By United Press International

Israeli warplanes bombed Cairo's northern suburbs today, and Egyptian accounts said 70 civilian factory workers were killed and 49 wounded. Israel said the jets may have hit the plant by mistake and warned that an 850-pound bomb with a delayed fuse had been dropped in the area.

The losses were the heaviest reported by Egypt since the 1967 War. A Cairo spokesman said two U.S. made Phantom jet fighter-bombers carried out the strike, hitting a metal works factory in Abu Zabal.

In Tel Aviv, an Israeli spokesman said pilot debriefing indicated that one plane "may have dropped bombs, as a result of technical error, outside the target area" and hit non-military objectives.

The Israeli spokesman said Defense Minister Moshe Dayan had contacted the International Red Cross representative in Tel Aviv and Gen. Odd Bull, head of the U.S. truce observer mission, to inform the Egyptians that a delayed action bomb had been used.

"Among the bombs dropped outside the target area was an 850-pound bomb timed to explode after 24 hours which should be neutralized to prevent its explosion," Dayan informed the Egyptians.

Cairo said the metals factory was near El Khanka air base, 13 miles north of the Egyptian capital.

LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY today was noted in the business areas by the display of the American flag. City policemen, too, were showing their patriotism with small American flag tie-tacks such as the one Patrolman Jimmy Samples is wearing. The ornamental flags were presented departmental members by the Altrusa Club of Pampa. (Staff Photo)

Americans Depart For Canefields Of Cuba

To Assist Castro In Sugar Cane Harvest

ST. STEPHEN, N.B. (UPI) — Busloads of weary Americans rolled across the Canadian border today, headed for a rendezvous with a cattle boat taking them to Cuba to help Fidel Castro harvest sugar cane.

A group of 50 spectators chanting "peace, peace" watched as the eight buses carrying about 700 persons passed through the border area from Maine to New Brunswick. Most of the men and women in the buses were young, but some were older.

Canadian border officials would not let the passengers leave the buses nor would they allow journalists to talk to the passengers during the two hours it took for the proceedings.

Canadian officials at Windsor, across from Detroit, had refused to allow part of the group to enter Canada Monday because they had lied about their destination, saying they were on a ski holiday.

They are expected to go directly to St. John, 90 miles away, where the Cuban cattle boat Luis Arcos Bernes was expected sometime today. The boat, bringing back 212 Americans who have been in Cuba cutting sugar cane, was due Wednesday but 60 m.p.h. winds and high seas slowed it down.

Bruce Jacobs, 26, a former mathematics instructor at City College of New York, who said he was one of the organizers of the group, arrived in St. John ahead of the boat. "Our group includes everybody from teenagers to a lady 30 years old," he said. Jacobs added there are currently three international canoeing brigades in Cuba—"one from North Vietnam, another from North Korea and one from the United States."

He said the U.S. contingent includes "Negroes, Asians, Latinos, people from the ghettos, high school and college students, dropouts, and even some college students who will be getting school credits for the trip." Jacobs did not elaborate on what colleges would grant academic credit for canoeing.

Called the "Venceremos (we will win) Brigade," they will spend two and a half months in the canefields of Cuba.

Those in the eight busloads crossing appeared tired from the trip. They carried knapsacks, sleeping bags and boxes of cookies. Many of the men had beards, most of the girls long hair.

Rescuers Dig Out Avalanche Victims

6,000 STRANDED

VAL D'ISERE, France (UPI) — A relief column of 10 buses made the arduous uphill trek into this avalanche-besieged Alpine resort today to begin evacuating the estimated 6,000 tourists stranded since Tuesday's killer slide.

The blizzard that triggered avalanches sealing off Val d'Isere for the best part of two days subsided and the temperature dropped—two signs that gave officials hope the threat of further slides was over.

Road and rescue workers cleared a one-lane road into this ski town late Wednesday and a convoy of trucks pushed through from Bourg St. Maurice to take out the bodies of Tuesday's 39 victims and to evacuate 200 children.

The buses took 2 1/2 hours to make the 20-mile trip from Bourg St. Maurice this morning and officials said they would make as many roundtrips runs as possible so long as the weather holds out.

Tourists got word the road would be open for two hours if they wished to leave in their cars, provided their cars survived the 100-yard-wide slide that smashed a youth hostel Tuesday. Sixty persons were injured in the disaster.

Among the first to leave today were youths who had escaped injury when the slide crashed into the youth hostel smashing a gaping hole in its stone side. They were moved to an emergency shelter in a theater.

French Interior Minister Raymond Marcellin led friends and relatives in mourning the dead Wednesday night in a chapel in Bourg St. Maurice. Six of the bodies have not yet been identified.

In a statement on his arrival there, Marcellin denied contentions in the French press the disaster could have been prevented. But he reported a government inquiry had begun.

"It was a case of misfortune and fatality," he said. "We have every reason to believe, for the moment, that the cause of the drama cannot be found outside an unfortunate combination of physical and atmospheric phenomena impossible to foresee."

TRUCK OVERTURNS

Polaris Missile Spring A Leak

BRENHAM, Tex. (UPI) — Military police today evacuated all residents within a mile of an overturned truck and a leaking booster stage of a Polaris missile loaded with explosive fuel.

"It is very dangerous. There's a danger of it exploding," said Washington County Deputy Sheriff Elwood Goldberg.

The missile contains 30,000 pounds of highly explosive solid fuel and 400 gallons of diesel fuel and igniters. A military spokesman said it did not have a nuclear warhead and there was no danger of a radioactive blast.

"The missile is sitting in a puddle of diesel fuel," said Sgt. James D. Blackmore of Bergstrom Air Force Base at Austin, Tex.

"It could burn and make an igniter go and if the igniter goes the fuel could," he said.

The flatbed truck carrying the Polaris booster stage, from California to South Carolina jackknifed and overturned late Wednesday, partially spilling the missile onto the side of U.S. 290 eight miles west of Brenham.

The truck skidded off the road when a front tire blew out and flipped into a three-foot ditch. Authorities asked for a halt in all radio transmissions in the area as a precaution against possible detonation of the fuel.

"Until they get the missile righted, it's a Class B explosive," Sgt. Blackmore said. "Sticks of dynamite would be a Class A explosive. A Class B explosive is a stable, inert explosive. It can go. It'll burn."

Brenham is a town of 2,000 persons located midway between Houston and Austin. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Houston and security police from Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio and Bergstrom in Austin were sent to the scene to patrol the area and evacuate residents.

