don't have the money to fly around and check all these things."

Morgan said he didn't believe major drug trafficking was taking place here. "They were staying clear of here," he said.

Morgan said the other law enforcement agencies would call his office and say, "We need this..." and we would try to comply. All the agencies worked together."

Texico disbands plan commission

The Texico City Council voted 2-1 Tuesday to disband the city planning and zoning commission.

In favor of eliminating the group were Doyal LaRue and Steve Chancy. Opposed was Butch Sharp.

Chancy explained that he felt the commission had done a very good job but that city residents expect the City Council to make decisions on variances so the commission is not necessary.

It was noted that the commission had problems getting a quorum.

After the vote, LaRue said he still had misgivings about completely eliminating the commission. LaRue suggested sending letters of appreciation to the former commission members. He then made a motion to establish a planning committee for long-range planning, but it died for lack of a second.

The council will use state guidelines on dealing with variance requests, including sending letters of intent to adjacent property owners. In other business, the council:

- Discussed the codification of city ordinances. City Attorney Duane Hamar has been putting the ordinances into booklet form. Soon, the council will go through the ordinances, deciding which ones to delete and which ones to alter if necessary.

- Discussed a computer system for the utility billing. City employees will contact computer companies to look at their systems, then report back to the council. It's needed to go on line by July 1 when the utility rate hikes take effect.

- Heard a request from the Burger Barn for the alley to be cleaned in back of it. The city will clean its property.

- Received six bids for remodeling City Hall. They ranged from a high of $40,140 to a low (by Heart Enterprises of Texico) of $21,753. The council said that the specifications for the job hadn't been written adequately so all bids were rejected.

The council will try to get a person to help set up clearer requirements, then rebid the job.

Candidates file for local posts

Candidates have filed for several local contests this spring.

The deadline for filing was Wednesday. The elections will be May 7.

Here's how the ballots will look:

Farwell City Council

This looks like a quiet election since only three candidates filed for the three council posts.

Filing were Martin Welling and incumbents Fred Chandler and Martin Kube.

Councilwoman Liz Phillips announced last week she would not seek re-election.

Farwell School Board

There are four school board posts on the ballot. They include 3 three-year posts and one 2-year post (due to the resignation of Ed Corn earlier this year).

Filing for the 2-year post were James Chadwick and Joe Schilling. Schilling is an incumbent board member.

Filing for the 3 three-year posts were Margaret Aycok, Virginia Loera, Willie Roberts and incumbents Doyle Johnson and Steve Kaltwasser.

Lazbuddie School Board

There are four candidates for the four board posts. All are incumbents - Nicky Nickels, Mike Miller, Bobby Redwine and Phil Brockman.

Farwell Hospital Board

The four incumbents whose posts are on the ballot all filed for re-election: Bert Williams, Frances Kube, Troy Christian and Tom Nichols.

Blanton: Keep watch for Russian wheat aphids

by Mike Blanton
County Entomologist

The return of warm weather is bringing with it the return of the Russian wheat aphid.

Farmers across the High Plains need to keep close watch on their fields. The Russian wheat aphid first appeared in the U.S. in March of 1986 near Muleshoe. Since then it has spread into 14 western states of the Great Plains. Its economic impact on farmers in this area has been estimated at some $50 million.

Dr. Tom Archer, research entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, has monitored research plots of Russian wheat aphids. Numbers of these pests declined during the cold winter months of January and February; however, they have increased significantly in the last three weeks. Populations are expected to continue to increase into May.

According to Dr. Pat Morrison, Extension Entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Russian wheat aphid overwinters on wheat and certain other host plants both as mature and immature females. There are no males in the population. They give birth to living young and therefore have the ability to reproduce rather rapidly.

In 1987, the aphid had a tremendous rate of increase during the month of April. The pest appears to more heavily infest stressed wheat and is often worse in dryland wheat. Russian wheat aphids are often found at the base of the upper-most leaf of the tiller. Feeding by this pest causes leaves to roll together from the edges, concealing the aphids inside. Infested leaves and tillers develop long white streaks and may turn purple in response to Russian aphid feeding. This is the result of a powerful toxin injected into the leaves as the pest feeds.

Morrison said that economic treatment levels have not been determined for wheat grown in the U.S. A general guideline is to consider treatment when 10 percent of the plants are infested at the growth stage when the first nodes of the stem are visible.

If heavy reinfestation occurs following treatment, a second application is recommended when the flag leaf is first visible and 10 percent of the tillers are infested.

