Tough Olton-Littlefield Game Forecast

travels to Olton Friday night and round of District 3-AA play, listen to the opposing coaches, familiar sound:

a tough, hard-nosed football Littlefield's Jerry Blakely and Kinneson, who this time last partners in preparation for the Olton skirmish, expect a hard-took the Littlefield post last spring, and Olton quickly named Kinneson, then line coach, to the head coaching position.

SO THE TRADITIONAL rivalry between Littlefield and Olton goes a step further this year, with a pair of old friends matched in a coaching battle to keep their District 3-AA records unblemished.

The Wildcats are 3-1 for the year, while Olton is 1-3. Both teams are 1-0 in district play, and that's the only record that counts from here on in.

Talks with both coaches point out the respect they have for each other.

"Olton easily could be 3-1 right now, because the Muleshoe and Tahoka games could have gone their way. They have one of the finest quarterbacks in the state, and on a given night, they can beat anybody," says Blakely.

Kinneson says the most impressive thing to him about Littlefield has been "the defense."

"The Wildcats are a physical team, and they play hard-nose defense. We expect to see a lot of (Ralph) Funk on offense and a tough defense," Kinneson explained.

AFTER DROPPING games to Tulla, Muleshoe and Tahoka, Olton racked up

Friona last Friday, 23-13 in the district opener.

"We finally got some breaks and were able to capitalize on them," says Kinneson. "It seemed like most of them went the other way in our first three games."

QB Steve Stockdale hit on 11 of 25 passes for 175 yards against Friona, his best performance this year.

While Littlefield's record is the more impressive, Olton's overall opposition probably has been tougher. The Wildcats have been winning against a combined 5-11 record posted by their foes. The Mustangs' 1-3 has been against teams which have an 11-3-2 combined mark.

Keith Workman, the 190-pound Mustang tailback who ran for 330 yards against the Wildcats last year, was injured early in the year and is off to a slower-than-usual start.

However, he will be in the starting line-up Friday night, possibly at tight end, while a small, but quick and hard-running Favian Minjarez starts at tailback.

Stockdale will be at quarterback, while Marlos May, 190-pound senior, will go at full back May who missed the Wildcat game last year with an injury, has been impressive as a runner this year.

May is the team's leading ball carrier this year, averaging six yards per carry.

Workman's average is about 3 per try. Stockdale has completed 30 of 88 passes for 330 yards in the four games.

Leaders in the Olton offensive line are Kurt Gregory, 167 senior, and Jim McCurry, 195 soph, at tackles; and Steve Lewis, 155 junior, and Luis Jimenez, 185 senior, at guards.

Defensively, the Mustangs use May, Gayle Long, 195 junior, Lewis, McCurry and Gregory along the front line, with Workman and Jimenez at middle linebackers.

THE FARMER'S WIFE

Good Show!

By LIBBY MUGGETT

I CAN REMEMBER my dear old granny saying time after time when I was a little girl.

"Remember, honey, a penny saved is a penny earned."

I THOUGHT at the time how much more thrilling it would be to just have the penny to hold in my hand instead of trying to feel virtuous over saving something that I never even got to see OR feel.

This all came back to me the other day when I watched busload after busload of high school lads wandering around a West Texas Air Base on Career Day.

ADMITTEDLY, high school boys nowadays are hard to impress, but the Air Force did its best.

They were shown the new base hospital, and a very engaging young nurse explained all of the free medical care available once they were in the service.

CRACKED ONE Afro-haired fellow, "Man, it would be just my luck to be healthy the whole time I wuz in. I'd ruther jest have more base pay to begin with."

A suave and well-informed sergeant conducted the youths all around the base exchange, showing them the various items they could purchase at so much percentage less than civilian prices.

A FRECKLE-FACED young math whiz quickly calculated in his head that for doing what he was interested in (no doubt computing or something similar for civilian pay, he could easily pay the civilian prices and come out 'way ahead.

The commissary failed to impress the lads at all, groceries not being uppermost in young male minds.

DITTO FOR most fringe benefits, retirement plans, etc. etc.

They all kept eyeing the base pay and promotion schedules.

The sergeant did his eloquent best, emphasizing the free food, free clothing, free barracks, the various free entertainments.

