Methodist Church To Premiere Film Of John Wesley

The First Methodist church of Pampa is one of 500 across the nation to be granted a premiere showing of the new color motion picture "John Wesley," according to Rev. T. M. Johnston, the pastor. He stated that the church qualified for this special pre-release showing by making a contribution toward the cost of the feature-length color film.

The dramatic and influential life of the 18th century evangelist will be brought to the screen for the first time in this film which runs one hour and 17 minutes. Wesley was the founder of the evangelical movement which grew into a family of Methodist churches in the world, one of which is America's largest protestant denomination.

Leonard Sachs, outstanding English stage and television actor, portrays the famous "horseman of the Lord," as Wesley came to be known as he rode up and down England winning thousands of people to a new understanding of religion and a transformed life.

Date of the premiere showing at the First Methodist Church will be Sunday and Monday, May 23 and 24, at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited.

U. S. Policy On Indo-China Is Stumping Foreign Viewers

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Foreign diplomats in Washington have been complaining that they find it difficult to determine just what is America's policy on Indo-China. In little more than the past month there have been seven conflicting or contradictory statements on Indo-China policy.

1. The original position, going back to the Truman administration days, was that the French and Viet Namese would be given all aid necessary, short of the use of American troops at the front. That still holds. The Eisenhower administration is spending $400 million a year in Indo-China this year and has asked for more than twice that amount for next year.

2. But on March 29, before the Overseas Press Club in New York, Secretary Dulles declared that "the imposition on southeast Asia of the political system of Communist Russia and its Communist ally . . . should not be passively accepted, but should be met by united action."

3. Secretary Dulles amplified this on his mid-April trip to London and Paris. Communiques issued after conferences with Foreign Ministers Anthony Eden and Georges Bidault declared America, Britain and France were examining "the possibility of establishing, with the framework of the United Nations Charter, a collective defense to assume the peace, security and freedom of this area."

4. This seemed to be changed by Vice President Richard M. Nixon's answer to a question at the American Society of Newspaper Editors meeting in Washington. If the French pulled out of Indo-China, the vice president said, he hoped the United States would not have to send troops. But if this government could not avoid it, the Administration would have to face up to the situation and dispatch forces.

5. The showdown on this came just before the Geneva conference opened, when France asked Amer-

Panama Canal Too Narrow, Says Officer

WASHINGTON, May 15 — UP — A U. S. naval intelligence officer has warned his superiors that unless the Panama Canal is widened to handle the biggest capital ships afloat, the Navy will risk loss of its full offensive power in event of atomic war.

The warning was voiced by Capt. R. S. Fahle, who is assigned to San Francisco, in an article in the current issue of U. S. Naval Institute Proceedings which is published by the Navy but is not represented as setting forth official doctrine.

Fahle, who was assistant to the marine director of the canal in 1950-51, wrote that "the global strategic position of our offensive seapower today demands that this whole problem be re-examined and a decision reached at an early date."

He argued that the canal should be regarded primarily as an "auxiliary" of the Navy and that, since the Navy's new aircraft carriers have outgrown it, it no longer serves its purpose.

He said the 500-mile detour the big carriers must take around Cape Horn in moving from ocean to ocean, drastically decreases the flexibility of deployment of our principal naval forces.

In terms of time, he added, a big carrier is delayed 13 days in shifting from the Atlantic to the Pacific because canal passage is denied it.

Fahle examined several proposals for widening the canal and concluded that the so-called sea level canal is "the ideal solution."

This envisions deepening of Gaillard cut, elimination of existing locks which serve to raise transiting ships 55 feet above sea level, and construction of new tidal locks at Balboa. Gaillard cut would be widened in the process.

Shamrock Turns Down Third Phone Rate Hike Request

SHAMROCK — (Special) — The Shamrock City Council failed to grant the Southwestern Bell Telephone company the right to increase telephone rates in Shamrock at a meeting Wednesday. This is the third request by the company that the council has turned down.

The proposed increase was submitted to the council last October. Aldermen voted down the proposal at that time and again earlier this year. Although a vote was not taken at the meeting Wednesday night, discussions by the councilmen made it apparent they had not changed their minds in connection with the rate hike.

Officials of the telephone company contend that the rates and charges for local exchange telephone service now in effect are not sufficient to meet company operating expenses.

Meeting with the council were: A. O. Thomas, Amarillo, Bell district manager; George H. Newberry, Pampa district manager; Hugh Bieger, Dallas attorney; and E. J. Brookshire, local combination man. The proposed increase would raise the rates approximately $1 per month to each user. A rate hike was allowed in August, 1951.

'Homes Of The Road' - A New Way Of Life

By DON RYUNION
Pampa News Staff Writer
House trailers, a way of life that became popular through the persistent housing shortages during and following the last war, are still a way of life for millions of Americans despite the fact that the housing shortage has largely disappeared.

Many of these trailer dwellers, trailer park owners indicate, are people moving about with their jobs.

Oil well drillers are a local example. Others are people seeking a change of climate for reasons of health or vacation.

Whatever their reasons, trailer camps have sprung up all over the nation with water, electric, and sewage facilities ready to hook into the portable houses. Some of the more modern camps have laundry buildings for trailer housewives.

Trailer sales, Dealer Paul Fletcher, owner of the Pampa Trailer Sales and park, believes, are a little below the 1953 rate but are still better than usual. Last year was an exceptional year, Fletcher stated, because then he sold 36 trailers.

Trailers range in size from 12 to 46 feet with the biggest ones able to sleep seven persons comfortably. Most of them have a

Wheeler County Suffers Land Loss

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Damage by wind and water has struck 16,000 acres of Wheeler county land. Checks by the Soil Conservation Service and other agencies show, however, that the damage is not so severe as in other areas.

Most of the wind erosion has been due to insufficient cover to give adequate protection. This is also true with water erosion. Sixteen thousand acres of land have been damaged by wind erosion to the extent of causing loss of future production. Additional acres have suffered erosion to a lesser degree.

Farm experts advise that some of the damaged acreage should be retired from cultivation. This land bath, shower, full kitchen facilities, oil furnace, and air conditioning.

Cost of the biggest trailers, Fletcher reported, is about the same as a two-bedroom house, but then the trailer comes furnished with all but the dishes and houses do not.

Fletcher said that right now there were 16 trailers in his park and that figure was slightly below average.

Local trailer residents interviewed revealed that for the most part they like living in a trailer because there is not so much work to keeping a trailer clean, and that they are not as cramped as one might suppose. Then too, one trailer housewife said, if you don't like your neighbors you can always move.

Winter Months Heaviest
The winter months are heaviest for moving. C. H. Clay, owner of the Clay Trailer park on U.S. Hwy. 60 just east of the city, reports there are only 10 trailers in his park now. Clay reports but in February and the first part of March there were 24 trailers parked there.

One of Clay's trailer families, Mr. and Mrs. Alva Ceylon and their daughter, Sharon, are typical of the more than three dozen trailer families staying in Pampa. They are originally from Piqua, O., and moved to the southwest two years ago for Mr. Ceylon's health.

Like most large trailers theirs has practically four rooms, a bath and shower combined, refrigerator, kitchen stove, electric water heater, and oil furnace.

The Ceylons own a modern, seven-room house in Piqua, but believe their trailer, through its utilization of every bit of space, has more closet and drawer space than their house has. "We like living in a trailer, I guess," Mrs. Ceylon said, "because you can get used to most anything."

Joe Unusually Quiet
WASHINGTON, May 15-UP—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy has puzzled a good many observers in the past three days by remaining fairly quiet and subdued during questioning of Army Counselor John G. Adams. His actions are in direct contrast with the first 14 days of the Army-McCarthy hearings when he interrupted and raised his "point of order" cry so often that he virtually dominated most sessions.

Ommo Behrends' Area Farm Of The Week

More than three miles of terraces have been constructed on the farm of Ommo Behrends, which is located about one and one-half miles north of the Pampa city limits.

"I built most of the terraces myself," Behrends said. A cooperater with the Gray county Soil Conservation district, he practices contour farming and has seeded about 15 acres to grass. His principal crop is wheat, he said, adding that it is looking good and that he is sure he will make a crop this year.

"It won't be any bumper crop, but it will certainly beat what I have made in the past few years," Behrends stated.

During recent bad farming years this prominent Gray county farmer, like many others in the area, turned to raising cattle to offset wheat losses.

On his 320-acre farm he now has 24 head of registered Hereford cattle, but normally he has many more. He doesn't go in for show stock but raises them for commercial purposes.

Born in Clay Center, Kan., he moved here with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Louis Behrends, in 1911, at which time they moved onto this farm.

He attended school here in the old "red school house" that still stands on the junior high school grounds.

During World War II he served in the Air Force and spent 27 months overseas, mostly in Africa and Italy.

In 1943 he was married here to the former Miss Ruth Ann Murphree of Clarendon and Wichita Falls. They were married in the parsonage of the Calvary Baptist church. The Behrends have two children, Jimmie, 7, and Donnie, 6.

"I don't have time for any hobbies," he said, but his wife quickly added that the raising of evergreen trees could be classified as his hobby. Some of these can be seen in the accompanying picture.

His father, who died July 25, 1963, built most of the buildings shown in the picture.

Oil Spending To Increase

DALLAS—Dual problems of imports and over-supply of petroleum have acted to force oil companies through competition for markets to record high expenditures.

In 1954, the industry proposes to spend between four and one-half billion dollars.

Spending plans and future outlook is discussed in The Petroleum Engineer's May issue in the annual survey of oil company 1953 financial reports by managing editor, Ernestine Adams.

Most companies expect domestic petroleum demand to increase from four to six per cent in the year 1954, which would make another good year for the industry.

