GAS TAX MIGHT FAIL TO PAY COUNTY BONDS

County Judge C. L. Garrett, County Auditor W. S. Michael and Commissioner A. N. Sneary of Rising Star returned Friday from Austin where they went to confer with the State Board in charge of county and district road indebtedness. Judge Garrett stated that, in a way, their conference was a disappointment, not from an inability on their part to convince the board of the county needs but because of the inability of the state financially to meet their request.

Under the law which provided a tax on gasoline the state was permitted to assume payment of certain county road bonds the proceeds of which had been applied on roads designated as state highways. In keeping with the provisions of this law the state authorities had agreed to assume the payment of $5.00 per cent of Eastland county's unpaid and outstanding bonds the proceeds of which had been expended on designated highways; excepting, however, about $140,000 dollars worth of bonds that had been refunded in 1924 and in 1932.

RECOVERY BILL TO CONFERENCE ON LAST DAY

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The house today sent the administration's vast industrial recovery-public works bill to conference with the senate for adjustment of last minute amendments.

Final differences over veterans legislation were ironed out in a White House conference. Representative Poy, Democrat, of North Carolina, one of the conferees, declared that as a result of the discussion with President Roosevelt, the amendment dealing with veterans compensation would be reported out immediately by the rules committee of the house.

Presbyterians Children's Day Program Today

The Presbyterian church has issued invitations to their friends to attend this Sunday morning's service which opens with a Children's Day program at 10 a. m., followed by the preaching service at 11 a. m., with Rev. Edwin Montgomery occupying the pulpit.

EXTRA SESSION MAY BE CALLED IN SEPTEMBER

AUSTIN, June 10.—Former Governor James E. Ferguson today predicted that a special session of the 43rd legislature will be held about the middle of September.

He said he believed that one of three things or a combination of them would necessitate a session. "It appears to me," he said, "that the president is very likely to request all the states for early session of their legislatures to consider modification of anti-trust laws. A vote of the people on Aug. 26 favoring relief bonds, would necessitate a session. Even if the bonds are not approved, a session likely will be needed for finances."

Club Boys and Girls Conclude Successful Meet

Did you visit the encampment of the 4-H clubs? Colorful, changing scene with a night setting punctuated with groups of electric lights strung between the trees, illuminating the playground space in the park, where the 100 4-H visitors were entertained in a novel fashion Friday night, beneath the shifting tree shadows and flickering lights with the moon shining serenely overhead on the games, led for the interested visitors by Miss Rosalie Leslie, Miss Loraine Taylor, Bob McGlamery, and Mrs. J. E. Hickman, assisted by Rev. Edwin Montgomery of Lake City, Fla.

Hearty singing of community songs, then action songs, followed by the grand march, which broke up into circle games, and folk games which were diverting and instructive, opened the program. The American circle was followed by the jolly "Waves of Tory," an Irish folk game; then came the hearty German folk game, "To Berlin," and last, most appropriate for the 4-H encampment, the American folk game, "The Four-leaf Clover" all played to the inspirational music of George Harper's music machine.

Lay Leader Will Attend Meeting

B. E. McGlamery, who is lay leader for the Cisco district of the Methodist church, will attend a laymen's meeting at the Central Methodist church at Brownwood at the 11 o'clock service this morning. From Brownwood he will drive over to Dublin where he will be the speaker at a similar meeting at the Dublin Methodist church at the evening service. Mr. McGlamery will be accompanied by his wife and children at both services.

Scholastics For 1933 Lose Over Those For 1932

County Superintendent B. E. McGlamery has completed a tabulation of the county scholastics for 1933 which shows a total of 8,453 as compared with 8,614 for last year. The superintendent has permission to make returns on children who have been missed by the census takers up to July 15. If these come in as they should this year's number of children within the scholastic age should almost reach that of 1932.

GOV. BRYAN SENDS PATRIARCH TO THE SENATE

Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska is a very shrewd practical politician. He is the brother of the lamented "Prince of Peace," Robert B. Howell, a republican senator, died.

After long meditation and no doubt pious praying Governor Bryan named a democrat to fill the vacancy. His choice is William H. Thompson, a former member of the supreme court of Nebraska. Thompson represents an almost forgotten period of history. He is nearing his 80th milestone. He is on his way to Washington to qualify. Then he will enjoy the distinction of the newest member in point of service and the oldest member in point of age.

