Legion Head Views Serious Greek Problem

NEW YORK—(AP)—National Commander Paul H. Griffith, sounding a serious warning amid the festive preparations for the American Legion's 26th annual convention opening Thursday, said that "the critical situation which has developed in Greece within the past few hours... could spread into world conflagration on a moment's notice."

The hotly-contested college building amendment to the State Constitution was approved by Texas voters in Saturday's special election, which also saw two congressmen named.

Griffith called a news conference late yesterday soon after his arrival from Washington, D. C., where he said he had talked to President Truman. Asked by a reporter if he favored sending troops abroad to support the Truman doctrine, the Legion commander replied: "If and when Greece is invaded there's no use waiting like we waited before. If there is no other way to stop them but to send troops, then we should send troops."

Sports Round-Up

By ROBERT MOORE
(for Hugh Fullerton, Jr.)
RICHMOND—(AP)—Note to the Sugar Bowl Committee: Keep an eye on North Carolina these next few weeks.

The Tar Heels will have 34 football lettermen back, and play what many believe is the toughest schedule in the school's history in Georgia, Texas, Wake Forest, William and Mary, Florida, Tennessee, North Carolina State, Maryland, Duke and Virginia in that order.

Choo-Choo Charlie Justice, the Tar Heels' second team All-American halfback, will be around despite the talk he might take up with the pros.

Nine lettermen will be battling for end posts. Quiet-spoken, Carolina Coach Carl Snavely, the Tar Heels into the Sugar Bowl last campaign, says, "We are starting this season better organized and further advanced, of course, than was the case in 1945 and 1946."

Assault-Armed 'Dream Race' Is Called Off

CHICAGO—(AP)—The Assault-Armed show-down which loomed as the race of the year to determine the horse of the year—today has faded from reality back into a dream.

The nationally acclaimed $100,000 winner-take-all match race, scheduled for Saturday at Washington Park, was canceled when Assault pulled up lame after a mile and an eighth workout early yesterday.

A soreness developed in the right front foot of King Ranch's sensational colt—the same foot that was maimed when he stepped on a stake as a foal. After that accident, Assault became known as the "Cladfoot Colt."

Trainer Max Hirsch and Benjamin F. Lindheimer, executive director of Washington Park, agreed that the "dream race" should be called off in the interest of the public, that it would not be fair for the two to battle for supremacy if they were not at their peak of condition.

"Every time Assault is shod, it is like performing a delicate operation," Hirsch explained. "The soreness may be caused by a nail that touches a tender spot in his hoof when I set him down for a hard effort."

Hirsch said Assault may not be in condition to run for more than a few weeks. He may be ready for the $25,000 Pimlico special Oct. 31. At least this fall classic now appears the next event bringing Assault and the Calumet Farm gelding together on the same track. Possibility of a match race promoted by some other racin' establishment other than Washington Park, which closes Labor Day, seems remote.

Assault with earnings of $623,370 and Armed with $568,755 are the turf's second and third all-time money winners. Stytle heads the financial list with $719,660 but his trainer, Hirsch Jacobson, refuses to enter him in a match race.

'Sinatra of Baseball' Sings for Rebel Fans

FALLS—(AP)—The crowd of 6,000 roared its approval when the blond, handsome young man gave out with a popular number over the loud speaker. They called him back for another selection and they wanted him for a fourth except that the ball game had to go on.

Pete Mazar, the "Sinatra of Baseball," was quite pleased; he started thinking about maybe a singing career to go along with his pitching.

This was his second appearance in the Texas League as a vocalist. The 26-year-old pitcher, who is heard him and immediately put that Sinatra tag on him. Now every where he goes to play ball they want him to warble. He has proved so popular Alben Kessel, president of the Houston club on which Pete is a left-handed pitcher, is talking to him about spending the winter in Houston, and promoting his singing.

Chicago Racing Title in 3 Weekends

CHICAGO—(AP)—Calumet Farm's triumphant trio—Bewitch, Citation and Free America—will attempt to finish 1-2-3 today for the second time in the current Washington Park meet. Citation, who has won the $25,000 Prairie State Stakes.

