The 7-Day Apollo moon-orbiting space shot is scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 21—just days before Christmas. Timely is this Christmas thought by Eastland High School Librarian Mrs. Trixie Lester. She calls it "Keeping the Spirit of Christmas."

Martin Luther wrote this about Christmas. "It is not simply an old story of an event that happened fifteen hundred years ago; it is more than an event that happened once; for it is a gift and a bestowing that endures for ever."

The Christmas story has everything. Innocence, love and hope, simplicity, music and mystery, a star, a song and a small son—these elements are all here. If we are not too withered by the world's woes, they will bring a wealth of warmth and wonder to our hearts.

Christmas Day is the dearest and most delightful day of the year, because it is the greatest and gentlest gesture of God's generosity. "Unto us a Son is given" (Isaiah 9:6). No cold calculating of this or that mars the rare simplicity of the Divine Grace.

God's gift is outright. It is unspeakable. It is "given not lent," and "not withdrawn once sent." It is for Christmas Day and for every day. It is for every day because we need it every day. Our emptiness united God's abundance. Our weakness cries out for His strength. Our blindness gropes for His guiding hand.

When we gather in reverent adoration around the Son of God in the straw-lined crib, the Still Small Voice speaks the strengthening word that sin will never be put out.

But let us get our perspective right. In the light of the setting sun even the smallest object thrown long shadows. Let us give first place to first things. As we approach the Holy Night, let us examine our priorities.

Let us come to Christmas this year with this thought burnt into our minds:

The most important question of our day is not, "When will we reach the moon?" The most important question of our day is,

"When will we go to Bethlehem?"

Miss Sherry Decker, pretty young Comanche National Bank teller who was forced at gunpoint to sack money during the Thursday morning robbery of the bank, is a former Eastland resident and 1964 graduate of EHS.

Her parents, Mrs. Baird's Bread employee Milton Decker and his wife Mamie, moved to Comanche from Eastland in June, 1964. A spokesman was quoted as saying, "Miss Decker did exactly as she should have done."

The Ed Ethridge have a problem. They selected a traditional "roast goose, plum pudding" Christmas dinner menu and now are unable to locate a goose. If you have a goose, and you would be willing to sell it, please contact the Ethridges. Oh, yes, and the goose must be dead when you sell it. Mrs. Ethridge says she is too "goose-hearted" to kill after they buy it.

Post Office Brings Further Honors to City of Eastland

ON HAND FOR PRESENTATION—Participating in the presentation of the Post Master General's Citation for Excellence Wednesday were from left: J. Allen Dupree, assistant to the Regional Director, Dallas Region, Post Office Department; Eastland Mayor Frank Deaton; Post Office Custodian Ardene Lassater; Former Eastland Postmaster Ed Layton; Former Postmaster Mrs. Marene Johnson; Post Office Custodian D. J. West; Cong. Omar Burleson; Postmaster Marcus O'Dell; and Eastland Chamber of Commerce President J. T. Gregory. (Staff Photo)

'CONGRATULATIONS'—Cong. Omar Burleson congratulates Postmaster Marcus O'Dell on the award from the Postmaster General. The citation reads: "The Postmaster General's Citation for Excellence... to the people of Eastland and its postal employees for making the building and grounds of the post office in such a manner as to provide a clean, attractive and pleasant place in which the public may conduct its postal business."

Cong. Burleson Visits With 'His People' Here

A 30-minute communion between constituents and congressman provided an all-too-rare opportunity Wednesday for an informal examination of the present and a look into the future.

Veteran Cong. Omar Burleson was the honored guest, and a good number of Eastland business and professional people sipped coffee and conversed with him in the meeting room of Eastland National Bank in a relaxed manner arranged by Bank President H. T. Wilson.

Apologizing for not being able to visit oftener, Mr. Burleson explained the recent (and apparently continuing) enlargement of his district which doesn't afford him too much time for the visits "He'd like to make." (Seven counties are being added to his 17th Congressional District on Jan. 1, 1969, bringing to 31, number he serves. With a population of 442,036 and an area of 29,219 square miles, the district keeps him busy.)