Most damage is done between the time when the flag leaf first appears and the head is first visible. Treatment strategy is aimed at protecting the flag leaf because of the major contribution it makes to the eventual yield.

Growers need to consider grazing and yield potential when making treatment decisions. In some cases, it might not be profitable to treat with insecticides.

Over the last two weeks, I have had two Russian wheat aphid infestation of 5 to 80 percent in Parmer and Bailey counties. The pest was present in 90 percent of the fields scouted; however, the level of infestation varied from field to field.

Several registered systemic insecticides are effective in controlling the pest, Morrison said. Systemic insecticides are needed because the aphids are inside the curled leaves and are protected from contact insecticides. He urged growers to consult the insecticide label for small grain restrictions because grazing and pre-harvest intervals vary for each product.

John Good to speak at banquet

John Good, district manager for Waste Control of New Mexico, will be the guest speaker at this year's Texico Chamber of Commerce banquet.

The banquet will be at 7 p.m. MST April 19 at the school cafeteria. Tickets are available from Chamber members, including John R. Hadley, Charlotte Pierce, James Pierce and Ann Cooper.

The Chamber met Monday to finalize plans for the banquet. Waste Control has a facility in Texico and handles pickups in the city.

Cleanup day set April 8

There will be a cleanup day at the Texico-Farwell baseball field on April 9 to prepare for the baseball season.

It will begin at 9 a.m. for all those interested in the Texico-Farwell Youth Baseball League.

The board of directors of the summer baseball program wants the opinions of the families involved in baseball before they plan the season. They sent questionnaires out to the families through the local schools. The form asked for the names and ages of the students that would be playing ball.

Parents were asked their opinions about coed teams. Parents were asked if they would consider coaching a team, and they were asked their opinion about double-header night ball games if there are not four teams in each league.

The questionnaire may be filled out by any parent, even if their child is not going to play this year.

The baseball season is set to run from May 2- June 24 with games on Mondays and Thursdays. If there is a separate girls' league, it will play on Tuesdays and Fridays.

The league is available to children who will be 7 years old through 14 years old by Aug. 1, 1988.

Postage

on newspapers. And that means all newspapers will have to raise their rates to pay for the hike.

So when you get your next annual subscription bill and wonder why it's higher and where the extra money is going, look no further than the Post Office.

The March edition of Rural Electrification magazine has an article about Fisher County where local farmers are "farming" mesquite, cacti, and cotton burrs.

Instead of importing an industry from outside, the county leaders decided to build upon what was available in the county. They found that the native mesquite could be chipped, bagged, and sold to restaurants that feature mesquite-grilled steaks.

Cotton burrs could be fashioned into wreaths or compacted to make fireplace logs. Cactus and other native plants could be marketed to landscaping nurseries.

They also found that the abundant low cost housing in the area could be made into an attractive retirement area.

Each of the projects listed above used available resources without requiring large capital investments from outside the community. That means that potential profits from the project will remain in the community instead of going out of town.

Recently, we had the opportunity to learn about an industry which is being tried in the area - wineries.

Llano Estacado Winery is located near Lubbock, and La Escarbada XIT Winery is located in Hereford.

These wineries purchase grapes from growers within about a 60 mile radius of the wineries. Some growers are located within our readership area.

The wine industry in our area is a rather new one. Llano Estacado Winery started about a decade ago as a commercial experiment, and La Escarbada is newer than that. Since it takes grapes about 2 years to start producing and about 5 years to reach maturity, it is obvious that neither winery has had many seasons of production.

Both wineries have won awards for their products, and the wine from Llano Estacado has even been served at the White House.

The hot days and cool nights on the high plains are very good for some varieties of grapes. All they need is plenty of water.

Currently most growers are testing small plots of grapes. The local growers do not have the mechanized harvesting equipment that California growers use, so it would not be practical for them to plant acres and acres of grapes here at this time.

The local wineries have aimed at producing fine wines. They have proven that they can produce award winning products. They do not try to compete with California producers on price.

Local producers will have to work hard if they want to compete with producers in California and New York who are already marketing good wines at low prices.

If you noticed, we had the wrong date for the deadline for filing for the school elections in issues earlier this month (we corrected it last week).

Show given

The confirmation class at St. John Lutheran Church presented a puppet show Sunday. Participating in the presentation were: Shawn Haseloff, Derrick Haseloff, and Sharla Lingnau.

The wrong date had come from the Texas Association of School Administrators. Nobody's perfect.

