Negro Arrested; Has Many Guns in His Possession

A negro, about 50 years of age, was taken into custody Sunday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Walraven, and placed in the city jail. When arrested the negro was in a shack on a farm west of Littlefield and was reported to be keeping a negress in the building against her will. It was stated that he was threatening to kill the negress.

The deputy sheriff, in arresting the negro, pushed open a door of the building, and covered him with his gun.

The negro, according to police had three pistols and a pump shotgun in his possession, all fully loaded.

Deputy Sheriff Walraven said that he told him that he "went up for 17 years for murder."

Court action will be taken against the negro the deputy sheriff announced.

DEMOCRATS WIN IN ALL PARTS OF NATION TUESDAY

Proposed Amendments To State Constitution Are Defeated

Texas joined with the rest of the Nation Tuesday in giving to Franklin D. Roosevelt and his party a victory unprecedented in the history of "off-year" elections.

Democratic candidates toppled GOP senators, representatives and governors giving the Democrats the greatest power in history.

Attorney-General James V. Allred was swept into office as were the other Democratic candidates for state and county offices.

Eleven Lamb county precincts, with four boxes to be reported — Spade, Amherst, Bainer and Pep, — gave Allred 760 votes. Eighteen votes were reported for D. E. Waggoner, the Republican candidate for governor.

All the proposed amendments to the state constitution were defeated throughout the state.

The only amendment favored by the voters of Lamb County was that subjecting lands of the University of Texas to taxation for county and school district purposes.

The II boxes reported gave a total of 324 votes for the amendment and 284 against. The Littlefield box voted 148 for the amendment and 63 against.

Lamb County voters turned down all the other amendments by substantial majorities.

The average span of life is now four years greater than it was 50 years ago.

We Do Our Part

CHEAPER THAN JAIL

Dr. Charles H. Judd, long prominent in American educational circles, speaking to the Cleveland Rotary club and Rotarian schoolmasters in the city for a professional meeting, made a point which is appropriate to pass on, especially at this time when many are planning for observance of American Education Week, November 5-11. It is: "that the schools and business and municipal life are in partnership."

The truth of the assertion has the widest conceivable ramifications, but it has a direct bearing on the effort in all lands to reduce juvenile criminality. One need not resort to sentiment to make a case for schools when the fact is cited that it cost the United States only $90 of the taxpayers' money to keep a boy in school but $300 to keep a man in jail for a year.

Not all boys and girls who attend school turn out to be good citizens, but it can be said that few turn out delinquent because they went to school. And a practical problem every community faces, if it fails to support its schools or to encourage its children to attend, is what to do with the idle boys and girls. It is unsocial, if not illegal, to throw them into competition with adults for jobs and, on the other hand, sheer idleness promises no good for anyone.—The Rotarian Magazine.

THIS ADVENTUROUS ERA

The other day a new kind of railroad train ran from Los Angeles to New York in 57 hours. About the same time a couple of aviators flew from England to Australia in 71 hours. A day or two before that, a young Italian flew his plane at 440 miles an hour.

Half a dozen or more persons have lately made ascensions into the stratosphere, ten miles and more above the earth's surface, where air is practically non-existent. Not long ago a naturalist was lowered half a mile into the depths of the sea and came back with the amazing accounts of the strange life of the ocean depths.

Just the other day came the report of a new, though still costly, method of extracting gold from sea water. It is only a few months since gold-hunters, flying over New Guinea, discovered a race of people whose existence had been totally undreamed of.

With so many marvels popping up in the news almost every day, it seems to us that the young people of this generation are living in the most romantic and adventurous period of all history. Somewhere there is living today a boy or a young man who will be the first to fly around the world between noon and noon. Some youth as yet unknown to fame will discover still undreamed-of means of adding to the world's wealth. Working in laboratories somewhere there are, beyond doubt, young experimenters who will find the means to rid mankind of the last of its pests and scourges, to add to the length of human life and the sum of human happiness.

Our earth is still very young, and our human race still younger. Greater opportunities than ever before confront the coming generations in mankind's task of conquering nature and reshaping our environment to our needs. This present is the most glorious and adventurous era since the world began.

F. G. Sadler this week began the construction of a business brick on Main Street just south of the First National Bank. J. H. Wells of this City is the contractor.

H. Barber, a prominent farmer of south of town and Miss Audrey Lumm, accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Lumm were united in marriage Sunday morning at eleven o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Jeffries.

Rev. W. B. Phipps officiated with a beautiful and impressive ring ceremony.

