Littlefield Nine Will Meet Hubbers Friday In First Night Game

Newty Moore To Be On Mound For Littlefield Team

Few Changes Are Made In Line-Up; Games Here To Continue

Introducing the Littlefield crew to their first game of night baseball, the locals will meet the Lubbock Hubbers in Lubbock Friday night for their second clash this season.

After a two weeks suspension placed on the local schedule of games due to shortage of operating money and some few changes necessary to build up the lineup of the home nine, the team is now getting in shape to continue playing and will be in perfect condition for the bout with the Hubbers.

Newty Moore will be on the mound for the Littlefield nine with Ballard likely on hand to bolster the infield. Chief Hanks will probably be shifted to the catching department with Lefty McWilliams handling the first-base job. In the out-field Thornton, Gregory, Simmons — a new tryout who has been highly recommended as a stellar fielder and hitter of no mean calibre — and Etter will fight it out for regular births.

State Sanitarian Staging Prevention Program In County

James R. Curtis, state health sanitarian of this district, is spending several days in Lamb county staging a typhoid prevention program and discussing milk sanitation as well as making an inspection of the ice plants, slaughter houses, city water supplies and dairies.

On a previous visit to Littlefield, Mr. Curtis sent samples of the Littlefield city water to Austin where a check was made by the state health department. The report on the test showed the city water supply to be free from harmful bacteria.

Mr. Curtis stated that his main work was urging fly control, to prevent typhoid fever. The main preventions for the spread of disease are: construction of the pit type toilets, use of fly traps and fly poisons. Milk supplies should also be guarded against—this enemy too often affect an entire family, he states.

McCaskill, Chairman of the Program Committee, who introduced the visiting Rotarians from Levelland, four of whom put on a playlet entitled "Mar No Name", the moral of which was to carry no rumors, which might injure your fellowmen.

Between the acts of this play Mrs. J. M. Mabe, a visiting Rotary Ann from Levelland, gave two very interesting readings. The program was so thoroughly enjoyed by the Littlefield Club, that it is hoped the Levelland Rotarians will extend Littlefield the pleasure of another visit soon.

While in New York city, the Mayor's committee on Aviation entertained the U. S. Army Air Corps with a dinner at the Pennsylvania Hotel commemorating the dedication of the New York City Municipal Airport, "Floyd Bennett Field." Lieut. Farmers Predict Largest Yield Since 1926

Past Two Week's Rains In County Total Two Inches

With the Littlefield territory receiving a total of approximately two inches of rain during the past two weeks, the largest crop since 1926 is predicted by pioneer farmers and business men of this section.

Last week rains in the majority of Lamb county totaled one and one-tenth inches and was followed by rains Saturday night and Wednesday morning which amounted to two-third of an inch, it was estimated.

P. S. Hanks, who farms 450 acres six miles west of Littlefield, says that there has been more rainfall this year than since 1926. He also stated that due to rains at planting time, the crops were put in early, and the summer rains held off sufficiently long to permit working the crops. This he states, kept them free from weeds, and less expense has been involved than usual.

Reports reaching this office from farmers indicate that the cotton and feed crop in various sections of the county is practically made, and that there is sufficient moisture in the ground to last for some time.

YANNIGANS TIE ENOCHS IN FIRST GAME SUNDAY

LOCALS LOOSE SECOND GAME OF DOUBLE HEADER 6-4

The Littlefield Yannigans, or the local second baseball team, displayed some flashy playing Sunday afternoon in going ten rounds in the first game of a double header with the Enochs team to a deadlock of 4 to 4. The visitors took the second game, which required 12 innings to settle, 6 to 4.

The Enochs team were bolstered with several players from the Baboro club, including big N. Moore who pitched the last two innings of the second contest to the game after it appeared to be the 10th stanza.

