SEATO Alliance Is Signed

Free East, West Bound Together

MANILA, Sept. 8 -UP- Eight nations signed Wednesday an historic pact that bound the free East and West together against further aggression and subversion in southeast Asia. The United States became a party to the alliance with the understanding that it would take action only against Communist aggression but would consult with any nation attacked by a non-Communist country. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Sens. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) and Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) signed for the United States. Dulles, father of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) conference, called the treaty an Asiatic "Monroe Doctrine" because it guarantees southeast Asia against aggression and colonialism. Delegates began signing the pact at 2 p.m. (3 a.m. est) at a horseshoe-shaped table in the Philippine senate. The SEATO nations - Australia, France, New Zealand, Pakistan, the Philippines, Thailand, the United Kingdom and the United States - agreed to: 1. Settle international disputes in which they may be involved by peaceful means according to principles set forth in the charter of the United Nations. 2. Maintain and develop their individual and collective capacity to resist armed attack and prevent subversion. 3. Recognize that aggression against any of the parties would endanger the peace and safety of other parties and agree to act to meet the common danger in accordance with its constitutional processes. 4. Consult whenever the sovereignty or political independence of any party in the treaty is threatened, if invited by the injured partner. 5. Establish a council to consider matters concerning implementation of the treaty. 6. Permit other nations to join SEATO by depositing their bid with the Philippine government. 7. Include the entire territories of the Asian parties and the general area of the Southwest Pacific except that part north of 21 degrees, 30 minutes latitude. 8. Keep the treaty in force indefinitely following its ratification, but give any nation wishing to withdraw the right to do so one year after submitting notice. 9. Prefers Private Life Dewey Tosses In 'Political Towel'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 -UP- Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, who almost made gangbusting pay him off with a presidential jackpot, shucked his campaign gear into the trophy room Tuesday night, and this time he seems to mean it. He is 52 years old. Dewey told a New York state television audience (CBS) that he would not seek an unprecedented fourth term. The speech was sweet music to New York Democrats and to some countless thousands - maybe millions - of Republicans who did not like Dewey. All will be glad to see him out if for different reasons. He was top-man in the eastern or so-called international wing of the Republican party and the politician most responsible for making Dwight D. Eisenhower the 1952 Republican presidential nominee. Dewey to Democrats had become the unbeatable man in New York. Whatever it may have been, it was not doubt of success or fear of precedent which prevented Dewey from seeking a fourth term as governor of New York state. Dewey was the brashest thing in politics in his early days from the moment in 1937 when he was elected district attorney of New York county (Manhattan Island) until some time thereafter. In 1937 Dewey was 35 years old. He had been through the mill since his late 20's as assistant and, later, U.S. attorney for the southern district of New York. In 1935, he became special state prosecutor to clean up rackets in New York county. Dewey set up a county-wide detection and prosecution operation. It enabled him to parlay the conviction of prostitution, policy and numerous other fancy racket bosses into an almost unbelievable political career. Before his 38th birthday district attorney Dewey was off on his 1940 campaign for the Republican presidential nomination. Harold L. Ickes, the old curmudgeon, quipped that "Dewey had thrown his diaper into the ring." Alice Roosevelt Longworth compared the little man with a moustache to the little mannikin on a wedding cake. The late Wendell L. Wilkie, a recent Democrat, kiddnaped the 1940 GOP presidential nomination, but Dewey took that and the ridicule in stride. A special weather bulletin at 6 a.m. est located Hurricane Edna, 120 miles northeast of Nassau and 270 miles east of Miami. It was moving then toward the Carolina capes, some 650 miles to the north. Several hotels and motels in Miami Beach, which had boarded up their water - front windows, started removing the shutters Wednesday morning when the weather bureau here released the welcomed information that the storm had changed direction.

Probers Told Of Comment By General

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 -UP- A New York City salesman testified Wednesday he once heard Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker mutter "you S. O. B." after being questioned by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.). The witness was William J. Harding Jr., 60, who runs a New York sales agency. He was a surprise witness as McCarthy opened his defense before a special Senate committee hearing censure charges against him. One of five general counts against McCarthy is that he abused Zwicker during a hearing of his Senate subcommittee which was investigating the honorable discharge of Maj. Irving Peress, a dentist whom McCarthy had dubbed a "Fifth Amendment Communist." Harding followed Maj. Gen. Kirke B. Lawton, former commander at Fort Monmouth, N.J., to the witness stand. Lawton refused to testify about a conversation he had with Zwicker about McCarthy. Lawton said he was presented from doing so by a May 17 order issued by President Eisenhower. The order banned executive department officials from testifying about confidential conferences held within the executive branch. The McCarthy side said Lawton had been gagged by the Defense Department. But a department spokesman said this was not so. Harding testified that last Feb. 18 he attended a public subcommittee hearing in the federal court house in Foley Square in New York at the time Peress was on the witness stand. He said that three Army officers, one of them a brigadier general, sat in a row of seats directly behind him and slightly to the right. During the course of the hearing, he said, McCarthy called on Zwicker, who was Peress' commanding officer at Camp Kilmer, N. J., to stand up. He said the brigadier general behind him stood up and engaged in a colloquy with McCarthy. "As Zwicker was resuming his seat, Harding said, the general's lips were only about 12 or 14 inches from Harding's ear. "I distinctly heard him mutter under his breath 'you S.O.B.'" Harding said.

Production Chief Named By Oil Firm

Edgar L. Cralle, formerly district engineer with Cities Service Oil Co. in Oklahoma City, was recently appointed district production superintendent at the company's facilities in Pampa. A native of Tuttle, Okla., Cralle was graduated from the University of Oklahoma in 1947 with a degree in general engineering. Cralle, a member of the Cities Service organization for seven years, succeeds Clyde P. Conover who died recently. He will make his home with his wife, Elizabeth, and their three children, Anne 6, Michael 4, and Donna 2, at 404 Louisiana.

Beauty Contest Braves Rain

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 8 -UP- A drenching rain turned the annual boardwalk parade of beauties into a soggy mess Tuesday night but failed to dampen the spirits of the 50 Miss-America contestants. The lovelies from the United States and Canada smiled bravely through the downpour at the several thousand spectators who stuck it out. The girls then retired to rest for Wednesday's rehearsals in the first preliminary judging in the three divisions - talent, evening gowns and bathing suits. The rain spoiled the opening event. It was scheduled to last about 2 1/2 hours but was completed in a brisk one-hour. Before the shower scattered most of the 150,000 parade spectators, Violet Fuchs of Middletown, Conn., showed her displeasure at being barred as the Nutmeg State entrant. The 23-year-old former WAC corporal picketed in front of the reviewing stand at Convention Hall for 25 minutes before the parade reached that point. She was clad in a black dress and carried signs which read, "Miss Conn. will fight to the end or bust" and "illegal Miss Conn. can't conn us."

'Sickness' Carriers To Be Eradicated

EDINBURG, Tex., Sept. 8 -UP- A campaign to eradicate mosquitoes, suspected carriers of sleeping sickness, began Wednesday in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. A form of encephalitis or sleeping sickness has attacked more than 600 persons and caused at least two deaths this summer.

Chiang Jets Enter Battle

TAIPEI, Formosa, Sept. 8 -UP- Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek sent his American-made jet warplanes into the battle of Quemoy Island Wednesday for the first time. The F-44 Thunderjets blasted Communist junks encircling Quemoy and bombarded troop installations and artillery emplacements which are within shell range on the Communist-held China mainland. Defense ministry officials announced that several waves of the newly-supplied jets swept over five points around the Red port of Amoy as a joint naval-air attack entered its third day. Sink 10 Junks The planes sank 10 junks and destroyed several troop barracks, the officials said. Communist shore batteries, which killed two American lieutenant colonels stationed on Quemoy last Friday, opened fire on the island again following an all-night lull. Four barrages were reported. A defense ministry spokesman said there was no evidence of an air buildup near Amoy, and "no appreciable increase in junk strength." The main Red strength was reported to center around the Shanghai area and the Nationalists alerted authorities on Tachen Island, 200 miles north of Formosa, to the threat of attack. Some quarters speculated that the shelling of Quemoy may only be a diversionary tactic in preparation for an eventual invasion of Tachen.