We got a letter from Will Anderson this week. He's still in the Persian Gulf, keeping out of the Iraqi and Irani missile fusilades. Sometime this year, he'll be returning stateside, maybe to Rhode Island.

Will told us that one of the frigates on Gulf duty is USS Jack Williams.

"I always just call her 'Jack Williams' because 'The Jack Williams' was my principal for years and years back there in Farwell, and there will never be any other! Boy, when anyone who went to Farwell schools in the last 40-odd years talks about 'The Jack Williams', there can be no other, I guarantee!"

Rumor of the Week: One of our local, excellent ministers will be leaving soon.

Bible prophecy movie to be shown

"A Thief in the Night," a movie about Bible prophecy from Mark IV Pictures of Iowa, will be shown at the First Baptist Church of Farwell at 7 p.m. Sunday. It is a dramatic portrayal of what could happen when Jesus Christ returns. This suspenseful story centers around a young woman caught up in living for the present, with little concern about the future. What happens when this thinking finally catches up with her provides an action-packed drama. The fast-moving pace evolves into increasingly tense moments as the Rapture predicted in Bible prophecy takes place, leaving the young woman, played by Patty Dunning-Risinger, in a world which forces her to make a choice: either for a life of fleeing the inevitable sufferings and death; or for UNITE, a new world government which rejects Jesus Christ and forces citizens to receive the "mark" warned against by God. Suspense builds to a thought-provoking climax as she faces the consequences of her choice. The movie portrays the Biblical predictions, "There will be no place to hide" (Rev. 20:11). "A Thief in the Night" was given the "Best Film of the Year" award by the National Evangelical Film Foundation of Valley Forge, Pa. Risinger received the "Outstanding Female Actress" award.

Deaf Smith Co-op re-elects Martin

A large turnout was present at the annual Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative annual meeting. More than 1,350 folks attended.

Guest speaker was Cong. Larry Combest who gave an update on the presence of U.S. soldiers in Nicaragua. He voiced his support for the Contras, fighting against the Nicaraguan Sandanista regime.

Combest said he had voted against the $700 billion appropriation bill that was turned in to the House of Representatives (with 1 copy of the 1,000-page document available for each political party) one hour before the vote was taken.

Combest said he has been fighting last week to repeal a diesel tax on off-road vehicles and it appeared Congress would go along. The tax hike is included in the massive appropriations bill that was passed.

He also complimented Deaf Smith as being recognized as one of the best in the nation.

Three directors were re-elected to the board: Donald Wright, of Castro County; Clark Andrews, of Frio, and Clarence Martin, of Friona.

Wright was unopposed. Andrews defeated Dale Kleuskens. Martin defeated Dennis Anthony.

Martin and his brother operate a farming and ranching business consisting of irrigated and dryland farming that produces wheat, corn, cotton and milo. He is a member of the Friona Chamber of Commerce, a director of the National Grain Sorghum Producers Board, a committeeman of the National Cattleman's Association and is owner, director and officer of West Friona Grain.

In the annual report, the cooperative anticipates a reduction in the cost of its wholesale power. This will mean a reduced power cost to members of about 5 percent.

There was a dramatic loss of revenue (as was the case with all electric co-ops) due to several factors: government programs that removed irrigated land from production, a generally depressed farm economy and a wet spring and fall.

For each dollar of the 1987 electric bill, 69 cents was spent for wholesale power; interest, tax and depreciation, 13 cents; operating and maintenance, 17 cents, and margin, 1 cent (down from 4 cents in 1986).

Capital credits of $400,000 was returned. 1987 receipts, above the cost of operation, were $103,583. Total liabilities and net worth were $22,019,661.

Also recognized at the dinner was Gerald McCathern, a co-op member since 1952, who is the Democratic nominee for the U.S. House of Representatives seat held by Combest.

The invocation was given by co-op board member Wendol Christian, of rural Farwell.

If it takes energy to do it, LP-gas can get it done more efficiently.

Producing energy for your home is a pretty costly process in terms of natural resources. For instance, it takes a lot of coal, or oil, or natural gas to make electricity. And in the process, over 60% of the natural energy is wasted. LP-gas on the other hand, utilizes energy more efficiently because 100% of it is put to work. So when you heat, dry clothes or cook with LP-gas, you're actually helping to conserve America's energy resources. Come by and let us show you how using LP-gas around the house or farm can help you to save money. And stop wasting America's resources.