Sen. Carter Glass of Virginia is 75. He is very brilliant, very aggressive, very conservative, and his recent performances demonstrate that he not only looks his age but is beginning to feel or show his age. He had a splendid record of service. He is unaware that a third revolution won at the ballot box last year.

A wise man, regardless of age, has golden memories of the past but lives and moves with procession of today. This is a new age. This is a new civilization.

Unless the signs are misleading the passing throng, the New Deal gospel is going to dominate the American, and perhaps the foreign, worlds.

WHAT HAPPENED TO MR. KYLE

Rep. Henry Kyle is a dashing young solon from Hays county territory. By a vote of 10 to 13 the senate killed his house bill requiring the state highway commission to obtain permission of the county commissioners court in re-routing highways before a highway can be moved away from a town of 350 population or over.

Now it is said that construction on Highway No. 2 is now in progress in Travis, Comal and Bexar counties, but the winding road across railroads is untouched in Hays county. Furthermore, that the highway commission's new plan reduces the distance between Austin and San Antonio as well as eliminates nearly all of the 13 main line grade crossings.

Really, the military road, as No. 2 is historically known, is one of the greatest routes of traffic and travel in the southwest. Rep. Kyle, a very youthful member, made a very aggressive and intelligent fight—and lost.

In political life, it is well "to take it on the nose and then come again" in the primary contests that are fought at the ballot box by the qualified voters of a commonwealth.

TOM CONNALLY AND THE INCOME TAX

Sen. Tom Connally of Texas has evolved a new tax plan under which income tax payers would be assessed a flat 10 per cent more than they now pay. All this as a means of financing the public works section of the industrial control bill. This plan would retain the same rates as are now in effect. Under the 10 per cent provision of the Connally proposal the person receiving the larger income would pay more wages, "where under the present plan approved by the house the man of small incomes would have his tax increased 50 per cent." The Texan will endeavor to obtain acceptance of his plan instead of the 2 per cent boost in the rate which was given approval by the house and the demo leaders.

He shied away from the sales tax proposal. He declared it was put forth merely as an excuse to escape income taxes. This is his interpretation of the plan he sponsored: "If a man pays $30 income tax he would pay $3 more or $33; but if he paid $10,000 now he would pay $1000 more or $11,000. He predicted that it would yield as much if not more than the house proposal."

Away in the dim and dismal past the old world gypsy and the American Indian escaped all taxation. When the wigwam did not look inviting the red chief permitted the squaw to move on to more pleasing surroundings, carrying her paposes and her traps on her back. As for the gypsy "he took to the road again." But who would want to be a gypsy or a dead Indian?

OUT OUR WAY

ONCE EACH DAY

By V. MARIE STEPHENS

I've been reading a lot lately about how we got this way and how we're going to get out of it. It seems that about the only subject the majority of writers can get a sale for.

And the more I read and think and argue, the more I am beginning to believe that about the only thing the last four years has meant to America is a grand finale with a bunch of modernistic buildings in Chicago.

The concert itself has been awful. Everything was out of harmony and tune and time, and we endured it because our seats were paid for and we couldn't afford to leave.

Now fate is producing the closing hymn and we're slipping into our frayed wraps and determining to buy more. It's almost over . . . and what an end.

The pictures are as bad as the print. While the journalists rave on the effects and causes and vis-versa of the depression, all the photographers are rushing to the gangster city to attempt a more pleasing shot of a facade or column or something.

And now that it's all over, someday we may get a big laugh out of it. Just now the memory of the clash and clang is too clear.

Once again that historical and legendary "four hundred" of little old New York bursts into print. Mrs. Algernon Sydney Sullivan is dead.

She who danced quadrilles with King Edward VII when he bore the title of Prince of Wales, and led every grand march of society's charity ball from 1883 to 1920 . . . died Friday in New York, at the age of 96.

And so they come and go . . . lead the world and leave it to other leaders. But the four hundred live on. The eternal tongue have immortalized the term.

The late F. W. Woolworth left his granddaughter with brains as well as money. Miss Barbara Huton of New York will be married June 20 to Prince Alexis Mdivani. But the marriage contract reads she will "retain complete control of the disposition of her entire property" . . . and there is a limit to her husband's inheritance in case of her death.

