

Littlefield At Floydada-'Cats Seek 5th Win

time of year folks, when a whirlwind tangles with a Maroon and the only result can be one football game.

winning streak to five in a row and Floydada will be trying to break a losing skid of two games.

Past records haven't meant a lot in past seasons because when these two teams meet, the record book is tossed aside and for 48 minutes of football, it's a season in itself.

Last year, the 'Winds won by a score of 27-7 to avenge the 30-6 licks' Littlefield gave them in the 1973 bi-district game.

In the regular season game in '73, the 'Cats lost by a point, 7-6.

In 1972, Floydada won two games, 3-0 and 7-0.

A 0-0 tie, which Littlefield won via the first down route in 1971, has set the pattern for all Littlefield-Floydada games.

"They're a typical Floydada football team," head coach Jerry Blakely said this week, "and the 32-7 win by Olton doesn't really indicate what kind of game that was. While taking nothing away from a fine Olton team, one has to remember that the score was only 8-0 in favor of Olton with less than 11 minutes left in the ball game."

"The Whirlwinds have probably the most speed of any of the 'Cats opponents this year. Fast! You bet," Blakely added, "they've probably got three or four boys who can outrun anyone on our team."

Kelvin Ratliff is one of the big guns for Floydada that Wildcat fans should remember from the past two years. He has been an all-district performer for the last two years as well and is described as one of the best backs the 'Cats will face all year.

"He is definitely the key to their running attack," Blakely added, "and we must stop him." Other highly talented Whirlwinds to watch include Donzell Minner and their fastest man on the team is Mickey Minnett.

"Minner is probably the best split receiver in this part of the country," according to Blakely.

"One problem they've had is getting the ball to him, but the potential is always there for a big gain whenever the ball is thrown his way," added the Wildcat mentor. Minnett, who ran a 9.9 100-yard dash in last year's district track meet is a constant threat due to his speed.

Defensively, the 'Winds run an eight-man defensive front and "they are traditionally a strong defensive team which most championship teams are."

The kickoff is at 7:30 p.m. in Floydada. The Wildcat Pep Rally will be at 3:30 Friday afternoon at the high school gym and the public is invited.

THE MULESHOE GAME

"We feel much better about the Muleshoe game than we did about the Slaton game," Blakely added, "we played with more emotion and our fundamentals of blocking and tackling was much better."

"We knew we had to stop their passing and we did. We intercepted four passes and ran two of them back for scores. They threw the ball about 15 times, they got three of them and we got 4."

"Our linebacker and secondary coverage was great and both covered very well on passing plays."

"We are pleased with the offensive efforts of guards Brad Banner and Larry McDonald and thought Reginald Payton ran with more determination than he had before." We had good defensive end play from Layne McKinnon and David Jones and again, the secondary, composed of Bill Turner, Lonnie Twitty, Jimmy Durham and Rudy Ayala played well as did Steve Cruz and Payton from their linebacker slots.

Armed Gunman Robs Grocer

taken was about $160.

Smith said he felt it was "a big joke"

all the way through the procedure and that he somehow felt he would hand it back to him at any time.

When the 6-foot, blue-eyed and blond male first entered the store with the shotgun, Smith said he stated "You're kiddin'", and the robber assured him that he wasn't kidding.

The armed robber told him "I'd like all the money out of the cash register," and when Smith reached for the paper sack, Mrs. Smith said that that was the only time he (the robber) "really got a good hold on the gun."

In describing the gunman, Mrs. Smith said he was very slim and was wearing a heavy stocking mask with places for the eyes and mouth cut out of it.

Witnesses to the 8:30 p.m. robbery were Toby and Adriene Smith, and their 15-year-old daughter, Phyllis; and Dorothy Francis. While Smith was getting the money out of the register, another man came in. The robber ordered him to stand aside.

Smith opened the door for the robber, and the robber extended a hand as if to shake on a gentleman's agreement. Smith only said, "There's the door." Witnesses said the robber said: "I'll pay for this!" and walked out.

All city and county officers were notified and an investigation is currently underway.

In another report to city police officers Tuesday shortly after noon, Randall Parker reported that a Pace 133A CB radio had been taken from his car sometime between 9 a.m. and 12 noon while it was parked behind Interstate Financial House.

