

LITTLEFIELD NEEDS AND WANTS A NEW HOTEL

Littlefield needs . . . and wants . . . a new hotel.

Hotel facilities have been inadequate for considerable time. Now the need is acute.

The problem of hotel accommodation in Littlefield increased with the recent sale of the Littlefield Hotel for hospital and clinic purposes.

Will Littlefield build a new hotel, or will our visitors go to some other town to obtain accommodations?

Will the healthy growth of Littlefield be hampered by inadequate hotel facilities?

Will our social, cultural and business activities be tilted because of the lack of hotel services?

The answer to these problems rests with the citizenship; we can put our shoulders to the wheel, or we can evade the problem, saying, "Let George do it."

Littlefield has always been recognized as a progressive city.

And enthusiastic progressiveness means everything at this time. Littlefield is at the cross roads; we can take the smooth pathway that leads to mediocre achievement, or we can climb the grade and view success all around us.

Some action has been taken to obtain a new hotel for Littlefield, but before capital, either local or outside, will make a large investment in hotel property it will have to be shown that the citizenship of this city wants and will enthusiastically boost the kind and size of hotel that Littlefield should have immediately.

Here are just a few reasons why Littlefield wants . . . and needs . . . a large hotel:

Accommodation for all who wish to stay in Littlefield one day, one night, or an indefinite number of days and nights;

Sample rooms for travelers to display their goods to local merchants;

Private dining rooms for conferences and luncheon and dinner gatherings of small groups;

Rooms for afternoon or night social gatherings, such as held by all clubs for men or for women;

Large combination ball room and dining rooms for gatherings of all kinds;

Adequate facilities for conventions.

A hotel with the desired facilities is a gathering place for the citizens of a city; there they meet their friends in that city or friends or business acquaintances from other places.

There is no better service, no better advertisement for any city, anywhere, than good hotel accommodations.

Let's provide more hotel accommodations in Littlefield.

Let's provide more hotel accommodations in Littlefield.

BUILDING FIELD FOR HARD BALL BEING TALKED

Meeting Announced For 7:45 P. M. At Ritz Theatre

Those interested in hard ball, a baseball club and field, are urged to attend a mass meeting called by local fans for 7:45 p. m. Friday, at the Ritz theatre, for the purpose of the organization of a club, selecting a field, etc.

According to boosters of this movement, there are several good baseball players who have expressed a willingness to come to Littlefield if there is a park available for play.

It has also been pointed out by those familiar with activity along this line, that Sudan is building a park; Amherst has also organized and are laying plans to play baseball; and Muleshoe, it is reported, have stated they "are going to have the fastest team on the South Plains."

Baseball fans in Littlefield, therefore, urge that the citizenship of this city get behind the movement, and cooperate in the obtaining of a club and field on which to play.

There are a large number of the business men in Littlefield already boosting for a baseball club, among whom are: Dewey Walker, W. H. Madden, Dr. Ira Woods, Dr. W. N. Orr, W. J. Aldridge, J. H. Ware, Sam Batton, Joe Replin, Troy Howton, Beaman Phillips, Otis Smith, S. J. Farquhar, L. A. Ratliff, Pat Boone, Morley B. Drake, J. M. Stokes, W. D. T. Storey, Sam Rumback, Willie Rumback, Jim Etter, Lon Campbell, J. F. Graham and H. F. Moody.

CONTRACT FOR DRILLING WELL IS ANNOUNCED

Block Assembled By R. F. Duggan; Located In Four Counties

News of great interest to Littlefield and this immediate territory has been announced — that an oil well will be drilled in the very near future on a drilling block of several thousand acres recently acquired by R. F. Duggan, oil operator of Dallas and Laredo, Texas, a few miles west and north of the inland town of Pep in Hockley county.

Lands constituting the block are located in counties of Bailey, Cochran, Hockley and Lamb. The location of the well is to be in the extreme South East corner of Bailey county, just across the line from South West corner of Lamb county.

Drilling contractors are The Maracaibo Oil Exploration Corporation of Dallas, and associates. Mr. E. L. Wilson of The Maracaibo Corp. is in active charge of operations. The contract calls for the well to be spudded in on or before May 1st. It is the intention of the Corporation to start drilling operations in the very near future. The well is to be drilled to a total depth of 5500 feet, or to the permian sulphur water level, or salt water, unless oil or gas is found in paying quantities at a lesser depth.

Mr. R. F. Duggan, who assembled the block, is responsible for the Duggan No. 1 Honolulu well that has recently been brought in in Cochran county, a few miles Southwest of the little town of Whiteface. He has been assisted in blocking the drilling block by his brother, C. J. Duggan of Dallas who has been making his headquarters in Littlefield, and Ed M. Hart and W. L. Herrin of Anton, Thomas B. Duggan, Jr. of Lubbock is the attorney passing titles for the Corporation.

