

RANGER MAN MISSING IN NEW MEXICO

that reminds me...

Last night all eyes were on the moon, watching the proverbial man disappear. Eastland citizens had a plain view of the whole heavenly show. To say there is no God is to deny the actual scenes of nature's wonders that are guided by the divine hand of God. Everything that is created in the universe is wonderful—the peaceful spots where nothing is else but serenity, to the violence of volcanic eruptions, earthquake upheavals, cloudburst rains that carry destruction in its path, velocity winds that tear man's achievements to splinters—all these and more are beautiful and yes, there is a God, and all have its purpose, and none of them are revenge but a lesson and an impression to show the powers that be.

Invitation Given To Cattle Club's Picnic at Denton

Invitation was extended today by Rev. Charles W. Estes of Eastland, president of the Denton County Cattle Club, for all interested to attend the annual picnic of the association Wednesday at Denton.

The picnic will be held at the Kenilworth Jersey Farm, three miles from Denton on the Dallas highway.

Imported animals from the Jersey Islands, and several national champions will be seen at the picnic grounds.

Rev. Estes stated he would be at the Denton Chamber of Commerce Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock to direct any of this section to the picnic.

Those planning to go from Eastland include County Agent C. Metz Heald, T. E. Richardson, Louis Pitzer, J. A. Beard, H. C. Davis and John Harrison.

TAPPED WIRES ARE CHARGED BY RANKIN

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Representative John Rankin, Dem., Miss., charged today before the house lobby inquiry, that his telephone wires were tapped during the utilities fight and telephone companies aided utilities holding companies in fighting the "death sentence."

Rankin charged his line was tapped at the time the holding company bill was being discussed. "I took it up with the department of justice. They turned it over to the federal communications commission," he said.

Utility companies attempted to coerce congress "indirectly and directly," he charged.

He testified it would be "very difficult" to get information concerning the alleged tieup between the telephone companies and the utilities.

Allred Beginning To Enjoy Being Chief Executive of State of Texas

AUSTIN.—Gov. "Jimmie" Allred is beginning to enjoy being governor. The legislature and its problems are off his hands. His major appointments have been made, or decided. He has things down to a routine that gives him time to go places, and he's supremely happy.

"Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown" apparently doesn't apply to governors—at least not those of the buoyant, optimistic Allred type.

He's found the answers to all the questions that purrrows in his brow from January to June and now he gets a kick out of this governor business.

Law enforcement by ranger methods was an early problem. Death sentences troubled him much at first. Taxes worried him. Now that he has tested out his department heads and found them satisfactory, the governor has ceased to worry.

"The adjutant general is in charge of the rangers," Allred notified El Paso when inquiries came for a clean-up campaign. Legal problems are referred to the attorney general.

The board of pardons and paroles can sift out clemency matters more thoroughly than the governor can with his other duties, so he has decided to follow their advice.

The legislature gave a negative answer to his tax plans, and that is the legislators' worry.

So, all in all, the governor will find the second six months of office much less trying than the first six.

He has grasped quickly something that former Governor Dan Moody never did learn as governor. That is, to fill vacancies immediately.

When death removes an official, the governor's name is ready as soon as respect will permit. If there is a resignation, notice of the resignation and of the new appointment go out simultaneously.

The promptness relieves a governor of much importuning. It also keeps him from making enemies.

One of the state's best "mixers," the governor naturally likes to be in crowds. The summer picnic season, a national guard airplane, and the Austin office in the hands of secretaries who can be depended upon, the governor literally is soaring in the clouds these warm days.

Threats of next summer's political campaign have not become pronounced enough to disturb his enjoyment. Altogether he is having a much easier time as governor than he did as attorney general.

His trips this summer are keeping up valuable contacts so that next summer's campaigning—for whatever office—will be over pre-arranged.

Blind Man Wants 'Decent Burial' As He Admits Slaying

BOSTON, July 16.—From his jail cell Forrest Welles, 30, blind street musician, pleaded today for a "decent burial" for his half-blind sweetheart whom he tossed to her death from a hotel window.

He was held for the grand jury for the murder of Hazel Martin or Hazel Ammons.

The victim's father resides in Wheeling, W. Va. Meanwhile the police investigated the beggar's story that he lifted the girl from her bed and hurled her "with all my might" from a window.

Other residents of the hotel told of loud voices and noise of a struggle before the woman's body crashed onto a cement walk.

