'Temptation' has a message

I know, I know I'm being lazy. But when your spouse offers a voluntary column how can I say no?

So here's some opinion from Judy:

One of the enjoyable things we did recently when we attended the Texas Press Association's Winter Trade Show in Dallas, was to see a new play, "Temptation," by VACLAV HAVEL, the president of Czechoslovakia. As a playwright, Havel is a true politician more than a playwright. "Temptation" was written before the revolutionary acts of the past few months. It was scheduled by the Dallas theater group last July, before the massive changes in the Communist Block. I hope that the play reflects Havel's insecurities about dealing with the Communist bureaucracy rather than the amorality it projects.

"Temptation" is an existentialist view of the legend of Faust. As you know, Faust was a legendary professor and sorcerer who lived in Germany during the 1400's who was accused of dealing with the devil. Marlowe's version of the legend of Faust has him go straight to hell in the end. About a century ago, a different version of the legend of Faust was written by Johann Wolfgang von Goethe. In his version Faust deals with the devil, but he is redeemed at the end because he shows love and compassion toward his fellow man. People sometimes rioted when they first saw Goethe's version of Faust because they thought Goethe was too soft on the sinner, Faust. They all wanted Faust to end up in hell.

Havel's version of the legend of Faust is an existentialist view right in line with Nietzsche, Sartre, and Camus. In their world, there is no good; there is no evil - each is simply the flip side of the other. There is no heaven; there is no hell. Life is just what we make of it here on earth.

As a politician, Havel was telling everyone that he is a man who can find good in anyone, and who can deal with anyone - a true politician's viewpoint. His Communist bloc character is no better and no worse than his hamburger-eating, Marilyn Monroe-loving capitalist character. All his characters (except one who goes crazy) lie, cheat, and steal.

"Temptation" is a play that tells the Czech people to be wary of everyone and everything. It tells them not to look for quick solutions to problems. It tells them that there will be imperfections in any system because all systems are designed by human beings. It was a good play for the pre-revolutionary period when messages had to be veiled, or the playwright might be jailed for his views.

What is lacking in "Temptation," is the dream of the future that will be necessary to forge a new nation. There is not much hope in "Temptation"; there is no call to action. Every nation must forge a national viewpoint to get people to work as one in accomplishing tasks. There Dara Jenkins and Chad Dunsworth received the Grand Champion plaques for the Junior and Senior divisions, respectively, of the Texico Science Fair. They were presented by Mrs. Maben.

Dunsworth, Jenkins top science fair

Here are the results of last week's Texico Science Fair:

Senior Division

The Grand Champion was Chad Dunsworth. Reserve Champion was Marsha Hamilton.

Behavioral and Social Sciences - "Science Fairs: Past, Present, and Future," Brandon Schauf, 1st; "Are You A Sexist?," Lorissa Pate, 2nd; "Analysis," Daniel Madrid, 3rd.

Botany - "Chemicals and Wheat," Marsha Hamilton, 1st; "Pesticides and Herbicides on Wheat," Justin Bollinger, 2nd; "Acid Rain Affects Plants," Jory McIntosh, 3rd.

Chemistry - "Which Enzyme Digests Carbohydrates and Proteins?" Steven Horner, 1st; "How Water and Alcohol Affect Oil," Sandra Hernandez, 2nd; "Electroplating," Jack Garcia, 3rd.

Computer Science - "Computer Graphics," Jerome Rennhack, 1st; "Computers," Kenny Shaw, 2nd.

Earth and Space - "Nature Purifies Water," Louie Delgado, 2nd.

Engineering - Chanda Campbell, 1st; Greg Akers, 2nd; Bill Rogers, 3rd.

Medicine and Health - "Acids and Bases in Medicine," Jessica Gutierrez, 1st; "Aspirin in Drugs," Josefe Gonzales, 2nd; "Which Mouthwash Kills Bacteria Best?" DeAnn Ritch, 3rd.

Physics - "Aerodynamics & How It Affects Speed," Charles Williams, 1st; "Aerodynamics," Anthony Garcia, 2nd; "Resistance in Electricity," Richard Stephens, 3rd.

Zoology - "Were Dinosaurs Warm-Blooded?" Chad Dunsworth, 1st; "Yeasts," Amber Bruce, 2nd; "What Life Does Soil Contain?" Melissa Nesbitt, 3rd.

Groups (Ineligible for further competition as a group project)

"Memory: Young vs. Old," M. Eaton / A. Morrison, 1st; "Flamability of Fabrics," R. Freed / D. Smith, 2nd; "How Pollutants Affect Yeast," S. Byrum and T. Smith, 2nd.

Only the first three places were listed this year because some students did not show up at the appointed time to explain their projects to the judges. There was a hog show and a solo and ensemble contest going on at the same time. It was felt that the judges' ratings did not always reflect the merit of the projects that without explanation to the judges.

Junior Division

Grand Champion was Dara Jenkins. Reserve Champion was Misty Barnes.

Chemistry - "Acids and Bases," Tonya Chavez, 3rd. Botany - "Effect of Magnetic Poles on Plant Growth," Nathan Ketterling, 1st; "House Plants and Their Reaction to Sunlight," Brandi Williams, 2nd; "How Chemicals Affect Plants," Luis Trillo, 3rd.

Engineering - "Telegraph," Joey Winkles, 1st. Environmental Science - "Soil Erosion," Jody Chadwick, 1st; "Water Purification by Boiling," Teresa Juarez, 2nd; "Environment/ Mold Growth," 3rd, Kelley Delgado.

Earth and Space - "What is the Composition of Soil," Misty Barnes, 1st; "Planets," Jeremy Stanton and Tony Rennhack, 2nd; "Organic Farming," Lindsay Kittrell, 3rd.

Medicine and Health - "Adolescent Fears," Jessica Romero, 1st; "Drug Effects," Lisa Pierce and Andrea Montano, 2nd; "Effects of Smoking," Brandon Rodarte, 3rd.

Microbiology - "Effects of Mouthwash on Bacteria," Chesna Campbell, 1st; "Molds," Jarrod Barfield, 2nd; "Mold Growth," Ricky Guss and Jerry Martin, 3rd.

Physics - "How Gears Change Speed and Power," Jerod Servatius, 1st; "Fluid Attraction," Joni Pate, 2nd; "Solar Energy," Ryan Howell, 3rd.

Zoology - "How Drugs Affect the Heart," Dana Jenkins, 1st; "Model of the Eye," Kelly Cooper, 2nd; "Causes and Effects of Sickle Cell Anemia," Terrie Askew, 3rd.

Groups (ineligible for further competition as a group project) - "Seed Germination," D. Dictson and C. Clark, 1st; "Crystals," P. McIntosh and S. Salguero, 2nd; "Antiseptics," A. La Frenz and L. Maga, 3rd.

Area man charged in cocaine case

The Parmer County Sheriff's Department, the Bovina Police Department, and the Clovis Canine Unit cooperated in the arrest of a suspect Tuesday night who allegedly possessed about $10,000 worth of cocaine at the time of arrest.

Gonzalo Reyna, 53, of the Bovina area, was arraigned Wednesday morning before Justice of the Peace Louise Hancock on a charge of delivery of a controlled substance.

Bond was set at $50,000 and the case is pending before the grand jury.

The law enforcement officers put the suspects' rural Parmer County residence under surveillance several days ago. They monitored the person carefully. At the time of arrest, they used the canine unit to search the property to find the cocaine, said Sheriff Rex Williams.

