

ETHIOPIA AGREES TO LEAGUE COUNCIL PLANS

What Reminds me...

When a fellow gets a letter from "the dearest mother in the world" who has rounded out more than the proverbial three score and ten years, who has had the blessings of nature in the instance at that age, of only having her hair streaked with gray, making her more beautiful, on the morning of his birthday, then all else is beautiful. It is the inspiration that knocks despondency and the blues into a cocked hat. Folks all around seem like they are part and parcel of this joyous individual feeling, although they do not know what is in the heart of the fellow. Of course no matter how old a mother gets nor how old her son or daughter may be, a real mother always handles her child as children as if they were still climbing over the back fence with tattered breeches and she with her watchful eye, rushes out to grab him before he falls. If you are a son or daughter and you get one that winds up like this, "Keep well, do good dear, and if mothers prayers do any good it will all be, I love you dear, better than anything in this world. Good luck sweet and lots of love and kisses from your mother." Well, those who do, you know how it makes you feel. If you are a parent, remember when those words are put in the letter to your kiddies whether young or old, something is bound to inspire the spark of determination to carry out the admonition.

You know, folks are funny critters. Take for instance many husbands—in fact all of them, no matter how much salt the wife puts in the cooking, the first thing husband grabs when he puts his boots under the table, is the salt shaker and he begins to pile more salt on the food. They'll do it every time. Then its like expressions. For instance we always hear folks say, "Why not use common horse sense." Now thats a wrong thing to advise because when a fire breaks out the darned old horse will rush right into it. Folks will run away from it. Who wants to use common horse sense in an occasion like that? Besides, folks are different, much different from horses and cows, too. Take for instance the matter of getting up and down. A horse will lie down on his side and stay there. When he gets up he puts out his front feet first. A cow is just the opposite. In one way when a cow lies down, she is on her side also. Bests her head backwards on her side. But when she gets up she shoves out her hind feet first and raises up to standing. Now take humans. Those who keep up with the Willetts (in the Eastland Telegram daily and Sunday) "Out Our Way" if they will not the thousands of positions that Willetts gets into, whether sleeping, walking or sitting or standing, they can readily see that there is no particular way that folks get up, nor lie down. Its a constant series of contractions and aerobatics. Most all humans are like that, so all in all we have the art of doing everything in every way that every known animal in the world does, and do it all at one time.

Now that previous paragraph was a matter of rambling. Here is something serious to think about. First, Highway No. 89, and which we had a big celebration about seems to be in the balance. Just why we don't know. Maybe politics, maybe not, but the main thing is, to raise all the consistent (Continued on page 6)

"Everything was unusual," was John Burke's observation of Mexico City, D. F., after returning to Eastland Friday from the Lions International Convention.

Mr. Burke spent one week at the convention as representative of the Eastland club, and a similar period at Paris with Mrs. Burke visiting relatives.

While absent from his theater manager, Doyle Maynard of Dallas, was manager. Maynard was scheduled to leave today for Dallas where he is student manager of the Melba Theater.

Meet "Mr. K"

The complications that have found echo in Berlin as a result of Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia's efforts to prevent issuance of a passport's license to Paul W. Kress (above), of New York, has brought international fame to the young German who seeks his second American citizenship papers. In early reports of the case, Kress's identity was concealed by enigmatic references to "Mr. K."

NEWS MEN ARE FINED AFTER DEFYING JUDGE

ANGLETON, Aug. 3.—Editors and reporters of three Houston newspapers, arrested when they refused to pay fines of $375 for contempt of court, were released today. The writs of habeas corpus were issued by Chief Justice W. C. Morrow of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals at Austin on application of defense attorneys. District Judge M. S. Munson who ruled the men in contempt for disobeying orders not to publish accounts of a murder trial, ordered them released 30 minutes after he had committed them to custody of Sheriff James Martin. Judge Munson was advised from Austin the writs had been issued and bail fixed at $200 and set a hearing before the appeals court Oct. 9. Those ruled in contempt were managing editor Ed Polley and reporter Harry McCormick of the Houston Press; Editor George Cottingham and Ed Rider of the Chronicle and managing editor Max Jacobs of the Houston Post. The editors were fined $100 each, the maximum fine under the state law and the reporters $25 each. No jail sentences were assessed though the law provides a maximum sentence of three days.

