New Quota Is Set For Candidates To Officers School

DALLAS, Tex. —Colonel C. K. Rhinehart, Dallas District Recruiting and Induction Officer, states that the War Department has announced a new quota for the number of Volunteer Officer Candidate applicants who may be inducted for the purpose of competing for selection for an Officer Candidate School, the quota being for the Antiaircraft Artillery, Armored Force, Cavalry, Coast Artillery, Engineer, Field Artillery, Infantry, Ordnance, Signal, Tank Destroyer and Chemical Warfare Service. Interested Class III-A Selective Service registrants, deferred for dependency reasons only, between the ages of 18 and 45, may apply for the qualification examination through their local Boards. Successful applicants who are detailed to attend Officer Candidate School and who satisfactorily complete the course of instruction are commissioned as officers in the Army of the United States. Officer Candidate applicants, who desire, may apply for release from active military duty after four months service and return to their homes.

No quotas exist for the Army Air Forces Administrative, The Army Administrative, Quartermaster, Medical Administrative, Finance, Military Police or The Adjutant General's schools, and no Volunteer Officer Candidate applicants will be accepted for these courses in the future. The foregoing will not apply to registrants who have heretofore been found qualified for one of these courses and whose inductions have been authorized.

OVERSEAS JOB BY RED CROSS DRAWS PRAISE

By WALTER CRONKITE
United Press Atlantic Fleet
Correspondent

NEW YORK, N. Y. (AP)—The American doughboy and the American sailor, traditionally scanty in their praise of anything, today are sending word back from the British Isles that the American Red Cross is "doing a swell job."

The United States service man is better paid, better clothed, better housed and better housed than any other soldier or sailor in the world, but there are some points in making him comfortable where the Army needs a helping hand, and the Red Cross has pitched in valiantly overseas to lend it.

The Red Cross with the aid of the British Red Cross, is furnishing thousands of soldiers with living quarters when on leave, with restaurants where he can get staple American food in almost the full unrationed quantity to which he is accustomed, with recreational services, and, of course with the usual hospital and first aid services as needed.

The soldier's first contact with the Red Cross comes the minute he sets foot on foreign soil. He has spent more than a week crammed into a transport on the North Atlantic. It usually is raining in British Isle ports and it usually is cold.

Because of the difficulties involved in a docking transport, the soldier usually hasn't eaten since breakfast and it is dusk before he gets ashore. He is chilly, wet, lonely and unhappy as he is herded into a long line under a train shed that leaks like a bargain basement dishpan. Then seemingly out of nowhere pops the Red Cross.

Friendly British girls and women dig into the backs of their truck-mounted mobile canteens and begin passing out sandwiches, biscuits, cookies, fruits and hot tea or coffee.

Up and down line they go dispensing their victuals and telling the American doughboy how glad England is to have him along.

Backs stiffen along that whole row of hundreds of thousands of pack-laden soldiers, smiles come back to dreary faces. And someone, through a mouth full of sandwich, opens up with an old khaki song such as "Tipperary" or something humorously inconsistent as "Jingle Jangle," and all join in.

Previous naval enlistment records in the North Texas district are expected to topple in September, judging from mid-month figures which show that slightly less than 120 men a day have joined the Navy during the first fifteen days of the month, Lieut. L. H. Rideout, Jr., officer in charge, pointed out today.

To date, the total figure for the month includes 10 recruits from Eastland County.

"At the main station in Dallas, we are handling more men per day than ever before," Lieut. Rideout explained. "Naturally we are gratified at this evident response to the Navy's call for both skilled and unskilled men.

"To attain the month's goal of 3,600 recruits, however, we need exactly 120 men each day. Right now, we aren't getting them. This means that all recruiting efforts must be increased to make up the difference. With the help of patriotic Americans, we can do it.

"In view of current official predictions that men with children may be called for service with the armed forces by 1943, the only logical reaction for any family man is to investigate immediately opportunities offered by the Navy before it's too late to choose the branch of service he wishes to enter."

A recruiting officer will be in Dallas September 18, 19, and 20 to interview applicants for the Seabees, popular overseas construction regiments which have openings ranging from cooks and clerks to sheet metal workers and wharfbuilders.

Increase In Age Limit Is Set For The Air Corps

SAN ANGELO, Tex. —The Army Air Forces specialists enlistment program announced increased age limits and relaxed physical qualifications yesterday through Colonel George M. Palmer, commanding officer of the new advanced Flying School for bombardiers, here.

Colonel Palmer announced that men from the ages of 18 to 49, inclusive (an increase of five years) can now qualify as future aircraft mechanics, radio technicians, welders and sheet metal workers at this the nation's newest bombardiering school. Also men from the West Texas Sector whose draft status is 1B because of minor physical disabilities now will be accepted in a less rigid physical examination. Men who were previously turned down for lameness, a missing finger, or other similar disabilities may now re-apply.

The first 21 men who enlisted under this program from this section have already been returned to the bombardier school, Colonel Palmer announced. They will get on-the-ground training and at the same time have the privilege of living at home, if married, or near home, if single.

