Sidewalk Sale Days Set Friday, Saturday

Downtown merchants have many hot bargains, to go along with the weather, and have decided to "air out" their specials in a sidewalk sale.

So, Friday and Saturday have been designated as Sidewalk Sale Days in Littlefield.

Merchants will conduct business from in front of their stores, and at the same time "cool off" their prices and offer many unusual buys—a trait that has made Sidewalk Sale Days popular throughout the years.

Look inside this issue of the Leader-News to find a few of the bargains—but better yet, come to town and browse around.

Clean-Up Begins Monday

Mowers, rakes, hoes, shovels, pickups, trucks, and lots and lots of muscle power will go into action next week to clean every nook and corner of Littlefield.

Young and old residents will join efforts in mowing lawns, cutting weeds, picking up cans and trash, clean up alleys and many other things that will improve the looks of the city proper.

Citizens are urged to place grass clippings, weeds, trash and other debris in sacks, bags, boxes or other easily-handled containers which may be removed from the alleys by volunteers during the week.

A limited number of plastic bags will be available at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Volunteer pickups and trucks, along with city trucks, will begin picking up containers Wednesday and will continue those efforts through Friday.

Tree limbs and other bulky items should be tied together or placed in order near trash cans so that volunteers may pick them up.

Citizens who wish to take their own trash to the city dump grounds, located east of Littlefield on Highway 54 and west of the city lake, are invited to dump trash in the available pits. The grounds will remain open later than usual next week to receive trash.

Anyone wishing to volunteer a few hours, half a day, a day, or even a week of time to help in the campaign, is asked to contact the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture office anytime between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

"Bring rakes, hoes, brooms, shovels and the Chamber of Commerce will show you where your efforts are needed the most", advise Dr. B.W. Armistead and Pat Downs, co-chairmen of the special effort.

Several clubs and organizations are taking part in the campaign in various ways. The Hospital Auxiliary, XYZ Club, Garden Club and Women's Club have divided the phone directory and are making calls to residents reminding them of the effort.

Boy Scouts and other youth groups are helping clean up portions of the downtown business area.

All citizens are urged to join the campaign so that the city will show its best face when out-of-towners come to Littlefield for the Pioneer Reunion Tuesday, Aug. 22, and for Festivities Days the following Friday and Saturday.

Wife Of Candidate Plans Visit Here

Jan Sanders, wife of Barefoot Sanders, U.S. Senate candidate, will be in Littlefield Friday afternoon from 2 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.

"You and any of your friends are cordially invited to attend this informal reception and chat with Mrs. Sanders," Tollett stated.

He continued, "With your attendance and support, I am sure we can give her a big welcome to Lamb County."

According to Tollett, Barefoot Sanders plans to be in Littlefield for the Lamb County Festivities Days Parade Saturday, Aug. 26, beginning at 3 p.m. He will be available following the parade for discussions on any question the public may have for him.

Lamb County 4-H Fair Scheduled Aug. 26

Blue ribbons will be awarded for first place entries, red ribbons for second place, and white ribbons for third place.

A trophy or banner will be given to the senior girl and senior boy (those who are 14 years of age before Jan. 1, 1971), and to the junior boy and junior girl who acquires the greatest number of points.

Second Bus Trip Planned For 'TEXAS'

Several spaces are still available on a chartered bus which will travel to Palo Duro Canyon Thursday, Aug. 17, for another presentation of "TEXAS".

Reservations for the trip should be in to the Chamber of Commerce office by Monday, Aug. 14.

The $10 fee, which should be paid at the C-CA office before reservation is confirmed, pays for the bus ticket, the evening meal and price of the show ticket.

LITTLEFIELD CHEER LEADERS are getting 45 "Fighting Wildcat" signs ready for the 1972 football season. The exception to the signs being picked up and repainted are those in the yards of 1972 graduating seniors who get to keep their yard plaques. The three senior cheer leaders, Shelly Grant, Tonya Pickrell and Debbie Sorley present Danny Estrada with his sign. Estrada played full-back, linebacker, defensive and offensive tackle. This past year he was named All-District and honorable mention South Plains defensive lineman. He is the last of three Estradas who have won football honors as fighting wildcats. Pete and Tony played in 1960-63 and both played for the University of Texas at Arlington. Danny will be going out for football this fall as a freshman at Tyler Junior College.

Census Bureau To Make Survey In This Area

A number of households in this area will take part in a nationwide survey on employment and unemployment to be conducted the week of Aug. 14-18 by the Bureau of the Census, according to Percy R. Millard, director of the bureau's data collection center in Dallas.

The survey is taken monthly by the Bureau for the U.S. Department of Labor. The households interviewed are scientifically selected to represent a cross section of all households.

Statistics on conditions in the labor force from month to month provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the country.

In June, for example, the Nation's unemployment rate dropped to 5.5 per cent. The decline, from 5.9 percent in May, brought the jobless rate to its lowest level in more than a year and a half.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is held confidential by law and is used only to compile statistical totals.

Rev. Cummings To Be Honored

Rev. Logan Cummings, an Olton native and former Littlefield resident who is now pastor of the First Baptist Church of Brownwood, will be among the persons to receive honorary doctorate degrees during the Howard Payne College summer commencement exercises Friday in the Brownwood Coliseum.

Rev. Cummings is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cummings of Littlefield, and will receive the doctor of divinity degree.

He is a graduate of Texas Tech University, where he attended on an athletic scholarship in basketball, and is also a graduate of Southwestern Theological Seminary in Fort Worth.

