Area Vote Approves Texas Water Plan . . BUT STATE OVERRULES

The Texas Water Plan received an overwhelming vote of approval in Lamb County in Tuesday's special Constitutional Amendment election, but ran into trouble further down state.

At presstime Wednesday the Water Plan was apparently defeated by approximately 8,000 votes over the state. The constitutional amendment to implement the Texas Water Plan won overwhelming approval in the 33-county constitutional deletions, was approved area surrounding Lamb County, with a grand total of 39,269 for, and 8,668

County-wide, five of the other amendments were approved and three were defeated when 2,144 voters trekked to the polls. There are 6,759 registered

County voters cast 1,895 votes for the Texas Water Plan and 224 votes against-with all boxes returning a great majority in favor of the plan.

Defeated in the polls were Amendment 3, dealing with legislators' salaries-1,283 against and 662 for; Amendment 6, concerning bond rates-1,030 against and 830 for; and Amendment 9, setting annual legislative sessions-1,143 against and 763 for.

Amendment No. 1, concerning

1,240 to 686.

Amendment No. 4, providing for tax exemptions for non-profit water districts, was approved with a vote of 1.157 for the exemptions, 794 voted against the amendment.

County voters decided welfare funds should be raised to $80 million from the current $60 million. They approved the raise with a vote of 1,283. Voicing their opinions against the raise were 786

Voters approved the amendment to pay benefits to survivors of state and local employes killed in the line of duty.

County voters voted 1,170 for and 809 against the Amendment, and voted to authorize the legislature to provide for additional loans to students at institutions of higher education under the Texas Opportunity Plan, with a vote of 1,125 for and 861 against.

Cicada 'Serenade' Fills Summer Air

By JOELLA LOVVORN News Editor, Leader News

The Annual Cicada-the male of the species is again filling the summer air around Littlefield and the High Plains area with a loud, sharp, shrill sound of courtship.

Males make the sharp sound with plate-like organs on the front part of the lower thorax, and are "wooing" the

The Cicada (pronounced see-kay-duh) is commonly called locust, but scientists say this is a misnomer, as locusts are really migratory grasshoppers.

Some species of the Cicada are called harvestflies because of their late summer appearance; and others are called 17-year locusts, though the 75 species of Cicadas differ widely in the time they take to become mature nymphs.

After adults mate, the females cut slits in young twigs and deposit eggs in them. Within a period of six weeks the eggs hatch into wingless, scaly nymphs which fall to the ground, burrow in, and stay there until they are mature.

If they are the periodical Cicada, they stay in the ground from 4 to 20 years. depending on the species and the latitude, from different types of roots.

In the summer time, the full-grown nymphs come out of the ground, climb tree trunks, walls of buildings or posts and shed their skins by splitting down the back, permitting the emergence of the

Adults generally live about a week-long enough to mate and begin another generation of noise-makers

Many weeping willow tree owners become concerned when their tree branches begin snapping in the wind-a direct result of Cicada egg-laying.

Other than a few broken branches and the obnoxious racket, there's not much else to worry about.

Business, Home Burglarized

The Spade Farmers Co-op Gin was broken into Sunday night, but apparently the would-be thieves were scared away after they gained entrance.

Entrance was made by breaking a glass door on the east side of the building. A window on the north side was also broken and someone had attempted to pry open another window. Nothing was taken, but more than $100 in damages were estimated on broken glass.

Burglary of a private residence was reported to county officials this week. Johnny Tisdale who lives 1/2 mile west of the Littlefield city limits on 1st Street reported the loss of an Argus slide projector 538, an Instamatic camera and a G. E. portable radio.

In other official county action Esequel Quintano was picked up and released the same day for check law violation.

BRAD GARNETT

'Lost' Grandson Shrubbery Suspect

All's well that ends well, or so it's said. To make a long story short, the little six year old boy who was missing more than six hours Monday was hungry and chagrined when he came out of his hiding place where he hid because he thought he broke his grandparents' door bell.

While dozens of relatives, friends, neighbors, city police, sheriff's officers and volunteer firemen searched for Brad Garnett, the youngster was hiding in shrubbery across the street from his grandparents' house.

The sheriff's posse was assembling to join the search when the child was scared out of his hiding place by a lawn mower that cut grass "too close for comfort."

Brad is from West Monroe, La., and is in Littlefield with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lathan Garnett. They are visiting with Brad's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gage and little Brad thought he broke their door chimes.

"He hit one of the long tubes that hang on the wall when he passed by," Bill Gage said, "and a little plastic piece at the top fell to the floor."