HOBBY GARDEN — A beautiful flower garden, which is operated as a hobby, is located at 600 N. Banks. Since his retirement in 1948, W. E. Riggan, owner of the garden, has been pursuing his hobby of raising flowers and other plants. He is pictured above among some of his prize plants. While he sells quite a number of the flowers, he gives many away to those who are unable to pay. (News Photo)

Retired Pampan Finds He's Really Not Retired At All

By WALT SWITZER
 Pampa News Staff Writer

Many men, when they reach retirement age, stop working and live a life of ease.

But, that was not so in the case of W. E. Riggan, retired Cabot Companies employe.

Upon retiring March 1, 1949, Riggan continued his favorite hobby — that of raising flowers and other plants and vegetables.

He says it is only a hobby — and the sign in front of his home, 600 N. Banks, says "Riggan Hobby Garden" — but the hobby has developed into a full-time job.

Riggan is kept busy all day long showing visitors through his lovely garden and greenhouse or helping customers decide on what plants they wish to buy.

"I sell quite a lot of flowers and plants, but if someone comes along and wants some of my plants, but doesn't have the money to pay for them, I just give them away," he said. "After all, it is just a hobby and I sell the plants only to help pay expenses."

Wife Died In 1946

He has pursued his hobby for several years, but didn't take as much interest in it until after his retirement.

His wife, who died in 1946, took care of garden most of the time while he was working, he stated.

His most popular flower and the biggest seller is the snap dragon. He said that he has sold many of these. Among the most popular also are the Burbank daisies and columbine. "I sell a lot of these," he said, pointing to this particular variety in one corner of the garden.

Other varieties growing profusely on his two lots are perennial Canterbury Bell, eight different types of lilies, two kinds of poppies — annual and perennial, peonies, delphinium, dahlias, carnation, red hollyhock, chrysanthemum, several varieties of roses, painted daisies, cannas, geraniums, cactus and honeysuckle.

He has many types of garden vegetables, even garlic. He also has been successful in raising strawberries.

Born In Missouri

Riggan has even planted "hen and chickens" in tree stumps and in forks of trees.

A native of Brunswick, Mo., he was married to the former Miss Ma Kennett in Menard, Ark., where they both were living at the time.

It was while in Menard that he first became interested in his hobby. He made an intense study of plant life while working for an agricultural experiment station.

By the time he had completed the study he had acquired quite an interest in flowers and other plants, he said.

After he and his family moved to Pampa in 1928, Mr. and Mrs. Riggan decided to make plants a hobby. They planted a few shrubs and flowers in the yard of their home, which was just north of his present home. After moving into his present home several years ago he started pursuing his hobby in earnest, with the help of his wife.

Riggan stated that he welcomes visitors at all times, whether they come to buy flowers or to just look around.

He was employed by the Cabot Companies in the General Atlas carbon plant here 21 years, 19 of which he was warehouse foreman and the last two years were spent in the laboratory.

He has two living children, Charles Riggan, Plains, and Mrs. W. W. Brewer, El Centro, Calif. Another daughter passed away in 1942.

Riggan is a member of Bible Baptist church, where he is in charge of the Men's Prayer meeting each Sunday evening. He has been in charge of the services for the past two and one-half years. A great lover of football and baseball, he follows the local teams by listening to reports of the games over the radio. He says son of Amarillo, and Donald Prud through the games like he once did.

SW Drouth Areas May Lose Crop Insurance

WASHINGTON, May 15 — UP—The Department of Agriculture will soon set up a special office in Denver to determine whether some areas in the drouth-stricken Southwest should be deprived of crop insurance, it was learned Saturday.

C. S. Laidlaw, manager of the Federal Crop Insurance Corp., told a reporter that some of the insured farm land "just isn't crop land" anymore but he denied farmers are taking advantage of the situation to collect crop insurance.

Insurance only repays the farmer's production costs, he said, but he conceded that insurance is available on some arid land that should have been put into grass to help ease the drouth situation.

Re-evaluate Counties

The Denver office will be established as rapidly as possible, he said, to re-evaluate counties now eligible for insurance in the drouth states of Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Colorado and New Mexico.

He said underwriters in the Denver office will first be concerned with about 30 counties, where farmers are still eligible for insurance, with a view of reclassifying some or all of them. He would not name the counties.

"We're not doing the farmer or anyone else any good to write insurance on land like that," Laidlaw said. "A lot of the land has deteriorated very badly."

Board Meeting Monday

He has called a meeting of the FCIC board of directors for Monday to discuss the whole drouth and insurance problem. Besides rate structures, the board will discuss steps required to "release crop-insured acres for soil conservation purposes."

Laidlaw conceded that once a county is made eligible for insurance, any farmer in that county also is eligible, with the FCIC having no say about use of the land. He said that so far this year 8000 loss claims have been filed by farmers who planted winter wheat. But he said that was just about the same number as last year, indicating many drouth-area farmers "are holding on longer this year in hopes of rain."

Last year the FCIC took in $27 million in premiums but paid out $31 million in losses. This meant a $4 million cut into the corporation's $39 million capital.

The Season Doesn't Matter If You Have A Yen To Fish

By ED NABE
Pampa News Staff Writer

Dave Shoup was tying flies, testing rods, oiling reels, even reading a magazine article last week. For this is "Let's Go Fishing Week," the week that fishermen the nation over take to the lakes, streams and oceans to try their hand at "nailing that big one."

However, Shoup — as usual — jumped the gun by some three months. He's been fishing since February.

Those fish, "they're doggone smart," the 31-year-old British-American Oil Company pumper said one day last week, as he sat in his little, gray workshop just south of his home. He lives barely outside the city limits, south of the Berger highway.

Surrounding him at his workbench were all kinds of gear for taking pictures — and for fishing. In fact, the stocky, ruddy-faced oilman was hard-pressed to decide which of the three he liked best. So he didn't say. He just talked of fishing.

That Old Gag
Shoup is inclined to go along with the age-old gag about Pampa being the center of fishing in the southwest. Just go 300 miles in any direction, the story goes. But there are exceptions, this Pampa fisherman insists.

His favorite spot is Lake Marvin, 18 miles the other side of Canadian. "At first, it used to be easy (to catch fish) there," he recalls. "But now you have to work for 'em." Mostly bluegill, channel cat and mudcats are there. Lake McClellan, in the southern part of Gray County, is good for bass. He says.

Dumping out on his workbench a bunch of tiny multi-colored flies to work on ("I like fly-fishing the best"), the native Kansan is certain the best fishing he's ever had was in Wisconsin in 1947. "Man, that's good," he exclaimed, remembering the time he only spent three hours in pulling a mess of German brown trout out of a pond 7 1/2 miles behind headquarters at Camp McCoy, Wis.

It's The Rhythm
Fly-fishing, he says, is "a little hard to learn, it's more a rhythm than anything else." He also likes to cast and use a spinning lure, "a half-breed casting lure. Flies use the heaviest line and such fishing is usually done in open water. Casting uses medium line and spinning, the lightest, both of them generally employed in wood- and arena. An old casting spoon is good for a casting lure."

What is the best kind of day for fishing? Shoup made a last twist on a fly, picked up a rod, began bending and grinning. "That's the day I can get out." It was a joking reference to his wife, Dorothy, quite an angler in her own right. They have three children — David, Les, & James F., 6, and Mary Sue, 3 — who are undoubtedly on the way toward becoming obsessed with this fishing thing, too.

Seriously, he said, "I have the best luck when there are broken clouds to show a shadow. They'll hit every time a shadow goes by, they don't hit so well where there's a dead calm or it's bright."

A Sign
The man who has been fishing "as long as I can remember — if any mother were here (lives in Skellytown), she could tell you" — keeps a wooden sign right over his bench. Whether he really believes it or not, he reads: "All fishermen are liars except you and me and sometimes I'm not so sure about you."

Putting down the rod and picking up a reel and spinning it, the former Oklahoman (near Tulsa) and Arkansas explained how he and his steady fishing partner, Gene Bogus, are apt to go to some private lakes close by Shamrock or 250 miles to a choice New sport. Hanging from the workshop ceiling are a pair of waders, long rubber boots. He has an outfit Shoup is really equipped for the foot boat he made and an out-

GETTING 'EM READY — Dave Shoup, who lives west of the city limits, is readying his flies, rods, reels, etc., for "Let's Go Fishing Week." Actually, he is just keeping all the fishing gear in condition, for he's been fishing three months now. This is his workshop on one wall of which hangs a sign that might apply not only to just fishermen.

Scared Fish
A Pampa fisherman for the last six years, Shoup is presently on a correspondence course in petroleum engineering and, on occasion, comes across an article that pertains to fishing. One of them was about another story by a Frenchman, who brought out that vibrations in the water are what scare the fish. It's not a question of the fish seeing the fisherman, but rather what they hear. "A kind of chain reaction, Shoup says in agreement.

But the big problem for anglers in this country, Shoup is convinced, is water moss, stringy stuff that latches onto the line. "One string of it and you can't catch anything."

When To Fish
The time of day and year a person fishes has a lot to do with his "luck." In the summer, Shoup figures, they bite the best in the morning till 9 a.m., then for a short while around 1 p.m., then from "dusk to sunset" till an hour afterward when "they're really biting like mad." Early in the year, the fish are deep in the water and harder to catch. In the summer, they're nearer the surface because it's warmer.

Shoup's rule of thumb for catching fish is to use a fly-rod if he wants to catch a lot of fish or use a casting and spinning lure if he would rather catch fewer, bigger fish.

There are two things "you should do" to catch 'em, the anglin' Pampa says: (1) Be Quiet and (2) Fish Slow. Philosophically, Shoup leaned back on his workshop stool, thought a minute and drawled: "They say you can't overfish a lake — but you sure can get those fish smart."