The threesome finished in that order in the Washington Park Futurity. A triumph for Citation and Bewitch in the 6 furlong event would make her the leading 2-year old money winner in history. Her current earnings now are $206,875 for eight unbroken starts.

Bob Kennedy, formerly of Washington Park, who has won three of his four starts in four minutes against Idaho.

Muzzle Loaders Fire Their Home Built Guns at National Contest

FRIENDSHIP, Ind. (NEA)—After completing in turkey shoots and other matches in various sections, champions of the National Muzzle Loaders Association compete here on their official range from Aug. 28 until Labor Day.

Friendship is just a small village in the foothills of southern Indiana, but it is the followers of Daniel Boone and other long-range shooting pioneers it is the greatest spot on earth. There's going to be a lot of smoke when the muzzle loaders get together for their national shoot.

The range at Friendship is owned by the association, which uses its membership fees and advertising revenues from its official publication, Muzzle Blasts, for the improvement of the grounds and equipment.

Friendship is several miles from a railroad. The nearest hotels are 20 miles away, but nevertheless more than 300 men and women come here annually from all parts. Fred L. West drives more than 1000 miles from Columbus, Mo., to compete.

CHANCE REMARK DOES IT
The muzzle-loading sport went into big time as a result of a chance remark made 15 years ago by Boss Johnston, a Cincinnati radio commentator.

On a rural audience program, he happened to say that he wondered how many persons would be interested in taking down the old muzzle loader grandfathers left in the attic and participate in a shoot. To his surprise, he found there were muzzle loading hobbyists aplenty, all eager to shoot.

One of the ardent fans was E. M. Harris, secretary of the Railway YMCA at Portsmouth, O., who with friends had been holding shoots at infrequent intervals. Red Ferris and Johnston organized the National Muzzle Loaders Association of which the latter is president. The association now has 5000 members.

Some muzzle loaders fire homemade weapons. Luther M. Wolfe of Wilshire, O., garage mechanic, made his own muzzle loader 10 years ago, when he couldn't find an old one to his liking.

Wolfe didn't do so well in a match, took time to study the weapons of others. He made another gun, took he muzzle-loader shooting seriously, won the national championship four years in a row at Friendship. His favorite home-made gun weighs 34 pounds, shoot a 330-grn slug. He has fired several five-shot groups of one-half inch at 100 yards.

An enthusiastic woman is Mrs. Mary E. Weagert of Egreville, Pa., who shoots as a member of the Blue Mountain Muzzle Loading Rifle Club at its Shartlesville, Pa., range. She wins turkey shoots.

Shartlesville is a hotbed of generations a hotbed of muzzle loaders, has shooters ranging from 12 to 76 years. Another woman enthusiast is Mrs. Sue Hirtle of Bath, Pa., whose husband, Dr. Jerome E. Hirtle, is president of the club.

FLINT AND PERCUSSION
Two muzzle-loading rifle types—the flint and percussion lock—are used. Both are loaded from the muzzle with black powder and a round lead ball inside a finely-woven cloth patch. The powder specially manufactured, is sold at gun shops. The lead balls must be molded to fit the caliber.

The flintlock is far the older of the two types, dates back to 1635, the percussion to 1807. Introduced in the United States in the 18th century by the Germans and Swiss who settled central Pennsylvania, the flintlock was the chosen weapon of frontiersmen. The percussion superseded it as the nation's top rifle about 20 years before the Civil War.

The flintlock is fired by a flint fixed in the cock or hammer, which, on striking the battery, or pad cover, ignites the priming powder, communicating its fire to the charge through the touch-hole. The percussion is set off by priming with fulminating powder that is exploded by concussion.

In the Friendship shoot, there are events at 25 and 50 yards for off-hand shooting, rest shooting at 50, 100 and 200 yards.

Dodgers Defeat Pirates 3-1 With Pair of Subs in Lineup

By The Associated Press
Strength on the bench, a "secret weapon" that helped win many a game for the Dodgers, was the greatest of baseball managers, is one of the principal reasons the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees are leading their respective leagues by comfortable margins today.

McGraw always used to say, "Give me several strong substitutes on the bench and I'll give any team a battle for the flag."

