Choicest Lands in the Texas Pan-Handle

For Sale By

The Farwell Real Estate Exchange..

Now is the Time to Buy.

Our farming lands in the immediate vicinity of the growing towns of

are unsurpassed in quality, price and location. FARWELL, Tex. is near the N. W. border of the State and on the Main Line of the Santa Fe Railroad. It is an important railroad junction point for trains going in all directions. The Gulf R. R. now under construction gives connection with the Gulf at Galveston and ocean freight rates.

The lands we are offering for sale are all underlaid with the purest of sheet water. The soil is rich and productive. The air dry and healthful.

Annual rain-fall for the past 14 years is 24 inches. Our winters are comparatively mild, and the altitude here of 3,600 feet makes our Summers delightful.

Hon. J. D. Hamlin.

The above sketch is a snap shot likeness of one of our busiest citizens.

J. D. Hamlin was born near Louisville, Ky., about thirty-five years ago. About fifteen years back he located at Amarillo, Texas, where he conducted a large private school or college. During this period he was studying law, and was admitted to the Amarillo bar where he practised for several years, holding at one time the office of prosecuting attorney.

The construction of the Belen railroad Cut-off brought him to this section where he located the town of Texico, and later was employed by the Capitol Syndicate Company to handle their lands, and open up the town of Farwell. Practically he may be considered the founder of each of our twin cities.

During his residence here he has accumulated a large amount of choice property. Possessing a mind of wonderful resourcefulness and activity and a most impartial judgment, he is considered a safe adviser on most any subject his mind is directed to.

With an amiability almost angelic, he is regarded by all of our citizens as a personal friend. Generous to the extreme and accommodating to the last degree he has unconsciously made friends even among those who regard his interests as antagonistic to theirs.

He is a director in two of our National Banks and a member of several corporation Boards. In fact he is engaged in such a multiplicity of enterprises, it would be difficult to single out any one of them as his specialty, but we can safely say that there is no higher authority on real estate values and investments than J. D. Hamlin.

Capt. J. M. Kindred

The picture which we present above of Capt. J. M. Kindred is regarded as a good likeness. Mr. Kindred was born in Kentucky. He began life as a school teacher, served in the army for three years during our Civil war. Entering as a raw private, he was promoted for repeated gallantry in action, and emerged at the close of the conflict as Brigade Quarter-master.

On returning to his native town, more or less turbulence existed in the district, and the citizens, realizing the need of a fearless, conscientious officer, selected him as high sheriff of the county, a position which he filled most acceptably until the close of his term. Declining reelection, he removed to Louisville, Ky., and engaged in business there for several years. After this he visited Georgia and purchased hotel property, which he personally conducted for some time. Later on, hearing of the glories of the Texas Panhandle 20 years ago, he moved to Amarillo, Tex., at that time a mere hamlet on the line of the Fort Worth & Denver railroad. As the town developed into city proportions, the Amarillo citizens solicited him to become their postmaster, and following their petition the U. S. Government appointed him to the office, which he held for a period of about nine years.

His stock farm near Amarillo is now worth many times the price he originally sold it for, but he has recouped handsomely on his Amarillo town property which has greatly enhanced its original cost.

Sometime ago Mr. Kindred removed to this point and after a short sojourn, he was offered and accepted the presidency of the First National Bank of Texico, one of our three fiscal institutions here.

Possibly no one has done more in an active but unostentatious manner, to advance the interests of Texas and its Panhandle than Mr. Kindred. During the World's Fair at St. Louis, which he visited at his own expense, he was indefatigable in his efforts to advertise the state and induce immigrants to come to it.

In social life Mr. Kindred is considered as a most worthy accession to any circle. A man of strong force of character and consummate diplomacy of disposition he makes his presence felt in any community. In addition to his position as Bank President he is a member of the Parwell Board of School Trustees and is an active officer in his church. Mr. Kindred is nearing the limit of three score years and ten and honored by the confidence of our citizens with positions of trust usually relegated to younger men. He can also look back with pleasure over a life spent in doing good whenever the opportunity presented itself.

Long may he wave, and never waver.

C. H. Leftwich

C. H. Leftwich, one of the pioneers and promoters of Farwell-Texico represented by the below "cut" is a native of Virginia where he spent his boyhood days. When quite a young man he located in Knoxville, Tenn. He engaged as salesman for the wholesale queensware firm of Cullen & Newman. He remained with said firm, first in the house then on the road as traveling salesman, for several years. His business brought him to Texas about 20 years ago, where he bought land near Amarillo, and went into the cow business. In that line he was quite successful. When he sold out he owned one of the best improved small ranches in his section of the country.

He was afterward assistant postmaster at Amarillo, then city marshal, and tax collector for the years 1904 and 1905.

He is now farming and owns one of the most choice and best improved farms in Parmer county, Tex., two and one half miles east of Farwell. He is also engaged in buying and selling real estate. He is a stock holder and director in the First National Bank of Texico, N. M., and has been vice president for more than a year past. He has great confidence in the future of the Texico-Farwell country.