MUTTERED ONE boy under his breath, "I done foun' out that most things is woth jest 'bout wut you pay fer 'em."

Then the Air Force pulled out its ace in the hole—the great Thunderbirds.

NOW IF YOU have seen a Thunderbird performance, you'll know why the youths were finally impressed. If you haven't seen one, I could fill column after column with description, and you still wouldn't understand.

Even the most cynical and hardened of the high schoolers stood slack-jawed during the twenty or so minutes the Thunderbirds maneuvered their jets in, out, upside down, sideways, every way but backwards.

EVERY SINGLE ONE of them crowded around the pilots once they were on the ground again.

Almost to a boy, they stood in line to get the Thunderbird's autographs.

THE AIR FORCE almost, just almost, pulled it off.

But then the lads once more sat around comparing autographs and one of them (you guessed it, the math whiz) pulled out his base pay and promotion schedule again.

The others followed suit and silence reigned for a short spell.

FINALLY, one of them stood up, spat on the ground and drawled, "Yew know, there jest ain't hardly no substitute fer money, are there?"

Now why didn't I think of that 'way back there in time to make that reply to my dear old granny?

THE PHYSICAL condition of Alvin R. Streeby and Horace B. Merrifield was described late Tuesday as "doing all right" by a Medical Arts physician following a two-vehicle accident Saturday. Streeby and Merrifield were riding in this westbound pickup when it struck a car driven by Leo Carnes Burton as Burton attempted to make a U-turn. Several members of the Littlefield Fire Department went to the scene due to the danger of fire. Streeby is being placed on a stretcher in the bottom photo. The accident occurred just east of the city limits on the Spade highway about noon Saturday.

HOMINY GRITS

By CORNBALL BLEVINS

NO BOUT ADOUBT IT, we're livin' in the machine age. Just read where the powers that be, in our suburban city, are turnin' their tax headaches over to computers—This could be bad!

Trouble with these machines is, you just can't reason with 'em. Once they get their heads set on a certain problem, you're whipped.

I RECALL, ABOUT four years ago, havin' a difference of opinion with the "Iron Head" of a department chain located in "BIG D." Never could get any personal attention, just a computer card, claimin' that I owed it money.

To make a long story short, I wound up payin' THREE times for ONE piece of merchandise, just to get the thing off my back!

NOW, IN WORKIN' with new car warranties, how much fun do you think it is to try to explain to one of these monsters just why you think a customer is due warranty adjustment on some questionable item? Like I say, you just can't reason with the brute, and, hard luck stories are useless!

The thought of tryin' to explain my tax deductions to one of these things makes my blood turn white! Surely we still need SOME personal touch, to say nothing of needin' the jobs for our human-beings!

BUT, I SUPPOSE the machine age is here to stay. My wife has an early model washing machine that runs, somewhat, on the same order as a computer.

You put your clothes and soap in the thing, and push the programmin' button of your choice. Then you go your merry way, and forget the thing. After a while, the clothes are washed, rinsed, and spin-dried.

LIKE I SAID, the thing is an early model, and, from all accounts may have been educated in Aggie-Land. It seems to be slow on the up-take.

After you've pushed it's button, it gives you the idea that it's tryin' to figure out just what it is you want. It seems to sit in deep meditation for a time, then begins hesitatingly to hum, buzz, and click. Gives you the idea that it's countin' on its fingers and toes—Very deliberate.

GIVE IT CREDIT, tho, if you'll just be patient, it'll deliver the goods.

The disgusting thing about it is, they're makin' these machines to be our BOSSES! They tell you what to pay and when, what you can and can't do!

Does it irritate you because you can't take the key out of your car without locking the steerin' and transmission?—Or, if you leave the key in the ignition, the thing bellyaches and complains, when you open the door?

Will it bother you if the next year's models won't even start 'til all seat belts are fastened? I suppose the next step will be to fix the things to where they can read the speed limit signs, and behave accordingly.

NOW, THERE ARE a couple of machines that have bossed me, all my life. However, I've kind of learned to live with them and take them for granted.

One of them is the calculator at the bank. It tells me that I MUST work. The other machine is the clock, telling me when to work, and neither of them has a heart!

THE IDEA of a computer machine tellin' me how much of my hard-earned cash I can keep just seems to be too much! Suppose the thing turns greedy?

