MRS. JUDE THORNTON is beginning her 19th year as dispatcher for the Littlefield Police Department and Lamb County Sheriff's department. Although she is past the age for retirement, Mrs. Thornton's health is tops, and she continues to provide top-notch service in the office. She has only missed two days of work for being sick since she began work on May 26, 1958— with the exception of some time out for surgery. She came to Littlefield in 1926 and was married in 1927. She's always worked the same early-night shift, and has filled in for others during vacancies on other shifts.

Direct Distance Dialing into service Wednesday

Wednesday morning, Littlefield residents will be able to dial long distance numbers without the aid of an operator—the first time in the history of telephone service here. Direct Distance Dialing will also be coming to other area cities next week and the week to follow. The systems at Anton, Olton, Spade, Sudan and Whitharral will switch to the new method next Wednesday, Oct. 20, while those at Amherst and Springlake are due to be in effect the following Wednesday, Oct. 27. According to Bryan Galloway of General Telephone, 'At 6 a.m. Wednesday, we'll turn the switches on, so when people get up and leave for work that morning, they should be able to dial direct.' To call within our own Area 806, simply dial 1, then the telephone number— leaving off the 806. To call outside Area 806, dial 1 then the distant area code and telephone number.

In the event persons have trouble, dial the operator for assistance. If you reach a wrong number, dial 'Operator' immediately and report what happened, and the operator will see that you are not charged with the call. Customers will not be charged if the phone is hung up before the number is completely dialed, or if the telephone number dialed is busy or doesn't answer.

City discusses lengthy agenda

In their lengthy meeting Thursday night, the Littlefield City Council heard representatives from the Senior Citizens of Littlefield concerning establishing a senior center; heard Janna Stehlik discuss the need for a day care facility; purchased six additional refuse containers; passed a resolution accepting property from Lamb County to be used for a park; reviewed the 1976 tax roll; rehired Mrs. Jude Thornton to continue employment as dispatcher for the city of Littlefield; decided to work up a new lease on city farms with the new renter; decided to continue with pre-application proceedings for the Community Development Block Grant program; and went into executive session to discuss pending litigation. Present to discuss a new center for senior citizens of Littlefield were V.M. 'Pete' Peterman and Minnie Matthews. They advised the council that many 'don't have a way to travel, many are lonely, and need a meeting place to pass the time of day.' Peterman advised that if they could get some local sponsorship, they could receive state assistance. When asked how big a building they needed, Peterman advised about 60 by 100 would allow plenty of room for playing cards, sewing, singing, dancing, and maybe serving the Meals on Wheels program. The council advised they would look into the matter further before proceeding. Janna Stehlik told the council there are lots of working people— particularly since the denim plant has been in operation— who need a place for their children during the day, and after 4 p.m. when school is out.

Antelopes beat Wildcats 54-43

From the score you would have thought it was already basketball season as the Abernathy Antelopes kicked Littlefield Friday night by a 54-43 score. The Antelopes were led on offense by Ken Davenport who gained a whopping 297 yards on 23 scampers. Quarterback Roddy Shipman kept the Wildcat defense off-balance all night long by gaining 150 yards running the option and hitting 3 of 4 passes for 90 yards. Although the Wildcats could not

She said she had talked with the state people, who have looked over the old Roberts Lumber Company building at Highway 54 and the Santa Fe Railroad, and that they felt the space would be adequate if brought up to specifications. She feels that building would care for about 50 children, and that she would have no trouble securing the necessary four to eight staffers to operate it.

The council advised that they would study the requirements further before proceeding.

Five large refuse containers and one small container are needed to fill needs at present, particularly since the city will begin repainting or cleaning up the old ones this winter. Funds for the purchase are already budgeted, and will be paid by Revenue Sharing money. Total cost of the purchase is to be $991.

The city passed a resolution receiving a tract of land between West Ninth Street and Highway 54 and west of Sunset Avenue, which was originally set aside for right of way. The area, 160.6 feet by 572.8 feet by 106 feet by a curved 578 feet, is known as the J.H. Ware tract, and will be turned into a park. The tract already has water piped to it, thus allowing further landscaping.

City Manager Jim Blagg presented a few facts concerning the city tax roll, and advised that the total anticipated collections for the upcoming year would be about $19,948,525, less homesteads for the elderly and discounts for veterans.

After a brief recommendation from the city manager concerning the continued employment of Jude Thornton, who begins her 19th year as dispatcher, the council was unanimous in allowing her to continue to work, although she is past retirement age.

The council was advised that Jack Peel does not desire to continue leasing city farms, and wishes to give up the lease early so that wheat may be sown. The council decided to have a new lease written as of Oct. 1, and to allow the city manager to negotiate with the new lessee.

The city manager reviewed requirements for the Community Development Block Grant program, and advised that if the grant is okayed, the city would get about $150,000 for specified projects. The council decided to go ahead with the pre-application process, so that as time arrives, other procedures may be followed.

