In quest of Billy

It's not that I'm lazy this week (there's a bunch of good stuff at the end of the column), it's just that I thought this missive from one of my favorite folks, Don McAlavy, would make a neat column.

So here's Don's "In Quest of Billy":

In spite of recent findings by forensic experts who have compared with a computer the only known authentic photo of Billy the Kid with 152 other people, including the gentleman known as Brushy Bill Roberts who claimed to be Billy the Kid, that puts old Brushy Bill No. 42 in that comparison, the controversy still rages on.

Judge Bob Hefner, of Hico, Texas, who is Brushy Bill's chief champion and booster, will not likely throw in the towel. He'd rather take the word of bullet-scarred Brushy Bill over a dang computer any day.

I wrote the popular outdoor drama "Billy the Kid", which plays each summer at the Caprock Amphitheater, south of San Jon, N.M. In 1987, our first year with the show, Judge Hefner and I debated the issue of Billy's death at a pre-show confrontation at the amphitheater. I believe I won that debate, as did the audience, showing that reputable men saw Billy dead at Old Fort Sumner. But in Bob Hefner I found a sincere and kindly gentleman, a true Texas if there ever was one. I now call him a friend in spite of our differences.

This past March 1st, Bob Hefner got in his say on the ABC-TV prime time live coverage of the controversy. So did members of the Billy the Kid Outlaw Gang of New Mexico, of which I'm a charter member and now a director. Jenean Grissom, president of the BTKOG, and Joe Bowlin, one of its founders, spoke their piece loud and clear, too, for television land to see.

Six of us connected with my outdoor drama of Billy's life were at the Billy the Kid Outlaw Gang's headquarters at Taiban, N.M., on Feb. 15, 1990, when ABC's camera crew came to shoot scenes for the presentation on national TV. We supplied the music with two leading members of our outdoor drama band, Larry Buchanan, of Floyd, N.M., and Valerie Moss, of Amarillo, and two of our best dancers, Bill Strong of Portales, and Kathy McAlavy, of Clovis.

They were included in the 10-minute presentation that aired. (It was amazing that they shot some 35 hours of footage at Taiban, Fort Sumner, Lincoln, Tucson, and Hico - and then edited all that to just 10 minutes. But they did a pretty good job of it.)

ABC wanted a re-enactment of a photographer shooting a tintype photo that became famous of Billy the Kid. I came up with the camera that was televised and shown on the presentation, with my head beneath the black camera cloth, photographing Billy, played by Fred Fair of Portales, who has played Billy in many of our shoot-outs.

I mentioned to the ABC crew about our outdoor drama about Billy several times, but they were only interested in the controversy - so I lost my chance for some free publicity on national TV. That's the way it goes sometimes.

Well, Don, maybe that ABC crew didn't come through, but the ol' Tribune is always glad to help promote your fine play.

"Billy the Kid" opens June 14 and runs each Thursday, Friday and Saturday through Aug. 18. The play will start at 8 p.m. mst each night - it's been moved up. Also, Cattle Call of Amarillo will offer their

Chris Gikas was "Man of the Year," and LaMoin Williams was "Woman of the Year."

Bruce White and Angie White were chosen the "Students of the Year." Ed Wees was the "Teacher of the Year."

W.D. Howard - "Farmer of the Year".

Farwell Chamber honors six

Nearly 200 people attended the annual Farwell Chamber of Commerce banquet Saturday night at the Farwell Community Center.

Honored were: Man of the Year, Chris Gikas; Woman of the Year, LaMoin Williams; Farmer of the Year, W.D. Howard; Teacher of the Year, Ed Wees; Students of the Year, Angie White and Bruce White.

The invocation and benediction were given by Rev. Rick Sullivan. The meal was prepared by the Farwell School cafeteria staff, and the steaks were prepared by Fred Chandler, Joe Jones, Ralph Franse and Marlon Inman. Theme decorations were provided by ESA Sorority. Music was provided by Farwell High band members. Table servers were the Farwell High freshman class.

The speaker was Ben F. Swank Jr., who gave a humorous talk, followed by a patriotic message. The incoming Chamber officers and board members were introduced. Anne Norton will be president; Larry Cochran, vice president; Dutch Quicquel, executive secretary, and Bob Anderson, treasurer.

Guests included the two candidates for the Democrat Party nomination for Parmer County judge - B.K. Buske and Bonnie Clayton.

Angie White and Bruce White also talked about their experiences at Girls State and Boys State, respectively.