SECOND DIES OF INJURIES IN CAR WRECK

Carrie Paschall, negro, who was seriously injured in an automobile accident Sunday afternoon two miles west of Eastland, died in a Ranger hospital late Monday night. She was the second victim of the accident, Thelma Smith, 28, colored, also of Ranger, was instantly killed in the accident.

No funeral arrangements had been made for either of the accident victims, but it was said that the body of Thelma Smith would be shipped to Okmulgee, Okla., for burial.

Others injured in the accident were Lummie Mills, driver of the car, who received severe cuts about the arms and body; Dan Gray, who received a fractured leg; Ivy Howce, cuts about the arm and a broken collar bone, and the one-year-old daughter of Carrie Paschall.

The cause of the accident was never exactly determined, but it was believed that in passing another car a wheel slipped off the shoulder of the road into the soft dirt, overturning the car, which rolled across a ditch, over a wire fence and into a field.

Grocery Clerk Is Released On Bond After a Slaying

KENEDY, Texas, July 16.—Leslie Wright, 30 year old grocery truck driver, was at liberty today under $3,000 bond charged with murder in connection with the shotgun killing of F. M. Johnson, 56, violin teacher in whose class Wright's 12 year old daughter was a student.

Johnson was killed as he drove up to the grammar school here. Two carpenters working on a building nearby were witnesses. Wright surrendered to officers who said they learned the two men had a fight yesterday over the argument of the violinist's attention to Wright's daughter, Elizabeth.

A. F. HARTMAN FEARED KILLED FOR HIS MONEY

Cash Box He Carried Found In Coal Car On Train At El Paso.

EL PASO, Texas, July 16.—A. F. Hartman, former Ranger prospector, was being sought today after a cash box he was known to have carried was found in a coal car here.

It contained papers and deeds with Mrs. Hartman's name. Check with Ranger revealed Hartman disappeared after he started from Douglas, Ariz., July 10, for El Paso. He owns considerable real estate in that state.

Hartman first became interested in mining properties in Arizona and Mexico after he had been told by O. D. Hill, employe of the Arcadia theatre, of a letter Hill had received from a friend in Arizona telling of a gold mine.

Gold nuggets, which Hill showed Hartman, caused his interest in the mining proposition and Hartman offered to grubstake the man, Alex Bowman.

In the meantime a man by the name of J. D. Lillywhite, who gave his address as 1326 Fifth street, Douglas, Ariz., wrote to Hill trying to interest Hartman in mining property. Hill stated today. It was not known whether Lillywhite and Bowman had the gold stake in mind or not. Bowman is a former resident of Eastland county and had known Hill for 27 years.

Hartman, according to Hill, became interested in the proposition and went to Arizona to investigate. After arriving in Arizona Hartman wrote to D. C. McKee of Ranger, who was keeping part of Hartman's property for him, and asked that two steel lock boxes be sent him at Douglas. The letter, which was written on June 19, stated that Hartman was "out in the sticks" most of the time, but that he was making his headquarters in Douglas.

The lock boxes were sent to Arizona from Ranger on June 24 and on June 26 D. C. McKee mailed a check to Hartman. The check, which was in payment of rentals on properties in Ranger, was cashed at a bank in Douglas on June 29 and the endorsement signature was verified today by Edwin George at the Commercial State bank of Ranger.

No word has been received from Hartman since July 12, when he wrote a post card to Ranger asking that his address be changed to Douglas, Ariz., and that all mail be forwarded to him there.

In the letters from Dillywhite and Bowman, written to Hill, they stated that they had valuable gold and silver locations in Arizona and Mexico, which could be mined for about $1 a ton and which would assay anywhere from $4 a ton up, with prospects of obtaining upwards of $20,000 from one location and around $200,000 in another.

No direct word has been received from Hartman in Ranger since the letters he wrote to McKee and the post card on July 12 asking that his address be changed to Douglas.

GOOD SERMON IS HEARD AT CROSS ROADS

"God's Universal Invitation" was the theme of the message that Rev. H. H. Stephens brought to the Cross Roads people in their second night of the meeting that is being conducted at that place.

This Monday night service was well attended and much interest was shown in the message that was brought.

Another interesting part of the meeting was the prayer bands that preceded the preaching hour. Rev. J. J. Ponder conducted the adult prayer meeting and Mrs. H. H. Stephens worked with the young people, while Mrs. L. A. Eudy directed the "booster band."

There was a total of 64 in attendance in all these prayer groups.