Arthur P. Duggan, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce left Thursday night for Houston, where he will attend the dedication of the new freight steamer, "Miss West Texas" Saturday, November 6. Mr. Duggan will make the principal address on that occasion.

With the past three weeks of clear weather, with the exception of a few days that pickers could not be in the fields, the cotton in this vicinity has been coming into the gins rapidly however, there is a large acreage that has not yet been touched on account of shortage of help.

As this paper goes to press a total of 2,221 bales of cotton has been ginned here, according to local ginners.

The first frost of the year fell over this section Wednesday morning.

The H. W. Heinen Building, 40x90 located in the northeast part of town is practically completed. This structure is of brick and one of the most substantial buildings in Littlefield.

The approximate cost of the building is $9,000.

Reading Time—4 Minutes

Harry Carstairs paused for a moment in front of the white door to his apartment. He took in the neatly lettered "14A" beneath which the typed card "Mr. and Mrs. H. Carstairs" was slightly faded. He remembered distinctly having typed that card and tacked it up on the door in its neat bronze frame ten years ago.

Ten years—a long time! He and Madeline had both been thirty when he had typed that sign. Still young and just starting life in New York. Now he was forty, and still young while Madeline was forty, and old. Curious how differently age treats man and woman. Well, that was all over now.

When his passport had arrived from Washington yesterday, in its neat red cover it symbolized more than a passport to visit those foreign countries he had so often planned to see. It was a passport to a new life. With six months of travel in Europe to relax—to shake off that nervous, constant attention to business whose very intensity combined with his ability had netted him a fortune, he would be a new man.

He would make new friends, abandon middle age mediocrity. Perhaps after a decent interval following Madeline's divorce, he would even see the world through the eyes of a younger wife.

He thought then of Madeline. Madeline had helped of course, helped a lot. He regretted momentarily that he had not seen more of her, but business of course had come first. Well, he wouldn't let her down. He would provide for her generously. She had seen so little of him that she wouldn't miss him much at that.

He sensed that when he had broached the subject of divorce yesterday and had told her of his trip, she had taken it calmly as she did everything.

He wished now that he had packed up and moved to a hotel the night before instead of returning for his things this morning. He was finished washed up, and he hated emotional scenes, incidental to a final parting. Perhaps, he thought hopefully, Madeline would be out. She did not expect him to return until late in the afternoon. He would leave a brief note of farewell. That would be best for both.

He rang the bell. After a brief pause the door was opened by a young man in shirt sleeves. He was a blond young man, a good looking young man and he seemed quite ill at ease.

Carstairs paused in indecision as a sudden suspicion shot through his mind. This young man . . . and Madeline . . . her calmness yesterday which seemed all too obvious now.

The young man spoke. He was clearly unable to cope with the situation.

"Mr. Carstairs? We weren't expecting you so soon. You see there

Centennial Expense To Be Raised by Nominal Taxes

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 8. — There are three outstanding facts as connected with the present application of the Centennial Commission to the legislature of Texas for adequate financing for the Celebrations of 1936. They are:

1. The revenues necessary to finance the state's share of the Centennial are to be raised by very nominal taxes on luxuries and semi-luxuries and on those businesses which would be likely to reap an immediate and benefit from the celebration. A suggestion is made, or contemplated, for any general increase in such as might be a hindrance to financing other activities of the government.

2. Approximately a fourth of all the taxes raised in the manner proposed would go to the public free school system, thus aiding materially in the reduction of the existing heavy debt without burdening the taxpayer. Business in general with additional levies.

3. The taxes are to be purely temporary in character and if in two years they should yield more than is appropriated for the Centennial celebrations the rates shall be lowered proportionately. The further suggestion is that the special tax bill shall automatically repealed when it has sufficient revenues to take care of the actual amount appropriated by the legislature.

When the full plans of the Commission were announced in Austin recently two things happened. The outstanding fact was that it was shown that there was no purpose to embarrass the general revenue fund or in any way increase any state deficit. The plan is largely self-liquidating and whatever of the temporary tax there is will be borne by the chief beneficiaries.

The schedule of taxes as proposed by the Centennial Commission and now before the legislature follows:

- One per cent gross tax on the sale of electricity.
- One per cent gross tax on the sale of natural gas.
- One per cent gross tax on intrastate telephone receipts.
- One per cent intrastate tax on gross telegraph receipts.
- One per cent gross tax on intrastate business of express companies.
- One and a half cents per gallon tax on cereal beverages—near beer.
- Five cents per gallon on grape juice.
- Two cents per gallon on other fruit juices and flavors.
- Two cents per gallon on still drinks.
- Two cents per gallon on mineral water, White Hock, etc.
- Two and a half cents per gallon on finished syrup, Coca-Cola, Dr. Pepper, etc.
- One fourth of a cent per barrel on crude oil.
- Fifty cents per barrel on beer.
- Five per cent of wagers on pari-mutuels at horse races.