Or, how do you explain a slip of the pen? Would there be any way you could arouse any sympathy in the thing? Cheeze, I'm worried.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Shifting Blame

By BOB WEAR

SHIFTING BLAME is probably the action which does more than anything else to undermine, and confuse, and distort the whole human scene.

It is amazing that so much wrongdoing is charged against so many people other than the wrongdoer.

This is a practice as old as the human race, and will continue throughout time. Nevertheless, every possible effort must always be put forth to place the blame where it belongs.

WRONGDOING INCREASES as the guilty find it easier to shift the blame, and get by with it. The innocent often suffer as if they were the guilty ones, and the guilty go free.

The wrongdoer is often treated with special regard, and sympathetic consideration. In some instances, the person deserving the blame is actually honored.

THE AREA OF WRONGDOING is not the only one in which shifting the blame is practiced.

Many people go through life excusing their failures; neglecting the improvement of themselves; and feeling artificially self-righteous by constantly shifting the blame.

REFUSAL TO ACCEPT responsibility for our actions is the most certain way to a perversion of life.

The quality of personal integrity is dissipated, and the capacity for this essential characteristic is eventually lost. Thus, people become increasingly incapable of meaningful living, and unfit for satisfactory human association.

FRAGMENTED PERSONALITY and uncertain character are identifying marks of people who are always shifting the blame.

They are not dependable; they quit in the face of difficulties; they are incapable of friendship; and their actions create many of the difficulties which plague a social order.

PERSONS WHO REFUSE to be responsible, by always shifting the blame, place an unfair burden on responsible people.

In fact, the damage being done by them just grows and grows; and everybody gets hurt.

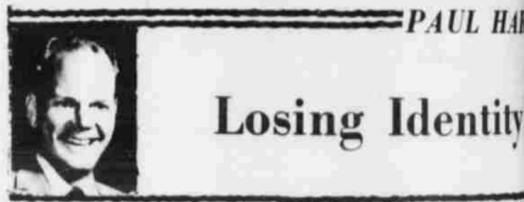

"ON ITS HIGHEST LEVEL man's contemporary desire to escape responsibility expresses itself not in emphasis on luck, or in emotional submission to fate, but in a thoroughgoing deterministic theory, ascribing all personal qualities to heredity and environment."—Fosdick.

We must face facts, such as our real limitations; but we must admit the truth and never use the hurtful practice of shifting blame.

If we fail because we did not put forth enough effort, or because we are not capable, let us admit it. If we make a mistake, let us be honest enough to say so and not seek escape by blaming something else or someone else.

IN ORDER to help ourselves, we must accept the obligations which belong to us. We must not go through life ruining ourselves, and hurting others by shifting the blame.

The well-being and strength of every facet of our social order, and of each person involved must be protected by using every legitimate device to hold each person fully accountable and responsible.

PAUL HARSH

Losing Identity

MEN WITH LONG hair, women with short hair; they're really none of our business. But they are the business of business. Manufacturers and merchants have to know what's now and what's next so that they can anticipate demands.

Will we all soon wear similar clothing? Is unisex apparel a fad or a trend? Are men and women becoming a composite creature?

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL asked the question of clinical psychologists and the answer was:

Are male men and feminine women going out of style? "Yes." For however long it lasts, the differences between men and women, especially among young people, are disappearing.

Some evidence is obvious: the Women's Lib women and the gay liberation men.

OTHER EVIDENCE is less obvious but, to a psychologist, more conclusive. The Rorschach inkblot test is an accepted tool for testing a person's concept of his own sexual role. There are jokes about it and professional doubts about it but psychologists have used it, supported by diagnoses, to develop their own scale of what's statistically normal.

What do you see when you see the inkblot—a man, a woman or a butterfly?

DR. FRED BROWN is head of the division of psychology and professor of psychiatry at Mt. Sinai Hospital in New York. He has authored an article for the Journal of Psychology indicating that in the last 10 years there has been a change in responses to the inkblot.

Men and women now tend to respond rather than male images when they see any given card.

Historically if a man saw a female image he was considered effeminate. A woman saw a female figure, she was considered masculine, aggressive.

AND NOW MUCH MORE heretofore—especially among young—both see the same female image. Dr. Brown believes men have tired of competing—are abandoning their leadership role—and are stepping in to fill the vacuum.