Speaking informally, Cong. Burleson talked of his hope for economies in government ("Unfortunately, there's only 27 per cent of the expenditures that can be cut, even if it's decided that cuts are needed. The rest is fixed by law and just can't be changed.")

He talked of the shaky international monetary system, and the importance and value of the U. S. Dollar.

Just reelected to a new two-year term, Cong. Burleson's position on the important House Ways and Means Committee, appears assured as a result of the recent election which didn't tilt the political balance in the House. In fact,

Mr. Burleson's seniority is already such that there are three (and soon to be four) below him on the Ways and Means Committee.

The House Ways and Means Committee handles all tax legislation, social security legislation, tariffs and quotas on all foreign imports formulation of tax policy and all matters affecting our fiscal policy and monetary system. With a Democrat majority in the congress, the Committee is composed of 15 Democrats and 10 Republicans. There are no subcommittees and for this reason, any seat below that of the chairman is as important as any other. Seniority on this Committee is significant only in selecting the chairman. Mr. Burleson has seniority in the Congress over all members of this Committee except for two Democrats and one Republican.

He ranks with the top ten per cent of the members of the House in Seniority, having served since 1947. He was recently selected unanimously by the whole House to the Ways and Means Committee.

FULLEN MOTOR Co. LAUGH-A-DAY

A youngster received a red wagon for Christmas and for days he went nowhere without it.

One afternoon he was happily rolling it along the front sidewalk when his father called, "Take that wagon in back and play with it. Remember, it's Sunday."

The boy started to obey, then turned around and with a puzzled look asked, "Isn't it Sunday in the backyard, too?"

Eastland stood many feet taller Wednesday.

It was a windy, day sunny December day that saw the presentation of honors on local citizens, and a time for locals to visit with interested government officials.

Emphasis was the presentation of the Postmaster General's Citation for Excellence to the people of Eastland the local post office employees for "... maintaining the building and grounds of the post office in a clean, attractive manner, making it a pleasant place in which the public may conduct its postal business."

This provided the occasion for Cong. Omar Burleson to be on hand to join in the presentation with Postal Official J. Allen Dupree, assistant to the Dallas Post Office Regional Director.

Taking the opportunity for good fellowship with the beloved Congressman, Eastland National Bank President H. T. Wilson extended invitations to business and professional leaders to visit informally with Cong. Burleson in the meeting room at the bank from 2 to 2:30.

Then the officials moved to the Post Office for the formal presentation. Postmaster Marcus O'Dell served as Master of Ceremonies, calling on Lions Club International Counselor O. L. Stamey for the invocation. O'Dell introduced Mr. Dupree who recognized the achievements of the post office here, and introduced honored guests. Eastland Mayor Frank Deaton accepted the award on behalf of the people of Eastland.

Singled out specifically for their contribution to earning the award are Custodians Ardene Lassater and D. J. West. On hand to join in the ceremony were Former Postmaster Ed Layton and Mrs. Marene Johnson.

Actually, it's the third such top award the local post office has earned—the President's Citation for Beautification was presented last year, and a continuation of that award came in November of this year.

The particular honor given Wednesday is one of only 108 given in the 17th Congressional District which contains over 2,200 post offices. Cong. Burleson told the group of officials and citizens gathered in the post office work room for the ceremony.

Mayor Deaton presented Mr. Dupree with one of the chamber of commerce's gold "Old Rip" tie tacks, as a remembrance of Eastland.

J. D. Latham, Breck Painter, Found Dead Here

J. D. Latham, 61, Breckenridge carpenter and painter, was found dead in the North Ostrom Street Church of Christ in Eastland Wednesday morning. He had been working on the church for about four weeks.

Justice of the Peace L. W. Dalton of Eastland ruled that death was due to natural causes.

Latham's wife said he had suffered a heart attack about two years ago but had apparently recovered.

Funeral was held Friday morning in the Williams Street Church of Christ in Breckenridge. Burial was in Woodson Cemetery.

Born Sept. 14, 1907, in Coryell County, Latham married Una Clarke on Sept. 14, 1928, in Springdale, Ark. They lived in Woodson and farmed there from 1931 to 1937. He attended the Church of Christ College in Littlefield and had taught school in Spring Creek and Colorado City before moving to Woodson.

