

PURELY PERSONAL

By John

The western part of the United States scored a notable victory this past weekend, I refer to the victories of Brigham Young University in the National Invitational basketball tournament and Texas Western College in the National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball tournament. This decisively shattered the myth of eastern basketball superiority.

One of the carefully nurtured shibboleth of eastern journalism is the superiority of most anything of eastern origin or anything that is played, practiced, or produced in the East as being superior to the same thing as might be done in the great hinterland of the United States, namely west of the Mississippi River.

We were able to see both of the final games played on TV and listened to the announcers give their versions of the games. The advantage of TV over radio or the press is the ability of the audience to see the action at the same time as the announcer gives his description of the action.

The past is replete with instances where radio announcers have described action that was non-existent or greatly embellished the action that actually did take place. Also, sports writers have been known to give highly colored accounts that may have been quite wide of the actual events. On TV the viewer can compare what he sees with the announcer's commentary and can readily see for himself how accurate or inaccurate the commentary might be.

I was both amused and disgusted with the comments on these two games. The comparatively unnoticed teams from BYU and TWC, unnoticed by the Eastern press that is, were not given due credit for the brilliant brand of ball that they were playing. Rather, the good showing of the winners was being attributed to the poor showing of the teams from NYU and Kentucky. The losers were being given credit for more or less beating themselves by ragged play and poor shooting rather than the winners being given credit for forcing and causing the other teams to make these game-costing mistakes.

Clearly, basketball teams from west of the mighty Mississippi were dominant in national basketball circles this year. I believe that not only TWC, but BYU and Kansas and maybe several other western teams could have beaten the highly regarded Wildcats of Kentucky.

Some of the mighty poobahs of the Eastern world of activities might begin to give the Golden West credit for a modicum of civilization and ability to produce things of comparable value to the big centers of eastern civilization.

I am always reminded of a chap in our Marine Corp boot platoon from New York City, Raymond Garrity, by name, always extolled the virtues of New York and the very immediate surroundings. Finally he was asked if he had ever been West. "Why yes," Garrity replied, "I have been all the way west to Detroit."

He was thereupon given up as a hopeless case of eastern myopia, a disease common to many writers and commentators.

We received a nice postcard from Oliver and Alpha Sikes this week. They are wintering in Fort Myers, Florida. Oliver mentions the nice weather and his fishing. Oh yes, Oliver is up to his old tricks, the postcard came without a stamp and postage due of four cents.

Rummage Sale
Sophomore class of the Farwell school announces that they are holding Rummage sales each Saturday at the old Barbee Cleaners building, next door to Rose Drug from 2-4 p.m.

HOLDING STEADY -- The wind seems to be holding steady indicating that this year might be a "wee bit better" crop year than last year. However, "Indian" John Crim says "Start those irrigation wells for the moisture will be spotted and heavy hails are indicated for this growing season."

CEREMONIAL FIRE -- Weather predictions have been made annually by "Indian" John Crim of Lazbuddie for more than 30 years on March 22 at sunrise. He lights a ceremonial fire according to an old Indian legend and reads the smoke signals indicating a "good" or "poor" crop year by the way the wind carries the smoke and by the way the fire burns as the sun rises.

Revival Set At Okla. Lane Baptist Church

A revival will be in progress at the Oklahoma Lane Baptist Church from March 29 through April 3, announces Rev. Wayne Baldwin, pastor of the Oklahoma Lane Church.

FHA Week Set March 27-April 2

During National FHA (Future Homemakers of America) week, March 27 through April 2, members of the Farwell FHA will join some 600,000 high school youth across the nation in the observance of the special week.

During this week FHA members will be holding special observances, including a Secret Sister Drawing which will conclude with a slumber party and a "Mr. Irresistible" contest.

The Secret Sister drawing will be held with each member of the FHA drawing a name of another member of the chapter as her secret sister for the week. Each day during the week each of the girls will give her secret sister a small gift, but the "Secret Sister" will not be revealed until the evening of the "Slumber Party."

On Thursday a "Mr. Irresistible" contest will be featured with each member of the chapter given eight red ribbons. Each time the girl talks to a boy during the day she must give him one of the ribbons. At a special assembly on Thursday, "Mr. Irresistible" will be crowned. He will be the boy with the largest number of ribbons. The trick is "Don't talk to boys."

The slumber party to conclude the Secret Sister event will be held at the Home Economics Cottage on April 1.