Tentative dates for citizen participation meetings to be held concerning the grant are set for Oct. 18 and 19 in the Community Center and Lamb County Ag and Community Center.

HONNY GRITS

By CORNBALL BLEVINS

DON'T KNOW whether Joella made a mistake or not. A few days ago I was by the office, begging more paper to use for my hobby. She gave me a pretty large supply of a wider and longer variety.

All of which just gives me more space to say nothing.

GUESS MOST OF YOU listened to the presidential candidates' debate Wednesday night. The question in mind is: "How much did you learn?"

If you were like me, you were more puzzled and confused after it was over, than before. Guess I know less about foreign policy than Carter! (or Ford, either.)

WHICH MAN won the debate? That depends on the one you're rootin' for!

The thing that disturbs me most is just why is it that we've been put in the spot of over-all defender and provider for the so-called free world? Neither of the men can be called "isolationist", for both seem to recognize the role we're called on to play. It's quite frightening to recognize the responsibility involved.

ANY STRAIGHT-THINKING person realizes that the world has become too small for isolationism to be practical. That would be to return to the age when sailing ships, ox-cart, and the horse and buggy were the fastest means of transportation. This means that we can't ignore conditions in Europe, Asia, Africa, etc. It seems we're destined to protect the free world in our own defense against our enemies. Moral obligation compels us to feed the starving and unfortunate.

BUT, SOMEWHERE in our minds is the realization that our resources aren't inexhaustible. For example, we're feeling the pinch on some water. There must come a time when we may barely be able to feed and defend ourselves (can!)

Then will those to whom we have been so generous, come to our aid? Or will they just give us the nonchalant wave of the hand and say: "Goodbye, Mr. Carter, going to start workin' the other side of the street!"

THEN, FOR EITHER of the fellows who occupies the office, we hope that with discretion, and prudence in their fellow occupants.

WELL, ACCORDING to their reports, it's supposed to freeze tonight, (Thursday) and only people I can think of who welcome a freeze early are those who suffer from hay fever.

WELL, HERE 'TIS morning, and sure enough freeze! Frost all over my nose. Suppose it'll hurt my daisies and weeds?

Only thing being, I'm a bit confused. Jim Vandenberg (KZZN) insists that the temperature is down to 28 degrees. James Lee's (Time and Temperature) First National Bank it's only 32 degrees.

ONLY WAY I can explain the difference is that Jim isn't so close to all those unpaid bills that were depending on a crop for payment.

A Woman's View

By Pearl Brandon

THERE ARE SO many problems in life that we can't begin to face them alone.

Even if I had the money, or the power, so far the last few months I just say, "Lord I'll just turn that one over to you," and you would be surprised how often it works out.

When our loved ones are far away and you don't know exactly how they are getting along just try praying for them. I mean really praying with your heart and soul, then leave it to Him, in faith.

IF YOU keep worrying over your problem after you turn it over to the Lord it shows lack of faith.

I know it is sometimes really hard to keep it from nagging at you. Be like my little niece whose husband was dying with brain cancer. She just kept saying, "I'm not going to think about that now."

I'll wait until it happens." She cared for him in her own home. He was a fair sized man but he got so poor she could lift him in her arms and she is a little woman.

After he died a wonderful job opened up for her as secretary in a church and soon she was so busy working with other people she didn't have time to think of her own troubles.

OUR PRAYERS are not always answered in the way we want them to be, but our Father hears us pray and gives us strength to face those things we cannot change.

It seems so hard to give up loved ones here, yet we know we all have to die. Our Father doesn't look on death like we do.

He knows it isn't the end, and that He has something better in store for us.

THE BIBLE SAYS in Hebrews 1 that the angels are spirit messengers of God sent out to help and care for those who are to receive His salvation.

He said of His Son, "Your kingdom O God, will last forever and ever; its commands are always just and right. You love right and hate wrong; so God, even your God has poured out more gladness upon you than anyone else."

He says the time will come when this old bodies will be laid aside like old clothes and we will fold them up and replace them.

SO IF YOU are feeling blue and are worried about something just turn it over to the Lord. He may tell you what to do or He may do it Himself.

This I have learned in my meandering road of life. May God bless all of you.

in groups— each small sign adding a couple of words to the doggerel verse of the ones before.

I was talking about those signs the other day with some friends.

It's surprising how many people can still remember a verse of 2.

How about:
"If necking is your favorite sport
Turn in your car for a davenport
—Burma Shave"

Or:
"Pa acted so tickled
Ma thought he was pickled
He'd just tried Burma Shave"

A few well chosen words— especially if they rhyme— are usually a whole lot more effective than a ton of pompous prose.

Ogden Nash is another favorite of mine.

He wrote:
"Candy dandy—
But liquor's quicker"

Well all this nostalgia got me to thinking about the possibilities of some quickie verses commenting on current news events.

