Pentagon Scratches Head . . . VTO Planes May Have Been Outdated Before They Fly

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The two experimental vertical take-off planes which have been built to zoom straight up and land straight down, tall first, have launched a high-level debate in the Pentagon over what practical military value they will ever serve.

Although this radical type of aircraft has been the dream of designers since the days of Leonardo da Vinci, there are experts who contend it is already obsolete because of guided missile and other aircraft developments.

The planes which are causing the debate are the XFV-1, built by Consolidated Vultee, and the KFV-1, built by Lockheed. Both resemble conventional high-speed fighters and both are powered by counter-rotating turbo-propellers, a combination of jet power in a turbine driving a conventional propeller.

The Air Force has other pure-jet models still secret, designed for approximately the same purpose. But instead of going straight up they will require a drastically reduced take-off distance compared to the long runs needed by current jet fighters.

Air Force experts take a more conservative view of the future of vertical take-off planes than others. At best, they say, VTO planes might have limited uses for close support of ground troops and as interceptors.

It is also argued that the price in performance which you pay for achieving vertical take-off might be impractical for bombers, cargo planes, night fighters, and long-range interceptors. As one expert explains:

"The cost of vertical take-off is less streamlined fuselage, a very complicated cockpit construction, difficulty of piloting, more complicated instruments and extremely complex vertical control systems. What you gain is the elimination of a concrete runway. So the gain is not worth the price."

Even ardent proponents of the VTO planes don't see much future for them in private or commercial flying because of the cost of the tremendous amount of fuel and the inherent difficulty in flying them.

The vertical take-off idea is just opposite from the goal of commercial plane designers, who seek maximum load carrying with minimum power.

Although helicopters fly straight up and down, they do it much slower and their forward speed is considerably limited. But this also makes helicopters much cheaper, although even it is only starting to pay off commercially in some passenger and mail services.

VTO plane enthusiasts point out the ideal type of aircraft for the support of troops and the shooting down of enemy bombers striking the U.S. VTO planes could be assigned to small Army units and operate without runways, and they could be stationed all over the U.S. without the need for building big air fields.

In answer to the guided missile experts point out that the Army's "Nike" battalions being set up around the country already answer the need for localized air defense. The Nike is a very accurate, rocket-propelled anti-aircraft guided missile.

As for the use of VTO planes for the battlefield, an Air Force expert says:

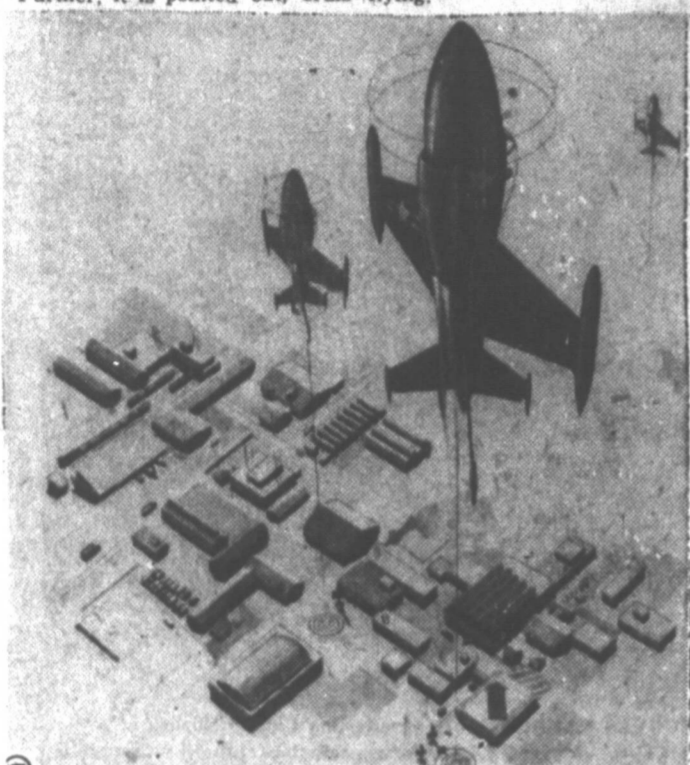

"The concept may have a possibility here, but if such a plane going to operate close behind front you still have tremendous logistical problems of getting fuel and spare parts to it. And as you get into this problem the savings achieved by not having to lay down a fighter strip almost becomes a minor part of the whole effort."

The two VTO planes which exist are Navy projects, but even in that service there is debate over them. It is claimed that long before all of the bugs can be ironed out of the VTO models all the Navy's ships will have guided missiles capable of the same missions performed by VTO planes.

Further, it is pointed out, cruisers and other large ships already carry catapult-launched aircraft, and the Navy has just placed a large order for speedy jets which can land on the sea and be picked up by ships other than carriers.

Despite the arguments, however, all the experts concede that the accomplishment of vertical take-off is a startling development which could revolutionize some aspects of military aviation and also contribute greatly to the general advancement of the art of flying.

VERTICAL TAKE-OFF would look like this artist's sketch, according to Lockheed, builders of one of the two VTO craft.

TV STAGE RADIO RECORDS PEOPLE

For the first time in its lovable history, "I Love Lucy" will have a guest star soon. Desi Arnaz called Jimmy Demaree, the golfer, and asked him to come out and appear in a golf skit on the show. Demaree, whose new book, "My Partner, Ben Hogan," was based on an NEA series, should be a natural with Lucy. He's been addressing the ball for years.

Mrs. Clarence Day journeyed to California, where they televise the series based on the celebrated book her husband wrote about his father, "Life With Father." And she returned with one firm belief:

"Father Day would have had an abysmal hatred of California."

She, herself, was happy to get back home. She spent four months in Darkglassville, as Broadway calls Los Angeles — "four months telling them what was wrong." She was sort of a technical advisor, to see that CBS-TV (Hollywood Division) did right by the Days (New York Gay 90s Section).