Albert Brandon Was One of Bob Wills' 'Playboys'

ALAN RODGERS
Albert Brandon first met Bob Wills in 1929 when he went into a barbershop at Turkey, Texas, for a haircut.

A fiddle and a guitar were standing over in the corner, and a few words about their mutual musical interest soon led to barber Bob Wills grabbing his fiddle and handing Brandon the guitar. They struck up a few tunes and a friendship that lasted for many years and later launched Bob Wills and his Playboys into a musical career that created western swing and influenced country music for more than 40 years.

After that chance meeting in 1929, Brandon moved to Sudan the next year. In 1930, Brandon and Wills met again and played a two-man, fiddle and guitar country ranch dance. That year Brandon and Wills joined the Tate Lax Medicine Show. "Bob Wills played a black faced comedian and the fiddle," Brandon said, "and I played the guitar and sang to help sell Dr. Tate Lax Tonic and candy."

Brandon was still with Wills when he decided he'd had his fill of Dr. Tate's Tonic and decided to go to Waco to form his own band. "That first fledgling little band was called Bob Wills Western Fiddle Band," Brandon said. "A lot of people don't know that."

Then, and throughout his career, the fiddle dominated Wills' music, the music that was primarily dance music. When he combined the fiddle music with jazz, he got his western music swing that made him famous.

"There won't ever be another Bob Wills," Brandon said. "A lot of people have tried to copy him, but nobody's made a ripple."

Brandon left Bob Wills in 1937, before he really made it big on the western circuit, but not before he had become almost a household word with his 12:30 noon broadcast of the Light Crust Doughboys on WBAP, Fort Worth.

Brandon met up with Wills again in Wichita Falls while living in Burk-burnett and he along with Wills, Milton Brown, and Junior Barnard formed the Burrus Mill and Elevator Company's most popular radio program in the southwest. W. Lee O'Daniel, president and general manager of Burrus Mill became announcer, manager and fan who gained them the prime noon time.

Later O'Daniel ran for and became governor of Texas. Brandon was part of the Light Crust, Doughboys when the group stumped through Texas on O'Daniel's political campaign.

"We toured the whole state in a big bus," Brandon recalled. "We'd stop in all the big towns and O'Daniel would make his speech. I soon memorized that talk. Then we'd play about 10 songs."

After Fort Worth, "Bob Wills and his Playboys" broadcast from Tulsa, Okla. KVOO. During these years Brandon became acquainted with some of the band members who stayed on with Wills through the recording and big band years—Tommy Duncan, Leon McAuliff, Al Stricklin, Jessie Ashford, Johnny Gimble, Hoyle Nix, Leon Rausch...

Bob Wills' "Ahh-haaa!" and other sounds became his trademark. When he liked the sound of things, he hollered and talked to his musicians.

"Those ah-haas and the way he talked to the musicians all the time they were playing was just part of his personality," Brandon said. "He was a good one. He had a personality out of this world. And he was a fair old boy. He really went over big in the early 40's."

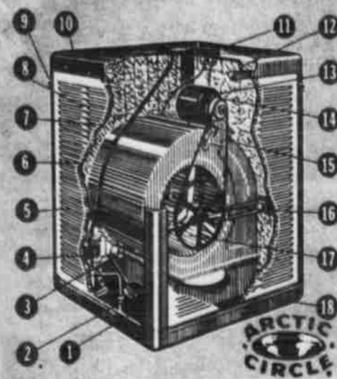

Does Brandon wish that he had stayed on with Wills? "Oh, yeah, there are times when I wish I'd stayed. But then I might be dead like him if I had. That's not the easiest life."

Brandon was married during all his

THE AWKWARD AGE

CLIPS & TIPS

By JOELLA LOVVORN

CHUCKWAGON COOKING FANS will again have their tastebuds thrilled this year as the Chuckwagon rolls to a halt at the State Fair of Texas, Oct. 3-19.

The Chuckwagon, a kitchen on wheels, will dish up real Western vittles from recipes passed down by old sourdough cooks, to more than 2,000 people each day.

Such taste-tingling delights as "Texas Red" Chili, Cowpoke Beans, Son-of-a-Gun Stew, Black Night Barbeque Beef and Sunday Cobbler will grace the Marlboro Country menu.