Special Session Is a Possibility Governor Admits

AUSTIN, Aug. 3.—Possibility of a special session "if some amendments carry" was admitted today by Governor Allred. He declined to specify what amendments might necessitate calling the special sessions. Should prohibition be repealed the legislature must make laws for regulation and define an "open saloon," outlawed under the amendment. Old age pensions might call for early action by the legislature. The special session discussion arose when Allred was invited to ceremonies reopening work on Buchanan dam.

SLAYER OF A POLICE CHIEF IS LYNCHED

YREKA, Calif., Aug. 3.—Cheating the law in a return to frontier justice, a mob of about 75 men today seized C. L. Johnson, suspect in the slaying of a police officer, and hanged him to a pine tree. Johnson was taken from the county jail where he had been held since Monday after the slaying of the chief of police, F. R. Daw of Dansour, a small mountain town 50 miles south of here. Within an hour Johnson's shoeless body, clad in a white shirt and black trousers, was swinging from a pine tree outside the town. The mob scattered before authorities could mobilize to save the youth who confessed he and Robert Miller, a fugitive, shot Daw when he tried to question them about a holdup. The lynchers struck so suddenly only one man was on duty at the county jail.

House Rejects a Taxation Program

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—The house rejected an avalanche of amendments today in defense of the administration tax-the-rich bill, but rebuffed President Roosevelt by approving a committee amendment giving corporations certain concessions on gifts to charity. Other amendments included one for a national lottery, another for a 2 to 4 per cent tax on intercorporate dividends, were defeated.

It has been closed for over two years.

New Dry Law Is Expected by a Dry

SALEM, Ore.—Prohibition will come back through the slow accumulation of dry states, predicts Dr. Clarence True Wilson, national dry leader. "I can cite you 20 reasons why we cannot immediately restore prohibition as some suggest," he said. "The sentiment that did not prevent us losing prohibition is not aggressive enough to get it back. "When we get 40 dry states under local option, then we can again ask for national prohibition."

PENKNIFE 'SURGERY' KILLS BRIDEGROOM

After being kidnaped and taken to a lonely spot in Chicago's South side, Dr. Walter J. Bauer, 35 years old, a bridegroom of three weeks, was subjected to mutilation with a pen knife which cost him his life. Police believe a former tailor of Bauer's bride mutilated the physician. Dr. Bauer had been in Ann Arbor, Mich., taking a summer course while his bride, also shown above, remained at a hospital at Kirksville, Mo., where she was a nurse.

Procedure Given For Absent Vote

Stricter absentee voting procedure was explained Saturday by County Clerk T. M. Collicie at Eastland.

This year, Collicie stated, prospective absentee voters must make application at his office, showing a poll tax receipt, exemption certificate or an affidavit that they have either been lost or mislaid. After making the application, the voter must mark the ballot in the presence of the clerk in such a manner that it is not known how he is voting. After marking the ballot and sealing it in an envelope it is given to the clerk. The absentee voter must pay 24 cents to the clerk for costs of the ballot and mailing to the election judge. The county clerk will mail the ballot. Voters out of the county will make application to an authorized officer at his temporary address from where it is sent to County Clerk Collicie. Collicie will mail the ballot to the officer to whom the voter has made application. The officer will mark the ballot in the presence of the officer to whom he has made application. The out of county officer then sends it to Clerk Collicie who forwards it by mail to the election judge in the voters precinct. Personal absentee voting will open Aug. 5 and mail balloting on Friday, Aug. 9th. The affidavit, printed on back of the ballot envelope, requires the voter to wear to his occupation necessitating absence from the city on election date. He must swear that the ballot was marked in secret.

