When The Times published, last week, a story about grandchildren and youthful grandparents, apparently it started something of a contest hereabouts as to who is the youngest grandmother. In the Whitener-Rhine story above referred to, Mrs. Rhine, 37, carried the honors for youngest grandmother.

Comes now a candidate from Twitty for that distinction. Mrs. Thomas Todd, 35, became a grandmother some two months ago, when Billy Leon Clay, was born to Mrs. Bryce Clay, 19 years old, and a daughter of Mrs. Todd.

The books are still open awaiting entries for credit as the youngest grandmother-or grandfather. Speak up, gentlemen, don't let the ladies grab all the grapes.

Cattle Prices

Prices which owners may expect are of first consideration and will be defend him. C. J. Meek will take the treated accordingly. Cattle are grouped in three general classes with subdivisions. The classes, together with Calves-$4.00 to $8.00.

> The lower prices will prevail on condemned stock, which will be destroyed. Condemned animals consist primarily of diseased individuals and hose in too poor condition for shipment to packing plants, and suckling calves. The inspector pointed out that calves must be at least eight weeks old to be fit for use as food. Such calves over eight weeks old as are unable to stand holdover at shipping points or the haul to market will be destroyed.

Disposition of Carcasses

All cattle will be destroyed in a humane manner, preferably by shooting. Disposition of carcasses falls upon the owner and they must be burned, buried or otherwise disposed, of in a manner approved by county health authorities. The owner may take the hides from destroyed animals the interest of temperance, sponsored as his compensation for disposing of

> No part of the condemned carcasses may be used for human food. Otherwise they would be suitable to go to the packers. Carcasses of animals not diseased may be fed to hogs.

> Official Signup Necessary The primary listing of cattle, which has been in progress through local channels, serves only to express a desire on the part of owners to dispose of livestock. Under this listing no cattle can be inspected or purchased, declared the inspector, who stated that the work would be discontinued at the First National bank and the county agent's office. This matter will be taken care of at the same time as contracts are signed at the county agent's office.

> Before Dr. Koberg and the appraiser (whose name is not now available) can inspect cattle, the owner must have signed, at the county agent's office, a contract under the emergency cattle agreement. Any and all liens on cattle must be waived by the lienholder. Signing the contract, however, places the owner under no obligation to sell. Inspection and appraisal of all cattle contracted will be made and the price the government can pay will be given. Then the owner may accept or reject the offer, as he sees fit.

> Cattle must be separated into the respective classes and confined in and appraisal. The officials expect to work in community areas. Efforts will be made to inform stockmen when to expect a visit from the men and have their cattle ready. In the event of death of animals in transit during delivery by the owner, he is required to remove the section of hide covered by the paint brand and submit the same ir evidence, whereupon the appraisal price will be paid.

To Start Soon

Dollar Day Feature Saturday, August 18

Wheeler Merchants Offer Specials for the Day-Seasonable Items Listed

Next Saturday, August 18, is another dollar day event in Wheeler. at which time practically every merchant is offering attractive specials in seasonable merchandise to the trade. Reference to the following pages of this newspaper will reveal many bargains listed in advertisements from a good range of dealers.

Through this plan, Wheeler business men hope to attain a three-fold objective: To better serve their customers; to hold the splendid trade that rightfully belongs in Wheeler, and to attract as many new customers as possible

As has been stated before in these olumns, Dollar Day or "trades day" events are sponsored by the Board of City Development. Likewise, it should be clearly understood that these feature days are financed and made possible by the merchants and business men of Wheeler who have faith in their enterprises and confidence in the buying public to take advantage of the special opportunition was circulated this week to asertain the sentiment of the mer chants. It met with satisfactory response and shows the true spirit of Wheeler business men. The declaration reads as follows:

"We, the undersigned merchants of Wheeler, Texas, are in favor of a 'eal "Dollar Day" for Wheeler once each month, in spite of prevailing adverse conditions. Furthermore, we agree to offer real bargains on "Doflar Days" which will be an inducement for customers to buy. And we further agree that we shall offer taple merchandise to the public and end every encouragement to promote a "Dollar Day" for Wheeler."

The declaration was liberally sign-

Upon the strength of the above pronouncement, The Wheeler Times Closes Saturday feels amply justified in extending a shopping center.