Maps On Sale At City Hall

The maps of the City of Farwell have arrived and are now on sale at the city hall, according to Mrs. Janie Bowery, city clerk. Price of the maps is $1.00 each.

Building permits issued from the city in the past few days include one to Pike Jordan for a fence at his home on Ave G, one to Jesse Landrum for a greenhouse at his home, two to Charles Bates for residences on Ave I. Price of the residences is $11,700 and $12,000. A permit was also issued to Johnnie Williams for a concrete drive at his home and for a storage house at the rear of his house.

'Indian' Crim Says No Relief In Sight For Dryland Farmers

According to the predictions of "Indian" John Crim of the Lazbuddie community, who has been predicting the crop outlook on the Plains for the past 33 years, "there is no relief in sight for the dryland farmers."

When Crim took his annual weather forecast at sunrise Tuesday, March 22, the wind was blowing from the southwest carrying smoke from the ceremonial fire to the northeast, indicating that the outlook for moisture this year is poor. However, the wind velocity held steady indicating that this year will be a "little" better than last year when "Indian John" predicted a "poor" year, with his prediction coming true for dryland farmers.

About the only encouragement "Indian John" could give area farmers is that this year won't be any worse than last year and indications are that it will be a "might better." Possibly there will be some quick storms, which will dump heavy hail and rain in some areas, while entirely missing other areas. Other areas will have some moisture with little or no hail, says Crim. He says weather effects will be spotted but on the whole pretty dry.

Although Crim has been making his annual forecast for the past 33 years, the forecast did not become public until 1952 and since that time he has not missed a single prediction. The last year in which he predicted a bumper dryland crop was in 1960 with his prediction holding true. In 1961 he indicated that a good crop year was in store for area farmers, but since that time his predictions have been on the "sad" side.

Crim's predictions are based on an old Indian legend to the effect that a fire burning at sunrise on March 22 will give signals through its smoke indicating whether the year will be good for crops or not. Crim says that if the smoke from the fire at this time is carried west or southwest there will be a bumper crop. If the wind is from the north or northwest and carries the smoke south or southwest, the crop will be average, but wind from the west, south, or southwest means a "very poor" crop year.

On Tuesday morning as the sun peeked over the horizon the wind was from the southwest and carried the smoke to the northeast indicating a poor year. In addition the snaps and crackles from the fire indicated quick storms for the year.

In making the predictions, Crim says it doesn't matter whether you can see the sun or not as long as the reading is taken exactly at sunrise on March 22. However, on Tuesday morning the sun rose in a blaze of glory, but was followed shortly by one of the worst dust storms of the season.

Members of the Crim family use the annual weather forecast as an excuse for a family gathering each year and this March 22 was no exception with several family members and neighbors in attendance for the ceremony.

Grandchildren of "Indian John" help to get ready for the forecast by assisting with gathering wood for the fire on the day preceding the ceremony and arising early to help get the fire blazing on March 22. The fire is lighted approximately 15 minutes before sunrise, giving it time to be blazing good when the time for the reading comes.

Some comfort is taken from the fact that farmers no longer have to depend on the elements entirely for their crops, but Crim says, "Start up those irrigation pumps for it's gonna be a tough year."

FAMILY MEMBERS WAIT--Members of the Crim family and neighbors wait for the annual weather forecast on Tuesday morning, after the ceremonial fire had been lighted by J. W. "Indian" Crim assisted by his grandsons. Back row l to r: Mrs. Fred Crutis, Mrs. Weldon Crim, Weldon Crim, J. W. Crim (the weather prophet), Robert Curtis, Mrs. Max Crim, Mrs. Earl Monroe, Max Crim, Earl Monroe, Sheryl Pumroy, a niece from Hurst, Tex., Bert Gordon, a neighbor, and Fred Curtis. Front row: Wesley Curtis, Cindy Crim (standing behind Wesley), Rodney, Kirk and Greg Crim.

Girls' Track Begins At Farwell

For the first time the Farwell school is having girls track this year, with Vernon Scott as coach. Girls grades 9-12 participate in the program which is similar to that of the boys' track and field teams.

At the present time 33 girls are out for the team with the best time in the 100 yard dash, to date, turned in by Jackie Gast who ran the distance in 13.1. State record is 12.2 which was set at the state meet held for the first time last year.