There was Jimmy Carter's comment about mentally lusting after women, which certainly can't do him any good politically. This is what came to mind:

He smiles, he works, he aims to please.

But he seems to have foot-in-mouth disease.

And this one's dedicated to politicians everywhere:
If promises were good as gold,
We'd all be rich before we're old.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

Procrastination, the fault of putting off things until tomorrow, can carry a heavy penalty. For example, the return of a book loaned by a friend, is put off—until tomorrow. The visit to Uncle Charlie to tell him about some of his friends we saw, is put off—until tomorrow. The letter that should be written to Aunt Jane is put off—until tomorrow. The drive across town to see a friend is put off—until tomorrow.

Then, unexpectedly, the putting off fault stabs us, and it hurts. It really hurts—badly. In our tears, we shake our heads in disbelief. The talk we meant to have, the things we meant to do, can not now be done. We can only make a visit, but not as it was intended. During visitation hours, we pay our last respects and realize yesterday's tomorrow is now today, and today it is too late.

This of course is an imagined vignette of life. But it can happen. Why let it?

Campbell-Campbell vows read in Amherst church

Double-ring wedding vows were pledged between Kay Campbell of Amherst and Steve Campbell of Uvalde Saturday night, Oct. 9, in the First United Methodist Church of Amherst, as they stood at the altar decorated with spiral candelabras holding mixed fall color candles, accented with ivy and daisy chrysanthemums.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Gene Campbell of Amherst and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Campbell of Uvalde.

Officiating for the ceremony was Rev. Norman Patton, pastor of the Amherst First United Methodist Church.

As Gene Campbell presented his daughter for marriage, she wore a formal-length gown of ivory organza and lace with a victorian neckline and long tapered sleeves. The empire bodice extended into an A-line skirt, which flowed into a chapel-length train. Her veil was a lace-edged mantilla drifting the length of the train.

She carried a bouquet of rust and yellow daisy chrysanthemums, and a handkerchief that her mother had carried and a white Bible her sister had carried in their weddings.

She wore the traditional blue garter, which was a gift to the bride from her grandmother, Mrs. R. H. Campbell. A pearl necklace belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. E. L. Black, was worn for "something old".

Mrs. Larry Edwards of Amherst was her matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mr. Bob Mills of Amherst, sister of the bride; Mrs. Steve Martin of Lubbock and Mrs. Gates Compton of Overton.

Gates Compton of Overton was best man. Groomsmen were Dwight Richey of Austin, Paul Pitts of Uvalde and Bob Mills of Amherst, brother-in-law of the bride.

Ushering the guests to their pews were Larry Edwards of Amherst and Jason Nelson of Uvalde.

Guests were registered in the bride's book by Cindy Crosby of Amherst.

Candlelighters were Kammie Campbell of Amherst, sister of the bride, and Chip Campbell of Boise City, Okla., nephew of the groom.

Bridesmaids wore floor-length knit dresses of spice, apricot, and green colors, trimmed in ivory lace. They each carried bouquets of fall flowers.

Musical selections included "Hawaiian Wedding Song," "Time In A Bottle", and Lara's Theme".

For her daughter's wedding, Mr. Campbell wore a floor-length gown of green chiffon.

The groom's mother wore a floor-length gown of vari-colored knit material. Their corsages were of fall flowers.

Following the wedding, a reception was served in the fellowship hall of the church.

A wedding cake, made and served by the groom's sister-in-law, Linda Campbell of Boise City, Okla., was served with punch. Pouring were Denise Chadwick of Floydada and Janet Keller of Denton.

For their wedding trip to Brownwood, the bride chose to wear a blue and rust matching sweater and slacks.

They will reside at 631 E. Leona, Uvalde.

The bride attended Southwestern Oklahoma State University School of Pharmacy and was a member of Kappa Epsilon.

The groom attended Southwest Texas Junior College, and is now engaged in farming at Uvalde.

Sign painter Jerry Roberts teaching

JERRY ROBERTS

Jerry Roberts remembers vividly his first sign painting project. As a student at Littlefield High School and staff artist for the school annual, Roberts painted a sign on the exterior wall of a Littlefield radio repair shop.

The year was 1949 and his salary was $5.

Now in his 40s and firmly established in his own Littlefield sign painting business, Roberts begins a new career this fall as art instructor at South Plains College.

"I'm a little frightened by the prospect of teaching," Roberts admits, "but I feel that if I can just get through the first semester, I'll be all right." Although unfamiliar to teaching, Roberts is familiar with SPC, his alma mater, where he enrolled in 1967 and earned an associate degree in art two years later.

"My experience as a student at SPC inspired me to go into teaching," Roberts explained. "I was treated so well by the faculty and I had a great time going to school." He credits Don Stroud, SPC associate professor of art and his former instructor, with "putting the bug in me to teach."