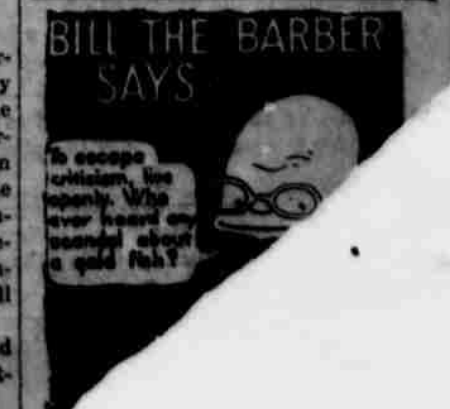

In the first contest Tremal Lowe were the batters, and the on game Guy Aldridge showed class on the mound with Lowe doing the receiving. Both games were closely played and bitterly fought through out.

Enochs emerged victor in the night-cap when they scored twice in their half of the 12th Moore then fanned three to hold safe their lead.

A few of the outstanding players in Sunday's game will be given an opportunity to battle for berths on the first strain, it was announced.

DON'T BELIEVE IN ADVERTISING
(From Albany News)

Walked into a fellow's store this week and asked the merchant about his advertising copy. He said it right blunt, said it did not do any good, did not get any results from an ad in the News. That is to say, it was not worth a damn. We did not get mad because he slapped the Albany News in the face—That was to say that it's space was not worth a damn. But on the other hand we felt sorry for him. The Albany News has been here night on to fifty years, has a circulation of twelve hundred, goes into every nook and corner of the county. Has been on the battle line for all these years for its town and county, the farm, the ranch, schools and churches, all about whitefaced cattle and laying hens, garden, truck patches—glorified this rich soil, talked its fertility. And has lived to see wild grass land go up from one dollar to fifteen—twenty five and as high as fifty dollars per acre. And yet this fellow says that its space ain't worth a damn. Looking over his stock of merchandise, might nigh every article of merchandise in his store was nationally advertised goods. Boston baked beans, Campbell soup, early morning coffee, Star hams, cheese and crackers and prunes, all advertised goods—But when it enters this fellow's store its gone into the graveyard and the tombstones are up. Don't believe in advertising, sorry for you, boy. When you fell out of bed this morning, your naked feet hit an advertised rug, then you got into a suit of B V D's nationally advertised goods, lighted a Camel cigarette, nationally advertised. Got your feet under a pine table made in Battle Creek, Michigan, slapped your Rogers silver knife in a ball of creamery butter, advertised—poured Nigger head molasses on an Aunt Jimima's hot cakes, drank advertised coffee. Then went out and stepped on the gas and came down to the store in an automobile very much advertised. Yes the company spent ten million dollars advertising it last year. And say boy, som day they are going to haul you out to the graveyard in an advertised ambulance, going to let you down in your grave in an advertised casket. Then the last and final act they will pile advertised flowers on your grave—And of course boy, you are going up to Heaven in the sky and that is the city that has been advertised more than any other city heard of and we hope that God and the angels will give you a lesson in advertising. No, space in the Albany News ain't worth a damn.

TEXAS' YOUNG FARMERS AT WASHINGTON

Four Texas youngsters, two boys and two girls are among the 156 farm boys and girls who won places in the national encampment of 4-H clubs now being held in Washington. The girls are Miss Trula Morrow and Miss Bessie Moores; the boys are Buster Worley and James Potts. Two West Texas counties furnished the entire Texas contingent. Lubbock county is the home of Miss Moores and Mr. Potts; Collingsworth county claims Miss Morrow and Mr. Worley. The young Texans are, by verdict of their companions and instructors in the 4-H club work of the State, the best farmers of the lot. It was on a basis of excellence in club work that they won the trips to the national encampment. In Washington they will camp in tents furnished by the army under the trees on the grounds of the Department of Agriculture. They will meet President Hoover and other notables of our own Government and of foreign governments. They will hear another Texan, Lieutenant Commander Rosendahl, tell of his flight around the world in the Graf Zeppelin. Another speaker will be Charles Ins, famous radio and television inventor. The United States Maid will play for them. All in all, it will be one grand picnic, as meeting carrying inspiration for continuation of the activity for trip is the reward.

4-H clubs represent one of the most effective forces working for betterment of farm life, both economically and socially. Each year in the States thousands of farm boys and girls receive instruction and engage in various activities having to do with improvements in products and farm conditions, and the results of their work are competitively in the annual state assembly. The spur of friendly rivalry added to the attraction of better profits from well-planned and well-carried out programs of individual activity.

