Triple Slayings Tied To Unsolved Dallas Case

DICKINSON, Tex. — UP — The triple-slayings of a Dickinson family were tied in Thursday with a two-year-old murder in Dallas that is still unsolved, and authorities sought a man named Brasel Doyle Carmichael.

east Dallas home on March 14, 1953. Neighbors said they saw an Air Force serviceman drive Mrs. Winterbauer's car away from her home several days before the woman's body was found.

It was learned that Carmichael, who was 18 or 19 years old at the time, was AWOL from Perrin Air Force Base at Sherman. He has never been apprehended although the FBI also joined the hunt, filing car theft charges, when Mrs. Winterbauer's car was found several months after her death in Detroit.

Kefauver Charges D-Y Data Withheld

By DAYTON MOORE
WASHINGTON — Sen. Estes Kefauver accused top Budget Bureau officials Thursday of withholding important information on the Dixon-Yates power contract from even President Eisenhower.

the part played by Adolphe H. Wenzell, vice president of the First Boston Corp., in the negotiations. The senator charged that Wenzell may have violated a criminal law in advising both the Budget Bureau and the Dixon-Yates utilities combine at the same time, Wenzell's bank arranged for the Dixon-Yates group to get loans of about $100 million from life insurance companies for the Dixon-Yates plant.

Kefauver said that his special monopoly subcommittee is seeking only information on participation of Wenzell and other such individuals in the Dixon-Yates deal, and "not unimportant memoranda concerning this or that matter which might incidentally be in the files."

Man Slain In Room Of Trial Witness

WACO, Tex. — UP — A Negro man was found shot to death Wednesday night in the room of a witness in the Marion A. Washington murder trial whom police said had received "about 100" threatening phone calls.

The shooting victim was Troy Leroy Hancock. His body was found at the Cen-Tex motel in the bedroom of Bill Henderson, Negro witness in the Washington trial.

A witness, Grady Campbell, night clerk at the motel told police he saw Hancock strike Henderson. The shooting followed a short time later.

Washington was found guilty early Wednesday and sentenced to death for the murder of Airman Henry Poole last April. Poole was shot and killed when he tried to defend his fiancée from an attack by a Negro man.

Henderson, operator of the Negro motel, told police he had taken a .32-caliber pistol to his room after receiving numerous threatening calls.

The motel operator was subpoenaed by the defense in the Washington murder trial, but he appeared as a state witness.

Rescuers Fail In Airmen Search

By LEROY HANSEN
TOKYO — UP — Rescue planes returned to Johnson Air Force Base Thursday night after a fruitless search, often dangerously close to the ocean's surface for three missing U.S. Marine airmen who may have heard the motors of the planes from rubber life rafts.

Plots of the 36th Search and Rescue Squadron told the United Press that they had to take their four-engine planes down to 500 feet above the churning heavy seas to duck under low clouds. Some of the pilots, who had remained as long as seven and a half hours in the air, said visibility was "fair today."

Coordinated Welfare Unit Formed Here

Various organizations in Pampa doing welfare work have formed a single organization called the Welfare Index.

The group consisting of such organizations as the Salvation Army, Elks Club, Ministerial Alliance, Old Age Assistance, and many others, will be more easily contacted for welfare work as the result of the centralizing of effort.

Cattlemen To Sponsor August Fete

The Top O' Texas Hereford Breeders Association and the Northeast Panhandle Feeders Association will jointly sponsor Aug. 26 a cattlemen's education clinic and barbecue. The affair will be held at the Thompson Grove two miles east of Miami on U.S. Hwy. 60.

Jake Hess, president of the breeders association said the purpose of the affair will be for educational and social activities, aimed at creating a better understanding between registered breeders and the commercial cattlemen.

Food Store Robbed Here

A slick method and sticky fingers netted two Negro men approximately $105 in a theft at Braxton's Food Store, 1103 Alcock, yesterday.

According to Sheriff Rufe Jordan, the two walked into the store on a pretense of buying some lollypops and when a clerk turned his back to select the candy, snatched the money from an open cash register.

Indications Pointing To Second Term For Ike

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON — UP — The returns are in on President Eisenhower's non-political swing through New England along with his news conference explanation that his key references to a second term were just fluffing.

Practical politicians around town are not buying any of that. In something more than two White House years, Mr. Eisenhower has shown himself to be a natural-born baby kisser. A congenial politician, despite an Army background.

Moreover, the President shows much evidence of liking his job. The frustrations of office which raised his blood pressure during the first 12 months no longer seem to do so.

The President and his charming Mamie have worked out a routine of living which gives due consideration to the fact that Mrs. Eisenhower — or more women — is not up to the daily grind of politics.

Eastland Says Situation 'Substantially Corrected'

WASHINGTON — UP — Sen. James O. Eastland said Thursday that testimony of Communist infiltration of New York newspapers "shows the high pattern of infiltration and the grip the Communists had on American life."

However, the Mississippi Democrat told reporters, "I feel certain the situation has been substantially corrected" in recent years.

The Senate Internal Security subcommittee, of which Eastland is chairman, called Charles Grutzner, a New York Times staff member, as one of several more into Communist infiltration of the American press.

CBS news correspondent Winston Burdett mentioned more than 20 present or former newsmen — including several former leaders of the New York Newspaper Guild — Wednesday in telling at length about his activities as a member of the Communist party from 1937 to 1942.

He was followed by six of the persons he had named. Five of them stood on the Fifth Amendment and refused to answer certain questions about their Communist connections, despite warnings of possible contempt action by the Senate against at least two of them.

The New York Newspaper Guild said none of the persons named by Burdett is connected with the organization's present administration "in any capacity whatsoever."

Shivers Vetoes Bill To Aid Wheeler Vet

AUSTIN — Gov. Allan Shivers has vetoed a bill which would permit Dr. W. E. Gaines, Wheeler veterinarian, to resume his practice.

Rep. Grainger McIlhenny sponsored the measure. He said the Dr. Gaines, though a graduate of an Arkansas school of veterinary medicine, was unable to qualify for a Texas license and that the Wheeler community needed his services.

Dairy Expert Visits City

Joe Murphy, the dairy marketing specialist with the extension service at College Station, was in Pampa today as the guest of County Agent Ralph Thomas. Murphy is on a swing of the Texas Panhandle to talk over local marketing conditions with agents and area dairymen.

Murphy, who holds a master's degree from Texas A&M in agricultural economics, was in the city today visiting the only processing plant remaining here at the Sunshine Dairy. His office seeks to supply data to county agents throughout the state and keep them informed on dairy marketing trends, analyses, and assist them in local marketing problems.

Claim Hoover Ideas Could Even Budget

WASHINGTON —UP— The Hoover Commission said Thursday that adoption of its 362 economy proposals would save the government many billions of dollars — enough to balance the budget and reduce taxes.

It said these savings could be made without cutting the nation's military strength, "useful" public works, or "delivered" health, education and welfare programs.

No exact estimate could be made of total savings, the commission said, because its various investigations were often partially overlapping. But it said 12 of its task forces estimated savings in their fields — inquiry totalling more than $8 billion a year, and five other task forces recommended "great potential savings" but made no dollar estimates.

Would Balance Budget

"In any event," the commission said, "with all such discounts, there are enough possible savings left to enable the balancing of the budget and reduction of taxes."

Another $10 billion could be recovered by the government, the commission said, by recovering funds tied up in various federal agencies.

The commission made the statements in its final report to congress — what it called an account of its stewardship — on its two-year investigation of government waste and inefficiency.

Although the report was final one from the commission itself, several of its task forces will file other reports when printing is completed.

Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif.), a member of the commission, charged in a statement accompanying the final report that the commission was not "bipartisan" and had not been limited in scope. He said the commission usurped congressional powers in making recommendations in policy matters.

"The members of congress, the elected representatives of the people, must determine national policies, for better or worse, and answer to the people for their actions," Holifield said.