Rev. Cummings has held pastorates at the First Baptist Church of Columbus and the Woodlawn Baptist Church in Austin, and is a former president of the Austin Ministerial Association.

Cummings, who only recently returned from a trip to the Holy Land, served as an alternate speaker for the Baptist General Convention of Texas in 1972.

Countries visited on the tour were Corinth, Thessalonica, Antioch, Patmos, Ephesus, Crete, Cyprus, Rhodes, Bethlehem, Jerusalem, Damascus, Tyre, Joppa, Philippi, Nazareth, Mount of Olives, Jericho, Samaria, Bethel, Sea of Galilee, Dead Sea and River Jordan.

While he was pastor of the Columbus church, he was invited to Washington, D. C. to lead the opening prayer for the U.S. Senate on the day that former President Harry S. Truman celebrated his 80th birthday and was honored by the Senate.

He was the youngest clergyman ever to open the U.S. Senate in prayer.

Sheriff Receives Notice Of New Jail Regulations

Lamb County Sheriff E. D. McNeese has been notified by the Texas Civil Liberties Union that a recent lawsuit of "Taylor vs. Sterrett" has determined that certain standards must be maintained by the Dallas County jail, and that the decision will possibly apply to all counties in the state.

The letter to the sheriff stated, "It would be appreciated if you would take the time to indicate in writing within the next few days how your jail facilities comply with state law. We hope that such a comparison will make easier your job and that of the county commissioners in achieving compliance, if the jail is below standard now."

The letter continued, "Sweeping changes will have to be made in most counties, but while physical improvements will obviously take some time to accomplish, many of these requirements can be instituted immediately."

Sheriff McNeese says there will be some changes made in the Lamb County jail system, but no major projects are anticipated. He is currently making a study of the requirements, to determine what will have to be changed.

"The Texas Civil Liberties Union (TCLU) prefers to give ample time for voluntary implementation of these standards, but is prepared to force compliance through the courts if necessary," the letter emphasized.

Included here is the case study and the requirements it plans to enforce.

TAYLOR vs. STERRETT

One of the newest jails in Texas, Dallas County Jail, in and under the Federal power of declaratory judgment has been adjudged unconstitutional. (Taylor v. Sterrett, 65-72, N.D. Tex. 3-3220-B) in violation of eighth and fourteenth amendment protections of the U.S. Constitution and further in violation, in and under the Court's cognizance of state law pursuant to pendent jurisdiction, of state law (5115 V.A.C.S.). Relying either on federal or state grounds the Court, in and under its 1963 powers of injunction, now requires:

1. Dallas Commissioners Court must obey Section 5115 of state law in the following particulars:
 - a. Provide sufficient holding capacity to prevent overcrowding, bringing the jail into compliance with the size requirements of 5115.
 - b. "Solitary cells of not less than 40 sq. feet, provided with a bunk, water closet and a combination drinking fountain and lavatory."
 - c. Increase the holding capacity of the hospital ward and the provision of bunks to all inmates.
 - d. "Padded cells with hammocks for insane persons."
 - e. Full compliance with all other relevant portions of state law, not mentioned specifically above.
2. Provision shall be made for an outdoor recreation facility and a rehabilitative program of exercise.
3. Inmates shall not guard other inmates. Trustee or "corridor bosses" shall not discipline inmates. Sufficient guards shall be hired to end the necessity of inmate assistance.
4. Censorship of mail is prohibited between inmates and courts, prosecuting attorneys, probation and parole officers, governmental agencies, lawyers and the press.
5. The Sheriff shall not destroy "law books, legal materials, legal documents, books, magazines and newspaper clippings provided such material is maintained in good condition."

6. Inmates are to receive magazines and other periodicals but within criteria established by the Sheriff.

7. Notice of rules for the behavior of inmates shall be provided. Notice of hearing procedure is to be made.

"Before any punishment for confinement of more than 3 days in solitary is inflicted hearings should be held." The accusing officer shall not take part in appeals.

8. Cop-out men or plea-bargainers for the District Attorney are not to see inmates unless with the written consent of that inmate and with the foreknowledge of the inmate's attorney.

9. Again under state law, inmates shall be classified as to maximum and minimum security and separated from general population if a pretrial detainee.

10. No cell is to be used of less than 40 sq. feet. No cell is to hold more persons than it was designed to accommodate.

11. "The sheriff is directed to have employees and inmates handling food examined by a licensed physician to detect the presence of communicable diseases as required by Article 705d of the Texas Penal Code."

Social Security Checks To Show 20% Increase

Social security benefits were being paid to residents of Lamb County at a rate of $270,000 a month at the close of 1971, according to John G. Hutton, social security district manager in Lubbock.

The 20 per cent increase recently passed by Congress will automatically raise the monthly payments to $324,000 effective with the Oct. 3, 1972 checks.

Of the 2,720 social security beneficiaries living in Lamb County, 1,841 are retired workers and their dependents. Another 631 are receiving benefits as the survivors of workers who have died, and 248 are getting benefits as disabled workers or their dependents.

Although most social security beneficiaries are older people, about one out of every four is under age 60.

In Texas, 350,000 people under age 60 are collecting social security payments each month. Nearly 200,000 are under age 18, receiving payments because a working father or mother has died or is getting social security disability or retirement benefits.

Most of the 35,000 beneficiaries in Texas between 18 and 22 years of age, are getting student's benefits under a provision in the social security law permitting the continuation of a child's benefits beyond his 18th birthday, and up to age 22, if the child is attending school full time.