Here's how the award winners were introduced:

Woman of the Year

She was born four miles south of Cooperton, Okla. She moved to Farwell as a sophomore in school and graduated from Farwell High School. She later attended Eastern New Mexico College and was named "Most Beautiful" her freshman year. She married a local farmer in 1949 and then spent the next 40 years raising five children and eight grandchildren.

Even though her family came first in her life, she has spent many hours in service to her community. She is active in the First Baptist Church, has twice served as president of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority, and has served on the Farwell Hospital District Board. Along with many others, she did much to see the Farwell Community Center become a reality. She has also spent many volunteer hours at the Farwell Convalescent Center and is always eager to help in any community activity and project.

Her time at present is spent in many and varied ways. She is a baby-sitter, chauffeur, go-fur, piano tutor and crew cook at harvest. She operates a computer, does bookkeeping, accounting, marketing and manages a grain elevator inventory.

Although she is busy, she still finds time to take grandchildren to piano, watch ball games in two states, and drives many miles scouting good pheasant hunting land.

With little pay but much appreciation, we salute "LaMoin Williams" as Woman of the Year in Farwell, Texas, 1990, and always Woman of the Year to her family.

Man of the Year

Our Man of the Year was born in Lincoln, Neb., and lived in Borger, Texas, early in life.

He received his bachelor's degree from Oklahoma State University and his master's degree from the University of New Mexico. He was an art instructor at West Texas State University from 1955 to 1962. He eventually became chairman of art at Eastern New Mexico University until his retirement in 1984.

The filing period for the May elections has ended. Here's a look at the final filing:

Lazbuddle School Board

The two seats on the School Board election ballot currently are held by Melvin Morris and Jerry Engelking.

Two people have filed for these two seats - incumbent Morris and Robert Gallman.

Farwell Hospital District Board

There are four posts open on the hospital district board ballot, currently held by Bert Williams, Troy Christian, Tom Nichols and Frances Kube.

All four incumbents are seeking election - Williams, Christian, Nichols and Mrs. Kube.

Farwell School Board

There are two school board seats on the ballot, currently held by Joe Schilling and Roberta Johnson.

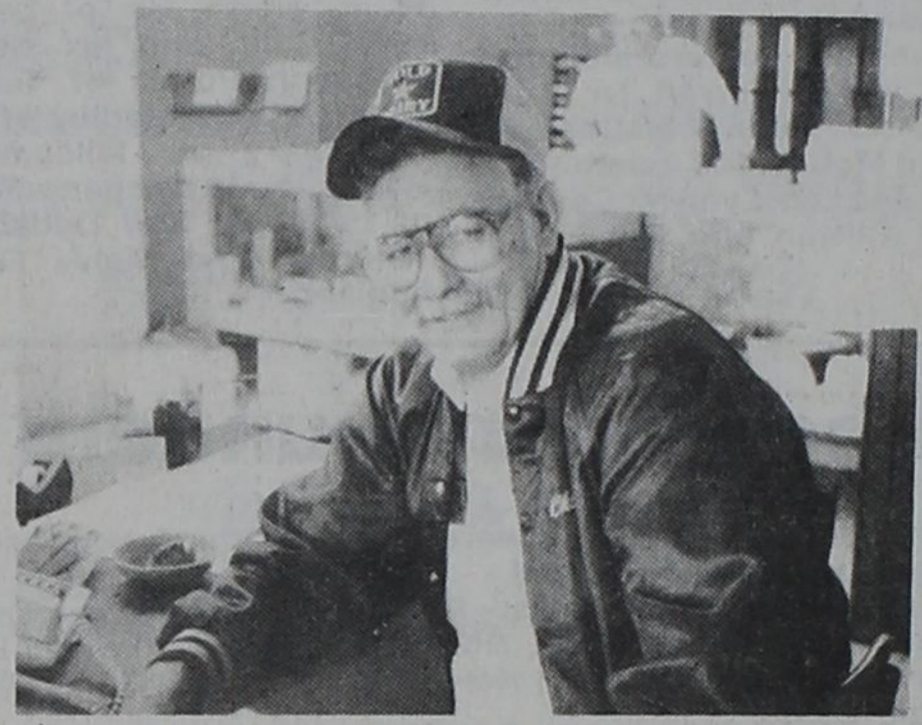

Filing were Mike Woods, David Norton, Royce Bethel and Charles Christian.

Those seeking to be write-in candidates for school board must file at the school administration building by April 5. Election officials will only count write-in votes for people who have registered. A vote for anyone else will be counted as a no vote.