Rev. Stephens states that the interest of the people of Ranger are showing is appreciated, and he extends the further invitation to those who wish to come and have a part in the revival.

Mrs. Maxwell of Eastland visited her mother one month ago.

Survivors of Mrs. McElroy include two sons, G. B. of Fort Worth, Arch of Moundsville, W. Va., and daughters, Mrs. Nell Patton, Moundsville, and Mrs. Maxwell of Eastland.

Date of funeral services were not known.

Director of Grid Show Enthusiastic

A rapidly improving cast and cooperation today gave J. B. Moreno, director of the football benefit minstrel, promise of an entertaining show for Eastland citizens Friday night at 8 o'clock in the Connelley theater.

Keynote of the minstrel will be the variety of entertainment, the director stated.

"Everybody is taking a good interest; in fact many business men have bought reserved seats," Moreno stated.

Today he was to appear at the Lions club and urge cooperation of the group in helping to send members of the football team on an encampment.

Eastland Swimming Pool Plans Must Be Changed Slightly

County Administrator H. E. Driscoll, who returned from San Antonio late Monday night, after stopping off in Austin, was informed that the Eastland swimming pool project application was being returned only because the drainage opening of the large pool was not large enough to meet the specifications of the U. S. Department of Health. The department requires that a pool can be emptied in four hours, Driscoll was informed.

City Manager Jep Little was in turn told of the changes that would be required in the original plans and stated that they would be made immediately.

ALLRED NOT TO STUMP FOR PROHIBITION

AUSTIN, July 16.—Gov. James Allred will not take the stump in the campaign against repeal of prohibition, he said today, although he will vote against repeal. Organized drags were reported preparing to ask him to make speeches.

Allred said: "My position remains just the same as it was during the campaign. I favor submission. The question has been submitted. I stated I would vote against repeal but I accorded every other citizen the same right to his own conviction."

"I was elected not only by vote of my dry friends, but with the support of many liberals, who, while they disagreed with me as to the best method of handling the liquor question, respected my views. Personally and officially I am against liquor but I feel my friends on the other side of the question are entitled to their views."

Alameda Favored Again for Meet

ALAMEDA will be the scene of the fall meeting of the Eastland County Singing Convention, R. L. Rust, president of the association, announced Tuesday. Date of the meeting will be Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 13 and 14.

Indicative of success of the meet and hospitality of the host community, Alameda, at the meeting which ended Sunday, Mr. Rust stated, was that the church in the community was full, and hundreds stood outside and the citizens of that section served an appreciated dinner Sunday.

Singers were present from Abilene, Snyder, Roscoe, Haskell, Cisco, Stamford, Albany and other points.

Well known singers present who renewed old acquaintances included the music teacher-composer, Bud Warren of Stamford, Z. Z. Nuttle Butler of Phoenix, Ariz., and S. C. Hunt of Eastland.

Ranger Girls On Rotarian Program

Two Ranger girls, Misses Margaret Watt and Dorothy Marie Henry, were seen and heard by Eastland Rotarians in dances and songs Monday at the luncheon on Connelley hotel roof.

Mrs. T. A. Watt played accompaniment for the numbers.

H. Flowers and Albert Taylor were program committeemen.

J. B. Moreno, director of the football boy's benefit minstrel to be presented Friday night, urged attendance of Rotarians.

Rotarians decided to loan $45 to $25 to Boy Scouts who otherwise would not be able to attend the annual camp at Richland Springs.

Jack Taylor of Austin was the guest of his father, Albert Taylor. Mrs. Harry Henry of Ranger was a visitor at the club with her daughter, Dorothy Marie, who danced.

Rev. Charles W. Estes invited Rotarians to the annual Denton County Cattle Club, of which he is president, annual picnic scheduled Wednesday.

Mexico But Rain Quells Disorder

MEXICO CITY, July 16.—A fatal political fight and an attempt to fire the home here of Thomas Garrido Canabal, Mexican nazi leader, caused urgent government action today to prevent more serious trouble.

Seven men were killed and a number wounded when students and student leaders challenged the dictatorship of Canabal.

Angered at the news, 2009 students gathered here last night, drove to Canabal's residence and made ready to charge a hastily policed cordon in order to set fire to it. Both sides were set for a clash when a rainstorm intervened and caused the mob to disburse.

The man hunt centered in the rugged hill country above Sumner. An all-night search failed to reveal trace of the man who shot down police chief Frank Chadwick and patrolman Harry Store near Sumner, a few minutes after he robbed the Ortang State Bank of $500.