2 Scouts Named For Hero Medals

AUSTIN —UP— Gov. Allan Shivers has submitted to Attorney General Herbert Brownell the names of two Highlands, Tex., Boy Scouts as Texas nominees for the Young American medals for bravery.

The governor submitted the names of Gallen Hull, 13, and Harvey James, 15. The medals are awarded each year by congress and presented by the President.

Two awards are given each year for bravery and two for outstanding service.

The nominations by Shivers cited the two boys for their rescue of five persons whose boat capsized in the San Jacinto River.

organization issued the following statement after Burdett's testimony.

"Pro-Communist influence in the American Newspaper Guild was eliminated in 1941 when a left-wing administration was voted out of office by a general membership referendum.

Took Decisive Step

"That was nearly 15 years ago and a year before Burdett himself — by his own admission — broke with the Communist party. The guild was one of the first unions to 'take this decisive step. This is a matter of record and record is clear. If there are any Communists in the newspaper industry, the publishers hire them, not the guild.

"Unlike some unions, the guild exercises no control over hiring. Burdett told a dramatic story of his contacts with Communist espionage agents abroad after he had been sent to Finland by the Communists in 1940. The now-defunct Eagle thought he was going as a roving correspondent at his own expense.

The newscaster's saga, told in detail in his well-modulated radio voice, ranged from Finland through Russia, Rumania, Yugoslavia and Turkey to Iraq.

Tells of Wife's Death

It ended when he feelingly told how his first wife, Lea Schiati, an anti-Fascist Italian newspaperwoman, was killed by hill tribesman guards in Russian-occupied northern Iran in 1942 while he was in India. This was shortly after he broke with the Communists. He said he is now convinced that she was assassinated at the "instigation" of the Russians. He

Man Disputes Jury Claim He Runs Plush Gaming House

FORT WORTH — UP — W. M. Smith, Wednesday disputed a Tarrant county grand jury charge that his Parker county ranch home is a plush gambling house, backed by Las Vegas money.

"I've done a lot of gambling," he told a reporter. "You know that. But I'm in the ranching and oil royalty business now. I'm not doing any professional gambling."

Grand jurors reported to Criminal District Judge Willis McGregg that the gambling house ran without fear that Rangers would shut it down.

Smith's home is near the Tarrant county line, and the grand jury said it catered to residents of Tarrant and Dallas counties. Smith said he "couldn't understand why" grand jurors charged Las Vegas money was backing him.

"Why, I've never even been to Las Vegas," he said. "I don't know anybody up there who would back me, if I needed backing. And I don't. Like I said, this is just my home. I may play cards with a few friends. But that's all."

TEXAS CITY AID BILL IS PASSED
WASHINGTON —UP—The Senate passed a bill Wednesday that would provide federal compensation to victims of the 1947 Texas City disaster. The legislation now goes to the House.
It would make the federal government liable for deaths, injuries and property damage that resulted from the explosion of two ships loaded with fertilizer in the Texas City harbor in April, 1947. Some 570 persons were killed and 3,500 injured.
It was estimated government payments would total between $15 million and $20 million if the legislation becomes law.
The southern Texas U.S. district court would appoint masters to judge the claims. Any payments received by claimants from insurance companies would be deducted by the government. Insurance companies would not be eligible for government compensation.

Aid Bill Near Vote In House

WASHINGTON —UP— The House moved toward a final vote Thursday on President Eisenhower's $3,285,000,000 foreign aid program. House leaders predicted approval without any drastic changes in the measure.

A number of proposed amendments were still to be disposed of before the final vote, expected by nightfall. The one expected to produce the liveliest scrap was a Republican move to give the new foreign aid chief, John B. Hollister, leeway to fire employees of Harold E. Stassen's old Foreign Operations Administration.

Under the amendment, Hollister would be allowed to fire 200 employees who make $5,440 or more a year. Democrats denounced the proposal as a "jobs-for-Republicans" move to rid the foreign aid program of holdover Democrats.
But Rep. John M. Vorys (R-Ohio) said the amendment bars firing anyone because of political affiliation. He said it is designed to prevent the new international cooperation administration from becoming "a haven for incompetents."

In an important vote Wednesday, the House rejected 112 to 44 a move to kill the whole aid program.

DEBT LIMIT
Senate leaders predicted speedy approval Thursday of a one-year extension of the temporary federal debt ceiling of $281 billion. Without the extension, already approved by the House, the ceiling would revert to its permanent level of $275 billion.

SUBVERSIVES
The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee summoned Charles Grutzner, a New York Times staff member, and several more witnesses for questioning Thursday in its hearings on Communist infiltration of the American press.
Grutzner was one of 12 persons named Wednesday by CBS news correspondent Winston Burdett as having formally been members of a Communist unit of the defunct Brooklyn Daily Eagle. Burdett said he was a member of the Communist party from 1937 to 1942.

LEGISLATION
Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N. H.) said Democrats are supporting President Eisenhower's legislative program and ignoring or fighting the rest. Bridges said the President needs a republican congress.

Jet Crash Kills Two
FAIRBANKS, Alaska —UP—An Air Force jet training plane crashed near Big Delta, killing both men aboard, the Air Force at Land AFB here announced Wednesday.

ARMY WORMS MARCH

Army worms are beginning their annual destructive invasion of grain fields in the Midwest. Their hordes cause thousands of dollars damage to crops. The infestation is already serious in Kansas and is expected to be so in Missouri and other states as the crops mature. Picture at left, above, taken near Columbia, Mo., shows one of the villains (arrow) at work on an ear of wheat. At right, Max Godfrey, of rural Parsons, Kans., inspects army worm damage to the barley crop on his family's farm. Note stalks where heads have been chewed off. The voracious pests also attacked alfalfa and other crops. (Exclusive NEA Photos)

Ike Angrily Challenges Dem Claims

By RAYMOND LAHR
WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower Wednesday challenged — almost angrily — Democratic claims of accomplishments on his legislative program at this session of Congress. We read to a news conference a long list of unpassed legislation which, he said, is vital to the United States. Mr. Eisenhower said he is happy to have co-operation from any congressional quarter. But he said he thinks someone is confused as to where the credit for accomplishment or failure should be placed. He spoke to the specific point of a statement Tuesday by Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) who praised the accomplishments of this session and the co-operation shown by the administration by Democrats. Some Heat Noticed Mr. Eisenhower reacted with some heat. He whipped a folded sheet of paper from his inner coat pocket and said he just happened to have a list of necessary legislation which would indicate how much the fine co-operation was that he had received. Quickly and sternly he called the roll of legislative fields on which, he said, there has been no final action. The President mentioned highway construction, the military manpower reserve, housing, health, schools, mutual security authorization, refugee act amendments, water resources, customs simplification, the minimum wage, the atomic "peace" ship, and Hawaiian statehood. Mr. Eisenhower said he would be glad to give credit for everything done in Congress. But he said he wants some more done. Program Rejected Senate Democrats rejected Mr. Eisenhower's highway program and substituted their own. The Senate approved a $1 an hour minimum wage in preference to Mr. Eisenhower's recommended 90 cents. On housing, the senate voted a much larger public housing program than Mr. Eisenhower wanted. The House is expected to scale this down. nly periodic consideration is being given his health bills. A Senate judiciary subcommittee still is considering 10 recommended changes in the refugee admission law.