"That thing is huge," Goldberg said of the Polaris. "It's wrapped in tan canvas so you can't see it. They banned everybody but authorized military people from the area."

The Texas Department of Public Safety officers set up roadblocks one mile from the scene. There were only a few dozen farm homes in the evacuated area, Goldberg said.

The driver of the truck was Leonard Frank Richardson of Orlando, Fla., who was not injured. A passenger, Robert E. Cueno, also of Orlando, was treated for minor arm injuries at a Brenham hospital and released a few hours later.

City Patrolmen Add Accessory To Uniforms

Several weeks ago, a New York City patrolman was censured by his department for wearing a small American flag pin. For being what was termed "out of uniform," the patrolman was chastised by his superiors.

The situation came to the attention of the President of the United States, who took time out from his more pressing duties, to send a letter to the patriotic policeman commending him for his choice of accessories.

In Pampa, the Altrusa Club, in complete agreement with the President, secured the permission of Chief of Police Jim Conner to present his department with tie-tacks for patrolmen, clerks, and traffic control maids.

Conner said in accepting the gifts from Altrusa president Marie Fitzgerald, Verne Meador and Geneva Tidwell, "The American flag is a welcomed addition to our uniforms, if a patrolman chooses to wear it. We have no opposition to it at all."

Weather Scientists Undertake Modernizing Prognostication

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A weather scientist forecast today the coming century will be one of "environmental management."

Weather services of the past 100 years have been devoted mainly to prediction. Henceforth, said Dr. Robert M. White, their work must be even more "relevant to the needs of society."

White, director of the Environmental Science Services Administration (ESSA), addressed a symposium on "A Century of Weather Progress" being held here to observe the 100th anniversary of the U.S. National Weather Service.

"Over the past few decades," White said, "we have seen the growing need of environmental management. We have seen growing evidence of the consequences of inadvertent tampering with the environment in the absence of management."

"The result has been frightening. The people of America and the world will look to science and technology to rectify their mistakes, and we shall be judged harshly if we fail to do so."

Since the National Weather Service was created Feb. 9, 1870, there have been "tremendous advances" made possible by such things as radar, computers and weather satellites.

"Our world weather center in Washington represents a degree of advanced forecast practice unmatched anywhere in the world," White said.

But it still isn't good enough. Forecasts are better than they were 100 years ago. The United States has had some apparent

He and his wife, Patricia Ann, have two children, Tammy, 7, a student at Horace Mann Elementary School, and Buddy, 5. They're members of Barrett Baptist Church and have lived most of their life in Pampa.

"My whole life has been connected with education. My business is education, and keeping people in school. I am concerned with education in Pampa, and the problem of too many students dropping out of school. If elected, I hope to do what I can to eliminate part of this drop-out problem," Wilhelm said.

White House Withdraws SS Nominee

WASHINGTON (UPI) — On Jan. 28 the White House confirmed Charles J. DiBona was the leading contender to replace Gen. Lewis B. Hershey as director of the Selective Service. Wednesday the White House said DiBona's name had been withdrawn.

Officially, the word was that members of the Senate Armed Services Committee objected to DiBona's support of an all-volunteer Army. But there also were reports DiBona, 37, a former Rhodes scholar, rubbed some of the senators the wrong way and they thought him abrasive and immature.

Marines Storm Camp Barracks

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (UPI) — Fifteen men were injured Wednesday night in fistfights and scuffles when about 30 black Marines stormed through a barracks, smashing windows and breaking furniture, a base spokesman said.

The disturbance erupted when the Negroes forced their way into a barracks in the central part of the base, Lt. Col. Ed. Schultze said.

The men broke windows, smashed desks, foot lockers and attacked other men inside the building, he said.

Some 30 military police and 30 other Marine guards were alerted but did not enter the building. Two Marine corporals entered the barracks and talked the men involved into ending the disturbance.

According to Schultze, no force was used to contain the disturbance and all injuries were minor, involving cuts and lacerations. He said no arrests had been made. The incident was under investigation.

Coed Will Work To Pay Debt To Society

CHICAGO (UPI) — Mary Ann Caswick will pay her debt to society in three weeks of volunteer work.

The 24-year-old University of Illinois honor student Wednesday pleaded guilty to 35 parking tickets accumulated during 1969. They amounted to $75 in fines.

She said she was unable to pay because she is working herself through medical school on a scholarship.

"We didn't want to see her school work harmed," a spokesman for the corporation counsel's office said, "so the judge went along with the city's recommendation to allow her to work it off."

He said Miss Caswick would put in about three weeks working in a hospital.

TO DECIDE TODAY

Calley's Right To Fair Trial Judged

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI) — The military judge in the murder case against Lt. William L. Calley Jr. said he would try to decide today whether Calley's right to a fair trial has been prejudiced by massive pretrial publicity alleging a Vietnam massacre.

Denial of a defense motion to dismiss the charges against the 26-year-old Army officer from Miami, Fla., on the grounds news coverage would prejudice military jurors, would swing the doors open almost all the way toward a court-martial.

The current pretrial defense motions to dismiss was to end in its fourth day today after arguments by opposing sides on the free press-fair trial motion. Lt. Col. Reid W. Kennedy, the judge, said he would try his best to be ready

North Sends Low-Ranking Men To Talk

PARIS (UPI) — North Vietnam today sent its lowest ranking delegation to the Vietnam peace talks since the conference began more than a year ago and charged the United States was keeping its negotiators in Paris only for appearances.

The acting chief of the U.S. negotiating team, Philip C. Habib, denied the charge and accused Hanoi and the Viet Cong of avoiding serious talks on ending the war.

The Communist case was carried into the 64th session of the talks by Nguyen Minh Vy, No. 3 man in the Hanoi delegation. He charged that President Nixon has reduced the scope of the Paris conference to lead it toward sabotage.

"President Nixon thinks he can delude the American people and world opinion on the pretended desire for peace of his administration," Vy said. It was not immediately clear whether Vy's appearance meant that Hanoi was sharpening its protest against U.S. actions with regard to the Paris talks.

Today's negotiating session lasted only 3 hours and 50 minutes, one of the shortest to date. All parties agreed to meet again next Thursday.