J. M. Hamlin.

The cut above is a likeness of Hon. J. M. Hamlin, one of Parmer county's well known business men.

He was born in Pittsburg, Pa., in the year 1843. His long line of ancestry is Maryland and Virginia stock.

During the early business career of his life he was engaged in the manufacturing of glass, then removed west, married in Louisville, Ky., where he spent a number of years in active business pursuits. Some twenty years or more ago he moved with his family to St. Louis, Mo., and became manager of the St. Louis Religious Press Association, having in addition the exclusive control of the advertising of several other journals of large circulation. The several duties of this line of work that he handled successfully for many years kept him prominently before the public so much that at one time he was nominated for congress in his district. While he secured the full strength of his party vote, he was defeated. At another election he was made one of Missouri's Presidential state electors. Notwithstanding these political honors he was never in any sense a politician.

Two years ago his attention was called to the southern Panhandle of Texas. Upon visiting it he found it so much to his liking that he engaged in business here, and also purchased a farm two miles from the twin cities, Farwell, Tex., and Texico, N. M.

He has beautified his home until he has one of the most attractive places on the plains of Texas.

Since his two years' residence here he is recognized as a strong factor in every needed enterprise. He was made one of the railroad delegates to look after a new railway enterprise. Was chairman of a committee sent to Austin to appear before the R. R. commission asking for Texas freight rates for his own town. His well prepared and impassioned appeal, together with the merit of the plea, secured a successful verdict.

As chairman of Farwell's first school board, he is actively enlisted in the cause of education.

He is a safe counselor and an honorable christian gentleman, whose life work is an open book.

E. T. Stevens.

Whose likeness we herewith produce is a native Texan, was born at Gonzales, Texas in 1852, where he remained until 1877. Came to Wichita Falls, Texas, where he engaged in the cattle business with the Fall Land and Cattle Co., and remained in the cattle business for fifteen years. In 1905, and in 1907 was elected to the office of Sheriff of Parmer county, which office he still holds to the satisfaction of the entire County.

Mr. Stevens is a man that is well liked by all his many acquaintances and is today one of the foremost men in the County having won for himself by close attention and courteous treatment not only the respect of the law abiding citizens, but with the criminal element with which he has to contend. The Times feels that it has not words at its command to show its appreciation and regard for the citizenship of Mr. Stevens, as he is a man worthy of the citizenship of any country and one that we all feel justly proud of, and we hope to claim the citizenship of Mr Stevens during the remainder of his useful career.

E. R. Read.

Whose likeness we herewith present, was born at Richpond, Ky., 1876, beginning railroad work with the Texas Pacific R. R. Co., at Big Springs, Texas, at the age of 16. Mr Read has since that time been identified with railroad work. In 1894 he became identified with the Santa Fe R. R. on the Pecos Valley Lines as agent at Roswell, N.M., which position he held to the entire satisfaction of the company, until he was transferred to this place on December 8th, 1906. Since that time he has been local agent at this place and has filled that position to the satisfaction of an exacting public, and to the Railroad company.

Mr. Read is a man well liked by all who know him and enjoys the highest of esteem both at home and in railroad circles.

The author of the likeness below needs no introduction through the columns of the Times for Dr Miller is familiarly known to all our residents and numbers his friends by all who know him. He was born at Cedar Hill, Texas, in 1872. Studied Dentistry in the Curly Dental Parlors of Dallas, where he gained distinction as a dentist. He came to Texico in April, 1903, settling upon a claim three miles west of town at the time when it took courage and grit to prompt a man to settle upon and hold a claim. Today the Doctor prides himself upon having one of the best pieces of land in the county and it is a pleasure to point the finger of pride to the same to prospectors who come to this country.

He was elected Consul Commander of the Woodmen of the World January 1, 1908, and meets with the hearty approval of all the members of this praise worthy organization.

Dr Augustus Davis.

Augustus Davis was born near Shady Grove, Ky., in 1877, where he lived until entering the Hospital College of Medicine at Louisville, Ky., where he graduated with high honors in 1904.

After graduating, he, like many of our noble young men, turned his eye westward, and came to Texico in the fall of 1906, where he immediately engaged in the practice of medicine and has enjoyed a very lucrative practice since that date.

In social circles he holds an enviable position.

He was elected Noble Grand of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows at Texico, on January 1st, 1908, which position he holds to the entire satisfaction of his brother Odd Fellows.

Surely the western country is to be congratulated upon securing such a man as Augustus Davis to reside therein.

F. E. Kepple.

Prominent among our young men is Mr. Frank Kepple.