Farwell City Council

Three city council seats are on the ballot, currently held by Fred Chandler, Martin Kube and Gloria Hutchins.

All three filed for re-election.

Gator moves a terminal to Farwell

Gator Transportation of Little Rock, Ark., has moved one of its terminals to the old Kemp Lumber Yard on First Street in Farwell.

The trucking company had operated a terminal in Clovis the past few years, but moved here recently.

"Even with the improvements we have to make on this property, the rent is still quite a bit cheaper here than it was in Clovis," said secretary and day dispatcher Sharon Bender. Her husband, Charles, is terminal manager.

Mrs. Bender said she and her husband were happy to be in Farwell. "Everyone is so friendly here. They have all come by to stop and visit."

Gator's Farwell terminal is part of a much larger organization. Truckers from other terminals will stop by the Farwell terminal when they need maintenance or if they are passing through this area.

"We have 10 trucks based here all the time, and we hire about 18 drivers here," said Mrs. Bender. "There are probably about 40 - 50 trucks total in the Gator Transportation system, and about 75 drivers all together."

The trucks are the semi-trailer trucks that have closed tops. Some are refrigerated.

Gator hauls a variety of products. They haul milk for Goldstar Dairy, and they haul eggs from Arkansas to various points around the nation. "We haul to Super Value in Albuquerque and to Furr's in El Paso and to Fleming Food in Lubbock, to name a few," said Mrs. Bender.

Mrs. Bender got her experience working in the shipping and warehousing business in the Dallas area. She describes her husband as a jack-of-all-trades who can do anything he puts his mind to doing. It will be his job to keep the operation running smoothly, and to maintain the trucks. Son Steve also helps keep things rolling along.

The organization also employs Belinda Jones as a clerk and C. T. Hendrix as the night dispatcher during the week.

"Someone has to be here 24 hours a day," said Mrs. Bender.

The lumber yard - one of the first businesses in town, dating back to the first decade of this century - needs quite a bit of renovation since there had been a fire there a couple of years ago. But, it will also provide a lot of space for the trucking company in return.

The property has plenty of space for a shop to clean and maintain the trucks, and there is a fenced area for parking trucks between hauls.

Gator is leasing the space from Russell Hailey.

W.D. Howard, on behalf of Howard Farms, Farwell, accepts his trophy for placing second in the Texas Irrigated Division of the National Corn Growers Association from NCGA President Alan Kemper (right).

Howard Farms state winner

Howard Farms - Mark, Greg and W.D. Howard, of Farwell, was a state winner in the highly competitive 1989 National Corn Yield Contest, sponsored by the National Corn Growers Association.

Howard won second place in the Texas Irrigated Division with a yield of 241.35 bushels per acre on the field entered in the contest, which was planted to NC+ 5891. "Howard's winning yield was excellent, when you consider the average corn yield in the U.S. in 1989 was 116 bushels per acre," says Hiram Christopherson, a Clarkfield, Minn., farmer who was contest chairman.

A record of 2,783 entries from 46 states vied for top honors in the contest's seven divisions. Howard was recognized for his achievements at the recent NCGA Corn Classic in Phoenix.

Randy Grady has resigned as maintenance director at Farwell Schools and has taken a job in Roswell, N.M.

The Farwell School Board recently approved merging the jobs of maintenance director and transportation director as part of its cutbacks due to financial problems.

Butch Tharp said he has been told that the widening of the Amarillo Highway from Deaf Smith County toward the Twin Cities will stop at the Farwell cemetery.

The Farwell Chamber of Commerce featured a really unusual speaker Saturday night.

For those folks who missed it, you don't know what you missed.

They're building a croquet court next to the Parmer County Courthouse. I'm told there used to be one here years back.

Start getting ready: in another week, it will be time to "spring forward." That's right, you move your clocks an hour ahead the night of Saturday, March 31.

He is an accomplished artist on canvas, a sculptor, and has done notable work with stained glass. He has written books, illustrated texts and has encouraged countless students to pursue art.

Our 1990 Man of the Year has always been active in politics. He served in numerous capacities in the faculty senate at ENMU. He was appointed to the New Mexico Arts Commission by Gov. Bruce King. He currently serves on the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission task force on solid waste and is Republican chairman of Farmer County.

He is a Rotarian, and past president; a Paul Harris Fellow, a member of Hamlin Memorial United Methodist Church and a businessman in Farwell.

He also is Ted's brother, Tom's dad, Stacy's grandpa, Lauren, Nicolas and Bobbi's Poppi and Peggy's husband - and Farwell's mayor for the past four years: Chris Gikas.