Benson Said To Be Perched In Capital's 'Hottest Seat'

EDITOR'S NOTE: Of all President Eisenhower's cabinet officers, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson is probably in the toughest spot with Congress and the public. The following dispatch by United Press farm reporter Patricia Higgins tells why.

By PATRICIA HIGGINS
WASHINGTON, May 15 (UP)—Embattled Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson is finding out how statements made one day in Washington's fast-changing scene rise to haunt him the next.

Under continuous fire in Congress for his adamant stand against rigid high farm price supports, Benson has had particular trouble with butter. The government holds 250 million pounds—all surplus—bought up under a mandatory dairy price support program. Its major headache is how to dispose of it without "selling out" the American housewife to foreign buyers and breaking the dairy market.

As far back as Feb. 8 Benson told a news conference: "I would not be inclined to favor a policy to make butter available abroad at a lower (price) level than our own consumers can have for it."

Offered at Lower Price
At an April 12 news conference he said: "In the case of butter, which is a pretty sensitive item, I felt all along that we could not offer it for sale at less than our domestic consumers pay for it."

On May 6 the Agriculture Department did just what Benson was "not inclined to favor." It offered its butter for sale to friendly foreign countries at world market prices—about 15 cents a pound below the price charged American housewives.

The department is trying to work out a plan to move some of the surplus to U. S. consumers at lower prices. But here is another butter snafu:

Two weeks ago this reporter asked Benson whether, if a production payment program succeeds in the administration's new wool subsidy program, such a direct subsidy would be used for other commodities.

Wool A Special Case
"I think not," Benson replied. "So far as I know we have not contemplated extending it to other commodities. Wool is a rather special case."

The following Wednesday Benson told the House Agriculture committee he had "grave doubts" that a domestic butter disposal plan could be worked out under existing law and asked the committee to consider whether it should be changed to allow a payment program on dairy products. He said he might recommend such a plan, which proved "administratively feasible" some years ago.

Benson then was asked by the same House committee about statements attributed to him that he would recommend President Eisenhower veto any extension of present farm price support laws.

The administration wants a system of flexible supports to replace the current rigid prop programs on basic crops.

Benson said he has "never said I would recommend a veto." He said such press reports were inaccurate.

Would Probably Ask Veto
But on March 10, in response to a question from Rep. Harold D. Cooley (D-N. C.), he had said he "probably" would ask for a veto.

On March 27 in an NBC television interview and again April 13 at a news conference, he said he "feels confident" the President would veto an extension, even without any recommendation from him.

Asked on "Meet the Press," March 28, if he has any assurance from Mr. Eisenhower that a bill to continue the present system will be vetoed, Benson said: "He hasn't said as much but I feel confident he would (veto such a bill) in the interests of agriculture and of the welfare of the country."

Oilers Win Series From Plainview 9

Pampa's Oilers staged a gallant seventh inning rally to shade the Plainview Ponies, 6-5, in the first game of a doubleheader Friday night at Oiler Park but the visitors surged back in the eighth to gain an extra split, winning the nightcap by an 8-5 count. The Oilers won the series, two games to one.

In breaking even, both the Oilers and Ponies gained an extra split, leading to a 1-1 tie in the eighth inning. In the ninth, the Oilers' results left the Oilers 1½ games back of Clovis and Plainview one game back.

In other results Friday, Berger defeated a 1-2 win over Abilene, 10-3.

The Oilers won the first game of Friday's doubleheader the hard way, coming up with three runs in the seventh and final inning of the contest to emerge the winner by a single tally.

Dick Harston, Oiler right fielder, delivered the winning blow when he singled with the bases loaded to send the tying and winning runs scampering across the plate.

Before the winning Oiler rally Plainview had overcame a 3-2 Oiler lead with three runs in the sixth and it appeared their 5-3 margin was going to stand up.

But the Oilers, taking advantage of some loose defensive play of the Ponies in the seventh were not to be denied in their last time at bat and came up with the necessary runs for victory.

It was a sweet victory for Dan Tierney who went the route for the Oilers. Tierney was a member of the Plainview team last season but was turned loose as a free agent and the Oilers signed him up during the winter months.

Friday's win was the second against no losses for the veteran Tierney.

Manager Don Lewis figured heavily in the Oiler win in the opener. The Dugger drove in four of the six Oiler runs, two of them coming on a homerun in the fifth that gave the Oilers a temporary 3-2 lead.

Plainview spoiled the return of the Oilers' Sam Williams in the nightcap. Williams was starting his first game for the Oilers since being optioned here recently by the Oklahoma City Indians. He was with the Oilers last year and compiled a 26-12 record.

But Friday night, the Ponies solved his offerings for nine hits and five runs during a five-inning stint. Jim Lemons hurtled the last two frames, giving up the other three Plainview runs.

Cal Mickelson went all the way for the Ponies to win his second decision of the year against no losses.

The nightcap was a tight 1-1 ball game after two innings but a three-run homer by Bob Smith in the fifth broke the game wide open and the Ponies were never in serious trouble after that.

Big Innings Winning For Cleveland

CLEVELAND, May 15 —UP—The Cleveland Indians have added a new ingredient to their hopes for a pennant formula, and so far it's paid off handsomely: The big inning.

In nine of the Tribe's first 25 games, batters have accumulated upwards of four runs in a single inning. Tops for the young season was earlier this week, when a first-inning uprising against the New York Yankees netted eight tallies, enough to coast home with a victory.

The Indians have scored four runs in an inning on three occasions, five runs four times, and once they tallied six in one inning. They won every game in which the big inning occurred.

"No doubt about it," manager Al Lopez said Saturday, "those big innings can make the difference. It takes the pressure off the pitcher. And when the players start running around those bases it demoralizes the other team."

The long ball, long one of general manager Hank Greenberg's pets, has figured prominently in the Indians' early successes. Dave Philley and George Strickland each have hit grand slam home runs, half the entire American League production. Five players—Strickland, Philley, Al Rosen, Wally Washburn and Larry Doby—have driven in more than 15 runs each, and between them count for 89 of Cleveland's 116 runs in the first 25 games.

An indicator of the right hit at the right time was seen in the averages of Strickland and Philley. Both are hitting below .300. Yet Strickland accounted for 15 RBIs with only 16 hits, and Philley's meager output of 14 base knocks produced 18 runs.

Schmeling Arrives In United States

MILWAUKEE, May 15 —UP—The United States early in 1939 seeking a rematch with Joe Louis who had knocked him out in the "second home" from his native Germany Saturday for his first American visit in 15 years.

He came to Milwaukee on the invitation of boxing promoter Phil Valley to be guest referee of one or two bouts on a fight card at the Milwaukee arena Tuesday night.

An afternoon reception with Mayor Frank Zeidler fell through because of a mixup in plans.

"I sat in my office all afternoon," Zeidler said, "and nobody showed up. I'll be glad to welcome Schmeling to the city if they bring him to my office."

Two Many Friends

Valley explained the mixup as "too many fingers in the pie." He said no one had called the mayor to make arrangements for the meeting.

He said he would try to take Schmeling to the mayor's office Monday but in the meantime, "wanted to keep him out of sight as much as possible so that the fans will show up to see him Tuesday night."

Schmeling's appearance here and the manner in which Valley sought approval for him to be referee caused somewhat of a controversy.

The five-man Wisconsin Athletic Association voted its approval, 3 to 2. One of the members who voted no said he didn't like the way Valley "tried his case in the newspapers before submitting his application."

Bannister Returns Home In London

LONDON, May 15 —UP—Roger Bannister, the first man to run a four-minute mile, arrived by plane Saturday from his visit to New York and went straight to his home in suburban Harrow to watch Queen Elizabeth's homecoming on television.

The 25-year-old medical student had with him a $22.50 replica of Southern California's $300 "miracle mile" trophy. He was unable to accept the original because he is not an amateur.

"I didn't even have to pay duty on the trophy," Bannister said. "The trip as a whole has been thoroughly enjoyable. I believe most worthwhile and I found it very amusing."

He said he was tired and wasn't certain he would run in a half-mile race next Thursday at Motspur Park.

Bannister ran a mile in 3:59.4, May 8, on the Oxford University track. He flew to New York Wednesday to appear on television and radio shows, but could not go through those plans because athletic officials feared it might have impaired his amateur standing.

He was honored at several receptions during his three-day visit to the U. S.

Hardaway Leads WT-NM In RBIs

Curtis Hardaway of the Pampa Oilers is leading the West Texas-New Mexico League in runs-batted-in, according to Bill Weiss, league statistician.

The Oiler third sacker had batted in 24 runs when the averages were compiled through games of Wednesday, May 12.

Bob Westfall of Borger is leading the league in hitting with an .474 mark. The Borger shortstopper has collected 27 hits in 57 trips. Westfall also leads the league in total bases with 52 and in two base hits with 12.

Henry Paskiewicz of the Clovis Pioneers tops the league in hits and runs. Paskiewicz has scored 23 times and has collected 34 hits.

Lincoln Boyd of Clovis leads in triples with four and two Plainview Ponies, Bob Melton and Francis Green, share the lead in homeruns with six each. Green has the dubious honor of striking out the most times, 19.

Osmand Walker of Abilene has pilfered the most bases with 10 while Earl Hochstatter of Lubbock has drawn the most bases on balls with 17.

In the pitching department, three players share the lead in most games won with four. They are Ed Arthur of Plainview, George Socha of Albuquerque and Eddie Locke of Amarillo.

Len Ruyle of Amarillo has chalked up the most strikeouts with 29 while Charles Simmonds of Lubbock has issued the most bases on balls with 25.