Also in this 18-22 age group, Hutton said, are some other type of beneficiaries, illustrating the broad family protection that the social security program provides workers of all ages.

Some are children of retired, disabled, or deceased workers who became disabled before they reached 18 and who will probably never be able to work and become self-supporting. The monthly benefits of these young people, severely handicapped by physical or mental disabilities, will continue indefinitely. Benefits are also payable to the mother if the disabled son or daughter is in the mother's care.

Hutton said that another relatively small but significant group of youthful social security beneficiaries are those who are receiving benefits as disabled workers.

Social security disability payments can be paid to a person who becomes disabled for work even if he has less than 5 years of work under social security.

As little as 1 1/2 years of work is required in the case of a worker who becomes disabled before age 24, Hutton said.

ANOTHER YEAR

Nearly one million additional persons — an increase of more than 10% — received Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) at the end of 1971 than in the year before, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare reports. Total costs of AFDC programs last year were more than $6.2 billion, almost a 28% increase over 1970 AFDC spending.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Don't Meddle

HAPPY ARE THE PEOPLE who have the wisdom to attend to their own business, and let other people attend to their own business.

These are the likable ones, too. They are respected, and, in times of real need, are the most helpful ones.

Their interest in other people is wholesome, and is a highly respectful interest. Some of these people may have no feeling of concern for their fellowmen, and may be unwilling to help in times of need; but this is not generally true.

MEDDLING IN THE LIVES of others must surely be one of the most obnoxious and undesirable of all human behavior manifestations. Even though the meddler has good intentions, meddling is still meddling.

Those who feel impelled to interfere with the life and activities of others usually try to justify what they do by saying that they do it for the other's good. In addition to meddling, such persons are usually exhibiting a high degree of presumption and self-conceit.

THERE MAY BE INSTANCES, when the situation indicates action which we can take on our own initiative. This can be done, however, without meddling; if we are discreet in what we do.

Even this kind of action, with the very best intentions, can become meddling. Therefore, we must be very cautious.

If we have the right attitude of respect for others, for their time, for their work, and for their capabilities; we are less likely to be meddling.

THANKS TO THE Quarterback Club —and BILLY TOM GRANT in particular— this fall's football fans will have the distinction of being able to pull PAINTED splinters from their backsides.

TRIED TO SELL the idea of inviting the visiting teams' fans to bring their paint, and paint a little of THEIR school colors on the visitors stands, only to find out that Junior Graham had beat me to the suggestion.

Anyway, the idea didn't go over so well.

IF YOU WANT your old reserved seats back this fall, guess you'd better be thinkin' about goin' down to the tax office and pickin' them up. The action will be startin' before you know it.

Do believe that "two-a-days" will be startin' next week. — Seem possible?

"TWO-A-DAYS!" That's the action that's started by the coaches, that separates the boys that want to play football from the ones that just thought they did! Oh, those achin' muscles and sore spots!

GUESS BETWEEN the Wildcats and the Dallas Cowboys, our local fans should have an interestin' fall. Was lookin' over the Wildcat schedule, and do believe Blakely failed to match a game with those Cowboys. (As well as Crosbyton and Abernathy.)

SPEAKIN' OF THE Cowboys, they ought to go real well now, since they're removed a question or two from their roster. Gotta admire that Garrison, Meddling in these is a meddling, certainly not recommended.

Town Of Amherst To Receive Marker

An official Texas Historical Marker for the town of Amherst will be erected Tuesday, Aug. 15, according to V. M. Peterman of Amherst, chairman of the Lamb County Historical Survey Committee.

The marker will be placed at FM 37 (Main St.) in the city park of Amherst.

Dedication plans will be announced in the near future.

Made of cast aluminum with Swedish steel effect, the marker measures 27 by 42 inches and is sponsored by the Lamb County Historical Survey Committee.

The inscription on the marker reads:

TOWN OF AMHERST

Began in 1913 as a cattle-shipping point on Pecos and northern Texas railroad, served the 300,000-acre Springlake Ranch, which was established in 1902 by W. E. "Colonel Bill" Halsell (1850-1934) and his son Ewing Halsell (1877-1965). According to local tradition the shipping point was named for Amherst College, Mass., alma mater of one of the railway officials.

When, in 1923, the economy of the High Plains began to switch from ranching to farming, the Halsells divided much of their land to sell to the influx of new settlers. Farms could be bought for $25 an acre.

They set aside land at the depot for a town and donated the school and churches. First post office building was the Amherst Hotel. Halsell Land Company for property buyers and visitors. It also had a bank, general store, and in 1905 years it was the most populated town between Clovis, N. M., and Littlefield, Tex.

The first general store was built in 1923, a post office in 1924 and National Bank in 1925. The first newspaper was the "Argus" in 1925. Amherst had a population of 100 (1972) citizens number 100. The economy is based on cotton and hog raising and cattle feeding.

The marking of local historical landmarks is part of the Texas Historical Survey Committee's program of preservation activities. The archeological investigations and museum consultation, administered by the National Preservation Act in Texas. The Survey Committee had erected more than 5,000 official markers.

The name and location of the marker will appear in the next issue of the "Guide to Official Texas Markers" in order to attract attention to this area, to arouse interest in historical tours, and to help people of this locale with their heritage.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

If the official Aug. 1 estimate of High Plains cotton production proves correct, area farmers will harvest the biggest cotton crop since 1965 and could reap almost $400 million for their efforts.

Lubbock at 1,917,000 bales. Last year's production came to only 1,279,150 bales. The 1965 crop totaled 2.3 million. The all-time high for the Plains was 2,457,703 bales, produced in 1961.