Williams stressed that law enforcement officers must do a lot of careful surveillance work before they arrest a suspect. "We have got to get a good, solid, airtight case," he said.

Williams credited the Parmer County Commissioners for being very helpful in allocating the money to fund the buys and to do the surveillance work. Without this help, the arrest would have been extremely difficult.

Williams noted that on an earlier drug bust serial numbers from money allocated by the commissioners were carefully recorded in advance of making a buy. When the money showed up in the possession of an arrested suspect, it was used as evidence. Eventually this money will be recovered by Parmer County.

Vela shows grand champion at Texico Spring Hog Show

Jennifer Williams showed the Reserve Champion. Each received a silver belt buckle.

Jason Long won the Best Showmanship belt buckle in the senior division, and Cody Drager won the belt buckle in the junior division.

Terry Whitener won the senior division cash prize for the best record book, and Dustin Whitener won the junior division cash prize for the best record book.

Junior and senior entries were shown together in each category this year. Sometimes the younger students beat out the older ones.

In the lightweight class, LaMicah Drager showed the champion, and Dara Jenkins showed the reserve champion.

Others showing in that category were: Kristen Null, 3; Missy Eaton, 4; Wesley Farmer, 5; Jason Longo, 6; David Johnson, 7; Lorissa Pate, 8; Kristen Null, 9; Cody Drager, 10; Warren Martin, 11; Brett Norvell, 12.

In Class II, Cody Drager showed the champion, and Josh Scioli showed the reserve.

Others showing in that category were: Brandi Norvell, 3; Donann Reed, 4; Jarrod Barfield, 5; Steven Horner, 6; Deanna Ritch, 7; Wesley Farmer, 8; Amber Bruce, 9; Justin Starbuck, 10; Warren Martin, 11.

In Class III, Paul Vela showed the champion, and Kelsi Cain showed the reserve champion.

Others showing in that category were: Eric Drager, 3; Byron Martin, 4; Zane Drager, 5; Missy Eaton, 6; Kelly Cooper, 7; Jason Longo, 8; Jennifer Williams, 9; Steven Horner, 10; Byron Martin, 11; and Terry Whitener, 12.

In Class IV, Jennifer Williams showed the champion, and Shawna Bryant showed the reserve.

Others showing in that category were: Shay Norvell, 3; Terry Whitener, 4; Shawna Bryant, 5; Jarrod Barfield, 6; Dustin Whitener, 7; Richard Stephens, 8; Jennifer Gentry, 9; Kristi Neie, 10; Jennifer Gentry, 11.

In Class V, Karen Neie showed the champion, and Amber Shaw showed the reserve.

Others showing in that category were: David Scioli, 3; Shayna Lewis, 4; Paul Vela, 5; Kyle Cain, 6; Justin Starbuck, 7; Kelly Cooper, 8; Donann Reed, 9; Joni Pate, 10; Denise Whitener, 11; Mike Litzelman, 12.

In Class VI, David Brigham showed the champion, and Brette Hadley showed the reserve. Others showing in that category were: Natasha Shaw, 3; Clyde Jenkins, 4; Amy Chadwick, 4; Stephen Cloud, 6; Bobby Winegeart, 7; Stephen Cloud, 8; Clay Lewis, 9; Brette Hadley, 10.

There were 48 exhibitors of 68 swine in the show. The FFA boys separated the hogs and helped load them in pens. The 4-H club provided the concession stand.

Mrs. Holloman and Mrs. Diane Cooper each won half of a hog that given away at the Spring Hog Show.

Duncan's Herefords donated the belt buckles.

Jones honored

Joe Jones received two awards from the Texico-Farwell Rotary Club last week. He is shown receiving the "Buckaroo" award from A.D. McDonald; Jones received the award for his club and community service. Jones also became a Paul Harris Fellow at this meeting. The Paul Harris award is an internationally famous award and is given by clubs in honor of members they deem worthy.

Obituaries

Russell Aycock

Services were held for Russell Alan Aycock, 22, of Lubbock on Feb. 19 at the St. Luke's United Methodist Church in Lubbock. Rev. William Longworth, pastor of the First United Methodist Church in Fort Worth and Rev. R. L. Kirk, pastor of St. Luke's, officiated.

Burial was held under the direction of Sanders Funeral Home.

Aycock died Saturday in Harris Methodist Hospital in Fort Worth from injuries suffered in an automobile accident in Fort Worth.

Aycock was born in Lubbock. He was an Eagle Scout. He sometimes assisted his uncle, Charles Aycock, of Farwell with his scout troop. He graduated with honors from Monterey High School in 1986. He was a senior chemistry/pre-med major at Texas Christian University, and he worked for Harris Methodist Hospital. He was a member of St. Luke's United Methodist Church.

Survivors include his parents, Robert and Bonnie Aycock of Lubbock; a brother, Robert A. of Lubbock; a sister, Christal A. of Lubbock; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Rex Aycock of Tullia; and his maternal grandmother, Lillian Jonas of San Antonio.

The family suggests memorials to the Russell A. Aycock Scholarship Fund at TCU or to a favorite charity.

Jack Gunn

Services were held on Monday for Jack Gunn, 65, at the First Baptist Church in Melrose. Rev. Joe Bunce officiated.

He died Feb. 16 at Clovis Hospital. Burial followed at Beevers Cemetery in Forrest. Steed-Todd Funeral Home handled the arrangements.

Mr. Gunn was born in Lubbock on Feb. 6, 1925. He moved to the Forrest area from Shallowater, Texas in 1929. He was a farmer and a rancher. He was a member of the First Baptist Church in Melrose.

He married Naomia Terry on July 10, 1945 in Clovis.

Survivors include his wife; 3 sons, Teke and Jimmy Joe, both at home, and Don, of Forrest; 2 daughters, Jacqueline Scott, Farmington, N.M., and Vicki Aldridge, Midland; 1 brother, C. L. "Pete" Gunn, of Logan; 1 sister, Nell Walling, Farwell; 8 grandchildren and 1 great-grandchild.

He was preceded in death by his parents and one brother, Delphine.

Casket bearers were Danny Stockton, Maurice Runyan, Joe Richards, Grady Bright, Don Hightower, Tye Curtis, Raymond Liles and Herman Ayres.

Honorary casket bearers were the Men's Sunday School Class at Melrose.

Bacilio Ancira

Services were held on Monday for Rev. Bacilio C. Ancira, 68, at the Calvary Baptist Church in Clovis. Rev. Glen Smith officiated.

He died Feb. 16 at Clovis Hospital. Burial followed at Texico Cemetery. Steed-Todd Funeral Home handled the arrangements.

Rev. Ancira was born in Mendoza, Texas on April 15, 1921. He served in the U. S. Army. He married Bertha A. Reyes on Nov. 26, 1988 in Clovis.

He was a minister, and a member of the Oak Street Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife; 6 sons, Moses, Basilio Jr., and Santiago, all of Clovis; Isaac, of Mount Calm, Texas; David, of Farwell, and Jeremiah of Lufkin, Texas; 3 daughters, Suzy Moore, of Las Lunas; Gloria Escobedo, of Friona, and Rebecca Garcia, of Clovis; 3 brothers, Andy, of Temple, Texas; Floyd of Victorville, Calif.; and Frank, of Farwell; 6 sisters, Santiago Flores, of Houston; Maria Hernandez, of Lubbock; Louisa Munoz, of Odessa; Janie Galvan and Amelia Torres, both of Texico, and Victoria Yruegas, of Farwell; 30 grandchildren and 1 great-grandchild.