Gas Control Exemption Bill Okayed

WASHINGTON — UP — The Senate Commerce committee Wednesday approved, 11 to 4, a bill to exempt independent producers and gatherers of natural gas from Federal Power Commission price controls. The measure was essentially the same as one already approved by the House Commerce committee. Approval came after the committee voted 11 to 3 against a motion to kill it and 11 to 4 against a substitute by Sen. John O. Pastore (D-R.I.). The Pastore proposal would have exempted only small independent producers with output below 2 billion cubic feet a year. President Eisenhower told his news conference Wednesday that the question of exempting gas prices at the well head was a highly argumentative subject but that he thought Congress was making progress on a bill that would both protect the consumer and encourage gas exploration. House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas had demanded that Mr. Eisenhower "speak out" for or against the pending bills if he wants either of them passed. The President is opposed to the general theory of price controls and has gone on record against federal regulation of independent gas producers. But he restrained Wednesday from speaking out as strongly as Rayburn had insisted. Rayburn and other oil-gas state lawmakers are for the exemption bills but face formidable opposition from gas consuming states. For this reason Rayburn thinks Mr. Eisenhower should make his position indisputably clear as a guide to members of his own party. The measures would overturn a Supreme Court decision that within-state gas production is subject to federal regulation if the gas is sold in interstate commerce. House leaders said they would not bring up their bill until there has been a nose count on both sides of the aisle. They will not schedule debate until they think it will pass. On the final roll, those voting to report the bill included Sens. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.), Price Daniel (D-Tex.), and Andrew J. Schoepel (R-Kan.). First Commercial Flight Across Atlantic 16 Years Ago

By H. D. QUIGG
NEW YORK — Here's the pilot who took the first commercial flight across the Atlantic 16 years ago. He says if you had told him that day that 2,000 persons a day would be winging the same stretch this summer, he'd have told you to come down off that dreamy cloud.
And so ... says Harold E. Gray, he's just scared to predict what might be happening 16 years from now.
However, he's pretty certain that in less than five years we'll be hopping to Europe in less than six hours.
And as for the future day when they get atomic power into airplanes: "It'll be possible to fly anywhere without stopping. There will be no reason to stop. Why, if you were going to Timbuktu and they had bad weather there — so what? Go someplace else — or just wait in the air."
Gray squinted his blue eyes at a world map on his office wall. He barstomped with Floyd Bennett in an old Ford trimotor in the 1920's and in 1928 he was the youngest trimotor pilot (at 23) in the country.
He had 18,000 hours of commercial piloting time — that's nearly two full years in the air if you put it all together — when he became desk-bound in 1947. Now he's executive vice president of the Pan American World Airways' Atlantic Division.

Gray commanded the Pan American 42-ton Boeing flying boat that took off from Port Washington, N. Y., June 24, 1939, for Southampton on the industry's first Trans-Atlantic passenger flight. They flew at 8,000 feet, cruising at 150 knots.
Four days, and four stops, later they made it. They had had to anchor in a bay in New Brunswick, Canada, for three days in bad weather.
Last Tuesday evening — 16 years to the day after that first flight reached England — Pan American's 50,000th flight across the Atlantic (carrying some 70 passengers, tourist rate) roared away from New York at 350 miles an hour on an 11-hour flight non-stop to Paris.
"This summer about 2,000 persons a day are flying the Atlantic, and we're just in our adolescence," Gray said in an interview. "Is there anyone in America who doesn't want to go to Europe? Now it's almost possible for anybody who has a job to go to Europe once in a lifetime."

Inventors Figure Way To Take Fun Out Of Fishing

By JACK L. HEES
HAMBURG, Germany — UP— Two inventors here have figured out a way to take all the fun out of fishing. It's an electronic fishing pole, about the most diabolic invention to come out of Germany since the V-1 rocket.
You stick your pole into the water and press a button. All fish within a 10-foot radius stop in their tracks and swing around like compass needles pointing at the tip of your pole. All you have to do then is reach in with a net or your bare hands and pick them out.
Sportsmen already are shouting that there ought to be a law against it, and there probably will be.
But the inventors don't care. Herbert Preglow and Conradin Kreutzer said they didn't have lazy anglers in mind when they devised the "Salmo-Super," which is what they have christened their shock-ing brainchild.
"It's the same as if a hunter would go after deer with a machine-gun," Preglow admitted. "Nevertheless, the Salmo-Super for the first time in history allows controlled fish-breeding and fish-farming."
Preglow and Kreutzer invented the electric pole in co-operation with the West German federal institute for fishing research at Hamburg. It has been known for years that fish are attracted and knocked unconscious by electricity fed into the water they are swimming in.

"The problem," said Preglow, a 44-year-old technician, "was to develop a portable apparatus which is small enough to be carried by hand and works without noise, and to find out the necessary strength and number of electrical impulses."
The Salmo-Super, already patented in 12 countries, is simple enough. It consists of an automobile battery, a vibrator and rectifier, two cables and a rod and copper blanket.
Fish Unharmed
The blanket is thrown into a lake or river and forms a negative pole for the electric current. The rod is the positive end, or anode. When the current is turned on, the fish are attracted to the rod and their muscles are paralyzed by the electricity. They roll over on their sides and stay that way until the current is turned off.
Preglow said the device works on anything from anchovies to sharks and tuna. Its chief value, however, is in controlling the type and number of fish in a pond or lake.
For example, he said, a man trying to raise trout in a pond could use the Salmo-Super to eliminate the pike that would menace the young trout. After the pike were picked out and the current turned off, the trout would swim away unharmed.

Oldest Vet Aids Temple Celebration

TEMPLE, Tex. — UP— Walter W. Williams, Texas' only surviving Confederate veteran, helped Temple celebrate its 75th anniversary of the coming of the Santa Fe railway Wednesday.

The 112-year-old Williams, one of only four veterans of the Civil War, both Union and Confederate, still living, rode in a convertible in a parade. He wore a white shirt and cowboy boots.

Maj. Gen. Thomas Harold, commander of Fort Hood, presented "Uncle Walt" with the flag of Hood's Texas Brigade. Williams was forage master for Hood's Brigade during the Civil War but now is an honorary colonel.

C. R. Tucker of Chicago, operations vice president of the Santa Fe, presented the city with an old steam locomotive as a memento of the Diamond Jubilee celebration.

A highlight of the celebration was the crowning of Miss Charle Smith of Belton as Miss Central Texas and Miss Charlene Mikeka as Miss Temple.

A horse show Wednesday night wound up the affair.

Gen. Johnson Escapes Crash

NORTH FORT HOOD — UP— Maj. Gen. Albert Sidney Johnson of Dallas, commander of the 49th Armored Division of the Texas National Guard, and his pilot survived a helicopter crash Wednesday with no more than minor injuries.

The helicopter carrying Johnson and the pilot, 1st Lt. Jack M. Plemons of Fort Worth, had attained an altitude of about 150 feet upon take-off when its power failed.

Plemons succeeded in getting the rotors started again, but the power failed a second time and the helicopter hit the ground, bounced once and then skidded.

Gen. Johnson and Plemons were shaken up but suffered no serious injuries. The helicopter was badly damaged.

Anti-Americanism Outbreak Complicates Indo Situation

By CHARLES M. McCANN
The situation in the state of Southern Viet Nam in Indo-China has been complicated by an outbreak of anti-Americanism.

Three incidents of Anti-American terrorism have been reported from Saigon, the capital, within the last two weeks.

Leaflets containing the slogan "Yankee go home," which the Communists long ago made familiar in Europe, are being distributed in the city.

So far the origin of the leaflets and the identity of the terrorists remains a mystery.

To emphasize how chaotic the situation is, however, it is suggested in dispatches that South Viet Nambese rebels are probably responsible for the terrorism and that both rebels and Communist agents are distributing anti-American propaganda.

With Own Private Armies
The rebels are members of the three political-religious-racketeer sects which are fighting a small scale civil war against South Viet Nam Premier Ngo Dinh Diem. They maintain their own little private armies.

The United States strategy supports Premier Diem as offering the best hope of unifying South Viet Nam and keeping it from falling into the hands of the Communists.

But Diem, a strong and uncompromising nationalist, is anti-French and the French government is strongly anti-Diem.

Detroit, automobile capital of the United States that still has a nation, is one of the few cities in mounted police force.