The block is known as the Pep Drilling Block, and the well is to be E. L. Wilson et al No. 1, Yellow House Land Company.

Mrs. Wright And C. J. Duggan Eat First And Last Meal Served In Famous Littlefield Hotel

(The second of a series of articles, written exclusively for the Lamb County Leader by C. J. Duggan.)

I have received so many compliments upon my little write-up of the Littlefield hotel that appeared in last week's issue of the Lamb County Leader, that I have been requested to continue the story and bring it right down to date, as well as elucidate upon a few of the points mentioned.

Everett Whicker said that no history of the hotel was complete without a picture. If not a realistic kodak picture, at least a vivid pen picture, of him in his jeans cranking that old gasoline engine that generated the lights for the hooter. It had to be done daily, rain or shine, cold or hot, and Everett was always on the job even if it were not an easy job, so we want to express our appreciation of his faithful service during many years of "lighting."

And this brings up the subject of lighting systems that the hotel had during all these twenty-four years of service to humanity. All kinds and types were used, even candles, for as little as you may think of it, when Bob McCaskill and his faithful wife installed a tractor engine lighting system in Littlefield, there were many, many nights that candles were necessary to be used in the hotel to "light" the way of the wayfarer to his comfortable room, even if said candles were not on a meter. The first system, however, was installed by "Major" Moulton, the first proprietor, and was known as the pump-up-gas-tank-system. It was used to light the cherry lobby, attractive dining room, and very necessary kitchen. It was fine when it worked, but did not always work, and either candles or kerosene lamps that were used to light the bed rooms were made use of. Later the Delco light plant was installed which was a real innovation in Littlefield, and people drove many miles just to see the "bright lights." And, finally, the hotel was "hooked-on-to" the power lines that now give us such splendid service.

Then comes the subject of heating such a large building! Coal was the utility used throughout, but that throughout meant only in the lobby, dining room and kitchen, for the bed rooms had to depend upon the heat rising from the lobby. (The guests usually kept the coal stove full) and that's when the custom started of leaving doors open, so keys were of no use and were lost. To this day, keys were not necessary in this hotel, guests remained in their own rooms and did not wander around in the night time, taking things that did not belong to them. Coal stoves gave way to gas ranges and heaters — all modern to the nth degree.

Plumbing comes next on the list of necessary utilities. The only plumbing we had in the early days was the sink in the kitchen and the one bath room on the first floor. The sink was attached to a cess pool for drainage, but the tub poured

WITH YOUR ENGINE OIL-PLATED

OIL-PLATING differs widely from other forms of lubrication in this plain, understandable way: It remains lastingly fastened to the pistons, bearings and other engine parts, even when they are not in motion. This is made possible by the Germ Process—patented—which gives Conoco Germ Processed oil its strong attraction for metals, so that every working part becomes durably Oil-Plated.

Oil-Plating is not like any lubrication that merely goes on-and-off. Once Germ Processed oil covers the parts it never leaves them bare of Oil-Plating . . . Never when the pistons are racing thousands of strokes a minute . . . Never on any hills, despite any load . . . Never while you park at a dozen different stores.

So it's nothing to you, when engineers blame more than half of all engine wear on so-called "dry starting." Nor need you worry over all the rest of the annual Spring oil scare. Whether your car is new or old, you can make your longer runs . . . hit your higher speeds . . . enjoy your hotter sunshine. Oil-Plating can take it like the longest-lasting part of your engine. For Oil-Plating really becomes a long-lasting part of your engine, as you change to long-lasting Conoco Germ Processed oil. Continental Oil Company

National Soil Program Being Urged By President

President Roosevelt is making an effort to enlist all states in the national campaign to save farm lands from blowing away in dust storms or washing away in floods. He asked all governors to obtain passage "of legislation along the lines" of a model soil conservation law suggested by the agriculture department. This "standard state soil conservation districts law" allows a group of 25 or more "land occupiers" to rules for use of land and "compel a recalcitrant minority to comply form a conservation district, set up where it is for the public good." The Soil Conservation service of the agriculture department has con-

INSURANCE REPRESENTATIVE HERE IN CONNECTION FIRST BAPTIST LOAN

Bert Lowe of Abilene, Representative of the Great Southern Life Insurance Company of Houston, was in Littlefield Wed. of last week in connection with the application by the First Baptist Church for a new $10,000 loan to be paid over a period of ten years.

Mr. Lowe met with the Loan Finance Committee, J. C. Hilbun, C. O. Griffin and Pat Boone at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and after discussing the matter with them, he took several pictures of the church, making an appraisal and report to present to his company.

Mr. Lowe stated that everything looked very favorable; that he would recommend the approval of the loan, and believed it would go through.