Sailor Turns To A Wilderness To Make His Living Trapping

REGINA, Sask.—Olie Ness, jobless Norwegian sailor, who went north and turned hermit rather than accept charity, is going to pay a brief visit to civilization as soon as he finishes his home-made canoe. Two years ago Ness grew tired of tramping the streets looking for work. He packed his few belongings and set out for Northern Saskatchewan. He built a log cabin on a spot 250 miles north of Prince Albert and started to wrest a living from the hinterlands. So completely did he maroon himself that he didn't see a white man for 15 months. Ness brought a quantity of flour, tea, sugar and potatoes with him, but depends on moose and fish for most of his food. In his spare time he traps wild game. A Regina airplane pilot, who came across Ness' cabin several weeks ago and stopped for a visit, said Ness had gathered nearly $800 worth of pelts and was building a canoe in which he plans to visit a trading post near Las Ronge to trade his skins for food supplies. The pilot said the one-time sailor showed no inclination to return to civilization permanently and plans to return north as soon as possible after his trip.

The accident occurred when two trucks sideswiped. Included in the dead is Manley Allred, supposedly a second cousin of Gov. James V. Allred.

TROUBLE HAS BEGUN AGAIN OVER HARLAN

HARLAN, Ky., Aug. 3.—Trouble appeared certain in "bloody" Harlan county today when 20 precinct voting stations failed to open in the primary election for governor. Precinct leaders refused to open voting places because of the presence of more than 7,000 national guards stationed in the county after their arrival from Frankfort and Lexington. There has been friction between union mine workers and sheriff deputies in Harlan county. Recently the sheriff sought an injunction to prevent Gov. Ruby Laffon from sending state police into the coal fields. Union mine workers complained that deputies were preventing them from working. The miners asked protection of state troops in the past two weeks and the situation had quieted.

Funeral Is Held For Wife of Rev. W. W. Chancellor

Funeral services for Mrs. W. W. Chancellor, wife of Rev. W. W. Chancellor of Mineral Wells, who was killed in an automobile accident near Weatherford Friday, were conducted Saturday at Mineral Wells. The services were conducted from the First Baptist church, of which Rev. Chancellor was pastor, after which the body was taken to Bowie for burial. Both Rev. and Mrs. Chancellor were well known in Eastland county as he had held revival services in Ranger and had preached at the Eastland Baptist church. Rev. Mr. Chancellor, who received a broken arm and severe bruises in the wreck, was taken to his home today from a hospital. A daughter, Miss Alberta Chancellor, was uninjured. Miss Edith Norman of Mineral Wells, also riding in the car, was recovering at her home today. She is suffering from a chest injury. The Chancellor machine overturned seven miles west of Weatherford as the party was returning from a visit to that city. Besides her husband and daughter, Mrs. Chancellor is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Edith Laffon, Oklahoma City; two sons, William Chancellor, Mineral Wells, and H. C. Chancellor, San Antonio. The Chancellors have lived here five years.

Emperor Dons Garb of War

Grimly symbolic of the threat of war that overlhangs Ethiopia is this picture of Emperor Haile Selassie, wearing a field marshal's uniform specially designed for him, instead of the regal robes in which he customarily is photographed. Carrying a pair of powerful field glasses, he is shown watching the modernized section of his army at recent maneuvers near Addis Ababa.

ITALY ALREADY HAD AGREED TO THE PLAN

Is Believed It May Avert War In Ethiopia Over Border Disputes.

GENEVA, Aug. 3.—The league of nations announced today Ethiopia had accepted its proposals to end the Italian dispute. Acceptance by Ethiopia of the league's latest proposal, assures its approval by the league council, which means diplomatic efforts to bring a solution have proved successful to date. The council plans already accepted for Italy by Mussolini, only needed the Ethiopian agreement to remove the menace of war to a great degree. The council's plan listed three main provisions: 1—A resolution by the council favoring resumption of negotiations between Italy and Ethiopia regarding the responsibility for frontier clashes. 2—A resolution agreeing to meet and consider the whole dispute at once if negotiations have not reached a decision Sept. 4. 3—A joint Anglo-French-Italian declaration to the council that the three countries will start negotiations among themselves to liquidate the dispute. Ethiopia's acceptance means a direct diplomatic victory for Italy, which had wanted to resume arbitration, although reconstructing if merely to a discussion of responsibility for border clashes.