Tentative plans call for a three-way meet to be held early in April (possibly April 5) in Kress with Kress, Farwell and Hart participating. District meet will be held on the campus of Wayland Baptist college on April 16, with preliminaries to begin at 9 a.m.

Included in the events are the 440 and 880 relays, a mile relay, 60 yard dash, 100 yard dash, 80 meter hurdles, shotput, discus throw, high jump, broad jump, hop-step-jump.

Sixteen counties are included in the district in which Farwell will participate. Coach Scott indicated that by next week he would be able to have teams lined up for the various events.

Will PTA Be Dropped In Farwell?

Since attendance at the Farwell PTA meetings has indicated a lack of interest in the organization, there is a question in the minds of several individuals as to whether the organization should be continued or dropped.

With this thought in mind a questionnaire was sent to the parents in the school district by one school child in each family last week to try and determine if there is enough interest to continue the meetings during the next school year.

Out of about 300 questionnaires sent out, 110 were returned. Following is a summary of the results:

1. Do you wish to continue PTA? Yes - 41. . . No, -68.
2. If your answer is "yes" will you attend the meetings and give your support? . . . yes-36.
3. When would you prefer to meet? Afternoon - 19 . . . Night - 17.

Several persons indicated a desire to see the Christmas card project continued, in order to help the school libraries, even if PTA is discontinued.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday evening, April 5 and all persons interested in the organization should make plans to attend.

If enough interest is shown in continuing with the organization, officers will be elected from among those present, since in the meeting of the nominating committee recently they were unable to select a slate of officers due to the lack of interest in the past.

The nominating committee is composed of Mrs. M. A. Snider, Jr., Mrs. R. W. Anderson, Mrs. Bob Hart, Mrs. Lauretta Pool, and Mrs. B. J. Roberts.

At Home In Parmer County

By CRICKET B. TAYLOR County HD Agent

Home Demonstration Clubs will have a short discussion on "Furniture Selection" next month at their regular club meetings.

In probably no other area does the American housewife feel as insecure and unsure of herself as she does when planning and shopping for the furniture for her home. One thing that she is concerned about is that furniture requires more money than a car or other necessary items and requires more taste and more intelligent selection.

Lack of self assurance in shopping for furniture is due in part to the fact that the majority of us have no clear-cut image of furniture brand names. Few furniture companies have advertised long enough with quality enough to build a clear-cut image. Since furniture is bought that must last a lifetime and the majority of consumers have little knowledge of furniture brand names, the task of securing quality furniture is considerably more difficult than securing quality in a car and washing machine, so--we, usually end up comparing prices on dissimilar merchandise.

The club program will point out a few features to consider when buying furniture for the home.

New Fabrics & Selection program will be held in Bovina, at the Baptist Church fellowship room on April 21, at 2 p.m. This is a county program for all homemakers. It will take the place of the second meeting of the month for all the Home Demonstration Clubs. An interesting and informative program is being planned with outside speakers, Homemakers, put this on your calendar and watch for further announcements.

Furniture Arrangement - is a subject that Nancy and Ann Blackstone and Kathy and Diane Coker of the Lazbuddie Club, are working on. This is a part of their bedroom improvement project. Some of the things they will do after they study basic principles of good design, they will draw a floor plan and then consider the four basic principles of furniture arrangement.

First, they will consider traffic lanes, second, to combine furniture in groups for convenience, based on activities, third, plan the room to look as spacious as possible and then plan at least one center of interest for each room.

Good Design is a good taste and a well-arranged room, just as a picture, conforms to fundamental requirements of good design. People are not born with good taste; it comes from knowledge and these girls will work to provide more space for activities in their rooms and at the same time make their rooms more attractive and convenient. A place for everything and everything in its place is a criteria for judging in the well planned room.

Do You Fit This Picture? You read about the workshop, short courses, and demonstration information programs we hold over the County and you think they would give information useful to you and your family -- you plan to attend -- But you don't make it. Later you wish for the information. Many homemakers report this to us -- usually regretfully. We are sorry, too, because we're here to teach as many people who need our information as we can.

When you cannot get to the meetings would it help if we sent you a summary of our programs, along with all the pamphlets and handout material used in our meetings on request? If you think so let us know. Just call Farwell 481-3619 or write us at the extension service here in Farwell. If we hear from enough people, material will be prepared and sent out.