1954 Cotton Estimate Made

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 -UP- The Agriculture Department estimated Wednesday that farmers will produce a 11,532,000-bale cotton crop this year, down nearly 7 per cent from last month's forecast. Wednesday's estimate of the 1954 crop, being grown under stiff federal controls, compares with output last year of 12,445,000 500-pound bales and a 10-year average produce of 12,448,000 bales. The department estimated last month that a 12,880,000-bale crop would be harvested. A crop the size of the one estimated Wednesday would require withdrawal of some cotton from the record high 9,576,000-bale surplus now on hand to meet this season's expected domestic and export needs of about 13,700,000 bales. A sufficient backlog still will be on hand to warrant stiff planting controls again in 1955. The crop reporting board estimated cotton yields this year will average 295 pounds of lint an acre compared with last year's record 324.2-pound lint yield and 10-year average yields of 272.1 pounds. In August, yields on the 1954 crop were expected to average 313.5 pounds. The board said the condition of this year's cotton crop on Sept. 1 was 69 per cent of so-called "normal," compared with 78 per cent on Aug. 1, 76 per cent on Sept. 1, 1953, for last year's crop, and 10-year average Sept. 1 conditions of 72 per cent. By states, the report showed Texas Sept. 1 estimate was 3,376,000 bales, Aug. 1 3.4 million, 1953 crop 4,317,000 bales.

Police Fines Total $1,563 In August

Total fines assessed by the Pampa Police Department during the month of August amounted to $1,563 with $1,524 of this total collected, according to Police Chief Jim Conner's monthly report. Fines included both criminal and traffic cases, with 1,304 persons charged on traffic counts and 54 on criminal charges. A total of 1,030 persons were fined in August and 321 cases are pending. Sixteen cases were dismissed while 86 persons were found guilty of traffic violations but were not fined. There were 20 persons charged and found not guilty of traffic violations. Out of a total of 54 criminal cases 33 were fined, nine were dismissed and seven were transferred to higher courts. Only five are pending. A total of 18 juveniles were charged with traffic violations. The Pampa Police investigated

Pachyderm Packs Punch

KELOWNA, B. C., Sept. 8 -UP- Truck driver Lawrence Kneller received somewhat of a shock Tuesday when he rounded a blind curve on a road. He crashed into an elephant. The pachyderm, being trucked to a nearby fair, had been let out just as Kneller came along.

Arizona Voters Pick McFarland

PHOENIX, ARIZ., Sept. 8 -UP- Ernest W. McFarland won an impressive victory in securing the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in Tuesday's primary, incomplete returns showed Wednesday. It signified a political comeback for the former majority leader of the Fair Deal days. The veteran politician now will face Gov. Howard Pyle, Republican incumbent, in the general election. Pyle won office in 1950 and was re-elected in 1952. Pyle ran unopposed in Arizona's primary election Tuesday. Soon after McFarland claimed victory Tuesday night on the basis of incomplete returns, his opponent, State Sen. William F. Kimball, Tucson attorney, conceded defeat. "It appears," McFarland said, "that the Democrats of Arizona have selected me as their nominee for the high office of governor of this traditionally Democratic state. My coming campaign will be as clean and as above board as the one which closed successfully today." State Rep. L. S. (Dick) Adams was piling up a substantial lead in the Democratic race for the first congressional district nomination. In second place was Richard F. Harless, who served as congressman from Arizona for three terms.

School Adds 2 More Classes

Two additional sections of the second grade have been added to the Woodrow Wilson School, according to Harlan Yoder, principal. "The size of last year's first grade was not only unprecedented in size in Pampa, but it was evidenced throughout the nation," Yoder commented. Somewhere in the neighborhood of 558 children were registered here in the first grade in 1953. Woodrow Wilson also added a sixth grade section, taught by Mrs. Mary Fletcher. Sam Begett, principal at the Horace Mann School said another section of grade one was added at this school to accommodate entering elementary school pupils. There is now a total of four sections of first grade classes there. Grade two at the Lamar, Baker and Sam Houston Schools have the same number of sections as last year. Teaching grade two in addition to the regular teachers at the Woodrow Wilson School are Mrs. Roy Sparkman, formerly a fourth grade teacher, and Mrs. Jack Dunham, new to the Pampa School system. Mrs. Dunham previously taught in Perryton.

Five Dead In Japan Typhoon

TOKYO, Sept. 8 -UP- Five dead and 17 missing were left Wednesday in the wake of Typhoon Kathy which lashed Kyushu Island with 95-mile-per-hour gales and torrential rain Tuesday night. Kathy was slowly dissipating its strength Wednesday afternoon as it traveled at 37 miles per hour in a northeasterly course up the Sea of Japan. Weather authorities said there was no fear of damage from the greatly weakened tropical storm along Sea of Japan coastal areas. Other traffic violations included 39 for speeding with 38 fines levied.

City Budget Decision Due September 19

City commissioners wound up the first session of the annual public budget hearing shortly after noon Tuesday, but will not be able to make any official decision until Sept. 19 at the earliest. A proposed city budget must have been on file with the city secretary at least 30 days before it can be acted upon, City Mgr. Fred Brook explained. It was filed with City Secy. Ed Vicars Aug. 20. Only five Pampans showed up Tuesday morning for the hearing and no particular issue was raised about the proposed budget, Brook reported. Another session on the budget could be held before Sept. 19, but it is held unlikely, for anyone with a question on the budget may attend any Tuesday morning session of the commission. It appeared likely today that the commission would take action the morning of Sept. 21, a regular commission meeting day. If the mayor and all four commissioners are present that day, they could okay the budget on the spot. But if one is absent, they would have to take three separate meetings. The only other action concluded late Tuesday morning by commissioners was the awarding of contracts for valves and fittings. M. B. McKee, Lubbock, got the valves contracted at a price of $1,348.20. Morrison Supply Co., Amarillo, contracted for the fittings, at a price of $882.79.

City Worker Makes For Safer Pampa

A Pampian has devised a way of making the city's Dempster Dumpster trash containers so safe that the company has adopted a similar gadget as standard equipment. And, coincident with the discovery, Pampa's sister city of Borger has decided to purchase the Dempster Dumpster method of trash disposal.

Water Lines To Be Set

Water lines for the city's newest acquisition, the Red Deer Addition, will be installed, beginning Thursday morning. And sewer line installation will follow, James Cowan, city director of public works, said late this morning. Curb and gutter work on Var-non Drive is about completed and will be followed by paving. Cowan continued in a report of city street and alley activity. Indenture parking on Browning, by the Episcopal Church, will be marked off, Cowan continued. Then work on the alley behind the Lovett Memorial Library, now being built, will get underway. After that, the 1400-block of Williston and four blocks on North Christy will be worked.

Devoted Escape Bar

Each container had two doors on the side, neither of which would open from the inside. So he cut a groove in the plate and welded a T-bar on the back of the lever. Now a person "trapped" inside one of the containers, simply has to raise the bar and open the door. Shelton's pursuit of such a system was hastened by the fact that one man did, indeed, get trapped inside. The Borger dumpster unit, like all others to be sold from here on out, should be equipped with the safety feature. The Borger City Commission Tuesday approved the (See CITY WORKER, Page 5)

Young To Erect Skyscraper

NEW YORK, Sept. 8-UP- Robert R. Young, who recently gained control of the New York Central Railroad, has announced tentative plans to construct one of the tallest buildings in the world on the site of Grand Central terminal. Young said the $500 million structure would be the world's largest privately-owned office building. He said the new building would contain 5 million square feet of office space, 1 million more than Chicago's Merchandise Mart, now the world's largest private office building. Community Antenna Service

Mountain Folk Buy Their TV Shows Off The Hill

By JAMES F. HAUGHTON
NEA Special Correspondent
POTTSVILLE, Pa. — (NEA) — How would you like to buy television service in the same manner you purchase electricity, gas, heat or telephone service?

Sound "strange"? It's not to more than 3,000,000 families in mountainous or rural areas throughout America who already buy their television service that way — via community antenna systems — and find it quite satisfactory.

These folks have found that the community antenna system solves their television problem. Otherwise, they would have to settle for extremely poor pictures or perhaps none at all.

Although the idea is little more than three years old, there are now more than 300 television cable systems in operation throughout the United States. They serve from 50 to 5000 customers.

Variety, the show business weekly, estimates the community antenna units now do a $12,000,000 business and they're growing in leaps and bounds.