West Texas is proud of its representatives at Washington this week. They are a credit to themselves and to the counties in which they reside. —Fort Worth Star Telegram.

OLD KING COTTON COMING INTO HIS OWN

Cotton fabrics are today the darlings of fashion, and millions of better dressed American women have been sold on the idea of cotton frocks for all occasions. These dainty, fluffy garments are making their appearance at parties, dances, weddings and on country club verandas. No social function now bars the once lowly cotton dress. Women are now demanding it, not in order to help use up our surplus cotton and thus help the cotton farmer, but because it is stylish and pretty.—C. M. Hammond, in The Texas Weekly.

"DIOGENES"

William Haines Starred
In "A Tailor Made Man"

Dorothy Jordan Plays Opposite Star in Engaging Comedy
Romance of Love and Big Business Opening
Friday at Palace Theatre

William Haines, big business, love, financial troubles of a nation and a formula for prosperity—these are all woven into a liting, scintillating comedy in which runs a charming little love story.

These are the ingredients of "A Tailor Made Man," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's latest William Haines starring vehicle, which will be shown at the Palace Theatre on Friday and Saturday of this week.

Haines plays a smart young American (business-like rather than wise cracking) who isn't satisfied with his job. He discovers a new "racket." As a result, he becomes a "big shot". America is full of fellows with the same story.

Sam Wood Directs

Sam Wood, who coached, the star in "Telling the World," directed the new picture. Wood recently scored with "Paid" and "Way for a Sailor."

The story picks up the comical Haines as a pants presser in a tailor shop. He has had better jobs but temporarily is working at the only one he could land. But he has real ideas. So he "borrows" a dress-suit left to be pressed, invades a social function to meet a merchant prince, and manages to impress the financial nabob with his ideas. He lands a big executive position as a result, and proceeds to revolutionize business in "repairing" a financial stringency. When he gets fired he tells the truth about it all, but meantime they have found out that his ideas were right—and he gets the job back. All so the girl.

Dorothy Jordan plays opposite the debonair hero of "Way Out West," "The Girl Said No" and other hits, and repeats her successes in "Min and Bill" and "Devil May Care." Joseph Cawthorn, veterans of stage and screen, appears as the old German tailor Huber.

Excellent Cast

Marjorie Rambeau, Hale Hamilton, William Austin, Walter Walker, Ian Keith, Martha Sleeper, Hedda Hopper, Joan Marsh, Henry Armetta and other clever people are in the cast.

The dramatic highlights include the stealing of the dress-suit, the winning of the tailor's daughter from the academic rival, the big meeting and threatened strike in the store, the dramatic expose of the impostor who saves the day, and the comical but romantic love scene in the tailor shop.

Haines plays the role sans many of his usual wise-cracking tricks and makes a very convincing and appealing figure as the youngster who tries to do something in the world and carry out an ideal.

HOME DEMONSTRATION NOTES

By Mrs. N. G. Barrett, Center Club Olton, Texas

Before I entered the living room contest, my walls were not finished in anyway. Also I did not have any desirable pictures on the walls.

After entering the contest I talked the matter over with my husband, as money was scarce, it was decided that I could use my egg money for my room.

The only material I had on hand was some clear varnish which I used on the wood work. I bought a quart of light oak varnish, which I used around the congolem rug and on the living room suite. The divan was given two coats. We bought three quarts of rich cream color paint for the walls and two quarts of light ivory for the ceiling. Both of these called for two coats each. I bought 1 pint of flour spar for the congolem rug. Sixty feet of molding was required to go around the top of the walls and edge of ceiling which was painted a Holland Blue I hung two new pictures which were gifts to me valued at $2.00 each. I hung other draperies and remodeled my shades. My furniture, I rearranged.

The total expense was only $6.35, besides the joy and pleasure we get out of this cannot be estimated in dollars and cents.

At 4:30 p. m. the winners in the print dress contest were announced. Mrs. Charles Reynolds Olton, 1st. place; Mrs. J. T. Graham Amherst, 2nd.