History shows that masculine flows. Socrates expressed this in 400 years ago.

Chicago psychologist, Stanley B. Klein, the new school construes the "asexual" and expects the latter to overrule tradition for all as we now can see.

LAST SPRING, you and I went to try out for professional basketball. I had an impressive performance.

And we've seen a husky New York grade boy with shoulder-length hair in sewing classes, express a preference for tending the children himself.

I don't pretend to know how far go, but if effeminate men and women pass one another going in opposite directions, and keep going, we'll just have the whole world through all over again.

4-H Week

AT AGRICULTURAL exhibitions all over the country, demonstrations of youth skills in agricultural pursuits are prominently featured. A leader in the encouragement of these skills is the 4-H club.

National 4-H Week is observed this year from Oct. 3-9. The purpose of the week is, "To expand 4-H, gain greater public support, get more volunteer 4-H leaders, express appreciation to 4-H friends locally and nationally."

THOSE WHO have been fortunate enough to attend county or state fairs this year have seen the results of 4-H club work in animal husbandry, home economics and other fields.

Any boy or girl between the ages of nine and 19 may become a 4-H member.

Under the guidance of a 4-H club can begin acquiring qualities of citizenship, as well as understanding of the science of production and fiber upon which the nation's economy is based.

THE EMBLEM of the 4-H organization is: My Head to clearer thought, My Heart to greater loyalty, My Hands to better service, My Health to better living for my club, my community, my country.

More than two million youth members of 4-H clubs stand behind the goals and principles of 4-H.

4-H Week is the one time of year when parents and the nation can see to the young who must carry on civilization and our country's brighter future.

Voice Of Democracy Contest Scheduled

By JUANITA ECHEVARRIA

Anyone interested in an extra $10,000?

Or how about a mere $50?

No, it isn't a joke. These are really some of the prizes being offered in the 25th Annual Voice of Democracy Contest, on which a number of LHS speech students are now working.

The program, sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Ladies Auxiliary, has as this year's theme, "My Responsibility to Freedom," focussing the attention of youth on the principle that freedom is a responsibility and not a license.

All tenth, eleventh and twelfth grade students in public, parochial and private schools in the United States are eligible. However, past national and state winners are not eligible to compete again.

Participants will be judged on their interpretation of the theme. Students may not refer to their race, creed, national origin or in any way identify themselves in the script. The script must not be less than three minutes nor more than five minutes in length. Contestants are identified to judges only by code numbers. Each tape forwarded for higher judging must have with it the official entry form properly filled out and signed by the program chairman at each level.

Point value in the judging is based on content, 45 per cent; originality, 35 per cent; and delivery, 20 per cent.

Local winners of last year's contest were Mark Rogers, Kathy Turner, Pam Stafford, and DeAnna Ogerly.

Anyone interested in the Voice of Democracy Contest is asked to contact Mrs. Elizabeth Ayres, LHS speech teacher.

OFFICIAL LHS NEWSPAPER

Students Must Comply With Immunization Laws

All students enrolled in Littlefield schools must meet the requirement for the new immunization laws, according to Mrs. Joyce Oliver, school nurse. These laws take effect Jan. 1, 1972, and affect children enrolled in any type of school in this state.

Doses of the five vaccines are required in four different age groups with children under one year of age required to have three doses each of oral polio and DPT. They are not required to have measles, rubella, or smallpox.

Children between the ages of one and four should have had three doses of oral polio and DPT. They also need one dose each of measles, rubella and smallpox.

When a child reaches five to eleven years the same dosage for oral polio and DPT is required, but at least one of these doses must have been received since the fourth birthday. They also need one dose each of measles and rubella.

Distributive Ed Float Is Started

DE Club has been meeting recently at Molly Green's house to work on the DE float for Homecoming.

DE students have also received purse calendars and antenna flags to sell this year. Calendars are priced at $1 and flags are 50 cents.

Sponsor of the club is Mrs. Joycelyn Henry.

required, but at least one of these doses must have been received since the fourth birthday. They also need one dose each of measles and rubella.

As for smallpox, the requirement now insists that each student has one dose within every ten years. However, students aged eighteen or older are not required to have additional shots of oral polio. Those twelve to eighteen need to have had at least one dose since their fourth birthday and thereafter, one dose within every ten years.