And he proved it by leading the New York Giants to 10 championships within a space of 21 years.

It was the work of a pair of Dodgers behind-the-line men, Eddie Miksis and Stan Rojek, that enabled the Brooks to defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-1 yesterday and retain their six-game lead over the St. Louis Cardinals in the National League race.

Miksis and Rojek, filling in as a keystone combination for Second Baseman Ed Stanky and Shortstop Pee Wee Reese, both sidelined by sprains, were the heroes of the game with Cincinnati, drove in the winning runs and played errorless ball at field. Miksis slamed a seventh inning homer and singled in four times at bat and Rojek drove in Dixie Walker with a single in the second inning.

Aaron Robinson filled in yesterday and clouted a home run and two singles in five times at bat, scored twice and drove in five runs to lead the Yankees to a 16-6 victory over the Chicago White Sox. The win enabled the American League leader to gain a split in their double-header at Chicago. The White Sox won the opener 3-2.

The Cardinals spotted the Braves four runs in the first inning, then came on to win 9-5 in the first of an important three-game series in Boston.

The New York Giants blasted five home runs in splitting a double header with the Chicago Cubs at the Polo Grounds to set a National League team record of 173 home runs.

The Giants took the opener 4-0, behind home runs by Walker Cooper and Sid Cordon. Four baggers by Johnny Mize, Ernie Lombardi and Buddy Kerr failed to help the Giants in the second game as the Cardinals won 8-3.

The Cincinnati Reds and Philadelphia Phillies split a double header, the Reds winning the opener 12-3 on a 10th inning nine-run rally and the Phillies taking the seven inning night-cap 8-6, halted by Hershberger.

Dutch Swimming Star Appears Unbeatable

CHICAGO—(AP)—Coach Day Daughters of the 1947 United States Women's Olympic Swimming Team better build his squad around freestyle whirlwind and Curtis and five hits in pitching the Red Sox to an easy 11-2 victory, the Indians came back to nip the Red Sox 2-1 on Joe Gordon's two-run homer.

The Tigers swept a doubleheader from the Philadelphia Athletics in Detroit 6-2 and 5-4.

The Washington Senators defeated the Browns 7-4 in the second game of a doubleheader at St. Louis after the Browns won the opener, 7-1.

Kramer and Schroeder Win Doubles Matches

BROOKLINE, Mass.—(AP)—Whatever doubts there were about the lineup of the U. S. Davis Cup defending team for next week's challenge by the Australians appeared to be blown away after Californians Jack Kramer and Ted Schroeder regained the pre-war laurels by defeating Bill Talbot of Wilmington, DE, and Bill Sidwell of Australia, 6-2, 6-2, in the final round of the 66th National Doubles Tennis Championships yesterday at Longwood.

It now will be surprising if Kramer and Schroeder are not only assigned all of the singles assignments but also the team match against almost the same lineup of Australians from whom they lifted the international trophy at Melbourne last December.

As national singles titlist, Kramer rates No. 1 singles berth and Schroeder clinched the other one with last week's Newport Casino victory.

Alicia H. Man, Jr., the non-playing captain of the U. S. team, has been rating Kramer and Schroeder as his standouts all season, especially on their Newport performance which also included a win over Talbot and Sidwell.

When that quartet of fireballing stars started battling for the doubles titles, Kramer and Schroeder dominated the action from start to finish. They almost knocked the covers off the balls to win the first set. They took the second one with their bulging bag of tennis tricks and wound up by outsmarting their rivals with a baffling change of pace and a drier-patting shower of the most tempting and disastrous lobs that have fell on a tennis court anywhere in many a day.

Columbus Softballers Win VFW Tournament

TOPEKA, Kas.—(AP)—A rugged bunch of ballplayers from Columbus, O., held the 1947 VFW National Softball Tournament title today and they earned it the hard way—by winning four games in one day.

Post 3883 of Columbus defeated the Austin, Tex., Post 8787 5 to 4 in the first game for the Veterans of Foreign Wars tournament championship last night.

Last night they played undefeated Austin and won 5-4 in an eight-inning game, necessitating another deciding contest. After 15 minutes rest, the teams played again with the Ohioans winning 5-4 in seven innings.