Arthur of Plainview has appeared in the most innings — 44.

RUNNING MATE — Roadwork isn't dull for Pierre Langlois, who jogs with his pretty missus in New York's Central Park. The French middleweight has a 10-round appointment with Joey Giardello at Madison Square Garden, May 21. (NEA)

Eagles Sign Ex-Sooner Ag

PHILADELPHIA, May 15 —UP—Halfback Shippy Glancnell and Tony Ledbetter signed their contracts with the Philadelphia Eagles Saturday.

Ledbetter, from Oklahoma A&M, first joined the Eagles in 1950, but then spent two years in military service. He returned to the team last season and fractured a facial bone in the season's opener at San Francisco. Despite the injury, he played in 10 games for the Eagles.

Glancnell, a rookie back, caught fire in the third game of the season last year and went on to become a top ground gainer. The Loyola of Los Angeles star carried 20 passes for 346 yards, carried 41 times for 121 yards and scored six touchdowns.

When fishermen gather together at the end of a luckless day to console each other about the way the fish are not biting, along comes some fisherman with a sly look and a beautiful string of fish.

Where did he get them, how did he do it? It would be easier to ferret out the secrets of the H-bomb. But the special tricks and tips necessary to catch fish when they are not biting are not complicated scientific formulas.

On the contrary any boat fisherman can open the secret with this master key: When there is not a flicker on the surface, there is only one sure way to catch fish and that's to go deep after them.

Many anglers suppose that when spring fishing is done and angling becomes poorer as the summer progresses there is nothing that can be done but await the slow rotation of the seasons. Actually just as good, if not better, fishing can be had by fishing the greater depths to which most game fish retreat during the so-called off-season.

The reason is that fish from all wider areas of shallow waters are concentrated during warm weather into the deeper and cooler waters.

I suppose the attraction of all fishing lies in its mystery and the constant unexpectedness of results of most varying combinations and methods. It matters little if the approach is scientific or the result of experience or a hunch which of us will try according to our nature.

Depth fishing is usually associated with trolling, at least, by anglers in pursuit of the bass. This angler's excursion into deep waters is made possible by the very effective wire fishing lines. The first requisite for deep-trotting is a wire line; no other line can open up the depth possible with a wire-fishing line.

It might be well to mention here that whereas there are available various types and sizes of wire line the standard is recognized by most anglers to be a monel line of 20 or 30 pound test. The lower resistance of a polished monel wire line to water friction permits it to sink rapidly.

Rev. Brooks Schedules Kiwanis Talk

The Rev. Porter Brooks, vicar of St. Matthews Episcopal church, will speak on his experiences in Germany during World War II at next week's meeting of the Pampa Kiwanis club, according to Bob Ladd, chairman of the Boys and Girls committee. The "Squeaky Door Four," a barber shop quartet, will sing.

At Friday's luncheon meeting in the basement of the First Methodist church, A. K. Barakat, chairman of the Inter-Club Relations committee of the San Jacinto club in Amarillo, spoke on "Communism."

It was Inter-Club Day and several members from Amarillo were present. America still is the hope of the world, the speaker stated, adding that because of the place of his birth, he had learned about America from without.

"America is worth fighting for, worth sacrificing for, worth dying for," he said. "We have more here and our children are the happiest in the world. We must keep it that way."

Speaking of the Communists, Barakat pointed out there are some people who want to put a stop to this superiority. "They wish to do this by confusing us, dividing us and ruling us."

However, these enemies in a search for weaknesses in this nation, have discovered America's strength, Christian heritage and the Constitution, he declared. "If we let them destroy any part of this strength we are sunk," he added.

In closing, the speaker said "let not become confused, divided or ruled and let us tell these enemies that America is not for sale."

Barakat was introduced by Joe Wells, Inter-Club Relations chairman for the Pampa club. President J. B. Maguire Jr. presided.

"Ugliest"

"Most Handsome"

DOUBLE WINNER — There's been quite a change in viewpoint concerning Elmer Wilson, Texas Tech student at Lubbock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Wilson, 1607 Duncan, Pampa. Recently he was voted the "Ugliest Man" on the campus and was given an award by coed Patty Finson (top). But last February he won the "Most Handsome" award (bottom). All students participated on a penny-a-vote basis, with proceeds going to the senior gift fund.

Show Biz Moppel's Revue Billed As Filmtown 'Must'

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD, May 15 — UP — A modern ballet opening Saturday night will never land in a Las Vegas supper club or on Broadway, but for its one-night stand it's the hottest attraction in movietown.

While Judy Garland, Susan Hayward, Robert Young and other stars have been toiling before the cameras, their children have been rehearsing a show of their own.

Judy's eight-year-old, Liza Minnelli, is among many moppets who will make their show business debuts at the Wilshire-Ebahl theater.

by students of the Buckley private schools. The ballet, the final exam for the youngsters, aged 3 to 12. They learn dancing and even French at the swanky schools where movie stars from Maureen O'Sullivan to Robert Montgomery have sent their children.

At the dress rehearsal before the show, Mrs. Isabelle Buckley, head of the schools, stood calmly while 268 excited children, mostly from society or show business families, climbed into their costumes backstage.

"I have to go to the bathroom," one three-year-old blond boy cried, as he struggled into a blue leotard, or dancing tights, just like grown-up ballet companies.

"All the children are treated alike," explained a teacher as she sewed a frightened dark-haired girl into a costume shaped like a toy top. "The stars' youngsters have no bigger roles than the others." Backstage little Liza and Katy Young, daughter of Robert Young, practiced their ballet exercises to the clapping of dance teacher Madame Tamara Lepko.

Uptairs in the balcony the twin boys of Susan Hayward and other older dancers waiting their turn on the stage were admonished to stop whistling and stamping their feet.

"The Buckley play means self-discipline," Mrs. Buckley said.

"These shows often bring out hidden talents." Finally the curtains parted and little Liza whirled out on the stage to dance as a fairy godmother for two three-year-olds. Then she sang a lullaby in a quavering voice that had a family resemblance to Judy's.

"Breathe good, Liza, breathe good," hissed Madame from the wings.

Jeff Chay calls his television job 'playing house,' but there's a little more to it than that. Jeff and Marge Green do a daily 15-minute show called "Marge and Jeff" on DuMont that is unique in that it is completely ad lib. They play a married couple who live in a house, but that's the only similarity between playing house and this show.
This is a game that's played for keeps, and it's to their credit that the program is so smooth most viewers don't realize it's not memorized from a script. Honest, it isn't. I watched them put a show together; I can bear witness.
Around four every afternoon, Marge and Jeff and director Len Valenta get together in a little room at DuMont. Marge supplies the basic theme of the show, just a hint of a plot, and then she and three of them talk back and forth. Like magic, a tight little drama with crackling dialog emerges.
At about 5:15 they go to the studio and run through a camera rehearsal. The dialog, of course, is changing all the time, and poor Valenta, working with three cameras, generally has only the foggiest idea of who's going to walk where. It isn't until about 8:40, when they have what's laughingly called a dress rehearsal, that the thing begins to jell. At 7:15, they're on the air.

Even during the actual show, things change. They may have to stretch out or cut or one of them may think of a new line or situation. It doesn't matter; they take it in their ad lib stride.
"It takes an ability not to shut up," says Jeff, a good-looking, pleasant 26-year-old who spent two years with "Stalag 17" on Broadway. He's a fine actor who doesn't look like an actor, which makes him ideal for his part.
Producer Ernie Walling thinks ad lib shows are going to play an important part in TV's future. When you watch Marge and Jeff at work, it looks easy. They're calm, cool and conversational.

Radio still commands attention. Bill Mauldin flew in from California just to make an appearance on Art Henley's "Make Up Your Mind" on CBS-Radio, a 15-minute program. And then he flew right back again.
That's carrying commuting too far.

Dave Garroway's favorite story is about four card sharps playing poker. It went on for hours, until the dealer threw his cards down and said, "This game is crooked."
"What makes you think so?" asked the man on his left.
"That guy," said the dealer, pointing to the player across the table, "isn't playing the hand I dealt him."

MONEY MANAGEMENT

Caught By The Cameraman

Many Pompa boys are receiving practical business training through the management of a "News route." Delivery service, bookkeeping, collecting and selling are features of a carrier's "business." The boys learn the values of service, of public contact and of money management. The News has 48 local carriers, 12 street sellers, and 12 area carriers.

ROLLING THEIR OWN — Before the boys leave to deliver the papers, they must roll them for a more compact fit in their bags and to protect them from weather damage. Pictured, from left to right, are Doug Luedcke, 915 S. Reid, Claude Townsend, 824 E. Tignor; Jack Lathrop, 407 Purviance; and Russell Bowen, 801 E. Francis.

MONEY MANAGEMENT — The boys' business profits come from buying the papers wholesale and selling them "retail." Many of the carriers keep and manage their own bank accounts with the money they earn. Shown depositing some of his "profits" with Bank Teller Juanita Prescott is Terry Joe Haralson, 2236 Williston.

A GOOD AIM — On their routes, the boys develop a good aim for tossing the papers on Pampans' doorsteps and porches to save having to stop at each house. Shown "ready to fire" is Bob McCain, 617 Bradley Drive.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
On Saturday afternoon, Dot's Aunt Helen came for supper. With her she brought a box of expensive cookies. While she and Dot's mother were on the porch shelling peas, Dot took six cookies from the box on the kitchen table.

Later, when Aunt Helen noticed the open box, she called Dot and said, "Have you taken any of these cookies? Didn't you know that I brought them for your mother? Don't you ever remember that I there are other people in the world but you? How many did you take?"