Next Saturday's Dollar Day will liffer slightly from the original plan, inasmuch as no cash awards will be made. Plans are now being worked out which will substitute liberal merhandise orders in place of the formr arrangements. This plan will be perated in conjunction with a ticket ystem, as yet incomplete.

It is believed the change will meet with hearty approval on the part of the public as soon as the details are worked out and made known.

Come to Wheeler, Saturday, August 18, and save on your purchases of absolute necessities.

TO HASTEN RECOVERY

It is inevitable that agriculture must some day return to normalcy, but the problem of hastening the time when the excessive burden upon the land will be lifted is still to be

Leaders are beginning to think along sane lines in their effort to lessen some of the grief that manmade errors have imposed upon agriculture in the past. Thought today is turning to the advocacy of wide markets for farm surpluses, as ad vanced more than a year ago by the grain committee on national affairs in a survey of the farm question.

This committee specified that any legislative plan to hasten agricultural recovery should be based upon these principles:

"Should not require curtailment of agricultural production to fit only domestic needs, but should through trade exchange open the world market for whatever surplus of food or other raw material we care to pro-

"Should not require the creation of any additional governmental machinery or the employment of a single new government employee.

"Should not add anything to federal government expenditures in administration."

It was also declared that the outstanding world problem today is interference with distribution; that rests the whole structure of international commerce; that there are cer tain channels through which commerce naturally flows and the laws of supply and demand are immutable

All recognized authorities also insist that the farmers' future markets should be kept broad and liquid, un hampered by needless restrictions.

THE "TAKE-A-CHANCE CLUB"

You won't find the address of the "Take-A-Chance Club" in any telephone book or city directory. It has thing about boxing or fighting? never been incorporated, and it has though they wouldn't admit it—and to heart: world exacts such high dues.

The ritual of the club runs some thing like this

"I will always take a will make a regular habit of passing other cars on hills and curves. I will always drive faster than road connot make regular inspections of my car's lights brakes and steering. I'll take it for granted that they are good enough. I will make no effort to learn the traffic laws of my state and community, and if I do happen to discover some of them accidentally, I will break them at every opportunity. I'll let the other driver watch out for me as well as himself, and I'll act as if the highways and streets were my private property.

The members of the "Take-A-Chance Club" follow this ritual to the letter, and the result is that each year some 30,000 people are needlessly killed in automobile accidents, and property is destroyed to the extent of $1,000,000,000.

THE TAX JOKER

The best ally the tax collector has public lethargy. In other words, he soaring tax rates in the United States are directly traceable to ignorance, indifference or a "Why hould I worry?" attitude.

In the long run, the public passes on every law that goes through our egislatures. Public officials, whether they know it or not, are simply the ervants of the people. They coninue in their jobs only through the people's favor. The ballot box is the mightiest of all weapons.

Today the cost of every branch f government is sky-rocketing. It as reached the point where we pay antil it hurts-it is approaching the oint where it may be impossible for s to pay at all. More than 25 per ent of the national income goes to out of each dollar is thus stopped from providing permanent jobs, from developing industry, from productive

The fact that a majority of the American people believe they are burden of government is borne by the minority which pays income and

But the government would go broke tomorrow if it had to depend for revenue on that minority. The great bulk of revenue is obtained indirectly-from taxes on the things we wear, the things we eat, the things we use. Go to a show, drink a glass of beer, take a ride in your car, buy some groceries, switch on a light—and you are paying taxes. Part of the cost of every product repreents the taxes the concern making t must pay.

Remember the tax joker can trump all your earnings.

ONE MORE ROUND

The man who fights one more round is never whipped. James J. lorbett, one-time heavy-weight boxing champion of the world, was asked: What is the greatest one

Corbett's reply was one which no club-house. But a good many every successful business man has thousand Americans belong to it- learned and which we all should take

When your feet are so tired that ou have to shuffle back to the cener of the ring, fight one more

"When your arms are so weary that you can hardly lift your hands to guard yourself, fight one more

"When your nose is bleeding and our eyes are black, and you are so tired that you wish your opponent would crack you one on the jaw and snowing and visibility is poor. I will put you to sleep-fight one more

> "Remember that the man who fights one more round is never whipped."