John Corbin hurled the first game for Columbus, limiting Austin to three hits. He also pitched the first five innings of the second game before being relieved. Austin also got three hits in the finale.

Rebels Finish With Triumph Over Houston

By The Associated Press
Houston's farewell performances are not exactly on a note of triumph.

Dallas closed regular season play against the Buffs last night by taking a 4-2 victory and a 2-1 edge in the three-game series.

Prior to moving to Dallas the Buffs had bowled five straight to the Fort Worth Cats in the finale against the Cats.

Fort Worth reduced Houston's Texas League lead to two and one-half games by edging San Antonio, 3-2, in 10 innings.

Other results saw Tulsa add to its fourth place margin on a 3-1 decision over Shreveport and Oklahoma City closed with Beaumont by winning 8-1.

Dallas combined Al Pappi for an even dozen hits while Rufus Gentry kept ten catches well scattered.

Bob Finley hit a ninth-inning homer to close out the Rebels' scoring.

Charley Grant fumbled Al Brangan's grounder with the bases loaded and two out to allow Fort Worth to score its winning run.

Tommy Warren chalked up his 13th victory of the season in allowing eight hits and one run.

Tulsa scored once in the fifth when Sol Madrid singled Elwood Grantham home and added two more to the mark on hits by Jack Cassini and Barney White over a sacrifice by Jack Tobin and Chet Hajduk's error.

Hajduk's single and Jim Petty's double produced Shreveport's only run.

A near battle royal took place in the Oklahoma City-Beaumont game in the fifth inning.

Beaumont's pitcher, Del Ballinger and Indian outfielder Milt Nielson came to blows, with Beaumont's Harry Grubb getting in on the fight and both teams charging on the field.

Tulsa played host to San Antonio in a doubleheader tonight, while Houston moves over to Oklahoma City, Beaumont drops down to Dallas and Shreveport goes to Fort Worth.

Daily Hand Massage Insures Graceful Fingers Guards Youthful Musician Against Stubbiness

Model Katrine Roselle shows young Cindy Cue how to massage cream properly into her hands by pretending to force on gloves.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

If your musically-inclined child is given early training on the piano or other hand-played instruments, watch out for those little fingers. They can be made stubby by early thumpings on musical instruments.

The best safeguard against possible stubbiness, experts say, is daily massage designed to mould fingers into shapeliness.

A child will suffer massage with better grace and more sustained interest, if you'll turn the routine into a little game. Intriguing to a child is the game of forcing on a pair of imaginary gloves. She will even force on her own "gloves"—show her how you get on your tootie-ones by pushing fingers from tips to palms—if you'll use a hand cream for the game.

One of the fluffy hand creams, free of known irritants or allergens, is recommended for use on sensitive young skin. Such a cream, of course, used on any pair of little hands, helps to alleviate the drying effects of frequent washings and begins to inculcate a habit of good grooming that will stake out future claims to beauty.

We, The Women

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

A group of baby-sitters in a Southern town, the oldest member being 14, organized recently to draw up some by-laws on the business of child care.

A 13-year-old who is president of the group announced that she had decided on these self-imposed rules:

1. Never leave a child alone.
2. Always know where you can get in touch with the parents.
3. Never fail to call the parents in an emergency.

For youngsters their age they are showing pretty good judgment. These baby-sitters themselves, recognize the need for knowing something about child care. But so many parents don't even bother to find out beforehand whether or not a baby-sitter has sense enough to watch a child.

Furthermore, often parents will leave a young baby-sitter with a household of children.

KIDS WATCHING KIDS

The very fact that there is an organization of baby-sitters, that has a 14-year-old as its oldest member, is proof that many parents today go out and leave their children in the care of paid sitters who are just children themselves.

It looks as though these earnest young sitters are showing up a lot of modern parents by being more concerned over the welfare of the children than the parents themselves.

Mrs. Loyd Hawthorne Honored With Shower

"OR ELSE"
Attorney General Tom Clark delved into the "one world" subject in a recent speech at the International Sunday School convention at Des Moines.