He was preceded in death by his first wife, Dolores Ancira, on March 17, 1988.

Casket bearers were his sons.

Havel

must be common goals and common dreams.

I hope that Havel has another play up his sleeve in the near future. One which will give his diverse and divided people the hope and direction that they need. Existentialism is fine for a revolutionary period of time, but it is hard to live with day in and day out. We all need hope.

Cotton farmers in this area might be interested in the article in the February National Geographic Magazine about what is going on in the area of the Aral Sea in the USSR.

We sometimes think that our government bureaucrats make really stupid moves in the field of agriculture. Well, the National Geographic article points out how lucky we really are.

According to the article, the USSR placed self-sufficiency in cotton production high on its priority list about 20 years ago. They began diverting water from the rivers that flow into the Aral to irrigate their cotton fields.

The Aral is located in the Uzbek region of the USSR. It is an area similar to ours in annual rainfall. This semi-arid region is located about the same latitude as Utah.

Since 1960, the Aral has lost one and one half times as much water as Lake Erie has. They have lost about 11,000 square miles of water.

The fish are dying in the water which is becoming more and more saline. The Aral will soon be a totally dead sea—about 4-5 times as salty as the ocean.

The fishing industry there is dead, and the canning industry is surviving only because the government's bureaucracy is shipping frozen fish over 1,000 miles to be canned in the Aral region.

In a nation where people must stand in line to purchase enough food to feed their families, the loss of the fishing industry in the Aral region is devastating. Also, the loss of grazing land to cotton production is also devastating. All of this to gain a cash crop.

Those of us who live where water is a precious commodity, realize what a disaster this can be, and how many generations it will take to reverse the destruction done by the government policies.

The National Geographic includes photographs that show people picking cotton by hand to clear an area large enough to get machinery into the fields. Obviously, this cannot be a really efficient use of resources.

The government policies to raise money have really caused problems in the USSR. It all proves true what Thomas Jefferson said, "Government is best which governs least."

Baby dolls help explain 'responsibility'

Students in Mrs. Wyatt's Child Development class at Farwell High School made baby dolls, filled them with 12 lb. weights, dressed them, and carried them around with them for one full week. The object of the exercise was to experience some of the responsibility that child rearing entails.

Faculty members were asked to note all cases of child abuse or child neglect that they observed.

FFA AGRICULTURE'S NEW SPIRIT

The 21st century promises exciting challenges for agriculture's new generation. America needs well-prepared, enthusiastic young people to become tomorrow's leaders in science, production, processing and business.

High school agriculture and FFA provide a unique set of experiences. Leadership, teamwork, personal responsibility, problem solving, management and analysis are skills highly valued by employers—and developed in FFA and high school agriculture.

Our world is being transformed, and exciting opportunities await those who are prepared. Tomorrow's careers begin with FFA and high school agriculture.

Corn insect control program may expand

High Plains corn farmers work in partnership with Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Texas Agricultural Extension Service in an effective corn insect control program.

The research and educational projects are partially funded by the Texas Corn Producers Board (TCPB) supported by a seven county High Plains producer checkoff program. Producers throughout the state, after seeing the results of the TCPB program, have requested TCPB to enlarge their work to include the entire state. A referendum is underway that will conclude on April 4, 1990. Should the referendum pass, the TCPB research and educational program will include the entire state.

Dr. Pat Morrison, Extension Entomologist, stationed at Lubbock, said that "TCPB has been highly supportive of Extension entomology programs in the Texas High Plains. We have worked together on a number of projects which have been, and continue to be, of benefit to the High Plains producers."

Dr. Morrison listed several projects that TCPB has funded. "They include:

"1. Partial funding for several years of the spider mite research of Dr. Tom Archer. (Dr. Archer is a research entomologist with TAES). This support helped generate a technical base regarding the chemical control of spider mites which was used to defend the section 18 requests for Azodrin. These requests were granted each year from 1980 through 1986. These data were also used to support the additional requests in 1987 and 1988, although these requests were denied by EPA. In 1989 the product (Azodrin) was removed from the marketplace. I worked closely with TCPB in presenting the technical information to EPA regarding the defense of Azodrin and could hardly have done so without the data base supplied from Dr. Archer.

Again, much of the research data base did come from TCPB supported research.

In 1989, it was necessary to pursue an alternative to Azodrin through the Section 18 process as this product was no longer available. Again, using the same data base from Dr. Archer, we were able to effectively demonstrate what the best alternative miticides were and used this information to help secure a Section 18 for Capture in 1989.

2. The TCPB has been very supportive of the Extension Service pest management programs in the High Plains. They serve as the sponsoring commodity organization for the pest management programs located in Parmer/ Bailey counties. The TCPB has provided partial support for two demonstration aide positions for the past three years. This assistance has allowed the Extension - Agent Entomology (Mike Blanton of Farwell) to have a demonstration program in corn to evaluate new technology which is of benefit to area corn producers. Demonstrations which have been conducted include evaluation of new products and mixtures to control spider mites, evaluation of product performances when applied through overhead sprinkler systems and field evaluation of a new synthetic pheromone for the Southwestern corn borer. The latter is now commercially available and is used to monitor the seasonal occurrence of this pest throughout the High Plains. Demonstration Aides will also provide invaluable assistance during the growing season in pest survey and detection programs. This information is then made available to corn producers throughout the area via newsletters and radio programs prepared by the Extension Agent - Entomology (Mike Blanton)."

Dr. Morrison concluded by saying "The TCPB and the Extension Service have worked together on a number of issues which have faced corn producers in the High Plains. As we enter an era of greater concern for the environment and food safety, it will become more important that commodity organizations and scientist work closely together to address important concerns facing agriculture."

Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Texas Agricultural Extension Service entomologists have listed the research and extension needs for Texas Corn (not in order of priority) as:

HIGH PLAINS

1. Develop economic thresholds for corn earworms, southwestern corn borer and the mite complex on food and feed corn.
2. Study chemical control (aerial and chemigation) for southwestern corn borer and mites with emphasis on improving coverage and efficacy. Are there geographic differences in acaricide efficacy in Texas?
3. Develop pesticide resistance management tactics for mites.
4. Identify corn resistance to mites and develop resistant lines.

SOUTH TEXAS

1. Determine the economic impacts of corn earworm, fall armyworm (particularly on late season corn) and Mexican rice borer and develop economic thresholds.
2. Evaluate seed treatments for control of fire ants, wireworms, and false wire worms and soil insecticides for control of Mexican corn rootworms.
3. Develop a method for predicting damaging populations of southwestern rootworm.
4. Determine the effect of tillage practices on infestations by insects of corn.

Carl King, TCPB executive director, said "TCPB has always placed insect control at the top of the list of problems to solve and I believe that it will continue to be a priority of the board."

Jarah Redwine, Troy McBroom, and Heath Brown were winners of the Lazbuddie Geography Bee.

Redwine captures geography bee title

Jarah Redwine, daughter of Bobby and Deborah Redwine and an eighth grade student at Lazbuddie, won the school's geography bee on Feb. 5, and has a chance at a $25,000 college scholarship.

The school - level bee, at which students answered oral questions on geography, was the first round in the second annual National Geography Bee that is being sponsored by the National Geographic WORLD, the Society's magazine for children, Amtrack, and KUDOS snack.