> Those of us who have not the ourage to fight—fight to a finish, ever win many battles, consequentwe do not deserve much of the spoil. But the man who, when he is lmost knocked out of the ring and lmost beaten by his opponent, "fights one more round" and continues to face his opponent until the attle is over will win.

> The business game is a battle and n order to survive one must fightnot a knock down and drag out game, but a friendly battle to keep one's self or business going and on a profitable basis. The boxer, if he a good sport, will take the hard knocks of his opponent and use his vits, as well as his strength, in order to win the battle. We call it competition. Competition is necessary in order to bring out the best that is n us. Without competition one beomes careless—he loses interest and soon ceases to fight and perhaps before he realizes it he is knocked out.

CO-OPERATIVES LEAD WAY

The thought is widely expressed that the most encouraging factor in he agricultural situation is the steady, sustained growth of the great farm co-operative organizations. As they enlist more members and, make their influence more widely felt, their battle for stable markets and better prices automatically approach-

s closer to victory. It might also be said that a lesserknown phase of co-operative activity encouragement. That is the work the co-ops do in educating their members and the general public as well. They seek to be agencies of economic sellers of commodities-and their influence in this direction, as in the other, is always widening.

Co-operative leaders have demontrated to the thinking public that fair and profitable prices for agricultural products are an essential of recovery generally-that bringing back the farm income to a normal evel would be a major step in bringing back the urban income. The American farmer constitutes the greatest single market for our factory products, and no one can profit if his buying power is dormant.

The co-operatives, m brief, are howing the nation that all our citizens-rural and urban dwellershave the same interests and the same problems, and that better times for one means better times for all.

NO COW CHIPS FOR FUEL

A long time ago here on the broad Plains of Texas when the north wind would puff and blow and the temperpublic treasuries. Twenty-five cents early settler could go out on the prairies and pick up cow chips and build fires to keep from freezing while they were establishing the first settlements here-and even many times since then cow chips have been used as fuel in cases of tights-but tax-free, is the great tax joker. They there are no more cow chips because pay little or nothing in the way of the cows are all being shipped out to direct taxes. They think that the be ground into fertilizer to enrich the ground to produce still more when all our trouble has been caused by over production, the experts say. What few cows are left have no grass or other foilage to produce the old-time cow chip formerly used as

Now that farmers have made nothing to sell with which to buy fuel, a few cow chips would come in handy this winter when the icy-north winds begin to stretch themselves acros these broad plains, but where are the cow chips? The accommodations afforded by the gas company here in the city will be no accommodation to laboring people who have no money with which to pay utility bills. The brains of the city and county had better be working together in an effort to find a solution to these grave problems, as it looks ike we are facing them.

Driving around over our paved treets and highways and looking at o many flashing new cars one would think the country was running over with prosperity when it is thought that there will be near 4,000 people on charity in Hale county within a few weeks. Really this is a serious covet good things and fall in line with customs-nearly every dollar that comes into this country through the sale of farm products goes back out for new automobiles. These new cars are wonderful, but we are getting serious about the situation since the largest part of the country's money is spent that way and since there are no "cow chips" to keep the people from freezing this winter .ommunity Weekly.

JOHN PURYEAR, was co-author of the SOUR GAS BILL with Representatives H. K. Stanfield and B. L. Rogers of Ochiltree County, who have been re-nominated. LET US RE-NOMINATE JOHN PURYEAR; and send these Representatives back to Austin who have accomplished such meritorious legislation. Senator Small sponsored this bill also. This meritorious gas law has resulted in great relief measures. It has furnished employment to hundreds of heads of families who would doubtless been on the relief rolls. Approximately $2,000,000.00 has been invested in the erection of casinghead plants, located in Wheeler, Moore, Carson, Hutchinson and Gray Counties, has caused a great drilling campaign to be inaugurated in these various counties, furnished employment to hundreds of oil field workers, derrick builders, and pipe line layers, made a market for gas other than that owned by the Interstate Pipe Line Companies.

THE CONSTITUTIONALITY OF THIS LAW HAS RECENTLY BEEN UPHELD IN THE UNITED STATES COURT.

He favored the repeal of the POLL tax law.