The greatest concentration of community systems can be found in the mountain and rural sections of Pennsylvania, but similar units are also operating in California, Kentucky, Wyoming, New Hampshire, Texas, Colorado and many other areas blocked out by mountains or distant from existing stations.

There are also systems in Canada, Hawaii and South America. A new type unit is now being constructed in Santa Cruz, Calif., RCA reports.

Typical of the community operations is the one conducted in Pottsville, a city of 23,000. Because the majority of the homes are at the base or on the side of mountains which rim the city, television service was an extremely difficult problem for residents until a few years ago.

Today more than 3500 families in this section get television service through the community antenna. Only a few houses have the outside television aerials seen on millions of rooftops from coast-to-coast.

A 150-foot tower atop Sharp Mountain, a high point just south of the city, does the work of the home aerials. A powerful master antenna picks up signals from Philadelphia stations, 90 miles away, and New York, 130 miles distant, converts them and sends them along to viewers at home.

More than 90 per cent of the city is wired on existing utility lines with coaxial cable which carries the television signal. A new customer can join the system within a matter of hours after signing up.

Charges vary in each community, but subscribers pay an average installation fee of $125 and from $2 to $4 monthly to get television programs. The home set is connected in almost the same fashion as a telephone outlet.

The community system began first in 1951 at Lansford, a coal mining town in the Panther Valley some 20 miles east of here. Local residents wanted TV service but couldn't get it because of their poor location. A community system was organized, proved successful and a new business was born.

Most systems pick up three to four stations, including VHF and UHF outlets. Location of the master antenna may vary. In Lacombe, N. H., the tower is seven miles distant from the nearest customer.

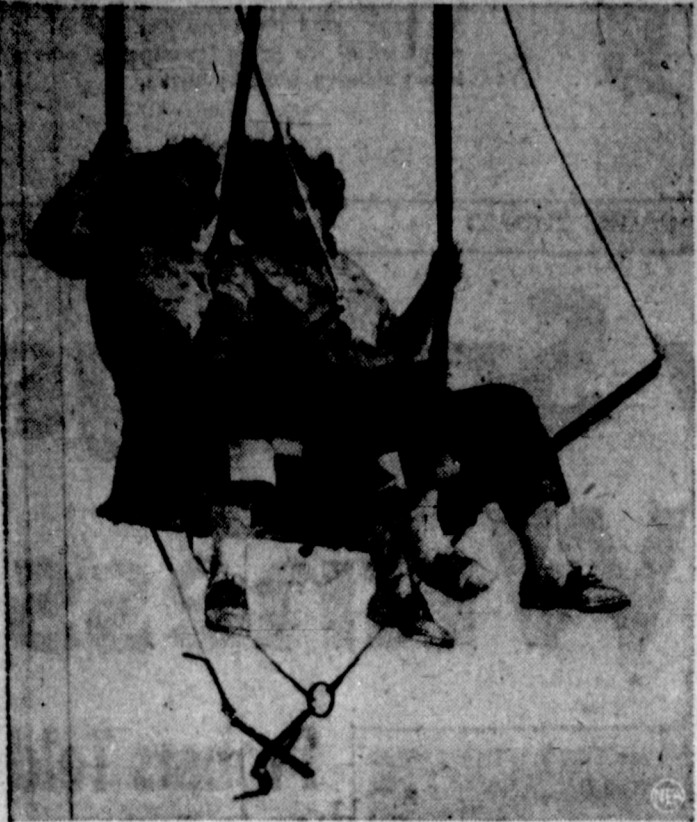

Community systems are not under the jurisdiction of the Federal Communications Commission. And a Canadian court ruled recently that there is nothing illegal in a system picking up a live telecast and feeding it to customers.

Martin F. Malarkey, Jr., a young business man who heads up the community operation here and is also president of the National Community Television Association, said the method solves the problem of communities plagued with poor TV service because of location and distance.

"Community systems have brought good television to people who otherwise couldn't get it," Malarkey said. "And we're ready for color when it comes, too," he added.

ABSTRACTION DISTRACTION—In San Mateo, Calif., Sandra Leister stands beside "Schizophrenic," an abstract painting that won second prize in an art show. The artist, who signed himself "Al Bijou," was actually Kerney Walton, president of Peninsula Art Association, who entered the picture as a gag and protest against so many top prizes going to abstract art. Despite the embarrassment, the judges defended their choice and stated the painting would have won first prize if it had been better framed.

THIS IS FUN?—You'd never know it from their facial expressions, but these girls are supposed to be enjoying their ride on the parachute jump at Coney Island, N. Y. Strapped to a seat, riders are lifted by cable to a tower 250 feet above the ground. The release is tripped and they plummet 30 feet before the parachute opens to break the fall.

Teen Topics

By MARLENE KOLB

Youth Center. Those are two words increasingly pertinent in the minds of teenagers these days. At least it seems as though progress is being made, which might seem result-in-a material center, not just a pipe dream in the heads of adults and a wish on the lips of Pampa's youth.

Although adults seem to be the ones who are pushing the project forward, teenagers have ideas they would like to contribute and some opinions they would like to air.

Jerry Sloan, PHS senior, believes it will succeed "if we have a paid executive sponsor and if the kids will put their 'all' into making it a success. We can make it go over if everyone joins in."

Jerry also believes the project would be more successful as a center for junior-high and high-school youth rather than a community center. When the adults start coming in numbers, Jerry says, the kids are going to lose interest and stop coming.

The idea of paid supervision or a paid sponsor is echoed by Wanda Cook, sophomore, who thinks, too, that the sponsor should be someone the kids know and like.

"I think it's wonderful," Wanda says, "and what Pampa has needed for ages. Should save gas, too." Teen-agers would have some place to go instead of "hiding around."

Dan Teed, junior, says that a youth center would help the town 100 per cent. "It would be a place for clean recreation, and, especially, would give the kids something to do in the summer."

D. I. Wilkinson, senior, described a center which he saw this summer while in Alaska. He said it was working really well with supervised pool and ping-pong tables in one end, keeping kids out of the less desirable places where a pool might be played, and a dance floor in the other end where supervised dances are held at night.

Senior Gary Griffin was telling about some plans made at a meeting last year which included equipping the YC with game tables, snack bar, dancing area, and prominent in the ideas of basketball star Griffin — a basketball court similar to the type found in Midland's center, visited by some Pampa young people during football season last year.

Benny Cartwright, senior, agreed with Gary that Midland and Dumas YCs are good examples. Contrary to the plans made at the meeting last year to exclude college students, Gary believes they should be allowed to use the center also, but there should be no smoking or drinking on the premises.

To enforce a rule such as this, Gary is echoed by Maurita Brock, senior, in his idea that the center would almost have to be set up as an organization, with a list of members composed, of course, of any and every teenager who abides by the rules which would be set up.

Maurita says that membership cards should be issued with the rules clearly stated on the back. She and Gary believe this would also instill a pride in the young people which would tend to prevent defacing of the property.

Senior Gene Doggett goes right along with this idea of organization. He says that perhaps activity clubs could be set up within the center which could take turns planning recreation and activities.

"By the time they actually get it built, it will really be too late for me, but I think it's wonderful for kids who can't find anything to do," says Gene.

His feelings seem to be typical of those of most Pampa High seniors, just from hearing comments here and there in conversations. They are behind the project, even though they probably will be too old by the time the building actually is standing in a chosen spot, all ready for use.

This is just a very slight idea of what PHS'ers are thinking about these "moving forward" youth or community center plans. From these examples, youth is all for it, and willing to help.

Television Star Suffers Stroke

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Bob Smith, star of NBC's "Howdy Doody" television show, suffered a heart attack at his New Rochelle, N. Y., home Monday.

Smith, 36, who also stars on both radio and television versions of "the Bob Smith Show," was reported "as well as can be expected" at New Rochelle hospital.

A network spokesman said Smith's "Howdy Doody," a kiddie TV show, already had been filmed for the remainder of this week and that guest stars would take his place on the other programs.

Woman Rodeo Performer Is Attacked

DENVER, Sept. 8.—UP—A woman rodeo performer remained in serious condition at St. Joseph's hospital here Tuesday, still unable to offer any further clue to the identity of a man she claims savagely attacked her and left her unconscious in a field.

The victim, Miss Ruth Mariani, 42, of Ranger, Tex., suffered a skull fracture, a deep head cut and broken hands and was found Sunday in a field in Adams county.