Concerning DPT in this age group, three doses is the requirement and at least one injection within the past ten years.

If a child has had measles illness, measles vaccine is not required.

HOT PANTS—Carol White, president of FTA, displays the Hot Pants stationery now being sold by the club.

Stationery Sale Starts

Selling different stationery is one of the raising projects now on by FTA members.

Hot Pants, Round notes are among the kinds of note stationery sold for $1 and $1.25. Received from this project towards state contest.

Carol White, president of the stationery club, says that the stationery has been very successful. Orders for additional stationery are being taken. Mrs. White is the sponsor of the organization.

Test A Day Is Busy Week For Students

By CARLA OWENS

Did anyone notice an atmosphere in the hall this week?

Anyone notice a minute studying before time or a large number of worried looks on some faces?

Perhaps more important, anyone realize that the sixth of the school year is here?

Yes, today is the last tests for the first six weeks. For others it's a relief; for others it's a time because it means cards, but for some it's one six weeks down, five more to go!

Six weeks test Tuesday, with English On Wednesday, and American history and History tests were Today, all science tests includes biology, chemistry and physics, are being taken.

With the first six weeks coming to an end, students should have realistic summer vacation plans and class time and have one again arranged. Some of the first few weeks have been difficult adjustments to new schedules, changes of reasons; but now they are settled in class activities, ready to begin new six weeks.

LHS SPEAKS OUT Football

LHS SPEAKS OUT

Football

The question asked this week on LHS Speaks Out was, "Do you think football is overemphasized in this school?" The majority of students said they didn't think it was. Some felt that the school should support other school activities as much as the football program.

Following are some of the opinions of juniors and seniors:

LINDA MCANALLY—"No, I don't think so. Everybody looks forward to football and so without it, school just wouldn't be the same."

MIKE MORRIS—"No. It would be hard to overemphasize football at LHS. If anything it is underemphasized. Not enough people go to pep rallies or the games. They also don't support the team like they should. This will all change, we hope."

DON DAVIS—"No, but I do think that the school should help other activities as much as it does football."

DEBBIE SORLEY—"I don't, then that's part of the reason I'm helping promote spirit in LHS. There are a lot of people involved in football, and they are happy with it."

DON CHESHER—"Not really, the only thing is that we have to stand up during the whole pep rally."

WELDON CULP—"I don't think football is overemphasized. I think we need emphasis and more spirit. The only thing is that this school spends too much money on the athletics program and not enough on other school departments."

BILL HAMBLEN—"No, it's been too long since we won district."

SHELLY GRANT—"Yes, it limits too many other activities, such as girls' athletics and basketball. It also shortens funds for school as a whole."

SID JACOBS—"No, because you cannot overemphasize our great team."

SHARON WHITE—"No, if anything it's underemphasized."

BOONIE SMITH—"Yes."

JIM HALL—"No. Because in the past three or four years, football was nothing; we just kept losing. This caused everyone to lose interest, now since football has shown progress, more and more people are interested in it."

MONTE ANGEL—"I think football is greatly over stressed. Sure, it's important but the rest of us would like to have other activities we think are just as important."

TINA RUSSELL—"Football is not overemphasized anymore during football season than basketball is during basketball season. I think a lot more spirit could be shown, because the boys need it."

CHUCK BLEVINS—"It depends on the way you look at it. If you play football, it has to mean a lot and therefore it could not be overemphasized. For those outside of athletics, it might be kind of tiresome to have to endure the annual 'football mania'."

Student Council Plans Homecoming

LHS Student Council met recently to discuss plans for Homecoming scheduled Oct. 14.

President Jay Trammell assigned Linda McAnally, Carol French, and Wanda Cotter to help Mary Davidson, Jill Owens, and Martha Brown contact all businesses and organizations about the Homecoming parade. Awards for the best entries will be maroon banners with silver glitter lettering.

Present plans call for the line-up for the parade to be at 6:45 p.m. and the parade will begin at 7 p.m. Bonfire will be immediately after the parade.

New Band Council Meeting Is Held

The 1971-72 Band Council met recently in Director Daryl Rountree's office. The band council includes: President Bob Grissom; Vice-President Ben McKinnon; Secretary Carla Owens; Drum Majors Bruce Hall (head), Annelle Harris, and Anthony Pierce; Senior Representative Linda Horn; Junior Representative Johnny Wimberly; Sophomore Representative Bruce Peel.