Woman Is Glad She Killed 'Witch' She Tells Officers

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 3.—Mrs. Matilda Waldman, whose "hallucinations" of "witchery" and "fireballs" lead her to kill her one-time friend, calmly told a police judge she was far from sorry she had slain Mrs. Ida Rose Cooper. "She was a witch. I shot her. I am not sorry," the austere matron said when arraigned on a charge of first degree murder. After the hearing the woman was led to the jail cell where last night she got the "first good night's sleep in years." In a cell at the county courthouse sat her husband, Sam, awaiting issuance of a lunacy warrant. It was he who convinced his wife he was being "witched" by Mrs. Cooper, that fire balls entered their room at night, that "black magic and fire magic" was being practiced by the wife of Isador Cooper.

Mystery Is Deepened In Murder Case

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 3.—The mysterious slaying of Arthur McDermott, made the more difficult by the fact a shooting was not suspected until hours after he died, sent police on a search today for the killer and the gun used. McDermott, 32, of good habits and without a known enemy, was shot in the head as he worked at a cotton shredding machine in a mattress factory. Near him were two other workers, both friends. Three other men worked on an office balcony. Noise of the machinery was so great no report of a shot could be heard. No one saw McDermott fall. One worker stumbled over him when he started to leave for lunch. There was a wound in the head and it was thought McDermott had been hit by a bolt from the machine. That was Tuesday. Yesterday McDermott died and hospital internes presumed he was suffering from a skull fracture. A coroner's assistant, discovered the bullet. Police thought an old cartridge in a mattress might have exploded, but ballistic tests showed the bullet had been fired from a pistol. It had made a direct hit.

Labor Function In Programs To Fall to N. R. S.

The National Reemployment Service will be the clearance agency for labor in the Works Progress and Public Works Administration programs, Crigler Paschall assistant district manager, was told at a meeting in Abilene Friday. Representatives in West Texas of the National Reemployment service were told of procedure to be followed in WPA work. The service will be directly responsible for the qualification and selection of all workers on WPA and PWA projects. Mr. Paschall stated Saturday that workers of every classification are shown on registration rolls of the NRS in this county. For any project approval in the government agencies, the office will be able to supply the workers needed. His office is assuming a more important role than that before, Mr. Paschall stated. Under the United States Department of Labor, the office until recently only placed workers in private channels and government building. Now with its part in the WPA and PWA programs it is assuming an important function. Mr. Paschall indicated.

MOSCOW, Aug. 3.—The Soviet polar plane left land behind today and headed over the Arctic wastes of the polar seas on its long flight over the north pole to San Francisco, according to messages received here. At 2:25 p. m. (7:25 a. m. EST) a message was received here from the low-winged monoplane saying that it was out from land and over the desolate Bering sea in the Arctic ocean.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Love" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Aug. 4.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord hath appeared of old unto me, saying, Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love; therefore with lovingkindness have I drawn thee" (Jeremiah 31:3).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "We have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him" (1 John 4:16).

The lesson-sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mortals believe in a finite personal God; while God is infinite love, which must be unlimited. . . . More than this we cannot ask, higher we cannot look, farther we cannot go" (pages 312 and 6).

Houston County Has Unusual Project

CROCKETT, Texas. — Houston county boasts one of the unique projects, the first of its kind, in the United States.

A number of agencies and individuals cooperated to build the Friendship work center whose activities include canning, sewing, chair and furniture making, manufacture of lumber and shingles.

Residents of the Friendship community have voted to change the name of the project to the O. B. Martin Friendship work center in honor of the late O. B. Martin, former director of state agricultural extension service who was instrumental in its establishment.

Martin suggested the project to aid citizens, hard-pressed by the depression, in making a livelihood.

Air Travelers Prefer Sleeping In Pajamas

NEW YORK.—Pajamas in dark shades are women's favorite sleeping garments for air travel and only rarely is a nightgown worn. This conclusion was reached by Anne Clegg, American Airlines stewardess, after observing habits of travelers on sleep planes for the past year.

Nine out of ten times the garment is of a dark color, she noted, but she hesitated to set any ratio on pajamas as compared to nightgowns.

De Leon Melon and Peach Festival Will Be Held Aug. 7-9th

De Leon's Eighth Annual Melon-Peach Festival will be held at that place from Wednesday, August 7, through Friday, August 9, according to an announcement received Wednesday.