CAKE FROSTING — Mrs. Raymond Barrett is shown melting butter for the frosting she uses on her lunch cake, a recipe handed down within her family. The cake is unusual and is nice for company or a party. One person toasted a piece of the cake and ate it for a breakfast roll. (News photo)

This Is My Dish Mrs. Barrett Gives Family Cake Recipe

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor
Mrs. Raymond Barrett, south of west of city, has an unusual cake recipe that has been handed down through several generations of her family. It's lunch cake, different from the ordinary, and especially good for company or a party.
Mrs. Barrett is the former Dorothy Dixon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Dixon of Pampa. Her husband, a farmer, has also lived in Pampa most of his life. The couple has a son, 14 months old.
Mrs. Barrett's outside-the-home activities center around the First Presbyterian Church. She is a member of the Women's Association, Circle IV and the adult couples' class. Her household duties keep her busy, but she says her pastime is walking with her son.
Mrs. Barrett's "lunch cake" recipe was brought from Ohio by her mother when the family moved to Pampa, and she believes her mother's mother gave the recipe to her. Mrs. Barrett knows where her grandmothers got the recipe.

- LUNCH CAKE.
- 1 cup brown sugar
 - 1/2 cup shortening
 - 1 egg
 - 1 cup sour milk
 - 2 cups flour (plait)
 - 1 rounding tsp. soda
 - 1-2 teaspoons
 - 1 tsp. baking powder
 - 1 cup raisins
 - 1 tsp. nutmeg
 - 1/2 tsp. salt
- Cover raisins with water and simmer five minutes. Drain. Cream sugar and shortening. Add egg. Sift dry ingredients together three times. Alternately add milk and dry ingredients to the sugar-shortening mixture. Add raisins. Bake in an 8x8 pan at 375 degrees for 30 minutes.
Mrs. Barrett says any icing will do, but she prefers a butter frosting.
- BUTTER FROSTING
- 1/2 cup melted margarine or butter
 - 2 cups confectioner's sugar
 - 1 tsp. vanilla
 - 1/4 tsp. lemon extract
 - 1 Tbsp. cream or until of spreading consistency.
- Mix ingredients together and frost cake.
A sidelight to the recipe is that Mrs. Barrett's sister reported that her roommate at school toasted a piece of the cake for breakfast, saying it was like a breakfast roll after being toasted.

Toppings for plain ice cream:
Maple syrup and crushed sugar-coated cereal.
Strained fruits (the kind that's canned for babies) with a dash of cinnamon or nutmeg.
Minced meat flavored with a little sherry.
Crushed peanut brittle or peppermint candy.
Chocolate sauce with equal amount of peanut butter.
Honey mixed with a few seedless raisins.
Cooky crumbs (chocolate, vanilla wafers or gingersnaps).
Frozen grape or orange juice concentrate (undiluted).
Fresh or frozen berries, crushed pineapple or pineapple pie filling or other fruits.
You'll make a hit with these cool Companion drinks, too:
FROSTED TROPICAL CHOCOLATE—Mash 2 full ripened bananas; add 1/4 cup chocolate melted milk, powder, 1-3 cup chocolate sauce, 1 teaspoon vanilla and 1 quart cold milk. Beat with electric mixer or rotary beater until smooth. Add 1/2 pint vanilla ice cream; beat just to mix ice cream. Serve at once in 4 to 6 tall glasses.
PINK ELEPHANT—In a pitcher, combine 3 cups of cranberry juice cocktail with a package of lemon flavored soft drink crystals and 1/2 cup sugar; stir until sugar dissolves. Pour into six glasses; add a scoop of lemon sherbet in each and then fill to the top with sparkling water.
SNOW WHITE—Combine 1 1/2 cups of maple or maple-blended sirup and 2 cups of milk; pour into 4 large glasses. Add a scoop of vanilla ice cream to each glass, then fill with sparkling water.

"Ready-To-Serve" Meats Give Spark To Summer Menus

The array of ready-to-serve meats displayed at your meat dealer's counter will suggest plenty of menu ideas to last you for many summers. There's variety galore — spiced lucheon meat, minced ham, veal loaf, meat loaf, olive loaf, jellied tongue and jellied corned beef, to name a few.
Ready-to-serve meats have been cooked or baked and are ready to be served cold or hot in many combinations. According to home economist Reba Stages, they may be deliciously adapted to salads. Fruited Lucheon Meat Salad is one recipe which will give you ideas for more such combinations. For instance, you could cut the meat into julienne strips instead of cubes.
Fruited Lucheon Meat Salad
1 pound spiced lucheon meat, cubed
1 cup pineapple cubes
1/2 cup red grapes, cut in-half and seeded
1/2 cup pecans
1/2 cup diced celery
2-tablespoons mayonnaise
3-tablespoons pineapple juice
4 to 6 lettuce cups
Mix together meat cubes, pineapple cubes, grapes, celery and pecans. Combine mayonnaise and pineapple juice, add to meat mixture. Toss lightly. Chill. Serve in lettuce cups, 4 to 6 servings.

Older men and women should realize that those excess pounds are a dangerous possession. They place extra burden on the heart, limit physical activity (mild and regular physical activity is a must for good body tone), are a predisposing cause of diabetes and osteoarthritis and tend to decrease life expectancy, according to Dr. Russell L. Cecil, medical director, National Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation.

Dr. Cecil reminds senior citizens that as physical activity becomes more limited they need fewer calories.
An elderly woman needs only about 1500 calories a day to maintain weight and an elderly man not more than 2000. Therefore, to lose weight one must eat less than this.
Many dieticians believe a basic breakfast is an ideal way to meet your nutritional needs while reducing.
A bowl of cereal and milk thus becomes an important keystone in your reducing diet. Not only does it provide necessary protein, essential B vitamin and minerals, but also bulk which makes that well-fed feeling last longer.

SPARKLING TEA PUNCH Ideal for Summer Parties

NOW THAT SUMMER APPROACHETH many minds will be thinking of cool drinks to quench the family thirst. Iced tea is one beverage that's hard to beat when it comes to drinking something that's really cool and doesn't leave a sweet cloying after-taste. For diet-minded gals, it's superb because it has no calories to speak of. In addition, iced tea is wonderful as a base for party punches and, if you're thinking in terms of a graduation party, or a shower for the bride-to-be, you'll like this Sparkling Tea Punch with Blueberry Bubbles. You start out by making the basic recipe for iced tea.
To make Iced Tea: bring two quarts of freshly drawn cold water to a full rolling boil in a saucepan. Remove from heat and immediately add five tablespoons of loose tea (or 15 tea bags). Brew, uncovered four minutes. Strain into pitcher. When ready to serve pour into ice-filled glasses and serve with lemon and sugar.
To make the Punch: add 1 stick cinnamon and 10 whole cloves to the water and bring to a boil. Remove from heat and immediately add tea. Brew, uncovered four minutes. Strain into punch bowl. Add 1/2 cup sugar and stir till dissolved. Add one 6-ounce can lemonade concentrate, two cups cold water, one quart ginger-ale and one No. 2 can pineapple juice. Stir to blend. Place block of ice or ice cubes in bowl. Add 1 cup cultivated blueberries. The ginger-ale will make the berries bounce up and down like bubbles. This recipe makes 25-30 punch-cup servings. Homemade cookies or petits fours are nice with this punch. To make the occasion really festive tie a little flower-in-season on to the handle of each cup. (ANS)

Keep a flour sifter in a bag when not in use. To clean it, use a large chicken feather. Don't wash it or you'll get flour lumps and rust.
A basket for the handle of your baby's carriage is a neater and more orderly way of carrying books, knitting, cigarettes and toys to the park than stuffing them in around the baby in the buggy.
Quick type (2-3 cup): whole milk (1 cup); raisin-toast (1 slice); butter or margarine (1/2 teaspoon); coffee, black, instant.
Breakfast: Grapefruit, small (1-2); pre-sweetened cornflakes (1 ounce); whole milk (1 cup); whole wheat bread (1 slice); butter or margarine (1/2 teaspoon); coffee, black, instant.
Breakfast: Fresh strawberries (10 large); shredded wheat (1); whole milk, hot or cold (8 ounces); oven-ready baking powder biscuit (1); butter or margarine (1/2 teaspoon); coffee, black, instant.
A bowl of cereal and milk thus becomes an important keystone in your reducing diet. Not only does it provide necessary protein, essential B vitamin and minerals, but also bulk which makes that well-fed feeling last longer.