Assuming market prices of 74 cents a pound for lint and $50 per ton for seed and including some $130 million in price support payments the value of the crop would be $389,178,000.

That figure, if realized, would just about equal the cash value of the record 1961 crop.

Last year's early-season estimates also projected a

Lamb County has an estimated 170,000 standing acres with an estimated yield of 282 per standing acre and total production of 100,000 in 480 pound net weight bales, compared to 1971's production of 88,300 bales.

The estimate, compiled jointly by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. and the Lubbock Cotton Exchange, sets production from about 2,602,000 standing acres in the 25 PCG counties surrounding rosy picture for the fleecy crop on the Plains, but unseasonably cool, wet weather in August and September ruined those prospects. The Sept. 1 PCG-LCE estimate indicated the area would produce a little over 2 million bales in 1971, as compared to final production of less than 1.3 million.

"It is not at all impossible that the current crop could meet a similar or even worse fate," says PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, "but the odds are certainly against it."

On the other hand officials of PCG and LCE point out that ideal weather conditions for the next three months and a normal or later frost could bring on a crop considerably in excess of the present estimate.

Based on the acreage now thought to be "standing" the Aug. 1 projection would mean a per-acre yield of only 354 pounds, as compared to a 10 year average for the Plains of 433 pounds per acre.

The PCG-LCE estimates are traditionally based on "normal" weather conditions, and are updated on the first of each month through Dec. 1, taking into consideration the effects of weather for the past 30 days each time.

Normal rainfall at the Lubbock Weather Station for August is 1.82 inches and the average temperature for the month is 78.8 degrees. Average maximum August temperature at Lubbock is 91.7 degrees and the average minimum is 65.8.

Keep Your Horses Off Sorghum-Sudan

Dr. James Armstrong, veterinarian with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, warns horseowners to keep their animals off of sorghum-sudan pastures due to a disease called "sorghum cystitis." Freshly cut sorghum-sudan hay will also bring on the condition.

Armstrong points out that all horses may be affected but that the condition appears to be more serious in younger animals. A number of cases have been reported recently by Dr. William Romane who heads up the large animal clinic at Texas A&M University's College of Veterinary Medicine.

"The first signs usually are incoordination of the rear legs," Armstrong explains. "In about half the horses observed this was followed by involuntary discharge or urine. Thus, mares may show hair loss on the inner part of the hind legs due to urine scalding. Geldings may have a loss of hair on the belly. In either case, the urine drip may be continuous and may become intense if the horse moves suddenly. The condition may also cause mares to abort."

Sorghum cystitis occurs most frequently during times of medium to high rainfall, usually from June to November, points out the veterinarian. It occurs mainly when horses feed on fast fresh growth of sorghum-sudan hybrids, sorghum grazer and Johnson grass.

Uncured or improperly cured hay from these grasses also causes the illness. However, horses eating well-cured hay from these three forages have not been affected. Also, no cases have been reported after the first frost.

"There is no cure for the condition once the horse has it," emphasizes Armstrong. "Several treatments have been used with little success. However, when affected animals are removed from the pasture and fed a balanced ration, they usually recover somewhat."

The urine discharge incoordination have been observed in some horses as long as three years, he

GSPA Proposes New Program For Farm

The Grain Sorghum Producers Association is proposing a new plan for future farm programs.

Elbert Harp, GSPA Executive Director, said, "We are introducing this new plan as a means of obtaining a parity of income for our grain sorghum farmers. We feel it is applicable to all commodities and will easily be understood by farmers, Congress, and the American people."

Under the GSPA proposal, the Secretary of Agriculture will ask the land grant college of each state, in cooperation with the commodity and farm organizations, to conduct an intensive study of the cost of production of each price supported commodity produced within the state. This study shall include all costs which are typical expenses, and shall consider different cultural practices, such as irrigation as opposed to dryland farming, different soil types, and other regional variations affecting cost.

1. Interest on land investment, figured as the current interest rate of the Federal Land Bank times the present market prices of the farm land under each type of farming by area.

2. The current property taxes on farm land and buildings.

3. Interest on farm investment and average operating capital required times the bank rates for farm loans.

4. All other costs the normal and typical given state or region.

5. Labor, to be figured current minimum levels.

6. A percentage of all expenses, added management costs or

When these studies complete, the Secretary use them as a basis computing the National Average Cost of Production each price supported commodity. This will be done by multiplying the typical total amount of production, which will give weighted average cost for each given commodity the "National Average Cost of Production."

Through the use of Loan and Price Support Programs, the Secretary administer a production supply control program which will set a minimum price for farmers who comply with required production restrictions, as set by Secretary, of not less than current year's National Weighted Average Cost of Production for that commodity, including a margin for management

Ogallala Aquifer Is Life Of Plains Of West Texas

Without an underground geological formation known as the Ogallala Aquifer the plains of West Texas would wither.

Grazing lands and wheatlands could survive, but farmlands would be dependent upon the average 18 inches of rainfall a year—not enough for the lush cotton, vegetable crops or even the feedlot industry on which the region thrives.

The Ogallala is a water-bearing formation which furnishes irrigation water for agriculture and household and industrial water for cities, and the water in it is being used at an alarming rate.

Texas Tech University petroleum engineers have devised a new and fast system for putting water back into the Ogallala, and their 1972 studies indicate the aquifer has its own ability to purify the lake water used for recharge.

The information is valuable now and is important to any system of imported water.