She was able to tell Adams county authorities only that she accepted a ride with a man in a pickup truck after her car, pulling a trailer containing her horse, broke down about 10 miles north of Denver as she was returning to Texas following her appearance in a one up although "it was open." She said she asked him why he didn't stop and he said he wanted to go on to another one. Miss Mariani told authorities she could remember nothing after that.

Authorities said she could offer no description of her attacker.

Humble's new
HOUSTON RESEARCH CENTER
... is dedicated to man's impelling curiosity in the search for knowledge and its useful application in the specialized fields of petroleum exploration and production.

Dedicated to Man's Impelling Curiosity

Most of us interpret the value of research in terms of immediate benefits. Research means that we get a better automobile, an improved gasoline, or an outstanding motor oil.

At Baytown Refinery, the Humble Company maintains one of the finest laboratories in the petroleum industry for that kind of research.

But behind the study that goes into the improvement of the products it sells, Humble for years has fostered basic research related to the discovery and production of oil and natural gas.

The United States uses so much oil from day to day, and needs so much more to provide for the emergencies of national defense, that studies leading to the discovery of new supplies and the more efficient management of existing reservoirs are more important than ever before. Consequently, Humble's expenditures on this sort of research are the heaviest in the Company's history and its staff of research scientists is larger than it has ever been.

To house the expansion of these research sections, Humble recently completed its new Research Center at Houston and will formally dedicate it this week end.

Here the scientists of the various departments involved in the discovery and production of oil will utilize common facilities, and here they will have the stimulation of close association with other scientists whose efforts are dedicated to a common end.

- The new Houston Research Center will provide facilities for research in:
- Fluid Mechanics
 - Geophysics
 - Geology
 - Geochemistry
 - Drilling Muds
 - Well Log Interpretation
 - Subsurface Instruments
 - Reservoir Behavior
 - Well Stimulation
 - Well Cementing

Oklahoma City Bans Sale Of Horror Comics

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 8-UP—The City Council voted Tuesday to ban the sale of sex, crime and horror comic books. The new ordinance, effective immediately and carrying a $20 fine for each day of violation, forbids the printing, display, sale, loan or gift to a minor of "any book, pamphlet, magazine, printed paper, photograph record, drawing, picture, photograph, figure, article or other thing which is obscene, immoral, lewd, lascivious or indecent or which depicts by pictures or printed matter fanciful deeds of crime or bloodshed tending to incite minors to violent, depraved or immoral acts, or manifestly tends to incite minors to disregard the law of the land." A nine-member Board of Review for Juvenile Readers was set up to enforce the new law. Dr. Marvin Barnes, assistant superintendent of Oklahoma City schools, was named chairman. Barnes said he understood the board would review only comic books and there would be no "book-burnings."

Target Shooters To Compete In Ft. Worth Match

Four Pampa target shooting enthusiasts are planning to enter the Texas State Championship Small Bore Outdoor Rifle Tournament at Fort Worth Sept. 18 and 19. The group includes Ralph Allred, Tony Welker, W. F. Huff and Cleo Cathey. They have been attending tournaments around the country together for the last year. All have brought back several trophies from the target-shooting wars. Allred and Welker are entered in the expert classification while Huff is in sharp-shooter class and Cathey will compete in the marksman class. Previous matches for the group include New Mexico State tournament at Cimarron; the Big D Western Tournament at Dallas and the Fall Roundup Matches at Fort Worth.

Like Explains Reasoning

DENVER, Sept. 8-UP—President Eisenhower Wednesday sent a letter to Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.), Senate majority leader, explaining why this country should not break diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia. Knowland wired the President last Sunday, asking immediate severance of relations with Russia. After careful consideration, Mr. Eisenhower wrote a reply and it was mailed to the California Republican Wednesday. White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty refused to make contents of the letter public, but he said he was not taking back anything he had said previously. On Sunday night, Hagerty told reporters he knew of no change in the President's position as Mr. Eisenhower stated it at an Aug. 11 press conference. At the press conference, the chief executive said he did not believe a break in relations with Russia would contribute to world peace.

Baptists OK New Hospital

DALLAS, Sept. 8-UP—The executive board of the Baptist General Convention of Texas has approved construction of a $1,729,000 hospital at Harlingen. Plans call for relocation of the Valley Baptist Hospital on a larger acreage and an enlargement of the present facilities. The new hospital will have 133 beds and a completely equipped children's section. The latter was made possible by a gift from the Sams Foundation, Brownsville. The executive board at its meeting Tuesday also approved Texas Baptist participation in a Southern Baptist Encyclopedia being prepared by the convention's historical commission; approved a special offering to be taken in November to provide for four children's homes and a boy's ranch; approved participation of state board employees in the new social security program; and advocated transfer of non-resident church memberships during next February. The board also set up a public relations advisory committee headed by C. A. Schulz, general manager of the Temple Telegram.

Civil Service Jobs Now Open

The U.S. Civil Service Commission has announced examinations are open for Training Instructor (Statistical), Training Instructor (Tabulating machine), Training Instructor (Administrative-General), Training Instructor (Intelligence-General), Training Instructor (Transportation-General), and Training Instructor (Auditing). GS-5, $3,410.00 per annum, and GS-7, $4,205.00 per annum for employment at Sheppard Air Force Base. Full information and applications may be obtained from the post office from the Executive Secretary, Board of U.S. Civil Service Examiners, Sheppard Air Force Base.

Accused Wife Killer To Trial

FORT WORTH, Sept. 8-UP—Hugh A. Brown, 50-year-old convicted charged with the poison murder of his wife, Mrs. Viola Griffin Brown, last Jan. 7, went on trial in criminal district court here Tuesday. Judge Dave McGee ordered selection of a jury to start after he had denied a defense motion for dismissal of the case. Brown's attorneys claimed that the murder indictment was too vague to inform him of the charge against him.

Family Of Three Drowns In Bay

PORT LAVACA, Tex., Sept. 8-UP—A Victoria county couple and their 13-year-old daughter were drowned in Lavaca Bay Monday night when a skiff capsized a mile offshore. The victims were Mr. and Mrs. Alexander C. Hambleton of Telfer and their daughter, Shirley. Only Shirley's body had been recovered Tuesday morning. Deputy Sheriff A. J. Williams said the Hambleton and Mr. and Mrs. George Northcutt were fishing when the boat tipped over. All clung to the capsized craft while Northcutt swam for help. By the time rescuers arrived on Mrs. Northcutt was still clinging to the boat. She was hospitalized for shock and exposure here.

Oilman's Private Plane Damaged

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 8-UP—A two-engine plane owned by wealthy Texas businessman Clint Murchison was damaged Tuesday in a landing near the village of Manuel in Tamaulipas state. Vaught told FBI agents when they turned up at the homes of relatives in California, while Rine surrendered after returning to his parents home. The plane, which was based on Murchison's Isla del Toro retreat, near Tampico, Mex., was flying to Agua Calientes when it was forced to land at Manuel. The plane crashed into huts at the edge of a landing strip.

Erick Bank Robbers Get Twenty Years

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 8-UP—Three men who robbed the Farmers National Bank at Erick, Okla., on July 29, Tuesday were sentenced to 20 years each by Federal Judge Edgar S. Vaught, who said he was making an example of them. Vaught told James Darnell Howard, 25, of Erick; James Earl Spangler, 22, of Tulsa; and Bobby Joe Rine, 24, of Berger, Tex., that he could not afford to let them off lightly because other potential bank robbers might learn of it. The trio fled to California after taking $22,358 in the robbery. Officers have recovered about $10,000 of the loot. Spangler and Holland were captured by FBI agents when they turned up at the homes of relatives in California, while Rine surrendered after returning to his parents home.

Guard Resumes Weekly Meetings

It will be clean-up tonight for Pampa's National Guard unit. The first meeting of the group of citizen-soldiers since their return Aug. 29 from two weeks of summer encampment will be held at 7:30 p.m. today in the armory, 1400 W. Wilks. CWO William Leonard late this morning said most of the session would be used in cleaning up equipment used during the encampment. No weekly session was held a week ago.