Hollywood In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—In China the Year of the Dog has begun.
 In Hollywood the canine is always a staple.
 Historians of film may check back to hand-cranked two-reelers to find the noble dog doing his bit to further the cinematic art.
 Doubtless the first dog in a movie was an unknown mutt who wandered into a scene unwanted, unloved and unpaid, his name forever lost to motion picture historians.
 It came to pass, however, that in silent films dogs could hold their own with human actors. Subtitles could be written as easily for an airdale as for Ben Turpin.
Rin-Tin-Tin Was First
 The first renowned quadruped of the screen was Rin-Tin-Tin, a fearless German shepherd with a nice smile.
 A star in his own right he saved babies from burning buildings, fair maidens from villains, heroes from cliff-hangs and the like.
 In those early days Rinty (as his friends called him) played heroic roles and left comedy to "Pete" a low-brown mongrel with a black circle painted around his eye in the "Our Gang" movies.
 When sound made its debut, movies bounced out dogs along with high-pitched leading men such as John Gilbert.
 Dogs barked and ruined the sound track.
 But Rin-Tin-Tin made a comeback in films, and it wasn't long before the dog star (not to be confused with Sirius of the constellation Canis Major) was back in favor.
 One of the most talented was Asia, a wire-haired terrier who was every bit as good a detective as "Mr. and Mrs. North," a series of pictures starring William Powell and Myrna Loy.
 Then along came a dog of dubious parentage named Daisy, who made her mark in a bunch of "Dagwood" pictures.
 Another German shepherd made good in the role of Bullet, assisting Roy Rogers run down outlaws. Bullet was especially good at jumping in and out of good at jumping in and out of the sight of the heavy.
 Untold numbers of dogs, like starlets, come and go without leaving a ripple in the movies' hall of fame.
 Most famous of all dog actors, or animal performers of any kind, is Lassie.

Washington Window

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon's budget carries a record $27.6 billion in federal aid for state and local government with only token amounts earmarked for a start on his proposed programs for welfare reform and sharing federal tax collections with the states.
 The total calls for an increase of $3.5 billion to be allotted to state and local government for the fiscal year beginning July 1 over the $24.1 billion estimate for the current fiscal year. For the current year, federal aid accounts for 18.2 per cent of estimated state and local government revenue.
 Because of presumed delays in launching welfare reforms—

if and when approved by Congress—the Nixon budget for his family assistance plan includes only $300 million for the coming fiscal year. When fully in operation, the plan would cost about 6.4 billion a year.
 Similarly, the administration budget provides only $275 million for sharing federal revenue with the states to be spent without the regulations that goes with current federal aid programs. The Nixon revenue sharing formula would give state and local governments $4 billion in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1975. Of the $27.6 billion for the coming year, more than $18.7 billion would be spent in urban areas.

 To qualify for the federal aid programs, state and local governments will have to come up with $14 billion to $16 billion in matching funds, mostly for public assistance and highway programs

MAN'S FIELD DEFENDS NEWSMEN
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield told the Senate Tuesday he would do "everything in my power" to prevent licensing of news reporters, contending it would compromise their independence and violate the free press guarantees of the Constitution.
 Dr. W. Walter Menninger, a psychiatrist at the famed Menninger Clinic in Topeka, Kan., proposed licensing of journalists in a speech last Wednesday to the National Press Club.

Claim Cut in Oil Imports Would Curtail Inflation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon could do more to stop inflation by adopting a staff report recommending a cut in oil imports than he would by his projected $1.3 billion budget surplus, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said Wednesday.

Proxmire based his belief on an analysis by Paul McCracken, chairman of Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers.

Nixon has on his desk a report by a special cabinet-level oil import task force. Already surrounded by controversy, the report is sure to cause more heat when issued.

First Planned Tariff
 The taskforce's professional staff originally recommended substitution of a tariff system for the current mandatory oil import quotas. Under such a system and at the tariff levels recommended, the price of crude oil would be rolled back to $2.50 a barrel.

The task force itself accepted the staff's tariff proposal, as opposed to continuing the present quota system. But it balked at such a large reduction in price. Instead, it recommended tariff levels that would increase the flow of foreign oil to the United States but result in a reduction of only about 10 cents to $3 a barrel.

UPI learned that when these recommendations reached the White House they were given to Presidential Assistant Peter M. Flannigan for further modification.

Flannigan's final rewrite, which bears the imprimatur of the task force itself, now is awaiting final Presidential clearance and announcement.

Proxmire asked McCracken what the effect on the economy would be if the task force staff's original recommendations were adopted, resulting in a two-cent per gallon decrease in the retail price of gasoline.

"The statistics involved are relatively simple," McCracken replied.

"With annual consumption of the order of 80 billion gallons, a two cent cut at retail would translate into a reduction of about $1.6 billion in the total national bill for gasoline.

"Such a cut would be equivalent to a reduction of approximately 6 per cent in the average retail price. This would affect the overall Consumer Price Index directly by somewhat less than .2 per cent," McCracken said.

Forgotten Handkerchief Credited With Saving 19-year-old Youth

VAL D'ISERE, France (UPI) — Benoit Mikolajczak got to the center of the city where a theater became home for 300 of them.

Mikolajczak had just returned to the dining room, handkerchief in pocket, when the 100-yard-wide avalanche slammed into the stone hostel and a nearby hotel, knocking a gaping hole in the three-story hotel.

"I was at the foot of the staircase," he said. "There was this huge noise and the snow crashed through. The force of the wind in front threw me clear across the room."

"If I hadn't gone back upstairs, I know I would have been killed because I always sat at a table next to the window where the avalanche displaced persons trued to sit."

The dining room at the moment of impact was crowded with about 200 youths, all under 25, who had thronged to this world-famous ski resort for a week of relaxation during the Mardi Gras holiday.

"I was only buried up to the waist, but I'll never forget what I saw," Mikolajczak said. "Everything was carried away by the snow. I could see the cars in the chalet garage, crushed one on top of another."

He suffered head injuries and was evacuated to Bourg St. Maurice with most of the other injured. It was the worst avalanche in 100 years in the French Alps. All the dead were French.

DRAWS TOO FAST
 HOUSTON (UPI) — Leslie Wayne Robinson was practicing his fast draw when his wife walked into the bedroom, naked, slipped up behind him and said, "Boo." Robinson, 30, whirled from his crouched position and shot his wife, Frances, 27, in the chest. She was in fair condition Tuesday in Ben Taub Hospital. Detective D. M. Fultz said no charges would be filed. "It was an accidental fast draw shooting," he said.

ONLY ZENITH HAS CHROMACOLOR... a revolutionary color television system featuring a patented color picture tube that outcolors... outbrightens... outcontrasts... and outdetails... every other giant-screen color picture tube.

Exclusive Zenith COLOR COMMANDER CONTROL makes it easy to compensate for changing room light conditions... by letting you adjust contrast, color level and brightness, instantly, with one simple control instead of three.