A tax calculated to net a half million dollars on admissions to athletic events, theaters, horse races, etc.

In round numbers the income from these sources will be approximately four and a half million dollars annually, thus providing in two years a total of $8,500,000 for the major and secondary celebrations of the Texas Centennial.

FARM CREDIT ADMINISTRATION LOANS LARGE AMOUNT TO FARMERS

Development of a complete, well rounded credit service that has advanced more than $126,000,000 to the farmers of Texas in the short space of 12 months is the record established by the Farm Credit Administration of Houston, which was created October 31, 1933, just one year ago. According to A. C. Williams general agent of the Farm Credit Administration of Houston, more than $100,000,000 has been advanced to farmers in the form of Land Bank and Land Bank Commissioner's loans in that time, while crop and livestock production loans and commitments to farmers' co-operative associations will add $5,400,000 to the total.

By discounting the notes of farmers and stockmen through agencies other than production credit associations, the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston has extended $21,000,000 in credit to Texas agriculture, bringing the total amount of new credit by the Farm Credit Administration of Houston during the year to $126,400,000.

As of the close of business October 31st, The Federal Land Bank had outstanding loans totaling $213,400,000 and loans by the Land Bank Commissioner to Texas farmers and ranchmen aggregated $43,950,000; a total of 92,662 loans aggregating $257,350,000. The Federal Intermediate Credit Bank had loans and discounts totaling $23,718,000, and the Production Credit Corporation had invested $7,935,000 in Class A stock in production credit associations on that date. The Houston Bank for Cooperatives had, as of October 31, loans and commitments totaling $519,479.77 outstanding.

As pointed out by Mr. Williams, both the Federal Land Bank and the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank were in existence long before the creation of the Farm Credit Administration, but with the organization of the two new units, the Production Credit Corporation of Houston and the Houston Bank for Cooperatives, the field of service to agriculture was considerably broadened.

but will serve entirely as an information center on sources of supplies, needs of deficit areas, prices, and market conditions.

"Growers, shippers and dealers who have grain, hay or forage for sale should give the following information when communicating with the Kansas City office; the quantity in bushels, tons or carloads; kind or class and probably Federal grade of the grain or hay; the shipping point and the means of transportation by which shipment can be made; the time at or within which the grain or hay can be shipped; terms of payment, whether sight draft or arrival draft, and current price f. o. b. shipping point," Mr. Miller said.

"In reporting feed requirements the quantity should be stated in bushels or carloads; also the quality or grade desired; when shipment is wanted; place or unloading station to which feed is to be shipped; means of transportation desired; name of persons who will receive and pay for shipment and the manner in which payment will be made. Those who need feed should also indicate the kind of livestock to be fed and state what other kinds or classes of grain hay or feed could be used in case the first choice of these commodities is not available," Mr. Miller concluded.

Cats to Meet Levelland Loboes Here Monday

Coach Steven's powerful Levelland Loboes will battle the Cats here Monday to decide who will play Ralls for bi-district championship.

The Loboes hard hitting line has been the nightmare of the Wildcat dreams and the Ogre of their waking hours. Coach "Brack" and line coach Hobbs have been working hard priming the cats to upset the dope bucket by bucking the Loboes line and clawing right into the wolf den.

Monday's game scheduled for three P. M. will come as a climax to the events celebrating Armistice Day.

Should Littlefield win the game they will be eligible to go into semifinals with Ralls for bi-district title. It will be remembered that the Cats held Ralls to a 6-6 tie in a game played here October 12.

If the Cats lose they will bid titles adieu for the season and forfeit every right for further conference competition this year.

The line-up for the local team will be:

Pierce E. Dorman Moore, E. Rowe T. Blevins T. Lakey T. Melton T. Chisholm T. Brantley G. Foust G. Kendrick C. Smith L. C. Duffey Q. B. Smith R. Q. B. Hall H. B. Yantis H. B. McKnight E. H. B. Bradley H. B. McKnight R. F. B. James F. B.