Dot lied to her Aunt Helen. She lied so stubbornly that her aunt was flushed and outraged. "That box held a dozen cookies when I brought it," she told Dot's mother. "The child has left six for supper. But she says she didn't take them."

So Dot spent the rest of the day in her room.

I do not approve of lies. I also disapprove of dishonest questions which provoke dishonest answers in inexperienced children.

So I want to call attention to the dishonesty contained in Aunt Helen's questions. Though they seemed to be concerned with cookies, they were not. What they really asked Dot was, "Are you not a greedy, selfish and inconsiderate child?"

And because Dot sensed that an admission of eating the cookies would amount to an admission that she was just such a child, she could not admit she had taken them.

Children often lie to us in defense against hidden accusations in our queries about their misdeeds.

So when we are given a lie in response to some question about present misconduct, it is wisdom to examine the words we have used for hidden accusation of old misdeeds.

"Pretty often, we'll find that we have really asked, not for the truth of a child's action, but for a confession that he is a bad, careless, inconsiderate person."

It is equal wisdom to explain what we've done to him. For in the matter of honesty, we teach it by demonstrating our own. And our own confession that we've loaded our question with unresolved resentment at past misconduct can perform two services for us.

First, it enables us to express the resentment frankly, instead of secretly.

Second, the courage with which we share the truth of our own mistake with Dot opens the way to her sharing the truth of hers with us.

Jernigan were Mrs. Elmer Darrel, president; Mrs. Jim Maher, vice president; Mrs. Homer Miller, secretary; Mrs. Herbert Hyatt, treasurer; Mrs. Ed Johnson, historian; Mrs. B. R. Gray, parliamentarian; Mrs. L. W. Frazier and Mrs. Fred Adcock, city council representatives.

At the close of the meeting a tea was held for mothers of the children entering the first grade in the fall.

Those attending were Meses. Willie Rheudaal, D. W. Statton, Floyd Barrett, Reeves, Wilkie, Matheny, and Yeargain.

The Letha Saunders circle met in the home of Mrs. D. A. Caldwell, Humble Camp. Mrs. Bob Allford gave the opening prayer. Mrs. Tom Duval taught the Bible lesson and closed the meeting with prayer.

Members present were Meses. Maad Schukley, L. L. Stovall, George Vineyard, W. R. Morrison, J. C. Vollmert, W. D. Drace, R. E. Grey, Allford, Duval, and Caldwell.

Don't allow cooking mishaps to disturb you. In most instances you can salvage something. When soup is too salty, cut a raw potato and cook it in the soup for a few minutes. Or, should cake fall, serve as a heated pudding with a sauce.

Members present were Meses. A. Day, Dortha Anderson, J. H. Ritchie, E. L. Glyn, Charley Miller, Ruben Hilton, Ramsey, O'Keefe, Greene and Brandon. Mrs. Delores Miller was a guest.

Attending were Mrs. C. B. Howe, W. E. Hinton, C. W. Dalton, E. E. Shelhamer, Creel Grady, Ralph McKinney, McDaniel, Noblitt, and Triplehorn.

Mrs. Tom Duval, 481 N. Hazel, was hostess to the Lillie Rodgers circle and opened the meeting with prayer. The Bible lesson on Gideon was taught by Mrs. Owen Johnson. Ralph McKinney, McDaniel, Noblitt, and Triplehorn.

Members present were Meses. Roberta Wood, Edd Rallsback, G. R. Riggs, D. R. Morris, Joe Foster, Myron Langford, Owen Johnson, Brake and Duval.

Mrs. E. L. Yeargain gave the opening prayer at the meeting of the Fern Bitner circle in the home of Mrs. J. E. Reeves, 528 N. Faulkner. Mrs. H. C. Wilkie closed the meeting with the benediction.

Those attending were Meses. Willie Rheudaal, D. W. Statton, Floyd Barrett, Reeves, Wilkie, Matheny, and Yeargain.

Shamrock Club Hears Committee Reports

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Mrs. J. B. Zeigler and Mrs. E. C. Hunter were co-hostesses to the Garden club in the Zeigler home recently. Arrangements of snapdragons, bluebonnets, and red roses were used as decorations. Mrs. Lonnie Burks presided during the business session. Mrs. Grace Eldimore reported on the Table Setting show held at the Armory, and the plant sale held earlier in the month. The two club projects netted more than $300 to be used in improvements at Elmore Park.

The park committee reported that the restroom facilities at the park were well underway with several organizations and the city helping with the construction and costs. Plans left from the plant sale were turned over to the landscaping committee of the park.

A program on the planting and cultivation of strawberries was given in the form of a round table discussion, with all members taking part.

New members are asked to be present at the June meeting. Mrs. Oscar Laycock will be the hostess. All interested in garden projects are invited to join.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED—Miss Buena Cox, 114½ S. Cuyler, announces the engagement of her niece, Miss Buena Marie Stallcup, to Charles Stewart Gordon of Miami, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gordon Jr. of Miami. The wedding will take place June 1 in the First Baptist Church, Pampa. Miss Stallcup is attending Pampa High School. The prospective bridegroom was graduated from Tarleton State Academy, Stephenville, in 1953. He attended Texas Western College, El Paso, and is now employed by his father in Miami.

RUTH MILLET

The mother of a 14-year-old girl writes to say that her daughter has lost all interest in school. She isn't even trying to do her school work, because the parents think she is too young to date, and most of the other girls her age are going to dances, drive-ins, and other affairs with boys.

The mother wants me to write an article against early dating.

The only good that would do it to make this mother feel, "Here's someone who agrees with us."

It wouldn't help the mother to solve the problem that confronts her — renewing her daughter's interest in school.

If the reason she has lost interest is because she feels left out and different, then I think her parents should ask themselves this question:

"Is it more important for us to stand by our opinion that a girl of 14 is too young to date than it is to see our daughter interested in school and feeling that she 'belongs'?"

If they decide that the important thing is to help their daughter belong rather than to make her different, they can still keep a guiding hand and a watchful eye on her.

They might say to her: "If your school work is up and you are making passing grades in all of your classes you can have dates for school parties and dances."

"But we feel you are too young to start dating except for parties."

Or they can work it out any other way that may seem right to them.

It is easier for parents to make a flat rule — "No, you can't date and that ends it!" — than to compromise a little and say, "You can date, under certain conditions."

But the compromise is sometimes the better way if it resolves the conflict between the parents' ideas that a child feels are old-fashioned, and the child's ideas that the parents feel are too advanced.

Shamrock Students Feted At Banquet

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Seniors of Shamrock high school were honored with a banquet by the ladies of the First Methodist church recently.

A green and white theme was emphasized in decorations. Baskets of mock orange blossoms and white pomies were placed about the banquet hall. The tables were decorated with white mums, and tall white tapers on nests of green and white satin ribbon, lit the hall. Place cards were graduates with hand-painted faces and green tassels. Girl graduates wore green lace collar and corsages and boy grads, green bow ties.

The invocation was given by Rev. Frank Beauchamp, who also welcomed the senior students.

The response was given by Johnny Hartwick. For entertainment, the Colleen sang "Memories" and "Strolling Through The Park."

A skit was given by Mrs. Price Barrett's "Second Grade of Long Ago." Miss Ella Carol Bledsoe sang "Dress" and "Go Away From My Window."

Guest speaker was Rev. Bruce Parks, introduced by Rev. Beauchamp.

Miss Ann Sidwell And Eugene Fatheree Are Married In Double Ring Ceremony

Miss Ann Sidwell became the bride of Eugene Hobart Fatheree in a double ring ceremony at 4 o'clock Saturday in the First Presbyterian church. Dr. Douglas E. Nelson officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Sidwell, 1801 Marlar, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Fatheree, 931 Christine.

The couple was married before a background of palms and candelabra with pink tapers. The altar was decorated with a bouquet of pink gladioli and chrysanthemums, and was flanked by baskets of pink gladioli.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white Italian silk taffeta. The bodice was hand-run Alencon lace with a wide portrait neckline. Folds of taffeta formed the draped cummerbund at the waist. The moulded bodice had a row of tiny taffeta-covered buttons down the back. The long, fitted sleeves came to points over her hands. The full taffeta skirt, over hoops and crinoline, had a wide, fan-shaped chapel train.

Her finger-tip veil of imported French illusion was fastened to a calot of lace, embroidered with tiny seed pearls. She carried a cascade of white roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Miss Patsy Eidson of Ironton, Mo., served as maid-of-honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Jan Sanders and Martha Hopkins, both of Pampa, and Miss Sue Foley of Eufaula, Okla. They wore identical bon-bon pink princess gowns of paper-taffeta, with crystal-pleated yokes and brief sleeves. Their clip-ons were of matching pink velvet, and they carried pink baskets of red roses.

The bride's mother wore a Dior dress of blue chantilly lace with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a steel-grey silk dress with a white lace collar, embroidered with seed pearls. She wore matching accessories. Both had identical corsages of pink camellias.

David Fatheree served as his brother's best man. Ushers were Gene Sidwell, Warren Fatheree, Max Hukill and E. Roy Smith.

A vocal solo, "O Perfect Love," was presented by Harold Hughes of Abilene. Mrs. H. A. Yoder was the organist.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The serving table was covered with a pink nylon-tulle cloth over taffeta and was centered with a bouquet of pink roses. The cake was a single-tier wedding ring.

Assisting with the reception were Mrs. Warren Fatheree, Gene Sidwell, Bob Sidwell, Ralph Sidwell, A. J. Beagle, J. G. Morrison, and B. Baldrige, all of Pampa; and Mrs. J. O. Buchta of Webster Groves, Mo., Ted Dunham of Baton Rouge, La., and Guy Hutchinson of Arkansas City, Kans.