The principal researchers, Petroleum Engineering Profs. Philip Johnson and Duane A. Crawford, use an oil field system for pumping the water from playa lakes into the ground before it evaporates. They have been concerned that pollutants in lake water could contaminate the underground formation.

Studies made this summer indicate, however, that even the dirtiest water is clean by the time it flows 200 feet from the recharge well.

A graduate student of microbiology, Max M. Winn, has been performing laboratory research on samples taken from observation wells located at 200, 400 and 600 feet from the recharge well.

The highest contamination he has found was at a Melonie Park research site when—after a hard rain—the water to be recharged contained more than 24,000 coliform organisms per milliliter of water, with more than 4,900 of these possibly dangerous to man. None were found in the observation wells after the water level in these rose to a point indicating the recharged water had reached them.

"The water in the observation wells was so clean I'd drink it," said Winn who served as a microbiologist and medical laboratory technician in the U.S. Army for 25 years.

"From the information we have so far," Johnson said, "we know we are not contaminating the formation."

"This is particularly important because if water is imported to West Texas, the logical place to store it is in the Ogallala. The water coming in would be raw—not purified, he explained, and it is important to know whether costly purification plants would be needed or whether this raw water would be purified as it is stored in the aquifer."

He said Winn's date confirms studies made earlier. Tests will continue, however, according to Johnson, as they should at any recharge location "because we can't afford to contaminate our source of water."

The system used by the Texas Tech research team is unique on the High Plains although gravity flow recharge wells are not uncommon.

By using pressure at the well head, the researchers have been able to pump as much as 2,800 gallons per minute into the formation. This was accomplished at a Lorenzo site but is not possible at Melonie Park. Johnson explained that the Melonie Park location is at a shallow place in the Ogallala while the formation is thicker at Lorenzo and can hold more water.

Enough research has been accomplished, Johnson said, to make it appropriate to recommend the process.

"We'll never be able to recharge the Ogallala completely by pumping playa lake water into it," he said, "because there isn't enough water in the playas." There are an estimated 19,000 of these shallow lakes, fed by rainfall, on the High Plains.

"This is not the total answer, but we can prolong the life of the Ogallala by pumping and save most of the high evaporation losses," Johnson said.

He pointed out that recharge well pumps, which use centrifugal force, could serve a dual purpose for farmers in that they can be used for recharge or to pump water out of the playas and onto crops and fields.

In 1971 and again in 1972 more than 150 acre feet of water have been recharged. Additional recharge is expected in 1972 because of increased rainfall. An acre foot contains 43,560 cubic feet. Texas Tech's International Center for arid and semi-arid land studies is supporting the research.

Mechanics

Plains College will offer a course in auto mechanics for the fall in the Evening ended for both the day and evening classes. The course is for the one who is interested in mechanics.

The mechanics class will be held on Tuesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. and will be held in the Diesel and Auto Shop.

The course will cover all the basic techniques in auto mechanics. This course, such as engine, automobile, diesel, and other areas as is covered.

Registration for the course will be held from 7:30-9:00 p.m.

Registration will be held from 6:30-8:30 p.m. in the Technical Arts Center on Aug. 29-Sept. 12. Information may be obtained by contacting the Continuing Education Center at Plains College. Phone 894-4921.

Feeding Study Determine Costs

The ration that is the most economical for the pig is the object of a feeding study beginning at the High Plains Foundation at the study will be to determine the most efficient ration for feeding pigs. It is more efficient to use a ration of 125 pounds of grain than a ration of 150 pounds of grain, Dr. Tom Becker, Foundation previous feeding studies, swine fed a ration alone did not gain as much weight as those on triticale. Longnecker the present feeding ration consisting of 90 percent triticale and 10 percent sorghum with the amount increased to 100 percent triticale.

er study will be an analysis of a synthetic ration which will be added to the ration to make up for the deficiency in triticale. Becker said costs of feedstuffs can be reduced by the use of artificial lysine in the ration. Triticale is a protein than is usually added to the ration.

Dr. Longnecker and addition of lysine could add to the ration.

Two classes will be offered in the fall at South Plains College during the evenings for those interested in radio and television.

A beginners class is held on Tuesday evenings at 7-10 p.m. Persons wishing to register for these courses may do so beginning Aug. 28 from 7:30-9:30 p.m. Late registration will continue Monday through Thursday evenings from 6:30-8:30 p.m. in the Technical Arts Center from Aug. 29-Sept. 12. Instructor for the course will be Odus Hawkins.

For further information on the courses in radio and television servicing, interested persons may contact the Office of Continuing Education at South Plains College. Phone 894-4921.

LOOKS LIKE MY predictions on a good crop year will come true, or at least Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., agrees with me anyway. According to their predictions Lamb County will be in the top 10 counties in the South Plains area in cotton production. We will be trailing Gaines, Hockley, Lubbock, Dawson, Crosby, Hale, Lynn and Terry counties.

They have predicted that Lamb County should harvest 170,000 acres of cotton and the average yield will be 282 lbs. per acre for a total bale count of 100,000 bales. This will be 11,700 bales more than last year.

As far as crop dollars, it should be much greater than the 100,000 bales of cotton because there are over 175,000 acres of milo in the county.

SPEAKING OF DOLLARS

and our economy, there are a couple of local business people that are really upset.

These people are established business people and had applied for a loan from the Small Business Administration for the purpose of continuing to serve the people in the area in a modern up-to-date manner. They had applied for loans within reason to them, one that they could pay back, and were declined.