Few States Accept Desegregation Rule

By AL KUETTNER ATLANTA, Sept. 8-UP—Harold Carter, 15-year-old Negro high school sophomore, walked 10 blocks Wednesday to his new school in Rolla, Mo., signifying the state's acceptance of the Supreme Court's segregation decision. But at the same time the Mississippi Legislature went to work on a proposed constitutional amendment permitting the state to join Georgia in setting up a private school system if necessary to keep Negroes and white pupils from attending the same public schools. Between those extremes lay the South's reaction, at school opening time, to the high court's decision last May 17 that school children may not be segregated because of race. Texas Tuesday became the third Southern state to have Negro applicants knocking at the doors of a white school. A group of Negro parents appeared at the Lindfield elementary school at Hutchins, Tex., with their youngsters. They wanted them enrolled, they said, because the regular Negro school was in recess for cotton picking time. Previously Negro groups had appeared at schools in Alabama and Louisiana but the applications were rejected and they were sent without incident to the nearest Negro school. Negro groups petitioned for an end to segregation in North Carolina and Texas. In the case of Harold Carter at Rolla, the nearest school he could attend prior to this year was 65 miles away at Jefferson City, the state capital. He had to rise at dawn and ride there on a bus. Young Carter already has reported for football practice, the first of his race on the squad. The team welcomed him. It needed a good halfback.

Tidelands Lease Bids To Be Taken

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8-UP—The Interior Department will open bids Oct. 13 for oil, gas and sulphur leases in the Outer Continental Shelf off Louisiana. The tracts to be leased are beyond the 3.1 mile limit of the state's "tidelands," and the offer Tuesday was the first by the government since Congress passed the tidelands quietclaim law in 1953. Up for lease were 199 tracts, from 1,250 to 5,000 acres in size, which oil and gas producers have specified as desired areas; another 748,000 acres specified by the department, and $23,000 acres open for sulphur leasing. The department said the bids must offer at least a $15 per acre "bonus" on the oil and gas lands, plus a one-eighth royalty on all production and an annual rental of $3 per acre.

Adult Education Seminars To Be Started Tuesday

Adult Education Seminars will get underway Tuesday at 8 p.m. With an organizational meeting in the City Hall, Mrs. Jack Foster, chairman, announced. Enrollment for the fall program in great books, American heritage, and a planned seminar in Spanish is expected to exceed last year's enrollment of 75. The seminars, sponsored by the Pampa Public Library, will meet to elect officers and set up the class schedule, according to Mrs. Dorothy Station, publicity chairman.

Buford David Cox Funeral Thursday

Buford David Cox, 62, of 414 N. Davis, died at 3:18 p.m. Tuesday in Worley Hospital, following an illness of about a month. Funeral services have been scheduled for 3 p.m. Thursday in the Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home Chapel with Rev. O. C. Gilbert, pastor of the Church of God, officiating. Burial will be in Wheeler. Born May 4, 1892, Mr. Cox moved from Wheeler to Pampa in 1943 and had owned a store on South Cuyler for a short time. Surviving are his wife, Bertha Fay Cox, Pampa; a daughter, Miss Glenda Cox, Pampa; two sisters, Mrs. Cora Fuller, Cheek, Okla., and Mrs. Ethel Potts, Wheeler.

CITY WORKER

(Continued from page one) Delivery is expected in November on the one hoisting unit, 18 10-cubic-yard containers, and 16 12-cubic-yard containers, Patterson reported today. Thomas G. Shea, company vice president, has written a letter to the City of Pampa, advising of the new innovation in his containers. He points out that several states have adopted laws requiring such items as abandoned ice boxes and the like be either similarly equipped or not left in the open. The Pampa City Commission several months ago passed an ordinance pertaining to the same matter.

Mrs. Bertha Wright Dies Here Today

Mrs. Bertha Pericilla Wright, 41, of Lefors, died at 3:18 a.m. today in Worley Hospital, following a long illness. Born June 4, 1913, in Rogers, Ark., Mrs. Wright had lived in Lefors most of the time since 1935. She was a member of the A.M. Baptist Church, near Hollis, Okla., and her husband, U. E. Wright, is employed by the Champion Refining Co. Funeral services are pending with the Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home, Pampa. Surviving in addition to her husband, are a son, Jackie Hugh Lefors; two sisters, Mrs. Roy Chapman and Mrs. B. F. King, both of Oklahoma City; and a brother, Charles Grimes, Hollis.

Batchelor Testimony Entered Into Court - Martial Record

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 8-UP—Turn-about POW Claude J. Batchelor, who says he began smoking marijuana when he found out the Communists had made a dupe out of him, both hates and fears the Reds. The first part of a 348-page statement which Batchelor gave to Army intelligence officers in Tokyo last January, shortly after he finally accepted repatriation, was read Tuesday as the second week of his court martial opened. Batchelor said in the statement he felt "terribly bitter toward the Communists" and had a "personal fear communism coming to the United States." The 22-year-old Kermit, Tex., corporal is being tried on charges he connived with his Chinese Communist captors and informed on his fellow prisoners of war. Also Defense Exhibit While the statement, one of four Batchelor made in Tokyo, was being read as part of the government's case against him, defense attorneys described it as a defense exhibit also, indicating they believe it contains material favorable to Batchelor. The defense released portions which will be read Wednesday. "I wanted to quit," Batchelor said in the "confession." "I got to the point where I couldn't concentrate on what people were talking about in conversations. I started smoking (marijuana) cigarettes. Sometimes I considered suicide." On the statement's final page, the former Army musician asked for an opportunity to put to use the lessons he learned in 35 months as a favored prisoner of war in North Korea. "I would like to say that I feel terribly bitter toward the Communists for having nearly ruined my life," Batchelor said. "It is not easy for a person to face the facts that he has been used as a tool for something so bad as communism. I have a personal score to settle against the Communists. Then, too, I have a personal fear of com-

Jane Talk

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor

MOST OF US WOMEN love to entertain, but there are many of us, too, that aren't quite sure how to make up an attractive table. For an answer to this question, I went to Mrs. Eil McCarley of a local jewelry store. Her answer was: "It is mostly a matter of individual taste."

However, there are a few pointers, which she gave me. The most important rule today is thoughtfulness. Set the table with thoughtfulness for your guests' comfort and you are bound to be correct. You should use as many pieces of silver as food you serve, and you should place the water glass to form a triangle with the silver.

CENTERPIECES are again a matter of taste, and sometimes of skill or artistic ability. But you should be sure it is low enough to see over. It's not very comfortable for guests to have to peer around a huge bouquet in order to talk with each other. Candles, also, should be very high or very low so they don't reflect in a guests' eyes.

In setting the table, you should arrange the china, silver and crystal along straight lines. This gives the table an orderly, symmetrical appearance.

Mrs. McCarley advised that one point to think of when planning your table for a party is simplicity. Very often, the most simple has the most beauty. Mrs. McCarley pointed out the arrangement that won first prize in the Beta Sigma Phi table setting contest was one of the most simple.

According to the experts, you should plan your table decorations, china, silver and crystal along the same lines as your dining room. The furnishings, walls and draperies of the dining room provide a background for the table decor. There are four styles in general use in this country today — traditional, provincial, contemporary, and "Free Taste," which is a mixture of traditional and contemporary. In addition to using the same type china, silver and crystal as the room decor, it gives a nice touch if the china pattern can pick up one of the predominant colors of the dining room furnishings or walls.

For the girls or young women who are in the process of choosing a china, crystal and-or silver pattern, Mrs. McCarley had this word of advice: "Today girls pick without the advice of their parents. They don't think it over enough — don't realize they are going to have to live with it for many, many years. They need to give more thought to it."

She also suggested, when possible, it is nice to choose the same pattern as your mother if there is a chance you will inherit your mother's settings. That sounded very sensible to me (although I didn't do it myself) at it would eventually enlarge your sets and would give it a more personal meaning.

Mrs. McCarley also suggested keeping in mind a china pattern that will go on any table cloth and can be used for formal and less formal buffet serving. The table cloth idea is especially practical now, with the popularity of the beautiful cloths in many different colors.

THE HISTORY of china making is very interesting. Mrs. McCarley stated that some of it is made today from the same moulds and by the same process it was in the 1700s. It is remarkable in this day of the mass production-assembly line methods.

Some manufacturers, however, have modernized their methods. It is all too complicated to go into detail, but the first step is the mixing, grinding and churning, separately, of the all ingredients that go into the china. These are then blended, filtered and kneaded until the clay is the right consistency and the right amount for the potters to work with.