He feels his experience was similar at Texas Tech University, where he received a bachelor of science degree in art education in 1972. He is just three semester hours shy of a master's degree in the same field. "The Tech faculty were extremely nice as well," he adds.

As a pre-schooler, Roberts remembers drawing all the time. When he reached elementary school, he discovered an ally in his third-grade teacher. "Apparently she was very interested in art, emphasizing it a great deal," Roberts noted.

There was no school art program, but "she gave me a lot of confidence in myself, made me feel successful," Roberts added. His former teacher is now retired, and he continues to see her occasionally.

Roberts further developed his artistic abilities through four years as staff artist for the high school annual. "We did all the lettering, everything by hand," Roberts explained. "The publishing company reproduced the annual just as we had put it together."

His talent for lettering sparked his initial interest in sign painting and he studied aeronautical engineering for a year in Los Angeles, served three years in the U.S. Army as an instructor in electronics for guided missiles and worked at Southwestern Public Service's plant near Earth.

"Sign painting is an exceptionally good business to go into," he said. "You never run out of work." He plans to continue with his sign painting in addition to teaching classes at SPC. With his background, he feels that he can help recruit students into SPC's commercial art program, which offers two-year programs in advertising art and sign design and construction.

For the fall semester, Roberts is teaching three oil painting classes... daytime and one... class, two sections... elementary education... design class.

Phi Lambda Zeta Hosts 'Tonight Show'

As much of a New television show as could be musically members of the Alpha Lambda Zeta chapter Sigma Phi entertained their guests Monday Oct. 4, with an alternate version of "The Tonight Show."

Guests (Ruan Carson, Ed (Darlene) and "Doc" (Lincoln), were all on stage) dazzled the audience with bits of wit and music. The show included sketches with the chapter members who posed as personalities and commercial interjections were provided by the chapter committee. Among "Johnny's" guests were the Charro (recording Charla Rountree), Henrietta Kissenger, and officer Brenda.

Following "The Tonight Show," cultural enrichment was provided by Perkins who presented a program on prose. He reviewed the different types of prose including novels, short stories and jokes. A discussion regarding the effect of modern life-styles and the reading of a story written by member of the chapter entitled "The Stomach Turns" closed the program.

Cotton leaders hear report

Cotton leaders will have the opportunity to hear reports from officials of Cotton Incorporated at a current and research market and research information programs in U.S. growers.

The informational meeting is scheduled for 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Southland Hotel in Lubbock.

Cline, leading cotton producer of Lamesa, said that the cotton referendum expected to be held late this year on increased assessments. Overwhelming support of the need for expanded cotton promotion and research programs was expressed by cotton leaders in recently completed public field hearings conducted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Cline explained that producers' programs are getting results, but inflation has eroded the buying power of their $1-per-bale contribution by more than 40 percent. In addition, federal budget cuts have eliminated supplemental government funding for the programs.

"Cotton is at a big price disadvantage with its major synthetic competitors," Cline continued, "and we must expand our research and promotion if we are to maintain markets."

MARIEL LANDERS
ANTON—What once was a discarded croquet court adjacent to the City of Anton has become a beautiful Memorial Rose Garden.

The people who provided work or materials were Mrs. Johnnie Harper Sr., John Waters, Ed Campbell, Dutch Chesser, Keith McGrew, Ken Fallin, Jessie Williamson, Donald Goen, Buddy Spears, Celine Garcia, Orval Williams and Louis Boothe.

The Jackson-Perkins Rose Company, when contracted by Mrs. Hart, supplied the pale pink Promise rose, and the red-orange Cayenne rose for testing and development.

The main varieties of roses planted are Peace, Chicago Peace, China Doll, Carosel, Oklahoma, Old-timer, Summer Sunshine, Queen Elizabeth, and Charlotte Armstrong.

Through the center of the garden have been placed stepping stones made of concrete and pebbles. These are edged with lavender sedum.

Organizations, individuals and clubs have donated money to be used for buying trees to be placed in the City Park. The Anton Study Club gave money to pay for trees.

Many unnamed persons have had a part in the development and care of the Memorial Rose Garden.

A poet has written, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever." A garden is a "thing of beauty" which requires much care to be a "joy forever."

Two area teachers attend TBEA meet

ANTON— Mrs. Mary Tollett, Sudan High School, and Mrs. Murriel Landers, business education teachers, attended the state conference of the Texas Business Education Association in El Paso, Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. Landers is chairman-elect for District 17, TBEA. Mrs. Tollett was "Business Teacher of the Year for 1975, Dist. 17."

The conference was under the leadership of the Professional Standards and Advancement Committee, Eldoras Jenkins, president, Longview High School, and Juanita G. Sloan, president-elect, Del Mar College, led the executive meeting preceding the conference.