The need for various money-making projects and the possibility of a trip were some of the topics under discussion.

Band sweetheart will be crowned at the Floydada game, Nov. 5.

Kat Klub Members Make Locker Signs

"Kat Klub says: Lasso the Longhorns" was the notice on the locker boosters for the Littlefield-Lockney game played here last week. The locker boosters were designed by Carol Chisholm, senior at LHS and president of Kat Klub. Each week the Kat Klub makes the boosters to show the football players that the Kat Klub is behind the Wildcats.

Kat Klub also met recently to make plans for a float in this year's Homecoming parade. Kat Klub has won first place on its float in the school division for the last three years.

Debbie Sorley Named Sweetheart Of VICA

Debbie Sorley, junior at LHS was elected VICA Sweetheart at a recent meeting of the club.

Miss Sorley is a varsity cheerleader, a member of the Wildcat band, FTA, Kat Klub, and also was elected Industrial Arts Sweetheart.

Her favorites are cooking, skiing, horseback riding, biology class, pizza, and the color blue.

Debbie is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Clem Sorley.

Saturday, Nov. 6, officers of VICA are going to attend the Officer's Conducting Contest in Plainview. This is a club officer's training session. Attending will be Jim Cawthon, president; Jim Hall, vice-

MRS. BLAKELY

Tiddly Talks

Mrs. Jerry Blakely, world history teacher at LHS, is a native of Lamesa. At Seagraves High School she was a majorette for four years. Attending the University of Texas at El Paso, she was drum major and a member of Delta Delta Delta National Sorority.

"Tiddly" Blakely graduated from Wayland Baptist College, Plainview, with a major in English and a minor in history, receiving an award in English.

Having done her student teaching at Olton, "Tiddly" comes to Littlefield for her first teaching position.

Mrs. Blakely lists her hobby as "taking care of her husband, the football coach." Her favorites include "the coach", her children, football, and twirling.

The Blakelys have three

Tests For Juniors Are Scheduled Here

Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT) will be offered Saturday, Oct. 23, 1971 for juniors. The single testing program will serve the purposes of the previously separate PSAT and NMSQT. This is the first year to combine the two tests, according to Counselor Ima Roycroft. The October PSAT/NMSQT replaces the NMSQT, originally scheduled in February, 1972.

Taking the Oct. 23 test is the first step necessary for a student to be considered for scholarships offered by the National Merit Scholarships Corporation in 1973, when this year's juniors will be ready for graduation. Taking the test will give students a good idea of what to expect when they take the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) during their senior year.

The cost of taking the test is $2.50 per student. Students are asked to take their money to Mrs. Roycroft and pick up an information booklet concerning the test. The booklet gives sample questions about what is to be expected on the test. If any student is undecided about taking the test or has any questions, he is advised to talk to Mrs. Roycroft in her office.

Seventy-five information and test booklets have been ordered, enabling students to bring

Should Have Seen That Detour Sign

Traffic signs are the newest addition to Byron W. Ford's Industrial Arts shop with signs placed on walls in special places to remind students of safety rules.

The "detour" sign on the newly acquired door tells students not to use that door unless an emergency arises.

A "yield" sign has also been placed between the drafting and wood shop doors. In the hallway leading into the two rooms, Ford has placed "one way" signs going both ways. If this is a little confusing, students have an opportunity to halt and think the situation over before they leave in front of a large "stop" sign.

CATHY COMMENTS Disappointment

By CATHY GILES

Disappointment is an everyday crisis and yet it remains the most difficult facet of life to accept with the maturity and wisdom it demands. Its approach gives no warning, but it usually strikes with the greatest of force. Since we seldom acknowledge our own faults, disappointment in one's self is seldom felt. This emotion is usually reserved for other people and things which surround us. Great expectations of life as a whole are created in our minds and when events fall short of our fantasies, the devastating results of disappointment are realized to their fullest. Let us never forget that the only time we have the right to be disappointed in others is when they fail to be what they claim, and not when they fail to be what we hoped. This is one of the greatest faults of human nature.