Survivors are the widow, a daughter, three sons, one sister, and two brothers.

Students attending the football Banquet will tape selections Sunday.

Twenty-five students from Breckenridge will also perform.

AUTO HITS COW

A Dallas man apparently escaped injury Thursday night when the 1961 Chevrolet he was driving hit a cow on Highway 80, nine-tenths of a mile west of the Eastland city limits.

Highway Patrolmen Ken Perry investigated.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Ray Williams if Kesciasko, Mississippi, recently visited Mrs. Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Cornelius.

Public School Gridders To Be Honorees at Dinner

Eastland football players, cheer leaders, coaches, and cheerleaders sponsors will be guests of honor at the annual football banquet at 7:30 p. m., Monday, December 16, at the Elementary School Cafeteria.

Texas Tech Red Raider Coach J. T. King will be featured speaker at the event, which is sponsored by the Quarterback Club. Joe Culpepper is current president and Bill Harrison and Walter Maynard have been in charge of tickets sales. Superintendent Wendell Siebert will be master of ceremonies for the program.

Coach Shirley Frazier and Dr. F. H. Lund have been in charge of the menu and Bill Anderson arranged decorations. Publicity has been handled by Bruce Pipkin.

Eastland has four football teams, the seventh grade, eighth grade, Junior Varsity, and Maverick.

New officers to be installed at the banquet are Ralph Stevens, president; W. J. Stone, vice-president; and Bill Anderson, secretary-treasurer.

The steak dinner will be catered by Vance Godby of Fort Worth.

King's road to Tech has been long and rocky, including stints as a battling guard at Reagan High School in Houston and the University of Texas. His coaching career, which now spans 30 years, started at Kenedy, continued at Enid, Okla., and then leaped to Texas Tech, where he coached in college ranks from Tulane, to Texas A&M, to Texas, back to A&M, and then to Texas Tech.

In the course of his travels, King picked up valuable knowledge, knowledge that he has put to good use as a head coach. His service at Enid, where he coached five conference champions; at Texas, where Longhorn team won three titles during his stay; and at Texas A&M, which tasted the title once, helped mold the will to win. He has for years, been recognized as the best recruiter of talent in the Southwest.

Now, as head coach at Southwest Conference member Texas Tech, he is being recognized for ability in the top job. His Raider teams have been so spectacular, offensively, that he has spent untold hours lecturing, not only to high school groups, but also to college coaches. And even the professionals have probed him for his formations that has caught the fancy of the coaches and fans.

Write Santa Yourself For The Goodfellows

Has your child written a letter to Santa Claus?

Be honest with yourself, now. Aren't you happy because your child is going to get exactly what he asked for?

There is another child who has written a letter to Santa Claus. And his parents are still fighting tears because they know exactly what their child will get, also. Nothing! Unless, miraculously, Santa Claus brings it.

Santa Claus could do this, you know if you write a "letter to Santa" yourself. Recommended stationery is the check furnished you by your bank. The message can be whatever you feel you can give — and any amount, large or small, is needed, wanted and appreciated. The address is Goodfellows, P. O. Box 391, Eastland, Texas, 76448.

This Santa Claus likes to get packages, too! Boxes of food, clothes, toys, dishes, linens, household items. His Eastland headquarters is the building next to Eastland National Bank and any bank employee will help you take the packages into the building.

Is there really a Santa Claus? Of course, there is! How many Eastland children will he visit this year?

You decide. Why don't you?

Letter Addressed To VC Arrives On Time

Degree of fame was established recently when a letter addressed simply to "Victor Cornelius, Inc., Texas" arrived from Richland Wash. to the office of the Eastland theatrical advertising and menu printing firm.

Postal officials somewhere along the way had known to add "Eastland" to the address.

The letter, which first acknowledged missing the Cornelius address, went on "When of if you receive this, please ship one box of enclosed fasteners."

"The enclosed fasteners" or Redi-Clips and other extended operations of the menu department have boosted the sales volume of the local printing company to an all time high.

The most successful year to date", Cornelius said.

The company, which now supplies restaurants as far away as Hawaii, is represented in almost all of the fifty states.