With the Chuckwagon comes the Marlboro Western Heritage Museum, this year featuring original paintings and sculpture by four well-known contemporary Western artists: Joe Beeler, Jim Reynolds, Robert Shriver, and Bill Owen—all members of the Cowboy Artists of America.

The portable museum will also feature the award-winning short film "The Last of the Wild Mustangs," narrated by Orson Welles.

Old sourdough Elmer "Teddy" Beer, of Marlboro Chuckwagon fame will be demonstrating authentic chuckwagon cooking under the guidance of trail boss Joe Nevitt.

Elmer became involved with chuck wagon cooking as a youth on the open range. He now owns a sizable cattle spread in Illinois. He maintains his interest in chuckwagon cooking, and travels each summer with the Chuck wagon, cooking in the open and spinning tales.

The Chuckwagon will be in a new location, across from the Women's Building.

HERE ARE SOME quickies you can use with celery.

CREAM OF CELERY SOUP
Cook 1 cup finely cut celery and tops in 2 cups chicken broth, adding salt, pepper, and parsley for flavoring. You may add 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion as well, if you wish. When tender, puree the celery, return it to broth, and place over hot water. When just at the boiling point, add 1 cup cream mixed with 2 egg yolks. Stir constantly until the soup is lightly thickened. Garnish with chopped parsley and finely chopped celery tops.

BOILED CELERY
Cut the branches into 1 or 2 inch lengths and soak in salted water for half an hour. Cook in a small amount of boiling salted water for 15 to 18 minutes or until the celery is just tender. You may serve this dish with melted butter, with a cream sauce, or with Hollandaise. This dish is delicious also when served cold with vinaigrette sauce.

BRAISED CELERY
Cut in half, lengthwise, celery stalks from which you have removed the outside branches. Do not remove the root section or the stalks will not hold together. Soak in cold water for half an hour and drain. For 4 halves (2 stalks) melt 4 tablespoons butter or heat 4 tablespoons olive oil in a skillet. Brown the celery halves over a medium heat. When nicely browned, add 3/4 cup bouillon or the equivalent amount of water in which you have dissolved one bouillon cube. Cover and allow the celery to cook until just tender. Serve as a separate course. You may also add 1 cup sauteed mushrooms if desired.

STUFFED CELERY
This may be used for an hors d'oeuvre or as a garnish for salads or cold plates. The center branches of the celery are used, and the stuffing may be any cream or cottage cheese mixture, a blend of Roquefort and cream sauce, mashed highly seasoned avocado, seafood mixtures, etc. When stuffing the tender stalks, be certain to leave some of the leaves on the branch.

HELPFUL HINTS
DON'T DISCARD rinds of grapefruits, oranges, or lemons. Grate them; put in tightly covered jars; store in refrigerator. They make excellent flavorings for cakes and frostings.

A TEASPOON of wine added to the batter will prevent waffles from sticking to the waffle iron.

WHEN POACHING eggs, add a dash of lemon juice to the water to keep the whites from spreading.

AN EASY TRICK for peeling onions and garlic (also tearless!). Bring a pan of water to a rapid boil. Drop in the onion or garlic. Allow 10 seconds from boiling point for onions (5 for garlic). Drain and run under cold water, then slip off skins and first layer with your fingers.

IF YOUR APPLE pie should turn out dry (heaven forbid!)—cook up a little simple syrup, add a dash of rum or cognac, and pour it through the slashes in the top crust.

A PIECE of butter about the size of a filbert added to water in which any greens are cooking will prevent them from boiling over. No stirring needed.

BAKE TOMATOES, stuffed green peppers, or apples in well-greased muffin pans. They will keep their shape better and be more attractive when served.

ADD A TEASPOON of baking powder to potatoes when mashing; then beat vigorously to make them light and creamy.

LEMONS AND LIMES will not wilt and shrink if stored in water and kept in the refrigerator. Place a saucer on them to keep underwater.

A QUICK AND TASTY topping if budget (or waistline) won't allow whipping cream, simply add one sliced banana to the white of an egg and beat until entirely stiff and then add a little sugar and beat some more.