Several outstanding speakers were on the program led off by Texas Legislator Jim Caster, El Paso, who received the applause of the group because he has 100 per cent attendance and 100 per cent voting record since 1970 when he became a legislator. He spoke on the accountability of the business teachers, administrators, legislature, State Board of Education, Texas Education Agency, and voters for the education of Texas youth.

Rep. Caster introduced the bill in the legislature which he hoped would require schools to teach a course in Free Enterprise to all high school students, and he intended it to be taught by business teachers.

He said that 50 cents out of every tax dollar in Texas goes for education, and yet 5,000,000 young people are functionally uneducated. He said, "There probably will be some legislation on testing to see what children have learned. In Florida, tests are given in the third, fifth, eighth, and junior grades to determine pupil progression. They have no social promotion, but do issue two diplomas—one of a certificate of attendance."

Dr. Ralph T. Green, vice president, Senior Economic Advisor, Federal Reserve Bank, Dallas, spoke on "Monetary Integrity and the American Economic System." Mrs. Evelyn Kisner, Business Education Consultant, TEA, showed a film being developed at the TEA resource center on Office Careers. Mrs. Kisner, is a former Littlefield High School business teacher.

On Saturday morning, Dr. Charles E. Zoubek, author or co-author of more than 40 books on shorthand, spoke on "Effective Methods of Teaching Shorthand." Zoubek worked closely with John Robert Gregg, creator of Gregg shorthand for many years. He played a major part in the Simplified and Diamond Jubilee Editions of Gregg Shorthand.

He discounted the demise of shorthand because of the use of transcribing machines. He said, "The first time such a statement was made was when Thomas Edison invented his talking machine and said, 'This will be the end of shorthand.'" Currently more than a million people are enrolled in the shorthand classes in the world, and over 100 million people have learned Gregg shorthand.

"The biggest single selling job that business education and vocational teachers have is selling guidance counselors who are convinced that all bright students should go to college," he stated. "It is a statistical fact that thousands of young people graduate from colleges every year and do not have a salable skill so that they can get a job," he continued.

He said, "I have here a page from the 'New York Times' showing hundreds of job openings for stenographers in a city where jobs are scarce in other categories."

Accounting methods of instruction was discussed by Dr. David H. Weaver, Director of Research for McGraw-Hill Publishing Co.

More than 200 business teachers on the high school, junior and senior college level participated in the conference.

Down Memory Lane

From the Leader-News files
Compiled by Nilah Rodgers

50 YEARS AGO
WHITHARRAL people are planning a rabbit drive. Among those participating are John Rodgers, W. D. Armstrong, Lee Crowover, C. B. Edgar and Ed Langford.

A CONTRACT was let for the construction of an $85,000 high school building.

A. S. UNDERWOOD of Athens, Tex., is closing a deal this week with Judge R. C. Hopping for three acres of land alongside the Santa Fe railroad tracks for the location of a cotton compress. The compress will be capable of pressing 1,200 bales of cotton daily.

SELDOM A DAY passes but Gus Shaw receives requests for his famous chicken barbecue receipt, the delectability of which is vouched for by hundreds of fastidious epicurians. Shaw and E. C. Cundiff, a well known gallinaeous expert, are developing a specific type chicken especially adapted for barbecuing with this famous receipt.

Nearly 100 requests from a half dozen states have been received by Mr. Shaw this week— each inquires anxious to plunge his teeth into the breast of a bird prepared according to this formula.

To further emphasize the sincerity of his request, one honorable official enclosed a self addressed envelope with a perfectly good two-cent stamp on it. Shaw said the gentleman would get the receipt even if he had had to tear out the corner stone of the new high school building which holds the original manuscript.

The town might well be named "Chicken a la Littlefield" since the crawling biped has brought it so much publicity.

34 YEARS AGO
COUNTY Superintendent Claude M. Coffer has been called into the service of his country, and he said his wife will carry on the race for county superintendent.

ONE FARMER brought in 890 pounds of old casings in the rubber drive. In answer to the plea for all scrap rubber to be turned in for salvage, rubber is pouring into Littlefield by the thousands of pounds.

Wholesale oil company agents are paying one cent per pound, and they receive the same amount when they dispose of the rubber. They are handling this without profit as a patriotic service.

COACH J. S. FIKES' "Modified T" Littlefield Wildcats rolled into high fashion in the season's curtain-raiser to crush Lubbock Western "B" team under 38-7.

But it was a costly victory for the Wildcats as co-captain Gene McCannies, stellar left end and a standout in the Wildcat line, went out of the game with a broken wrist late in the third quarter.

Retired veterans due dividends

Many veterans retired from military service and paying premiums for U.S. Government Life Insurance (USGLI) or National Service Life Insurance (NSLI) from monthly retirement checks may be missing annual dividend checks, the Veterans Administration reported today.

The VA insurance center at Philadelphia reported there are several thousand military retirees who each month pay insurance premiums by allotment from their retired pay.