Their gripe is that an exotic nightclub dancer, applied for and received a SBA loan of $2,740 to replace her Indian python, wardrobe and props that were lost in the flooding in wake of Hurricane Agnes. She was working in the state of New York when her "act" disappeared.

Looks like someone pulled a few "strings."

Cattle Feeders Association Approves Research Grant

The Board of Directors of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association recently approved a $3,000 grant to aid in research that is aimed at respiratory diseases in feedlot cattle.

The grant went to the College of Veterinary Medicine at Oklahoma State University at Stillwater, which began the research in late 1969 in cooperation with six veterinarians and numerous feedlot operators in the Texas and Oklahoma High Plains. OSU veterinarians Dr. Richard Corstvet and Dr. Roger Panciera are working with Dr. H. B. Rinker and Associates, who operate five veterinary clinics in the Texas Panhandle.

The veterinarians provide case histories on cattle in the feedlots and help the technician in running tests and sending tissue specimens to OSU for detailed study. They notify the OSU veterinarians whenever a visit to specific cattle seems advisable. Postmortem and antemortem examinations of affected cattle are performed in the field.

The research has been planned for a five-year period ending in 1974.

The main objectives are: Identify the microorganisms that are most commonly associated with respiratory disease in feedlot cattle.

Determine preventive measures needed to control the disease.

Evaluate the effectiveness of drugs against the microorganisms that are isolated from those feedlot animals which show signs of respiratory disease.

During the two years the research has been under way, a method has been perfected for obtaining specimens from each animal's respiratory tract that contain a microflora which is representative of that tract.

Laboratory techniques for isolation and identification of the microflora have been developed. Also, the researchers have begun to establish a correlation between the microorganism present in the respiratory tract and the length of time the animal has been in the feedlot.

Also, they have developed a biologic that is intended to prevent respiratory disease, or reduce the severity if the disease does occur. One trial has been completed with the new vaccine, with favorable results, and another is being initiated at the present time.

During the coming year, examination of specimens from the respiratory tracts of feedlot cattle will continue, according to Dr. Corstvet. One important aim is to learn at which time the infection occurs, and at which time the population of the microorganisms becomes overwhelming.

"It is also important from an infection and disease standpoint to identify changes with time, in the types of microorganisms present in the respiratory tract," Dr. Corstvet said.

Bud Patterson, Acting Secretary of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association, said: "The grant to Oklahoma State University is a continuation of the support given by the Texas Cattle Feeders Association to this important research project."

LAMB COUNTY

Johnsongrass Is Widespread

Johnsongrass is one of the most widespread perennial weeds, since nearly every state in the U.S. has some infested areas.

This tall-growing grass spreads by two ways. Underground stems, or rhizomes, act like roots and spread quickly in cropland. Rhizomes become tangled on tillage equipment and hitch a ride to infest other fields. Another method of spread is by seed. Seed blows into cropland from johnsongrass in ditches and lake areas.

Johnsongrass seed is hard to separate from hay or straw and is difficult to clear out of some crop seed. Extensive research in johnsongrass control has been conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Lubbock.

Weed research at the Center was conducted by Dudley

Smith. Various control methods and chemicals were studied in cotton fields with several cooperating growers.

Good weed control just doesn't happen, it must be carefully planned before the crop is planted. In cotton or soybeans, plan on double disk incorporation of the full recommended rate of Treflan or Planavin for your soil type. This controls seedling johnsongrass and prevents more new plants from establishing.

Preliminary test work in cotton by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station shows that applying a double rate of Treflan for two years, with thorough incorporation gives good control and excellent suppression on old rhizomes. Good soil incorporation is essential.

Disking two or more times cuts up rhizomes better, mixes the chemical through the soil, and places treated soil next to more old root sections. If cotton is planted later, after soil warms up, yields are not reduced as a result of high application rates.

Rhizome control with Treflan drastically reduces the johnsongrass population, particularly when followed by a postemergence herbicide program. High, double rates of Treflan for johnsongrass control are not labeled or recommended for use yet.

"But results have been good in research plots," says Dr. Smith. Interested growers should only treat a very small acreage to observe how this practice works on their farm.

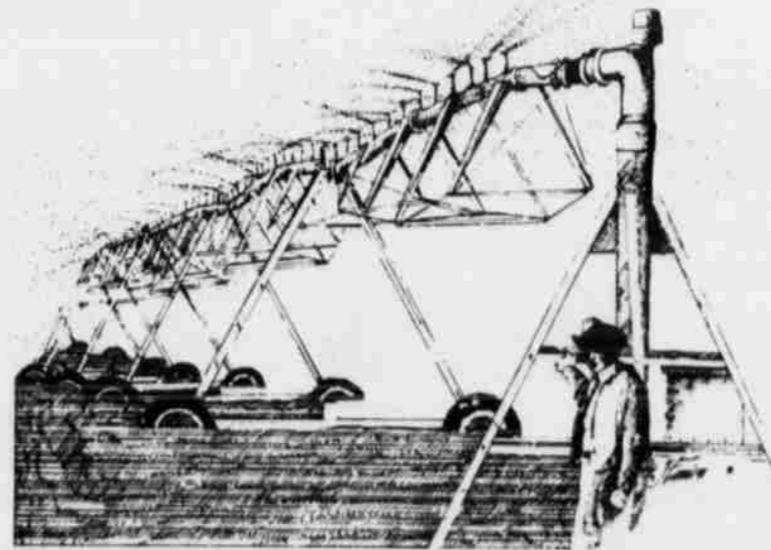

Timely cultivation in any crop is an essential part of a total control program for johnsongrass. The weed is forced to regrow with repeated tillage and hand hoeing of infested spots. More root reserves or carbohydrates are used up each