He said the clear problem posed before mankind is this: Can the peoples of this earth live in world brotherhood? If they cannot, then the teachers and accomplishments of the last 2,000 years will be for naught. Our civilization will disappear in a series of atomic explosions.

Why is the world divided against itself? Clark answered that bluntly:
"The time has passed when we can dismiss the spread of atheistic Communism as a phenomenon of the lunatic fringe. No longer do we visualize the destroyers of democracy and Christianity as a bomb-carrying, bewhiskered man in heavy boots.

"Today he is streamlined, in all kinds of guises, sometimes behind a democratic front. The principles of Christianity imply justice to all. The tenets of the police state are just contrary. They pass on to their destruction over the changing whim of dictators—and the ruin that follows is great."

Attorney General Clark says:
"To put it in the language of our day—we must accept and practice the teachings of the Nazarene—or else."

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER

STRICT—The strict surveillance which Moscow has clamped over American Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith's person, movements and diplomatic household reflects vividly and violently the Soviet's distrust and downright hostility toward the United States. Even more than Stalin's defiance of Washington on larger issues, it shows his contemptuous attitude toward his wartime ally.

The virtual hounding of the former Chief of Staff of SHAEF during the conflict has burned up both Secretary Marshall and General "Ike" Eisenhower, who have learned of his difficulties through official and unofficial channels. The treatment of the American representative at the Soviet Capital violated all rules of ordinary diplomatic courtesy and immunity.

Indeed, if it were not for the fact that relations between the two powers are already so tense, it is probable that Ambassador Smith would be recalled in a retaliatory gesture. His imprisonment, however, serves to explain the firmer stand which President Truman and Secretary Marshall have adopted. It also throws light on General Eisenhower's recent assertion that the Roosevelt-Willkie vision of "one world" had been blighted by Moscow's post-war behavior.

RECORD—General Bedell Smith, for instance, cannot use his own car whenever he wishes to visit other embassies or legations in Moscow, or whenever he pays a call upon Molotov or any other Russian official. He must go and return in a Soviet automobile driven by a Russian chauffeur. Thus they have a complete record of his activities.

He is not permitted to keep a plane for his own use in Moscow, although he has had to make many trips to Paris and elsewhere in connection with implementation of the so-called Marshall plan for European recovery. His private plane is garaged at Berlin under the Kremlin's orders.

When he wishes to make a flight, he must order the plane to fly over the German city to Moscow. Upon his return, the plane is flown back to Berlin. Besides the delay and inconveniences, the extra flights require a heavy consumption of gasoline and oil.

EXPLANATION—Soviet officials likewise kept tabs on former Ambassador William C. Bullitt, but that was before our alliance with Russia against Hitler, and before our advances of billions in lend-lease. They also installed a secret radio in the bedroom of former Ambassador Lawrence Steinhardt. But they never hemmed in those representatives so closely as they have the former Marshall-Eisenhower aide.

An unofficial explanation for the vigilance is that Stalin wants the U. S. to break off relations, or at least to show its resentment by recalling the head of our diplomatic delegation.

Then, so this theory runs, he would cite the incident as conclusive evidence that Washington has deserted the kind of "democracy" practiced in Russia and her satellite countries.

QUESTION—Is Governor Thomas E. Dewey giving the cold shoulder to the first Republican Congress in sixteen years because he fears that approval of its legislative record may damage his chances for the Republican presidential nomination and election?

That is the dog-day question which nettles G. O. P. leaders of the Eightieth Congress, already quirming under opposition charges that it was reactionary, dominated by selfish lobbies and unmindful of demands for social welfare legislation. They note that the New York Chief Executive has not yet issued any comment on the Congressional achievements, although they constitute the platform on which next

"Education" Minus the Ten Commandments

There is a cause for everything. Things do not just happen by chance. When more and more people come to believe that strikes are moral, that people collectively have a right to do what no individual ever had a right to do himself, there is a natural cause for so many people believing so.

I used to believe that public schools could educate the youth of the land. I used to be so enthusiastic about public education that I devoted a great deal of time to try to get textbooks into the public schools that could teach natural law, that could teach sound economic policies, that could teach proper human relations. I used to believe it was possible to have textbooks in public schools which were in harmony with the Ten Commandments.