On The Farm In Parmer County

By JOE VANZANDT County Agent

The warm weather has sure been nice the last several days and it is good to see the trees and grass starting to grow. However, we are extremely dry with little moisture falling since last summer. Here's hoping we get some rain soon.

HERBICIDES CAN BE PROFITABLE

Chemical weed control in cotton and grain sorghum can lower production costs only when careful attention is given to selection and application of the herbicides.

That is the comment of Texas A&M University Agronomist Dr. Allen Wiese, of the Southwestern Great Plains Research Center at Bushland.

He says most herbicides fulfill the manufacturer's claims. The trick is to select one best suited for a particular problem.

Pre-plant herbicides are most profitable on cotton land which has severe weed problems and high hoeing costs. With only average weed problems, pre-emergence herbicides applied in bands over the row will usually be more economical.

The cotton producer with relatively weed-free land will make more net returns if he does not use either pre-plant or pre-emergence herbicides, Wiese says.

A little time figuring costs of chemicals, different kinds of cultivation, and hand hoeing will help determine the least-cost weed control system.

The five steps to satisfactory results with herbicides are as follows: (1) Careful sprayer calibration; (2) proper herbicide rate; (3) careful seedbed preparation and, if recommended, thorough incorporation of materials; (4) good planting methods; and (5) careful follow-up with mechanical or additional chemical weed control practices.

Most producers follow these fairly well; however, we have noted several common mistakes in herbicide usage last year.

Some of the more serious errors were found with pre-plant herbicides on cotton.

There were several reports of careless broadcast applications, Wiese said. A few farmers overlapped their spraying and applied so much material it damaged their crop. Others drove at wider intervals than covered by the spray-boom and strips of weeds came up in the unsprayed areas.

FBLA Speech Contest Winners Named

Thursday, Veda Wilson, Terry Lovett and Joe Holland competed for the honor of representing Texico FBLA in the state FBLA Speech contest, to be held on the campus of Eastern New Mexico University on April 2 at which time they will be in competition with contestants from 12 other New Mexico schools.

Title of Veda's speech was

"Today's Citizen-Tomorrow's Leader;" Terry spoke on "Confidence for Success," and Joe entitled his speech "Faith of Our Fathers," Veda and Terry will represent Texico at the state contest.

Veda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Wilson, Terry's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lovett, and Joe is the nephew of Gwynn Russell of Clovis.

Judges for the speech contest were Marsh Whittington, manager of Midwest Video; Mrs. C. W. Sorgen, office manager for Fitchugh, Mallery, Orman Agency; and Howard Williamson, owner of Village Record Shop.

but out the middles when they plant, pre-plant applications were buried and gave poor weed control. Wiese rates this as the most common serious mistake made with Treflan last year.

You need to be careful not to list deeper than the pre-plant herbicides are incorporated or rows will become weedy.

Wiese has worked closely with the ag-engineers at the South Plains Research and Extension Center near Lubbock in studying weed control with different planting methods.

On-the-bed planting consistently offers advantages in weed control, they have learned. Weeds can germinate easily when there is moisture at the bottom of the furrow; not as easily up on the drier bed.

"The chemicals will do a good job if they are suited for the weed problem and directions on the label are followed," Wiese said. "But they are not a cure-all. One man last year had more weeds where he used herbicides than where he didn't. He thought the herbicide would control all his weeds, so he didn't bother to cultivate until late in the season. By then it was too late."

Study Club Has Program On Texas History, Resources

Farwell Study Club met in the home of Mrs. Claude Coffey on Monday evening for a program on Texas - Its Resources and Historical Events. Several members came dressed in costume.

Mrs. Mabel Reynolds, president, introduced the guest artist, Susan Blair, who presented a group of vocal numbers accompanying herself on the ukulele. The meeting was opened by prayer and roll call was answered by naming some resources of Texas.

The program consisted of presenting characters or skits representing events in the life of Texas. Mrs. Hattie Boling gave the background events of Mrs. Dr. Long, one among the earliest American settlers in Texas who came in the early 1800's.

Miss Maude Hicks presented the life history of Rebecca Fisher, who because of her active interest in public affairs, was the only woman to ever have had funeral in the Senate Chambers in Austin.