Dare we marry? As for that, dare we have money? And, as the questions advance, dare we know the press? The answer balances perilously near a determined "No."

Glimpse-glances: According to fashion, steins are all the rage this summer. If you drink from the old-fashioned, 1932 glasses you might as well level your skirts around your knees and offer another laugh . . .

That's what fashion says, or words to that effect. Which proves fashion does not originate in the Lone Star state. More politics . . .

And while we're on the subject of fashion, linen is very good and has been for weeks now.

Which gives the electrical companies a break and aids the sale of irons, adds money to the coffers of dry cleaners, and means even hotter weather for the fashionable. What price society.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"God the Preserver of Man" will be the subject of the lesson-lesson in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, June 11.

The Golden Text is from Psalms 37: "For the Lord loveth judgment, and forsaketh not his saints; they are preserved for ever."

Included with other passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 487): "The understanding that Life is God, Spirit, lengthens our days by strengthening our trust in the deathless reality of Life, its almightiness and immortality.

"This faith relies upon an understanding principle. This principle makes whole the diseased, and brings out the enduring and harmonious phases of things."

shall not smite thee by day, nor the moon by night. The Lord shall preserve thee from all evil; he shall preserve thy soul. The Lord shall preserve thy going out, and thy coming in from this time forth, and even for evermore."

The lesson-sermon will also include the following from the citations to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 487): "The understanding that Life is God, Spirit, lengthens our days by strengthening our trust in the deathless reality of Life, its almightiness and immortality.

LYRIC SUNDAY ONLY

We look toward the day when business prospers

T-bone steaks on a million dinner tables . . . new sheets for the bedroom . . . new chintzes for the living room . . . a million gasoline tanks freshly filled for week-end excursions in the family car . . .

When everyone has money for these things, business prospers in the Southwest. Telephone wires hum busily with voices. Installers are kept on the run by the demand for new telephones.

But let the nation tighten its belt and go without beef steak. Let it use frayed sheets, and turn the collars on last year's shirts . . .

During three years of declining business, the telephone company has found what happens when the nation economizes.

For when bales of cotton stand in idle rows in the gloom of Texas warehouses . . . when oil tank cars rust in endless strings on railroad sidings . . . when wheat hits a low of 27 cents a bushel . . .

When these things happen, business stagnates in the Southwest!

Three years of business stagnation have proven a heavy burden on this company. Net revenues have declined to where, in spite of the most rigid economies, they do not pay the cost of the actual dollars that built the telephone system.

Many people realize this. They know that declining telephone usage and declining telephone revenues go hand in hand.

The remedy sometimes suggested to us is this: "Lower the rates, and you will get enough new subscribers to make up for your losses."

But it is not that simple.

Our experience, gained over many years of telephone operation in good times and bad, proves definitely that lower rates would bring back few telephones.

Lower rates would not, for example, keep telephones in use in business houses that have closed their doors.

Lower rates would not keep a telephone working in a vacant cottage, whose tenants have gone to live with relatives. Lower rates would not keep a telephone in the home of a man who has no job and whose savings are gone.

Instead, they would only diminish our present revenue and cause our losses to become still greater. Telephone rates have been lowered in a few places and that has been the experience.

In these times, we feel that our big job is to keep service good. This we have done to the best of our ability. Long distance connections are made, in most cases, while you hold the line. Switchboards and central offices are manned by experienced employees. There has been no slackening in the effort to give the type of good, reliable telephone service our subscribers need and want.

We look hopefully toward the day when, in Texas harbors, cotton will again slide into the dark holds of waiting ships . . . when smoke again rolls from factory chimneys and the whistle calls a full day shift to work . . . when the cattle on a thousand ranches begin to look like money . . . and when the wool and wheat, the hogs and corn, the vegetables and fruits of the Southwest will again move in steady streams to markets and consumers that have been too long without them.

And when, incidentally, the telephone lines of this vast area will once more hum with the torrent of words and messages essential to reawakened business. Then, as now, we will strive to furnish the best possible telephone service at the lowest cost consistent with financial safety.

PRINCE ORDERS COOKER
 By United Press

DALLAS—Prince Parachatra, Dok Mai palace, Bangkok, Siam, apparently likes his royal dishes prepared in a pressure cooker.