Mr. Kepple was born at Emporia, Kans., 1891 and graduated at the Emporia Business College in 1906, came to Texico in 1907, where he accepted a position as stenographer with the W. E. Schooler Land Company, which position he held to the entire satisfaction of the employers. Mr. Kepple is now Public Stenographer, and is enjoying a liberal patronage, being courteous, accurate and prompt. Mr. Kepple enjoys the very best respect of the men he has served. Like many others of our stalwart young men who have accepted their lot in the west, he is prospering, well pleased and has the confidence of all his many acquaintances. We very respectfully call your attention to his card elsewhere in this issue.

L. C. Roberson.

Mr. Roberson, whose likeness we herewith produce needs no introduction on the part of the Times as he is favorably known to all of our citizens.

Mr. Roberson was born at Henrietta, Tex., August 28 1887. When but a lad he moved with his parents to Wichita Falls, Texas, entering the school there and graduated with high honors in the Wichita Falls Business College on May 12, 1905. He immediately came to Texico, and engaged in business under the firm name of Hopping & Roberson, Dec. 4, 1905. He remained with the firm of Hopping-Roberson Mercantile Co. last year when he was elected to the responsible position of Secretary and Treasurer of the company, which position he holds at present.

Mr. Roberson is a striking example of what a young man of energy and adaptation to business can attain, having risen rapidly to the responsible position he now holds.

Socially Mr. Roberson is a young man well liked by all his many friends and acquaintances, and especially esteemed by men in business, who by business relations come in contact with him. Truthfully we can say that should all of our young men devote themselves to business with the energy as has Mr. Roberson, the age of young men would be an age to be looked upon with pride and praise.

Certainly we are to be congratulated upon having young men like Mr. Roberson to live and mingle with us in the daily walk of life.

Ed. T. Massey.

Ed. T. Massey was born in Illinois 1873. At the age of five he moved with his parents to Kansas where he remained until 1891 when he settled at Gage, Okla., where he was engaged in the general mercantile business for a number of years, and was elected and served the town of Gage as its first mayor. Mr. Massey remained at Gage until December 1905 when he came to Texico and associated himself with the Coker Triplett Mercantile Co. At present Mr. Massey is secretary of the Coker Triplett Co., president of the Texico Ice Light and Cold Storage Co., secretary of the Texico Water Co., and one of the directors of the Roosevelt County Telephone Co. and President of the Trumpet Publishing Company.

Mr. Massey aside from being popular socially is one of our most prominent citizens financially and has done and is doing much for the up building of the town of Gage.

R. C. Hopping.

Mr. R. C. Hopping was born in Granbury Texas, 1875 and remained there until the year 1901 when he came to New Mexico and engaged in the cattle business until December 1904, when he associated himself with Blankenship & Roberson in the general merchandise business in Texico; in March 1905 becoming a member of the Hopping & Roberson Mercantile Co., and in March 1907 he was made president of the Hopping & Roberson Mercantile Co.

Mr. Hopping is General Manager of the Farwell Wholesale Grocery Co. Mr. Hopping is a highly educated gentleman having obtained his schooling in the best colleges in Texas, and has gradually by close attention and good business principles made for himself and family a living and fortune to be envied by anyone. Truly we can say we are glad to have Mr. Hopping live in our midst.

A. A. Maxwell.

A. A. Maxwell, cashier of the First National Bank of Texico, was born in Boston, Mass., and lived there continuously until his tenth birthday when he was sent to boarding school for the benefit that is commonly supposed to accrue to a boy upon leaving home.

He is the son of James Audley Maxwell, a civil engineer of repute in Southern Railroad circles and a lawyer of prominence in Boston, Mass.

Mr Maxwell went to Savannah, Georgia, on attaining his majority finding the business routine of Northeastern cities not too promising to a straggling young man.

The chances in the South were good and Mr. Maxwell says that the country is rapidly forging to the front commercially, but when it comes to the place for a young man the west is the arena.

Mr. Maxwell left Georgia over a year ago and came to Oklahoma and from there here. He is entirely satisfied with the country and believes in this particular spot in it. Texico and Farwell will be one of the cities of the Plains and he is convinced that the time is not far off.

C L. Main.

One of our most prominent and influential young men is C. L. Main whose likeness we here-with produce. Mr. Main was born at Dover, Kan., October 21st 1884. He graduated in 1902 in the commercial college at Tecumseh, Okla. After graduation he like other young men began looking for a location where he could be promoted by application to business and faithful work and rise into prominence. He came to Texico on the 20th day of October 1906. Before coming to Texico he was identified as assistant cashier of the First National Bank of Maud, Okla., and on November 1st 1906 he accepted the position with the First National Bank of Texico, which position he now holds to the credit of himself and to the entire satisfaction of all parties concerned. We are glad to know that Mr. Main is a permanent fixture with us and may his rapid progress never cease until he has reached the height of his ambition.

The Texico National Bank.