Zenith Titan 80 Handcrafted Chassis combines Zenith Handcrafted dependability with solid state advances.

Exclusive Zenith Chromatic Brain with the first integrated circuit ever used to produce a color picture.

Zenith patented AFC electronically fine tunes Color TV instantly - even perfects your UHF line-tuning automatically.

Super Gold Video Guard Tuning System for longer TV life.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The underlying cause of the "disastrous" market has been the administration's efforts to slow inflation through tight fiscal and monetary policies, Alexander Hamilton Institute observes. While so far "these efforts have failed to dampen inflationary fires to any great extent. Interest rates have been sky-rocketing. There will have to be concrete evidence of a drop in interest rates before the market stages a concrete rally it adds. Meanwhile, the firm recommends a policy of investing on a dollar-cost-averaging basis.

Diamond, Turk & Co. believes the market has completed the major part of its decline and that new commitments in blue chip stocks entail minimal risk now. But it says the glamor stocks "still have some catching up to do on the downside." Some watchful waiting for bargains among the glamor stocks should also prove quite rewarding, the firm says.

Television In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Notes to watch television by:

The newsmakers: Ralph Nader, the gadfly crusader for consumer protection, is the guest Sunday on CBS-TV's "Face the Nation" . . . George Wallace, the former Alabama governor and Presidential candidate, appears Feb. 22 on ABC-TV's "Issues and Answers" . . . Mrs. Spiro Agnew, wife of the Vice President, is interviewed Friday on NBC-TV's "Today" program.

The headliners: Debbie Reynolds, who seemed a sure bet for situation comedy success on television, has had her series canceled by NBC, effective after this season. . . Nothing went right with the show, which was a straight imitation of the old "I Love Lucy" series, many years too late and not nearly as adept. . . Not even Miss Reynolds' front page publicity—when she quit her series for a day because a cigarette commercial was used on the premiere—did any good. . . She lost the tobacco sponsor too. . . Tiny Tim, Mickey Rooney and Red Skelton cavort as "The Three Musketeers" on Skelton's CBS TV series Feb. 24, with Audrey Meadows as the queen and Jackie Coogan as an enemy agent. . . The Skelton hour was the top ranked regular series in the national video ratings for the week ending Feb. 1.

Shirley Booth visits Dean Martin's NBC-TV show March 12. . . Merv Griffin, whose CBS-TV series really hasn't jelled because he has gone a bit jazzy and failed to emulate the syndicated show that did well for him, is suggesting publicly that, for ratings reasons, he isn't sad that several network stations have dropped him from night-time schedules and put him on in the afternoon. . . It might be suggested that CBS-TV didn't hire Griffin with afternoon television in mind.

New show: ABC-TV's upcoming weekly half-hour public affairs series, which debuts March 23, has been titled "Now."

Brothers Charged In Murder

LONDON (UPI)—Scotland Yard tonight charged two brothers with the murder of Mrs. Alex McKay, wife of a newspaper executive who has been missing for more than six weeks.

Police said the men, identified as Arthur Hosein, 33, and Nizamodeen Hosein, 21, also were charged with attempting to obtain $2.4 million in ransom for the return of Mrs. McKay. They were scheduled to appear in Wimbledon Court Wednesday.

The two men resided at Rook's Farm near Stocking Pelham where a force of more than 100 police have been searching for the past two days. The village is 35 miles north of London.

There was no immediate word on whether police had found the body of Muriel McKay.

Mrs. McKay's husband is acting director of the Sunday newspaper News of the World at history.

The 55-year-old woman disappeared from her plush home at Wimbledon six weeks and two days ago. Her disappearance touched off one of the largest investigations in British criminal history.

OCCULTISM

Occult Fills Belief Need

LOS ANGELES (NEA) — Books on the occult dot the best-seller list. Police departments consult psychics to help solve crimes. Movie stars won't sign a contract unless they first check with their pet astrologer. It's all happening, and it's happening more and more. The occult, the supernatural — call it whatever you like, it is capturing the public's attention. What's behind this strange hastening trend toward the unearthly, the irrational, the otherworldly?

Here, in southern California, it has been going on for some time, probably for longer than in more rational parts of the country. Oddball sects and kooky cults have flourished in the sunshine for years. But the process has speeded up lately. And, some say, the speeding up began when the hippie movement began. What equates the two is the simultaneous decline in organized religion among the long-hair set.

The theory, expressed by the hippies themselves, is that they became disenchanted with religion as they became disenchanted with other Establishment traditions. But they wanted something to believe in, so they turned to the mystic.

A UCLA psychologist, Prof. Michael J. Goldstein, corroborates that philosophy. "It appears," he says, "that people can't exist without a major belief system. They seemingly must subordinate themselves to some higher force. It gives man security to believe in a stronger force."

Goldstein, however, says other factors are contributing to the rise in occultism in this country.

He sees a parallel between the beginning of the Dark Ages and today. In both cases, he says, there was "a disintegration of the established value system."

At the time the Dark Ages began, the Roman culture disintegrated. The old, established value system was challenged by something new — the Christian value system.

"And today our value system is being challenged in many ways," he says. "Many things are challenging our sense that the world is predictable. Our sexual values have been challenged by the Kinsey Report."

"There are so many ways our Puritan values — that hard work is good, that we should practice sexual restraint — are being challenged. And people are struggling to equate these challenges."

People, he says, also feel that they are powerless to control their own lives, to influence their own destinies. As cities have grown, as government controls have strengthened, as affluence has increased, the sense of individual powerlessness has also grown.

"When you feel powerless," Goldstein says, "you feel that you can't control your own fate. This is a fertile time to believe in magical powers, which perhaps can control your fate."

BERRY'S WORL

"It's something he dreamed up so he wouldn't miss any of the Super Bowl!"

Hollywood Reports

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Is there no place on television for a happily married heroine? Evidently not.

Unless the star is a widow, witch, or genie, she is doomed. Debbie Reynolds knows this to be fact. Her situation comedy show was cancelled due to anaemic ratings.

A few days before the guillotine ploped off Debbie's pretty little head, she sat in her dressing room at MGM explaining why her show was far back in the pack.

"It's because we don't have a hit and even start," she said. "We come on the air right in the middle of Mod Squad. It's a very good show, and people aren't going to switch from the middle of that program to ours."

"In fact, I have to hit my kids on the head to have them tune in their mother's show. Now they watch out of loyalty, but it's embarrassing having children with lumps all over their heads."

Debbie was in a light mood. She accepted the series with the understanding it would have a solid two-year run, ratings notwithstanding.

Now, doubtless, she will be paid for not appearing next year.