Failure is the form of disappointment with which everyone is most familiar. If disappointments are allowed to rule the upper hand, the results can be most disastrous. One may either allow failure to rule his life or he may utilize it as a lesson which is not to be forgotten. Failure can be a great teacher in the lesson which is taught is used as a stepping stone to more fulfilling accomplishments.

Around every corner in life, disappointments will be waiting for their next victim. They have been present since the beginning of time and as long as one person remains living, they will continue to prey on man's mind.

Disappointments can be hindersome or helpful, but the final decision remains up to each person as an individual.

Back-To-School Night Changed

Back-to-school night at LHS has been changed from Oct. 14 to Oct. 11, now scheduled on Monday night instead of Thursday.

Each parent will receive from his child a list of classes and teachers. Parents may attend each class for approximately 10 minutes. During that time, parents will have an opportunity to visit with teachers and become familiar with their child's studies.

The seventh grade played Levelland Monday night. The 'A' team won and the 'B' team tied. Congratulations!

Here's some riddles:
A man was locked up
From spring to fall.
In a room with a calendar
And bed-that's all.
None brought food,
To sell or give.
How in the world did
The poor man live?
He drank from the spring in the bed and ate dates off the calendar!

The little girl opened the icebox
Because she thought it a nice box.
But when she saw it was empty that day,
What seven letters did the little girl say?

HAVE A GOOD week and . . . let's go BEAT ABERNATHY!!

"7, 8 AND 9" are the new symbols for Littlefield Junior High spirit boosters. Each maroon and white pillow represents its respective class and each week the spirit stick is given to the representative of the class which has shown the most spirit. Last week's winner was the eighth grade class as shown by the spirit stick which is in front of their pillow. Hoping to make the spirit stick a tradition are the LJH cheerleaders Patti Hamblin, Liz Harlan, Cindy Purdy, Lori Wilkinson and Patty Chisholm.

Rush hour traffic on a busy street corner of a major U.S. city recently was measured at 95 decibels, which is high enough sound to be in the danger area. Prolonged exposure to sound levels high than 85 decibels can cause serious and sometimes permanent hearing losses.

Don't gripe at our employees. Gripe at us.

General Telephone employees have a hard job to do. And, they are working harder than ever to get it done right.

The reason they're so busy is because there are so many more of you now. And, because everybody's constantly on the move.

For example, we average 9,000 visits a month just moving phones. Plus, we add 4,000 new customers a month.

So, if occasionally one of our men is late, it's not because he's taking an extra coffee break. It's because he's breaking his back trying to keep up with you.

However, we're not asking you to swallow all your anger.

Instead, take advantage of our recently established "One-to-One" policy. It's our new code for improving relations with you, our customers. It's intended to help us open up a direct, honest and courteous communication that will bring about a mutual understanding between us.

Contact us if you want to get something off your chest. Or, if you want to find out how our plans for the future will affect your phone service.

In addition to improving our relations with you, we're also spending money to make your phone work harder. $96,000,000 is going into new lines and equipment this year. That's a lot, and you'll see results soon.

Get in touch with us when you have a special telephone problem. Especially if it's a gripe. That's when a One-to-One relationship will really help us both get a grip on such things.

Vitamin A Lacking

In U. S. Diets

Recent U. S. surveys show a substantial number of children suffer from some vitamin A deficiency, reports Sally Springer, Extension Foods and nutrition specialist at Texas A&M.

Although the situation is more widespread in poverty areas, middle class adults have also been found to have so little vitamin A in their bodies that night blindness, the first major sign of a deficiency, is becoming increasingly common, she continues.

Other effects of the vitamin A deficiency, including skin infections, respiratory tract infections and eye disorders, have been found in many American children and adults.

America's changing food and dietary habits may be responsible for the apparent deficiencies. Miss Springer explains. For example, the per-capita consumption of whole milk is on the decline, low-fat skim milk and skim milk are replacing it. When fat is removed from whole milk to make skim milk, so is the fat-stored vitamin A. In order for whole milk to compare with skim milk in vitamin A content, it must be fortified with the vitamin.

And, she adds, Americans are eating fewer vegetables. Carrots, squash and dark leafy green vegetables are the major vegetable sources of vitamin A.

One researcher has even found many persons without vitamin A in their livers at death, and even greater numbers with very little. This is significant as fat-soluble vitamin A is stored in the liver, she says.