Second place winner was Troy McBroom, son of Orin and Darla McBroom and an eighth grader. The third place was won by Heath Brown, grade 5, son of Scott and Claire Brown.

Other school finalists were Rachelle Rice, LaTonya Payne, Jodi Copp, Jessica Burch, and Heather Engelking.

Winners of the state bee progress to Washington, D.C. where they compete for the scholarship.

Bivins coming

State Sen. Teel Bivins will be in Farwell at 3 p.m. on Thursday, Feb. 22.

Everyone is invited to come to the Farwell Community Center to meet him.

Bivins was voted by a state magazine as "Rookie of the Year" for his accomplishments as a first-year state senator. The post formerly was held by Bill Sarpalius, who is now in Congress.

Also, Bivins worked hard to help get through the $400,000 grant for a sewer in Lazbuddie, according to his administrative aide.

Sheriff's Report

Here is the weekly report from the Parmer County Sheriff Rex Williams:

On Feb. 17, Gregorio V. Portillo, 48, Friona, was arrested by the Parmer County Sheriff's Department on a charge of possession of a controlled substance. He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Louise Hancock, and bond was set at $30,000. Case is pending before the Grand Jury.

On Feb. 18, Eliazar De la Cruz, 28, Bovina, was arrested by the Bovina Police on a charge of assault. He pled guilty before County Judge Porter Roberts, and was fined $500 and court costs.

On Feb. 19, Juan Jose Munoz, 35, Bovina, was arrested by the Bovina Police on a charge of assault. He pled guilty before Roberts, and was fined $500, court costs, and 30 days in jail probated for 365 days.

Angie White's lightweight cross places first at San Antonio livestock show

Angie White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert White of Farwell, showed the hog that placed first in the lightweight cross category at the San Antonio Livestock Show. All told, 9 Parmer County youths showed hogs that placed in the San Antonio Livestock Show. Kaci Stephens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Stephens of Farwell, showed the 2nd place heavyweight Poland. Derreck Haseloff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Haseloff of Farwell, showed the 8th place middleweight Chester class.

Lyndi Austin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Austin, showed the 9th place Chester class.

Brett Curtis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Curtis, showed the 14th place lightweight Hampshire class.

Other Parmer County youths who showed animals that made the sale included: Shena Seaton of Lazbuddie who showed the 5th place Intermediate weight Hampshire, Shannon Cochran of Friona showed the 6th place medium weight Cross, and Brice Redwine of Lazbuddie showed the 10th place heavy weight Hampshire.

"Out of 2,100 hogs, only 300 were sold at the sale," said Karen Austin. "It was really exciting for the kids."

When asked why the results at county and state level stock shows have improved so much, Robert White offered a few possible answers:

"Luck, and there is more interest in showing animals now than there has been in the past few years. More of the parents are getting involved, and they get with the county agent to find really good pigs."

Over the past several years, county agricultural agent Gary Patterson has been helping the 4-H club members find animals that meet the specifications that the meat packing industry is looking for in animals today.

White said that all of the young people who showed animals that made the sale in San Antonio earned at least $2 per pound this year. This is in addition to what they made at the Parmer County Livestock show. In addition to prize money, placing at the San Antonio and Houston Livestock show enables students to vie for 4-H scholarships.

Porter Roberts views county judge's job

With several candidates running for the Parmer County Judge's post, it might be interesting to find out what the judge's job entails.

The following questions and answers come from interview with County Judge Porter Roberts.

What are the most important attributes necessary for a county judge?

Roberts: Common sense. Educational background is helpful, but you don't necessarily need to be an attorney to be county judge. Court work is only a small percentage of what we do.

What does the county judge do if it isn't all behind the bench?

Roberts: The county judge is the presiding officer of the commissioners' court. He has to keep up with what the Legislature is doing.

Occasionally the county judge is called upon to act as the coroner. I've had to do it 3 times. And 385 times I've been called upon to do weddings.

The county judge also fields gripes and belly aches for people of the county and tries to get them resolved. The hardest thing about the county judge's job is making mental health commitments.

Beside that, what else bad about the job,?

Roberts: There are so many government regulations these days that it just isn't fun anymore.

What's the funniest thing that has happened to you while you were judge?

Roberts: Some of the wedding ceremonies were really fun. I remember one time when I married a couple. The bride looked like a linebacker. When the ceremony was over, I said, "You may now kiss the bride." She put her hand up to his face, and said "There will be plenty of time for that later."

"I looked at the groom and said "I think you have a problem on your hands," and the groom replied, "I do too."

I really wish I had kept a book with all the names of the brides and grooms I married. It would be fun to look back on it.

Roberts has been the Parmer County Judge since 1980. One of the things he has enjoyed most about his job is serving as an ex officio member of the Parmer County Child Welfare Board.

"The main goal is to educate the public about child abuse. We also find foster homes for the children. And, at Christmas time, we help buy gifts for the foster children," he said.

Roberts plans to find part time employment after retirement.

Rain welcomed

Another drought was broken when misty rains fell Monday night over the Twin Cities Area.

Fred Chandler reports that a .7" of rain fell at the Sherley Anderson Pitman Grain Elevators in Farwell. There was an inch at the Mike Pomper residence on the south side of town.

Lariat got .85" according to Lonnie McFarland of the Sherley Anderson Grain Elevator there. And, Scott Brown at Lazbuddie reported 1.2" of moisture fell at the Sherley Anderson Grain Elevator in Lazbuddie.

The USS SIMPSON underway flying her battle ensign. The USS SIMPSON is a guided missile frigate of the OLIVER HAZARD PERRY class, the most numerous class of warship in the U.S. Navy today.

A view of the Sinai Peninsula from SIMPSON as she passed through the canal. In the distance is a Moslem mosque and the shattered wrecks of Egyptian tanks left over from the war with Israel.

USS Simpson transits Suez Canal

By WILL ANDERSON

The USS SIMPSON recently completed a south-bound transit of the Suez Canal. Her Executive Officer is Lt. Commander Will Anderson, son of Bob and Carrie Anderson of Farwell.

The canal now in use was designed and built by Ferdinand de Lesseps in the last century, but its history goes back much further in time than that. The canal was begun approximately 1900 B.C. It was lengthened and restored numerous times over the centuries until it fell into disuse and ruin about 800 A.D. It serves now as one of the vital paths for world trade.