The lineup for Levelland is as follows:

Green C. Goodpasture C. Cannon C. Fietz R. G. L. Alvey R. G. H. Goodpasture R. G. Ford L. G. Bolton L. G. Cox L. G. M. Alvey L. T. Ryan L. T. Kempson, R. T., Steele R. T., Berry L. E., McCann (Capt.) Olton to Play Last Home Game With Amherst Friday

(Special to Leader)

OLTON, Texas, Nov. 7. — After suffering from a 12-6 defeat at the hands of Littlefield's strong team, Olton is preparing for Amherst.

Olton will still be without the services of two regular tackles. Elmo Bryant, senior tackle entered the Littlefield game last week but had his collar bone dislocated again and had to withdraw.

Comparative scores show the teams evenly matched. Both teams lost to Littlefield by a margin of six points.

This will be the last home game for the locals and will be the last home game for seven of regulars who are seniors.

Star players for the Bulldogs are reported to be Martin Parmer, who plays H. B. and Joe Jennings, Center.

WILDCATS SMEAR MUSTANGS 12-6 AT OLTON FRIDAY

Coach Barksdale's rats mounted another rim of the conference ladder Friday afternoon by defeating the Olton Mustangs at Olton by a score of 12 to 6.

The Ponies took an early lead when Richards, 135-pound halfback, held on to a nice 25-yard pass and raced 37 yards for the first touchdown and the first play of the game. A pass failed for extra point.

Determined for revenge, the locals took the next kickoff and hammered the poney line for a first down on three plays, placing the ball on their own 39-yard line. On the next play Duffey, Wildcat quarterback, took the ball, spun through tackle, broke into the open and raced 61 yards for a touchdown and to even the score. A pass for the extra point failed.

Littlefield started their drive for their second touchdown from their own 45-yard line. McKnight passed to Pierce who was downed on Olton's 40-yard line. McKnight made 12 yards on an end run and a pass from McKnight to Norman was good for the remaining 18 yards to the goal line. Brantley's kick for extra point was a bit wide.

Outstanding for Littlefield's team was Dorman and McKnight's all-around playing. Duffey's broken field running, Rowe, L. Smith and Hollis seemed to stand out on the defense.

Starting line-up:

Littlefield	Pos.	Olton
Dorman	RE	Clark
Rowe	RT	Bryant
Foust	RG	Thurman
L. Smith	C	Miller
Brantley	LG	C. George

eligibility two of Morton's star linemen were out of the game.

Spade boys' would have made the game much closer if Fowler, star forward, for Spade had not disqualified an four personal fouls.

Anton took a six points lead in the first two minutes of play. Stephenson, center for Anton, made two baskets from the field and battled the other in from the free throw line to give Anton the six points advantage.

Taylor, tall forward for Anton, put the scoring punch in the Anton offense by scoring a total of twenty points in the game. Clark Matthews, and Hedges turned in good floor work for Anton, the home team.

Matthews and Ellers officiated the two games. They called a total of sixty-five fouls in the two ball games. Anton lost five plays by the personal foul route and Spade lost three.

The retail lumber yards of Littlefield are among the sponsors of the "Friendly Builders Hour" radio program now being heard from 6:15 to 6:45 o'clock every Tuesday evening over the NBC stations of Texas and Oklahoma. The music is furnished by the 18-piece Friendly Builders orchestra and the famous Bel Canto quartette. A sparkling variety of homely philology, wit, wisdom, and humor is injected into the program by Earle Racey, Dallas advertising man, who built the program and supervises its production.

Henry Ford Says Improved Business Ahead for 1935

DEARBORN, Mich., Nov. 7. — The Ford Motor Company is out of the depression.

"Today it set its production schedule for 1935 at 1,000,000 cars or better," said Henry Ford. "Our experience during the last six months and what we see in the future tells us a year of improved business is ahead."

"Do you think 1935 will end the depression?" he was asked.

"Why, the depression would be over for the whole country very soon if American industrialists would just forget these alphabet schemes and take hold of their industries and run them with good, sound American business sense. They should take hold of their country, too, in the same way and run it with good, sound American common sense."

Dr. W. S. Webb To Attend World Famous Eye Clinic

Dr. W. S. Webb, eye, ear, nose and throat specialist of Fort Worth, formerly of Littlefield and who has many friends in this section, left recently for the Orient, to attend two world famous cataract operative clinics of India.

An account of Dr. Webb's trip, taken from the Fort Worth Telegram of Nov. 1 reads as follows:

In far away India adults are afflicted at the prime of life with an eye trouble which in America is often a sign of old age—and nobody knows why.