Debbie's failure to jog the seismograph needle at Caltech is in no way due to lack of effort or care.

"We've worked hard," she said. "I spent about 70 hours a week on the show, rehearsing reading scripts, shooting the show and attending business meetings."

"A new time slot would have helped."

The actress nibbled at her lunch, preoccupied.

At this time Lucille Ball, Marlo Thomas, Elizabeth Montgomery, Barbara Eden, Doris Day, Diahann Carroll, Sally Field, Hope Lange and Juliet Mills are starring in their own shows and, presumably, will return next season.

"I accepted a television series because they aren't making movies for actresses anymore," Debbie said.

"If an actress wants to work steadily, television is the answer."

Feminine leads are restricted to situation comedy, even second leads are lightweight: "Petticoat Junction," "Green Acres," "The Beverly Hillbillies," "The Governor and J.J.," "The Brady Bunch," "My Three Sons," "Get Smart" and "Here Comes the Bride."

Television, as a rule, doesn't take females seriously. The heavy drama is left to actors. Someday, females will correct this slight. When they do, not even "Bonanza" and "Gunsmoke" will survive the accumulated wrath.

United Support Shown For Environment Plans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's massive campaign to save the American environment from its users prompted immediate promises of support and priority treatment in Congress, from Democrats and Republicans alike.

A few Democrats said Nixon did not go far enough; but they were quick to embrace the over-all program, the momentum for which some said Nixon had seized from them.

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.Y., said Nixon's 37-point program was "the clearest recognition of the problems and the greatest influx of new initiatives" since the Theodore Roosevelt administration, when the modern conservation drive began.

Muskie Hears Echo

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, the senate's ecology expert, said Nixon's proposals "are similar to those which I made last month."

He did find fault with some of what Nixon proposed, including "the need to control pollution from trucks, buses, aircraft and other moving sources." He said the nation could not wait for voluntary action on these areas.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., called the proposals "useful and commendatory" but added "the President's commitment on terms of dollars falls short of the broad-ranging programs that are promised."

House Democratic Leader Carl Albert added Nixon has failed to propose spending as much as the Democrats have already authorized to fight pollution.

GOPers Pledge Support

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., called the Nixon document "a historic message."

Expressions of support also came in from the Ford Motor Co. and from the National Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel.

U.S.A., Soviets Sign Pact To Solve Pollution Ills

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An agreement for joint cooperation in solving air and water pollution problems has been signed by the United States and the Soviet Union.

In a far-reaching, two-year cultural and scientific exchange agreement signed Tuesday, Soviet and U.S. officials decided to exchange scientists and information concerning air and water pollution, oceanography, urban transportation and other environmental problems.

Prevention of air pollution by industrial processes will be studied jointly by American and Soviet scientists, as well as effects of air pollutants on humans, animals and vegetation and material, according to the agreement.

Scientists from both countries laboratories for study of mineral and biological resources, and the geological, physical, and biological exploration of the world's oceans.

Automobiles Described As Villians In Air Pollution

WASHINGTON (UPI) — How big is the automobile pollution problem? Simply put, it is huge.

Americans now own 90 million cars. Buses and trucks bring the vehicle total to more than 104 million. That is enough to carry the entire population of the United States at once, with only a little more than two persons in each car.

The auto industry is turning out automobiles at a rate of about 7.5 million a year.

By 1975 the United States will have more cars than it had people in 1920.

According to a Commerce Department study, cars yearly spew 66 million tons of carbon monoxide into the air, plus 6 million tons of nitrogen oxides and 190,000 tons of lead compounds—all known to have some toxic effect on the body.

President Nixon has ordered pollution standards tightened to a point where by 1975 they will out-existing pollution by 50 percent. He also called on industry to produce a pollution-free car in five years.

Altrusa Clubs Hear Library Story From Ass't. Librarian

Winifred Crinklaw, assistant librarian of Lovett Memorial Library spoke in the "City Library" to the Altrusa Club of Pampa at their meeting Monday noon in the East Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn. This talk was part of the Classification program of the Altrusa Information Committee given by Evelyn Mason, Lillian Snow, former librarian introduced Miss Crinklaw.

Miss Crinklaw said: "We do not censor our books. If we know a book is not suitable, we do not spend city money for it; however, we may be given this book and then we place it on the shelves. We feel that an adult should be able to choose what he would like to read. At this time we have 40,112 books. Recently someone gave the library 95 albums of opera and 35 albums of Shakespeare. We have a section for a Texas collection of 725 volumes. To work in the library it takes special training and education. There are many reference books, and anyone interested in almost any field can find what he is looking for at the library. Anyone who has a program to give may request us to look up references and help. We do much of this work for the public. We have had a story hour for children for many years, and a reading program in the summertime. Once a week from 1 to 2 on Wednesday afternoons there is a Read Aloud hour which the children appreciate. In the library are classics, westerns, and many volumes in large print for older people. Magazines are available, but not for checking out."

When president Marie Fitzgerald asked for committee reports Jay Flanagan said that the Senior Citizens Center will be held at a building north of the Episcopal Church, corner of Booker and ward while the library book auction is in progress Thursday.

Fanny Cree, chairman of Career Clinic, requested that the club members bake breads, sweet rolls and coffee cakes to be served Career Clinic consultants, teachers and student chairmen at the breakfast the morning of the clinic March 18th. The club voted to provide these home baked goodies for the breakfast and coffee breaks at that morning.

Mary Wilson, chairman of the nominating committee reported the selected slate of officers for the 1970-71 club year to be voted on at the next luncheon meeting are:

Vernell Meador for president; Marian Jameson for vice president; Fidella Yoder for recording secretary; Georgia Mack for corresponding secretary; Elma Vanderberg for treasurer; Fanny Cree and Georgia Johnson for Directors.

Libby Shotwell reminded Altrusans of the film "Reflection" to be shown by the Red in the Palm Room at C-Hall.

JUST TOO MUCH

LEIGH, England (UPI)—Soccer goalkeeper Ray Richardson had suffered a frustrating day on the field, giving away a goal and seeing his team miss a penalty shot and have a goal disallowed.

Then one of his teammates muffed a pass to him. Richardson ran out from his post and slugged his teammate.

Today he faces action from the local football association's disciplinary committee.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This is in reply to the woman who said that the mother whose son was lying dead in Viet Nam was better off than she, whose 19-year-old son was sick, dirty, living hand to mouth and using drugs.

I run a drug treatment program called RAP (Recognize All Potential) which deals primarily with adolescent and college-age drug users. Many of them are sick and dirty, living hand to mouth.