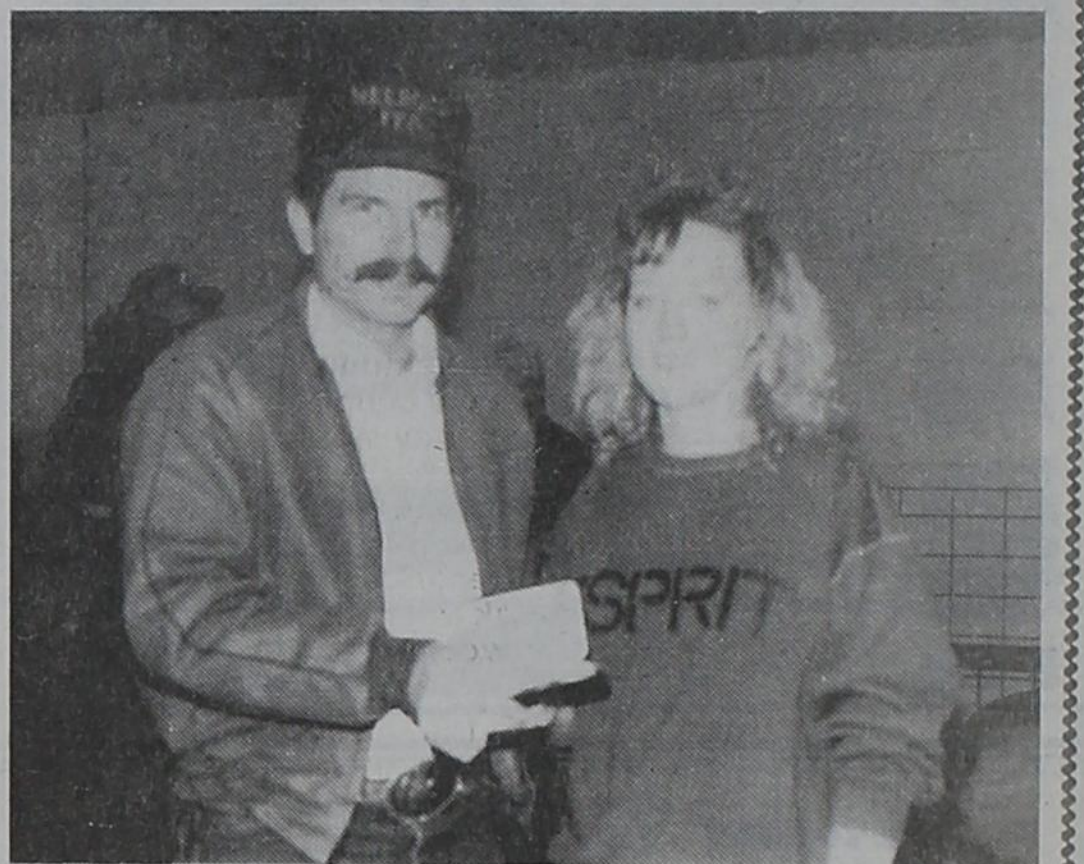

The SIMPSON passed through the canal enroute to the Persian Gulf to begin a six-month deployment. Although Iran and Iraq have a cease-fire in effect, no peace treaty has been negotiated to officially end their war and the U.S. Navy continues conducting escort operations for American-flagged tankers in the Gulf.

During the SIMPSON's 1988 deployment to the Gulf, she destroyed the Iranian Sirri oil platform with gunfire and sank the Iranian warship JOSHAN in the first missile-to-missile duel at sea in the history of the U.S. Navy. The SIMPSON will return to her homeport in Newport, R.I., this spring and Anderson will be detached this summer to proceed to his next assigned duties.

Recipe of Week

Creamy Chicken Lasagna

- 2 c. shredded mozzarella cheese, divided
- 2 cans, (10 3/4 oz. each) Campbell's Condensed Cream of Mushroom Soup
- 1 1/2 c. milk
- 1/8 tsp. nutmeg and ground red pepper
- 1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen chopped spinach thawed and well drained
- 1 egg
- 1 container (15 oz.) ricotta cheese
- 12 lasagna noodles, cooked and drained
- 2 cans (5 oz. each) Swanson premium chunk white chicken, drained or 2 c. cut-up cooked chicken
- 1/2 c. grated Parmesan cheese

Reserve 2/3 c. mozzarella cheese for top layer. In a medium bowl, combine soup, milk, nutmeg, and red pepper; set aside.

In another medium bowl, combine spinach, egg and ricotta; mix well.

In bottom of a greased 9 x 13" baking dish, spread 1/2 c. soup mixture. Arrange 4 lasagna noodles on top of mixture. Top with 1/3 remaining soup mixture, 1/2 spinach mixture, 1/2 remaining mozzarella and 1/2 chicken. Repeat layers ending with remaining noodles, soup mixture, reserved 2/3 c. mozzarella cheese and Parmesan cheese.

Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes or until hot and bubbling. Let stand 15 minutes before serving. Makes 8 servings.

Beef exports enhanced

Texas A & M researchers are investigating a number of ways to enhance U.S. beef exports to Japan.
"For example, we are trying to find out whether a Japanese breed of cattle will provide any advantage in developing the beef market there," said Dr. David Lunt, superintendent of Texas A & M Agricultural Research Center at McGregor, Texas. Much of the beef research of the Texas Experiment Station is done here.

"We have compared Angus with Wagyu (Japanese breed) cattle, when produced under typical American feedlot practices," Lunt said. "There was no advantage with this Japanese breed, when slaughtered at our usual carcass fatness. We are now making the same comparison under Japanese feeding conditions."

"We also have 100 cows in a Wagyu breeding study. These two studies are funded by the American subsidiary (Calco International, Inc.) of a large Japanese meat company (Itoham). This is the first instance I know of in which an American university has done research partially funded by a Japanese meat company."

Research can help expand U.S. sales of beef in Japan, Lunt said, by increasing an understanding of how the market can be developed as well as how Japanese beef is produced. Lunt's research is expected to increase the consumption of beef in Japan.

"Both U.S. and Japanese cattle producers will gain from increased consumption, if past experience is any indicator," Lunt said. "Until 1969, annual imports of beef and veal by Japan totaled less than 25,000 metric tons, and amounted to less than 10 percent of domestic consumption. But by 1987, imports had reached 325,000 metric tons and domestic production had nearly tripled."

"At Texas A & M, we are seeking to produce a meat that is higher in marbling (flecks of fat in the lean) than typical American beef, but lower than the best Japanese beef. We see such beef as a market opportunity for American producers."

"The diet-conscious Japanese are not nearly as concerned with beef fat because per capita beef consumption there is less than 15 pounds per year compared with 68 pounds in the U.S."

Beef sales in Japan are expected to be better in 1990 than they were in 1989, Lunt said. Demand for beef last year softened during the lengthy national mourning period for Japanese emperor, Hirohito. A lot of beef is purchased as gifts in Japan, and these sales decreased because it was considered inappropriate to consume rich food during this time.

Lunt said that the best Japanese beef sells for eight to ten times the American price, on a carcass basis. But, he pointed out, this is a little like comparing apples and oranges, since their beef is so much more highly marbled than ours. The most expensive cuts, in gift boxes, cost up to $165 per pound.

A steak in a medium quality restaurant in Japan costs $150; a top restaurant can charge up to $400. Of course, Lunt said, such meals are usually consumed by those on business expense accounts.

While the sales opportunity for highly marbled beef appears to be excellent, Lunt said, the demand for cheaper, processed beef such as hamburgers will increase substantially. Young Japanese like American fast food. As it becomes widely available, sales should be tremendous.

"McDonald's has about 700 outlets in Japan," Lunt said. "They blend American plates (a fat cut of beef) with Australian beef. The Australian grass-fed beef is cheap but needs fat from American beef to be flavorful. It costs about $7 for a Big Mac, fries, and milkshake in Japan."

But beef will not become a staple of the Japanese diet until American Choice grade, a highly marbled beef, is affordable to the masses, Lunt said. After market liberalization, when quotas are lifted in 1991, prices will gradually come down and beef sales will increase.

Prices won't go down right away, however. The Japanese government will need to sell all of the frozen beef now held in storage, which was purchased to fulfill the requirements of the present trade agreement. The beef is priced relatively high and neither the government nor the industry wants to suffer a loss in selling the product.

American beef really will not be affordable to the typical Japanese consumer until the Livestock Industry Promotion Corporation, which controls imports and quotas in Japan, and the existing stocks of imported beef are out of the marketing picture.

To greatly increase sales in Japan, Lunt said, the U.S. beef industry needs to address the problems of shelf-life and purge (liquid drainage), Lunt said.