Farmer of the Year

The 1990 Farmer of the Year was born in Clovis and graduated from Clovis Schools in 1947. He then continued his education at Eastern New Mexico University in Portales. In 1950 he joined the Air Force and in 1953 with the completion of his enlistment, he married a young lady from the Texico community and returned to this area to begin farming north of Farwell.

This, however, was not his first experience with farming. While growing up in Clovis, his family moved every summer to the Bootleg community north of Friona to care for a wheat farm and harvest the crop. In addition to his, he successfully farmed 13 acres on his own while he was still in high school.

Throughout his farming career, he has demonstrated that he is an innovative person and a progressive farmer. He was an early pioneer in sprinkler irrigation, putting up his first sprinkler in 1967. As an early producer of corn in this area, he moved into food corn production in 1974. In 1977, he performed early works with chemigation, especially in the field of insectigation. Presently, he is working with low pressure drops to conserve water in order to be more efficient.

This man has always held his family in high regard. He and his wife raised two sons, both of whom graduated from college. They returned home to farm with their father. Together, the three of them have established a family business that enables them to be one of the top producers in corn production. Their efforts were recognized at the 1990 National Corn Growers Association, where they received the award for second highest corn yield in the nation.

He and his wife, Beth, their two sons, their wives and their three grandchildren are all active in the Hamlin Memorial United Methodist Church in Farwell, and he is very involved in the Methodist Men's group. He is a dedicated man to his church, his family and his job. I proudly present the 1990 Chamber of Commerce Farmer of the Year - Dub Howard.

Teacher of the Year

The nomination was prepared by Farwell Principal David Reynolds:

I have known Ed for the past two years. His service to Farwell High School has been outstanding, and he has proven himself capable and efficient. He has the ability to relate effectively to students, faculty, and parents. He accepts responsibility readily and carries out his duties with efficiency and dispatch. Ed seems to have the ability to sense the needs and feelings of others and make others feel that they are a contributing part of the whole picture.

It is my observation that as a teacher Ed is a true professional, performing his duties with the utmost efficiency and ability. He is innovative and dynamic in the classroom, infusing his students with tremendous motivation and instilling in them an appetite for the joys of learning. He aids without reprimand, corrects without disparagement and teaches by example and deed as well as textbook fact. He is extremely popular with faculty and students, who seek out his advice and counsel. This he gives without reservation, unselfishly and without condescension.

Socially, I believe Mr. Wees to be a person of moral principle, and someone who can handle the amenities of any situation. He is bright, inquisitive, and multi-talented.

Ed has developed a computer program for the students of Farwell to use to prepare for UIL Number Sense competition. In 1987, Robby White qualified for state UIL competition being coached by Ed using his program. (White is the only Farwell High School student to qualify for the State UIL Meet in over 10 years.) The program is now being used by over 300 schools throughout Texas.

Ed not only teaches at Farwell High School, but also at ENMU, Clovis. He has taught algebra, trig and calculus. Ed has also taught at Fayetteville (N.C.) State University, as an assistant professor of aerospace studies.

Ed is a member of the Association of Texas Professional Educators (ATPE); National Council of Teachers of Mathematics; Texas Math and Science Coaches Association.

Ed is well qualified for the position he holds at Farwell High School with a Bachelor of Science from the University of Oklahoma and a Master of Science from the University of Washington.

Ed has been a Sunday school teacher at Sacred Heart Catholic Church. He has also helped students from Bruce's Home in Clovis raise a garden and sell the produce from it as a fund raising project.

Students of the Year

Angie White - A senior, she is the daughter of Robert and Dorris White. She has been active throughout her high school years as cheerleader for four years and head cheerleader her last year. She has been involved in FFA and 4-H and has had several swine projects. Angie participated in golf and basketball. She was class secretary of the Student Council.