Farwell Convalescent Center Chit Chat By Lynne Gann Activity Director

We have, at long last, obtained a storage shed! To some of you, this may not be such an exciting event, but to us it's no more rakes, shovels, snow shovels, hoes, ladders, step ladders, saws, etc., in the way in the one and only storage room. Jim is putting shelves in our shed so we can put away the boxes of necessities everyone must have for spare parts, water sprinkler parts, door knobs, so on and so gone. Housekeeping can hardly wait to have room for vacuum cleaners, buffers and cleaning carts.

With the lovely weather we have had, we thought we would start a few flowers to grow in our rooms. Steve Breckenridge has been so kind as to save baby food jars so we could plant our seeds and maybe with the sun warming our window sills, we can add a bit of colorful beauty to our rooms. Anyone with suggestions on easy to grow flowers (blooming small plants), please pass them one. If they have a lovely fragrance, so much the better. Wonder if this is the beginning of spring fever?

March is National Poison Prevention Month

This is a good time for everyone to review poison prevention in your households. Consider these facts. Each year an estimated 500,000 children will be the victim of accidental poisoning. Aspirin is the most common cause of accidental poisoning. Most poisonings occur while the product is in use. Below are some ideas to "poison proof" your home.

1. Keep household products and medicines out of reach and out of sight of children, preferably in a locked cabinet or closet. Even if you must leave the room for only an instant, remove the container to a safe spot.
2. Store medicines separately from other household products and keep these items in their original containers - never in cups or soft drink bottles.
3. Be sure that all products are properly labelled, and read the label before using.
4. Always turn the light on when giving or taking medicine.
5. Since children tend to imitate adults, avoid taking medications in their presence.
6. Refer to medicines by their proper names. They are not candies.
7. Clean out your medicine cabinet periodically. Get rid of old medicines by flushing them down the drain and then discard the container.

Even the safest households can have an accidental poisoning occur. Everyone should have a fresh supply of Syrup of Ipecac available for emergency use. Syrup of Ipecac should only be used on the advice of a health professional. Also, the following telephone numbers should be readily available: your family doctor, your local hospital, the police department and your Poison Control Center.

For your convenience, the Poison Control Center telephone numbers are: New Mexico - 1-800-432-6866; Texas - 1-800-392-8548. Your local Poison Control Center is also a good source of drug information.

If you would like more information concerning poison prevention, please call or stop by United Drug of Farwell. We care about your health.

Annexation to be voted on

Parmer County voters will have an opportunity to go to the polls April 2 to ratify the annexation of a portion of eastern Crosby County into the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. - 7 p.m. at the Parmer County Courthouse in Farwell. Corolla Smith will be the presiding judge.

The proposed Crosby County addition includes the parts of County Commissioners Pcts. 1, 2 and 4 located above the Caprock. The western precinct of Crosby County above the Caprock joined the Water District in April 1969.

Residents of the Crosby County annexation area will be asked to approve a maximum tax rate of $.05 per $100 assessed valuation, even though the current Water District tax rate is $.007 per $100 valuation. This will provide the same maximum tax rate previously approved by residents of the Water District in 1951. The annual tax rate is set by the Water District's Board of Directors and levied uniformly throughout the District.

The Water District Board called the elections after receiving petitions and hearing testimony from Crosby County landowners in January and February.

Separate elections for the proposed annexation area and for the 15-county area now served by the Water District are required by the Texas Water Code. A majority vote favoring the annexation in both elections is required before the proposed area can be added to the Water District.

Easter Sunrise Service set

On April 3 there will be an Easter Sunrise Service at Farwell City Park starting at 7 a.m.

This annual service is a joint service between the congregations of the First Baptist Church and the Hamlin United Methodist Church of Farwell.

The message will be delivered by Rev. Steve Stephens. The music will be provided by the choir of the First Baptist Church.

There will be fellowship and refreshments at the First Baptist Church following the service.

"Easter Sunday is the day we change the clocks this year, and we sure hope that we have planned the service so that the sun rises near the end of the service," said Rev. Stephens.

'Plan would hurt service'

Postmaster Otis McMillan noted that the U.S. Post office is contemplating a proposition to allow any carrier to bid for the right to deliver mail. The theory is that the cheapest carrier would be the best carrier. McMillan says this would greatly diminish the control of the post office over the delivery, hence the quality of the service in some areas would likely diminish. Currently, the postal service regulations are strictly enforced, and violators face federal sentences when they commit crimes.

The proposed breakup and sale of delivery routes would also cause special problems for rural areas like our own.