According to Rev. Willis J. Ray, Pastor, $6,500 has been raised to pay off the original mortgage.

Rev. Ray stated that should the loan be approved, one of the requirements will be that $2,500 be deposited in the bank as collateral to protect the company against drouth or other adversity.

The church will have the privilege of paying the loan off within five years time if desired.

SERIES OF DINNERS TO BE HELD TO CLEAR UP DEMOCRATIC DEFICIT

The Democratic National Committee have just announced a considerable deficit resulting from the recent election, and also the plan to hold a series of dinners throughout the United States on the evening of March 4th, which will commemorate the great democratic victory, and from which it is hoped funds will be derived to clear up the deficit.

It is suggested that all those who are not able to attend one of these dinners take the opportunity to listen to the President's victory address, which will be released over a nation-wide hook-up from the Washington dinner at 10 o'clock p. m. Eastern Standard time.

CONFINED IN LOCAL HOSPITAL WITH THROAT INFECTION

Oscar Wilemon, who has been confined in the Littlefield Hospital since Sunday, suffering from Streptococic throat, was reported improved Wednesday.

Mr. Wilemon was believed seriously ill Monday and Tuesday, and his two brothers being advised of his condition, came to Littlefield Tuesday, returning home Wednesday.

Crop Insurance System Recommended

Officials estimated Thursday that $100,000,000 to $150,000,000 would be required to set up a vast crop insurance system recommended to congress by President Roosevelt.

They figured that amount would establish adequate reserves and meet other necessary costs.

Offsetting this was the contention of the president's crop insurance committee that the proposed system would eliminate other expenditures for farmers distressed by crop failures. The committee estimated such outlays had totaled $600,000,000 in the past ten years.

In a special message to congress Mr. Roosevelt recommended that federal crop insurance start with wheat next year and be extended later to other producers evidencing a desire for such protection.

cold, almost arrogant survey. Yet the man was smiling, disclosing two rows of even, white teeth. "This is Bernard Deteroux, lass," panted the factor. "Bernard—my daughter Ellen." Deteroux bowed slightly. "I am honored, mam'selle." Ellen murmured a reply and led the way into the living room. When they had seated themselves old Angus went on with further explanations. "Bernard is one of our men, lass. He is our roving source of supply. His duties are to keep an even balance in the trade goods at our various posts. Tell me, lass—is there anything we are in need of?" "We have enough of everything father," said Ellen slowly. "Except perhaps of blankets." "I will be pleased to oblige, mam'selle," broke in Deteroux quickly. "A hundred pairs, perhaps, would be enough?" "That would be enough, Mr. Deteroux," nodded Ellen.

"Good. You shall have them immediately." He stepped to the open door and in a deep resonant voice shouted an order down the slope. Then he turned back. "The blankets will be at your storeroom in five minutes, mam'selle."

A moment later Ellen left the room to assist Gitche in preparation of the midday meal. She found the old Chippewyan squaw working in the kitchen in a strangely silent mood, and despite Ellen's curious questioning, Gitche would utter no word. And later when the meal was over with she went out to the storeroom with her father and Deteroux. Ellen saw old Moosac bend a look upon Deteroux of frank, savage hostility. This, reasoned Ellen, was very strange, for her father was plainly overjoyed at the presence of Deteroux, and she knew that both Moosac and Gitche were very faithful to her father.

For herself, Ellen found it hard to define just how Deteroux affected her. There was an undeniable magnetism about the man. His very size, his rippling strength, and the lithe, easy swiftness of his movements were attractive. And he was not unhand-some. Yet his eyes were repelling, and whenever Ellen felt them upon her, which was disconcertingly often, she was hard put to it to keep shivering openly. The man was at once attractive and repulsive.

When the blankets had been properly checked in and received for, Deteroux and Angus Mackay left again, but Ellen stayed at the trading room, once more immersed in the study of her father's predicament, and trying to plan a course of action that might avert the threatened calamity of the following spring.

Here, an hour later, Bernard Deteroux came to her alone. "You will pardon me, mam'selle," he began swiftly. "But I have a great affection for your father, and it would be well perhaps, if you and I should talk of a certain injustice which the future portends."

Ellen knew immediately what Deteroux meant. Someway, doubtless through the channels of gossip, or because Angus Mackay had confined in him, this gigantic riverman knew of the threat which hung over the old factor. Though she would not acknowledge it, Ellen realized that the task of rehabilitation she set herself loomed as well nigh impossible. Therefore she seized upon Deteroux's suggestion with unconscious eagerness.

LAST RITES FOR D. D. MULLENIX AT 3 P. M. FRIDAY

Decker D. Mullenix, aged about 30 years, passed away at his home near Valley View community Thursday morning, February 25, at 10:20 o'clock, following an attack of pneumonia, from which he had only been ill four days.