Pineapple Pies Are Ideal For Summer

Quick-and-easy summer desserts that are attractive and refreshing appeal to homemakers everywhere this time of year. The delicate flavor of pineapple is particularly good in warm weather desserts, and now that there are so many prepared mixes available you need not spend much time in the kitchen.
The new canned Dole Hawaiian pineapple pie filling, ready to turn into an 8-inch shell and bake is the answer to many a question of what to serve. "Easy as Pie" is certainly true with this new canned product and it takes no longer to make than rolling out your pastry and baking.
If you'd like a cool pineapple chiffon pie for summertime — here is the easiest way to make it:
SIMPLICITY PINEAPPLE CHIFFON PIE
1/2 cup cold water
1 tablespoon (1 envelope) unflavored gelatin
1 can Hawaiian Pineapple Pie Filling (No. 2)
2 egg yolks
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
2 egg whites, beaten stiff with 2 tablespoons sugar
1 baked 9-inch pie shell
Softening-gelatin-in-cold-water. Heat Pineapple Pie Filling just to boiling; stir in slightly beaten egg yolks and cook, stirring, 2 to 3 minutes. Remove from heat and stir and lemon juice. Place pan in bowl of ice water while beating egg whites with sugar. Fold meringue into cooled pineapple mixture and continue cooling until thick. Spoon into baked pie shell and chill for several hours. Makes a 9-inch pie.

A Bang-up Cake for the Fourth

FOR AN INFORMAL PARTY after the Fourth of July fireworks serve this unusual Firecracker Cake. The cake roll itself is a delicate angel food made from premium cake flour. Lusciously filled with chocolate ice cream, it is gaily decorated for the occasion in red and pink.
FIRECRACKER ICE CREAM CAKE
1/2 cup sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
1 cup sifted granulated sugar
1 cup egg whites (8 to 10)
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cream of tartar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
1 quart chocolate ice cream
Pink Peppermint Glaze
Colored ornamental sugar or tiny red candies
Few long strands of coconut
Sift flour once, measure, add 1/2 cup of the sugar, and sift together four times.
Place egg whites in large mixing bowl; add salt, cream of tartar and flavorings. Beat with flat wire whip or egg beater until egg whites are stiff enough to hold up in soft peaks, but are still moist and glossy. Add remaining 1/2 cup of the sugar in three additions, sprinkling 2 tablespoons at a time over egg whites and beating 25 strokes or turns each time.
Add flour-sugar mixture in two additions, sifting it over the egg whites. Fold in each addition with flat wire whip or large spoon, turning bowl gradually. Use 15 complete fold-over strokes each time. After last addition, use 10 to 20 extra strokes.
Spread batter in a 15 1/2 x 10 1/2 x 1-inch pan which has been lined on bottom with paper. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 20 to 25 minutes, or until cake springs back when pressed lightly, with fingers.
Cool 10 minutes. Then turn out on cloth covered with powdered sugar, remove paper, and trim off edges. Roll up, rolling cloth in cake. Roll thoroughly (at least 1 hour).
When cool, unroll, removing cloth. Spread with chocolate ice cream. Roll up again and freeze in home freezer or freezing compartment of refrigerator (0°F.) at least overnight or longer, if desired. Then frost with Pink Peppermint Glaze and sprinkle the colored sugar in diagonal lines across top of cake. Insert a few long strands of coconut at one end of roll to resemble a wick. Freeze at least 2 hours longer. Then slice and serve at once. Makes 8 to 10 servings.
Pink Peppermint Glaze. Combine 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar, 1 tablespoon water, a few drops of red coloring, and a few drops of peppermint extract; mix well. (ANS)

Preview Of Foods Plentiful For July

Here's a preview of what foods are going to be the most plentiful at your market during July.
The U. S. Department of Agriculture prepares this plentiful foods list every month, checking both local and national food stocks to determine what items should be on the list.
Potatoes and ice cream claim the featured spot since supplies are so generous this month.
Also, more fresh fruits and vegetables will be rolling to market during July than any time since last fall. They include limes, lemons, watermelons, cantaloups, tomatoes, green beans, cabbage, lettuce, beets and sweet corn.
Canned grapefruit segments, once considered mostly a specialty item but now in broad distribution, comes in for some special promotion by the citrus industry and well as rice, lard, vegetable fat, USA because supplies are so large.
Canned and frozen lemon and lime juice, small size dried prunes and pinto beans are in good supply.
Beef, frozen halibut, broilers and fryers are the only meats on the July plentiful foods list.

DUNKLE DUNKS

There's nothing like a shower to cool you off on a hot day — even if it happens to be a public fountain. So Judith Dunkle, of Arlington, Va., beats the heat in Washington, D. C., courtesy of the "Dancing Waters" of the Carter Barron Amphitheater.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

What do we mean when we say that in the United States we have a "government of law" and not a "government of men"? Basically we mean that we have certain individual rights, guaranteed by our federal and state constitutions and laws, which may not be denied by any governing body.

The early American colonists had their fill of government by men, and the Declaration of Independence, signed 179 years ago, set out their complaints against that type of government and revealed their belief in a principle which we now accept as basic to our American way of life.

The indictments set out in the document against King George II of Great Britain charged him with numerous violations of that principle. Among the complaints enumerated are the following:

"He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people."

"He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent for laws for establishing judicial powers."

"He has made judges dependent upon his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries."

"He has refused his assent to laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good."

"He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation: . . . For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury; for transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offences; . . . For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our governments; . . . For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever."

Our forefathers who subscribed to the principles of the Declaration of Independence were willing to fight for their beliefs. The Revolutionary War followed, dragging through weary years of suffering and suspense. Each of us takes pride in their eventual triumph over gigantic obstacles.

In 1787, when the framers of our Constitution met at Independence Hall in Philadelphia, where the Declaration of Independence had been signed 11 years previously, they set to work to create a sys-

Lattimore Surprised And Happy

STOCKHOLM, Sweden —UP— Owen Lattimore said Wednesday he was "very surprised and very happy" that the U.S. government had dropped its three-year-old perjury case against him.

"I did not expect the decision so soon," he said when told of the decision by United Press. "But on the other hand, I think that they should have made a decision a very long time ago."

Lattimore is vacationing in Sweden after a lecture tour in Britain.

Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. announced Tuesday in Washington that the government was dropping its charges that Lattimore lied when he told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee in 1952 that he was not a follower or promoter of Communist interests.

The first charge of perjury, along with three minor counts, was dismissed by the U.S. district court in May of 1953. The U.S. Court of Appeals reinstated one minor count but upheld the dismissal of the key count.

The government reinstated Lattimore in October of 1954 but last January, U.S. District Judge Luther W. Youngdahl threw out the two new key charges, labelling them "formless and obscure."

Arlington Plant Planned

ARLINGTON —UP— The American Can Co. has announced in New York that its new factory at Abraham and Watson roads in Arlington would be built starting early in August. The new factory will employ about 170 persons and have an annual rated capacity for 300 million fruit, vegetable, meat and shortening cans.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident: That all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

"That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; . . ."

Some 5 years later, the first ten amendments to our Constitution were adopted at one time, specifically detailing various basic civil rights stemming from the underlying theory of the Declaration of Independence.

Our courts day by day guard these rights for us.

Johnny Carson Unhappy With 'New George Gobel' Label

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD — UP — A bright, young comedian that Hollywood calls "a new George Gobel" will be unveiled on his own television show Thursday night, but Johnny Carson already is ppy about that label.
"Because Gobel and I are both young and low pressure types, people compare us, but in style and delivery there's no comparison," Carson insisted.
"It really isn't fair."
Carson's humor that viewers will see on CBS-TV (8 p.m. est) is best described as brash and clean-cut, according to a preview of the show.
Lisa Gobel, Carson is a midwesterner with a wife and three children who goes in for relaxed, offbeat humor. Carson's show also has a girl singer and a family skit which he casually walks into, as Gobel has done on many a Saturday night.
Carson, however, does not behave like the Gobelish homespun "little" man.