The Farwell Post Office serves 900 widely spaced rural locations on its rural routes. The carrier bidding for the delivery route here would have to keep his bid in line with the bids of urban delivery prices. In urban areas the delivery points are much closer together. It takes more time and more fuel to go from delivery point to delivery point here than it does in a city. The result would be another blow to the rural area.

McMillan suggests postal patrons write to their congressmen and voice their opposition to the proposed bidding for mail routes.

Director to be elected

The Parmer County cotton producers and agribusinessmen will elect a businessman director to Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. at an 8 a.m. breakfast meeting March 28 at Luce's Restaurant, Farwell.

Announcement of the election comes from Bert Williams of Farwell, Parmer County Producer Director to the 25-county cotton organization, and Donald Christian, also of Farwell, current businessman director.

Each of the counties in PCG territory has two directors, one a businessman, and the other a cotton producer. They are elected on alternate years for two-year terms. Each is eligible for re-election every second year.

All producers and businessmen are invited to the meeting. However, under PCG by-laws, only current dues-paying members of PCG will be eligible to be elected a director or to vote in the election. This provision of the by-laws will be fully explained at the meeting.

A PCG staff member will conduct the election and review and answer questions about recent and planned PCG activities.

Shirley Schubinger of Dallas, retirement account specialist with Summit Savings Association, met with area residents March 17 at the association office in Farwell. She discussed IRA regulations and procedures for establishing SEP/IRA plans for self-employed persons and small businesses and advantages those plans might have for local farmers and business people. She is shown with visitor Weldon Rainey.

Lazbuddie administrators Joe Hall, Roy Willingham, and Ann Farris each hold one of the scholarship plaques for the new Lazbuddie scholarships.

Scholarships funded in memory of three

In the past year, the Lazbuddie community was touched by three tragic deaths of young people:

Russell Scott Redwine, Phillip Jesko, and David Dale Seaton.

The community has responded by founding memorial scholarship funds in honor of each young man.

The interest from each scholarship fund will provide a scholarship for a deserving Lazbuddie graduate.

Applicants for the scholarships will have to fill out a written application. Recipients will be chosen on the basis of character, citizenship, financial need, over-all academic grade average, participation in school activities, and future goals and plans of the applicant.

Recipients may be graduating seniors or past graduates of Lazbuddie High School. The names of the recipients will be engraved upon plaques displayed permanently at Lazbuddie High School.

The trustees of the David

Dale Seaton Memorial Scholarship Fund are: Jimmy Dale Seaton, Rickie Seaton, Anne Farris, Joe Hall, and Hardy Carlyle. There will always be at least one member of the David Dale Seaton family on the board.

The trustees of the Russell Scott Redwine Memorial Scholarship Fund are: Harrol Redwine, Charlotte Redwine, Anne Farris, Joe Hall and Melvin Morris. There will always be at least one member of the Russell Redwine family on the board.

The trustees of the Phillip B. Jesko Memorial Scholarship Fund are: Larry Jesko, Sherri Jesko, Ann Farris, Joe Hall, and Darrell Mason.

Vacancies on the board of trustees of these funds will be filled by the remaining trustees.

Tax deductible donations to any one or all of these scholarship funds may be made by sending a check made out to the designated scholarship fund in care of Lazbuddie schools, Lazbuddie, Texas.

57 attend Lazbuddie adult basic education program

Lazbuddie's Adult Basic Education Program started with 14 people on the class roster in January. They now have 57 attending.

"Every night we are getting more people," said teacher Diane Hernandez. "First we had to hire an aide, Teresa Valencia, and then we had to hire a second teacher, Janet Elliott," she added.

Lazbuddie offers a beginning class which stresses basic spoken English and phonics, and an advanced English class where reading and writing are stressed.

"Our primary goals are to help the students become literate and to pass their residency exams," said Ms. Hernandez.

Ms. Hernandez said that the program has had some unexpected side effects. "We see some changes in the children whose parents are coming to the classes. The children are proud of their parents, and they are excited about their parents learning.

"The parents become more involved in their children's work. They try to encourage their children to read more. And the parents find out more about what is happening in the school their children attend."

The classes help to build better rapport within the Lazbuddie community. The adults attending the classes begin to feel that Lazbuddie school is their school.

March 25-26 Farwell participates in tennis tournament in Plainview.

Saturday, March 26 Farwell Junior, Texico Junior and Senior high schools participate in Texico Invitational track meet.