No financial institution in this section can point to a more satisfactory record of usefulness and conservative growth than the Texico National Bank. This Bank was organized as a State Bank March 20, 1906, but its business has grown to such an extent that the capital stock has been doubled, making the capital stock $30,000 fully paid up. The Texico Savings Bank and Trust Co., met with public favor from its inception, and the growth of the institution has been rapid, yet business is transacted on a conservative basis. The confidence of the people they have; integrity is evidently their watch word, and reliability their standard. With such methods as pursued by this Bank, would be hard to fail, and their strong financial business can be accounted for only by the conservative banking methods pursued by this management, always fair, cautious and liberal.

The Bank's career throughout has attracted widespread attention, possibly receives more write ups than any other bank in the territory. The manner in which they appeal to the people, then their advertisements are a credit to any banking institution. The following is an extract from a publication of the Santa Fe New Mexican: "Concrete examples are often more convincing than general statements. Up at Texico, a point on the boundary between New Mexico and the Panhandle of Texas, there is a bank which started business last spring with first day's deposit of $4,487.11; the 11 cents were not to be despised in those days either. But in one month the deposits had risen to $44,791 just 10 times the first days deposit. Fifty per cent increase brought the total to $61,000 at the end of the second month. The third month showed $70,000. The fourth $75,

000. In the dead of summer, the fifth month $80,000. Then a jump to $114,000, and now after eight months the total is over $150,000 or thirty-three times the total at the beginning."

The El Paso Herald says: "The Texico National Bank of Texico, N. M., advertises 'We do strictly banking, that's all'. It is as good a motto as a bank wants. The trouble with so many rail roads, insurance companies and banks nowadays is that they go into many lines outside their legitimate trade. Railroad executives go into stock jugling, insurance companies go into banking and bankers go into doubtful industrial venture for the benefit of the officers and directors. They would all be more serviceable to the public if they would follow their own trade."

The Texico National Bank is a money-making institution which is indicative of its prosperity, handing out to its stockholders every six months a handsome dividend besides setting aside a nice surplus which is added to its capital of $30,000, surplus $1,500. Total capital and surplus $31,500 for the year 1907 a dividend of 20 per cent was declared. With the exception of one bank between Roswell, N.M. and Hereford, Tex., they have the largest deposits. The First National Bank of Portales, N.M., which is a kindred bank, shows the largest deposits of any bank between the above mentioned places.

The Texico National Bank is connected with a line of the best organized Banks, their policies throughout have been watched with a degree of satisfaction attained by no other line of banks.

Their statements as made to the Comptroller of Currency, Dec. 3rd, 1907, proved their financial standing with their method of doing banking, their integrity of handling your business was supreme for the occasion. This Bank is a popular Bank, you are made to feel at home.

No deposit is too small for their attention, nor too large for their ability. By this policy they are all appreciated.

The officers of this bank are practical bankers. No change has been made in the management since its inception. W. O. Oldham, its president, is one of the best known bankers in the Territory. His broad ideas, safe and sound methods have achieved success when others have failed. He is cashier of the First National Bank of Portales Roosevelt county's largest bank. A. L. Breeding, vice-president, is a man we all know; a prominent physician, also Texico's post master. B. D. Oldham, cashier in whose hands the management is entrusted and whose likeness we herewith present

B. D. Oldham.

B. D. Oldham was born at Duffan Tex.. March 11, 1876 where he spent his boyhood days and after graduating in one of the best schools of Texas he came west in 1900, and was elected cashier of the Texico Savings Bank and Trust Company, now the Texico National Bank, at its organization in 1906 which position he now holds with great credit to that organization. Mr. Oldham, by his safe and conservative methods of banking has won for his bank an enviable reputation, as it is now one of the strongest banking institutions in Eastern New Mexico.

In social circles, Mr. Oldham enjoys a very prominent position. Being courteous and obliging at all times to the public whether a customer of his bank or not, and too much cannot be said of his endeavors to build up that, for which he is most interested, the Texico National Bank.

E. H. Robinson.

The above we regard as a good likeness of E. H. Robinson. Mr. Robinson was born in Gallia County, Ohio, in 1864 where he spent the days of his boyhood. After completing his education at the Lebanon Normal School of Lebanon, Ohio, he taught school for about eight years in Ohio, then in Missouri for some time. After this time he was engaged in the general merchandise business in Eno, Ohio.

Like many others Mr. Robinson was attracted by the many advantages of our great and glorious west, and moved to Texico in July, 1905 where he immediately gained the respect and confidence of everyone who he came in contact with. After sojourning in Texico for about one year Mr. Robinson accepted a position as teacher in our city school, where he taught for some time. Retiring from teaching school he entered in the real estate and insurance business under the name of the well known firm of Schooler & Robinson in which business he has prospered and is still engaged in the same line.

Mr. Robinson is a man that is easy to make friends with and is looked upon with the highest of esteem by all business men of the twin cities. He is a man so well liked by the people in general that we think it would be almost an impossibility for such a man not to come to the front. At the solicitation of his many friends Mr. Robinson has consented to become a candidate for County Superintendent of Public Instruction of Roosevelt County. We most cordially solicit the votes of Roosevelt county for Mr. Robinson in the election that will take place in the near future. Our hearty congratulations are extended to the public in having such a man in our midst.