What I didn't see was that public educational institutions were not in harmony with the Ten Commandments; that naturally they couldn't teach the youth of the land anything that was so entirely different from what they were doing. They can no more do it than a house of prostitution can teach chastity; than a group of robbers can try to instill into a group that it is wicked to steal.

Why School Superintendents Hesitate

As is well known by the readers of this column, I have offered the six superintendents of schools in the cities in which this newspaper and the sister newspapers are published each $500 if they would try to defend the question of public schools against any one of six prominent educators. All of them have declined. Some of them gave the excuse that they were too busy, that they were not public speakers, or that it wouldn't do any good. Some didn't answer at all.

The real reason they wouldn't accept this opportunity to be of service is that they would be very much embarrassed. They would have their conceit punctured. They would be embarrassed because if they were asked what impersonal moral universal rule of conduct they used as a guide to human conduct, they could not answer. Nor could they define stealing in violation to moral law without convicting themselves. In short, they are men not governed by any universal moral principle. They cannot harmonize compulsory education with the Ten Commandments. Any education that is not in harmony and cannot teach the Ten Commandments are self-enforcing and the

NEW YORK—(AP)—A heat wave is only a warm ripple in Manhattan until the public parks become so crowded the pigeons start stepping on the people.

Then you know it's really hot. If you wore an egg under your armpit in Tucson, Ariz., or Dodge City, Kans., on a torrid day, it would probably end up hard-boiled by nightfall. Do the same thing today in New York and the egg would merely become poached.

A heat wave in New York is compounded by temperature, humidity and humanity. On days when the air is moisture-laden and the thermometer climbs above 90, New Yorkers begin to groan. If the temperature goes to 95 or higher, the city becomes a concrete and steel hell of dripping misery.

The subways are a cool refuge from the heat. The steam that comes up from the tracks is like falling into a soggy hot blanket. If the heat wave lasts four days, that is when the droop-featured person and rumpled people begin quarreling over who has the right-of-way along park sidewalks. "Peeping Toms" enjoy a field day. Men and women strip down to their stinking apartments and don't bother to pull the blinds, who cares?

It is hardest on the kids. Some find a way to turn on fire hydrants and stretch out their pale, skinny arms in the cooling rush of water. Others more listlessly on the sandstone stoops, too energy-drained even to play "stick ball" in the streets.

But the humidity itself is acknowledged to be a native product and that's what makes the heat really bad. When the humidity—the relative percentage of moisture in the air—gets above 90, someone is always calling the Weather Bureau to ask:

"Can you help settle a heat wave argument we're having? What happens when the humidity gets above 100 percent?"

"It rains," says the weary weather Bureau.

VARIED CASES HEARD

Two men were assessed fines of $10 each on charges of intoxication one man was assessed a fine of $10 for disturbing the peace; and one man was fined $5 for reckless driving in Corporation Court by Judge Clifford Braly, Sunday morning.

'Gentle Enforcement' Not Enough—Garrison

AUSTIN—(AP)—A period of "gentle enforcement" on most of the state's new uniform traffic code will be observed, but traffic officers will get tough with reckless drivers when the new law goes into effect Sept. 5.

That was the warning issued Saturday by Director Homer Garrison of the Department of Public Safety.

"There will be a period of gentle enforcement until people get used to new provisions of the code, but there won't be any delay in starting enforcement of the reckless driving clause," Garrison said.

He said the reckless driving clause was designed particularly "for those people who think they are the only ones on the road."

"Under the present law a person could drive recklessly without violating some specific law, like speeding, and the police could do nothing with him," Garrison explained, adding that the new provision was placed in the law especially for the benefit of the 15 percent of the drivers who cause 85 percent of the accidents.

Death Valley, Calif., is the lowest point in the United States, 286 feet below sea level.

person or group who violates them suffers, is simply a mockery and a delusion and not education at all.

We are collectively violating these Commandments and that is the reason we are in the condition we are now in.