THE STORY

CHAPTER I.—Seeking death by throwing herself from the summit of Lone Mesa, to escape dishonor, at the hands of a drunken desperado, Sonya Savarin allows herself to be rescued by her suddenly sobered and repentant attacker. The girl is a self-appointed physician to the Navajo Indiana living an an Arizona sheep appointed physician to the Navajo Indians, living on an Arizona sheep ranch with her brother Serge, his wife, Lila, and their small daughter, Babs. For a year she has been engaged to Rodney Blake, wealthy New Yorker, but her heart is with the friendless Navajos and she evades a wedding.

CHAPTER III.—In the desert village, shopping, Sonya again meets the man whose advances she had repulsed on Lone Mesa. He tells her he bitterly Lone Mesa. He tells her he bitterly regrets his action and has never had a minute's peace since that day. Sonya is affected, but unforgiving. She hears rumors of a Border bandit "El Capitan Diablo," who crucifies his "double-crossers" and has a dire reputation as a despoiler and murderer, vaguely connecting him with her attacker.

CHAPTER IV.—Sonya pays a visit to Little Moon and finds her well on her way to recovery. On her return she rides to the top of Lone Mesa. There she again comes upon the strange young man, but she no longer fears nim. When he reiterates his sorrow over his misconduct she indicates forgiveness and assures him a man can always change for the better.

CHAPTER V.—Befriending the wife of Hosteen Nez, a Navajo, she adds him to her circle of devoted friends. At a neighborhood dance she meets the mysterious stranger of the Mesa and demands that he tell her his name. Finally he confides to her that his right name is Starr Stone, that his mother believes him dead, and that he goes by a different name in this region. He departs with a tall, fierce Mexican, with whom he is mysteriously associated.

renunciation of love and all it meant. The answer to Starr Stone himself.

And that answer was-El Capitan Diablo. El Capitan Diablo who terrorized the north of Mexico, who raided mines, who levied taxes on the poor, and who-crucified his doublecrossers!

To know too much of El Capitan Diablo and ever leave his service was to die-and one's friend also who might share that knowledge. One's friend's friends, maybe, his relatives. With dilated eyes the girl looked round the table, at Serge, at Lila, at little Babs. Lila's face was pale, but Serge was talking eagerly.

"By George!" he was saying, his fist on the table, "there have been strangers here-and I'd stake my last dollar. Sonya, you remember that chap you danced with at the Neidlingers' and the funny thing that happened?" Sonya did not speak, and Serge went on excitedly.

"There was a dance at a neighboring ranch, and my sister was dancing with a stranger when the biggest Mexican I ever saw appeared and dropped . hand on the stranger's shoulder. The man followed him out. I'd forgotten the incident." "What sort of looking Mexican?" "Don't know, only that he was monstrously tall and broad."

Marston sat in silence for a little "El Capitan stands six feet three in his boots," he said. "Then who was the man he took away? "If I should make a guess, which I never do," said the other, "I'd say it was Quince-Keenthal-Number Fifteen-the wildest white man in Mexico, and El Diablo's ablest lieutenant. I've heard of him. But his master owns him body and soul. They say on the Border that twice El Capitan's 'spread him up,' after his amusing little custom of crucifying any and all who incur his anger, only to take him down again. He's too valuable to kill. But some day the butcher will be too mad to think of that. I'd hate to be in Quince's shoes." Sick to her foundations, Sonya Savarin excused herself.

And John Marston looked curiously The rest of that day was like a nightmare to Sonya.

DAKOTA FARMERS RILED

Up in North Dakota the governor was recently convicted of a felony and sentenced to Leavenworth. The voters of North Dakota then renominated him for his office by a tremendous majority.

Behind that fact is a situation which is causing much worry in Washington. North Dakota farmers are mad-and if one state gets mad, the rest of the agricultural states will get mad too, sooner or later. Agriculture is still largely in the Trom New York.

Until the dim shapes were lost in smoked and asked odd questions of use for law and order; they dislike dumps. Many farmers have little ost their homes and their crops; those who still own their own farms are liable to find that cost of operation, plus taxes and mortgage payments, exceed revenue. The result s that they are in a harsh frame of mind, and their renomination of the convicted governor was a direct slap at the federal power which sentenced nim to prison.

The national government can do nothing as yet. But high officials are keeping a watch on Bismark and wondering if similar situations will occur in other state capitals.