The designer has to work with all the department heads and be thoroughly familiar with all the characteristics of the materials used in making the pottery. There are also molders or modelers who make plaster of paris moulds of all new designs. This is an exacting science as he must allow for just the right amount of shrinkage in making the mould.

There are plate makers and cup joleys who make those pieces. There are "throwers" who make the pots and bowls on a rotating wheel, just as people did in Biblical times. For the pieces with a moulded design, casters must be made. There are hander specialists who put on the cup handles. There is an "ornament" who puts on the clay ornaments, another highly skilled craft.

There are many ovens and different types of "baking" that go into making china. There is the engraver who must first draw the design to fit the shape of the piece on which it is to be used.

Another process, used for flat pieces, is "printing," with the design being put on tissue paper first and then transferred to the china. The enamellers apply the various colors in just the right strength, and there are artists for the hand painting. And there are several dipping and polishing processes for giving the china gloss.

It is really enlightening to think of all the steps and the workmen needed to make one piece of china. No wonder it is value so highly!

RUTH MILLET

If you want to be the kind of person acquaintances will cross the street to speak to instead of to avoid —

Be glad to see friends for what you can learn of their lives, rather than looking on them as someone to listen to your troubles.

Store up in your mind all the good things you can pass along to others, rather than all the bad news and disagreeable facts you hear about friends and acquaintances.

Learn to listen with so much interest and attention that the person you are talking to feels he is really important to you.

When you talk of your own affairs — talk with enthusiasm.

Try to leave everyone you meet feeling a bit happier, or gay or more pleased with himself for having talked to you.

DON'T FAKE INTEREST — Try to remember from one meeting to the next the thing that for the moment is of intense interest to another person . . . so that you can ask for the next "instalment." "Tell me about your vacation. You were getting ready to leave last time I saw you!" "How does John like college?" "Tell me about your new job."

You can listen to the plans of others without feeling the urge to give advice that hasn't been asked for or to point out all the pitfalls that should be avoided.

Your face lights up with pleasure at an unexpected encounter with an acquaintance.

You never try to fake an interest in what others are saying, while your mind wanders alone, not really paying attention at all.

Galileo, Italian astronomer and physicist, invented a practical thermometer back in 1602. The instrument consisted of a large air-filled bulb and a glass tube containing water. When the air became heated it expanded and pushed the water level down, thus permitting a gauge of the amount of heat.

The number of employees engaged in crude oil and natural gas production in Texas in 1953 was 113,400.

MATURE PARENT

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence
Bess and Irene, both 15, live six blocks apart. But this morning, invitations to a mutual friend's party faced them with the same problem.

Each, for the occasion, wanted a new skirt. Each knew that money to buy it would be denied by her mother.

What Bess did first was to think, then, humming a little tune to herself, she ran up to her room. There, from her closet she took the last summer's pink pique dress that had grown too shortwaisted.

With scissors, she began to snip at its belt stitches. She took care not to snip cloth because she knew that she'd need the belt to make the new skirt from the old dress.

Irene thought, too. Then what she did was to wander into her mother's bedroom. From the purse on the table, she removed a department store charge plate.

Telling her mother she had books to return to the library, she took a bus downtown, chose a new skirt and charged it to her mother's account.

Why couldn't she, like Bess, find a solution in herself?

Well, a couple of days ago, she got a fruit stain on a blouse. She was told, "Give it to me. You'll ruin it." If she ever tries to rearrange her room, she's told, "Put your bureau back. Don't you know that bureau will warp its drawers near the window?"

These ideas just die still-born in Irene. Her long experience with vetoes has turned her into a dependent child.

Yet, when the store sends the bill for her skirt at this month's end, her mother will cry. She will call Irene dishonest and say, "What have I done to deserve this?"

Such scenes are frequent between Irene and her mother. For Irene, trained to look for all her solutions in her mother, has now learned to force them from her.

If she overspends her weekly allowance, she expects the same contempt for her need of more money as for her opinion on the rearrangement of her room. So she is unable to present her need for it as respectable. Needing it, she just takes it from her mother's purse.

Her dependence is the key to her dishonesty. Thieves are thieves because they have no solutions in themselves.

Like Irene, they use their gifts of ingenuity, perseverance and alertness to wring their solutions from other people. Often, they have been children who have suffered consistent discouragement of their own resourcefulness.

Parents who boast of how they "save" for children should consider the hazards of the dependence they are teaching.

Meeting Held By PTA City Council

The Parent-Teachers Association City Council met at 9 a.m. Tuesday in the office of Dr. Ruth Lewis in Junior High School. Mrs. W. L. Boosa, president, led the meeting. Each PTA president was introduced, who, in turn, introduced the members present from their unit and explained their duties. Each president also announced the number of members enrolled the first day of school.

During the business session, the group voted to join the Holy Souls Home and School Association in investigating the comic book situation in Pampa.

Mrs. Boosa announced that a PTA procedure course will begin at 9 a.m. Sept. 30, in the Junior High School cafeteria. Mrs. James Lewis is scheduled to teach the class. Officers and anyone interested in PTA may attend. She also told of a legislative workshop for the district to be held Oct. 7, in Amarillo. The workshop is for unit presidents, program chairmen and legislative chairmen.

The program, under the direction of Mrs. James Lewis, was on publicity for the units. Mrs. Nicholas Kadingo, of the Pampa Daily News spoke to the group briefly on how to prepare news releases and when to submit them. Mrs. Lewis explained the preparation of publicity record books, their purpose, contents, covers, and the type of material to be used.

Those attending were Mrs. M. E. George D. Smith Jr., Glen Dearborn, Elmer Darnell, James Lewis, Otto Shewmaker, Clyde Chisum, Siler Hopkins, Buster Sublett, B. E. Tidwell, Fred Adcock Jr., Charley W. Thomas, Jim Connor, Robert Knott, W. H. Winborn, Jack Foster, L. L. Milliren, Paul Belanbers, W. F. Vanderburg, James G. Baird, Shirley Nichols, Vernon Hall, Odell Giddens, Arthur Rohde, James McCoy, Clifford Jones, Ocie Lyles, Paul N. Brown, E. A. McLennan, M. B. Warden, Cecil W. Dalton, Floyd L. Barrett, Perry G. Franklin, Ed Williams, W. L. Boosa, R. A. Mack, J. C. Flowers; and Messrs. Homer Craig and Aaron Meek.

Episcopal Auxiliary Has Business Meet

The Women's Auxiliary of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church met recently in the home of Mrs. Bob Plummer, 1824 Williston. The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. Plummer, president. During the business session, plans were made for a food sale to be held Sept. 15, in the Hughes Building. Mrs. Joel Middleton was appointed periodical chairman, and Mrs. Howard Johnson was chosen eccumenical secretary.

For the program, Mrs. C. L. Russell Jr. led a discussion. Those attending were Messrs. Joel Middleton, Joe M. Daniels Jr., Howard Johnson, Jack Curtis, E. E. Fithridge, F. B. Collett, F. B. Collett Jr., S. J. Meador Jr., Charles Cook, C. L. Russell Jr., the hostess, and Rev. Porter Brooks.

Patriarchs Militant Hold Joint Meeting

The Ladies Auxiliary, Patriarchs Militant of Pampa No. 11, met in joint session with Canton No. 11, recently. Lady Eula Killian, president, was in charge of the opening ceremony. Forty-three members and visitors were present. Borger No. 39, Palo Duro No. 38, Pleasant Valley No. 34, and Muleshoe No. 31 were represented.

A report was read by Lady Pearl Castka, secretary, about the battalion meeting held here in July. Forty-five members and visitors were present at that gathering.

Brigadier General Roy Kretzmeier suggested that the Pampa Canton and L.A.P.M. members who are eligible order their first aid patches. Recently 10 members completed first aid courses.

A meeting was planned for Sept. 24 in Borger. Department Commander Tomlin will be in charge. All Cantons and L.A.P.M. members are urged to be present in uniform, if possible. Encampment members and their wives are invited.

Two new members, W. A. York, and O. B. Russell, were mustered into the Pampa Canton. Sandwiches, cake and coffee was served by the ladies.

MAKE FRIENDS MANNERS

We call it "gushing" when a woman hands out compliments she couldn't possibly mean. But that is no reason why a woman shouldn't be generous with compliments. She will never be accused of gushing if she looks for qualities she can honestly praise.