For going away the bride chose a pearl-grey suit with a white linen collar, a white straw hat and black accessories. She wore a corsage of white roses. After a two-weeks' honeymoon, the couple will be at home at 1334 Coffee.

Mrs. Fatheree is a 1951 graduate of Pampa high school. She attended Lindenwood college, St. Charles, Mo., and the University of Oklahoma, Norman. She is a member of Pi Beta Phi, national social sorority.

The bridegroom was graduated from Pampa high school in 1948 and from Texas A and M college, College Station, in 1952.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were Lt. and Mrs. E. R. Sidwell of Biloxi, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Reid of Shawnee, Okla.; Mrs. John A. Buchta of Webster Groves, Mo.; Mrs. R. J. Eidson and Miss Patsy Eidson of Ironton, Mo.; Miss Shirley Lykins of Norman, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ashton of Chicago, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hutchinson and Miss Pamela Hutchinson of Arkansas City, Kans.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Campbell Jr. of Wichita Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chambers and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shaller, all of Canadian; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Emmitt and Paul Emmitt Jr. of Plainview; Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Green of Borger; Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Fesler of Harford; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Tucker of Lawton, Okla.; and Harold Hughes of Abilene.

A report on the recent district meeting, held at Pampa, was given in the form of a panel discussion by Mrs. Nathan Lummus and Mrs. Q. L. Chapman, guest from North Ward PTA, and Mrs. Clarence Morris, Mrs. Neal Wilson, Mrs. Paul O'Neal and Mrs. Guy Hardin of South Ward PTA.

Teach Moppel About Beauty Program

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

The desire of little girls to imitate their mothers manifests itself in many ways: in their playing at going marketing, in their donning discarded dresses and high heels and in their giving loving attention to the washing, feeding and bedtime ritual of their dolls.

They will learn to give as careful attention to their own cleanliness when their mothers point out that such things as plenty of soap and water, as well as cosmetics, are behind their pretty appearance.

By the time your little girl is four, even three, you can make a point of noting that the soap with which you bathe her helps you to keep your skin smooth and fine looking.

Like any woman, she'll be much more impressed when she knows that sudasings do more than rub her skin clean. If they will help her to grow up to look like Mommy she'll be all for them.

At the same time, you can teach her the importance of selecting her soap with care. You can point out that any old soap won't do to take care of a girl's fine skin, that you use a certain soap because it's gentle as can be.

Should you be in doubt as to the beauty-benefits of the soap you are now using, you may be interested to know that one of the popularly priced brands claims that a recent test by skin specialists showed that its soap is 100 per cent mild.

And, says the company, this mild soap will cleanse away remnants of mudpie-making just as efficiently and as thoroughly as any harder soap.

Linen Fashions Are Popular This Year

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Though admired through history for its cool elegance, linen has never gotten the popular acceptance it's receiving in 1954.

The reason is that linen's one disadvantage was a big one: the tendency to muss easily. Now, with crease and shrink resistance added, we're seeing it in all types of garments, colors and patterns.

New texture treatment, such as meshes and tweeds, are all part of the news in linen this season.

While you will find it much easier to keep any of the new linen garments fresh looking, you may find that a dress with a pleated or full skirt will be less manageable than a slim sheath.

So, if you are very fastidious, look for one that has a plain skirt with folds or tucks above the waistline.

But whether you select a linen garment in a fancy or plain design, you'll have no trouble laundering it. Washing, in fact, actually adds to this fabric's beauty.

However, be sure that you buy a garment that's made of good quality linen. Though sheer linen is serviceable, it is not wise to buy one that is too sheer. And don't forget to check any trim for washability.

Moderately hot water can be used for both washing and rinsing. Bleaching and starching, however, are not recommended. After blotting with a towel to remove excess moisture, hang the garment to dry.

When it is still quite damp, iron it on the wrong side, using a fairly hot iron. Iron until the garment is completely dry.

After all your make-up has been applied, take one more step for perfection. Using cotton balls or cotton-tipped sticks, go over your face lightly to remove excess powder, mascara, eye shadow and lipstick.

The best time to apply nail polish is just before going to bed. Then it will have plenty of time to set before you plunge your hands into water. You should also try to avoid putting on the nail enamel soon after bathing or washing clothes.

Guest vocalist Friday will be Robert M. Payne, high school choir director, with Carol Paxson as his accompanist. The recitals are open to the public.

Everybody loves picnicking. And a fire, for cooking or just looking, is fun. But play safe. Build yours in an open space so winds cannot carry flames to trees and brush.

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. Travis C. Lively, 1012 E. Browning, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Patricia, to Jack White, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. White of Amarillo. The wedding date has been set for June 25 in the First Methodist Church.

MURFEE'S 38th YEAR

Peg O' Pampa

REMEMBER MOTHER'S DAY last Sunday? You know, in spite of all the weather we had on that happy day, lots of deserving mothers were treated to Sunday dinner at the Country Club. I sneaked a peek in the dining room, and saw the Bob Triplehorn with their attractive young son and daughter. Dr. and Mrs. Joe Donaldson (recently home from a trip to San Antonio) and their four little blond stratastepes. A whopping big stable with Braly family all around, let's see, there were Jean and Tom and their three little boys; Camara Braly, Jean's mother, who came over from Amarillo, and Mrs. Clifford Braly, Sr. The Gene Sidwell family (Miss Ann Sidwell was there too with an especially happy smile). Dr. and Mrs. Calvin Jones and their son. The Charles Cooks had a big hello for all. Mr. and Mrs. Bonnie Rose telling friends about their coming trip to Eagles' Nest, N.M. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Clark regaling they had to miss the Freddie Martin dance. Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Veale with their doll of a daughter, Debbie, and handsome son, Tommy, who, by the way, looked like quite the man in his yellow trousers.

CHIVALRY IS NOT DEAD IN THE OLD SOUTH. This I know, for last week on my way to the school choral festival I saw none other than our own Cliff Braly lifting a cute blond over a mud puddle. Okay, I'll confess she looked to be about five, but it made a good story!

SPRING IS THE SEASON for lots of new things. Besides the young man's fancy and the popping out of all the blossoms, it always brings the popping out of other things not so pleasant, like the measles and the mumps. Mrs. Raymond (Jody) Hall was singing a blues song the other day about the recent round they've had with the mumps at their home. My vote for the lolipop of the week, however, goes to Mrs. Foster Elder, who is among the ugh, lucky, ones who saves such childhood diseases until after twenty-one.

PLEASE TELL ME what irresistible force makes otherwise sane people plow through muddy streets when they know perfectly well they'll never make it? All week I've seen cars churning around on lumpy streets, and when they do get through they splatter the evidence all over the town. What a mess, but I too loved the rain almost enough to wallow in it.

MRS. VERA DAVIS was telling many a listening ear last week about her recent visit to Lamar, Colo., to see her daughter and son in law, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Rinehart and their little girl, Sabre. The Rineharts have recently moved from Pampa, and are now ranching near Lamar. Doris Ann reports she was anticipating her first bridge party in hopes of meeting some more of the ladies.

THE FEDERATED WOMEN'S CLUB entertained on Monday night with its annual tea honoring the presidents for the coming year. The reception was an informal affair, and I did so enjoy meeting the various club presidents. Sorry I didn't get the names and the clubs they went with all lined up, but some of the charming ladies I met in the receiving line were Mrs. A. D. Hills, Mrs. Henry Butler, Miss Kay Stewart, Mrs. Carl Axelson, Mrs. Vernon Stuckey and Mrs. Hazel Jay. Bees were buzzing all over the place. Even to the serving table where numerous and various sized bees with iridescent wings were perched on the flowers and on the table which was covered with floor length panels of pink, blue and green. The bees was in the bonnet on the table for the guest register, and Mrs. Myron Marx, Jr. pinned a small white bee on each guest. (Let me get you straight right here, these were artificial insects!). Mrs. Ed Williams, who is always a good speaker, was in charge of the installation officers. The ceremony carried out the idea of the bee-keeping, comparing the various officers to the different bees, like the queen bee, the worker bee, etc. Mrs. Rex Rose, president in absentia, was represented by Mrs. Veale; Mrs. Julian Key, vice president; Mrs. George Hrdlicka, secretary; Mrs. J. C. Vollmert, treasurer; Mrs. Gene Fatheree, parliamentarian; and Mrs. Azelle Loftus, reporter. You girls who planned this party did a honey of a job!

DON'T EVER FORGET almost anything can be glamorous, I'm convinced, with the aid of a good advertising man. This did it, the other day when I purchased a box of corn meal, and after reading the glowing account on the side of the box about how this meal was ground at the old water mill, while history was whispering with each turn of the paddle, I felt it was almost too precious to use for such unromantic things as hush puppies. How I do love hush puppies with fresh fried fish, and lima beans cooked with ham hock. Hush!

I'M STILL RECALLING pleasant memories of the Freddie Martin dance, and the fun we had at the open house that Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McKinney and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Triplehorn held beforehand to put everyone in a very happy frame of mind. It had been a long time since I'd had a good chat with Dr. and Mrs. Ray Laycock, and Henry and Jane Rose. I like keep up-to-date on his nursery news from these proud parents.

DEAR READERS, please help me out with what I suppose must be a very simple cooking problem, but one poor Peg has never been able to master—how to fry potatoes so they will stay nice and crisp and not be all limp and listless the way mine are by the time I've rounded up the family for dinner. Sigred, Confused.

WE HAVE SUCH FUN at Maxine and Bill Lovings, and last Monday night was no exception to the rule. Our only trouble is we never know when to say goodbye, but that night there must have been about twenty others with the same ailment: Love that Margeret, with the sparkling eyes, Deer, and Zenus too.