Fingerprint experts of the Tacoma police department checked the car the bandit abandoned. They were unable to make any marks check with those of known criminals.

PROCESSING TAX ON WHEAT DECLARED UNCONSTITUTIONAL BY CIRCUIT APPEALS COURT

BOSTON, July 16.—The controversial AAA processing tax is unconstitutional, the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled today.

In so deciding the circuit court overruled Federal District Judge Elisha Brewster, who last October upheld the validity of the tax.

The ruling was made in the case of the Hoosac Mills, Corp., which challenged the right of the government to collect processing and flour taxes of about $82,000.

The case before the circuit court since April 24 is regarded as the test which will establish whether the tax is constitutional.

It is understood government attorneys are prepared to carry it to the U. S. Supreme Court, hoping to get a final decision before Christmas.

The court decision was by a two to one vote. Two reasons for the decision were cited:

1.—The Federal legislature has no authority to regulate production which was in control of state authority.

PROHIBITION

By United Press
WASHINGTON, July 13.—Frank Wideman, assistant general in charge of tax cases, today said the decision of the circuit court in Boston holding AAA processing taxes unconstitutional, would be appealed immediately to the supreme court.

The Boston decision, the first made by a circuit court on the disputed taxes, will provide a supreme court that will determine the fate of the entire AAA program.

As additional suits are brought in district court many millions of dollars in taxes will be held in escrow pending those already filed.

AAA Administrator Chester Davis professed to welcome the Boston ruling because it brought the decision to the supreme court. Seth Thomas, solicitor of the agricultural department, said he was surprised at its nature.

No War Can Be Just, To A Real Pacifist

The editors of the Modern Monthly recently undertook to poll a number of distinguished Americans as to their attitude in the next war. They asked these people three questions, as follows:

What will you do when America goes to war? Will your decision be altered if Soviet Russia is an ally of the United States in a war with Japan? Would a prospective victory by Hitler over most of Europe move you to urge U. S. participation in opposition to Germany in order to prevent such a catastrophe?

From the word of these questions, it seems clear that a large part of the pacifist strength in America today has definite Communist leanings; that the editors of the magazine, in other words, felt it likely that some of our peace-at-any-price spokesmen might sing a different tune if confronted with a war in which the survival of either Communism or Fascism were involved.

One of the most interesting answers received came from Archibald MacLeish, the poet. He made the point that the moment a pacifist admits he might support a "just war, he ceases to be a pacifist; for, he points out:

"If enough people believe that a certain type of war might be justifiable, then the War Department will see that they get that kind of war—in print. The kind of war they have gotten in fact they will discover for themselves some years afterward."

And so, he concludes: "There is only one possible position against the menace of militarism: absolute hostility. Any other is romantic. Any other supplies the forces desiring war with the means of securing it."

A good deal of rather loose talk has been indulged in about pacifism in this country during recent years. Much of it represents a very real and sincere determination to have nothing more to do with war; but some of it, as this questionnaire suggests, is not so much based on opposition to war itself as on opposition to certain kinds of war.

And as Mr. MacLeish points out, that kind of opposition puts no real obstacle in the path of war. It simply lays everyone involved open to a flood of propaganda.

The uncompromising pacifist is at least logical. The man who says he would support a war under certain conditions will probably be found whooping it up for the next war that comes along, no matter why it is fought or with whom.

Parole System Fails When It Is Abused

J. Edgar Hoover, director of those "G-Men" who have made such a notable record of late, has earned the right to be listened to with serious attention whenever he speaks his mind about crime problems.

His recent attack on the evils of the parole system, therefore, is not the sort of thing that a believer in an enlightened penal system can afford to laugh off.

Mr. Hoover told the International Association of Chiefs of Police that America's lack of a strong parole system is a "ghastly farce," and demanded an end to the common practice of making paroles, probation, and commutation of sentences easy to obtain.

That the parole system in this country has been abused shamefully is beyond question. That an officer of Mr. Hoover's standing and experience should center a hot fire upon it merely confirms a long-standing suspicion.

Yet we should be exceedingly careful to see to it that the criticism falls where it really belongs—on the men who have abused the system, rather than on the system itself.

Basically, the parole system is an intelligent and humane part of enlightened criminology. It seeks to recognize the fact that the punishment ought to fit the criminal rather than the crime. Of two house-breakers, for instance, one may be a desperate thug who deserves to stay in prison for life while the other may be a man whom society can safely release after a brief period. The parole system is simply an attempt to adapt the penal machinery to such divergent cases.