At present, purge in vacuum packs arriving in Japan makes them unsightly and messy. To solve this problem, it may be necessary to cease spray-chilling carcasses and allow some carcass dehydration and weight loss, prior to packaging for export. Shipping chilled rather than frozen beef will present an attractive product in retail beef carcasses.

"Japanese consumers appreciate and are willing to pay for quality," Lunt said. "We can compete favorably with Australia for the Japanese beef trade if we pay attention to quality control."

"We have a better product to sell than does Australia, but the generally do a much better job of packaging and shipping than we do. With sufficient effort, we can capitalize on this opportunity to greatly increase profitability in the U.S. beef industry."

'We're working to keep entrance ways open'

Dear Mike:
I write in reference to two concerns prompted by last week's paper.

One is the editorial in which you registered a complaint and offered a suggestion about dropping off children at the east end of the elementary school building. No one is more interested in the safety of the children than I am.

The school submitted a workable plan last year. It involved designating one-way streets during school hours. It was not implemented, I am told, because it would cost too much for the signs.

You suggested a circular drive. First, there is not room for such a drive at that end of the building. Second, in order to be safe, such a drive would have to be one lane only or children would be darting between cars in moving traffic, much more dangerous than the present situation where teachers' parked cars do not present that kind of hazard. Teachers arrive at school be-

'Thank You'

Dear Mike,
I wanted to take this opportunity to let you know how much I appreciate the support you and Judy have given to the Emergency Response Service available locally.

Your two stories have been a major factor in the increased requests for these wonderful units. We now have eight homes using them, while only two are in use in the Muleshoe area.

I really believe the difference in demand is due to the fact that you have graciously given valuable space in your paper to let your readers know about the service we offer.

Your spirit of community service above commercial reward is the thing that makes the difference, and I really appreciate your help.

If any of your readers know of anyone who has a medical condition which makes living alone, or being left alone for extended periods of time risky, please have them get in touch with me so that help can be made available. We are not trying to make money on this service; we are simply trying to be of help to those in need.

Letter To The Editor

fore 8:00 a.m. They do not leave until after 4:00 p.m. Their cars are not mobile during the time parents are dropping off their young passengers.

You say teachers should park in lots. Where? The nearest parking lot is a block away. Elementary teachers carry heavy loads of papers, work books, records, bulletin board materials and supplies, which they almost daily bring from home because of limited storage at school. Parking a block away is hardly possible. If teachers' cars were not parked on the street, the street would be opened to an additional two lanes of moving traffic and that would certainly increase the danger.

We are making every effort to keep the entrance ways open.

In your article on recommended budget cutbacks, I was concerned about the list of elementary school suggestions, which you printed. I hope the public understood that those were the recommendations of a few individuals who happened to be on the elementary school staff.

I defend their right to make such suggestions, but it does need to be made clear that those recommendations do not reflect the opinions of the group as a whole and they do not reflect my own recommendations. I am working diligently to find possible and logical places to but the budget in my own building. I also was concerned that you printed only that list of suggested cutbacks when there were others presented but now I understand that was the only list made available to you.

Sincerely,

James Craig

'Students of Month'

Freshman Leland Brockman and senior Sandra Martinez have been chosen as the Lazbuddie High School Students of the Month for December.

Recipients of the Junior High School students of the month award are 8th graders Brett Thomas and Jessica Burch.

A panel of teachers chose these students from a list of nominees, based on the students' attitude, scholarship, citizenship, and service.

Leland is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Brockman. In addition to his academic honors courses, Leland is involved in football, basketball, track, golf, and will participate in One-Act Play U.I.L. competition. His hobbies are snow skiing, water skiing, and playing golf.

Sandra is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Martinez. She is a member of the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church in Muleshoe. She is president of the senior class, and has been voted "Most Friendly" at L. H. S. She is also an FHA officer. Her hobbies include golf, basketball and swimming.

Mr. and Mrs. Randy Thomas are the parents of Brett. Stating that he "enjoys school," Brett made the first semester Principal's "A-B" Honor Roll. In addition to his academic work, Brett enjoys basketball, football, and other sports. Brett has also had much success showing animals at stock shows.

Jessica's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Burch. Jessica was placed on the Principal's "A" Honor Roll for the first semester, and she states that her favorite subject is Science. In her spare time, she enjoys playing the piano and basketball. She is also involved in academic U.I.L. competition.

Peterson slated at Texico fete

Col. Donald Peterson, wing commander at Cannon Air Force Base, will be the guest speaker at the annual Texico Chamber of Commerce banquet, it was announced at Monday's Chamber meeting.

Peterson will discuss the forthcoming base expansion and what it means to the area.

The banquet will be at 7 p.m. mst April 24 at the Texico school cafeteria.

In other business, the Chamber discussed the renovation ongoing at the community center.

The next project is to place tile on the floor. it's expected to cost more than $3,000.

The Chamber has $2,000 set aside for the project. Also, the former Texico Women's Club account will be closed out and funds in it put toward the project. The fire department, which already has donated $500 (from its recreation fund - no state funds involved), may give more. And the city is paying for two air conditioners.

Also, the Chamber plans a rummage sale this spring as a fund-raiser.

Combined with Chamber memberships, which are being sold now; and banquet tickets, it appears there will be enough funds for the community center work and to pay for the banquet.

The Chamber plans to give special recognition at the banquet to Steve Meeks and Max Winkles for their voluntary work on the community center project.

Humorist slated at Farwell Chamber banquet

Humorist Ben F. Swank will be the speaker at the annual banquet of the Farwell Chamber of Commerce March 17.

The banquet will be at 7 p.m. at the Farwell Community Center. Tickets costing $10 for the steak dinners are available from Chamber members or the State Line Tribune.

Also, members of the Farwell High School Band will entertain.

And awards for Man and Woman of the Year, Students of the Year, Teacher of the Year and Farmer of the Year will be handed out.

Swank, of Navasota, Texas, was born and raised on a farm near Austin. He attended the University of Texas and is a retired U.S. Army colonel and retired rancher. He was county judge of Grimes County, Texas, for 12 years.

He has over 15 years experience as a professional humorous speaker and entertainer.

All-District

At left is Farwell's Amy Murray, who was named to the All-District girls basketball team by the coaches. It's the first time a Farwell girl has received this honor in several years. Below are Molly Miller and April Haseloff, who received All-District honorable mention.

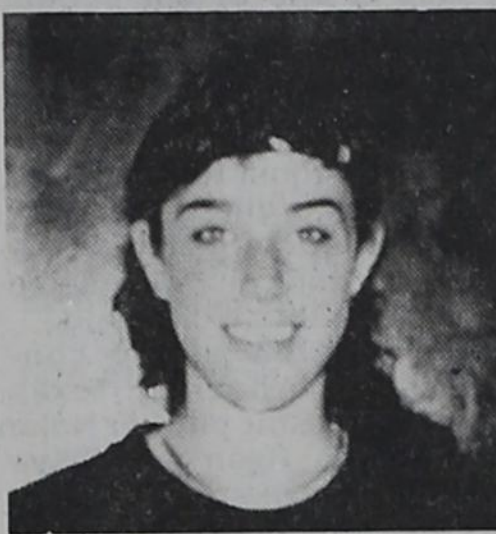

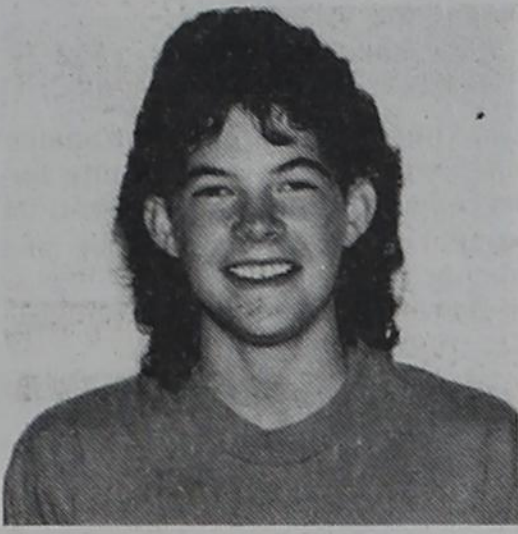

'Chess Play' organized at Farwell schools

The Farwell school spring attendance period is in going on. Students must be in attendance in their 9:15 a.m.

classes to be counted. The attendance figures are used in qualifying for state funds.