Hobert R. Miller.

Below we represent a very prominent young man of the twin cities Mr. Miller was born near Howard, Elk County, Kansas, in 1881 where he spent the greater part of his life on his fathers ranch until he was twenty four years of age, when he was induced by the many advantages of the golden west to come westward. Selecting the country around Texico and Farwell as a desirable location, he decided to cast his lot with the people here and located at this place in January, 1906.

After Mr. Miller arrived at Texico he at once realized the wonderful productiveness of this country and accepted a position as traveling Immigration Agent for the W. E. Schooler Land and Immigration Co., of Texico, New Mexico, and the S. M. Cotton Land and Immigration Co., of Amarillo, Texas. At this very beneficial work as well as profitable, Mr. Miller was engaged for one year, during which time he traveled some twenty thousand miles and induced many people to locate here. At the expiration of the time Mr. Miller decided to engage in the Real Estate business for himself, and was thereafter and up to a short time ago associated with The Wheat Land Company, of which he was President and General Manager during which time he was very successful.

Mr. Miller has studied Law extensively and was a short time ago admitted to practice before the Department of the Interior.

Recently Mr. Miller purchased W. E. Schooler's one half interest in the firm of Schooler & Robinson, a firm well known throughout the entire country.

In social circles Mr. Miller holds a very enviable position, being courteous to all, and obliging, he has won for himself the friendship of everyone he meets. He is a gentleman in every respect, bound to make friends in any community in which he may desire to locate. It is our earnest desire to have a man of Mr. Miller's ability with us permanently.

C. C. Marshall

C. C. Marshall, Vice President of the First National Bank of Texico was born at Girard, Illinois, December 6th 1860, graduated at Illinois College, at Jacksonville in 1879 and came South that year, located at Sherman, Texas, where he was engaged in business for eleven years. In 1893 he engaged in the Banking business at Cleburne, Texas, being assistant cashier of the National Bank of Cleburne for several years. He and his associates sold that Bank and Mr. Marshall organized The First National Bank of Venus, Texas, and was its first Cashier, remaining there four years, when he disposed of his banking interest and moved to Dallas, Texas, where he went into the wholesale manufacture of Buggies, being Vice President of the W. O. Brown company for two years, at the end of which time some of his former Banking associates induced him to come west and again go into the Banking business. Mr. Marshall assisted in organizing The First National Bank of Texico and was its Cashier from date of its organization until last month, when he was elected Vice President of that Institution, which position he still occupies. Mr. Marshall is a Banker of experience and ability. He is a firm believer in Farwell and its surrounding country, as evidenced by the fact that he has freely invested his money in Farwell property and farm lands near town. He has been a factor in the up-building of the town and community and is a public spirited citizen.

...First National Bank Of Texico...

The First National Bank of Texico.

The First National Bank of Texico opened in the spring of 1906. Its chief incorporators were L. T. Lester of Canyon City, Texas, J. P. Stone of Portales, New Mexico and C. C. Marshall of Dallas, Texas.

Business boomed as only business can boom in a new town and a new country. The Bank stayed open for business from nine o'clock in the morning until nine o'clock at night. New arrivals on every train brought money with them which they were unwilling to carry on their persons and they were glad to find a place to put it where it would be secure. There was almost as much banking done at night as in the day time and the appearance of the town was the same with the exception of darkness overhead and illumination on the streets. Music tinkled everywhere with the counters of the gambling tables and business was good.

Think of it, over two hundred thousand dollars on deposit at one time and a large portion of this money was left in this country on investment. Two hundred thousand dollars does not begin to be the figure that was invested but was the figure on one particular day and on many more days than one particular day that was held ready to be invested.

Take this to heart, think what one bank has done for this country. Then double it and treble it and think what this one bank together with other banks have done for this country. Hug this thought to your breast, you unbeliever in banks, see what has been done for you. It may never have come home to you, but everything done for everybody, has also done something for you.

At a recent meeting of the stockholders of The First National Bank of Texico, there was a radical change in its officers. It was thought that the officers of the bank should be of the people of the town and country and with this object in view Mr. J. M. Kindred was elected President. Mr. Kindred has lived long here, having spent the last eighteen years on the Plains, and is known as a man of unimpeachable character and has many many friends.

Mr. R. L. Stringfellow, President of the Amarillo National Bank is a vice president, whose association with this bank as its vice president was sought because of the prestige such an association carried with it and also material advantages accruing to its standing as a first class business institution.

Mr. C. C. Marshall, also vice president, has been associated with the bank from its inception and has had wide experience in banking circles.

Mr. A. A. Maxwell, Cashier, has the detail work to look after.