'Someone just barely mentioned that they guessed he'd get a spanking for breaking it," Brad's mother said.

Bill Gage said the child stood there and watched him splice the plastic piece and put it back on. "Then he just disappeared," Gage said. This was shortly before 11 a.m.

The family prepared lunch and put Brad's plate in the oven to keep it warm. They said Brad made friends easily, and they didn't really get alarmed until a little later in the afternoon.

After searching the neighborhood and not finding him, they became alarmed and called the city police at 2:52 p.m. Sheriff's official answered the call and were later joined by members of the volunteer fire department. About 5 p.m. the sheriff's department was getting ready to join the search when the loud lawn mower made Brad desert his hiding place in the shrubbery just across the street and "We WERE going to stay a week." Garnett replied when asked how long the family planned to visit in Littlefield. Then he giared at his prodigal son, who was nibbling on the lunch that had been in the oven five hours.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Garnett are former Whitharral residents, and Mrs. (Barbara Gage) Garnett is an LHS graduate.

Merchants Move Stock Onto Sidewalk Friday

Downtown bargains are so hot they must be aired and the savings are so high they must be brought down to the sidewalks.

Friday is Sidewalk Sale Day in Littlefield.

What The Leader-News Thinks

Misguided Individualists

talking about their war on "the establishment

Presumably, they mean the U.S. political and economic system with its guarantees of free speech under the Constitution.

In the same breath, they profess to support a creed of untrammeled individualism, in personal appearance, as well as in moral, religious and political beliefs.

SINCE THEIR RESPECT for the law is nil, it is unlikely that many of the violent dissenters noted a news release reporting that, "In three separate decisions...individual liberties were pitted against the powers of the state or private corporations. In each case the Supreme Court ruled in favor of the individuals....

THE CASES HAD to do with depriving one individual of his property without the processes guaranteed by the Fourteenth Amendment of the U.S. Constitution.

Two other cases dealt with the right of free speech under the First Amendment of the Constitution. And so it goes every day of the

THE LAW GOES quietly about the business of protecting persons and property, even of the dissenters who would destroy it-dissenters whose "individualism" would land them before a firing squad in any society ruled by passionate men rather than dispassionate laws.

Moral Motivives

THE REASON OR REASONS why we wish to preserve our "way of life" will determine what we do to help preserve it. Most of us want to maintain the traditional pattern of our national life; but what are our reasons?

Does it not seem strange that so many people are disinterested in the things generally believed to be essential to our survival? Why is it

One possibility is in the fact that many of us do not have sufficient reasons for wanting to save our political and social structure.

WE WANT TO BE FREE to exercise our right of choice, free to make money, free to be entertained, free to indulge ourselves, free to accumulate more and finer possessions and free to pursue other generally selfish goals.

Of course, some of these reasons are legitimate; but even these legitimate reasons cannot give us the vigor, the enthusiasm, the determination and the courage to do what must be done to survive.

MORAL MOTIVES are necessary in order to develop within us the spirit of sacrifice, devotion and supreme effort so essential to continuing strength and energy.

Thus, we can meet the present-day challenges, and keep faith with those who have given so much in days past and with those who are to come after us.

IF WE ARE ONLY interested in taking our ease, in maintaining our present material security, and in other essentially selfish benefits, we will never be able to make any significant contribution to the saving of our nation.

Motivations from totally selfish interests will be much too weak to meet present-day challenges and

The well-known lethargy, apathy and citizenship indifference are symptoms of the widespread inferior motivations in human actions. The actions required to meet the tests of our time must come from high, altruistic and noble motivations.

ON EVERY HAND, we are being urged to take more interest in citizenship obligations, be more patriotic and be more zealous in upholding traditional worthy ideals. With all of this admonition, however, there is little noticeable change. It does not seem to provide the motivation we need

THE SPIRIT WE NEED today originates within man, and does not come from external exhortations. Of course, there is a place and a need for mutual encouragement, but even this is effective only to the extent that the persons involved are being moved by the highest and most noble inner feelings.

IN HUMAN EXPERIENCES there must be a great cause and strong, abiding moral motives before there can be any great action. We have the great cause-pre-preserving our heritage.

The great action to meet the challenge of the great cause requires us to rise above our petty, selfish reasons for wishing to preserve this

WHY DO WE WISH to preserve our "way of life"? This is the important question, because our reasons for wishing to do so will fashion our actions in trying to

If our principal motivations continue to be materialistic, we will continue to be handicapped by lethargy, apathy, confusion and other dangerous limitations.