When I read them the mother's letter above, some of them said, "I'll bet my mother wrote that. She really wishes I were dead."

Abby, please tell that mother to examine her own feelings towards her son. Why has she given up hope for him?

Perhaps if some of these parents would worry less about what to tell their friends and more about what to tell their children, I could work less than 20 hours a day attempting to help kids whose parents wish they were dead.

PATRICIA PACKARD
Pittsburgh, Pa.
DEAR PATRICIA: It's a great job you and your colleagues are doing. Drug addiction among the young is, in my opinion, one of our nation's most serious problems. If only we had an educational program effective enough to keep our kids away from the stuff, we would not have to work so hard to get them off the stuff.

DEAR ABBY: I guess my problem is a very common one as my husband says all men do the same thing.

Let me explain. A few months ago my husband and I were getting ready for bed, and he reached over to lay his wallet on the dresser and he missed. His wallet fell on the floor and everything in it spilled out. Plain as could be were some pictures of naked men and women together. (I do mean together.)

I was shocked and sick, but pretended I did not see them. I tried to put it out of my mind. Now this morning when I went into his pants pocket to get a dollar for my daughter to take to school, I found more pictures just like the first. I wasn't spying or prying. I have always gone into my husband's pants pockets with his knowledge and permission.

This time I mentioned it to my husband, and he said all men carry pictures like that around. Do they? What does this mean? Could a man love and respect his wife and carry stuff like that? He never used to act this way. Please answer soon.

WANTS TO KNOW
DEAR WANTS: Only the emotionally immature would look twice at such pictures. If your husband "never used to act this way," perhaps he is undergoing some personality change due to a physical illness. Ask your doctor. It's "normal" for curious little boys, but not for grown men.

American Business Women's Group Reviews Report On Birth Defects

Don Losher was guest speaker at the recent meeting of American Business Women's Association which met at Furr's Cafeteria.

Losher, who is Gray County's chairman for the "March of Dimes" foundation, showed film on birth defects and stressed family polio immunization is necessary every three years.

"Rubella Measle Vaccine, program will be available through school nurses in February for children six to 10 years old. Parents of children one to five years of age must check with their family physician or Gray County March of Dimes Foundation if they are financially unable to give their child the vaccine," he said.

The R.H. Factor vaccine is also available in Gray County. This vaccine is effective when administered to the mother within 72 hours after the birth of the first child and protects other children born to this mother," Losher said.

After the program Mrs. George Shelton, president, presided at the business meeting and introduced a guest, Sylvia Thomas. Minutes were read by Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Carl Thomas.

Membership Chairman, Mrs. Shirley Nichols, announced an enrollment tea will be held March 15 in Citizen's Bank Bldg.

Twentieth Century Cotillion Club Studies History Of Art Glass

Twentieth Century Cotillion Club met recently in the home of Mrs. John Spearman, east of city. After the business meeting, Mrs. Buddy Cockrell presented the program on 'Art Glass,' displaying several examples.

Most of the art glass was produced during the latter years of the Victorian Era, notably the 1880's, when the demand was for colorful glass to adorn the ornate mantels and what-nots in vogue during that period," Mrs. Cockrell said.

During the late 1880's William Leighton, the experienced English glassworker, perfected the use of cheap lime as a substitute for the expensive lead or flint in the manufacture of tableware. Thus the Midwest soon went into mass production of all manner of fancy, clear, or colored sets of glass for table use," she said.

In 1883, Joseph Locke, an English designer for a New England glass company discovered amberina, a bicolored glass, shading from fuchsia-red at the top to amber toward the base. Plated Amberina was also made by the New England company, in a limited quantity, and is extremely rare today.

Another firm developed another type of shaded ware, shading from red in the lower section to yellow in the upper section and named by them Rubena Verde. A variation in this shaded glass was their Rubena Crystal which was a combination of red and clear glass, she said.

A favorite among collectors is the type of glass known as Peachblow, which was originally created by a Wheeling, W. Va., firm. It is of plated or cased glass which always displays a white lining. The coloring is vivid rose-red in the upper section shading to a bright deep yellow toward the base, a true peach bloom. The highest price ever paid for Peachblow was at the Mary J. Morgan auction in New York in 1886. An ovoid Peachblow vase, eight inches high brought $18,000.

After this, many glassmakers followed with their imitations. The ware produced by a New England glass factory termed Peachblow was patented as Wild Rose. The shaded ware, dusty-pink at the top running into palest blue toward the base, is the rarest of all shaded wares today. Three other types of art glass that were termed shaded were Burmese, Royal Flemish and Crown Milano.

Probably no one person in this country influenced the world of art more during the lush days of the Victorian era than Louis Comfort Tiffany. Fame finally came to him with recognition of the quality of his stained glass. The first Tiffany window in this country, which combined American glass with antique glass, was placed in the Episcopal Church in Islip, Long Island, in 1878.

He also developed the now-famous Favrre ware, which is being widely collected today. However, many collectors prefer what they feel are Tiffany's more important and scarcer types of art glass-Cameo-Style

Glass. He did not patent his method of coating glass objects with iridescent colors, but several other manufacturers copied his ideas," she said.

After the program, art on sale at previous Antique Shows was discussed.

water sets, toilet sets, powder boxes, vases, match-holders and barber bottles, Mrs. Cockrell said.

For some years there have been many avid collectors of so-called Mary Gregory glass. Mary Gregory worked in the decorating department of a Boston glass company and she is best known for white enameled children painted on all types of articles in fashion-

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This is in reply to the woman who said that the mother whose son was lying dead in Viet Nam was better off than she, whose 19-year-old son was sick, dirty, living hand to mouth and using drugs.

I run a drug treatment program called RAP (Recognize All Potential) which deals primarily with adolescent and college-age drug users. Many of them are sick and dirty, living hand to mouth.

When I read them the mother's letter above, some of them said, "I'll bet my mother wrote that. She really wishes I were dead."

Abby, please tell that mother to examine her own feelings towards her son. Why has she give up hope for him?

Perhaps if some of these parents would worry less about what to tell their friends and more about what to tell their children, I could work less than 20 hours a day attempting to help kids whose parents wish they were dead.

PATRICIA PACKARD
Pittsburgh, Pa.

DEAR PATRICIA: It's a great job you and your colleagues are doing. Drug addiction among the young is in my opinion, one of our nation's most serious problems. If only we had an educational program effective enough to keep our kids away from the stuff, we would not have to work so hard to get them off the stuff.

DEAR ABBY: I guess my problem is a very common one as my husband says all men do the same thing.