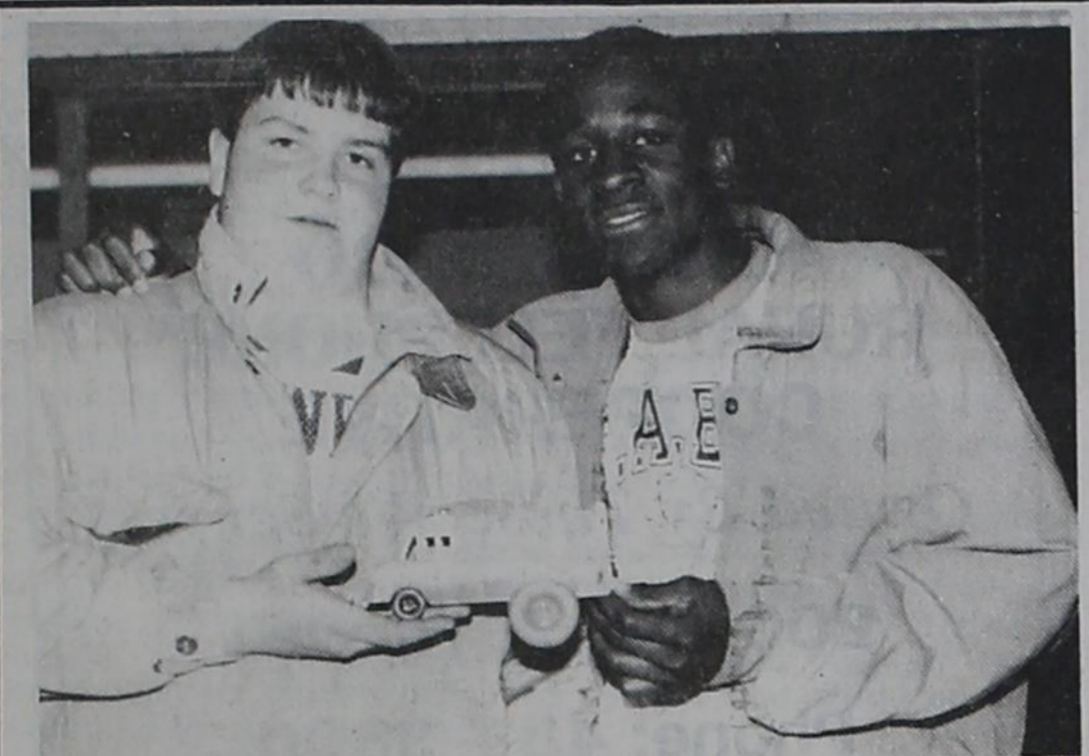

Angie has been on the honor roll for the past three years and has received the W.M. Roberts Award. She is vice president of the National Honor Society. She has received honors such as 1988 Homecoming Queen, Senior Class favorite and Girls State representative.

Angie has a sister, Dana, who attends Texas Tech. Angie is a member of the First Baptist Church of Farwell. She plans to attend Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene, Texas, this fall.

Bruce White - A senior, he is the son of Joel and Katherine White. He has been a member of the National Honor Society for three years and is currently president. He has been on the honor roll for the past three years and has received the W.M. Roberts Award.

Sometimes The Most Difficult Thing In The World Is Finding Someone Who Cares.

There are times when you need a good friend more than anything else in the world. But finding people who make good friends isn't always easy. Unless you look in the right places. Like our church. It's full of people who care. Compassionate people who know how to love and support each other. People who make faithful friends.

That's why we're inviting you to visit our services. To experience firsthand the love and unity that Christ has given us. And realize that it's not that difficult to find someone who cares.

Here's Hope.

Williams, Glover meet with Mexican officials

Bert Williams of Farwell and Jerry Don Glover of Lazbuddie, both members of the Texas Corn Producers Board, recently met with officials of the Mexican government and Mexico's tortilla producer association to begin negotiations for sale of more Texas food grade corn to Mexico.

The following is quoted from the Texas Corn News: "We carried samples of our food grade corn to Mexico City to illustrate the differences of regular corn (being used in much Mexican tortilla production) and our food grade corn," says Williams. "The head of the tortilla association was enthused about the possibility of obtaining the higher grade of corn for production of better quality tortillas."

Conasupo, a Mexican agency, buys all corn and sells it to tortilla companies. They normally pay at least $10 cwt. for white corn and sell it for $1.50 cwt. The difference in the prices is a subsidy Mexico pays to feed its masses of people. "However, the government is planning to remove the subsidy to a portion of the more affluent population and allow tortilla manufacturers to buy a part of their corn from the free market," says Williams.

"That's where we believe there will be a much larger market for the higher quality food grade corn we produce on the High Plains."

Williams added that Venezuela is also changing its regulations on imported corn. "That country is lifting its restrictions of corn imports, says Williams, who recently sent food grade corn samples to Venezuela's food processors group.

"Texas Corn Growers has promoted our high quality corn for 19 years," he says. "We hope our newest efforts also pave the way for more markets."

Bailey County producers can receive training

Bailey County producers will have the opportunity to complete training to meet one of the requirements for obtaining a private applicator license at a program scheduled for March 28 at 8:00 a.m. at the Bailey County Civic Center in Muleshoe, according to Spencer Tanksley, County Extension Agent.