And she thinks they have. "Those months were trying on me and trying on them," says this bright-eyed, sparkling little woman. "But everyone was pleasant. They wanted to do it right."

"I'm only interested in keeping it truthful — not that every incident must have actually happened, but the flavor must be accurate."

To that end, she checked the script, not the knickknacks that went into the sets, okayed the costumes. And, while "Life With Father" started off on the wrong foot, it has come along steadily and is now a faithful reproduction of the wonderful book and play on which it's based.

"One more thing, Father Day, bless his nasty old disposition — what would he have thought about television?"

Mrs. Day smiled sweetly. "He would have loathed it," she said.

If you ever see Dave Garroway, and notice his red wool socks, this is the story. They were knitted by his choreographer, Edith Barstow.

INDO CHINA - The World's Oldest War (10)

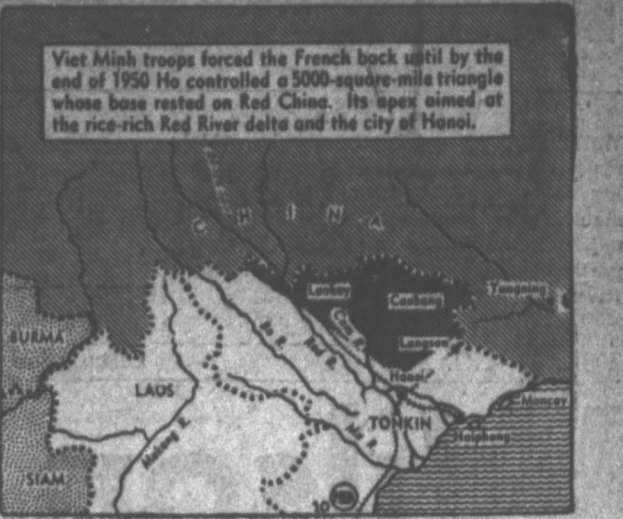

By Walter Parkes and Ralph Lane

Help for Ho came from Red China, just as it did for the North Koreans. Thousands of his troops were trained in China by battle-seasoned veterans, directed by Russian staff officers. Ho's guerrillas got modern weapons — automatic guns, tanks, artillery.

In September, 1950, Ho was ready to strike a major blow. His black-clad Viet Minh forces rolled down from China's border, capturing one French border fort after another. In October, on evacuating French garrison and a rescue column of 5500 men were ambushed. Only 600 escaped.

Viet Minh troops forced the French back until by the end of 1950 Ho controlled a 3500-square-mile triangle whose base rested on Red China. Ho's spear aimed at the rice-rich Red River delta and the city of Hanoi.

From The Wine Comes The Taster

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Hermann Herlet gently sloshed the clear wine around in the half-filled goblet. He raised the glass under his nose, inhaled, sipped quickly, made a little gurgling sound, swallowed and then smiled with satisfaction.

Quicker than you can say "Läb-fräumlisch" — the wine of the moment — he had demonstrated the delicate art of wine-tasting, for Herlet is an expert taster for German Rhine and Moselle wines.

WINE TASTER HERLET to get the real flavor, inhale it.

"First thing to look for in a wine is color," says Herlet. "In the old days a wine maker held the glass of wine in front of a candle to check for clearness. Today, an electric light beam can be used, but it isn't absolutely necessary. An expert can tell a good wine without artificial light."

"We 'nose-it' to get the full aroma, or as we say in the trade the 'bouquet.' It's best to have the glass half-filled for this. Then to get the real flavor and body of the wine we inhale the air while we're tasting. That makes the gurgling noise. At the same time the wine is pushed up into the roof of the mouth with the tongue."

Why is the United States becoming more wine conscious? Mr. Herlet explained it this way: "It's undoubtedly true that many returning GI's brought back a taste for good wine. But we believe it's due to a higher standard of living and better incomes. People are craving more gracious living and entertainment than ever."

County Officials Guests At Junior C of C Luncheon

Six county "officials" heard Dr. R. M. Hampton discuss the causes and treatment of cancer at this week's meeting of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce.

It was DeMolay Day when the county met at noon Tuesday in the Pampa Room of City Hall.

County Atty. Bill Waters and County Commissioners Arlie Carpenter, O. L. Tibbets, Paul Bowers and Bill Jarvis brought along as guests "County Judge" Michael Price, "County Atty." Jerry Boston and "County Commissioners" Don Cook, Earl Cooper, Gary Dearson and Don Pendergrass. Mrs. Christine Cullison and Mrs. Jackie Cary, secretaries for County Judge J. B. Maguire Jr. and Waters, were also on hand.

"We know what cancer is, but we don't know what causes it," Dr. Hampton told the JayCees and their guests. "It is a cell growth."

Dr. Hampton, participating in the April Cancer Crusade, likened the growth of cancerous tissues to the crust of the cancer problem, which flip over and multiply. A cancerous tissue, he said, is one which keeps on growing beyond the point a normal one would stop.

"How to kill the abnormal cells and not kill the normal ones" is the crux of the cancer problem, Dr. Hampton pointed out, adding that the "tissue culture laboratory" in Galveston, where normal tissues are grown, may well provide the eventual answer.

Ray Duncan, JayCee membership chairman, announced that Bill Martin's "Gray" team had beat out Bill Harris' "Blue" team in the 1954 membership drive. The score: Gray 10, Blue 9. The Blues must now give a dinner for the "Grays."

A replacement on the JayCee board of directors for Bob Quick, who has moved to Brownwood, will be made next week. JayCee President J. C. Hopkins said.

JayCees were asked by Henry Gruben to be on hand at 11:30 a.m. Thursday at the Pampa railroad depot to welcome the delegation from Wichita, Kans., making a goodwill tour.