But any social instrument is, in the long run, just as strong as the society which tries to make use of it—and no stronger.

If society, for instance, fills its chief offices—its governorships, its mayoralties, and so on—with self-seeking politicians who are in public life solely for what they can get out of it, then no one need be surprised if the instruments which these men handle are debased and perverted.

If our use of the parole provokes such a man as Mr. Hoover to righteous indignation, the fault lies with the persons who operate the system. And that, in turn, means that the ultimate fault is not own for putting them in office in the first place.

The remedy is not to junk the parole system, but to elect to office men who will have honesty and intelligence enough to make it work the way it ought to work.

There should be no place in any community for hard-heartedness and narrowness of spirit.

Canada Weighs Wheat Policy Loss and Gain

OTTAWA, Ont.—Although the dominion government was reticent about doing it, once it agreed to remove the lid from its operations in the wheat market, the removal, admittedly, was complete.

The revelations are most illuminating. The Canadian treasury is committed to a huge amount of money—roughly $196,000,000, with 228,000,000 bushels of wheat on hand which cost an average of 86 cents a bushel. On the other side there are substantial assets on hand and margins in cash.

When the new grain board, being set up by legislation, begins business, the gross obligations it will have to take over vary from $180,000,000 to more than $200,000,000, depending upon the cost of the futures which are contracted. Against this, is the value of the wheat and certain cash deposits. The contingent liability or, perhaps more properly speaking, the ultimate loss, will depend upon whether, and when, the huge surplus on hand is sold and at what price.

Certain facts stand out conspicuously in the complete inquiry which the government has facilitated. One is the primary circumstance that government intervention was designed to help the "pool" farmers out of the trouble into which they had landed after a futile endeavor to hold up the European market for a price which Europe would never pay.

Another admitted fact is that, in its stabilization processes, through the agency of John I. MacFarland, the government was motivated by the desire to protect the interest of the western producers when their own efforts to that end had proved disastrous. Whatever the disaster, if any, may be, there was good faith and good intent.

But it appears that the government agent did more than sell or hold wheat. The transactions were most varied. The agency was in and out of the market. It bought and it sold. It even sold at times and then bought back at a higher price—considerably higher in fact. At one time, there was a paper profit of more than $38,000,000 but it was not taken. If it had been the story would be different.

The wheat was held. Then the market fell off and the paper profit turned into a loss which has stayed a loss—steadily mounting.

What commonly is deduced from the operations is that the government agency was expecting only a fair crop this year and an absorptive world capacity greatly in excess of what it proved to be. Instead, the world production is promising, with the demand from Canada correspondingly lessened. If there were any gambling on a short crop, the "gamble" appears to have turned out badly.

In the two-sided argument, it is contended, from one viewpoint, that the stabilizing operations have meant $100,000,000 more to the western farmer. Against this is the huge financial obligation assumed by the dominion government; the apparent prospect of loss which may be heavy and the depressing effect on the wheat market, perhaps for three or four years, until the accumulation of

Film Star Sued for Dog's 'Play'

'Twas all in play, but it was expensive play when "Cappy," Jeanette MacDonald's 190-pound English sheep dog, shown here with his mistress, frolicked in the Hollywood home which the movie songstress rented from Corinne Griffith, another film headliner. So enthusiastic did "Cappy" become that Corinne has sued Jeanette for $1018, charging damage to furniture and drapes to "Cappy."

Aged Staging a Rush for Pensions

OLYMPIA, Wash.—With a $10,000,000 "paper appropriation" by the 1935 legislature, the State of Washington has started paying old age pensions directly out of the state general fund. The state abandoned its old plan of having counties pay pensions because no adequate way of financing them was discovered. Formerly, the state had contributed horse racing and liquor profits toward pensions. Under the new system pensions are handled by the newly-created state department of public welfare which replaced the Washington Emergency Relief Administration. A two per cent retail sales tax, an occupational tax and 11 other types of taxes were enacted by the 1935 legislature to finance government, schools, relief and pensions. The tax bill is expected to raise $35,000,000 the next two years. The state will retain its share on horse race betting and liquor profits to help finance pensions up to $30 a month. Frank Dowd, supervisor of old age pensions, estimated the state would pay 6,000 pensions by the middle of July and would have as high as 60,000 applicants for money. The state's pension law requires a person to be 65 years of age and a state resident five out of the last 10 years. All applications for pensions will be investigated by the welfare department before grants are made. The law was drafted to take advantage of any Federal Aid Congress may give states in financing pension programs. Under Washington's old country system, which proved unsatisfactory, few pensions were paid, due to lack of funds.