Crop Rotation Important In Truck Raising

College Station, Texas, July 8 - The best way to invite diseases of truck crops is to grow the same crops on the same land year in and year out, says Dr. J. J. Taubehaus, chief of the division of plant pathology, Texas Agricultural Experiment station. Crop rotation is just as important in truck farming as in growing field and fruit crops and constitutes a chief method of controlling disastrous diseases, he says.

A beautiful woman and The Law—reached for the same man at the same time—and out of this came a clash of human emotions—strange, fierce, amazing!

The Law," Mary cried at Bob's side. "I saved you—from Death—both that does all law of man. You say have been a head—on outlaw—but now you're mine—mine! Here, in this terrific climax of clashing human emotions, what could Mary do to save Bob White from that relentless Arm of The Law which would drag him away to prison—crush her heart—and wreck forever her only hope for love and happiness?

You must read for yourself this amazing true-life story HIS OWN LAW—of how a beautiful woman fought with all the madness of a tigress—used all the subtle wiles a woman knows—to hold her man whom she had claimed from the very jaws of Death and defied the mightiest Law of the land to take. INSTRUCTIONS ON
CONTRACT BRIDGE

Written Especially for The Leader
By Ethel Louise Cooper

Editor's Note: After receiving several requests from Littlefield bridge players interested in learning the game of contract bridge, Mrs. Ethel Louise Cooper has consented to write a series of articles on the game for the Leader. The first installment begins with this week's issue.)

A few weeks observation of the efforts being made by the bridge players of Littlefield to change over from the game of Auction, which is fast becoming obsolete in America as it has become in Europe, to the more fascinating and popular game of contract has brought to our notice the deplorable fact that most players consider the newer game more difficult than Auction and are making real work of learning it, whereas in reality it is even simpler than the older game and can be learned in a few hours study if the player will go about the learning in the correct way.

The trouble seems to be that most players never really took the pains to learn Auction but were able to disguise their lack of technique better in that game where the chance element was much more in evidence than it is in Contract. If a player really knows the game of Auction, he has only to learn a few of the new conventions developed in Contract bidding, such as the accurate counting of all honor tricks in the combined hands and the use of the "forcing system," to be a very passable contract player. To become an outstanding player there is something needed which is neither exact knowledge nor unusual skill in applying that knowledge. It is that psychological attribute sometimes called "card-sense" which enables a player to use or discard definite rules under certain unusual circumstances and to gauge his partner's ability accurately and accommodate his own bidding to his partner's understanding, and responsiveness; for Contract is not an all else a partnership game, but if a player cannot join the ranks of the experts he can still make a careful and trustworthy partner acceptable wherever the game is played.

The very first thing that the new Contract devotee must learn is the table of honor-trick values which is now almost universally accepted and is the simplest one that has ever been offered. It must be memorized just as one needed to learn his table in addition before he could do the most elementary sum in arithmetic about five minutes of concentration will accomplish this.

Culbertson Standard Honor-Trick Table

- One Half Trick— Any Kx or Qx. Any Kx and Jx of different suits. ("x" means a small card of the same suit.)
 - One Trick— Any Ace, any K, J, x or any K, Q, J. Any Kx and Qx of different suits.
 - One and One Half Tricks— Any A, Q or any A, J, x, or any K, Q, 10.
 - Two Tricks— Any A, K.
- Most players seem to know that in the new game all opening one-bids are at least two and one-half honor tricks and that the partner cannot bid unless holding honor-tricks (which is four small cards or three cards top or better) but few know why these requirements exist and why the bidding which sometimes netted them a game at Auction cannot be used. If a deck of cards is distributed absolutely equally among four players, each player will hold one Ace, One King, one Queen and one Jack and no players will hold more than four cards of any one suit, the distribution being 3-3-3-4 thus his best suit is a four card suit and the honor-tricks in the hand count 2 tricks plus a Jack. This is called average distribution. It is quite evident that no player could make even one-odd trick if every other player had an equally good hand, therefore the need that the bidder have at least a Queen better than the average before venturing to bid one. Add a Queen to the Ace, King, Queen, Jack, of the average hand and counting the honor-tricks by the Culbertson table, the hand will produce two and one half honor tricks, the minimum requirement.