"One columnist wrote that 'Johnny Carson will be next year's George Gobel.' I wrote back that 'George Gobel will be next year's George Gobel,'" grinned Carson.
The slender, pug-nosed comedian has his chance to become a big TV star because Red Skelton hurt his back a year ago. Carson had an informal show on the local CBS station (KNXT) and network big-wigs hustled him over on a few hours' notice to replace the ailing Skelton.
Johnny dreamed up his act while driving to the studio. After the successful show, the network signed him.
"Ever since I've been working on the format for my own show, it's loose and flexible," the new comic explained. "I'm also helping write the show."
Carson thinks he may be the only

Oil, Gas Activity Booms In Ochiltree

PERRYTON — Oil and Gas activity in the Ochiltree County area has increased to such an extent that it is now looked upon as a possible successor to farming as the major industry in that part of the state.

Perryton, the county seat, is the hub of activities and is fast becoming a junior sized "boomtown". The people around Perryton are looking forward to a profitable future as new families are pouring in every day.

At a recent Newcomer's Party, 32 families registered and most of them were connected with oil and gas activity in some way.

Perryton now has fourteen different drilling companies in operation in the area with over 20 rigs running. More companies are expected every day.

The following drilling companies are now in operation in the Perryton area: Luke Grace, Keating, Wakefield, Baker-Taylor, Moran Bros., Warren and Bradshaw, Service, Failing, Finley, Steinberger, Young, Geo. O. Shettle, Lofland, and Yuca.

At least four seismograph crews are in service in the area. They include Shell, Magnolia, Humble and Seismograph Service Co.

The Johnston Tester Company and the Joe Foster Testing Company are running gas tests in the area and there is production of some kind in every direction out of Perryton. Several well sites are currently being explored.

The Texas Co. No. 1 Barlow, located seven miles southeast of Perryton was tested from 6865 to 6895 and in one hour the test recovered 466 feet of high content oil and gas cut mud. The test was made in the Osage limestone formation.

Perryton, as it is now shaping up, is the center of drilling activity with Texas and Beaver counties in Oklahoma making a show as are Hansford county to the west, and Hemphill to the south. There is also isolated activity in Ochiltree county to the east and southeast of Perryton.

With the added influx of people associated with the oil and gas industries, Perryton and the surrounding area is expected to profit a great deal with the promise of growth and development more prominent than ever before.

Injunction Against Oil Firm Sought

FORT WORTH — UP — The U. S. Securities and Exchange Commission will seek a preliminary injunction next month against a Texas oil firm that claims to have discovered vast untapped Utah oil pools.

The firm is Jess Hickey Oil Corp. of Fort Worth, now under a temporary restraining order barring it from using the mails to sell oil leases and stock.

Hearing on the injunction will be July 21 before U.S. Judge T. Whitfield Davidson in Fort Worth, said C. W. Aston SEC regional attorney.

He said in a petition filed with the court that securities offered for sale in the "Great Salt Lake Basin" had not been registered by Jess Hickey and Loui M. White, officials of the Jess Hickey Oil Corp.

The firm's claim that it found one of the world's greatest untapped oil pools in Davis, Salt Lake and Toole counties of Utah are unfounded, the SEC contends.

comedian who's strictly a product of TV.

He began his career, fresh from the university of Nebraska, on an Omaha TV station. The Norfolk, Neb., boy also did magic tricks at conventions and fairs.

"I've got two strikes against me," he grinned. "I went to college and didn't have to sell newspapers in the bowery or stand in line to see George M. Cohan. I've led a normal existence."

During our interview, at the Brown Derby, the 29-year-old Carson beamed while well-wishers gave him "good luck" greetings for his debut Thursday night. It was one of those moments in show business before either a star is born or a hopeful defeated.

"I'll know a half hour after the program, from the reaction, if I went over," he said.

Then he added, "in fact, I'll know when I walk off the stage."

Bridge Bill Given OK

WASHINGTON — UP — The House Public Works committee Wednesday approved a bill by Rep. Carl Albert (D-Okla.) to authorize federal construction of a bridge across the Red River, between Texas and Oklahoma, at the so-called Willis site.

Texas and Oklahoma would be required to contribute $606,000 each, the sum each state was given some years ago by the federal government when it was thought the $1.2 million total would cover the cost of the bridge. The bridge was not built then because of war shortages. Now the cost is estimated at about $6 million.

The bridge would replace one inundated when the government dammed the Red River to make Lake Texoma. A bill similar to Albert's already has been passed by the Senate.

MAKING A GO OF LIFE

By ROY L. SMITH
Read Acts 17:16-23

We draw upon outside powers. Doctors in the operating wards confronted by unexpected complications after the incision has been made, with no more than seconds in which to make up their minds as to how to proceed, have cried out of the depths of their spirits for help and have testified afterward that "a sense of strength came over me and I went forward without a doubt." Singers caught up by their own songs have sung like new creatures to the amazement of their audiences and to their own astonishment. Afterwards they have been quite unable to explain their experience.

Harry Lauder, the Scotch comedian of a generation ago, was giving a concert in Chicago one night when something of this sort happened. He was singing a tender little song, full of delicate pathos when suddenly something took possession of him and he swung out into a mood of abandon which left his audience gasping.

As he came out to take his fifth Carl M. Lang, De Anne Shirley, and Helene Huff. They are working from a model, Sharon Fletcher.

how in acknowledgment of the applause he paused for just a second and then raised his finger for silence. When the great theater was still at last, he said very quietly and with a tone of profound reverence in his voice: "Dinna thank me! Thank the good God that put the song in me heart."

The experience is not limited to doctors, artists, singers and orators. Mothers have gone through it when their little ones were sick unto death. Fathers have felt themselves supported by unseen powers as they have toiled to provide for their little ones. Soldiers on the battlefield and pilots making dangerous landings testify to it. It is common for men to feel themselves drawing upon some unseen power.

There is sufficient power with thee, O God, to meet every difficulty with which I am to be confronted. Thy will and mind, working together, can know no equal. I will not fear, because I know thy powers are promised me when I am right. I propose to be right, Amen.

Have you had the experience of feeling that you had been carried through some bitter experience by powers outside yourself? Whatever the experience may have been, try to think of that extra strength as having come to you from God.

Officers of the Business and Professional Women's Club were installed following a banquet Tuesday evening in the City Club Room. "We must work together to promote the aims of our organization," stated Mrs. Margaret Ventress of Amarillo, installing officer, during the ceremony. Mrs. Ventress opened the service by asking the retiring officers to stand. "Working as a group we can accomplish many things . . . in the conviction that the problems of all women throughout the world are one," she told them. After giving the charge to each officer, she asked the club members to stand and spoke to them. "They (the officers) are only your spokesmen," she advised. "May they in thought, word, and deed advance the welfare of this club."

HD Council Plans Summer Activities

The Gray County Home Demonstration Council met recently in the office of Miss Helen Dunlap, county HD agent, to make plans for the summer. Committee reports were made, and Miss Dunlap read the Texas HD Association report in the absence of Mrs. R. E. Engle, Mrs. Walter Noel, president, suggested the clubs be allowed to use the Council camera, stating each club is expected to take as many as 20 pictures each year. The women planning to take the bus from Amarillo to the state convention, to be held in Fort Worth Aug. 2-5, were told to contact Mrs. Engle. They were also told that a remittance for the fare, $10.75, should be sent to Mrs. Helton McGehee, Wayside, Texas, by July 23. Miss Dunlap announced her plans to attend the national convention, to be held in the fall in Chicago, Ill. She told the women that anyone else planning to attend should notify Mrs. John Goightly, Hico, the state president. She added a song writing contest is to be held at the convention. The entries must be inspirational, original, appealing to HD women, have a good melody and be easy to play on the piano, she explained. The possibility of holding an achievement day, in the form of an educational exhibit, was discussed. Miss Dunlap will meet with exhibit chairman of the clubs this week to discuss the matter.