Recently a check from H. R. H. the Prince arrived here for delivery to the J. D. Dowell company, McKinney, Texas. It was in payment for a pressure cooker purchased in July, 1932, and was accompanied by an order for another "nest" of cast iron. The draft was for $100.

Webb and Mrs. Cook. Talahi Meeting The Talahi group of Camp Fire Girls is being well looked after by Miss Lurline Brawner, appointed assistant by Mrs. J. L. Cottingham. The group met at the home of Miss Brawner, Friday afternoon, with session opened by their vice president, Miss Margaret Frye. These enterprising young girls have decided to make some money during their guardian's absence, and at this meeting planned to gather coat hangers and magazines, which they will take downtown for sale. Arrangements were made to sell popcorn balls and candy during July days. The group will meet next Friday afternoon with Miss Brawner, who treated them to ice cream at this session, attended by Misses Helen Butler, Joyce Newman, Joe Earl Utz, Mae Gates, Margaret Frye, and Lurline Brawner. Eastern Star Women Visit Breckenridge Eastern Star women who visited the Breckenridge school of instruction Friday, representing the convention of district 3 section 3, included Mrs. D. J. Fiensy, deputy officer; Mrs. James A. Beard; Mrs. W. W. Kelley, Mrs. T. L. Amis, Mrs. W. J. Peters, and the retiring worthy matron, Mrs. W. J. Thomas. Jolly Little Family Party A group of friends and neighbors enjoyed a swim at Lake Trianon and a picnic supper at 8 o'clock Thursday evening. The jolly crowd gathered at the residence of W. E. FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS - By Blosser

DARLING FOOL

Illustrated by MABEL McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TODAY MONNIE O'DARE returns from a trip to Europe to Dan CARDIGAN, with whom she had long been in love, seriously injured in an automobile accident. Moreover, just before the accident Dan had married SANDRA LAWRENCE who, pretending to be Monnie's friend, had been trying to win him from her. Sandra had even told Dan that Monnie intended to marry CHARLES EUSTACE, another admirer. Dan's father asks Monnie to come to the hospital. Dan dies, holding her hand. In the days that follow Monnie tries to pick up her life anew. She lives with her mother, sister and two brothers. The O'Dares have little money. Monnie works in a doctor's office. Monnie is disturbed because Charles, hitherto one of her best friends, seems cool toward her. Unhappy and unsettled, she decides to marry ANTHONY MACKENZIE, a rich, middle-aged New Yorker whom she met on her trip. Mackenzie comes to see her. A little later the same evening Charles arrives. Obviously unwelcome, he stays on, refusing to leave before the other man. At length Mackenzie departs. Monnie tells Charles he has behaved unacceptably. He declares she is not going to marry Mackenzie. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLVII THEY stood there, flaring at each other. The man, tall and lean and straight, his eyes darkened with something very like fury. The girl, small, golden, in a dress of some thin soft stuff, her head thrown back, defying him. 'You little fool,' he said in a caressing voice which took the sting from the words. 'You - darling - little fool.' Suddenly Monnie was limp in his arms, was sobbing against his shoulder. Tenderly Charles lifted her streaming face. 'I'm sorry. You know I didn't mean that.' He was no longer arrogant but strangely humble. 'You know how I feel about you, Monica O'Dare.'

WHAT HELPS HAIR and HURTS MOTOR OIL?

The answer is petroleum jelly! This thick, jelly-like substance gives motor oil, when cold, a deceptive body which turns water-thin the moment your engine heats up. Don't be fooled—ask the nearest Sinclair dealer for the oil with the genuine full body—Sinclair Opaline. Petroleum jelly is removed from Opaline at as low as 60° F. below zero—a much lower temperature than is required for just removing wax. Ask the Sinclair dealer.