The celebration is being given in connection with De Leon's record-breaking peach and melon marketing season, in which 100,000 bushels of peaches and between 400 and 500 car loads of watermelons are being moved.

The celebration opens with a street parade Wednesday morning, terminating at the fair grounds where Harry Hines, chairman of the Texas Highway Commission, will deliver an address. That night the coronation of "Queen Elberta of the House of Tom Watson" will be staged, the court being invested with regal splendor. Miss Eugena Gentry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Gentry, was chosen as queen in a popular voting contest.

As the principal feature of the three-day program of free entertainment, De Leon growers will slice and serve free to the thousands of visitors iced watermelon at 3:30 Friday afternoon.

Melons and peaches will be judged at 1:00 p. m. Wednesday and cash awards paid to the winners. There will be a baseball game each afternoon and carnival and other attractions.

"OUT OUR WAY" ———— By William

Simple Reform Means Wide Social Change

Few reforms in this modern world can stand by themselves. Nearly all of them are interlocked with the social structure as a whole, and if you undertake to set one minor matter right you are apt to find yourself committed to making a sweeping change in the entire set-up.

For example: Dr. David Snedden, professor of education at Teachers' College, Columbia University, discussed the education of small children before a summer school class in New York the other night.

His point was that sending a child to school or kindergarten at too early an age puts the child in an unnatural environment and is apt to do more harm than good. It would be preferable, he said, to keep a child at home until it is 9 or 10 years old.

Then he went on to describe what he conceived as the ideal "school" for a child. There should be a normal household, he said, with a roomy back yard, flanked by similar yards in which the child and his playmates could come together.

All of this, he added, should be under "the sympathetic oversight of mothers who are not rainfully employed but are free to give their entire time to the vocation of home-making, including its most important division of child rearing."

Now all of this sounds very nice indeed, and there will be few to disagree with the good sense of the prescription. But try, just for a moment, to imagine the sweeping changes that would have to be made in our social habits to provide this setting for the average child.

First we must have a comfortable house with a roomy yard. This, at one fell swoop, does away with those massed city blocks of apartment houses, "duplexes" and little cubby-hole dwellings with ten-by-seven back yards. It would mean rebuilding a good half of every city, and raising the economic status of a sizable percentage of our entire population—for some millions of people fail to provide roomy back yards for their children for the simple reason that they can't afford it.

Then there is the demand that the mother be a full-time housewife, with no outside job to take up her time; and this, in turn, would call for another revolution. We have several million women gainfully employed in trade and industry, a great many of them mothers; and most of them work not because they like to but because they have to, to keep the family going.

If we are to fill this prescription, the annual income of innumerable families will have to be boosted—and thousands of men will have to learn how to become milliners, beauty shop operators, typists and heaven knows what else.

All of this is just a sample of the way things interlock in this modern world. Here we have an educator telling what we ought to give our children. To do it we would have to have an entirely different kind of society.

Gov. Talmadge of Georgia Throws Hat in Ring

Gov. Eugene Talmadge of Georgia has planned a speaking campaign of the North and West this fall "to prevent the renomination of President Roosevelt." He will open in Illinois in September. He will go from Illinois to Iowa. And later campaign in New York and the New England states.

He should make an invasion of Louisiana where the real kingfish of the South is master of the political field. Long is a candidate for a presidential nomination. Talmadge is a candidate. They are two of a kind, but Long is a keenminded politician, he has the audacity of the toughest ward leaders.

South Dakota Relief Heads Issue Drastic Order

South Dakota has a democratic governor, Thomas L. Berry. He is one of the leading ranchers and livestock producers of the state. He is not a politician. He is a hard-headed business man—a humane American. He believes all men who are fit to work should prefer a wage to charity. Nineteen thousand heads of families were removed from the state relief rolls in a drastic move to force them to seek employment in the harvest fields. There was a reason for it.

"Spurred by farmers' complaints that dole recipients had declined to go to work gathering grain, officials ordered the suspension of all state and federal relief until the shortage of farm labor is fully supplied."