Mrs. Vernon Symcox, in costume, impersonated W. Lee O'Daniel, giving a facsimile of one of his political speeches and singing the song "Texas" as used by O'Daniel. A skit characteristic of a campaign episode was given by a group of women, dressed as men, with

Mrs. R. S. Shuman representing W. Lee O'Daniel, accompanied by others on his handwagon, portrayed by Mrs. Clytie Dial, Mrs. Cricket Taylor and Mrs. Bruce Blair. Mrs. Mabel Reynolds played the part of "Molly," who characteristically passed the "biscuits."

Mrs. E. G. Williams came dressed as an early day pioneer Texas woman completing her costume with sash bonnet and twig tooth brush.

The next meeting will feature an art show. Refreshments of tossed salad, crackers, nuts, date cake, tea or coffee were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Coffey, and Mrs. Reynolds.

MR. AND MRS. JACKIE DYER

Linda Rundell Bride Of Jackie Dyer

The home of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Freeman, Muleshoe, was scene for the March 12 wedding of Linda Rundell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rundell Jr., of Farwell, and Jackie Dyer, son of Mrs. Irene Tarter, Farwell and Claude Dyer, Friona. Mr. and Mrs. Freeman are grandparents of the bride.

The couple exchanged vows in front of the fireplace in the Freeman home. Flanking the fireplace were seven branched candelabra holding white wedding tapers, and tied with bows of blue satin. The double ring service was read by J. L. Bass, pastor of First Baptist Church in Farwell.

Attending Miss Rundell as maid of honor was her sister, Donna Rundell, junior bridesmaid was Robbie Rundell, also a sister of the bride. The maid of honor was attired in a street length dress of yellow with an over jacket in matching hue. Her accessories were white and she carried an arm bouquet of white carnations, tied with blue ribbon. Junior bridesmaid wore a dark blue three-piece suit and carried a bouquet of minute white carnations.

Candles were lighted by Regina Rundell, another sister of the bride. Nuptial music was played preceding the exchange of vows and the traditional wedding marches were also used. Gaylon Selman served as best man.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a street-length dress of white lace with a full length lace sleeveless jacket, with white accessories. Her short white illusion veil was held in place by a pillbox hat of white. She carried a cascade arrangement of blue carnations atop a white lace and satin covered Bible.

Following tradition, for something old and borrowed she wore on her right hand the wedding ring of her grandmother Freeman, blue was the traditional wedding garter and new was her wedding attire. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Rundell chose a two-piece dress of deep rose, with which she wore black patent accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations. Mrs. Tarter chose a silk print dress in shades of blue and gold for her son's wedding. Her accessories were black and her corsage was white carnations.

A reception was held in the dining room of the Freeman home immediately following the ceremony with close friends and relatives in attendance. The serving table was centered by the three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with blue flowers and topped by lovebirds. Also on the serving table was an arrangement of blue flowers centered by white candles. After the bride and groom had cut the cake it was served with punch, nuts and mints to the wedding guests. Crystal table appointments were used. Napkins bearing the names "Jackie and Linda - March 12, 1966" completed table decor.

The bride attended Farwell Schools and is presently taking correspondence courses from American Schools. The groom is a 1963 graduate of Texico High School and is employed at Golden West Seed Company in Texico.

The couple plan a delayed honeymoon trip in the summer.

In farmers' fields and official tests...

PIONEER BRAND SORGHUMS PROVE THEIR YIELDS!

Farmers like these know Pioneer sorghums yield. That's why you see more fields marked with Pioneer signs every year.

If you check official test results for proof-of-yield, you'll want to plant Pioneer brand sorghum, too. Hybrids 846 and 820 made bang-up yields in the 1964 High Plains Texas A & M tests. These two winners, along with Pioneer's other grain-type hybrids—832, 844, 848, 865, and 885—cover a wide maturity range.

Pioneer also offers forage-type sorghum, 931... sorghum-sudangrass hybrid, 985, plus five corn hybrids for grain or silage. They'll help your acres produce more feed. Order now.

Dosher Gives Residents A Scare

Vane Dosher, owner and operator of Twin City Machine Works, gave several town residents a scare on Thursday afternoon when he became suddenly ill at his place of business and an ambulance was called with a respirator to give aid.

The word was soon out that Dosher had suffered a heart attack; however, this was not the case as he had suffered a muscle spasm in the area of the heart causing the oxygen supply to be cut off. He was treated at Clovis Memorial Hospital and released to return home. He was able to return to his place of business on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dosher wish to thank the fireboys who came to his aid with a respirator immediately upon being called.