This bank is especially well equipped to handle any business. Its correspondents list is a large one and it has an advantage in having correspondents whose lists are also large thus eliminating much of the cost of collecting, which has been in vogue recently.

The management is conservative you want to do business with people who watch their business closely. You want to deposit your money where it will be safe. Not only do you want your money safeguarded by strong safes and bolts and bonded employees, but you also want to know that it is being loaned to people who will pay it back, to people who will be a benefit to the community. With this feature of the business before them, the stockholders and directors brought into being a discount board which meets at the banking house every week and talks over the general features of the business and passes on any requested loans.

Primarily this was done to safeguard the business, but its effect is far-reaching. To the man who has money laid away and does not deposit it, this feature must do away with much of his prejudice. He can feel sure that his money is guarded from loss by robbery and from injudicious loans.

Residence of O M Conoley, Farwell.

Dr. A. L. Breeding.

Dr A. L. Breeding is a graduate of the St. Louis University, and came to Texico from that city in May of 1905. He was the first practicing physician to locate in the town, and has been actively engaged in his profession since that time. He has been in Texico longer probably than anyone else in business here.

Dr. Breeding has won the confidence and esteem of those who have made their home in Texico and made for himself a position of prominence and distinction in both the business and social life of the town.

January 1st., 1907, he was appointed Postmaster of Texico, is vice president of the Texico National Bank, and also holds several other offices of responsibility. He is a member of the New Mexico Medical Society and of the American Medical Association. He is a member of the Masonic and Woodman lodges and of the Methodist church. He is earnest and active in every movement toward the improvement and upbuilding of his home town and has liberally assisted, both financially and otherwise, every measure toward building up the town.

Our Banks.

The recent financial panic found our Banks in excellent condition and able to successfully weather the storm. While a comparison of their statements of condition, as published in the local papers, for August 22nd, before the panic set in, and December 3rd, after it was practically over, shows a heavy decrease in deposits, it shows a corresponding decrease in loans. It argues well for the ability of our Bankers that they were able to call in their loans rapidly enough to meet the sudden and unexpected demand of their depositors, and shows the sound basis of the credits of the community. Their loans must necessarily have been good, else they would not have been able to collect them so promptly. Owing to the fact that the Banks in all important financial centers restricted currency payments, our Bankers deemed it wise to do the same here, not as a protection to themselves, because they did not need that protection but as a protection to the people. Currency for legitimate purposes was paid out in any amount, but for the purpose of placing it between the mattresses or in the hosiery, it was wisely restricted, which again demonstrates the wisdom and ability of our Bankers, because it kept sufficient currency in circulation for all needs of the business community without the aid of the Bank's Kansas City or New York correspondents. Really, there was no panic here, it was only the fear that it might reach us that caused the uneasiness. The community, as well as the Bankers are to be congratulated on the manner in which the situation was handled. A happy after thought comes to us in the knowledge of the fact that, although the Banks wanted their money, as their Depositors wanted theirs, not a single suit was instituted to enforce collection of the large amount which was paid into the Banks by their borrowers and cheerfully paid to their depositors.

Mart Roberson.

Possibly the best and most favorably known man in this part of the plains country is Mart Roberson, whose likeness we herewith produce. Mr. Roberson was born in Young county, Texas, August 24th 1859 and just prior to the Civil War he moved with his parents to Freestone county, Texas. Afterwards moving to the Choctaw Nation, I. T. At the age of 19 years Mr. Roberson returned to Young county and engaged in the cattle business. First associated himself with Hardisty & Neal, exclusive cattle raisers of Young County. Several years later Mr. Roberson came to the plains of the Panhandle and afterwards came to Roosevelt county, New Mexico, where he has been the leading cow man of this country for several years. During the time Mr. Roberson has been in the Cattle Business he has the distinction of having the praise and confidence of all the Cow boys that have been in his employ, as he has always been courteous and obliging to them. At present Mr. Roberson is a director of the Hopping & Roberson Mercantile Co., President of the Farwell Wholesale Grocery Company.

Mr. Roberson being a pioneer in this country is considered authority on all questions pertaining to the Plains Country and is looked upon as being one of the best posted cattle men on the plains. He is favorably known all over the plains by all the leading cattle men and if he has an enemy we have failed to hear him speak or spoken of. Mr. Roberson is a great believer in the possibilities of our new country and takes every opportunity of praising it to the many newcomers and prospectors here.

He has a suburban home in east Farwell that will compare favorably with the residences in cities much larger than Farwell and one that Farwell feels justly proud of.

We hope that "Uncle Mart" as he is familiarly known to his friends, may live to see many more summers, that we may enjoy his company and association.

S. H. Withers.

One of our most prominent and prosperous business men was born on a farm in Mason county, West Virginia, July 4, 1872.