Likewise because by far the greater number of one-bids are now made on the four card suit which is the best suit of the average hand, the responding hand must make up for this shortness by holding at least four small cards of the suit or three with Ace, King, Queen at the top before raising the bid no matter what honor tricks are in his hand. This is necessary in order that the partnership will have command of the trump suit.

The Rule of Eight

In the playing of thousands of hands it has been proven that of the thirteen tricks taken in each hand, eight tricks are taken with honors. This fact permits the hand to be counted by honor-tricks alone as the winning of small card tricks is dependent on these honor tricks which are the suit stoppers and the re-entries. If the bidder and his partner hold between them four honor-tricks then the opponent also holds four honor-tricks, and there is naturally no game for either set of players. Every added half honor-trick however makes the probability of some score more certain and these tricks must be shown by the bidding until the limit of the honor-trick strength in the combined hands is known. If combined honor-tricks in bidder's and partner's hands is from four to four and one-half the contract expected is about one odd trick. If the combined honor-tricks are five the expectancy is two odd. If the combined honor-tricks are five and one half to six the expectancy is game. If the combined honor-tricks are seven the hands are in the slam zone.

(Next week there will be a further discussion of the game of Contract by Mrs. Cooper.)

LOST 20 LBS. OF FAT IN JUST 4 WEEKS

Mrs. Mae West of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 28 yrs. old and weighed 170 lbs. until taking one box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment." Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—an 85 cent bottle lasts 4 weeks—you can get Kruschen at Eagle Drug Store, or any drug store in America. One of the most delightful social affairs of the week end was the "42" party given by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gardner, at their home, 713 LFD Drive, honoring Judge and Mrs. I. D. White, of Austin.

Decorations for the occasion carried out a white and green color scheme, and marguerettes in bowls and vases were attractively arranged throughout the entertaining rooms.

Miss Alta Anderson and John G. Field are Married at Clovis, N. M., Recently

Miss Alta Anderson, of Brownwood, Texas, formerly of this city, became the bride of John G. Field, Jr. of Denver, Colo. at a simple ceremony at Clovis, N. M., Monday, June 29.

Miss Anderson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Anderson of this city, and Mr. Field is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Field of Hollywood, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, Misses Patsey, Nina and Alice Anderson accompanied the couple to Clovis and witnessed the marriage vows.

The bride was charmingly attired in a royal blue crepe ensemble trimmed with deep ecru lace, with all accessories to match.

Her going away costume was a grey and blue crepe suit, with other items of wearing apparel to correspond.

Miss Anderson graduated from the Littlefield High School in 1927, thereafter going to the Denver General Hospital, Colo., for training. She graduated as a trained nurse in 1930, and for the past several months has practised her profession as superintendent of nurses at the Central Texas hospital at Brownwood, Texas.

Mr. Field is a very progressive young business man of Denver, and is connected with the City administration.

The happy couple left immediately for a wedding trip to Hollywood, Calif. and other points. They expect to be gone about two weeks, after which they will make their home in Denver.

THE STATE OF TEXAS TO THE SHERIFF OR ANY CONSTABLE OF LAMB COUNTY GREETINGS:
 You are hereby commanded to summon Catherine Heckendorn by making publication of this citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the district court of Lamb County to be holden at the court house thereof in Olton, on the first Monday in August, 1931, the same being the 3rd day of August, 1931, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 13 day of June, A. D. 1931, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 726, wherein Clarence Heckendorn is plaintiff and Catherine Heckendorn is defendant, in which it is alleged that heretofore on May 29th, 1925, plaintiff and defendant were lawfully married. That they continued to live together as husband and wife until January 1st, 1931, whereby reason of cruel and harsh and improper conduct of defendant toward plaintiff, he was forced to permanently abandon her, since which time they have not lived together as husband and wife. That on various occasions without cause or provocation on the part of plaintiff, defendant cursed and abused plaintiff and applied to him vile and opprobrious epithets. That defendant's action and conduct generally towards plaintiff are of such a nature as to render their further living together as husband and wife insupportable; and that said marriage relations between plaintiff and defendant still exist.
 Wherefore plaintiff prays the court that defendant be cited to appear and answer herein and for judgment dissolving said marriage relation, and for such other and further relief, special and general, in law and in equity, to which plaintiff may be found justly entitled.
 Herein fail not, but have before said court on the said first day of the next term thereof, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.
 Witness M. W. Etter, clerk, District Court, Lamb County, Texas.
 Given under my hand and seal of said court, in the town of Olton, Texas, this 7th day of July, A. D. 1931.