The following of this group are from El Dorado: William C. Mund, Columbus R. Davis, Thomas A. Baker, Howard T. Belcher, and James T. Kerr. From Robert Lee: Fagan H. Parker, From Miles: Nat N. Chaney.

Others were: James W. Quinn Jr., Robert F. Garrett, Wylie M. Homesley, Marion H. Fikes, John B. Wallace, Thurman T. Rabb, Amos C. Albrow, W. B. Farris, Ben A. Odum, William F. Wyatt, Orlando W. Smith, Claud O. Taylor, Joseph M. Gill and Melvin I. Croon.

Since the enlistment program opened only a short time ago more than 165 men from this section already have enlisted and been accepted for assignment at the new Advanced Flying School. Men with any previous experience in mechanical work, or who have worked around machinery or worked with tools of any sort, will be acceptable for future training in the air force.

The program is open for a limited time only. Men who come in this new age limit should investigate its varied advantages by getting in touch with the nearest army recruiting office, or by writing for full information to the Recruiting Office, Advanced Flying School, San Angelo, Texas.

Young Scientists Will Enroll In The War Program

AUSTIN, Tex. —A new crop of prospective scientists for Uncle Sam's war industries are expected to enroll in the intensified War-Emergency Program in Physics at the University of Texas next week.

The streamlined war program was first opened in June, giving high school graduates the opportunity to complete 75 hours of college-level work in physics in 20 months. Graduates will be qualified for places with the army, navy, civil service commission and war industry. M. Y. Colby, physics department chairman, has explained.

An enrollment jump of 700 percent was experienced during the summer, when 320 students registered for the new war program. A similar interest is expected when students register for fall studies on September 21-22.

Full University credit is given for work done under the war plan though no degree is granted, since all academic work has been eliminated from the curriculum.

Eastland - Callahan Counties Give Red Cross Kit Bags

Four hundred kit bags with contents, whose wholesale value is placed at a dollar for each kit, will be contributed through the Eastland and Callahan County Red Cross Chapters, according to Ed Freyschlag, Eastland Red Cross chairman.

These will be made under the direction of Mrs. Curtis Kimbrell, and her committee and will be filled with necessary and interesting material. "A stitch in time saves nine" may be proven by the boy in the foreign service who can do a bit of emergency repair with the sewing kit included. The exchange of Pocket Mystery stories which will be included in each kit will make diversions in the days far from home. A complete list of the contents will be presented to the clubs and organizations of the county so that they may be inspired to wish to do their share in giving the defenders of America a tangible and useful proof that the Red Cross is continuing in its active interest in the boys in the service.

Cash donations will enable the contents of the bags to be bought at greatly reduced prices and the quota will be filled in time to go with the next shipment from Eastland County.

War Has Effect Upon State Courts

HUSTON, Tex., Aug. 1 U.P. The witness stand is feeling the effects of the war Harris county court attaches report.

Almost 25 out of every one hundred persons summoned to testify in the county's criminal prisoned how many are going courts during the last two months have failed to show up.

"There's a good reason for it," explained Ed Duggan, assistant district attorney. "You'd be surprised into the army. The Navy is getting a lot of them, too. And many are at work in defense plants and don't answer their summons."

"In addition, police officers who are needed to protect cases often are missing when the cases are called."

Duggan said a great number of them have gone into the services. "Why just recently a big group of them went into the Navy Seabees." The armed forces are even catching up some defendants. "A youth charged with stealing a pistol a couple of weeks ago," Duggan related, "didn't have to stand trial. The case never came on just saw the judge dismissed it."

Here's How To Stretch Mileage From Gasoline

TOLEDO, O. —When the entire nation goes under gas rationing as recommended in the "Baruch report" on rubber, here are ten tried-and-true ways to help make your allotment cover essential needs.

They're compiled by Delmar G. Roos, who designed the Army's fuel-saving jeeps.

Avoid using the choke, especially in warm weather.

Accelerate gently; "pumping" the accelerator wastes fuel.

Don't hold the car in second gear; shift into high at about 25 m.p.h.

Don't exceed 35 miles per hour; speed is the greatest "gas eater."

If your car has gone over 5000 miles, have the valves, compression and spark settings checked by an expert serviceman.

Be sure wheels are properly aligned, thus eliminating gas eating resistance.

Don't drag your brakes. Don't leave the engine running when parked.

Keep the carburetor in top condition.

Keep the spark plugs clean; dirty plugs can waste 10 per cent of your gas.

Keep the tires inflated; car well lubricated; radiator filled; and get a tune-up every 60 days.

Eastland's WTCC Quota Subscribed

Eastland's 1942 quota of $200 for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has been subscribed—in fact it has over-subscribed—Judge Milburn McCarty stated today.

McCarty, who is ex-officio director of the regional organization, by reason of having served as its president and T. E. Richardson, member of the board of directors, expressed their thanks to the public spirited citizens of Eastland who made it possible for the town to keep up its good record for many years past of always subscribing its quota.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is doing a splendid work for that portion of the State it tanserves and it is to assist in this important work and keep it going that Eastland contributed its quota of $200.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention, an annual affair will not be held this year.