From Afghanistan, Persia, Arabia and other countries natives gather each Spring at Moga-Tasil, Punjab India, to have cataracts removed by eye surgeons who come from all over the world—by invitation only — to the Mathra Das Hospital for a 30-day clinic.

With an invitation to perform eye operations at the clinic, Dr. William S. Webb, Fort Worth, has in store for him a trip to the Orient that sounds like travel literature for a steamship company.

He will leave Saturday for San Francisco, where he will board a steamer for Shikarpur, Sind, India, on the Baluchistan frontier, where he will specialize in cataract surgery in association with Dr. Henry T. Holland of Quetta, Baluchistan, who operates each January and February at the Seth Hilarand Hospital.

After six weeks there Dr. Webb will go to Punjab, where he will work with Dr. Mathra Das, famous Indian eye surgeon, who is reputed to have removed more cataracts than any other man in the world.

The Fort Worth man is one of the few American eye surgeons and the only one from the Southwest to be honored with an invitation to operate in these world famous eye clinics. One other American, from the East will go this year.

Tax Certificates Pool To Be Closed November Tenth

November 10 has been tentatively selected as a final date for receiving surplus tax exemption certificates for the national pool, according to an announcement received from the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. Purchase of certificates from the pool, it was emphasized, would continue as long as the pool had certificates on hand.

E. L. Deal, manager of the pool, said it was felt that all holders of surplus certificates who wish to turn them into the pool will have had that opportunity by November 10. State allotment boards have been urged to assist producers who wish to turn in surplus certificates to the pool.

"Because we have tentatively selected a final date for receiving surplus certificates," Mr. Deal said, "it is now more urgent than ever that producers speed up the surrender of any certificates they wish to offer for sale through the pool."

The pool now has on hand orders them with good, sound American business sense. They should take hold of their country, too, in the same way and run it with good, sound American common sense."

for many more certificates than it is able to fill, Mr. Deal said. On all of these orders the purchasers expect to pay four cents a pound which is the rate fixed by Secretary Wallace as the standard selling price for surplus certificates purchased through the national pool.

Producers will be paid approximately $20 a bale for all certificates sold through the pool. When the pool is liquidated, each producer will be returned his share of any certificates the pool does not sell. These may be used next year if the Bankhead Act is effective for 1935.

Much Activity Is Evident at Lehman

MORTON, Texas, Nov. 7. — The town of Lehman is being put back on the map in the last few days. A fair sized rooming house is under construction and a store house of good proportions has been moved there from Biedson.

Agent L. E. Drumheller of the Santa Fe Railway reports quite a bit of activity in the sale of town property.

Of course all this development is prompted by the fact that several locations have been stocked for oil prospects. We are informed that drilling operations are booked to start within the next few days on the location where the new rig now stands.

Slot Machine Taken From Anton Drug Store

When the proprietor of the Anton Drug Store was engaged in a friendly chat in the front of the store Tuesday night of last week a robber walked deliberately to the rear of the premises, picked up a slot machine, carried it out and loaded it in a car and drove off.

Jack Anders a local officer was called, but was unable to trace the robber.

Mothers Have Found Way To Keep Family's Colds Under Better Control

Millions of mothers are helping their families to greater freedom from colds—fewer colds, shorter colds, milder colds—by following Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. The helpfulness of Vicks Plan in reducing the number, duration and dangers of colds has been proved in thousands of clinical tests supervised by practicing physicians—as well as in every day use in millions of homes. The Plan provides proper care—and proper medication—for different types and stages of colds. To Help Avoid Many Colds—At the first sneeze or nasal irritation, apply the unique aid in preventing colds—Vicks Va-tro-nol. Just a few drops up each nostril. Timely use of Va-tro-nol helps to prevent many colds—and to throw off colds in their early stages. (Va-tro-nol now comes in two generous sizes, 30c and 50c.) To End a Cold Sooner—If a cold has already developed, apply Vicks VapoRub on throat and chest. It fights a cold direct—two ways at once. The combined effect of VapoRub's double direct action—by stimulation and inhalation—loosens phlegm—soothes irritated membranes—eases difficult breathing—helps break congestion. Sure relief and with safety. No "dosing." Full details and proof of the effectiveness of Vicks Plan come in each Vicks package.