These superintendents invariably try to leave the impression that anybody who opposed public education is just a freak or a Fascist. It is for this reason I enlisted the help of some great educators on the subject. It is rather difficult for the defenders of compulsory education or the superintendents of schools to pass off the subject by saying that such people as Dr. V. O. Key, who is a classically Fascist when she wrote "The God of the Machine" which Ayn Rand says is the greatest book published in the last 400 years; or it is rather difficult for so classically Rose Wilder Lane when she paid income tax one year on $55,000 income as a professional writer and who wrote "Give Me Liberty"; or Dr. V. O. Key, who is an educational director of the Foundation for Economic Education; or the other three parties who are all keen students of education and moral law.

And the superintendents of schools who have put themselves up on a pedestal and have made most of the public think they are educated men couldn't afford for a mere $500 to have the public come to know just how impossible it is for them to teach the very things that every real Christian as a real Jew wants their children to believe.

And invariably these superintendents of schools would have the public believe that they are very much interested in the welfare of the poor. They are invariably on every charity drive, but here they have an opportunity for a couple of hours service to earn $500 which they could donate to some of their charities, but they refuse in this way to help their fellowman. Besides the charity they could be given the opportunity to learn something about moral education. Yet they are not interested.

And so it is only natural for them to evade. They are having a good time making the public think that they are educators and children under their care can be taught moral laws in the schools.

If one is really interested in making government in a waste of energy to complain about the growth of socialism, collectivism and state-ism in Washington when it is simply an enlargement of the collectivism and state-ism in its school system. It is the tap root or fountain head of the collectivism in Washington and our state capitals. Let us pull the beams out of our own eyes before we complain about Washington. Trying to educate the people against state-ism while we are teaching it by example in every school district is about as effective as trying to get the farmer trying to kill the weeds by pulling off the suckers while he waters and fertilizes the weeds. We are supplying the nourishment for communism in every school district.

That is the reason I am constantly taking the unpopular side of compulsory education.

The columns of this newspaper are open of course to anyone who will answer questions to refute the above conclusions.

DOCTOR WOODWARD'S AMBITION

By Elizabeth Seibert Distributed by ISEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Pop Mean, Hospital Chief, chafes at the inactivity forced on him by a partially paralyzing stroke. He tells Dr. Malcolm Glenn, top obstetrical surgeon, that Woodard, the new staff doctor, is due to arrive soon. Malcolm is seized with migration while operating and his brother, Dr. Martin Glenn, jumps into the breach. In the Glenn household, Malcolm's daughter Nikki brings her fiancé, Brian Cox, home with her after a party. Nancy Malcolm's wife, Pete and Jerry his young sons.

III BRIAN using his cap on a lamp shade; dishes of candy, plates of fruit cake, glasses of punch appeared. Someone began to play records; three more boys came in, beamed on Nikki, upon her prettiest girls on the campus. A cadet was with them, his eyes respectful toward Lieutenant Cox. The house fairly sang with young voices; cigarette smoke blew about; someone whispered into the telephone. The place was a blur of silky lapel pins, jangling bracelets, the high, clear girl-voices, the deep tones of the young men—precious, breathless youth. Nancy loved every bit of it. This was what it meant to bear children and raise them.

“Where’s Doc?” Nikki found a minute to ask Nancy. “Hospital. Miss Perry phoned and said he had a head.” “Oh, the poor darling. He misses all the fun.” The room, the young people, centered upon Nikki, upon her glowing happiness. Upon Brian, whose ring blazed upon Nikki’s finger, whose arm circled the girl’s waist, proudly, possessively. Tall, lean, attractive Brian. He came from Texas—one of Nikki’s sorority sisters had told them about the Cox ranch, the Cox wealth. Besides his uniform, his position as instructor at the Naval Air school, and the golden wings on his breast, Brian was completely and comfortably, eligible. Lucky, lucky Nikki. And lucky, lucky Brian—for what other girl could be so sweet and desirable? “HOW you got in like livin’ in Texas, Nikki?” drawled the Texan sorority sister. “What’s wrong with Texas?” challenged Brian, his smile white across his dark face. “It must have something,” another girl said. “Brian beat the time of all the other men who have rushed Nikki.” The sweet tones of a new Harry James record lifted the young people to their feet. Nikki’s soft hair brushed Brian’s warm cheek. “This is my lucky day,” she told him, her eyes shy and adoring. His arm drew her closer, they circled out into the hall between the stairs and the wall, back—away a little from the others, from the noise. Brian’s lips moved to Nikki’s lifted parted ones. Their mouths clung together; they were excited, too happy—Nikki took his hand, pushed against a door, led him down the steps to what would have been the basement if this house had not sat upon such a high hill. “I didn’t know—” she whispered to Brian. “Isn’t it nice?” It was nice. Pine-paneled walls, maple furniture, deep red leather cushions. Red and white checked curtains at the windows—a quiet, still room, all to themselves. Brian drew the girl to him. “Nikki,” he said deeply. She clung to him, her soft arms straining. “Oh, Brian—” “I didn’t know—” “What? His gray eyes searched hers. “That it would be this way—” UPSTAIRS, Nancy stood in the hall doorway for a minute.