Indo-China Crisis Presents Striking Parallel To Korea

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Fears South Koreans. "The American people welcome you as an equal partner . . . You are not alone. You will never be alone as long as the wisdom of direct negotiations with the Chinese Communists at the coming Geneva conference are increasing."

And U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is on something of a double spot.

The curious and little-remembered fact is that what Dulles has been saying publicly in recent weeks is entirely consistent.

It bears a striking parallel to what he had to say nearly four years ago, under similar circumstances at the start of the Korean war. The steps in this latest development are worth re-living.

As far back as last Sept. 2, Dulles declared in his American Legion speech at St. Louis: "If there were open Red Chinese aggression . . . it would have grave consequences which might not be confined to Indo-China." Nobody got excited then.

He repeated this assertion in his Jan. 13 speech before the Foreign Policy Council in New York. He told how this threat would be met:

"The way to deter aggression," he said, "is for the free community to be willing and able to respond at places and with means of its own choosing. . . The basic decision, taken by President Eisenhower and the National Security Council, 'was to depend primarily upon a great capacity to retaliate instantly.'"

Then, in his March 29 speech before the Overseas Press Club in New York, Dulles explained why he had made these policy declarations. Asserting that propagandists of Red China and Russia had made it clear they intended to dominate all of Southeast Asia, he said:

"The United States feels that this possibility should not be passively accepted, but should be met by united action."

All this, however, follows closely the pattern of Dulles' statements just before and after the outbreak of hostilities in Korea. To get the full record in perspective, go back to June, 1950. That was when Dulles went to the Orient as a special representative of President Truman.

Dulles went to Korea. He went up to the 38th parallel and looked across the South Korean defenses to the North Korean trenches from which a number of border raids had come. He then went to Seoul and addressed the Republic of Korea Parliament.

This speech was written by Dulles before he left Washington. It had been cleared by President Truman, Secretary of State Dean Acheson, the late Sen. Robert A. Taft and other Republican leaders. It was fully approved American policy.

"The American people give you their support," Mr. Dulles told the board of directors for Bob Quick, who has moved to Brownwood, will be made next week. JayCee President J. C. Hopkins said.

Penney Store Celebrates Improvements

Pampa's J. C. Penney Company department store will celebrate the remodeling and enlarging of its basement area with a grand opening Thursday, announced R. M. Samples, manager.

The recently-completed improvements will provide the store with an additional 1,000 square feet of selling space, making a new store total of 11,000 square feet.

Piece goods, home furnishings, lamps, shades and a Lay-Away department will be found in the enlarged basement. Women's accessories, foundations, jewelry, sportswear, infants' wear, men's and boys' clothing, work clothes, shoes and luggage can be found on the main floor. Women's coats, suits, dresses, millinery, girls' wear and a cotton shop are located on the balcony.

Established here in 1929, Pampa's store is one of 124 in Texas and 1,600 nationwide. Manager Samples has been here since 1945. He joined the company in 1927 at Okmulgee, Okla., and became a manager in 1937 while in Cordell, Okla.

J. C. Penney company's development is one of the great American business sagas. It began its first store in 1902 in Kemmerer, Wyo., a frontier town of 1,000 persons. Mr. Penney called his enterprise "The Golden Rule Store" based on the idea of friendly, considerate service; honest advertising, without exaggeration or misrepresentation; and cutting costs by selling only for cash, making no deliveries and the elimination of unnecessary operation costs.

Since that time the company has grown until in 1953 it had a total sales force of nearly 70,000 persons and total sales of more than a billion. Today, it serves millions of customers. Its Golden Rule principles, Penny people say, will remain unchanged.

Draft Calls Two From Area

Only two Pampa area men are slated to leave for induction this month, according to the local selective service office. They will depart by bus for Amarillo April 29.

Because of the small call it is believed that the coffee and doughnut session, usually presented by the Chamber of Commerce good will committee, will not be held. In addition to the draft quota, 25 men have been called to take physical examinations and will leave April 27. Next month's draft will be slightly higher with eight men scheduled to leave for induction May 20.

Has Hurt Moral

The secretary said that the whole Army-McCarthy row has not "done any good" to morale in the defense setup.

He said that one result was to complicate his problem of getting men to take top jobs. They are reluctant, he said "if they are going to get worked over unfairly."

McCarthy's charges against Hensel revolved around Hensel's connection with a ship's supply firm now in the process of liquidation.

McCarthy charged Hensel was the "dominant force" in organizing the firm while he was a Navy procurement official in World War II.

Acting subcommittee chairman Karl E. Mundt (R-S, D.) has insisted from the outset that the investigation should deal only with issues directly related to the Army's charges and the reply of the McCarthy side to them.

He declined to comment immediately on whether he considers the Hensel allegations relevant to the inquiry. McCarthy claims they are designed to show motivation for the Army's attempt "to discredit the subcommittee" but if the issue is raised formally it will have to be decided by a majority subcommittee vote.

Plaques will be awarded Tuesday noon, the JayCees regular meeting time.

Mrs. R. A. Chisholm, Jean And Sheila Honor Rose Mary Herrmann At Brunch

Mrs. R. A. Chisholm and her daughters, Jean and Sheila Chisholm, 800 N. Gray, honor Rose Mary Herrmann, daughter of George C. Herrmann of Amarillo, recently with a brunch in their home. Guests of the brunch were Pampanos who will attend the wedding May 1, of Miss Herrmann and Donald C. Watson, New York City. Mrs. John A. Steinhilber will officiate at the wedding in the Sacred Heart Cathedral in Amarillo.

The informal brunch was served buffet style from a table covered with white lace over blue. The bride's chosen color, was repeated in the bridesmaids' gowns and in the tiny flowers at the altar of a miniature wedding scene. Lemon leaves and white candles formed the background for the arrangement.