South Dakota is an agricultural state—a livestock state. Thousands on the relief rolls were in the rural district. Harvesting time is on and the growers of things demand that men on the relief rolls who are able to work and to support their dependents should be called to the fields and assist in the harvesting of bumper grain crops and this, too, without delay.

Why shouldn't the dole be abandoned in sections where there is work for thousands of harvesters and laborers?

There's lots of room in the FORD V-8

EVERY ONE who steps into the Ford V-8 for the first time is surprised at its roominess. There's exceptional seat room, leg room and head room in all body types—the whole car gives you a feeling of substantial size.

The Ford gives you extra body room because of the compact design of the V-8 engine—an exclusive Ford feature at a low price. This V-8 engine takes up less space in the hood and permits more of the car's length to be used for passenger comfort.

Many a car selling at a higher price does not give you as much interior room as the Ford V-8.

Rear seats are wide and restful . . . three people can ride comfortably in the front seat of the Fordor Sedan, Fordor Touring Sedan, Convertible Sedan and Phaeton, and in the Coupes and Roadster. The seat of the Ford V-8 Roadster is 52 inches wide.

A ride in the Ford V-8 will show that it combines unusual body room with fine-car performance, safety, beauty and riding comfort.

JOSIAH, A RELIGIOUS REFORMER

2 Kings 22:1-5, 21-23

Golden Text: Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve.—Matt. 4:10. Josiah, an eight-year-old boy, son of Amon and grandson of Manasseh, two very wicked kings who had led Judah into heathenism, was crowned king in Jerusalem.

Josephus pictures him as a lad of "most excellent disposition, and naturally virtuous, and followed the actions of King David, as a pattern and a rule to him in the whole conduct of his life."

It is supposed that his mother taught him but the priest, Hilkiah, was responsible for his great interest in leading the people back to God.

No doubt the people worshipping heathen idols laughed at the idea of an eight-year-old boy accomplishing any direct plan. But they did not consider God who could take this child of open mind and heart, Hilkiah, the priest, Huldah, the prophetess, and Jeremiah, the prophet, and win great victories.

From the age of 12 years he began to lead his people, "like a very elderly man" of understanding back to the worship of God. He took collections all through the land and repaired the temple, cleaning out all the heathen altars that had been erected therein.

When he had reached his eighteenth year and they were bringing out all the gold to make cups and vessels for the temple, the high priest found the lost Book of Moses. The priest sent the book by the scribe, Shaphan, to the king. When he had read this book to him Josiah was alarmed for he was student enough to know God's dealings with disobedient children was severe. He sent a number of his men to Huldah, a prophetess, to know what plan to follow.

She came with "Thus saith Jehovah," and told of the destruction of the land but that God would let Josiah die in peace and not to see that desolation.

But Josiah cleaned out the land of idols even to the searching of private homes and had them burned. He went so far as to burn the bones of the false prophets and scatter their ashes.

He called the people together to celebrate the passover in the greatest number of sacrifices ever made. A priest was put over certain numbers of people who explained the law of Moses to them.

He then read the covenant to them and had them stand in agreement to keep it before the Lord. He explained that the sin of "omission" as well as "commission" by relating the events in the preceding generations while the Book had been lost.

All seemed well until Neco, the king of Egypt, marched against the Medes and Babylonians and asked permission of Josiah to march through the city of Mendes in his kingdom.

Josiah brought out an army to prevent the march and was killed. His death was mourned and lamented and the kingdom was desolate again as Huldah had prophesied.

Josephus expressed it, "I suppose it was fate that pushed him on this conduct." Anyway, he died as God had said he would before the kingdom was again destroyed.

How great a contrast today since Christ atoned for people of the earth. The people under the law had no choice but to struggle under great hardships to keep the law.

But today grace abounds for the freedom of man to struggle upward in a newer and truer light. Each person must answer for his own life and use of talents.

In thinking of the lost Book of the Law of Moses, we wonder if the Bible is not a lost book in many homes of our own fair land.

Idols, to one of them, children were offered. Are idols exist in homes today? Are children offered bodily to these? In many homes, yes. They do not know the word of God or his dealings with them. They do not know that payday is coming when they must face God.