McLean Man Held On Assault Charge Gray County officials today were holding a McLean man charged with assault with intent to rape. The charge arose out of the reported advance on a 12-year-old girl in McLean over the weekend. The man was apprehended by McLean officials and brought to the Gray County Jail this morning. Further investigation by the district attorney’s office was pending at noon today.

Services Tomorrow For Marvin Smith

The body of Marvin Smith, who died August 21 in Jamestown, Ky., while on a 10-day visit, arrived in Pampa Sunday night and will be carried to Lefors today by Duengel-Carmichael where it will lie in state until funeral services are held Tuesday afternoon at 2 p.m. Rev. N. S. Daniel, pastor of the Methodist Church, Lefors, will officiate for the services to be held from the Baptist Church, Lefors. Burial will be in Clarendon under the direction of Duengel-Carmichael Funeral Home.

Legion (Continued From Page 1) convention sessions today, was “almost unanimously in favor” of the Truman policy “of aid to Greece and Turkey” and any other small countries having a “foreign policy forced upon them.”

Asked if he thought the United Nations could resolve the situation in Greece, where a government crisis developed over the weekend, Griffith replied: “If the United Nations is mature enough it should handle all world affairs, but we believe the United Nations is a baby in swaddling clothes without the power to act. I don’t believe the United Nations is capable of acting at this time.”

Griffith issued a prepared statement demanding a special session of Congress “to solve the specific purpose of enacting universal military training legislation and for the purpose of strengthening our national defense.”

Before the convention ends Sunday, the Legion probably will have taken a stand on housing, subversive activities and other national and international policies. The resolutions committee, loaded with suggestions from the legion’s 10,450 posts, began today farming them out to sub-committees to get into form for convention action.

Among several Legionnaires being boomed for National Commander, heavy pre-convention support already is claimed for S. Perry Brown of Beaumont, Tex., chairman of the Legion’s National Defense Committee; Joseph J. Malloy of Washington, D. C., Legion Executive Committeeman, and James F. O’Neal police chief of Manchester, N. H.

Storm (Continued From Page 1) and work of cleaning up debris began. Weather Chief Naughton said the “eye” or center of the storm passed directly over Galveston, some of the 1900 storm which took an estimated 5,000 to 8,000 toll.

Naughton said the barometer dropped from a normal 29.90 to 29.29. As the center passed, the low pressure caused a wind which experienced a sensation of pressure. The storm, with winds of 68 to 70 miles per hour, centered on Galveston at 4:45 p.m. yesterday and caused a short time later. Considerable property damage of a minor nature. Residence and store windows were smashed, homes were unroofed, small boats were battered or set adrift, signs were blown down, communication lines suffered and both cities temporarily went without power.

Not until late last night were power circuits generally restored in Galveston. So many power lines were knocked down that electric current was cut off to forestall live wire danger. Joseph M. Tate, however, lost his life by electrocution in Galveston when he came in contact with a fallen power line. Thousands of persons found refuge from the storm in Red Cross-sponsored shelter, five public school buildings and the municipal auditorium. From the brick safety of these shelters families watched the torrential flowing rain—a sheet of gale borne rain that reduced visibility to zero.