To become a licensed private applicator, a producer must attend a Texas Agricultural Extension Service private applicator training program, make a passing score on a Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA) private applicator examination and submit an application to TDA along with a required $50 fee. The TDA private applicator license is valid for 5 years.

Producers holding TDA private applicator certificates dated January 10, 1989, and after, but prior to Jan. 1, 1990, may also continue to buy and use restricted-use and state-limited-use pesticides. However, persons holding private applicator certificates dated Jan. 10, 1989, and after, but prior to Jan. 1, 1990, will be required to become licensed private applicators within 5 years.

The private applicator training program is available to those persons not previously certified and to those previously certified who will be supervising the application of restricted-use and/or state limited use pesticides and who wish to obtain a TDA private applicator license.

Option 1 - Texas Department of Agriculture personnel will offer testing at the same location beginning at 1:30 p.m. on March 28. Persons who plan to attend the training session and take the TDA test are encouraged to obtain a copy of "Using Pesticides-Private Applicator Manual" from the county Extension office for review and study prior to attending the training session.

Option 2 - Persons attending the training session will be provided with a form which must be presented to TDA when applying to test for a private applicator license. Days that tests are offered at TDA District offices are listed on the reverse of the form along with the addresses and telephone numbers of TDA offices.

A luncheon will be provided at this training meeting in Muleshoe provided by Terra International at Muleshoe and Rhone Poulenc Ag Company. In order to know how many persons to prepare for, Please Call the Extension Office (272-4583) or Terra International (272-4503) and make a reservation to attend this special training meeting. Representatives of home Poulenc Ag Company will give a presentation about chemicals from their company during the lunch break.

8 new members welcomed

The Texico 4-H Club welcomed 8 new members when they met Feb. 21 at Citizens' Bank.

The new members are Dean Henninger, Letitia Marlow, Marcia Marlow, Laura McIntosh, Daniel Qualls, and Greg Qualls, Chad Helmer and Lori Stanley.

The evening featured Randy Prichard and Todd Pinnell who presented a program on demonstrations. They played a videotape about demonstrations, and then- to break the ice- they asked each member present to pick an item from a sack and demonstrate its use to the group.

The exercise was great fun because the sack contained many strange items. When the 4-H'ers couldn't identify an object; they had to really stretch their imaginations to come up with demonstrations.

Jared Barfield and Justin Meeks reported on the County Council meeting. They reported that there is a contest going for recruiting new members. Winning club will receive $100.

Six leaders were present: Richard and Shaun Hadley, Cindy Meeks, Barbara Helmer, Glen and Frieda Neie.

Refreshments were served by the Neies and Meeks. The group's next meeting will be held on March 21 at 6:30 p.m. For more information about the location, contact Freda Neie.

Guests present were: Randy Prichard, Todd Pinnell, Rhonda Qualls, Brette Hadley, Rainey Prichard.

Referendum ballots available

Ballots for the Texas Corn Referendum are available at the Parmer County Extension office for any corn producer who did not receive one through the mail.

Bert Williams of Farwell is one of the candidates listed on the ballot; so are Carl King of Dimmitt and Weldon Davis of Hart. Altogether, there are 26 candidates for 9 posts.

The ballot for most of the state also contains a referendum to expand the corn checkoff system to the entire state. The money raised would go for a corn market development and research program to include the entire state. This would help solve problems which are too big to be managed individually such as Aflatoxin, mite insect research, and the expansion of food grade corn sales.

Currently, seven counties (Deaf Smith, Castro, Parmer, Swisher, Bailey, Lamb, and Hale) already have this check-off system, so the referendum will not be included on their ballots.

Parmer has high turn-out

Texas recorded its highest primary election turnout ever in a non-presidential year when 2.3 million people cast ballots in the Democratic and Republican party primaries on March 13.

Parmer County, far more than the rest of the state, had a tremendous turnout for a primary. Just under 50% of the registered voters cast ballots. That marks nearly twice the participation in the remainder of the state. The county judge's race and the justice of the peace race probably drew most of the local voters to the polls here.

"We've always had a better turnout than the rest of the state," said county clerk Bonnie Warren Howard.

Generally, there is little or no interest in primary elections since they simply pick the candidates to run for each political party. This election drew Parmer County residents because they understand the importance of the judicial posts—especially the county judge's post.

"There were some folks who wanted to vote for both the county judge on the Democratic ballot and for the Republican candidates for governor," said Mrs. Warren.