It's not the number of compliments, but the INSINCERITY behind many of them, that we label "gushing."

More than 214 million stamps and 233 million worth of money orders were bought by military personnel from 285 Army Air Forces Post Offices during 1953.

PAMPA HIGH SCHOOL'S FIRST ALL-AMERICAN in college football will likely come within the next two seasons.

We're speaking of the Harvesters' gift to the Texas Tech Red Raiders - Jerry Walker. Walker is already receiving recognition by practically every wire service and others who annually come up with All-America selections.

SWC Gridders Begin Separating 'Men From Boys'

Southwest Conference footballers completed their first week of workouts with most coaches bearing down with scrimmages to separate their first units from the reserves in anticipation of the second year of "no platoon" football.

The favored Texas Longhorns got off lighter in their morning workout as the photographers made Austin the second stop on the press day trek around the circuit.

Coach Ed Price put his charges through a long workout in the afternoon session, putting a little more stress on defense than usual.

Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant announced that he is taking his Texas A&M football squad back to College Station Wednesday, but pointed out that he had been "well pleased" with the Junction, Tex., workout location.

"If Jerry doesn't break a leg or something, I don't see what can keep him from being All-American at least one year and maybe two. Why, he's already better on offense than I ever was and with just a little defensive improvement he'll be an All-American in every respect."

Walker was kingpin in the maneuverable Raider line that scaled 5 to 10 pounds per man lighter than Auburn's. Edwin Pope, Atlanta, Ga., Constitution.

Tech's caveman sophomore tackle, Jerry Walker, knocked down Houston's tackle... as the Raiders scored from 29 yards out on one of their explosive 'dive plays'.

Both offensively and defensively, Walker ranks very high in the Southwest area. Coach Warren R. Woodson of Arizona University.

Such linemen as... Erwin Williams, Jerry Walker... Gray charged in with such ferocity that the Houston backs had little opportunity to operate beyond the line of scrimmage.

You can see Jerry is well thought of around the country as a fine footballer.

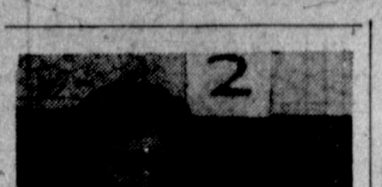

WE'D LIKE TO THANK the Wheeler Chamber of Commerce for the invitation to their football feed last night.

It's not often that we are forced to pass up a deal where food is involved.

Oilers Need Win Tonight To Clinch 1st Place

By UNITED PRESS
Pampa will try to sew up the West Texas-New Mexico League regular season championship Wednesday night in its last game of the season.

The Oilers beat Amarillo 5 to 0 Tuesday night and a win Wednesday night will provide the front-running Pampa team with a lead of at least a game and a half with only two games remaining for second place Clovis.

Clovis stayed right behind the Oilers with a 5 to 4 win over sixth-place Plainview and Albuquerque staged a come-back 12 to 11 win over Abilene in other Tuesday night games.

In addition to the Pampa at Amarillo game, Plainview plays at Clovis and Albuquerque at Abilene in its rematch to close out the next-to-last series of the year.

Hardaway got a single and double in four trips and drove in three of the five Pampa runs.

Hardaway's single drove in Dick Hairston, who had doubled, with the first Oiler run in the fourth.

The Texas Interscholastic League's largest division - Class A - digs into its 1954 schedule in earnest this week with 153 games on tap.

And, some of the pre-season district favorites may find the going a bit rougher than anticipated right from the start.

None of the six teams picked by the state's coaches as the best bets to wade through to the quarterfinals or farther appears in serious danger, however. They are Hale Center, McCamey, Fort Stockton, Albany, Paducah and Rio Hondo.

Hale Center takes on Lockney of AA; McCamey meets Stanton, a favored club in 4A; Fort Stockton meets AA Crane; Albany goes against AA Rotan; Paducah meets AA Childress, and Rio Hondo engages Brownsville 6B.

Some other featured games involving district favorites, with the first named team the A favorite: McLean vs. Shamrock, Springlake vs. Bovina, Junction vs. Santa Anna, Sonora vs. Ballinger, Dublin vs. Hamilton, Grapevine vs. Carrollton, Whitewright vs. Commerce, Jefferson vs. Atlanta, Hawkins vs. Union Grove, Levertis Chapel vs. New London, White Oak vs. Linden, Grapeland vs. Franklin, Groveton vs. Alto, Crosby vs. East Chambers, Rosebud vs. Elkhart, Hearne vs. Groesbeck, Mason vs. Fredericksburg, Smithville vs. Elgin, A&M Consolidated vs. Brandom, Deer Park vs. LaPorte and Benavides vs. Lyford.

Denver Wins Western Flag

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Sept. 8 -UP-Denver won its second Western League pennant in three years Tuesday night by winning a last-place Colorado Springs 12 to 2, leaving the rest of the league trailing from 4 to 44 games in its wake.

The Bears, a Pittsburgh farm club and one of the half-dozen richest minor league teams in the nation, held the 44-game margin over Colorado Springs - the team which beat Denver out of the pennant on the last day of the 1953 season.

Des Moines, the second-place club, defeated Lincoln 4 to 3 Tuesday night for its sixth victory in seven games. But the Bruins trail Denver by eight games in the loss column and four in the win column - an impossible margin to make up with only six games remaining on the schedule for both teams.

Actually, Denver has held a lead extending up to 12 games since mid-season, and with any real effort could have won the Western League flag much earlier.

Denver is the only team in the Western League with consistently large crowds at home, and perhaps none of the other clubs could balance its books without a share in Denver game receipts. Crowds of 600 to 800, and even smaller, have been common occurrences at many Western League parks throughout the season.

The second division club, Sioux City, Wichita, Lincoln and Colorado Springs in that order, all are reported in more or less serious financial trouble because of sparse attendance.

The Western League first division will stage a Governor's Cup playoff, patterned after the Shaughnessy playoff, after the regular season ends this week. But last year the playoff attracted little attention and few spectators.

Omaha is secure in third place and Pueblo, which defeated Wichita 5 to 0 Tuesday night, is not likely to be nosed out of fourth place by Sioux City, two games back. Sioux City defeated Omaha 5 to 2 Tuesday night.

Ladies Winter Bowl Season Underway

The winter season of the Top of Texas Women's Bowling League got underway last night with no series sweeps recorded.

Three teams won by 3-1 counts. They were Poole's Drive-In over Falstaff; Celanese over Smith's Quality Shoes; and Behrman's over Cree.

In the fourth game, C. M. Jeffries and Caldwell tied at 2-2. Celanese won both team scoring honors, turning in the high game with 707 and the high series with 2,016.

Individual scoring honors were almost dominated by Elaine Riddle. She had the high game of 120 and tied with Ina Petrie for high series with 478.

TRADE AND AID—Economic recovery of many nations depends upon their ability to sell their products to the U. S., the world's greatest buyer. This success in exporting brings nearer the time when U. S. foreign aid can be ended. Newschart above shows the course of U. S. imports, exports and foreign aid from 1944 to the present. During 1952 and '53, we bought more than we sold abroad, with imports reaching an all-time high of $16.6 billion in 1953. Gradual European recovery brought foreign aid requirements down from their 1944 wartime peak of $14.1 billion to $6.6 billion in 1953.

GLANCING BACKWARD

(From the Files of The Pampa Daily News)

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY
The Gray County Drouth Committee declared local conditions had grown worse, and voted to request emergency feed for county ranchers.

City and county officers investigated three break-ins at the Rose Building, which netted $85 in cash.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY
Safety from a legislative standpoint was discussed by State Rep. Grainger McIlhenny, Wheeler, at a Pampa Rotary Club meeting.

M-Sgt. Davis A. Brown, U. S. Army recruiting officer in Pampa, left for the Army Hospital in El Paso to be checked for polio symptoms.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY
Col. Charles B. Harvin, commanding officer of the Pampa Army Air Field, decorated S-Sgt. Louis Fine with the Air Medal, with Oak Leaf Cluster for bravery and accomplishment in the Pacific.

JayCees, To Sponsor Donkey Ball

The Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night made plans for a donkey softball series, a stag night and a broom sale.

JayCees will comprise one of the four competing teams in the donkey softball games, scheduled for the nights of Sept. 27-28 in Oilier Park. Originally, the games had been set for Friday night.