In some cases the monthly deduction becomes so routine the veterans fail to notify the VA when there is a change of address. This is particularly true, a spokesman said, when a retiree's check is sent to a banking institution.

Annual dividends paid on USGLI and NSLI policies often result in some checks being returned to the VA for lack of current address, the spokesman said.

Military retirees paying their GI insurance premiums by allotment should send changes of address, with policy number to the Veterans Administration Center, P. O. Box 8079, Philadelphia, Pa. 19101.

Botulism blamed in duck die

Food poisoning, caused by toxins produced by certain bacteria, is blamed for a die-off involving about 1,000 ducks in Parmer and Castro Counties in the Panhandle.

An additional 600 birds in nearby Hockley County also are suspected of having contracted Type "C" avian botulism, although necropsy reports have not yet confirmed the presence of the deadly waterfowl disease.

"Between 600 and 1,000 birds in Parmer and Castro Counties have died thus far," said Max Traweck, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department assistant waterfowl program leader.

"Results of tests conducted by the National Fish and Wildlife Health Laboratory in Wisconsin confirm these birds died from a toxic botulism produced by bacteria."

Traweck stressed "This type of botulism does not affect man or other mammals, it is confined to birds, primarily those feeding in the shallow edges of warm-water ponds. There have been no documented cases of man contracting this strain of botulism, even if one of the afflicted birds were to be eaten by humans."

ENOCHS

MRS. W. M. BRYANT from Littlefield attended church services at Enoch's Tuesday morning.

MRS. WINNIE BYARS went to Lubbock to visit her children Friday. She visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Parr and family.

The invertebrates in the ducks have then eaten the toxin," Traweck explained.

There are six types of botulism, Types A through F. Type C affects wild but not man. Types D, E and F can rarely affect birds.

Traweck pointed to a similar die-off last year in the same general area. Most of the ducks that were found in Parmer County, along the New Mexico border.

"That die-off also traced to avian botulism type 'C,'" Traweck said. The toxin affects the peripheral nervous system causing it to lose control of its wings, legs and impairing its respiratory system.

Thus far, seven ponds in the two counties have yielded dead birds.

"It is not looking good as last year's outbreak have about seven ponds in Parmer and Castro Counties where we discovered the dead dying birds," Traweck said.

He added, however, as cooler October temperatures become prevalent the toxin outbreak decline.

Free Diabetes clinic planned by South Plains Hospital-Clinic

Do you have diabetes? Do you have a family member who has diabetes? Are you a curious community member who is concerned about good health care?

Would you like to know more about diabetes?

If your answers to these questions are yes to one or more, then you are special to the South Plains Hospital and Clinic at Amherst.

The South Plains Hospital and Clinic is sponsoring a FREE Diabetes program for its surrounding community.

The Diabetes program is a series of four classes designed especially for non-medical and non-nursing people. It is a course that will feature one, 2-hour class each week for four weeks beginning Oct. 18 (Monday night). The succeeding classes will be on the succeeding Monday nights, Oct. 25, Nov. 1, and Nov. 8.

The classes will also be taught in Spanish by Dr. B. L. Burditt, M.D. beginning on Oct. 19 (Tuesday night). The succeeding classes will be on the succeeding Tuesday nights; Oct. 26, Nov. 2, and Nov. 9.

The co-ordinator of the program is Sherry Whitaker, R.N., M.S.N., Clinical Nurse Specialist. Mrs. Mozelle Burgess, registered dietician, will conduct the class on the diabetic diet and basic nutrition.

The course will cover these aspects of diabetes: the patho-physiology of diabetes, the normal sugar-insulin relationship, the diagnosis of diabetes, diet therapy, oral hypoglycemics, insulin therapy, proper subcutaneous injection, self-care, complications of diabetes; and a special session will be devoted to the problems of coping with the disease—physically, emotionally, and socially.

A film will be presented during the last class on Nov. 8, titled: "Living With It."

Registration for the Diabetes program will be at 6 p.m., Monday night, Oct. 18, at the First Baptist Church of Amherst in the Fellowship Hall. The first class will be from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. the same night in Fellowship Hall.

Persons who attend are urged to bring a note pad and pencil to jot down any information they wish to keep for future reference.

Those who wish to attend the Spanish class should come for registration and class on Tuesday night, Oct. 19, instead of Monday night, Oct. 18.

The Spanish classes will be held at the South Plains Hospital and Clinic in the library instead of church.

Registration and classes will begin also at 6 p.m. and 7 p.m., respectively. Registration will be at the library door.

At the completion of the course, class members who attend all the classes will receive a Certificate of Achievement. Also, the class members, who wish to do so, can participate in the hospital's research study which will help the hospital evaluate the course and pave the way for improved education of diabetics and the public about diabetes.