Writing from her home in Festus, Mo., Mrs. Anna LaPlante says: "I am a practical nurse and I recommend to some of my patients that they take Black-Draught, for it is such a good laxative. SYNOPSIS
 After a cream colored dress had been found wrecked in the foot of a cliff, a girl named Anne Cushing appears in town Marston. She has just unseem a ranch located away. Barry Duane, her neighbor and his man, Boone were a reliable woman for Barry's car, loaded down with them. They start across the Marston her pretence has suspicion. Barry and Anne are more than neighbors and Barry is best in the hills and Barry each realize that more than friendship exist between them.

that she will join Mrs. Duane in ten minutes.
 Anne whirled about to see Kennedy.
 "So we meet again! You're looking like a million, Nancy. I suppose you were the last time, but I didn't get much of a look before I passed out. Nice little party, wasn't it?"
 "It was ghastly! Jim, how can you talk like that?"
 "I could talk a lot, if I got started."

"You could talk yourself into prison she flashed angrily. "There's a penalty for blackmail."
 "It would never get that far, baby. He twisted a scornful under lip. "It would take too much explaining. There's that pleasant little scene at the beach bungalow and a sweet mix-up afterward — Oh yes, I've figured that out. And a nice ride for Jimmy — only it's just too bad that I came back."
 "Hush!" She looked around nervously. "Your own part was nothing to be proud of. What are you doing here? In Granleigh?"

"Any reason why I shouldn't be here?" He grinned at her mockingly. "You've done pretty well for yourself, after all. Picked a rich man and landed soft. Does he happen to know—"
 "Please, Jim!"
 "No, he doesn't know! How could I tell him? I left all of the old life behind me, on the night last May. I never meant to come East, either, but I had to risk it—or lose everything . . ."
 Her voice broke. Kennedy looked at her curiously.

"You're a queer kid, Nancy. What did you do it for? . . . Oh, you know what I mean. I knew there was something phoney about that accident. I went to a library and hunted up the papers—afterward. I believed you'd taken the jump, until I came here and saw you through a window one night."
 "Why did you come?" she cried.
 "If it's money you want, there's little enough that I can do. My husband isn't rich at all. Can't you have a little mercy and go away?"
 "You let me alone, Nancy, and I won't bother you. Get that?" Kennedy gave her a brief, tight smile. I'm after money, big money. And if you should get any notions about horning in on the game, don't overlook the fact that I hold some high cards."

"But Jim—"
 He bowed stiffly from the door, and strolled jauntily out of his car. Anne stood for a moment staring blankly at the empty doorway.

Back of her a curtain moved, and a pair of childlike blue eyes peeped out before it dropped again. A moment later she heard Cleo's voice

"I tried to see Gage this morning but he'd just hopped a plane for Washington."

"Oh . . . I didn't know he lived here."

"He doesn't, although he will some day, within a dozen miles. He's living at the Ritz now, just back from Europe. Probably buying up the inside of a few old manor houses to put in his new place, and another rope of pearls for his wife."

"He's married then?"

"Yes. Married a Follies girl." Barry's tone was slightly disparaging. "I'm not looking forward to that interview. I nearly told him to go to blazes the last time. But I'm going to keep at him. I ought to take you with me and see if you can hypnotize the old pachyderm."

Anne said, "Oh!" in a rather small voice. "Then it's this Mr. Gage that you're trying to interest in the Junipers?"

"That's the idea."

"But Barry"—she was desperately in earnest—"why do you have to deal with him at all? There must be plenty of other men. Why the only reason that he owns the Duane Mills is because the first plan failed! He'd be prejudiced from the start!"

"You can bet he's prejudiced," said Barry grimly, "and that is just the reason I've got to win him over. Gage is more than just money in this scheme. He's the man who owns the other side of the spur that I must tunnel through. It's part of what he took over in payment of my uncle's debts. I don't know why."

He was silent for a moment.

"He has held out now for four years. Says it's damn nonsense. So you see unless I can persuade him to sell pretty soon, I'd better give up my large schemes."

She laughed shakily. "Oh well, there's time yet. Hurry into your flannels, and we'll be off."

"Right! I'll be ready in ten minutes."

Anne huddled down in a chair, her hands clenching into tight little fists. John Gage again. Everywhere she turned, she must either face him or run away.

"He's building here!" she thought. "That's why Jim is here! I must see him again—somehow."

She jumped up from her chair, listened to the sounds from the next room, and went lightly over to her desk . . . Her pen raced. When Barry came back, a few moments later, the envelope addressed to Jim Kennedy was safely hidden in her bag.

"I suppose this is very silly?" Cleo raised appealing eyes toward the large impressive man. "I wouldn't want anything to come of it to hurt the man's reputation, but he came to us without any references. I just wanted to be sure that he didn't have a criminal record. I was sure you could find that out for me without any publicity."

"If he has one, we'll find it. What name does he give?"