The honoree's corsage of blue and white carnations was sent to her by Mrs. William G. Bush, the former Colleen Chisholm, of Lovington, N. M., and Mrs. William A. Jourdan, formerly Ann Chisholm, of Hobbs, N. M.

Attending were Meses. Roy Mc-

Kernan, Lynn Boyd, Dan Gribbon, M. F. Roche, H. W. Waddell, Joe Gayden, Ed Dunigan, Fred Neelage, J. S. Roberts, a cousin of the honoree from Amarillo; her sister, who will be her maid of honor, Mrs. Roy E. Baird, Amarillo; and her aunts, also of Amarillo, Mrs. William Haley, Mrs. Fannie Haley, Mrs. Ollie Herrman and Misses Margaret Haley, Eleanor Haley, Marguerite and Theresa Robrecht.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace Friend
Several times my teen-age son has been a dinner guest in the home of a girl with whom he goes steady.

It has seemed to me that courtesy would demand that we have her at our home occasionally in return but my son will not hear of it. He feels that it is somehow discourteous to ask the girl home for a meal. He thinks it is all right to invite her to eat in a restaurant but not to come to his home.

This seems very silly to me but I haven't been able to persuade him that one is as correct as the other.

Would you write something on the subject?

Mrs. Johnson

Dear Mrs. Johnson
I agree with you that it is proper and correct to ask the girl for dinner occasionally since your son has been invited to her home. Actually there is no reason why you shouldn't invite her even if he had never had dinner in her house.

I do think that it is more courteous for you to give the invitation than for him to. Your calling and asking the girl puts the stamp of your approval on the invitation and her parents will feel happier about allowing her to accept the dinner invitation, especially if you are unacquainted.

LIPSTICK FOR YOUTH
Dear Miss Friend

I am in my early teens and I am just starting to use lipstick. My mother said to write to you about how to choose the right color. I would be so appreciative if you would assist me in this.

Sally

Choose a party-pink lipstick, as delectable as pink ribbon lacings in this spring's grown-up baby dresses.

See that the pink lipstick goes on as clean a face as you can make it with good soap and water. If the soap makes you shine, use a little powder to kill it.

Be just as careful of your hair, always keeping it shiny clean. When you wash it, which you should do often, use three soaps and then rinse and rinse.

Nothing is more charming than cleanliness to which is added the shine of youth. Accent it for all you are worth.

Picnic sandwiches will stay fresh longer if after wrapping them you seal the edges of the wax paper with a hot iron.

BEAUTY— News & Views

NEW CLOTHES, new hair-do and perhaps a new shade of lipstick. It's all part of "Sprucing Up for Spring," and everybody's doing it or at least thinking about it.

Sometimes, though, even the most carefully planned sprucing up operation can overlook important details. Take teeth, for instance. Most people think of dental care as a health measure, but it has a beauty angle, too.

Neither a new wardrobe nor a new lipstick can make your teeth sparkle the way they should for a springtime smile. Your dentist can help. In fact, a professional cleaning and check-up should be one of the most important dates on your spring beauty calendar.

The rest is up to you. Regular brushing after every meal is the first step in keeping teeth bright and healthy. But the toothbrush can't reach bits of food that lodge in the crevices between the teeth. That is why the use of dental floss is a "must" for a sparkling smile. Just run a length of floss gently back and forth between the teeth and you may be surprised at the cleaning job it will do.

Clothes, coiffure and cosmetics are important, but your toothbrush, dentifrice and dental floss are vital, too, when you spruce up for spring.

Editor's Note: The following is the first of several profiles of successful women, selected for United Press as "representative" of the Trenton's "Woman of the Year" and this February the American Woman's Association in New York picked her as the "Woman of the Month."

Since her husband died, she also has had the job of rearing a child and a daughter. Both are musicians, but most people say that Mrs. Roebing's favorite instrument is the telephone.

Brazilian Coffee Pinocha — A Candy For Coffee-Time

AMONG the Latin American recipes, one of the favorite sweetmeats is a candy called Doce de Leite. Sometimes, on the many occasions when "cafezinho"—tiny cups of fragrant black coffee—are being served, a platter of this popular candy takes the place of any other snack.

Let's take inspiration from South of the Border, Amigos! We give you Pinocha A Cafe De Brazil—Brazilian Coffee Pinocha—a direct descendant of Doce de Leite. We adapted the basic recipe to North American tastes. It's smooth, creamy, delicately coffee-flavored and as different as can be.

If you're the adventurous type, we suggest that you go all the way and serve it with black coffee, demitasse. But whether served with coffee black or coffee white, the Pinocha A Cafe De Brazil will bring a "Bravo!" from the hardest-to-please candy fan.

Pinocha A Cafe De Brazil
1 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
1 cup strong coffee
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup chopped Brazil nuts
Combine sugar, coffee and corn syrup in saucepan. Cook, stirring constantly, to 235° F., or until a little of the mixture dropped in cold water forms a soft ball. Remove from the heat, drop in butter (do not stir). Cool without stirring, to 110° F., or until the candy is lukewarm. Add vanilla; beat with a spoon or electric beater at medium speed until the mixture loses its gloss, and a small amount dropped from a spoon will hold its shape. Stir in nuts; pour into lightly buttered 8x8x3-inch pan. When cold, cut into squares. Makes about 1½ lbs.

Grandmother Among Those Chosen Tops Of Business And Professional Women

That was in 1937 when the tall, blue-eyed brunette first was elected to the board of directors of the Trenton Trust Company as a gesture of kindness and sympathy.

Mary's husband, Siegfried, who had a heavy interest in the bank, had just died, ending a brilliant career as a bridge-builder. Mary was left with a young child and a large estate to manage.