IF COOKING cauliflower, add a piece of white bread to eliminate odor.

NEVER SALT turnips while they are cooking. It extracts sweetness.

BEAUTY HINT
For an excellent face pack (and oil chaser) finely grate a large apple. Spread a thin layer over your face. Lie back and rest for 15 minutes. Wash off with warm water. Ah, beauty!

MAKE "EMERGENCY" meals ahead. Next time you're preparing a large dish, such as chili or rigatoni, increase the recipe to make an extra big batch. Then, freeze what's left over. This will come in handy to serve when the neighborhood kids stay for dinner.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE
The Right Price

IN THIS BI-CENTENNIAL year, we are being reminded almost daily of the blessings, the benefits, and the liberties we are receiving. There is certainly nothing wrong with all of this, unless we assume that all of these good things are free.

It is true that some people are enjoying them, without even giving a thought to what makes them available. Nevertheless, someone or perhaps many persons have paid the price to make these good things possible.

Someone has accepted the obligation, and expended the effort that was necessary. This is the "right price", and it must be paid by somebody.

FREEDOM is not free. Yes, there are some freeloaders; but others have paid the price, and many continue to make their installment payments. Some pay more than a fair share, and this seems to be unavoidable; but there are too many of these.

Of course, any is too many; but there will be always some who seem to be able to ignore their rightful responsibilities; or shift them to the persons who are willing to pay the price. This practice can be disastrous.

"THE RIGHT PRICE" is made up of sufficient study to enable us to understand the structure which supports the many good things. This includes a knowledge of what has to be done to preserve personal rights, privileges and blessings.

We must also accept the fact that the doing is continuous; or for just as long as we wish to save these blessings and rights.

A SENSE OF OBLIGATION to the "right price", and this must be our concern. This is the support upon which all of our personal rights, privileges and blessings depend for continuance. It is an obvious widespread inclination to desire the good things, but to neglect attending obligations for someone to assume.

The difficulty is that too many are not willing to be concerned with obligations. We just want the good things, and are inclined to believe they are free.

WE SEEM TO FORGET, we know, that blessings, privileges and rights cannot and will not last unless their necessary support is maintained.

There is a very great and growing disparity between the demand for one's rights and one's willingness to accept the obligations. Of course, this condition can be corrected, and be, if we wish to preserve the good things.

EACH PERSONAL RIGHT is an attending obligation, and if the obligation is not accepted by someone, the personal right will be lost, eventually.

THERE IS A VERY GREAT need all of us to be seriously interested in doing our best to meet all legal obligations. This is "the right price" to be paid for all of the good things.

To The EDITOR
LETTERS

Dear Publisher:

As Chief Elections Officer for the State of Texas, one of my primary responsibilities is to inform the public of voting procedures. Therefore, the Secretary of State's Office is beginning an extensive media program concerning voter registration and the Nov. 4 election on the Texas Constitution of 1976.

I request that you join in promoting this vitally important public service project, which will consist of three separate mailings to radio and television stations and daily and weekly newspapers.

The first of the series will stress voter registration by Oct. 3, the deadline for registration in the Constitutional election. The second will encourage voters to read and study the document, which the Legislature instructed this office and study the document, which the Legislature instructed this office to distribute to all Texas postal patrons.

Also, we will explain how to obtain free Spanish translations of the Constitution. You'll note from the enclosed copy that the English voter guide provides voter registration forms in each language and instructions for requesting the Spanish translation. The final appeal will be to stimulate voter participation in the Nov. 4 election.

This program will be implemented with the help of the Texas Press Association and the Texas Association of Broadcasters. News releases and editorial copy for newspapers will correspond with the radio and television announcements. Releases and spots will be available to you in Spanish, as well as English.

Of immediate concern is a press request that you publish this voter registration form in your edition prior to Oct. 1 so your readers not already registered will have time to return the County Tax Assessor-Collector the Oct. 3 deadline.

I ask your help to reach out into communities to carry this public service message to all Texans. Any suggestions or ideas you have would be a welcome contribution.

I hope that you, as a member of the news media, will work with us in this non-partisan effort to build voter registration in Texas and to encourage good turnout at the polls Nov. 4.