Sixteen Farwell students showed up for the first "Chess Play" Feb. 15. Sandy Landers organized the meet for all students who like to play chess and all who want to learn to play chess. They meet in the school library at 3:45 p.m. Thursdays.

All-District

Named to the All-District Basketball Team were Amy Chadwick and Jennifer Gentry of Texico.

Thank You

I wish to extend my grateful appreciation for the many kind expressions of sympathy since the death of my mother. Thank you.

Lady Wolverines fall to Dora

"I was so depressed about the loss that I haven't even watched the film," said coach Roy King about the Lady Wolverines' loss to Dora last week in the state playoffs. "We should have won; we had them down by 14 points."

Texico finished the season at 13-12. Dora won 42-41 at Dora.

The Lady Wolverines took a one point lead in the first quarter, and increased it dramatically in the second quarter, but then they let the district playoff slip out of their hands.

"We played hard; we had a good game plan. We stopped their inside game, and we did what we had to do defensively, but we just couldn't score," said King.

Dora also kept Texico's best scorers from making their usual points.

Scoring were: Penny Pierce, 12; Jennifer Gentry, 11; Amy Chadwick, 8; Valerie Cavallero, 6; Marsha Hamilton, 3, and Jennifer Williams, 1.

The Texico Wolverines will host the district championship at 7 p.m. MST Saturday at Texico.

The Wolverines were seeded No. 1 in the playoffs so they miss the first three nights of playoff games. They will meet the winner of the game held at Melrose on Friday night.

"We won't know til Friday who we're going to play," said coach Richard Luscombe.

The odds are in favor of Texico playing Melrose in the final game, since they are sitting in the second spot and playing at home. "But you can't ever tell. Whoever is playing well at the time, will win that game," said Luscombe.

His big worry is keeping the Wolverines sharp after having more than a week without play.

Registration scheduled

March 8 is the day to register children for next year's Farwell kindergarten and pre-kindergarten classes. Registration will be in the elementary library from 1 to 4 p.m.

All children who will be four and five years of age by Sept. 1 and live in the Farwell School District need to register for next year's classes.

To register, a child must have immunization records and a birth certificate. Only official copies of birth certificates are accepted and must have been obtained from state offices.

Sarah Owen, school nurse, will be available to review immunization records during registration.

If 15 or more pre-kindergarten students are identified, pre-kindergarten must be offered. Requirements are:

Four years old prior to Sept. 1, unable to speak or comprehend English, or is from a family whose income, according to state standards, is at or below subsistence level (eligible for free or reduced-price lunches) and is a Farwell School District resident.

Owens attend school confab

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Dee Owen attended the Texas Middle School Association Conference in Houston.

"We knew money was tight but we let the board decide whether we should go or not, and they decided to send us. This was a really beneficial conference, and I'm glad they agreed to send us," said Owen.

The two-day conference offered 80 seminars on topics ranging from "Thirty Ways to Make Your Middle School the Most Inviting Place in Town," to "Performance Standards for Principals." Each session was taught by a person who has been involved in middle school education.

Pat Owen noted that she really enjoyed two seminars on teaching higher level thinking skills that she attended.

"This is one of our school goals. It's tied in with the effective schools plan. These were really good meetings," she said.

"You can't just teach higher level skills to gifted children; all of the students need the ability to think as well as to memorize facts," she said.

One highlight of the conference was hearing Texas Rangers' All Star pitcher Nolan Ryan speak. Ryan may have had 5,076 strikeouts, but he had real problems learning to read and spell. He shared with the group the message that schools are better today than they were years ago. He also told the educators that he would not have graduated if he had not been involved in sports.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Southern Union Gas Company, a division of Southern Union Company, hereby gives notice of its intent to implement a new schedule of rates in the City of Farwell, Texas, as well as in the unincorporated areas ("Environs") adjacent thereto, in accordance with the Company's Statements of Intent filed with the City of Farwell and with the Railroad Commission of Texas on February 21, 1990.

The proposed increase does not constitute a "major change" as that term is defined in Section 5.00(b) of the Gas Utility Regulatory Act, TEX. REV. CIV. STAT. ANN. art. 1446e (Vernon Supp. 1990).

The proposed City rates will not become effective until thirty-five (35) days following the date on which the Statements of Intent were filed, and the proposed Environs rates will not become effective prior to approval by the City of its new rates.

It is anticipated that the effect of the proposed change in rates, when allowed, will be to increase the revenues of the Company by 3.7633 percent. A residential customer using an average of 97 Ccf of gas per month would experience an increase of $1.15 on a monthly bill.

Complete copies of the Company's Statements of Intent are available at the following addresses:

USDA disappoints PCG

Disappointment followed by confusion. That's how officials of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. characterize cotton producer reactions to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's recent announcement on 1990 deficiency payments.

The disappointment comes from USDA's estimate that the 1990 payment rate will total 10.5 cents per pound, well below what producers were expecting in light of price ideas voiced by respected market economists, plus the fact that some area lending institutions heretofore had been projecting a payment rate as high as 18 cents.

USDA is prohibited by law from predicting commodity prices. But under the 1985 farm act, the Department has to estimate, before program sign-up, the deficiency payment rate for each of the program crops. And, since the deficiency payment equals the target price minus average farm prices, the first step in estimating the deficiency payment for any year is to estimate the average farm price.

The 1990 target price for cotton is 72.9 cents per pound. So, in effect, the projection of 10.5 cent deficiency payment is a 1990 farm price projection of 62.4 cents per pound. That compares to the 60.2 cent 1989 average price through November.

USDA's price calculations for 1990, according to Charles Cunningham, Chief of USDA's Production Adjustment Division, were done about mid-December. Considered were market prices at that time, supply-offtake projections and estimated monthly market volumes for the calendar year. The latter two factors haven't changed much since mid-December, say PCG officials, but average spot market prices have declined about two cents. And, if the projections were being made now, Cunningham admits, the current price situation could very well make a difference.

Then there's the confusion that sets in as a farmer tries to figure the amount of his advance payment. The exercise begins with the announced 40 percent of the estimated total, which comes to 4.2 cents per pound. From that he has to take off .515 cents as mandated by the Budget Reconciliation Act of 1989. Congress reached that fixed deduction, Cunningham explains, through the back door. Decided first as to how much needed to be cut from the agriculture budget, then how much of that figure should come from reduced deficiency payments, and finally how much of the reduction would be charged to each of the program commodities.