Teacher examinations to be given at WTSU

The National Teacher Examinations (NTE) will be given at West Texas State University in Canyon on Nov. 13.

Scores from the examinations are used by many states for certification of teachers, by many school systems for selection and identification of leadership qualities, and by many colleges as part of their graduation requirements.

Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the tests, says they are designed to measure knowledge gained from professional and general education and in 17 subject-matter fields.

Bulletins of Information describing registration procedures and containing registration forms may be obtained from Dr. Kenneth Waugh, director of the WTSU Testing, Academic and Career Counseling Center or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, Box 911, Princeton, NJ 08540.

The Educational Testing Service must receive registration forms by Oct. 21. All forms turned in between Oct. 21-28 will be assessed a $5 late charge. The fee for the common examinations will be $11, and for each area exam an additional $11.

STUBBORN AS A MULE

Stubbornness is not always a sin... but almost always. "Stubborn as a mule" is sometimes used to describe someone whose mind would not turn to our own stubbornly-held position. But the closed mind is mighty difficult to admire. It almost always resists doing old things new ways.

Ralph Waldo Emerson tried mightily to help a boy get a calf through a gate. As the boy pulled, Emerson braced his shoulder against the animal's bony body and shoved. It was like trying to make water flow up a drain pipe.

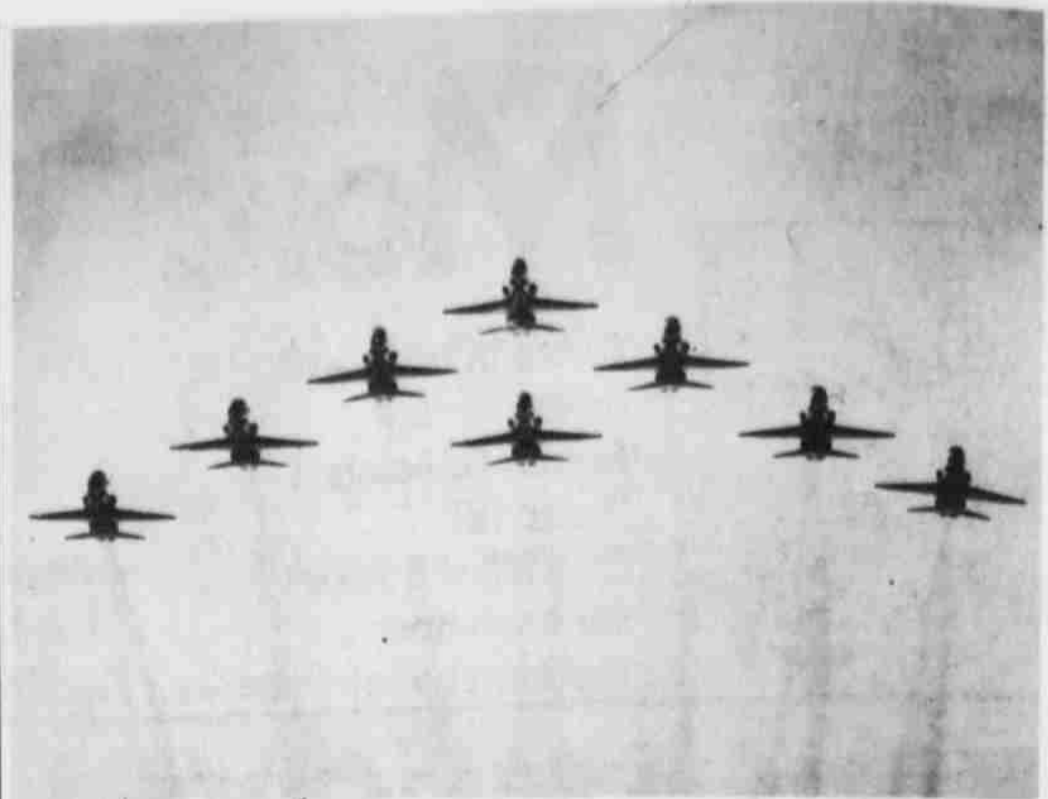

An Irish milkmaid watched the comedy with amusement. Then she came over to the scene of the struggle. She dipped her fingers into a pail of milk and put it to the calf's mouth. Effortlessly the happy animal went into the barn. Emerson set off to his house thinking deeply. Still perspiring, he recorded the scene, and concluded—"I love people who know how to do things."

The moral Emerson drew is this: those who do things recognize that things can be done more than one way. It is just one of the rules of success. How prosperous and happy many churches would be if their members would concede, the message is sacred, but not the method.

—Paul M. Stevens

House is planned

A sample of housing in this area will take the fourth national survey of housing annually by the Census, U.S. Department of Commerce and Urban Development according to Perry J. Lard, director of the Bureau's regional office in Dallas.

The 1976 survey the week of Sept. 14 program is in response need for frequent up-to-date data on housing, considered an indicator of the economic well-being.