Sincerely,
s/Mark White

National 4-H Week To Begin Sunday

4-H boys and girls throughout Lamb County, Texas and the nation will join in a salute to America's Bicentennial celebration during National 4-H Week, Oct. 5-11.

The annual observance, with this year's theme of "4-H—'76... Spirit of Tomorrow," is designed to accent the history, ideals and goals of the 4-H program, points out Dr. Don Stormer, state 4-H and youth leader with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Many county groups are planning special events, service projects and recruitment drives during National 4-H Week," notes Stormer. "It's a special time when 4-H is recognized for its contributions to the growth and development of youth."

According to Stormer, some 4 million youth between the ages of 8 and 19 are currently enrolled in 4-H. More than 215,000 of these are Texas youth. More than 21,000 volunteer adult youth leaders assist with local 4-H programs in the state.

"Although the majority of 4-H members still live on farms and in rural communities, 24 per cent now come from larger urban and suburban areas," notes the 4-H leader. "Well over half of Texas 4-Hers live on farms or in towns under 10,000 population."

Texas 4-Hers participate in more than 40 educational project areas, with the most popular being food and nutrition, clothing and textiles, and horse and pony.

"Since its beginning around the turn of the century, 4-H has offered practical learning and citizenship experiences to millions of young people," Stormer points out.

Veterans Administration Increases Interest Rate

The Veterans Administration increased its home loan mortgage interest rate ceiling from 8-1/2 percent to 9 percent, effective Sept. 2. The increase was made in accordance with a joint Veterans Administration and Department of Housing and Urban Development policy of keeping the maximum rate in line with actual mortgage market conditions and to keep discount points to a minimum.

The increase was necessary to permit the VA to maintain its mortgage interest rate ceiling at a level consistent with the demands of the loan market. Jack Coker, VA Regional Director, said. If the interest rate is allowed to fall behind the market, the availability of money for VA loans becomes seriously impaired, he added. The increase to 9 percent will narrow the gap in relation to the loan market. In addition to improving the yield of such loans the increase in the interest rate also will reduce the discounts for VA loans.

Sizable discounts arise when the VA interest rate ceiling does not reflect market conditions. Increased mortgage costs, therefore, can take the form either through a higher VA ceiling or larger discounts. The discounts, which are in effect a lump-sum payment made on the loan, can be even a more burdensome form of added cost than an equivalent increase in the VA interest rate ceiling to 9 percent.

Since VA regulations prohibit payment of discounts by veterans, the discounts must be paid by the seller of the house. When discounts are high, many sellers refuse to sell to veterans and thereby prevent many veteran buyers from acquiring homes to meet their needs.

The present increase is expected to improve the availability of funds for VA loans as well as improve the housing outlook.

The VA Loan Guaranty program assisted almost 300,000 veterans to become homeowners in the last year. In the 31-year history of the GI loan program, there have been 8.8 million loans guaranteed, amounting to an aggregate initial principal amount of $113 billion.

Once a Master Carpenter worked with divine tools creating gifts of love, joy and hope. His simple touch could mend a broken heart or repair a soul. For any who would ask, He carved an individual purpose in life and produced a deep inner peace at no cost. This Carpenter is still smoothing out personal frustrations for all who put faith in His work. To ask Him for help should be easy enough. The hard part is already over.

Hunting Leases Boost Income

Game hunting is mushrooming, and hunting leases provide a good opportunity for ranchers to increase their income, according to an area wildlife specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Dr. Milo Shult, at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Uvalde, says a rancher who wants to use his land for hunting purposes must practice sound management and provide protection, cover and food for game species. In addition, many desirable non-game species profit from such management programs.

"In Texas, over 95 per cent of the land is privately owned," Shult says. "This means that sound management of game species is the responsibility of the landowner."

Maintaining land suitable for wildlife involves some costs. Because certain game species compete with livestock for food, a pasture cost must be given to deer, for example. Every six deer on pasture represent one animal unit that consumes forage, points out the Texas A&M University System specialist.

Other costs may come up through slight changes in land management practices. Shult gives the example of a rancher who leaves brush strips and weedy food plots in his pasture which benefit quail. However, this situation does not provide the best forage for livestock. Further costs are incurred through the provision of other goods and services for hunters