Use Caution When Irrigating Cotton

Proper management of irrigation water now will certainly mean extra cotton profits this fall. Cotton has made good progress during recent hot weather. We must make every effort not to hamper this progress by improper timing of irrigations. The lateness and varying stages of growth due to earlier adverse weather and subsequent disease attack requires that special attention be given to irrigation, says Leon New, Area Irrigation Specialist and Bob Metzger, Cotton Agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Early planted cotton which has made good growth and is fruiting heavily is now being benefited by irrigation, says the specialists. Irrigation should be timed to the fruiting stage. Remember a good rule of thumb is to wait until the first white blooms appear before applying that first irrigation. Water requirements by the plant are relatively low until the bloom stage is reached and then continues to be high during the critical boll development period. Additional moisture will especially be needed on light soils that store limited water or in areas which did not receive ample rainfall.

Some early planted cotton was delayed as much as two to three weeks by adverse weather and wet-weather blight. This cotton will have only a short time to produce a Hours will be 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. No admission fee is charged and everyone interested is invited to attend, states Mrs. Harold L. Russell, president.

Classes for beginning researchers will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. and from 1:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. These sessions will be held in the studio of the Garden & Arts Center and will be in charge of Mrs. Robert Toland, SPGS vice president and Miss Dorothy Rylander, SPGS librarian.

Basic instruction in how to begin family history research will be presented in these special classes and no fee is charged.

Books, periodicals, maps and other materials will be supplied by members and friends of the Society for the day-long research workshop. Many of these are not in libraries and are only made available for public use during the annual SPGS workshops. A number of the recent book purchases by SPGS will also be brought from the Society's research collection in the Lubbock City-County for use at the workshop.

Family trees, census forms and other materials will be for sale at the registration tables. Sandwiches, coffee and soft drinks will be available for lunch.

Mrs. Russell states that if University Avenue is under construction by Aug. 19, the Garden & Arts Center may be easily reached from 46th Street which borders K. N. Clapp park on the south.

Updating Feed Grain Bases Topic Of Planning By GSPA

The Grain Sorghum Producers Association will be working to get an updating of the feed grain bases for future farm programs. This decision was made by the board of directors at its regular meeting on July 28.

The GSPA directors felt that updating the present feed grain bases would work to the advantage of future farm programs. The present allotments were established based on the plantings in 1959 and 1960.

Since that time new areas of feed grain production have come into existence. GSPA officials felt that it was in the best interest of production control to extend the program to those growers who do not presently have allotments.

Eibert Harp, GSPA Executive Director, said: "The purpose of the Feed Grain Program is to help bring the production in balance with demand. To bring all producers under the program and thus help curtail the total supply should in turn help the market price situation."

It was pointed out that a period in the late sixties and early seventies could be chosen as a base period for establishing allotments in addition to continuing the 1959-60 base period. New allotments could be established for each farm according to the larger base period. Harp stated: "We will be working to develop a satisfactory method of updating the feed grain bases for the new farm programs to be developed."

Fresh Fruits, Vegetables Save On Food Bill

By LADY CLARE PHILLIPS
County HD Agent
"For top eating year-round, can fresh fruits and vegetables," Mrs. Lady Clare Phillips, extension county home demonstration agent, suggested.

Before canning, check your equipment carefully. Note if steam pressure and water bath canners are in perfect condition. Discard unusable jars and follow manufacturer's instructions for lids and sealing. Also be sure you have up-to-date food preservation directions.

"Select only high quality vegetables and fruits," the home demonstration agent emphasized. "Remember that the shortest time between picking and processing will insure highest quality food. If vegetables are limp, they will be less tender when frozen or canned."

She added that spoilage is also a danger in canning if you wait too long before storing vegetables in cans or jars. "You'll need to blanch most vegetables before freezing to retain peak quality," Mrs. Phillips added. "Then cool them rapidly."

The agent said to can fruits and tomatoes with the hot water bath process.

"Place the filled containers in a large vessel with a rack on the bottom and with the water level completely above the tops of the jars. The water must be rolling boil throughout the processing time to drive out air in the cans and to thoroughly heat contents," she said.

According to Mrs. Phillips, vegetable canning demands a pressure canner. The boiling water bath isn't hot enough to safely preserve the vegetables.

"Non-acid vegetables—all vegetables except tomatoes—can become quite toxic if the temperature of every particle isn't heated to the proper degree—a job that requires a pressure canner."

When canning for low salt and low sodium diets, Mrs. Phillips reminded that you can spruce up the flavor of vegetables that contain no salt by adding a very small amount of complementary seasoning. This won't affect the processing time.

"For example," she continued, "perk up beets and carrots by adding one tablespoon of lemon or orange juice per quart jar. A pinch of spice, fresh herb or dried herb, pimento or a teaspoon of finely chopped celery will give a lift to green vegetables."

"Section 33. The accounting officers in this State shall neither draw nor pay a warrant or check on funds of the State of Texas, whether in the treasury or otherwise, to any person for salary or compensation who holds at the same time more than one civil office of emolument, in violation of Section 40."