"I'm pretty sure most of the men hoped I'd be like the parable on a lamb chop," she recalled, "just a bit of useless trimming."

One of Seven Presidents
That was the turning point in her life. Now, Mrs. Roebing is one of only seven women bank presidents in the nation. She holds directorships in 24 companies and belongs to dozens of civic and social clubs.

Mrs. Roebing, who credits her success to knowing more about people than investment banking, has built the total assets of the Trenton bank from $16,000,000 to $70,000,000. She did such a thorough public relations job that depositors affectionately refer to the trust company as "Mary's bank."

"Most people think a banker is a species of super-god," she once said, "living in the lap of luxury on the fabulous earnings from people's savings."

In speeches throughout the country and abroad, she has successfully invaded many traditionally masculine fields.

She also lectures on everything from thrift to bread lines, always pointing up the fact that "women are a perfect addition to the highly mechanized scheme of life."

She studied at the University of Pennsylvania and New York University and last year was named Trenton's "Woman of the Year."

LOST 40 POUNDS WITH THIS HOME RECIPE

Just ask your druggist for four ounces of Resinol Barconate. Mix with grapefruit juice as directed on label and take according to directions, together with the appetite curb tablets in the carton. The cost for the liquid and curb tablets is now just $1.69. Over 2 million bottles of Barconate sold in Texas in 10 years. Year after year this amazing product increases in popularity. After you have tried the starvation, calorie counting way, why not try the safe, sure, Barconate way?

Don't know a hungry moment taking Resinol Barconate. Mrs. E. L. Warren, 376 Alabama St., Beaumont, Texas, wrote us as follows:

"My doctor told me I must lose some weight. When I commenced to take Barconate, I weighed 185 pounds. I now weigh 145, a loss of 40 pounds and I feel much better."

"If the very few bottles of Barconate doesn't show you the way to take off weight, return the empty tin for your money back."

Lost 9 Pounds
Mrs. Nancy Duckett, Box 322, De Leon, Texas, wrote us that she had taken off nine pounds taking Barconate and says that it is a grand medicine.

WT-NM Season Opens Tonight; Oilers At Berger For Opener

Oilers Open Home Season Tomorrow

By BUCK FRANCIS
Fampa News Sports Editor

A brand new baseball season for the West Texas-New Mexico League will be ushered in tonight on four fronts. The Pampa Oilers, under the direction of Doug Lewis, who is making his first managerial start, will journey to Berger for tonight's opener.

The Oilers, after the game tonight, will come back home to open their home slate tomorrow night with the same Berger Gassers furnishing the opposition.

Game time tonight at Berger has been set for 8 p.m. The starting time for tomorrow's game at Otter Park will be 8:15.

Other opening night games to-night will be at Lubbock, Abilene, Plainview at Amarillo, Clovis at Albuquerque.

Admission prices for tomorrow night's opener at Otter Park will be $1 for adults and 75 cents for students, business manager Jimmy Hamilton has announced.

These prices are in keeping with the league policy for opening night games. After the opening night, prices will be 75 and 50 cents.

Hamilton also added that the season books will be good for the opening game. These booklets have arrived and are now available at the Otter business office. Books may be purchased for 25, 50 and 75 games at reduced prices.

All playing sites will be switched for tomorrow night. Abilene will go to Lubbock, Amarillo will be at Plainview, Albuquerque will journey to Clovis and Pampa will host Berger in Thursday night's contest.

At Berger tonight, the Oilers will open on the mound with Albert Clark, a rookie left-hander. Clark will be opposed by George Bethany of the Gassers. Bethany was in the league last year but with another club — Abilene. Bethany's record at Abilene was 1-1.

Manager Doug Lewis had previously announced that Don Tierney would start for the Oilers tonight but had to make a change when outfielder Al Duany failed to arrive. Tierney is expected to divide time between the pitcher's box and outfield this season and he will be needed for outfield duty tonight since only two other outfielders are on the roster.

Potential starting lineups for tonight's opener between the Oilers and Gassers have been revealed. They are:

Longhorns Nip Bearcats, 1-0

AUSTIN, April 21 — UP — The Texas Longhorns prepared for Saturday's conference game here against Southern Methodist with a 1 to 0 non-conference baseball victory over Sam Houston Tuesday.

Boyd Linker, the Longhorns' ace pitcher, gave up only two hits as he won his fifth game of the season without a loss.

For seven innings, the game was a pitchers' battle between Linker and Sam Houston's Hubert Boales. Boales walked the first batter in the eighth, Texas catcher Conrad Werkenhith, and then went out in favor of Norwood Lange.

Werkenhith came around to score the only run of the game.

Score by innings:
Sam Houston . . . 000 000-0 2
Texas 000 000-1 4 1

Boales, Lange (8) and Hodges; Linker and Werkenhith, L.—Boales.

A's Kellner Misses No-Hitter By Lone Single In 8th Frame

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer

Alex Kellner was named in honor of Grover Cleveland Alexander and it looks like he may have inherited the "no hit jinx" which plagued that immortal pitcher.

Certainly there seemed to be a fate working against the crafty Kellner Tuesday night when he allowed only an eighth-inning, two-out single by weak-hitting Wayne Terwilliger in hurling the Philadelphia Athletics to a 7 to 0 triumph over the Senators under the aegis in Washington.

The great Alexander, National League pitching star of the '10s and '20s, reaped just about every kind of baseball glory there is—except a no-hitter. "Old Pete" hurled one-hitters galore; in fact—in 1915 alone—he tossed four of them for an all-time record. But always the elusive no-hitter slipped through his fingers.

Clean Single to Center

Southpaw Kellner was on the verge of succeeding where the williger, only a 253-hitter last season and the No. 4 batter in the Senators' lineup, came to the plate in the eighth.