Satisfying the required Budget Reconciliation Act reduction brings the advance payment rate down to 3.685 cents.

Art to be topic at PTA session

Farwell PTA has had a busy schedule this year, and they have several more items on their agenda this year.

The PTA donated a new reel-to-reel projector to Farwell Elementary School from the monies they raised with the Fall Festival.

The PTA has also been conducting a Campbell's soup label drive this year. At the end of the first semester, Mrs. Dyer's kindergarten class were treated to a party because they had brought in the most labels. At the end of the second semester, another class will be honored this way.

Currently, the PTA has collected more than 10,706 labels, which can be turned in for equipment for the school.

The PTA also held an aluminum can drive which brought in $117.35, and taught the children about ecology.

They are also participating in the Jif Peanut Butter Company's Jif Children's Education Fund project. They will collect cash register tapes that prove that Jif has been purchased.

The next Farwell PTA meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. on March 5 at the Farwell Community Center. Rheata White will speak on "Make Art A Part of Your Child's World."

The Elementary Art Fair will be held from 4-6 p.m. May 3 at the Farwell Community Center.

That's the rate being quoted to producers by Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service personnel. And it's the rate that will be applied to a farmer's acreage and yield to determine if his total advance would exceed the statutory $50,000 payment limitation. But it's not the actual rate anybody will receive.

There's still the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings sequestration to figure in. That's another 1.4 percent of the dollar amount, up to $50,000 that results from multiplying 3.685 cents times acreage times yield.

So, after all the ciphering is done, advance payment checks will reflect a payment rate of only 3.633 cents per pound.

The 1990 program sign-up for cotton, wheat, corn, and grain sorghum began Jan. 16 and runs through April 13.

White to serve as missionary

Dana White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert White of Farwell, will serve as a Baptist Student Union Summer Missionary in California this summer. She is a student at Texas Tech University. She graduated from Farwell High School. She is part of a group of 110 Texas college students from across the state who will share the Good News of Jesus Christ in 15 states, Europe and Australia, said Jack Greever of Dallas, director of the Division of Student Work with the 2.4 million member Baptist General Convention of Texas. Supported by their fellow BSU members who will raise $135,000 to undergird the vast missions effort, the student volunteers will be serving with career missionaries and other Baptist leaders. Twelve of them will help advance the cause of Christ in Australia and ten in Europe. "These enthusiastic young Christians are shining examples of what God is doing on our college campuses," said Greever. "They go out to serve in the name of Christ around the world and will return to be better Christian Citizens on their campuses and in their communities."

8 students inducted into Texico honor society chapter

Eight Texico High School students were inducted into the Silver Stylus chapter of the National Honor Society on Feb. 20:

Jesse Barba, Chanda Campbell, Kara Cozby, Chad Dunswoth, Josefre Gonzales, Becky Lasiter, Dawn Lassiter, and Kenny Shaw.

The ceremony was held in the school Education Complex before the entire student body of the high school and junior high school.

President Todd Cash welcomed everyone. Principal Ken Shaw introduced the inductees. Scott McCreery introduced the guest speaker - Donna Ferguson, marketing director of First Savings Bank of Clovis.

Vicky Juarez, Virginia Burnett, Valerie Cavallero and Ysidra

Martinez lighted the candles.

NHS secretary - treasurer Jennifer Gentry administered the oath to the inductees. Terry Whitener and Monica Salguero presented the pins and cards.

Following the ceremony, there was a reception.

This year's NHS officers are Todd Cash, president; Amy Chadwick, vice president, and Jennifer Gentry, secretary/treasurer.

Other members are:

Seniors: Virginia Burnett, Todd Cash, Valerie Cavallero, Jennifer Gentry, Lisa Harrison, Vicky Juarez, Byron Martin, Ysidra Martinez, Scott McCreery, Larry Powell, Tasha

Roberts, Monica Salguero, Terry Whitener, Walter Wilhite, Jennifer Williams.

Juniors: Amy Chadwick, Leonor Chavez, Krystala Cross, Denise Gonzales, Dwyane Hamilton, Warren Martin, Josefina Martinez, Benjy McDaniel, Graciela Orozco, James Phipps, Penny Pierce, and Mary Wilhite.

Students earn the privilege to join by meeting four qualifications: scholarship, leadership, service, and character.

After becoming a member, a student must continue to meet the standards. Failure to do so results in loss of membership. He can never again be a part of the National Honor Society if he has dropped his membership once.

Todd Cash presides at the National Honor Society induction.

Bailey County Co-op re-elects Kelley, Kirk

Members of Bailey County Electric Cooperative Association received another positive financial report at Saturday's annual meeting in Muleshoe.

The cooperative had had some financial problems in the late 1980s caused by the local economy. But last year the turn-around began as the co-op posted a net margin in 1988 of $623,157. The net margin for 1989 was $618,358.

The cooperative also gave a breakdown on how each dollar is spent: 65 percent, wholesale power costs; 9 percent, taxes and interest; 9 percent, depreciation; 6 percent, operations and maintenance; 6 percent, administrative and general expenses; and 5 percent, consumer accounts and customer services.

Two board directors were re-elected.

Guy Kelley, board president, will continue to represent District 3. He defeated Lee Embry.

Tommy Kirk will continue to represent District 6. He defeated Jimmy Cannon.

Picked as the nominating committee for 1991 were Curtis Hunt, J.W. Herington, Don McDonald, Robert Gallman and Eugene Shaw.

Two directors will be picked next year, for District 1 (Farwell, now represented by Darrell Stephens), and for District 2 (Lazbuddie, now represented by Alfred Hicks).

A quorum of 100 members were present at the high school auditorium. Master of ceremonies was board attorney Johnny Atkinson.

After door prizes were handed out, a barbecue lunch was served in the school cafeteria for members and guests.

Students attend seminar

Eleven Farwell High School students attended a seminar in Amarillo on law enforcement on Feb. 14.

The morning session was held at the Region XVI Center. During the course of the day, they heard speeches about topics such as "Law as a Career," and "Teen Courts."

They also went to the Amarillo City Courtroom where they watched 8 people arraigned for an assortment of crimes ranging from assault to indecent exposure.

Trent Schilling, Chris Aycock, Clint Kelley, Rob Pomper, Eric Chadwick, Mark Chandler, Michael Mendoza, Kristi Jones, and Tuck Traynor attended this G/T field trip under the direction of principal David Reynolds.

Our thanks to all who came to visit us and made our Valentine's Day so exciting. The Farwell Junior High kids came to give valentine cards, bunches of hugs and kisses with their usual zest and stamina. We look forward to their visits and their enjoyment is expressed each time in thoughtfulness and concern for each resident.

Our F.C.C. Auxillary provided a delicious assortment of valentine's cookies served with cranapple punch. We send our thanks to each who provided our refreshment.

The surprise of the day was the "Draai-orgal" Dutch organ brought by Ben and Mary Mesman. Ben purchased his Dutch organ through a gentleman in Canada who makes the organs and music as a hobby. The motor or compressor that turns the organ is a very interesting sight to see. The music is on punch cards and - I can't explain; you must ask Ben the details!

Ben, we thank you for your sharing your hobby with us. It was a pleasure to hear and see. We hope to have Ben come again to entertain us in the future. Again, thank you to all who made our Valentine's Day a loving one!

Meals on Wheels

Noon meals can be delivered to your door. For further information, contact the Farwell Convalescent Center at 481-9027. This program is for elderly, handicapped and temporary illnesses.