Both parents were of widely known and respected families of the two Virginias. Both of an ambitious nature and a desire to follow Greely's advice, at the age of 17, with the consent of his parents, he left hom with a little more than enough means to land him at Henrietta, Texas, where he worked on a cow ranch for the first year. The next year he entered the Baylor university, at Waco, Tex. After completing his education at this institution, he entered the employment of one of the first merchants at Henrietta, Texas, and later engaged in business for himself at Hennessey, Okla., where he was married to Miss Nellie Rhodes, daughter of a prominent citizen of that place.

When the Cherokee strip opened, he sold out his business at Hennessey and invested all his resources in Enid real estate. However, prices of real estate were so depreciated by the panic of 1893 and having invested some borrowed capital, and in liquidating found himself in debt a few hundred dollars, for which he gave his note. Not discouraged he again set to work, and by patient industry he soon acquired sufficient means to pay this obligation and set himself up in business again.

Soon after the war with Spain he spent a year in traveling and prospecting in Cuba and other countries, after which he returned to the States and engaged in the general mercantile business at Addington, Okla., continued same until the first of January, 1907, at which time he closed out his business and came to New Mexico.

Mr. Withers has traveled over the greater part of the United States and has been at the opening up of the new countries in Oklahoma, but thinks this part of New Mexico and the Panhandle of Texas is the best of them all. To show his faith in the twin cities and surrounding country he has invested considerable means in both land and town property. He is actively engaged in the real estate and loan business and has an enviable reputation for straight-forward and careful dealings.

L. W. Avery.

L. W. Avery, whose likeness is herewith shown, is one of the most familiarly known men in the twin cities. Mr. Avery is a native of Detroit, Michigan, and previous to his coming to Farwell he was connected with some of the strongest railroad companies as Civil Engineer and Contractor, resigning the same to accept an offer made him by the Capitol Freehold Land and Investment Company to look after their interest at Farwell.

Since coming to Farwell Mr. Avery has made many warm friends and admirers. He is courteous and generous in all his dealings and wins the respect and friendship of all who come in contact with him.

He has complete charge of the Capitol Freehold Land and Investment Company's interests here, and he is managing the same very successfully.

Dr. J. T. Webb.

Dr. T. J. Webb whose likeness we herewith produce was born in Lockhart, Texas, 1883. After reaching manhood he attended the University of Nashville three years, graduated at the Memphis Hospital Medical College with high honors in 1904 and immediately began the practice of medicine at Thrifty, Texas, moving from there to Hale county where he practiced for one year. He then came to Texico where he settled and has received an enviable practice since he has been with us.

Dr. Webb is very popular socially, and well liked by the people he comes in contact with and is regarded as one of our best physicians and authority on medicine. He being a young man we predict great things for him during his career as a practicing physician.

J. W. Sellars.

Mr. Sellars, the popular County Attorney of Parmer Co., was born at Warsaw, Mo., and while very young came to Johnson county, Texas, where he spent the rest of his time until a few months ago when he came to Farwell.

He graduated in 1890 from the Granbury College, and in 1898 he graduated from the Law Department of the State University of Texas.

He was Assistant County Attorney of Johnson County before coming to this place.

He is County Attorney of Parmer county and is holding his office in an able manner.

Being a young man with superior legal talent we predict for him a brilliant future.

Milton Brown, Jr.

Milton Brown, Jr., was born in Comanche, Texas, April 16th, 1882. When he was twelve years old he moved with his parents to Galveston. Was in the great storm there September 8, 1900. When he grew older he felt that he could have better opportunities in the west, so he came to New Mexico in 1901, and began working for the Kemp Lumber Company at Roswell, where he remained about four years.

In August, 1905, he came to Texico to work for the same company and has been here ever since.

He is local manager of the Kemp Lumber Co. here and a stockholder in the same.

He holds the respect and esteem of the whole citizenship of the country, being a man of good business qualities and pleasant to deal with.

Socially Mr. Brown stands at the head. His opinions are regarded very highly in both business and social affairs. He is found always up-holding his home town and its institutions.

T. C. Taylor.

Is a native born of the state of Mississippi. Was reared in Northeast Texas, at and near Jefferson, once the metropolis of that great state. Was admitted to the practice of law in the year 1883, and for a short time practiced his profession at Linden, Texas.

After his marriage he removed to Gatesville, Texas, in the year 1887, where he resided until a short time before locating at Texico. He was elected by the people of Coryell county to the office of County Judge and served two terms from 1894-1898. Under his administration he built for his people a beautiful court house and jail, which stand as a monument to his memory.

He served his senatorial district as a member of the State Democratic Executive Committee during the period that the democratic party was split over the race between Governor Hogg and Judge George Clark for Governor of Texas.

He has recently been admitted to practice law before the Supreme and Interior Courts of New Mexico and is now engaged in the practice of law at Texico. He also practices his profession in Texas.

Judge Taylor is one of our most prominent lawyers, and is a man true to his convictions and to any trust placed in him.