The 29-year-old Athletics veteran had retired 18 straight batters and seemed to be getting stronger as he went along. But, with the count two balls and one strike, Terwilliger stepped into a fast ball and lashed it cleanly into center field for a single.

"Being behind in the count is what probably ruined me," said Kellner. "I tried to come across with the fast one and he powdered it."

Kellner, whose baseball-conscious father also named Alex, brother Walt (now a pitcher in the A's farm system) in honor of Walter Johnson, got the next batter to hit into a forceout and thus salvaged the distinction of not allowing a single Senators' runner to reach second base. He walked three batters and struck out six.

Vic Power, Negro outfielder obtained from the Yankees during the winter, led the Athletics' 11-hit assault on four Washington pitchers with a pair of doubles that drove in four runs. Chuck Stobba was the starter and lost for the Senators.

In other Tuesday night games the Philadelphia Phils whipped the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6 to 3, and the Cincinnati Reds outslug the St. Louis Cards, 13 to 6, leaving the Phils and Reds tied for first place in the National League. In day games, the New York Giants downed the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6 to 2, and the Chicago White Sox beat the Detroit Tigers, 7 to 2.

Harvester 9 Whips Panhandle For 4th Straight Win, 23-2

The Harvester baseballers rolled to their fourth straight win yesterday with a resounding 23-2 victory over the Panhandle Panthers in a non-conference game at Otter Park.

Combined pitching of Dale Hensell, John Warner and Freddy Adams and the lusty hitting of Glenn Adams was the big factor in the Harvester's easy victory.

The Harvester hurlers gave up only one hit — a single in the second inning by Jones Hedrick. Adams sparked the 15-hit Harvester batting attack on three Panther chumpers with three hits in three trips — all blows being for extra bases.

Adams opened the Harvester scoring in the first inning when he blasted his second homerun of the year with Mike Valdesquez, who had walked, and J. N. Wright, who had singled, on the bases. Adams' drive carried over the left-field wall.

The Harvester outfielder continued his onslaught on Panhandle pitchers with a double and triple in his only other two plate appearances. Adams was lifted in the third inning when coach Deck Woit inserted a complete new lineup. Adams drove in four Harvester runs and scored three himself.

Hensell, who started for the Harvesters, gave up the lone Panhandle hit. Hedrick led off the Panther second inning with a single through middle to deprive Hensell of a no-hitter. Hensell whiffed eight Panthers.

The Harvesters scored in every inning. They tallied four times in the first, seven in the second and breezed in with the victory.

Next on tap for the Harvesters will be three crucial District 1-AA contests this weekend with the Lubbock Westerners, The Green and Golders will host the Westerners at Otter Park Friday and then journey to Lubbock Saturday to sell the Lubbock nine in a doubleheader.

The Harvesters will be putting their District 1-AA lead on the line in the week-end tilt with Westerners. Pampa is leading the 1-AA race with a 4-1 slate. Amarillo is second with 4-2 and Lubbock third with 2-2.

Sad Sam Sees Action in O-City Win

By UNITED PRESS

The Texas League regained semblance of balance Wednesday as the Shreveport Sports, who looked impregnable during the first days of the season, revealed a few holes in the fort.

Manager Mel McGaha's men still hold the league lead and a splendid 11-3 won-lost record, but a full game was whacked off their margin Tuesday night as the Sports lost their second straight to Fort Worth, 4 to 1, and second season San Antonio edged Tulsa, 4 to 5 in 10 innings. The Sports and Missions are now separated by two games.

The defending champion Dallas Eagles, best by injuries to their two star pitchers and the first baseman, stopped a four-game skid by beating Beaumont 5 to 2, and Oklahoma City beat Houston 5 to 2 in other games.

Kotrany Shows Stuff

With Dallas pitchers John (Red) Merrif and Wayne McLeland out of commission with injuries, Joe Kotrany has stepped in to fill the breach admirably.

Kotrany has always looked like a pitcher of major-league caliber, but he has toiled through several seasons with mediocre records. But he won his third game of the season with a defeat in stopping Beaumont on six hits Tuesday night and both Exporter runs were unearned.

Kotrany fanned six and walked only two as the Eagles took a lead and kept it. Outfielder Will Williams homered for Dallas in the fifth inning with none on.

Fort Worth's Karl Spooner also won his third game as the Cat beat Shreveport, 4 to 1, but it was the first time Spooner has gone the distance.

Janice Winning Hurler

He gave up five hits as Vic Marasco put the Cats into a permanent lead in the third inning with his fifth home run with a male aboard. Marasco also hammered in the fourth Cat run with a single in the fifth.

John Janacek, the fourth San Antonio pitcher, got credit for the Missions' extra-inning to 5 w/o over Tulsa.

Joe Seekely struck a home run for the Oilers in the third inning with one on.

Score by innings:
Shreveport . . . 010 000-0-1 5 3
Fort Worth . . . 003 010-4 6
Jacobs, Smith (5) Tremel (8) and Jones; Spooner and Staples.

San Antonio 000 004 001-1-6 9
Tulsa 12 001 100-5 12

Beaumont . . . 000 020 000-2 4 1

Oliver Conferring With Globe Trotters

RIO GRANDE, Ohio, April 20 — UP — Newt Oliver, talkative basketball coach of Little Rio Grande College, said "no comment" Tuesday about reports he and high-scoring Clarence (Bevo) Francis will team up with Abe Saperstein of the professional Harlem Globetrotters.

Oliver did say he mailed in his resignation Tuesday, to be effective Sept. 1. Asked what he would do next, the coach said "that will be decided next Monday."

He refused to say anymore about his plans, but denied a report out of Cleveland that he and Bevo had signed a contract with Saperstein.