Youths to get

Easter cards

A report on three foster children of Parmer County was given at the March 19 meeting of the Parmer County Child Welfare Board in Bovina.

Each board member will send Easter cards to the children. If others would like to send them, please contact board members for the addresses.

April is Child Abuse Prevention Month. Parmer County school children, kindergarten through fifth grade, will receive suckers the week of April 16-20 in recognition of it.

Attending the meeting were chairman Jo Blackwell, June Rhodes, Tonya Gober, Janice Stowers, Joan Ahrhart, Anne Norton and County Judge Porter Roberts. The next meeting will be July 23.

The statewide turnout is believed to be the second highest total for any primary election in Texas history, according to Secretary of State George Bayoud.

This year's primary marked only the third time in Texas history that a primary election turnout exceeded 2 million voters. The turnout represents 28 percent of the state's 8.3 million registered voters. It is the highest for a gubernatorial primary since 1978.

In 1986 - the last gubernatorial election in Texas - 21 percent of the state's eligible voters turned out in the primary elections, while in 1982 gubernatorial primary a 26 percent turnout rate was recorded.

Parmer County will have a run-off election for the Democrat Party nomination for county judge, between Bonnie Clayton and B.K. Buske Absentee ballots may be cast between April 2-6. To cast one, the voter only needs to appear at the county clerk's office and present his or her registration card. It is no longer necessary to declare that they will be away on election day.

Thank You

I appreciate the confidence placed in me by the voters of Parmer County. I would like to thank my opponent for running a fair and competitive race. I will continue to conduct the duties of this office to the best of my ability, bringing fair and equal justice to all.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig Tharp

Kelm, Tharp exchange vows

Kelly Jo Kelm and Craig Alan Tharp were united in marriage on Feb. 10 at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Clovis. Rev. Patrick Erickson, uncle of the bride, officiated at the early afternoon double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Wayne and Linda Kelm of Farwell and the bridegroom is the son of Nathan and Fern Tharp of Texico.

Music for the occasion was provided by organist Karen Holland and pianist Georgia Tharp, sister-in-law of the groom. Soloist, Rhonda Hill, sister of the groom, sang "Wedding Song."

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, was attired in a formal length gown of white satin featuring princess styling with long sleeves. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion adorned the satin headpiece delicately decorated in tiny sequins and pearls. Her bridal bouquet of white carnations, peach roses and baby breath was accented with peach ribbon and pearls.

The bridegroom was attired in a black tuxedo with tails, white shirt, peach tie and boutonniere, a single peach rosebud.

Serving as matron of honor was Patricia Lambert. Her tea-length gown of peach floral and lace featured princess styling and puffed sleeves cuffed at the elbow. Her wrist bouquet included a cluster of carnations and peach roses accented with peach ribbon.

Eddie Adkins, best man, wore a grey tuxedo, white shirt and peach tie. His boutonniere was a single peach rosebud.

The bride's table in the reception area was covered in white lace and featured peach bows alternately around the edge. The centerpiece included a crystal hurricane lamp holding a single peach candle and was encircled with peach roses, lace, and baby breath accented with a touch of greenery. The wedding cake, decorated by Cheryl Whitener, cousin of the groom, featured peach roses and was adorned with satin wedding bells. It was served with peach punch, mints that were confectioned by Georgia Tharp, and mixed nuts. Peach napkins bearing the names and wedding date of the bride and groom completed the table decor.

Honored guests included grandparents, Jo Kelm of Farwell, Ray and Mabel Tharp of Texico, and Elsie Smith of Bovina.

The couple now resides in Texico.

Absentee voting under way

Absentee voting for the Democratic party runoff will be held in the Parmer County Clerk's office until April 6th. The election decides which candidate—Bonnie Clayton or B. K. Buske will be on the ballot for the County Judge's position. Voters may use absentee voting even if they will be in town on election day.

Those who wish to vote in the regular runoff election instead of absentee voting may do so on April 10 at the Farwell Community Center.

County Tax Assessor Doris Herington reminds voters that they must have valid registration cards if they are going to vote in this election. Voters should see her before April 2 if they have lost their cards or if they have moved since the last card was issued.

Marriage Licenses

There were four marriage licenses issued in Parmer County last week.

They were issued to: Thomas Blaine Cox and Janet May Cox; Michael Paul Raymond and Deborah Kay Clarkson; Fred Prosser and Natalie Elaine Nelson; and John R. Rose and Rebecca J. O'Brien.

'It's not like what they show on TV'

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ancira enjoyed a visit from their daughter, Sgt. Cynthia Waterman.