BABY

Has anyone tried it? One mother swears she's going to attach big woolly mops to her Baby's knees so that all the dirt the little crawler collects can be disposed of by the cleaning closet route rather than the laundry. Might polish the floor, too.

Comforting a really unhappy Baby is part of mothering him. But if he's learning to walk and falls down a lot, don't make a big fuss over it each time. "Whoops" or "boom, boom" will do the trick and not get him used to lots of attention in minor crises.

You may feel you have a precocious Baby, when, at a year or so, he keeps his diaper dry for a while and then wets it when you come to change him.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Walter started acting up right after lunch. His mother came downstairs from putting the baby to sleep to find him engaged in an exciting game. It consisted of running round and round the dining-room table and shouting something that sounded like, "I'm a Woggle-Goggle-Moggle, look out, look out!"

He wouldn't stop. Asked to put on his outdoor clothes, he just ran faster and shouted louder. Finally his mother slapped him, pushed him upstairs and shut him in his room.

He avenged himself on her for this treatment. Later, entering the bathroom, she discovered that he'd torn open her new, birthday box of bath powder and spilled its contents over the mat.

Instantly, into her mind came this thought: "What would Mother do in this situation?"

The thought brought mounting panic. For Walter's mother didn't know how her mother would treat a child's retaliatory action. As a little girl, she had never gone in for it—As a punished little daughter, Walter's mother would never have dared to take such action.

Indeed, she wouldn't have even dared to know that she wanted to take it. Thus, her mother had not been able to give her a demonstration of the proper adult reaction to a child's vengeful action.

So, Walter's action appeared strange and monstrous to her. Helplessly, his mother thought, "Oh, what am I to do with this Terrible Child?"

That is what happens to us when we have chosen to lean on other people's guidance instead of on knowledge of ourselves.

So, I have to say to Walter's mother that he only appears as a terrible child to her because she's got an investment in forgetting what a terrible child she was. She shrinks from realizing how often she wanted to attack her mother because she still depends on mother.

This is always the problem of the dependent person, regardless his age. Our vengeful feelings toward some supporting authority must remain hidden lest the authority suspect our disloyalty—and withdraw his support. Under such circumstances, the self-knowledge essential to parenthood is impossible.

Today, everyone writes about the "whole" child. I'm writing about "whole" parents—people brave enough to recover those lost segments of childhood experience that were gouged from our memories by fear of Mother's disapproval. When we've got our own wholeness back, we can help Walter find his. We can infuse our demand that he clean up the bathroom with the mercy we know we need ourselves as a punished child.

A big explosion of applause can be expected from guests at sight of your Fourth of July picnic table. Drum-cake centerpiece and rocketful of cole slaw and relish strips are easy to make from inexpensive material. At right, demonstrator shows how shooting stars for rocket tops are made.

Homemade Table Decorations Will Start Fourth Of July Picnic Off With Bang.

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

Set up a brilliant display of star-spangled "fireworks" on the picnic table to keynote the glorious Fourth. A gala red, white and blue setting can dress up the spintery old table in the park as brightly as it does the new table in the back yard.

Our Fourth of July picnics usually are so well attended on a "share the work" basis that we stake out an early claim on space in the park. This year, a talented young friend of mine and I worked out an inexpensive but festive setting.

Red shelf paper, white plastic tape, blue sashen ribbon and gold stars are the materials needed. Place mats cut from red shelf paper (16x11 inches), take one strip of white tape on one side ornamented with four or five gold stars. If the wind is blowing, tape the mat to the table with cellulose tape.

For the centerpiece, a cake camouflaged as a drum is flanked by plastic cylinders tricked out to look like rockets. Lift off the rocket tops and you're ready to pass carrot strips, celery, cole slaw or whatever you choose to put in the cylinders. Red crockery or plastic bowls striped in white tape carry the theme.

To make the drum casing for the cake, double a piece of red shelf paper, cut wide enough to fit the height of the cake and long enough to tape around it. Stick white tape strips diagonally along the paper and tape bottom and top edges for the drum-effect. A blue or gold star is stuck at each point. You can make a jaunty rocket for the top of the cake from a cylinder of shelf paper, taped or pasted together and topped with a cone made from a circle of the same paper.

Plastic cylinders become rockets when they're rolled up in red paper which is taped to hold it in place. Straight strips of white plastic tape march around the cylinder to give the striped effect.

To make the top, cut a circle about an inch larger than the base of the cylinder. Heavy red paper or cardboard will do. Slash circle to the middle and overlap to form a cone.

A blue shower of stars sprouts from the top of the cone. Showers are simply made by cutting four strips of blue sashen ribbon about five inches long. Cut these strips down the middle to within an inch of one end. Tape strips together and stick a gold star on each fringed end. Poke the taped base of the fringe through a hole in the top of the cone.

Party Is Presented For Louise Lawler

Miss Lawler, a ballerina, is visiting Mrs. Lewis. During the party, the group discussed dancing.

Refreshments of chicken sandwiches, icebox cookies, fruit dip and punch were served. The serving table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of roses.

Attending were Mrs. Joe Gordon and Sarah, Mrs. E. W. Hogan and Carmelita, Mrs. Harold Baer and Judith, Mrs. Laura Bell Cornelius and Lynn, Glenda Finkeltien and Grazia Lewis.

Unripe Squash Is Summer Specialty

Did you know that we still follow the example of the Indian and eat summer squash while it is tender and unripe?

In fact, that's how squash got its name. The Indians dubbed it "askutasquash" meaning "green raw-unripe," which was the way they ate it.

Of course, by eating squash raw, the Indians received more food values from it than we do, for some of the nutrients are lost in cooking.

However, even when cooked, the bright yellow crookneck squash are still rich in vitamins, especially vitamin A.

You'll find plenty of these colorful cucurbits at most markets, for supplies are increasing, reports the Agricultural Marketing Service.

Squash is about as popular with today's busy homemaker as it was with the Indians, because few vegetables are so easy to prepare. All you have to do is wash and slice them. There is no waste. You buy nothing but food when you buy squash.

Cook squash carefully or you'll destroy its delicate flavor. For a simple dish, use just enough water

Juanita Harper Circle Has Meet

The Juanita Harper Circle of the Hobart Street Baptist Church met recently in the home of Mrs. Joe Murphree, with Mrs. Lee Pate in charge.

Opening prayer was led by Mrs. Ernest Winborne. Following the lesson, Mrs. Pate led a Bible quiz. Closing prayer was given by Mrs. Preston Wallace.

During the social period, refreshments were served. Next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Madge Keyser.

Attending were Meses. Gene Quarrels, C. A. Winborne, Claud Brock, H. H. Keyser, W. O. Coll, Madge Keyser, J. B. Rose, Lee Pate, Ernest Winborne, Joe Murphree and Preston Wallace. Mrs. R. E. Eskins of Stephenville was a visitor.

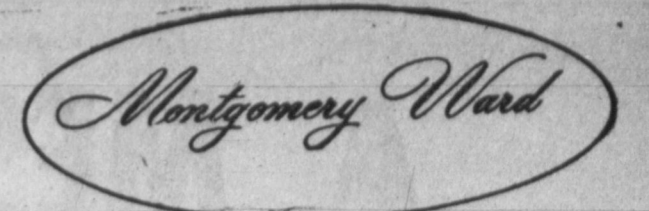

To cover the squash, simmer until tender. Never boil. Season with butter, salt and pepper.

For a squash casserole, merely add grated sharp cheese and bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven just long enough to melt the cheese and brown the crumbs.