Meanwhile, Saperstein said in Chicago he had arranged to meet Oliver in New York next Monday to talk about a contract. The Globetrotter owner said he had done nothing about the matter as yet, but "that doesn't mean I won't."

Midland, Carlsbad, Artesia, Angelo Win Longhorn Opener

By UNITED PRESS

The Class C Longhorn League opened a 140-game schedule Tuesday night with Carlsbad, 1953 straight-season champion, Midland, first round games.

Midland initiated Wichita Falls into a new league by whipping the Spudders 19 to 6 before 1,900 fans at Midland. Wichita Falls was in the Class B Big State League last year.

Carlsbad's Polashers rapped Roswell, 9 to 6; San Angelo beat Odessa, 13 to 3; and Artesia whipped Big Spring, 22 to 8.

Artesia fans were treated to eight home runs with Artesia getting six of them in a 21-hit attack against the Bronchos from Texas. San Angelo jumped on rookie Bobby Needham and limited series pitcher Wes Ortiz for 15 hits in beating visiting Odessa, 13 to 3. Mario Saldaña, veteran Colt pitcher, went the distance and held the Oilers to nine hits.

Midland scored nine runs in the first inning and pounded out 20 hits all told in beating Wichita Falls; righthander Harold Hacker pitched the distance for Midland which was helped by five Spudder errors.

Sharp relief pitching by Mario Jimines and vital hits by the Jackson, a star last year, gave Carlsbad its 9 to 6 win over Roswell before 2,000 fans at Roswell.

Jackson doubled home the first two Carlsbad runs in the first inning and singled in the fourth.

Wednesday night's schedule: Roswell at Carlsbad, Big Spring at Artesia, Odessa at San Angelo and Wichita Falls at Midland.

HAIR APPARENT—Barbershop prices don't affect Joe Kindig, left, and Karl Ott, of York, Pa., who started a friendly rivalry in 1943 when razor blades were difficult to buy. Since August of that year neither man has been in a barbershop. They claim this is as long as their hair will grow.

Kids Cautioned To Be Careful Riding Bicycles

"Care and judgment are important skills in riding a bicycle well," advised Police Chief Jim Connel today. His comment was in conjunction with his Department of Public Safety and National Safety Council program of child pedestrian and bicycle safety this month.

According to National Safety Council figures, approximately 22,000 children were injured or killed while riding bicycles in 1952, advised Col. E. B. Tilley of Houston, president of the Texas Safety association.

Youngsters who would like to become bike-riding experts should:

- 1) Keep to the right.
- 2) Ride in a straight line. Do not weave or swerve.
- 3) When with friends, ride in a single file.
- 4) Put books and packages in a carrier and never carry passengers on your bike.
- 5) In traffic, obey all signs, signals and pertinent traffic laws.
- 6) Never hitch on to a passing truck, street car, automobile or any vehicle.
- 7) never dart into traffic from a driveway, alley or side street.
- 8) If you must ride at night, have a good light and rear reflector.
- 9) Keep bicycle in good condition.

Hawaii Plans Statehood Drive

HONOLULU, T.H., April 21.—The Hawaiian Territorial Legislature is planning an all-out drive for Hawaiian statehood which may include a trip to Washington by the entire 45-man body.

The House and Senate met in a special joint session Tuesday to hear Gov. Samuel Wilder King call for use of "every means possible" to push through the statehood measure now pending in Congress.

Republican House Speaker Hiram Fong said the GOP majority agreed in pre-session caucus to recommend that the entire legislature of 15 senators and 30 representatives be sent to Washington in a chartered plane.

The Democratic minority indicated it would oppose the move as too costly.

For a different touch to spring meals, add enough grape juice to cream, cheese to soften it. Roll into walnut-sized balls and dip in chopped nuts and parsley.

JOHNSON IN HOLLYWOOD

By ERSKINE JOHNSON NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Exclusively Yours: One of Zsa Zsa Gabor's quotes that escaped fame on the Phoenix, Ariz., location for "Big Top" is being told around town. A local news scribe asked her if she'd been to Phoenix before and she flipped: "Yes, on BOTH of my honeymoons."

Bing Crosby's admiring reaction to pal Dean Martin's warbling of best song choice, "That's Amore," on the Oscar TV show. "He really put his heart into it. He sang it like the Academy members were still voting."

The Evelyn MacNamara who modeled minks and sables on a Hollywood TV show the other day is June Haver's sister. Evelyn's out to carve a career for herself... Redskins and cattle rustlers never caused Guy Madison as much trouble as the lawyers hired by Gail Russell to draw up a divorce property settlement... The Peter Lorres had their second stork date canceled by the long-legged bird. They already have a nine-month-old child.

The James Masons, without particularly trying, have righted their skittish marriage craft for the time being. They leave Hollywood after he winds up "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea," for Shakespearean repertory at Stratford in the province of Ontario, Canada.

Nick Condos and Martha Raye couldn't agree as hubby and wife. Now that they're divorced, he just signed a long contract to manage her career... Shelley Winters' latest eye-popping quotes about the hubby she's shedding, Vittorio Gassman: "He doesn't have a soul — only an ego." Jim Backus' idea for a great new audience participation show to end all audience participation shows: It's called "Stand the Pain" and you get $100 for an appendectomy, etc.

Latest profit figures on "The Robe": Gross business of $27,000,000 in 1451 theaters in 25 weeks.

Ronald Reagan and George Murphy can play coy about running for office, but Aldo Ray is preparing for career in politics when movie fame loses its zip for him.

Aldo, who was elected constable at Crockett, Calif., after his military service on a youth-honesty-integrity platform and resigned when Columbia tagged him for "Saturday's Hero" is taking night courses to get his Bachelor of Arts degree. Objective: A someday try for Congress.

"I'm grateful for any success I've had in pictures and I like acting, but I want to make a sort of contribution in the political field," Aldo confided on Warner's "Battle Cry" set.