Many East Texas Farmers Looking Over South Plains
 According to R. T. Badger of the Yellow House Land company, a large number of the leading farmers in East Texas, have visited Littlefield this summer, some of whom are planning to return later and locate on the South Plains.
 Mr. Badger further said: "We are working hard in East Texas, and we expect a large number of people out here this summer and fall, who will be interested in this section. The people who are interested in the South Plains are the class of people who will make good citizens, those who are among the best farmers in the locality in which they live, and will be a credit to the Littlefield section when they do come."

Whaley-Jones Ranch Is Improved With Modern New Home
 Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Walston, who recently purchased the Whaley-Jones ranch, 10 miles south of Sudan, from Mrs. Josephine Jones, and moved there from near Altus, Okla., have just improved the property with a four room frame house, and plan on building a garage and other out buildings. They expect their son, Mr. Willis Walston and Mrs. Walston, from Oklahoma shortly, and they will occupy the new home.
 Mrs. Walston, who called at the Leader office for a copy of the paper, is very enthusiastic about this section of the country, and said "We have the prettiest crops I have ever seen. They are just beautiful. The corn is up to my shoulders, and the cotton is so high and nice."

SAYS FARMERS WILL GET 50c A BUSHEL FOR WHEAT BY FALL
 Wheat prices will soar to 50 or 60 cents per bushel, to farmers, before winter, and by the time the 1932 crop is harvested the price will be 60 cents, approximately, is the prediction of Hickman Price, Panhandle wheat king, whose headquarters are at Kress.
 "By this time of year," Mr. Price explains, "about all the news that could possibly depress the market is out. Therefore, any news that is big will be in the other direction and will tend to advance the price. Such news as, for example, the severe drought in the Dakotas, Montana, the Pacific northwest and Canada. Up to the present the market has not acted much on that news, but I believe it will.
 Decrease Will Lower Surplus
 "Then, in looking ahead, lots of farmers who, either voluntarily or in crop. It is within the realm of possibility, will not put in any 1932 billity that the 1932 wheat acreage thus withdrawn from production might produce a wheat yield equal to the heretofore exportable surplus.
 "Of course it is the hangover of this exportable surplus which is the disturbing market factor."
 Mr. Price declares that in 1929 he expressed the belief that wheat for 1930 would be at 75 cents per bushel and predicted 35 cent wheat for 1931. "In the light of conditions now prevailing," he declares, the price of wheat, I believe, will advance before winter to where farmers will obtain 50 to 60 cents per bushel.—South Plains Progress.

“That’s my manager”

“YES, Fred, she spends the whole roll! What do you think of this suit? And how does the haberdashery blend? A fat chance I’d have getting a match like that. And if you think I’m well dressed, you should see her! Funny part of it is, she dresses both of us on just a trifle more than I spent on the junk I used to wear — How?”

“Boy, she knows her groceries, yes — and she knows where to buy ’em at a price that’s right too — and that goes for socks, hats, shoes, furniture, dish pans and dental floss — when she gets ready to buy anything, she goes through the newspaper ads with a fine tooth comb and don’t think it hasn’t had a telling effect on our savings account over at the First National — I’ll tell the world my wife reads the ads and reads ’em thorough.”

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH LADIES MEET IN THEIR RESPECTIVE CIRCLES

The Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church met Monday afternoon at 3:30 in their respective circles. Mrs. Heathman was hostess to the Hawkins Circle. After a brief business session the ladies devoted the study hour to the great lesson taught in the psalms. Mrs. Pullen, their leader, is an experienced and very able teacher, and we are sure that every one present enjoyed a delightful afternoon. We are more than glad to welcome her as a member of our W. M. U.