MORAL MOTIVES in our plans and actions must come from a wise sense of values.

From such motives, there will be an increase in citizenship effectiveness and an ascending level of patriotism.

"C'mon, lady, you'll have to take your husband's word on how he votes?

Youth Discriminate

■PAUL HARVEY

MORE THAN HALF of all black males are under 25. Confronted by myriad frustrations, their virile young maleness has frequently gravitated toward militant leaders.

However unwise or misleading the Rap Browns and the Stokely Carmichaels- that these vocal gang leaders dare to talk back to the Establishment has afforded the young male Negro a pseudo-dignity.

IT IS A CRUEL irony that he is now discovering the gangster society to be the most discriminatory of all. It is the ultimate in discrimination when the gang hierarchy decrees "Either you produce or you die. Either you are one of us or you are nobody!"

Nonetheless, many young blacks do flee one form of discrimination for another-they run from white domination into the arms of a gang

(Editor's note: The Sandhills off-guard by the surplus, as they'd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm examines inflation a little bit this week.)

Dear editar:

According to a newspaper I was reading this morning to get my mind off the last line on my July bank statement, the United States treasury is amazed to find it has a 3 billion-dollar budget surplus, and a lot of economists are worrying of economists are worrying out it. The reason they're worried is Artists Planning Show that they're afraid the surplus will produce more inflation.

At a time when the more a man makes the harder it is to make a living, the last thing we need is more inflation, but the economists who are worring about the surplus just don't have enough confidence in the government.

While it's true the government was caught off-guard, you might say is temporarily embarrassed, by the surplus. I believe it will get hold of itself, come to its senses, and emerge in a few months with some plan to achieve an over-draft.

Once you let Congress understand it has an infaltionary surplus on hand, you'll see more anti-inflationary legislation thought up than we've got the road construction equipment to build it with, or the dam construction equipment, etc.

Up to now, fighting inflation has been a worrisome thing because nobody knew where to start, but once you convince Congress the way to do it is to eliminate a surplus and we'll have it whipped faster than that snowball melts you know where.

Provided, of course, the economists are right. You've got to remember though that the economists themselves were caught predicted just the opposite. I have long contended that economists are like weather forecasters. They're good at telling you what happened yesterday but a little shaky about what's going to happen tomorrow.

Roll Call At High Mark

The GI roll call has passed the 27,000,000 mark.

In announcing the new total of enrollees, Jack Coker, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office Waco, said that Vietnam veterans discharged to Aug. 4. raised the ledger count to the highest peak in history.

In reviewing the veteran population, the VA Manager noted that the average age of all 27 million veterans has increased to 44.3 years.

Broken down by wars, the average age of veterans on the active rolls are:

Spanish-American War (6,000 veterans) 90.3 years; World War I (1,647,000) 74.7 World War II 14,592,000 veterans) 49.7 years: Korean Conflict (5,847,000 veterans) 40 years; and Vietnam era (3,169,000 veterans) 26.2 years.

Also on the VA rolls are 3,134,000 who served in the Armed Forces between the Korean Conflict and Vietnam. Their average age is 30.7 years

Meeting Set For Wildcats

A meeting of all Littlefield High football players has been called for 7 p.m. Monday at the football fieldhouse.

Players will have an opportunity to meet new head coach Deverelle Lewis and the new staff of assistants. They will also take their physicals and talk about the coming season. Shoes will be issued to the players Wednesday, and two-a-day workouts will begin Aug. 18.

Texas 6-and 8-Man Coaches Association's 24th Annual Clinic and All-Star Games.

Registration will be South Plains College Levelland.

Along with the coaches of Texas' smaller schools, approximately 90 basketball and football all-stars from the East and West will be on hand and the first in a series of practices is scheduled for early Monday morning.

The East-West All-Star Basketball game is set for Thursday night in the South Plains College Texan Dome, with the East-West Six-Man Football Game the following night at Levelland's Lobo Stadium.

Saturday night, the week's activities will end with the All-Star East-West eight-man football game.

Hilbun Insures Homes Against Burglaries

You can protect yourself and your your credit card, someone home from theft and burglary by adding burglary and theft protection to your personal property insurance.

Tom Hilbun at Mangum-Hilbun Insurance Agency advises his policy holders to take out a package policy on their personal property.

A wide variety of coverage can be obtained less expensively this way, Tom says. Personal property policies can cover all types of claims. Personal liability insurance can be added to your personal property insurance, too.

And while you're at it, consider adding credit card protection. Then if you lose