MR. RIP UNDERWOOD of Amarillo was host to the students of Mr. Doré Fitz and their husbands and wives at his penthouse apartment on Tuesday evening. I understand that Mr. Underwood has quite an extensive collection of well known paintings. The Bob Rasmussens and the Bill Dows report a fine time was had by all.

ON TUESDAY EVENING the First Methodist Church entertained the graduating seniors of Pampa High School with a banquet. Spring flowers were all over the place, and the serving table was as pretty as a young miss with its pink and white checked cloth that was bedecked with ruffles. They tell me that Mrs. Julian Key spent months planning the party, and this I do believe!

TRIPSTERS ABOUT TOWN include Frances and George Hofseas who are away this week attending a convention, Anita and Martin Cantan and little daughter, Sally, should be well on their way by now to Illinois where they will visit Martin's parents. Maxine and Rex have returned to Pampa on Tuesday after spending a fairy story three weeks in New York and Washington. While in New York they attended a number of the Broadway plays. In Washington they had a royal tour of the capital city by Pampa's own Mr. and Mrs. Ben Guill and Mr. Mickey Ledrick. This tour included seeing and hearing the McCarthy - Army controversy. I hope some day soon to get Maxine and Rex to tell me all about it!

Be seein' ya next week with more news about more floks. As always, Your Peg

 For a real economy these days, watch the specials on lamb at your meat dealers. Particularly if you think only of the choice cuts, such as leg-of-lamb or lamb chops. You'll find most dealers have economy cuts of lamb. Using lamb ribslets, 2-inch rib portions cut from the breast, is a recipe we enjoyed at friends in San Francisco, where the cuisine reflects a rich blend of nationalities. The lamb ribslets are cooked in a spice-sharp barbecue sauce to a fork tenderness served on a mound of fluffy rice. The greatest quantities of lamb are consumed in city areas with a foreign heritage. Dishes from these people usually call for the forequarter cuts of lamb which are economically priced, such as the breast and ribslets, shanks, neck meat and shoulder. In selecting these lamb cuts, as well as the priced leg of lamb and lamb chops, a packer's brand stamped on the meat can be an assurance of quality and tenderness. Barbecued Lamb Ribslets (Yield: 4 servings)
 Two pounds lamb ribslets (2-rib portions cut from lamb breast), flour, 2 tablespoons fat, 1 large onion, thinly sliced; 1 cup catsup, 1/2 cup vinegar, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon salt.
 Roll lamb ribslets in flour. Pan-brown in hot fat in a heavy skillet. Add onion and brown. Add remaining ingredients. Cover. Simmer over low heat 2 to 2 1/2 hours or until meat is fork-tender. Pour off fat before serving. Hungarian Lamb and Red Bean Goulash (Yield: 5 servings)
 One pound lamb neck or shank, 2 teaspoons salt, seasoning flour, 2 tablespoons shortening, 2 1/2 cups cooked tomatoes (No. 2 can), 1 green pepper, diced; 2 1/2 cups red beans (No. 2 can).
 Cut lamb into 1-inch pieces. Season. Roll in flour. Brown slowly in hot shortening. Add tomatoes and green pepper. Cover and cook slowly 2 hours. Add beans and heat.

Bill Haley's Pupils To Present Recitals
 Two piano recitals by the students of Bill Haley will be presented at 8 p. m. Friday and Saturday in the parish hall of Holy Souls Catholic church. Students who will perform Friday are Morris Morgan Johnson, LuRay Nation, Jimmie Kay Mack, Robert Green, Tony Smith, Jeanne Hopkins, Kay Kotara, Kay Flippin, Jill Zuerker, Frank Howard, Gale Howard, Kenny Anderson, Bob Jernigan, Patricia Nichols, Anna Evans, Mary Lynn Miller, James Edwin Vickers, Jimmy Haiduk, Marilyn Brown, Paul Brachle, David Wampler, Gordy Shultz, Carroll Falkenstein, Harold Brand, Carolyn King and Linda Moots. Sun Bathing Helps Teens' Blemishes

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

The weather is coming to the aid of you teen-agers who have been troubled lately with blemishes.

There's nothing more effective than fresh air and sun in drying up facial eruptions. So get out into the air every chance you get, whether for only 15 minutes or a full day. And face the sun without a bit of make-up on your skin.

Don't wait until you have a swimming or tennis date. The sun you'll get in your back yard will be just as beneficial to your face. Watch your timing in the sun, in order to avoid a burn.

Of course, you can't expect sun bathing to do the whole job. The care you've taken through winter should be continued.

Keep using lots of soap and water on your face several times a day. At bedtime, applying medicated cream. And, when you're not sun bathing, conceal the blemishes with a medicated lotion.

After covering the blemishes with lotion, apply some more to blend over your face for a smooth finish. That way, you needn't wear powder, which may penetrate the lotion and interfere with the healing process.

Matching Jewelry And Fragrance Is New "Teen" Idea

By ALICIA HART

One of the most charming ideas to come forth in a long time is a natural for teen-agers. It's matching your fragrance with your jewelry.

The idea lends itself well to the currently popular floral earrings. These conversation pieces consist of tiny flowers that cascade in shower bouquets or swing out in blossom hoops. They are especially lovely on young girls.

It probably would be best to select the floral fragrance that most appeals to you and then buy earrings made of these flowers. If your allowance permits, buy dusting powder and other bath preparations in the scent, too. Then you can literally bathe in your flower.

You can carry out the idea with other jewelry, too. Pearls, for example, are classic, always correct. When wearing them, wear your favorite fragrance, the one that makes you stop and think about it, one that sparkles as a jewel.

For dress-up occasions, when you wear rhinestones or other sparkling jewelry, choose a fragrance that you'd term intriguing, one that makes you stop and think about it, one that sparkles as a jewel.

Canadian Chapter Of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority Installs New Pledges

CANADIAN (Special)

A candlelight installation ceremony was held recently in the home of Lyndall Hill for pledges of the Eta Iota chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority.

Epsilon Sigma Alpha is the oldest international non-academic sorority in the world and has members in practically every state and many foreign countries.

Jean Muir, vice president, read the ritual. Pledges, Jane Coffey, Grace Wright, Betty Blackmore, and Peggy Walker were installed as members of the chapter.

The table was centered with an arrangement of red roses, flanked with white candles, which each girl held during the ritual. Individual corsages of yellow roses tied with blue satin ribbons, in keeping with the E.S.A. colors, were presented to the pledges. Pledge pins were presented during the installation.

Following the ceremony, Attorney Bill Jackson gave the educational program on "Literature."

The guest speaker conducted a round-table discussion following his speech.

Next meeting of the sorority will be Monday with Pat Hill as hostess. Election of officers for the coming year will be held.

The chapter was chartered in Canada on June 15, 1953. Charter members are Pat Hill, Lyndall Hill, Barbara Hobdy, Blossom Newell, Gwen Pippa, Polly Farnell, Lilree Jackson, Joyelle McIntire, Jennie Doston, Betty Ward, and Jean Muir.

Facial Massage Is Mature Beauty Aid

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Even more than wrinkles, hanging jowls reveal the passage of the years in a very unflattering way. They change the contours of a woman's face, giving her a perpetually downcast expression.

Though sometimes due to overweight, this condition is usually caused by the sagging of the muscles just under the jawline.

Fortunately, when caught in its early stages it can be corrected with persistent massage.

You can easily find the area which requires massage by smiling broadly into a mirror. Note how the cheeks lift and feel the little ball of hard muscle that has formed.

Watch the muscle disappear as you cease smiling. That is the area in which you should work. Massage firmly with your finger tips, working upward only. Do this for several minutes at least once a day.

After massaging, apply face cream and splash on lots of cold water.

You can also help to restore these muscles to firmness by maintaining a pleasant expression throughout the day.

Bath Helos Fight Fatigue, Tension

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

In this day of past-paced living and harrowing headlines, there are few people fortunate enough to escape tension. Most of us have a day now and then that leaves us thoroughly exhausted.

Some think the only solution is to get away for a while. Vacations and weekends in the country certainly will do the trick, but doctors claim we can do a lot to check tension when such relaxation is not in the offing.

They say it's possible to relax completely by taking a hot bath with an ice pack at the back of the neck. This hot-and-cold method quickly eases the taut nerves and tightened muscles that are responsible for that exhausted feeling.

After an hour of the treatment one should feel as thoroughly relaxed as if she had had that country weekend.

To permit your body to relax completely during the bath, put a rubber bath pillow underneath the ice pack. Then you can lean back and enjoy the soothing action of the waters.

After you have finished bathing, pamper your body by patting on a delicately-scented lotion, slip into a nightgown that will not constrict circulation and spend a while reading or listening to soft music.

Then you'll be completely prepared to fall off into a deep sleep that will bring you to morning with renewed vigor.

JOHNSON IN HOLLYWOOD

By ERSKINE JOHNSON NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Hollywood on TV: GroUCHO Marx wants to forget the best years of his life. That's the inside reason for his refusal to appear with brothers Chico and Harpo for a revival of the old Marx Bros. routine on TV's Comedy Hour. The money was fabulous, including the sponsor's plan to finance his son's college education as a nontaxable item.

But GroUCHO no longer wants any part of his bent-over walk and blonde-chasing leers. His best years now belong to his "You Bet Your Life" contestants. Fantastic note in the new TV Guide: The story of an English TV set owner who claims he recently saw the call letters of a television station, KLEE-TV, on his screen. The hair-raiser is that KLEE went off the air for several weeks in 1950, and then returned with new call letters! Pass the smelling salts.