Manasseh led Judah to sin. It is tragic for anyone to let sin blot out the good in their own life but it is doubly so when parents by the sin of "omission" fail to teach their children the word of God and the natural spiritual growth therein. A child can know God at a very tender age. Josiah was only eight years of age and began to lead his people to know God.

This nation, the greatest on earth, in the turmoil and strife of this age, needs homes with parents who can advise their children with "Thus saith Jehovah."

SHARI CLUB AT 2:30 O'CLOCK AT HER RESIDENCE

After the roll call by their secretary, Miss Nelda Wood, a short business session was presided over by Miss Harper, vice president, when a bicycling party was arranged for Saturday morning, the party to assemble at the Methodist church at 10:30 o'clock for the start to Lake Tully, where they had lunch.

Refreshments of cookies and lemonade was served to those present, Misses Helen Rosenquist, Lucy Cottingham, Nina Mae Seale, Nelda Wood, and hostess, Eleanor Harper.

That Reminds Me

hell we can see that the highway 89 project is completed according to promise. Judge Ely, former Highway Commissioner, was in full authority at the time, and the project was approved and started by he and his colleagues.

His successor should by all means carry out these pledges as made honestly. There should be no delay in going on with the work of topping it, and to name and designate other highways, thereby giving the intimation that the one started has been sidetracked, is entirely out of line with honest administration. Number two is that the district relief administration offices are to be placed in Abilene, county office will be shut down, not for repairs, but permanently.

Might be more politics in this, or it might not. The Eastland county relief office and its ministration, as well as its efficient set-up has been a mark for all other counties to shoot at for as near perfection as possible. Letters to that effect have been written from Austin headquarters as well as national headquarters. Eastland county has the largest case load west of Fort Worth, including the fact that even more than Taylor county. Eastland county citizens have cooperated to the limit with the relief headquarters, with their money and time. They have acceded to every demand made of them, such as furnishing adequate administration office space without cost to the government and from every other source. H. S. Driscoll who has been county relief administrator has built up one of the greatest relief organizations both work and direct in the state through the cooperation of the people. His local county board and other assistances of the county citizenship. He has eliminated politics entirely from the field of his activities. But now overnight that is all scrapped. Eastland county wasn't even considered, word just came that the change has been made, whether we like it or not.

If we could only do something to arouse the citizenship of Eastland to the necessity and importance of a functioning chamber of commerce with enough background of finances to consistently carry it on. How can a chamber of commerce do anything worth while when it is so poorly supported with finances that those whose job it is to do most of the work don't get enough out of it to buy a quart of gasoline. As little as most folks may know, the Eastland chamber of commerce has done a world of good for the benefit of every individual, under the most serious handicaps one can imagine. In fact up to now they have done the impossible. The business interests should either get behind the chamber of commerce and support it, work with it, or scrap it completely. The Cisco chamber of commerce and the Ranger chamber of commerce are tax supported as well as receiving monetary support from the business interests. To say that the Eastland chamber of commerce never does anything is merely to acknowledge by those who may say it that they themselves have fallen down on the job and are mostly to blame. No organization anywhere has the fingers on the pulse of the needs of a community, and the commercial necessities, more than the chamber of commerce in any community. It is the firing line of commercial progress—the extent of the success it makes depends entirely upon the support it receives and the voluntary enlistments of the citizenship to get into the line and work together shoulder to shoulder. Every sane person in the bounds of Eastland community knows that Eastland's most wonderful opportunity its history to make the climb to stable and commercial progress. Everyone knows that it has the potentialities for a most constructive factory welfare of West Texas. Eastland has existed in spite of itself. To sit around doing nothing but cuss the chamber of commerce for not doing anything, is the least possible resistance. It is only an excuse to shirk great responsibility of something worth while for low man and ourselves, without question a most unexcusable and is inexcusable. Those who would attempt to evade, would attempt to refuse to cooperate simply because they are not "slobbers" over with praise for this and are bordering on egotism. All glory to those who given the chamber of commerce their time and money to carry on, it has already been done. It ran amiss, it was not because it didn't try, but because of general interest and cooperation of their fellow citizens.