A stag party for all JayCee clubs in the region will be held at 7 p.m. Sept. 20 in the Pampa Elks Lodge, JayCee President J. C. Hopkins reminded the club.

Two-dollar brooms will be sold by JayCees on days to be stipulated in an upcoming meeting of the club's board of directors.

James Holmes, a Pampa man who came in second in the statewide "road-o," a safe-driving competition sponsored by JayCees, received his plaque from Travis Lively, Jr., during the weekly club meeting. He came in first in the Pampa city match and in the regional meet in Dalhart.

Post Is Host To Art Show

BRACKETTVILLE, Tex., Sept. 8—UP—Fort Clark, once headquarters of such famous soldiers as Robert E. Lee, George S. Patton and Jonathan Wainwright, was the scene of an "art roundup" by Texas artists over the Labor Day weekend.

The artists displayed paintings and sculpture around a 300-foot swimming pool designed and built by Gen. Wainwright, the hero of Corregidor, for the fort which now is a dude ranch.

The show ended with a barbecue and auction Monday.

Artists taking part included Kelly Fearing and Charles Unlauft, painter and sculptor of Austin, and Miss Martha Axley, New York, former expert of the Kress Foundation and Metropolitan Museum.

Puerto Ricans Plead Guilty

NEW YORK, Sept. 8—UP—Guilty pleas by four terrorist leaders reduced to 13 Tuesday the number of Puerto Rican Nationalist party members who will go on trial on charges of conspiracy to overthrow the U. S. government by violence.

U. S. Attorney J. Edward Lumbard announced that the four men pleaded guilty late Friday before Federal Judge Alexander Bickel.

The four men will be automatically sentenced after the trial of the other Nationalists, scheduled to begin in federal court Tuesday, Lumbard said.

The 17, indicted last May, also were charged with the attempted assassination of officers of the government of the United States and members of Congress.

Federal Judge Lawrence E. Walsh denied defense motions to postpone the trial and selection of a jury began.

The most common causes of grain field fires at harvest time are exhaust sparks, fuel that leaked or spilled, and overheated engines or bearings, according to the University of Illinois.

Theater Bandit Picks On House Showing Dragnet

AMARILLO, Sept. 8—UP—The Paramount theater which currently is showing the cops and robbers picture, "Dragnet," was robbed Tuesday of $560.

A gunman entered the theater at mid-morning, marched Wayne Elliott, an employee to the manager's office and then herded him and Weldon Wood to the treasurer's office.

Wood, the manager, was forced to open the safe. He pleaded for enough change to open his theater but the bandit refused. However, he allowed Wood to count the money so that he would know how much was stolen.

The bandit had a chrome-plated pistol in a paper sack and warned Wood and Elliott not to report the robbery immediately.

Four patrol cars were on the scene shortly but the bandit escaped.

Negro Parents Demand School Admit Children

HUTCHINS, Tex., Sept. 8—UP—A group of Negro parents appeared at the Lintfield (white) elementary school Tuesday and demanded that their children be enrolled.

D. D. Willis, principal of the school in this Dallas suburb, told the Negroes enrollment would not begin until afternoon. Then he left to consult Supt. Mart Hitt and the Wilmer-Hutchins school board for instructions.

Observers said there were "about 100" Negro children and parents in the group which appeared at the school. They were led by J. Harold Jones II, executive secretary of the Dallas branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

He said the Negro parents wanted their children to go to the white school because the Melissa Pierce Negro school started six weeks early and was now in recess for six weeks to permit the children to pick cotton.

The plan is not uncommon in the South, in many white schools as well as colored; however, the white schools in the Wilmer-Hutchins district observe the regular school year.

Thus, the white school opened Tuesday only four days after the Negro school recessed for the cotton picking season.

Jones said the split scheduled at the Negro school was adopted four years ago at the request of "two prominent white farmers." He said the Negro parents understood the arrangement was temporary but became alarmed this year when the plan was instituted for the fifth year.

He said it was so hot during the summer term that many children fell asleep in the classrooms.

However, Jones was asked if the Negro parents would abandon their demand that their children be admitted to the white school if the Negro school were changed back to the usual schedule.

"The NAACP firmly believes in the recent decision of the Supreme Court and will stop short of nothing until the law of the land comes about in Dallas," Jones answered.

Hitt would not comment directly on the attempt of the Negro children to enroll in the white school. However, he said the split schedule at the Negro school was requested by Negro groups rather than whites.

About 120 Negro children attend the Melissa Pierce school.

Scuttling Of EDC Reviewed By Rogers

Rep. Walter Rogers feels that France's defeat of the European Defense Community was the result of her splinter-party type of government, a type that can "create a fertile field for Communism."

Stating in his weekly newsletter to the voters of the 18th Congressional District that the EDC defeat in the French House of Deputies was no surprise to official Washington, the Pampa Congressman says it was the direct cause of the French political system.

Never Had A Chance

"Since the political parties in France all seem to be more or less extremists," Rogers goes on, "EDC never had a chance."

Parties to the proposed EDC treaty were West Germany, Belgium, France, Italy, Luxembourg and Netherlands. Both France and Italy were expected to balk at ratification, the congressman states. But "it could be reasoned that if France could be sold, Italy would, no doubt, follow suit. In other words, France held the key to the situation everyone knew it."

But France has political parties with widely divergent political views. "The all-out opposition to the plan," the Congressman continues, "found its nucleus in the 98 strictly controlled Communist members."

Fertile Field For Reds

Rogers feels the creation of splinter party parties "going off on every conceivable tangent creates a fertile field for Communism, because one of the basis axioms of both Communism and Fascism is 'divide and conquer.'" "The failure of EDC could have great value as a warning to free people everywhere that the success of a government must depend upon sound logical reasoning and a solid balance upon which can be founded a united front," the congressman says.

Rogers also mentions the cost of storing America's food surplus by compelling the cost to the cost of storing plain, old money.

An attempt has been made to convince the American people, he states, that there is something criminal about a food surplus because there is a cost incident to the storage of such food. Only way to remedy the situation, he says, is to destroy all the surplus food — and "none of us would advocate any such foolish action as that."

Taking Treasury Department statistics, Rogers figures that, at 2 per cent interest, the American taxpayer is paying some $250,000 a day in interest charges to store money in banks.

Purchasing Men Meet Tonight

The Purchasing Agents Association of The Texas Panhandle will hold their monthly meeting tonight at the Blackstone Hotel Coffee Shop in Amarillo. Dinner will be served 7:30 p.m.

The program will consist of a showing of an educational film, discussion on standardization, and the possibility of forming a class on standardization to be held at Amarillo Center.

A new plastic that snaps back into shape when dented will bring about, scientists say, a really "dent-proof" automobile.

Billy Graham Film To Be Here Saturday

"London Crusade," an hour-long documentary film on the three-month campaign held by Evangelist Billy Graham, will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Pampa Junior High School Auditorium.

Sponsored by the Pampa Ministerial Alliance, the show is free, with the doors opening at 7 p.m. Saturday. All seats are on a first-come, first-served basis.

Filmed entirely in England, the picture is Britain's own story of Graham's campaign. It is narrated by the Bishop of Barking, a leader in the Anglican Church, and is a complete portrayal of the events as they happened.

Beginning with the scenes of Graham's arrival in Waterloo Station, the film moves on to the opening night in Harringay Arena, covers the entire series of services and concludes with the great White City and Wembley Stadium meetings. In the last, a total of 200,000 gathered for the closing rallies of the crusade.

Batchelor Says Reds Treated Him Well While A Prisoner

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 8—UP—Turnabout Cpl. Claude J. Batchelor claimed in a 148-page confession Tuesday that the Chinese Communists never mistreated him or other members of his patrol who were captured by the Reds in Korea.

The Army started reading the confession Tuesday at Batchelor's court martial on charges of collaborating with the Chinese Communists in a war prison. It took most of Tuesday to finish reading the confession.

In it, Batchelor told how the Chinese officer in charge of the Communist soldiers who captured Batchelor's patrol ordered the new prisoners to lower their hands. Then, he said, the Chinese officers shook hands with all the prisoners.

"Don't worry. We're all members of the working class. We know you were duped into coming to Korea. We are volunteers fighting for peace," Batchelor quotes the Chinese officer.

He said the Chinese gave the prisoners food and shoes and never mistreated them.