received by the president of the chapter, Mrs. J. R. McLaughlin, assisted by Mrs. N. N. Rosenquest, Mrs. F. V. Williams and Mrs. Frank Crowell. The attendance was not up to expectations, as the number of diversions in Eastland, interfered to a certain degree. The evening was most enjoyable, and the several tables engaged in individual games, of anagrams, puzzles, bridge, dominoes and contract, were served dainty refreshments at close of evening of small nut cakes and an iced tea beverage with lemon. Favors in the game, large white iced anel food cakes, were awarded Mrs. B. W. Patterson, Mrs. P. L. Crossley and Art H. Johnson. Those present: Tables playing, Mrs. and Mrs. R. L. Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Peters; Mr. and Mrs. Valson Jones, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Eubanks; Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Collier, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Pickens; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McLaughlin, Senator and Mrs. W. B. Collier; Misses Kenneth Tanner, John W. Turner, W. K. Jackson, Mrs. Allen D. Dabney, Miss Geraldine Dabney, and Art H. Johnson; Mrs. N. N. Rosenquest, Mrs. Frank Crowell and Mrs. A. J. Campbell. Swim Picnic and Party One of the smartest and largest parties amongst the young folks this week was that of the little crowd assembled from several different towns, that met at the Cisco Dam, Thursday evening enjoyed a swim, followed by a most elaborate picnic supper at 7 p. m. The Eastland party left at 4 p. m. and met the others attending at the dam. After supper the crowd was entertained with dancing in the handsome Earl Conner home on South Seaman street. Eastland young folk present were Misses Jane Connelley Whittingham, Dolores Tanner, Madge Breisford, Sadie Brewer, Mary Spears, Bill Abbot, Roy Cabaness, Louise Lee of North Carolina, the house guest of Mrs. Max McCullough; Sam Conner, Scott Key, Allen Dabney, M. McCullough, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Phillips. Ranger guests, Miss Dorothy Outlaw; Roy Jameson, Dick Conley, Jimmy Phillips and Bob Earnest. Cisco guests, Misses Helen Crawford, Adelle White, Ginger Butts, Betty See-Spear, Bessie Pierce; Bill Rick, Calhoun Anderson, George Irvine, Charles Spears, Bill Abbot, Roy Cabaness, and James Shepard. Miss Elizabeth Spencer of Lubbock, who is visiting in Cisco, and Jay Saver of Breckenridge. Club Meets. An informal duplicate whist club which meets an occasional Wednesday afternoon, included Misses E. O. Harvey, F. M. Kenny, E. Roy Townsend, Herbert Tanner, Milton Lawrence, W. S. Pos, J. B. Leonard and D. L. Kinnaird. W. M. S. Program For Monday Echoes of the Cisco district meeting just held in Ranger and a preliminary study of the council minutes will form the program for

PERSONAL . . . And Otherwise

Mrs. J. L. Nichols, formerly Miss Ruth Coles of Texon visited in the J. R. Carlisle home this week. Mrs. Nichols formerly taught in the South Ward school here. She is a cousin of Mr. Carlisle. Mrs. J. E. Carlisle and daughter, Mary Elizabeth, are visiting Mrs. Carlisle's relatives at Godley. E. E. Wood, who has been ill at his home on the Cisco-Eastland highway, is again able to be out after seven weeks confinement to his room. Mrs. Charles Yinston and her mother, Mrs. Mounds, of Shreveport, who have been visiting in Ranger, spent Thursday with the S. S. Brawner family. Mrs. W. B. Freeman and two sons of Dallas, arrived Friday for a four night visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Brawner. Mollie Miller, the four-year-old daughter of Mrs. W. F. Miller, who underwent an operation for removal of tonsils Thursday is doing well. Joe McNeely of the Kokomo community was a business visitor in Eastland Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mullins, accompanied by their sons, Maurice and Ward, will drive to Comanche this morning where they will attend the home-coming service of the Methodist church. Mrs. May Harrison went to Dallas Saturday morning where she will spend the week-end visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Beard. That Reminds Me (Continued from page 1) displays. These great vast stretches of unpopulated and undeveloped lands within the bounds of Texas should be forcefully placed before visitors at the fair. . . Texas still has room for 55,000,000 people and could support them comfortably. . . Texas has everything within its bounds that every other state in the Union has. . . and much more than all of them put together has. . . knowing this. . . and Texas does. . . then we should make it our business to grasp the opportunity to tell the world about it. . . such as is now going on in Chicago. We don't say that our exhibit should be the biggest just to outdo some other state or nation. . . but just plain simple facts. . . brought out in an exhibit that will overshadow any other in elaborateness or otherwise by its simplicity of facts. We sincerely hope the people of Texas will fall in line and get behind the movement to improve upon what we have there. . . in 1936