"James Kennedy. And I have a snapshot of him. I took it when he wasn't looking."

The man at the desk looked at the small picture with interest.

"Yes, that's Jim Kennedy," he said briefly.

"Oh! You know him?"

"I've seen him. He may be going straight enough, but he's no chauffeur. He's a gambler. He had a gambling house and speakeasy up in the Forties at one time, and it was raided once too often. Dropped out of sight for a while, but he was mixed up in some shooting business last spring and had a close call."

"No, he isn't a gunman. Not his type. Oh, Williard!" This to the young man who had entered. "Find out when the Kennedy shooting happened. And anything else we may have."

In less than five minutes the young man called Williard was back.

"All right Williard. M'm. Kennedy was shot on the night of May second last. He was found lying beside a road in the outskirts of Ventura California. Police inclined to credit it to a bootlegger's war. He pulled through but refused to name his assailant. Discharged from hospital in three weeks."

That's all.

"There's no actual police record, outside of the raid on Forty-Ninth Street house. I'd advise you to let me send an operative down to watch him."

"I don't think I want to go as far as that."

A brief movement of his head said that it was her business. He arose and opened the door for her.

"Please send the bill direct to me in a plain envelope. I shouldn't want anyone to know I've been inquiring. Thank you."

The man went back to his desk with a dry grin on his face.

"So that's old Ambrose's daughter I'll bet she's a handful."

Cleo was already on her way to the public library.

"It probably wouldn't be in the New York papers," she reflected "but I'll look here first. "M'm May second—say the third."

A sheet crackled as she bent suddenly forward. On the page in front of her was a picture of Anne Duane.

"I knew it! I was sure I had seen her somewhere! Nancy Curtis, as she appeared in Gypsy Love." Her eyes flicked on the news account.

"John Gage! Now I wonder . . . She frowned and went back to reading.

"She wasn't drowned at all. She just disappeared . . . And her car went over the cliff the same night that Kennedy was shot, and she's afraid of him. Those two stories ought to connect somewhere . . . Maybe I'd better get the California papers."

Anne Duane had taken the man Cleo meant to marry, and there were no rules in the fight to get him back.

Cleo pinched her lip and took a brief census of Granleigh. Gwenda adored Anne . . . nothing doing there. The Atwoods had taken her up, and so had the Westbrookes and Chisholms. But Fan Whittemore six years older than her husband and looking it, hated every pretty girl that Ted looked at, and Ted never missed a chance to talk to Anne. Eddie Carver babbled everything she heard. There were plenty of other to catch a bright ball of rumor and toss it along.

Late that afternoon Cleo parked the blue roadster in front of the Fairfax home.

Gwenda was serving tea in the garden. Ann was lovely in a yellow frock. Ted Whittemore was dawdling near her chair. His wife sat a few feet apart, discontented, as usual. Barry was talking to Gwenda, some distance away. Anne looked up quickly.

Cleo waved carelessly to Gwenda and Barry and dropped into a chair near Anne.

"Hello everybody. That's an awfully clever frock, Nancy. Do you know you're the image of somebody I saw in a play once? I knew as soon as I saw you that you reminded me of someone and it's just come to me as I caught sight of you in that yellow dress. The star or leading lady was sick, and they rushed this girl in. You could double for her, Nancy."

She saw Anne's finger tips whiten against the arm of her chair. They slowly relaxed again. I suppose lots of people have doubles somewhere.

Fan's long eyes drifted from one to the other, faintly satirical. "You're not very lucid, Cleo. If the girl made such an impression on you I should think you'd have remembered more about her."

"Darling, I'm not a card index. I suppose the star got well or something. Maybe she got the Hollywood fever."

Anne strolled away with Gwenda, wondering whether she had really talked or just babbled insanely.

Fan looked at Cleo. "We seem to have been tactless. Do you suppose there's anything in it?"

"No of course not." Cleo shrugged back.

Fan looked disappointed. "But she's awfully secretive about herself, anyway. Who were her people?"

"I don't know. She's never mentioned them to me."

"Really—" The inflection spoke volumes. "I thought you were so intimate."

"Oh we are, but Nancy never talks about herself or her family, or any of her old friends. Maybe she was unhappy, and hates to talk about it."

Fan's lips curled. "She must have been to have run off to some wild desert ranch—"

The little hints that Cleo dropped spread like widening ripples in a quiet pool. Two days later a tiny wave splashed at Mrs. Schuyler Duane's feet, in the form of careless voices on the other side of the garden hedge.

"This is the Duane place, isn't it? That girl Barry Duane married is a peach. Who was she?"