Let me explain. A few months ago my husband and I were getting ready for bed, and he reached over to lay his wallet on the dresser and he missed. His wallet fell on the floor and everything in it spilled out. Plain as could be were some pictures of naked men and women together. (I do mean together.)

I was shocked and sick, but pretended I did not see them. I tried to put it out of my mind. Now this morning when I went into his pants pocket to get a dollar for my daughter to take to school, I found more pictures just like the first. I wasn't spying or prying. I have always gone into my husband's pants pockets with his knowledge and permission.

This time I mentioned it to my husband, and he said all men carry pictures like that around. Do they? What does this mean? Could a man love and respect his wife and carry stuff like that? He never used to act this way. Please answer soon.

Twentieth Century Cotillion Club Studies History Of Art Glass

Twentieth Century Cotillion Club met recently in the home of Mrs. John Spearman, east of city. After the business meeting, Mrs. Buddy Cockrell presented the program on "Art Glass," displaying several examples.

"Most of the art glass was produced during the latter years of the Victorian Era, notably the 1800's, when the demand was for colorful glass to adorn the ornate mantels and what-nots in vogue during that period," Mrs. Cockrell said.

"During the late 1860's William Leighton, the experienced English glassworker, perfected the use of cheap lime as a substitute for the expensive lead or flint in the manufacture of tableware. Thus the Midwest soon went into mass production of all manner of fancy, clear, or colored sets of glass for table use," she said.

"In 1883, Joseph Locke, an English designer for a New England glass company discovered amberina, a bicolored glass, shading from fuchsia-red at the top to amber toward the base. Plated Amberina was also made by the New England company, in a limited quantity, and is extremely rare today.

Another firm developed another type of shaded ware, shading from red in the upper section to yellow in the lower, and named by them Rubena Verde. A variation in this shaded glass was their Rubena Crystal which was a combination of red and clear glass, she said.

"A favorite among collectors is the type of glass known as Peachblow, which was originally created by a Wheeling, W. Va., firm. It is of plated or cased glass which always displays a white lining. The coloring is vivid rose-red in the upper section shading to a bright deep yellow toward the base, a true peach bloom. The highest price ever paid for Peachblow was at the Mary J. Morgan auction in New York in 1896. An ovoid Peachblow vase, eight inches high brought $18,000.

"After this, many glassmakers followed with their imitations. The ware produced by a New England glass factory termed Peachblow was patented as Wild Rose. The shaded ware, dusty-pink at the top running into palest blue toward the base, is the rarest of all shaded wares today. Three other types of art glass that were termed shaded were Burmese, Royal Flemish and Crown Milano.

"Probably no one person in this country influenced the world of art more during the lush days of the Victorian era than Louis Comfort Tiffany. Fame finally came to him with recognition of the quality of his stained glass. The first Tiffany window in this country, which combined American glass with antique glass, was placed in the Episcopal Church in Islip, Long Island, in 1878.

"He also developed the now-famous Favrile ware, which is being widely collected today. However, many collectors prefer what they feel are Tiffany's more important and scarcer types of art glass-Cameo-Style Glass. He did not patent his method of coating glass objects with iridescent colors, but several other manufacturers copied his ideas," she said.

"For some years there have been many avid collectors of so-called Mary Gregory glass. Mary Gregory worked in the decorating department of a Boston glass company and she is best known for white enameled children painted on all types of articles in fashion-water sets, toilet sets, powder boxes, vases, match-holders and barber bottles, Mrs. Cockrell was discussed.

After the program, art on sale at previous Antique Shows was discussed.

CHANCE TO MOVE UP

Pampa Host Rebels Next

By JIM BURNHAM News Sports Correspondent The Harvesters will try for two in a row tomorrow when they face the Tascosa Rebels in district action. The Rebels beat the Harvesters Jan. 9 at Tascosa in a close 51-48 victory for the Rebels. Jim Gallman, 6'6" postman for Pampa, led both teams in scoring in that game with 21 points. Les Cundiff, 6'9" center for the Rebels, had 18 points. Tascosa is the team that beat Pampa out in the play-off for district champ last year when Pampa won the second half title from Borger. Tascosa won by a five point margin, 63-60. Tascosa is 2-3 in second half play and 14-13 overall. Pampa is 10-14 overall and 1-4 in district. Gallman paced the Harvesters Tuesday when they defeated Caprock 42-42 at the Longhorn gym with 30 points total. He is second in district scoring with a 18.7 points per outing average. Kyle Pipkin of Amarillo High leads the number one spot with a 22.7 average. Borger, who is tops in second half play, sporting a 5-0 mark, tossed Tascosa for a loss Tuesday night in a triumphal 72-63 contest. The Bulldogs are 21-4 for the season. Pampa is tied with Coronado and Caprock for last place in second half action. Each has 1-4 records for the second half.

PILOTS STAY

CHICAGO (UPI)—After weeks of uncertainty and hours of deliberation, a American League owners have decided to keep the Seattle Pilots playing baseball in Seattle. The AL owners came to that decision Wednesday night after two days of meetings, and decided to loan the troubled franchise $650,000 out of the league's treasury with no deadline for repayment.

Jim Ivory Listed With Top Bareback Bronc Riders

A Pampa cowboy, Jim Ivory, is listed as a season leader in bareback bronc riding by the Rodeo Cowboys Association. He is listed as fifth place in standing with a total winnings of $2,176 in the event. Results were listed after the Sunday closing of the Fort Worth RCA Rodeo.

PAMPA HARVESTERS hope to put it all together and make it two in a row tomorrow evening. The Pampa cagers will meet the Tascosa Rebels in the local contest. Coming off of last Tuesday's hard fought battle with Caprock, which broke an eight game losing streak, will be Mike Edgar (51) and his teammates. Jim Gallman will lead the Pampa attack. Wildcats Stun So. Carolina Hand Tar Heels 68-62 Loss