Bagby Circle

Mrs. Pryor Hammons entertained the Bagby Circle. Mrs. R. T. Badger, their chairman, who has been absent from town the major part of the summer, was with them again, and her presence added much to the pleasure of the evening. Mrs. Grizzle is their teacher, and their reporter affirms that the bible lesson was very interesting.

Locket Circle

The Locket Circle gathered in the pleasant home of Mrs. Gilliland, Mrs. Jordan, their Chairman, presiding. Mrs. "Mac", our teacher, keeps us in a constant state of expectancy, and as a result we are becoming firm believers in "preparedness", along biblical lines at least. Monday each lady was requested to read her favorite psalm (the 20th excepted), and briefly state the reason for her preference. When we remember that this collection of Hebrew form portrays every great emotion that has stirred the heart of man since time began, we can imagine how intensely interesting the discussion became. An English poet, and one who at the age of 37, gave his life (an heroic martyr) to the sacred cause of human liberty, has given to the world a beautiful version of the psalm that appeals to the soul of every true patriot. The psalm that pictures so vividly the sorrows of Israel, as they "wept by the rivers of Babylon." If you are a lover of the beautiful in the realm of poetry, compare the English and Hebrew versions. Real study of the bible always proves an incentive to other literary research. Try "searching the scriptures" for a few hours, and if you do not say Amen, well, we do not want to be in danger of future cremation, so we will not express our private opinion of those who can see no beauty in sacred literature.

Commissioner of Agriculture Joins All-Cotton Clads; Urges Cotton Clothing Be Worn

Dallas, Texas, June 28.—Commissioner J. E. McDonald of the Texas Department of Agriculture, practicing what he preaches in the "use more cotton" campaign, is shown here among the machines of the Pool Manufacturing Company plant at Sherman, the Southwest's largest garment manufacturer, inspecting one of Pool's all-cotton ensembles for men. The Commissioner is, himself, clad in get-up similar to that made famous by Gov. W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray of Oklahoma, and Col. Bill Talbot, of Dallas, and Ex-Gov. Dan Moody, and other prominent Texans; coat, trousers, shirt, tie, sock, handkerchief, all-cotton. Doubtless the wether garments are cotton, but nobody thought to ask the Commissioner about that. Belt and shoes are the only exception.

Commissioner McDonald's Sherman stop was between engagements at Cleburne Friday, where he spoke to the Texas Club on "Using More Cotton," and at Waxahachie Saturday night, in a swing through the section urging wider use of cotton and other products of Texas farms and factories. Every employee in his department at Austin wears cotton clothing, the Commissioner stated, and he is urging others to do the same. He was a prime mover with a dozen other high state officials in sponsoring "cotton commencements" in public schools last spring, a movement expected to result in many schools adopting standard cotton regalia for future occasions. "I am astonished at the size of the plan, and the volume and variety of the Pool products," Mr. McDonald said. "While I had known of the Pool Company as one of the major garment factories of the State, I had no idea of the impensity of the business or the number of people afforded employment."

"Texas people should demand Texas products," he added; "then scores of such plants, employing thousands of persons, would be consuming millions of bales of Texas cotton." The Commissioner points out that in the past Texas has shipped out cotton at 10c a pound and bought it back in finished shirts at $3.00 a pound. "Let's buy Texas manufactured shirts," he exclaimed, "and keep that difference of $2.90 in Texas to be divided among Texas laboring men, farmers, mechanics, and manufacturers."

PAINS QUIT COMING

"When I was a girl, I suffered periodically with terrible pains in my back and sides. Often I would bend almost double with the intense pain. This would last for hours and I could get no relief."

"I tried almost everything that was recommended to me, but found nothing that would help until I began taking Cardui. My mother thought it would be good for me, so she got a bottle of Cardui and started me taking it. I soon improved. The bad spells quit coming. I was soon in normal health."

—Miss Sarah Harris, Winters, Texas.