The famous West Point Open Mess, with a recent order for the well-known leatherette menu, added its name to the scores of Army and Air Force installations using the Cornelius products.

Because We Sell Insurance—
... naturally we have a very special interest in the welfare of those who drive moving vehicles. With the period of early darkness already upon us and with snow, ice and slick pavements in prospect, and this is the season for extra care by both drivers and pedestrians. Unless more driving caution is used than ever before, this holiday season may be remembered more for its record traffic deaths than for the glorious event which we celebrate this month. So drive with care and always with adequate insurance protection.

Habitat Needs of Bobwhite Quails Outlined by Soil Conservationist

By RAY YOUNG
SOIL CONSERVATIONIST

Now that the 1968 hunting season is in full swing, the number two small game bird in Texas, the bobwhite quail, supplies many hours of recreation and many pounds of meat for Texas outdoorsmen.

Texas has more than a million hunters, and the survey conducted by the Bureau of the Census in 1960 showed that 321,000 quail hunters bagged 9.3 million birds.

Food, water and cover are the keys to bobwhite survival. Knowledge of quail needs does not in itself insure bobwhite's continued welfare. This knowledge, to be helpful in wildlife management, must be applied to land-use practices found throughout the quail's range. Bobwhite habitat varies in character with the differences in soils and climate. Always, whatever the make-up, quail habitat comes down to this: a piece of ground capable of providing at least one covey with all its life needs season after season. This includes protection from enemies while feeding, resting, loafing, roosting, traveling, and nesting.

A number of woody plants provide winter quail food. Quail readily eat the smaller acorns, such as those from post oak, Mesquite beans, wild grapes & plums, hackberry sumac berries and other products of woody plants occasionally are eaten by bobwhite. Stockmen should note that grasses contribute little to food needs of bobwhite. This is because few grass seeds are large enough to provide worthwhile food. All farm grown grains, including corn are acceptable to quail. In general, however, it can be safely said that weeds are the most widely distributed source of quail food and weeds respond most reliably to management of quail habitat.

Quail cannot live without cover. Cover requirements may be provided by protection of woody cover on range, shallow disking adjoining wide fence rows, or some inexpensive food and cover planting with protection from grazing. Bobwhite requires acreage out of all proportion to his small size. The maximum population attainable is believed to be one bobwhite per acre for any large block of range such as a farm or ranch. Because the average covey consists of 10 to 15 bobwhites, a block 15 acres will seldom support more than one covey. Thus, the acreage requirements of a bobwhite covey are equal to, or greater than, the acres required per cow over most of the native grazing range of Texas.

All farmers, ranchers and outdoorsmen should strive to help provide for one of our most enjoyable and beneficial friends, Mr. Bobwhite Quail.

Scientists' Topic

"For he shall give his angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways." This verse from 91st Psalm will be part of the Scriptural selections in this week's Bible Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches this week. The Lesson is titled "God the Preserver of Man."

Related passages to be read from the denominational textbook include the following: "Whatever is governed by God, is never for an instant deprived of the light and might of intelligence and Life." The textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, was written by the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy.

You say you'd like a few suggestions on how to get more out of your telephone service?

Here are five tips to help make your every "hello" a real good buy:

- Whenever you're moving to another town within the Bell System, let us arrange for your phone service before you move. If you know the address of your new home, we can make arrangements in advance so you'll have the exact service you want in your new home. We'll also refer calls from your old phone to your new number if you like. Just call the business office and ask about our Easy Move Plan. There's no extra charge.
- Speaking of moving, we hope you realize that wherever you move in the Bell System, there is no color charge for the phones at your new address if you had color phones at your old address.
- Ever wonder what to do when you get a wrong number on a Long Distance call? Just hang up, dial "0" for "Operator," and tell her what happened. She'll see that you're not charged for the call.
- And if you ever lose your dime in an out-of-order pay telephone, just go to a working phone and report it to the Operator. She'll arrange to have your dime mailed to you. Also, if you give her the number of the out-of-order phone, we'll get it fixed right away.
- Long Distance interstate rates are lower all day Saturday and Sunday, and after 7 p.m. each weekday. You can also save money if you call by number. A station-to-station Long Distance call costs about one-third less than a person-to-person call.