By United Press International Stubbness proved a worthy virtue for Davidson Coach Terry Holland Wednesday night. With his team trailing second-ranked South Carolina 29-19 at halftime, Holland, in his first freshman season as head basketball coach of the Wildcats, instructed his players to stick with their original game plan. "Our plan was to position well and not give them easy shots inside and I think we did that. The defense was tremendous," Holland said. The final result bore out Holland's confidence in his plan as the 11th ranked Wildcats stunned the Gamecocks, 68-62, and handed South Carolina only its second loss in 20 games. Davidson, and especially sophomore Brian Adrian, regained its shooting touch after intermission, hitting on 70 percent of its field goal attempts in the second half. Adrian, held to four points in the first half, found the range in the final 20 minutes and finished with 26. The Gamecocks, meanwhile, hit on only 38 percent of their shots in the second half and went one spell of seven minutes without scoring. South Carolina captain John Roche notched 34 points but the next highest scorer for the Gamecocks was Bobby Cremins with eight. Fourth-ranked St. Bonaventure, the only other Top 10 rated team to see action, used Bob Lanier's 37 points to beat Seton Hall, 103-83. The victory was the 16th in 17 games for the Bonnies who led only 45-39 at halftime before drawing away. Elsewhere, sophomore Russell Lee's 31 points lifted Marshall to a 93-88 upset of 20th ranked Ohio University. Duke edged Wake Forest, 67-65; Virginia scored its first Atlantic Coast Conference victory by surprising Maryland, 71-60; John Mengel's field goal with only 20 seconds left in overtime gave Auburn a 71-69 triumph over Mississippi State; Mississippi beat Vanderbilt on the road for the first time in 16 years, 83-80, and Furman upset West Virginia, 87-80. Duquesne, with four players in double figures, walloped DePaul, 100-76; Toledo topped Detroit, 89-54; Temple crushed Pittsburgh, 101-72; Ken Durrett's 36 points powered LaSalle past American University, 106-86; St. Joseph's (Pa.) used Mike Hauer's 25 points to beat Northern Illinois, 97-79; Boston College downed Rhode Island, 96-79; Penn State tripped Bucknell, 77-62; Syracuse beat Connecticut, 101-80; Louisiana State downed Florida, 95-74; and Bowling Green defeated Kent State, 65-56.

Shaving Strokes 12-Spring Rain

By FRANK BEARD Perhaps the most miserable time of the year to play golf is in the early spring, when rain combines with half-frozen ground to make your golf game puts straight in and hit them more firmly. For mushy lies, I play the ball more forward and pick it off the grass cleanly, instead of hitting down through it. Here, too, there isn't much spin on the ball but it has a maximum of control under the circumstances. (NEXT: Sand and Snow.) Here's how to cut down those extra strokes: Take lessons from champion Frank Beard in his book "Shaving Strokes." Celtics Make Home Stretch Bid For Playoff Berth

By United Press International And a rookie shall lead them. With rookie JoJo White showing the way, the Boston Celtics are making a belated bid for the fourth and final playoff spot in the Eastern Division and they moved another step closer to that goal Wednesday night by defeating the New York Knicks, 125-118, in overtime. White again played a major role in the Celtics' latest triumph as he scored 26 points, including the basket that tied the score with only seven seconds remaining in regulation time. "I've played under pressure all 'my life," White said referring to his crucial basket. "Basketball is all I know. The pressure didn't affect me. I just tried to get the ball up there and it hit." White saw little action the first half of the season because of a hitch in the Marines but he has come on to lead the Celtics who now trail fourth-place Philadelphia by four and a half games. John Havlicek topped all Boston scorers with 30 points while New York's Willis Reed collected 40. In other NBA games, Atlanta walloped San Diego, 135-131; Los Angeles beat San Francisco, 125-115; Milwaukee defeated Phoenix, 127-120; Seattle edged Baltimore, 119-117, and Cincinnati trimmed Detroit, 124-113. Atlanta scored a record 94 points in the third period en route to its win over San Diego. Walt Hazzard finished with 36 points. Joe Caldwell, with 32 points, and Lou Hudson, with 30, supported Hazzard while Elvin Hayes led the defenseless Rockets with 32. Los Angeles' 12 punch of Jerry West and Elgin Baylor tallied 43 points apiece as the Lakers beat the Warriors and remained 1 1/2 games behind pace setting Atlanta in the Western Division. Jerry Lucas topped the Warriors with 26 points. Lew Alcindor scored 32 points and Jon McGlocklin chipped in with 26 as Milwaukee snapped Phoenix' five game winning streak and moved within six games of New York in the East. Connie Hawkins' 32 points paced the Suns who have not beaten the Bucks in five games this season. Player-coach Lennie Wilkens set a Seattle Coliseum record with 18 assists and he scored 21 points to go over the 1,000 point mark for the sixth straight season in helping the Sonics beat Baltimore.

Trevino Ready To Defend Tucson Open Title

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—Uncertain weather and defending champion Lee Trevino share the spotlight today in the first round of the 72-hole $100,000 Tucson Open, the sixth PGA tour event of the year. Trevino could be the first pro of 1970 to repeat—if his putter is working. The Tucson National Golf Course, par 36-36-72, features several greens as big as a football field, it seems, is fairly flat with straight fairways. It's a good hike, measuring 7,200 yards. Weather is usually balmy for this tournament but a rain-storm arrived Wednesday and it could be wet and windy. Julius Boros, approaching the half century mark, isn't bothered by wind and usually does well on the desert. He is back for a crack at first prize of $20,000. Others on hand include 1970 Los Angeles Open champion Billy Casper; Dale Douglass who won at Phoenix; Pete Brown who took the Andy Williams San Diego Open; and Frank Beard, No. 1 money winner in 1969 who hasn't won much more than walking around money this year. U.S. Open champion Orville Moody, who has had trouble making the 36-hole cut in tournaments this year, is also entered along with Al Geiberger, Dave Stockton, Jerry Barber, Charles Sifford, Tommy Jacobs, Chuck Courtney, Marty Fleckham, Charles Coody, Bruce Crampton, Bert Yancey, and Gene Littler. The tournament runs through Sunday.

Clay Wouldn't Give Belt No One Wants

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—the winner is because of the attitude of the New York Boxing Commission. "I had a call from the Garden matchmaker, Teddy Brenner, saying the boxing commission would not let me go into the ring to donate my belt," Clay said at his home here. The former champ said he plans to offer the belt to Central High School in Louisville, Ky., for its trophy case. Clay graduated from the school in 1960.

Caps Find Out Points Aren't Everything

By United Press International The Washington Caps learned Wednesday night that scoring is only half the battle. The Caps, trailing Indiana, 94-93, going into the fourth quarter, scored 39 points in the final 12 minutes, including 12 in the last 36 seconds, but still lost to the Pacers, 142-132, as the winners produced a 48-point final period. Roger Brown tallied 32 points and Bob Netolicky added 31 for Indiana while Mike Barrett led Washington with 36 and Rick Barry netted 34. In the only other American Basketball Association game, Donnie Freeman's 36 points enabled Miami to beat Los Angeles, 127-119, and snap the Floridians' seven-game losing streak.