The Eagle History Traced in Bible
 Mrs. Connell said the Great Stone Face in New Hampshire was similar to the part of Joshua where pilgrims entered the promised land and were commanded to take stones and leave them in the lodging place where they lodged for the night. "And these stones shall be for a memorial unto the children of Israel did as they were commanded, and they are there unto this day." she said.

THE most plausible reason for the numerous stones carried in the penguin's stomach is that, since he eats enormous amounts of fish, he needs assistance in grinding and digesting his meals.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MARY E. DAGUE SEA Service Staff Writer

Monday's Menu BREAKFAST: Baked apples, cereal, cream, minced ham on toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Iced bouillon, salted crackers, macaroni baked with cheese, rye bread, blackberry cream puffs, milk, tea.

DINNER: Tomato and fruit juice cocktail, breaded veal steak, diced potatoes in cream, ring mold of beet greens filled with buttered beets, melon sherbet, milk, coffee.

Jellied tomato bouillon is tartly piquant. It should not be stiff enough to hold its shape.

Crisp wafers are a good accompaniment for any jellied soup. And radishes and celery can be served with anything but a mixed vegetable soup.

Canned soups, bouillon cubes or freshly made stock are suitable for jellied soups. Instead of long cooking and fussing over meat bones trying to extract the gelatin to make the soup thick, use gelatin with canned soup or bouillon cubes. Extra salt and pepper are needed for iced bouillon.

In making a fruit cocktail, be sure to cut fruit neatly in small pieces. Crushed or broken fruit is much less inviting. Do not cover melon with crushed ice. This dulls the flavor and is not effective for chilling.

The flavor of tomato and fruit juice cocktail is so elusive that everyone who drinks it for the first time wonders what the mixture is.

Tomato and Fruit Juice Cocktail One quart tomato juice, juice of 2 lemons, 1-2 cup pineapple juice, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons powdered sugar.

Add to cracked ice in a cocktail shaker and shake well. Serve with a sprig of watercress in each glass.

Of course when you serve a tomato juice cocktail tomatoes shouldn't appear any place else on the menu. If you serve a jellied soup, then a jellied salad or dessert is out. However, at this season of the year fruits and vegetables are so abundant that it's easy to provide a pleasant variety.

Noyes B. Livingston, Fort Worth geologist, worked out location for the well.

This operation has attracted considerable interest, as revealed by the fact that a number of companies have invested in offset acreage.

Included are: Magnolia Petroleum company has purchased the east 180-acre offset to well;

Danciger Oil & Refining company has acquired a block of 90.6 acres north;

Hanlon Gasoline company has taken an 80-acre tract in a diagonal northwest offset, and Dulaney Investment company has purchased a 20-acre tract northwest of the well.

inoperative, and that until company property in each city involved had been evaluated and a rate case carried through various hearings and courts there could be no reduction of burner tip rates.

Even though higher courts sustain the rate reduction, it cannot be passed on without each city going through a rate case, according to attorneys.

Full text of Mr. Denning's telegram follows: "In our opinion there is a general misapprehension concerning the holding of the Austin Court of Civil Appeals in the Lone Star rate case and its effect upon the rates of the Lone Star Gas company and the distributing companies to which it supplies gas."

"One erroneous conclusion is that the eight-cent per thousand cubic feet reduction ordered in the rate case will necessarily result in a similar reduction in the burner tip rates. As a matter of law and fact, there can be no determination of rates in any of the distributing companies until the property and business in each town has been evaluated and all of the processes of rate making have been gone through as provided by law, including hearings before the railroad commission and review of the commission's order by the courts."

"We have the greatest deference for the opinion of any court of this state, but under the laws of the state the opinion of the Court of Civil Appeals is not final; and, believing as we do that the preservation of the company's property and of the public service which it has undertaken to render demands that this case be prosecuted to higher courts for the purpose of having the issues ultimately submitted and determined, our attorneys are now in the process of preparing the necessary proceedings looking to this end. While the appeal is being prosecuted to the supreme court, the judgment of the Court of Civil Appeals is suspended and inoperative."

B. Denning, president of the company, sent last week to the mayor of this city.

The telegram explained that until the case had reached the highest courts, the recent decision is