It will be Jack Bailey as the "Aren't we devils?" man of the return of "Truth or Consequences" to television. Says Ralph Edwards, long identified with the show: "My problem was being an angel on Wednesday nights on "This Is Your Life" and a devil on Thursday nights on "Truth or Consequences." We decided that the two wouldn't mix."

New York's live "Hit Parade," unchallenged by Hollywood to date, gets its first competition via a filmed show from Hollywood when "The Frankie Laine" show hits the picture-tube circuit in the fall. Frankie, supported by Connie Haines, dancers and specialty entertainers, goes before the cameras on June 8 under the banner of Guild Films to make 36 chuckleful-of-music-and-dancing half-hour stampees.

Says Duks Goldstone, who will direct: "A filmed musical can be just as fresh and spontaneous as a live show. Matter of fact, this will be filmed with Frankie, Connie and everybody else playing to the cameras just as performers do on live TV."

Rory Calhoun swore it happened when he arrived home from the set of "Shadow Valley." His Siamese cat crawled up inside his combination TV set and record player and gave birth to four kittens.

He named 'em: Channel 2, Channel 4, Channel 8 and Channel 7. There's more than just plot fun to Mr. Peppers acquiring a Mrs. Peppers. It's a big stunt to boost the rating of the Wally Cox show.

Betty White will beat the publicity drums on a tour of NBC stations. "Life With Luigi" is headed back to the home screens in the fall.

The television of "Halls of Ivy," co-starring Ronald Colman and Benita Hume, will be based on "proven material," as scripter Colman is selecting from his 108 radio shows. His only worry, he says, is making them just as good.

Rex Allen will make his television series under Gene Autry's Flying A production banner. "Us westerners have to stick together, pardner." Susan Hayward's not-for-long hubby, Jess Barker, is testing to replace Pat McVey as Steve Wilson in Gross-Krause's new batch of "Big Town" telefilms. Peggie Castle looks likely as the new Lorelei Kilbourne.

Hollywood will now try to steal the live TV thunder away from New York. The first stars lined up in the new General Electric series from Movietown are Joan Fontaine, Tyrone Power, Jane Wyman and Joan Crawford. Ronald Reagan will M.C. each show.

Can New York match these names? Watch out, Jack Webb. CBS, searching for a police story TV series to buck Dragnet, has come up with "The Line Up." Warner Anderson and Tom Tully will be the law enforcers in this soon-due program made in cooperation with the San Francisco police department.

Every-week delight: The way Gracie Allen looks on TV from head to toe, stem to stern and any other direction. More glamorous than a bevy of glamor girls.

Now that "New Faces" is a movie hit, isn't it television's turn with a show titled, "Slightly Used Faces?" Mark down June as the month in which a decision will be made in Roy Rogers' brannigan with Republic studio over the release of his old films on TV. Roy won the first round and Republic appealed the case.

Lamas Wins Dispute HOLLYWOOD, May 15 —UP— Argentine film star Fernando Lamas has prevented his former wife from extending to California his obligations under their 1952 Nevada divorce. Mrs. Lydia Lamas filed suit in an attempt to make the actor subject to contempt action in California as well as Nevada should he fail in meeting support payments to her and a daughter, Alejandra, 7. Superior Judge James G. Whyte denied her request Thursday for grounds Lamas already has paid more than $15,000 and has "lived up" to the terms of the Nevada divorce.

Obliging COLLIERVILLE, Tenn. —UP— Mayor John Stamps isn't a Republican, but he acted as temporary chairman at a Republican precinct meeting. Stamps said he was in the town hall when the meeting started and they wanted somebody to open the session, so he did the honors.

Government Has Been Trying For Four Years To Tag Reds

WASHINGTON, May 15 —UP— The government's legal battle to label officially the Communist party a subversive organization is now in its fourth year. The end is not in sight. The Justice Department is proceeding against the party under the McCarran Internal Security act, passed by Congress in 1950 after two years of study and debate. The law requires "Communist action" organizations to register with the attorney general.

Members of a registered organization may not use a U. S. passport or hold a federal job. The organization must report where its money comes from and how the funds are spent. Its mail and radio broadcasts must be labeled "Communist."

Must Hold Hearings Before the label is pinned on the subversive activities control board must hold hearings and make a finding of Communist control. Then the organization may appeal to the courts.

Democratic and Republican spokesmen have commented recently on this method of reducing the Communist menace. In a television report to the nation on April 9, Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. described the McCarran act as an "effective measure" by the government against Communists.

Herbert H. Lehman (D-N. Y.), in a May 9 speech honoring former President Truman, said the law is "preposterously inadequate." He lauded Mr. Truman for his veto of the legislation, which later was passed over the veto.

On Nov. 22, 1950, only two months after passage, the Justice Department asked the board to require the party to register. Since then a mountainous record totaling 18,000 pages and 808 exhibits has been accumulated. There have been four intermediate court actions, and the government has spent thousands of dollars.

The department estimates the cost of just the transcript at $500 a month, or $7,000 for the entire board hearings. Salaries of department lawyers and clerical help, as well as of the board and its staff, run well over $150,000.

Before the hearings, even got under way, the party sued in federal district court to bar further proceedings. A three-judge panel threw the case out in February, 1951. The panel and the supreme court refused to stay the hearings pending appeal.

In late 1951, the party brought another suit to kill the whole proceedings because of the panel's reduced membership. The suit was dismissed Feb. 15, 1952.

The following October, the panel recommended that the party be required to register. The board affirmed this April 20, 1953. The party took the case to the U. S. Court of Appeals, which now has it under advisement. Whatever the decision, the loser will appeal to the Supreme Court, which is not hearing any more arguments until next fall.

OPL. THOMAS GRANTHAM — son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Grantham, 999 S. Nelson, is now stationed in Saalbeiden, Austria, with the 70th Engr. Bn. A Pampa high school graduate of 1951, Grantham attended Texas Tech one year and has been in service for 17 months.

Stars and Stripes

Capt. Lee C. Cornelius, whose wife, Jean, and mother, Mrs. Clara Cornelius, live in Panhandle, is serving with the 4th Infantry Division in Germany, which is now receiving intensive field training as part of the 7th Army.

Capt. Cornelius, a forward observer with the 20th Field Artillery Battalion's headquarters, arrived overseas last month from Amarillo. He entered the Army in 1942 and holds the Air Medal and Commendation Ribbon.

Marvin A. Davis, seaman, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Davis, 117 Euclid, Panhandle, and husband of the former Miss Velma G. Pratt, Panhandle, left New Orleans April 27 with 134 naval reservists aboard escort patrol crafts USS 842, 870, and 874, for a two-week training cruise to Cienfuegos, Cuba.

The reservists will receive training and indoctrination in shipboard life plus training-by-doing in their own rates, and they return here May 7 for release to inactive duty.

Airman 3-C Phillip McGuire, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted McGuire, 1326 Charles, is home on a ten-day leave from Scott Air Force Base, Ill., where he has been stationed for two weeks. He recently completed 11 weeks of basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio.

After his leave, McGuire will return to Illinois to start a nine-month study of radio mechanics.

Jimmie D. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde C. Martin, southeast of Pampa, has been promoted to the grade of staff sergeant at Erding Air Depot, Germany, where he is a maintenance supervisor with the 748th Air Base Group.

He has been stationed in Germany since August, 1951. A 1950 graduate of Pampa high school, where he was president of the Woodcraft club, Martin attended Frank Phillips junior college at Borger and was employed as an assistant geophysicist with Gulf Research and Development prior to enlisting in the Air Force in February, 1951.

AF To Use More Asphalt, Less Concrete

WASHINGTON, May 15—UP—A House Armed Services subcommittee is drafting a report which is expected to direct the Air Force to use more asphalt and less concrete in runway construction, it was learned Saturday.

Approved by Congress, the decision will mean millions of dollars in new business to members of the asphalt industry and the oil industry's asphalt producers, and savings of millions to taxpayers.

The report is expected to be released in a week or two. It will be based on hearings last February in which the principal adversaries were the Institute of Portland Cement Interests, and Air Force engineers.

As issue were Air Force claims that asphalt can't stand up under the terrific heat of modern jet engines and dissolves or softens when jet fuel or aviation gasoline is spilled on it.

Some cases The committee is expected to consider the need for cement under some of the conditions cited, such as for the ends of runways and for parking and warm up aprons where heavy aircraft are refueled.

Asphalt comes from various sources, among them heavy rock which after crushing is refined, coal tar and lignite tar, and natural deposits at the Dead Sea and in Trinidad and other areas.

Asphalt proponents charged that the hearings that some Air Force officers had "greatly exaggerated" jet-plane damage to the runways.

One of them were in Roberts County's Quindim Field, 4 1/2 miles west Miami, with PD's of 4,200 feet. They were Shamrock's Numbers 32, 33 and 34 Maddox.

There were 19 others and two gasers reported. In addition, two plugged wells and two amended locations were included.

These are the statistics: Hutchinson County A. E. Herrman Corp. — E. Cockrell No. 3 — 990' from E. 330' from N. lines of lease, Sec. 3, Bk. Sun Oil Dedicates Refinery in Canada — SARNIA, Ont., May 15—The new 15,000-barrel-per-day refinery of Sun Oil Company, Ltd., which was formally dedicated here today was described as "a symbol of the continued faith and confidence that we of Sun Oil have in the future of Canada."

The statement was made by Joseph N. Pew, Jr., president of Sun Oil Company, Ltd., and chairman of the board of the parent Sun Oil Company, in a special message in a Canadian issue of "Our Sun," a company publication, commemorating the completion of the refinery.

"We have no doubts about the future of Canada," Pew declared. "We have unbounded confidence that the petroleum needs of the continent will continue to grow at a rapid rate."