Sec. 2. That Article XVI, Section 40, Constitution of the State of Texas, be amended to read as follows:

"Section 40. No person shall hold or exercise at the same time, more than one civil office of emolument, except that of Justice of the Peace, County Commissioner, Notary Public and Postmaster, Officers of the National Guard, the National Guard Reserve, and the Officers Reserve Corps of the United States and enlisted men of the National Guard, the National Guard Reserve, and the Organized Reserves of the United States, and retired officers of the United States Army, Air Force, Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard, and retired warrant officers, and retired enlisted men of the United States Army, Air Force, Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard, and the officers and directors of soil and water conservation districts, unless otherwise specially provided herein. Provided, that nothing in this Constitution shall be construed to prohibit an officer or enlisted man of the National Guard, and the National Guard Reserve, or an officer in the Officers Reserve Corps of the United States, or an enlisted man in the Organized Reserves of the United States, or retired officers of the United States Army, Air Force, Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard, and retired warrant officers, and retired enlisted men of the United States Army, Air Force, Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard, and officers of the State employees or other individuals who receive all or part of their compensation either directly or indirectly from funds of the State of Texas and who are not State officers, shall not be barred from serving as members of the governing bodies of school districts, cities, towns, or other local governmental districts, provided, however, that such State employees or other individuals shall receive no salary for serving as members of such governing bodies. It is further provided that a non-elective State officer may hold other non-elective offices under the State or the United States, if the other office is of benefit to the State of Texas or is required by the State or Federal law, and there is no conflict with the original office for which he receives salary or compensation. No member of the Legislature of this State may hold any other office or position of profit under this State, or the United States, except as a notary public if qualified by law."

Sec. 3. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1972, at which election the ballot shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment permitting State employees, who are not State officers, to serve as members of the governing bodies of school districts, cities, towns, or other local governmental districts, without forfeiting their State salary, and specifying exceptions to the constitutional prohibition against payment of State funds for compensation to any person who holds more than one civil office of emolument."

wanted wolf keeps ring at the door

By Abigail Van Buren

By Abigail Van Buren

MR. LONELY: I am a 43-year-old childless widow. I have been married for 15 years. I was shopping for paint at a large store and the salesman was very charming and I was obviously a woman alone, so the salesman could come by and see how much work my husband had been doing. He said he had been a priest, but left the priesthood, and was now separated from his wife. I had seen him several times, always after work—one weekend. I had information, got his phone number and called him. A woman answered. Of course it was his wife. I did not come by any more as I didn't appreciate him not to come. He said he didn't appreciate my trying to break off this relationship, but he is not married. Should I just not answer the door? Or should I be away when he comes here?

LONELY BUT BETRAYED

MR. LONELY: There is something worse than loneliness if you allow yourself to become involved further than you will find out what it is. TELL him you don't see him any more. And if he shows up, don't let him in.

MR. ABBY: A relative of mine personally installed a telephone in his home with neither the assistance nor knowledge of the telephone company. This means I am paying nothing for the extension, while those who have extensions installed by the telephone company must pay a charge every month. I say this is plain robbery. My husband says anything is honest if you pay for it. Do you think, Abby? Please print your answer as you see it. I read your column and think you know everything.

ON THE UP AND UP

MR. ON: If one performs a dishonest act, it is still a dishonest act whether he's caught or not.

MR. ABBY: I recently found out, quite by accident, that a man I am planning to marry soon is a widower. I was told he was single, and the fact that he has been married before disturbs me, but his failure to mention it to me did I bring it up? Or should I leave well enough alone?

THE SECOND MRS.

MR. SECOND: Since his failure to mention his previous marriage disturbs you, it's sufficient reason for bringing it up. And soon.

MR. ABBY: My problem is my 7-year-old son Billy. He is very jealous of other children. At his own birthday party he saw another child playing with one of his toys and he got so infuriated that he tore it from the child's hands and hid it in his room with it.

At a more recent occasion, I sent Billy to a neighbor's birthday party with a gift. I later learned that Billy had taken the gift and we couldn't afford to buy him a present, so I kept the present for myself.

My extreme jealousy is not normal, I mention it to my husband. He said Billy will outgrow it. Will he do you think?

CONCERNED MOM

MR. MOM: A 7-year-old should be willing to share. A pediatrician. Billy may need some early counseling.

MR. ABBY: My husband and I have been married for 15 years and have a new baby. We get along fine, but we have a problem. My husband makes very good money and says he will buy us a home on one condition—mother [a widow] and his unmarried sister, 33, must live with us.

His mother and sister are working and are well supported themselves, and they share a house right near where they plan to sell so they can live with us. I have always gotten along well with my mother and my sister in law, too, but I don't want to live in the same house with them.

I tried to explain this to my husband, but he doesn't understand. He keeps pointing out the advantages of having them live with us, but I still don't like the idea.

NEEDS ADVICE

MR. NEEDS: DON'T give in. Tell your husband that you mind being the "heavy"—that he can tell his sister that you feel the "one big house" idea is a bad one. If it causes trouble, it will be acute and chronic, which is preferable to the endless, chronic problem together would create.

MR. ABBY: I have a 5-year-old daughter. My husband's friends who visit him very often. Don't get me wrong, they are real nice guys for the most part, but my daughter is something else! I admit, I swear a little but these men do worse than swear, their talk is filthy, and they also tell some pretty lusty stories.

My husband I didn't think his friends should talk to her in front of her little girl and he said, "Oh, she'll soon enough anyway." She may, but she's at an age where she repeats everything she hears, and I don't want her to have a bad influence on her.

A GOOD MOTHER

MR. MOTHER: If your husband's friends are "nice" they should respect a simple request to watch their language in the presence of a 5-year-old. So YOU make the request. And if they aren't as nice as you think they are, the child out of hearing range when the men are talking.

Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to her, P.O. Box 6700, L. A., CALIF. 90009 and enclose a self-addressed envelope.