But he doesn't expect to be helped by his film career. "The public," he says, "doesn't have much faith in actors as political thinkers."

Now it can be told that Paramount make-up man Harry Raye flew to New York and back just to make up Rosemary Clooney for her appearance on the big Rodgers & Hammerstein TV show. It was Rosemary's idea.

Paul Winchell and his Mrs. leave Jerry Mahoney behind in his suitcase and take to Europe for a summer vacation... John Ireland's testing for the role of Judd, the heavy, in "Oklahoma!"... Leo Durocher pops up as a dramatic actor on TV's Campbell Sound Stage April 16... Cowboy star Rex Allen, who just left the Republic corral, is plotting a you-know-what kind of series.

Ida Lupino will make a movie titled, "What Every Woman Wants." Is that money or Eddie Fisher?

Producer Hal Makelmin's word age about a big western he's planning titled "Blue Mesa": "It's Shane taking the Stagecoach at High Noon."

Keefe and Norma Brasolle deny the latest flood of rumors about their marital unhappiness. So does Keefe's mama, Marie, who's Betty Grable's hairdresser on Columbia's "Three for the Show" set.

"Oh, no! The hero of Sherwood Forest will have a daughter who does the swashbuckling in Aubrey Schenck's upcoming "Sword of Robin Hood."

It probably will be denied, but the grapevine is buzzing with the rumor that there are high-level talks at MGM about dumping some of the studio's old films on the TV market. Leo the lion may yet be roaring in your living room.

Your heart, while beating nearly 100,000 times a day, more than 2,500,000,000 beats in a lifetime, beats nearly 40 years of the lifetime.

Must Be A Tough Life... Hank Falls In Pool With A Pie In One Hand, Bulldog In Other

By HENRY McEMORE I envy all the newspaper columnists in the United States except myself. Everything always goes right for them. Hedda Hopper is always at home when Marion Bronzo calls to tell her that he has bought a new sweatshirt and two pairs of canvas sneakers. Bob Ruark always hits the biggest tiger between the eyes, Pegler has James come along when he is down to the last Roosevelt bone, Walter mentions a stock and it sells like a kite, Mr. Lippmann detects a flaw in the Bonn government just when he needs a column in a hurry, Mr. Delaplaine's daughter says something cute just when he is hard pressed for a paragraph, and the Democrats always have a trial balloon on hand for Mr. Pearson to fly.

I repeat that I envy them; that my dark blue eyes turn green almost every time I read them. How I wish they would tip me off on how to make things go right. Nothing goes right for me. I find myself all mixed up in situations that shouldn't happen to a man who always parks well away from fireplugs, cleans up the lavatory in a Pullman car after shaving, and openly admits he doesn't know or care anything about ballet. Those are all virtues, especially the last one, and when I add the fact that chamber music bores me within one inch of my life, you can readily see that I am on the side of law, decency, and comfortable mediocrity.

Many people have asked me why I don't devote my newspaper space to the serious happenings in the world. The truth is, I don't have time. Too many serious things happen to me, which demand my immediate attention. I am kept so busy keeping my own self in line and in shape, that I just have to let the world slide by. The H-bomb is frightful, or so I hear, but it doesn't offer half as much a threat to me at the moment as do some stairs which sag every time I step on them, and threaten to topple me into a broken hip, cracked clavicle, and the hospital.

Take last night. I fell in my swimming pool with an apple pie in one hand and an English bulldog in the other. The pie was five minutes old and the pup was eleven weeks. Neither one had any business in the pool. Neither did I, for that matter. So while all the other columnists in the U. S. were either dining with statesmen, talking to theatrical stars, or were on the radio of TV, I was in a swimming pool with a bulldog and an apple pie.

Your first question has got to be: How did you get in the pool with the pie and the dog? It was this way. Mary took an apple pie out of the oven and told me to put it where it would cool. At the moment I was holding Dilly, a pup we had bought a few hours

No Whoo ATLANTA Ga.—UP—Pine Hill Stables was sued for $50,000 damages because it was alleged to have guaranteed one of its horses would halt at the command, "Whoa!" Sue Lord, 17, was injured while riding the animal because it failed to do so.

Shearer's Daughter Weds TAIHOE CITY, Calif., April 20—UP—Katherine Thalberg, 18-year-old daughter of Norma Shearer and the late Irving Thalberg, was honeymooning with Jack Reddish former Olympic skier Tuesday following a quiet wedding last week.

Typhoid Breaks Out In Valley

EDINBURG, Tex., April 21—UP—Five cases of typhoid fever were reported in the Lower Rio Grande Valley Tuesday as stagnant water plagued the rich citrus, cotton and vegetable region. "The germs are here and this contaminated water can spread them," said Dr. Charles H. Miller, Hidalgo county health officer of the typhoid threat. There is little natural drainage in much of the valley, and standing water must evaporate or be absorbed into the ground. The possibility of widely scattered thundershowers was forecast for Tuesday after four days of clear weather, but forecasters said atmospheric conditions were such the showers wouldn't spill much more water on the drenched valley. Some parts received a half-year's normal rainfall in little more than a week. Valley, State Agriculture Commissioner John C. White estimated 10,500 acres of last week's total damage to spring vegetables were flooded out crops might run as high as $8 million in South Texas last week, most of million.

Coffee Economy NEBRASKA CITY, Neb.—UP—Employees of several local firms think it costs too much to pay for a cup of coffee. So they have put into effect a new system under which they buy their own coffee and brew it right where they work. The bosses are going along with the plan too, feeling it will cut down the time usually spent away from the job on the morning and afternoon "coffee breaks." The young offspring at birth is smaller in proportion to the size of the mother than any other mammal; an entire litter can be held in a teaspoon.
