ARKANSAS WILL REFUND ITS HUGE HIGHWAY DEBT

Arkansas has a huge highway bond road building debt. Indeed, it is said to amount to approximately $146,000. 000. Before adjournment the Arkansas legislature passed what is known as the state highway bond refunding act, which provided for refunding all forms of the road indebtedness. This act was given the acid test in the courts of the commonwealth, and the state supreme court said the last word. In other words it declared the legislative act valid. Although the only question involved was whether the state might refund old road improvement district bonds through issuance of the new state 25-year 3 per cent bonds, the court declared the refunding act "is not in violation of any provision of our constitution and is therefore a valid enactment."

Holders of the road bonds in the investment centers of the East recently formed a committee to fight what they termed "repudiation of the state highway debt under the new plan." It is said that an appeal will be taken and that in the last analysis the supreme court of the United States may say the last word. According to one of its political leaders in years gone by the people of Arkansas "ran hog wild" on the burning issue of state and lateral highways. They travelled all the road. Now they have a huge bonded indebtedness for their children and their grandchildren to liquidate throughout coming time. What has become of the ancient democratic slogan: "Pay as you go"? Is it as dead as the dodo?

ILLINOIS AND IOWA MAKE REPEAL UNANIMOUS

Illinois has spoken. By unanimous act the 50 delegates to the state convention elected June 5 voted to adopt the resolution ratifying the proposed repeal amendment of the "noble experiment." On the same day at Des Moines the Iowa constitutional convention by a vote of 90 to 0 ratified the proposed 21st Amendment to the constitution. More than 60 per cent of the people of Iowa live in the rural districts and small towns. They certainly "dumped

ANOTHER HIKE IN THE PRICE OF COTTON

American grain crops are slim this year. American cotton crops are not slim. Millions of acres will be plowed under. On July 10 in the city of New York cotton held the stage on the speculative stock market by soaring $2.50 a bale in the active contract. In the year 1934 the big showdown will come. Unless the government regulators control acreage mules and plows will be busy and the fields given over to cotton under southern and southwestern skies. Then what will happen?

For years past, information as to the receipts and disbursements of many city, county and state governments has been productive of much controversy and misunderstanding, all of which has been due to the fact that the public has never been kept informed by official reports placed in the advertising columns of the newspapers.

Experience teaches a lot of people things they should know.

There are some things we refuse to do to sell a car. We like sales but fair-dealing and the confidence of our customers are desirable, too. For one thing, we refuse to poison anyone's mind against another may of car. We know what our car is and what it will do, and we are ready to tell you about that. But to imply defects in another car is not our business. We have done our utmost to encourage intelligent buying of motor call by showing purchasers how to protect their own interests. All that a $7 producer asks is a customer who knows quality when he sees it. An intelligent purchaser will speedily conclude that only a bad product requires bad sales methods. We refuse, also, to adopt the role of tricky trader-that is, pretending to offer you a larger trade-in allowance, and taking it away f you in some other way. Ford trade-in values are high, but we do not me fictitious allowances in order to get a sale which may be otherwise disadvantageous to the buyer. Our dealers take used cars upon a system of values, not by haggling or barter. In this world no one gets something for nothing, although there are many ways of making people think that they do. The sure way to get val for value is, first, by being yourself willing to deal on that basis, and second, by dealing with a concern that has no other policy.

We refuse to keep dinning in your ears that the Ford V-8 is the be most economical, lowest-priced car. That is claimed for several cars. Obviously it cannot be true of all. There comes a point where claims adjectives and all advertising hysteria disappears in its own fog. "e sonally, I prefer facts.

We say the new Ford V-8 is the best car we have made.

We say that our 8-cylinder car is as economical to operate as any lower number of cylinders.

We say that we have always been known as the makers of good cars that the many good, well-balanced qualities of our present car places at the head of our line to date.

Anyone wishing to do business with us on these principles will fin our word and the quality of our product to be A-1. What we say about economy, operation and durability will stand good anywhere.