HASTENING WORK ON TAX EXEMPTION APPLICATIONS

Applications for tax exemption under the provisions of the Bankhead Act are rolling rapidly into the offices of the state allotment board now that all counties are finally supplied with all necessary printed forms of last week with his brother, Leon from Washington. The board has set up three shifts of workers and will run a 24-hour day until all the allotments are made, according to the chairman, E. R. Eudaly.

> First counties to come in with their applications complete were De-Witt, Jim Wells, Lavaca, San Patricio, Fort Bend and Refugio. The board detained the messengers who brought the applications, met at once to act upon them, and sent the allotments of tax exemption certificates back into the counties by these same messengers.

> Every possible effort will be made to hasten the work, Eudaly says, and in this connection he emphasizes the fact that the greatest speed of all can be made in the counties by assuring accuracy in the applications before they are sent to the

> "If the batch of applications hurried from the county to the board turns out to be in such shape that it has to be returned to the county for correction much time is lost, and the county finds itself further down the waiting list than it would have been f a little more time had been spent on checking for mistakes in the first place," Eudaly said.

> County committees or adjustment assistants asking the board to set a deadline' date after which no application may be taken within the county must be careful to ask for a late sufficiently far ahead to allow its being published in the local paper. And farmers must remember when that date is set that it is like a train passing. If they do not go aboard before the train pulls out they are left behind and no one can make the train return to take them on," Eudaly

VETERANS WARNED AGAINST SEEKING JOBS IN CAPITAL

The regional office, Veterans' Administration, Dallas, through which enrollments for the veterans' contingent of the Civilian Conservation Corps are made in 150 counties serving north and east Texas, has received the following information from the Administrator of Veterans' affairs concerning transient veterans who have been proceeding to Washington in the hope of securing enrollment when they have been unable to secure enrollment locally in the Civiltory in which they reside.

"Veterans throughout the country have apparently gained the impresthey can obtain authority for immediate enrollment in the Civilian Conservation Corps camps. This impression is erroneous. While exceptions have been made in the past, definite advice has been received from the director of emergency conservation work that, in the future, no more special enrollments of transient veterans congregated in Washington will be authorized. From now on all veterans chosen for assignment to the Civilian Conservation Corps camps will be selected locally by the regional offices of the veterans' administration located in the several states. Only those veterans whose homes are in the District of Columbia will be selected by the veterans administration at Washington, D. C., for this work. There are no vacan-

MRS. BARNES CONGRATULATES WHEELER CO. CLUB WOMEN

"I want to congratulate you upon the splendid piece of wardrobe demonstration work that you have put over in your county," writes fin of Wheeler. She received her Mrs. Dora Barnes, extension speeducation at Pampa and also attended cialist in clothing, to the home dembusiness college and commercial onstration club women of Wheler county. Mrs. Barnes continues, "There were 91 counties with 1,544 lie Casey of Schoolfield, and is demonstrators and 22,377 co-operaknown as the "Carolina Hobo." He tors doing wardrobe work; 76 of plays and sings over radio station these counties were represented in the state contest in Class I, and 41 in Following the ceremony Mr. Casey Class II. All the women did credit left immediately for his home in Vir- to their counties and I am very proud ginia and will be joined by Mrs. Casey of them. Your own Mrs. Frank Westmoreland of the Twitty club received honorable mention, being placed seventh in the list.

Judges stressed the following points in their comments:

The work this year showed a very marked improvement in style over ast year, but there is still room for mprovement.

For the large woman, large plaids nd stripes should be avoided.

Special emphasis should be given n choice of color and design of maerial (colors were weak and designs ordinary).

The small, slender person should hoose a design to improve her apparent proportions.

Buttonholes are to be preferred for fastenings rather than snaps where buttons are used.

Size is enhanced by horizontal ines made by yokes, so should be avoided by those who would not appear large, but may be used to advantage by small persons.

A 2 1-2 to 3-inch hem is preferble to one larger or narrower.

Heavy open material will be better if seams are overcast or stitched, rather than left unfinished or notch-

Straps on slips should come at slip eam or match undie straps.

Belts, some too wide, some too stiff nd severe. Slips should be shadow-proof for heer dresses. Stout people used good judgment n chosing six gore skirt pattern and had excellent fit.

Stress style. Mrs. Barnes urges that now is the time to start the 1935 wardrobe