Sgt. Waterman was on her way back to Leavenworth, Kan., where she is stationed as an investigator and juvenile officer with the Military Police. She was returning to Leavenworth after special four week long training session at the Protective Service School in Alabama.

"I try to get all the extra training I can," said Sgt. Waterman. This particular school is designed to train military personnel in ways to protect high ranking individuals who might be in danger of assassination or kidnapping.

"We saw film footage on the attempted assassinations of presidents and some military VIP's," she said. "It was really interesting." They did not spend the whole time sitting in a class room, though.

"We had to run a physical stress course, and then go back through it a second time at night with weapons. They changed the places where targets were hiding, so we didn't know when we would have to shoot. It was really stressful."

Target practice included several weapons that Sgt. Waterman does not usually handle including a shot gun, and a machine gun.

"It isn't like they show on tv at all. I was black and blue here, here, and here," she said pointing to her shoulders and hips. Participants in the school had to practice enough to feel comfortable with the weapons, and to know how the weapons reacted with different types of ammunition.

Another part of the school taught military police personnel driving skills. "We got to blockade roads, and to ram cars.

And, we learned to do fast turns. Some of the people just couldn't do it, but I thought it was neat," said Sgt. Waterman.

"We also had an intensive first aid and CPR course. One of the things we had to do was plan an itinerary for a VIP making notations at each point where the nearest hospitals are located, and whether they had trauma units available or not."

Sgt. Waterman's daily routine does not usually include guarding VIP's. She normally spends part of her time supervising juvenile offenders who have been assigned to do community service projects in lieu of a fine or jail time. Usually these offenders are children of military personnel or retired personnel.

"This is a really good program for young offenders. They do things like pick up rocks at the golf course or rake leaves."

Sgt. Waterman also helps with criminal investigations.

Sgt. Waterman is a 1985 graduate of Farwell High School. She joined the military police shortly after graduation. She met her husband while they were stationed in West Germany. They live in Leavenworth. She is working toward an eventual degree in criminal justice.

Lazbuddie plans fund-raiser supper

The Lazbuddie Volunteer Fire Department and Lazbuddie Emergency Service have scheduled a fund-raising supper March 30 at 7 p.m. at the Lazbuddie school cafeteria. Income will be used to help build an additional fire station at Clay's Corner and to buy more ambulance equipment. Currently, there are three trucks and an ambulance at the Lazbuddie fire station. There are several more trucks available and some of the fire department members live closer to Clay's Corner (6 miles from the Lazbuddie station) than to Lazbuddie. Also, there are currently four qualified EMT's in the Lazbuddie department, noted Chief Glenn Lust. The supper will be catered by Dyer's Barbeque, AmariHo. Cost is $7.50 for adults and $2.50 for children 10 and under. Tickets are available from Lazbuddie firemen and EMS personnel. Donations may be designated to either the fire department or ambulance service.

The Lazbuddie ambulance and fire trucks will be on display at the supper. Jerry White, a representative of Rhone-Poulenc Chemical Co., will pay the cost of the food so that the fire department and EMS will receive all income from the ticket sales and donations.

Farwell Church of Christ to present lectureship

The Farwell Church of Christ will sponsor a Bible Lectureship series April 1- 4 featuring three exceptional teachers of God's word, Norman Gipson, C.W. "Abe" Lincoln, and David Tarbet.

"Between these 3 men, they have 120 years of preaching experience. They are delightful to listen to- clear, forceful speakers who are easily understood; plain spoken, but bold in their delivery. They have applicable messages; something you can take home with you when they're done speaking," said Bro. David Echols.

The series begins on April 1 with Gipson presenting "In Search of the Lord's Will." Sunday services will be 10 a.m. and 10:50 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Gipson is a teacher at the Sunset School of Preaching in Lubbock who has preached and taught for the past 50 years. Prior to teaching in Lubbock, he taught at the Bear Valley School of Preaching in Denver, Colorado. He has also taught singing schools and led family encampments.

On April 2, Tarbet will present "In Search of the Lord's Salvation" at the 7:30 p.m. service. Tarbet is the pulpit minister at the 16th and Pile Church of Christ in Clovis. Previous to this, he preached for 5 years in Big Springs and 23 years in Danbury, Conn.

On April 3, Lincoln will preach "In Search of the Lord's Church." Lincoln has been a preacher for the past 25 years. He teaches at the Sunset School of Preaching in Lubbock, and he is the minister of the Church of Christ in Seminole, Texas.