"Oh don't ask me!" The high titter belonged to Eddie Carver. "Somebody said she was a Hollywood extra, but nobody seems to know."

Mrs. Duane stood there, rigid with indignation.

Mrs. Duane heard the car drive in, and Anne's voice saying that she had a horrible headache and was going up to her room.

That was Mrs. Duane's opportunity, but another car came. It was Cleo.

"I hope I'm not disturbing you, but I wanted to bring this book around. It's a lovely night for driving. It's Kennedy's night off, but I brought the roadster . . . Couldn't we have the lights out and sit here by the windows?"

- Definitely more miles per gallon of gasoline. These lighter grade oils flow freely and minimize friction.
- Utmost Motor Protection. Other oils drain away, leaving parts unprotected when you start. Only Conoco Germ Processed Oil penetrates and combines with metal surfaces, forming the "Hidden Quart that Never Drains Away." Every part is fully oiled from the first turn of the motor. It cuts down starting wear—saves repair bills!

Conoco dealers and stations have the new Winter Grades, namely, 10W and 20W—heavier grades, too—in refinery-sealed cans and in bulk. Consult the Conoco chart, fill with the proper grade—and stop worrying!

SCHOOL LEAGUE ORGANIZED AT MEETING HERE

Time Group Will Meet Set For March 29-30

At the call of the chairman, A. B. Sanders, the Lamb County teachers Association met in regular session Saturday, November 3rd at the Littlefield High School building. Something like one hundred teachers of the County met for the session.

New officers of the organization were elected at the session. Sup't. J. I. Warren was elected president and Miss Shipley of Amherst elected secretary.

After the election of officers the group listened to a very excellent program brought by Rev. J. W. Hendrix on "Levelling the Lump", Prof. Barnette, of Texas Tech., "Need for curriculum Revision" and Dr. Carter on "The English of the New Deal". These interesting addresses were indeed elevating and useful in showing the teacher his true place in the modern society.

After the program the body went into a meeting for the purpose of organizing the Lamb County Inter-scholastic League. Since it was time for the meeting to be held at Olton, H. P. Webb was elected Director General and Coach Moore of Olton elected Director of Athletics. Lillian Hopping was elected director of debate; H. G. Moore, Director of Declamation; A. L. Baker, Extemporaneous Speech; Hazel Reeves, Director of Ready Writers; Clifton Patterson, Director of Spelling; M. J. Weaver, Director of Arithmetic; Mrs. Addie Spikes, Director of Story Telling; Morgan Layfield, Director of Choral Singing; Ray Robbins, Director of Music Memory. It was also decided to have a first grade tiny tot story telling contest with one boy and one girl from each school as an exhibition event.

The time of meeting for the League was tentatively set for March 29 and 30, 1935. This gives one week spare in case of severe weather.

Preacher For Revival Here

There will be the regular services on Sunday morning and evening. There will be no Monday morning services, but there will be a service at 7:30 that night. one of the Windows of J. H. Ware Dry Goods is being decorated in observance of Armistice Day, and will contain many articles of interest used in the World War by veterans of this city.

Mrs. W. D. T. Storey is chairman of the Window Committee, and will be assisted by Mrs. Jack Johnson, Mrs. Warren Rutledge, Mrs. T. Wade Potter and Mrs. Arbie Joplin.

The Poppies which will be distributed, have been made by disabled World War veterans working under Auxiliary supervision at Legion Hospital, Legion, Texas.

The employment that the Auxiliary have been able to give these men has helped them provide food and fuel for their families during the period when they could not possibly have found other employment.

The poppies will be distributed on a voluntary contribution basis. Poppies will be given in return for contributions, the individual is able to make. None of the workers or local workers who will be easily identified by badges will receive compensation for their services.

All World War veterans of Littlefield are urged to pay honor to their fallen comrades by wearing a memorial poppy on poppy day, Saturday November 10, in a message issued today by Dr. J. R. Coen, Commander of the Richard New post of the American Legion. Commander Coen declared that the wearing of the poppy is the individual way to show remembrance for the war dead and devotion to the ideals for which they gave their lives. His message stated:

"On Saturday, Nov. 10, America will pay its annual tribute to the men who gave their lives in defense of the country in 1917 and 1918 by wearing the memorial poppy. I am sure that every World War Veteran and all other patriotic citizens of Littlefield will wear this token of remembrance on that day. Wearing the poppy means that we have not forgotten our comrades who fell amid the poppies of France and that we are carrying on for America in their spirit.