For the 1976 sample of 80,000 units has been selected to represent cross section of all housing in the nation. The survey was originally scheduled from 1970 census and has been updated year to include new construction.

Previously, housing have come only from decennial census of housing, irregular surveys one-time special surveys. With regular annual surveys it is possible to pare from year to year number and types of housing, and changes in total housing stock resulting from losses and construction. In addition comparisons can be made about the frequency mechanical and breakdowns and other factors of the physical structures, characteristics of occupants, including who move in and out of the years.

Census Bureau representatives will begin interviewing households immediately, and the work expected to take three months. Each household in the sample will mail an introductory letter prior to the interviewer's visit. For uncooperative units, information will be obtained from neighbors, landlords, or rental agencies.

Joint HUD-Census reports on the results of survey are expected to be issued in the fall of 1977. Statistics will be tabulated for the U.S., for each of four census regions, urban and rural areas, standard metropolitan statistical areas as well as (both inside and outside central cities), and for remainder of the country (nonmetropolitan areas).

Pioneer Days

By V. M. (Pete) PETERMAN

SANDSTORMS

In the 1920's when the lands of the South Plains was plowed up and put into cultivation, most of— or almost all of it— was plowed and cultivated with horses and mules, and for several year this farmland could not be plowed deep enough to stir the sub soil, and keep it from erosion.

Teams and horse-drawn plows could not stir this top soil, and as soon as the original turf, or original covering was gone, the land laid barren and with little rain, would certainly blow in the spring time.

Without irrigation to moisten, it became a problem.

Farmers tried to keep some kind of a cover crop on the land, but with horses and mules, there was always the problem of roughage and row binders and mowers had to be used to gather feed for livestock. Cotton became the main money crop, and in gathering it, very little coverage was left on the soil. Teams left a lot of tracks that kept the top soil pulverized.

Soon, all of west Texas that was put under the plow became a loose mark of sand and dust, and became known as the "Dust Bowl". Sandstorms blew most every day in March and April.

Thus this farming country soon became unbearable for a great portion of the year.

And without irrigation, only a big rain could put this land ready for another year's crop. Many farms that are productive today, had to be abandoned and only irrigation and modern tractors with rubber tire could redeem them.

Then along in the 1930's irrigation wells began to be a part of every farm.

Before then, all wells were powered with big stationary engines that were a lot of trouble, and not so dependable.

But with the new centrifical drilling rigs and small automobile-type engines that had proper cooling systems and plenty of power, irrigation soon was a must on every farm where underground water was available.

Now, by the middle 30's, tractors replaced the team-drawn plows and made farming a lot more enjoyable. They soon had rubber tires, enclosed cabs and farming was a pleasure.

Along the late 30's the large caterpillar tractors with large 40-inch discs became popular with deep plowing the sandy land.

These three and four-disc plows could turn the sandy top soil over and bring a lot of subsoil to the surface, and a lot of land that was too sandy became the best land to be had. And that sandy top soil became a wick underneath to store the moisture.

These days of the "Dust Bowl" were gone forever, and though Lamb County still gets a lot of wind in the spring time, the sand and dust just don't get in the air like it did long ago.

Thanks to modern, multiple-powered tractors of today that can plow the land deep enough, the sand seldom blows.

ENOCHS

A. P. FRED is in Lubbock Memorial Hospital again and is very ill.

THOSE IN Littlefield Hospital from this area are Mrs. Wanda Layton, Jarrol Layton, and Willie Welch. All are improving and will be able to come home soon.

BUCK CUNNINGHAM from Amarillo visited in Enochs last Tuesday. He is with the Highway Patrol and is stationed in Amarillo. He grew up here and is appreciated by many people. He visited in the home of Mrs. Alma Altman.

The Promises of God

By CARL F. KASTEN

"And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." John 8:32

To know the truth is something more definite than to know what is true; it is to know Jesus Christ, who said, "I am the way, the TRUTH and the Life."

To know Him in a personal way is to be free from the burden of sin, selfishness, pride, bitter envying, and strife. He is the great Emancipator. He frees us from the bondage of Satan and frees us to serve God and to enjoy the sweet peace of fellowship with Him.

Pearl King relates, how that for 13 years she had been bound by the hurt of her husband's tragic death. A skeleton locked in the closet of her heart kept her from peace and enjoying the fullness of life. Then one night in a women's retreat in Detroit, she felt led to share with others, this hurt that she had harbored for so many years.

She said, "At last I discovered what it was I needed all along. I needed to know the Lord in a personal way, to lose myself in serving Him. But to do that I had to open the door of my closet, so God could use what I'd been trying to hide away. Now my heart is filled with a new love and compassion, not only for Him, but for others in my situation."

God had used her husband's tragic death to help Pearl King to reach out to others for Him.

THOUGHT: Freedom is losing sight of ourselves and seeing others.