Funeral services, in charge of Rev. Willis J. Ray, pastor of the First Baptist church, Littlefield, were conducted at the Whitharral Baptist church Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and interment, in charge of a Levelland Funeral Home, took place in the Whitharral Cemetery.

Deceased was survived by his wife, Mrs. Bertha Sevoy Mullenix, and six year old son, Raymond; his mother, Mrs. Mary Bigham of Portales, N. M., and a brother, F. H. Mullenix of Idabelle, Oklahoma.

Mr. Mullenix was born in Texarkana, Ark., March 14, 1907, and married Miss Bertha Sevoy Gilley Sept. 18, 1929, at Littlefield. His father, Dr. C. S. Mullenix died in October, 1920.

He was converted and joined the Baptist church at Olton in 1926. Pallbearers were: Ben and Jim Waters, B. Webster, Scottie Webster, R. R. Dyer, and G. E. Lyle.

Littlefield Hotel—

(Continued From Page One) or drained its used water out onto the shrubbery in the back yard, and it is said that the growth of said shrubbery was dwarfed at times; when certain guests had used the tub. Clear, cold, sparkling water from the well in the back yard, raised from its lower depths by the faithful windmill made to whirl by the ever present God-given gentle zephyrs, was piped into said sink and bath tub. The only "lavatory" was located on the rear of the lot, and it was not "steam heated" in winter nor cooled by a fan in summer. Wash pans, bowls and pitchers were used in bed rooms. A roller towel that had gone 2000 miles without a puncture was ever present in the general "wash room." The hotel is now "plumbed" throughout with running water, hot and cold, and modern lavatories. Mrs. Willard Gray Street, the first Littlefield bride, laughingly reminded me that I must be color blind, for her traveling honeymoon attire was of a tan hue and not dark gray. I yield to the correction, for I had really forgotten the exact color of the costume, but I knew that she was beautifully and becomingly robed in some kind of an ensemble.

A terrible error was made in the article when it stated that "the contractor was the late Abe M. Hensley of Lubbock." Mr. Hensley declines to be dubbed "LATE" when he is very much alive and still active in his life-work of building. Several of the early-day homes and business houses of Littlefield stand as a lasting tribute to his skill and workmanship, for the winds and sand storms of many years not even twisted them out of plumb. I trust that Mr. Hensley, who is recognized as one of the very best contractors on the South Plains, will continue to live and enjoy his art of service for many years yet to come.

The last night and day of the life of the hotel has arrived. The proprietor, Mrs. Henry Woodley, reigns supreme. The guest are few, but happy to the last. Those spending the last night under its sheltering roof, were: Mrs. Woodley, Misses Mae and Vera Murfee of Lubbock, Mr. N. R. Harris of Abilene, and the writer. Refreshments were served at a late hour Sunday night to the group as a farewell to her guests. Breakfast was served Monday morning, March 1st, 1937, by the jolly Paul Vause in person, as we called him "The Last of the Mohicans," to the house guests and to Mrs. Vernie V. Wright and Mr. Bob Harold of Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber company. We told Paul to bring out everything he had as this was one time he could not use it in hash for dinner. Mrs. Woodley decorated the table with one single red rose, it being the last Rose of the Littlefield hotel and not of summer. A gay time was enjoyed by the group even if there were a tinge of sadness in our jollity. Some wit remarked that "this is the last breakfast and NOT the last supper."

Miss Vera Murfee was Littlefield's first music teacher, and it was fitting that she and her sister, Miss Mae, should spend the last night in the hotel, they having motored here for that very purpose. Both are well known and very popular throughout the Plains region, and while they did not actually help "dig the Yellow House Canyon," they assisted those who did wield the spades by carrying them cold drinking water from the springs and always encouraging them with a happy smile and word of cheer.

But to Mrs. Vernie V. Wright and the writer go the laurels for having spent the first night in the hotel when it was opened in March, 1913, eating the first meal in the pretty dining room, and finally eating the last breakfast in the same room. History repeats itself, and in this instance, it is a source of pride and distinction to both that we have had this privilege. Mrs. Wright, also has the distinction of being the oldest resident, in point of years of continued residence, of Littlefield. She, as Mrs. Vernie V. White, and son Maurice who grew to manhood and later married the popular and accomplished Miss Vivian Courtney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Courtney, arrived in Littlefield March 5th, 1913. This has been her home continuously since. She is the mother of Tilden Wright, West Point Cadet of whom all Littlefield is proud. She has been connected with the land offices in Littlefield for this entire period of residence except for a few years after her marriage to T. P. Wright; first with the Littlefield Interests and later and at present with the Yellow House Land Co. During all this time she has been active in church circles and club affairs, always greeting strangers and friends alike with a happy smile.

Goodbye, Littlefield hotel — welcome Hospital-Clinic!