S. F. Wooding.

S. F. Wooding was born May 29th, 1852, in Atlanta Georgia.

He was connected with the Georgia and Central railroads for a number of years. Entered the butcher business in 1875 in Atlanta. Moved to Chattanooga, Tenn., in 1882 and was in the butcher and packing business there until 1887. Moved to Texas and again entered the butcher and packing business. Was superintendent of the Hays Packing Company at Gainsville, Texas and was also manager of the Fulton Market at the same place for a number of years. Moved to Portales, New Mexico in 1902 and again entered the butcher business. Came to Texico in June 1905 and opened up a meat market which is one of the best in the great southwest.

Mr. Wooding is one of Texico's best and most substantial citizens and is always working for the advancement of the interests of the town. He is a large stockholder in some good banks and has many business interests. He stands at the head as a butcher and citizen.

O. R. Oliver.

O. R. Oliver was born at Texarkana, Tex., May 29, 1883.

After reaching manhood he came to Clarendon, Tex., where he was engaged as a cow puncher for several years. Coming to Texico in 1902, he engaged in the livery business and today has one of the most up-to-date barns in the southwest.

His motto is, "If you don't ride in the best turn outs, it's your own fault."

There is a KNOW-HOW to everything, and Wooding knows how to sell dressed hogs at 7 cts per pound.

GRADY

GRADY is in the heart of a very fine agricultural country which is settled up by a good class of intelligent farmers. It is on a railroad survey from Texico to Tucumcari, and has good prospects to secure the road. There will be a division of the county in which Grady is located, and Grady is near the geographical center of the proposed new county, and will undoubtedly be the County Seat.

Grady has about twenty business houses and draws the trade from a very large territory. More merchants are needed in Grady and special inducements will be offered those desiring to locate there.

People who have no money are necessarily compelled to be absolutely free from all speculative influences, but if you have a little money to invest, buy a few lots in Grady at present low prices and we think it will prove a good investment for you.

Brief Description of This Country.

The land adjacent to the towns of Texico, N. M. and Farwell, Texas, is strictly agricultural. What once was thought to only be a plains grazing country has been developed within the last five years from that stage by the sturdy farmer to one of the richest farming belts to be found anywhere. Within the last five years thousands of acres of this land has been placed under a high state of cultivation and has proven a bountiful success in every instance.

The farmers who are coming to our part of the country are men who are willing to work and use their best abilities for the up-building of this great new country and it is our opinion alone goes a long way in development of any new country.

The soil is a loamy chocolate fat soil, ranging in depth from two to five feet, underlaid with a fine clay subsoil which makes the land inexhaustible.

The farmers who have had extensive experience in raising corn, wheat, oats, cane, etc., elsewhere say that this country in their opinion cannot be surpassed for bountiful yield, or for quality of the product. Many thousand acres have been sown in wheat this year and from present indications a bountiful harvest will be reaped. Our climate is all that the most demanding could ask for. We are on an elevation of 4100 feet above sea level which makes the air pure and healthful, and there is no stagnant water or any cess-pools and our towns as a general thing are kept clean and free from filth. The air is pure and taking all together we believe we have the most healthful country to be found anywhere, and if our friends in the north and east could realize some of the inducements offered by this country in the way of cheap homes they would leave the crowded countries in which they live and immigrate here.

Our schools are our pride. The plains country in and around the two towns that has so recently developed into the fine agricultural country has not been lacking in the interest on the part of the men who are helping to develop the same as they have been looking forward to the education of their children and have erected nice school buildings all over the country and in reach of every child of school age.

Practically all religious denominations are represented here and most of them have nice modern houses of worship. Taking everything into consideration we believe that we have the best country on earth in which to live and that we can offer every inducement to the most demanding request for good citizenship. We believe that we have everything that is necessary in laying the preliminary foundation for a great and glorious country and that there is no power that can check our advancement.

To our friends in the east and north and everywhere we bid you come and look into this matter for yourselves, for "Seeing is believing."

In Conclusion.

We are taught that there is a time to begin and a time to end. We began some few weeks ago to accumulate data for the Special Edition of the Farwell Times, we have been doing so continuously since, but find that now as we progress the work is only just beginning to develop but at the same time we find that time forbids that now as we go in to further detail with reference to our people and business enterprises, and that we must bring our efforts to a close. We find that there are other subjects of interest on which we would like to write and that we believe would be of interest to our readers, but time will not permit. We would have been glad to have said more concerning the great country in which we live but we would rather that those interested most would come and look the situation over for themselves.

During the last week we noticed that a terrible blizzard has been raging in the north and east and reaching as far south as our sister town on the north, Amarillo, while we have been enjoying the most delightful weather that it has ever been our pleasure to see anywhere. We fully sympathize with our northern friends, and bid you come live with us in the Land of Sunshine.

In concluding this Pictorial Edition of the Farwell Times we wish to thank those who have helped us in this matter, and shall at some other time take up the work where we have left it off and deal more extensively with the matter that so vitally concerns us.