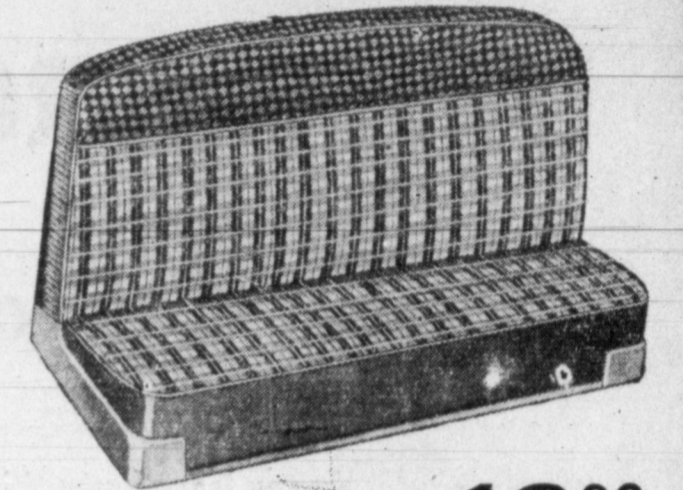

Students at Bowdoin College between 1820-1830 included Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, Nathaniel Hawthorne, and Franklin Pierce.

The ancient Mayas had a five-day "month" at the end of each year, and 18 other months, each of 20 days' duration.

Jane Talk

DON'T KNOW ABOUT YOU, but I just love salads during the summer. They're filling, not fattening (generally speaking) and they don't require cooking, a chore I don't relish during hot weather. As a result, I collect all the salad recipes I can find. I was talking with Dean Radtke last week and here is one she gave me. It's refreshing for summer and is nice during the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays, too.

CRANBERRY SALAD

- 2 packages lemon jello
 - 2 cups hot water
 - 3 can cranberries (whole)
 - 1 cup nuts, chopped
 - 1 can crushed pineapple
 - 1 cup celery
- Pour hot water over jello. Add cranberries and mash thoroughly. Add nuts, celery and pineapple. Let stand until solid. Sounds real good to me!

HERE'S AN IDEA that carries the holiday spirit and the patriotic flavor of the Fourth of July right into the refreshments you plan for the day.

It's a cake decorated with Old Glory—easy to do, because the cake itself can be made from your own favorite recipe or cake mix. To add a pioneering touch appropriate to the day, you can also serve, along with the cake, an ice cream float made with new instant chocolate drink that's not only rich in flavor but also has all the protein, calcium, B-vitamins and minerals of whole milk. It's easy to make, too, because it comes in the form of "magic crystals" that dissolve instantly, even in ice water. As an added time-saver, the free-flowing crystals introduced by Carnation Company during the past year, and made by the same "magic crystals are packaged in a pour-spoon box.

The new product is a companion of instant nonfat dry milk crystals process, which has recently won the coveted Food Engineering Award as the outstanding development in food science during the past two years.

Whether you use the chocolate or non-chocolate instant, it will be a delicious companion for that patriotic cake.

As for the frosting on the cake—you simply mix a batch of butter-type icing. Put aside two portions, one to be mixed with red and the other with blue food coloring. The cake is first covered with the white frosting, and the red stripes and blue field are overlaid, using a pastry press or spatula to apply the icing. The stars are cut out from the basic white frosting with a cake decorator.

The bottom of a hole bored into the earth gets one degree hotter, on the average, for each 60 feet of depth.

LITTLE LEAGUERS

Cabot, Spokesman 9s Continue Unbeaten In LL Play; Bankers Win Pony Loop Tilt

Cabot and the Spokesman, first half winners in Pampa's two Little League games, continued unbeaten in the second half races yesterday. Cabot defeated Tom Rose, 11-5, in the Eastern Little League for its third win in as many starts in the second half, while Spokesman blanked previously unbeaten C. M. Jeffries Trucking, 5-0, in the Western LL.

It gave Spokesman a 2-0 record in second half play and it was the first defeat in three starts for Jeffries in the second half.

Over in the Pony League yesterday, First National Bank scored a 5-4 victory over Kist to stay in the running for the second-half title.

Larry Wilson hurled the shutout for Spokesman in yesterday's win over Jeffries. Wilson gave up only three hits, two of them by David Ley.

Ernest Mathis, who went the distance for Jeffries to absorb the loss, doubled for the only other Jeffries hit off Wilson. Wilson struck out 11.

Mathis pitched a six-hitter. Spokesman scored three times in the first inning and were in command rest of the way.

George Duke homered for the Spokesman in the third. Three of the other five Spokesman hits were for extra bases. Gregory, Mathis and Hazel pounded doubles for Spokesman.

Randall Cross hit two home runs to lead Cabot over Tom Rose in the Eastern LL tilt. Cross' first roundtripper came in the first inning with one aboard to give the winners the lead they never relinquished.

Dennis Duncan went the route for Cabot and hurled a five-hitter. Bobby Gindorf pitched First National to its win over Kist. The bottlers rallied for three runs in the seventh but Gindorf choked off their rally one-run shy of catching up.

Raymond Duke pounded a two-run homer for First National. First National broke a 1-1 tie in the fifth with two runs and then moved ahead 5-1 in the sixth with another brace of runs. Kist then put on its belated rally that fell shy.

John Campbell went the distance for Kist.

Musial Passes Another Milestone

ST. LOUIS —UP— Stan (The Man) Musial, who already has passed two major milestones in his career this season, had another within his immediate range Thursday — 10th place in the all-time major league home run standings.

The Cardinals slugger came through Wednesday night with his 2,500th major league hit, a home run which was his second hit of the game in a 9-5 victory over Cincinnati. He became the 28th player in the modern era of baseball to pass that total.

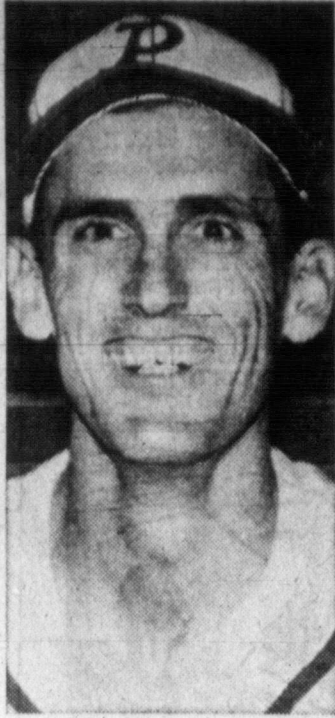

Last June 12 against the Giants, Musial hit his 10th home run to give him a total of 302 for his career, putting him into a tie with Rogers Hornsby in the lifetime rankings.

Stanley, who now has 15 homers for the season and 307 for his career, will pass Al Simmons, the No. 10 man in the all-time home run derby, with his next route clout.

Wisconsin Loses Tackle MADISON, Wis. —UP— Coach Ivy Williamson said Thursday University of Wisconsin Captain Wells Gray will be shifted from guard to tackle this year to replace Martin Bocher, who dropped out of school Wednesday because of low grades.

Junior College Names Coach HOUSTON —UP— South Texas Junior College named Richard Dickinson Tuesday as its first full-time basketball coach. He coached at Pocahontas, Va., high school for the past three seasons and is a graduate of Concord College in West Virginia.

Phillips Annexes City Softball Crown

Phillips defeated Bell Telephone 4-3 last night at Phillips Park to win the City Industrial Softball League crown.

Phillips, managed by Bill Clay finished the league season with an undefeated record.

James Shew went all the way for Phillips in last night's game to gain credit for the win. Shew gave up only two hits.

Last night's game was a nip-and-tuck affair throughout. Phillips jumped ahead 2-0 in the first inning but Bell Telephone rallied to knot the count with a pair of runs in the third.

Phillips then pushed across the tie-breaking run in the third and secured their fourth and what proved to be the winning run in the fourth.

Dial To Face Hubs In 'Rubber Game'

By BUCK FRANCIS Pampa News Sports Editor

Getting maximum mileage out of nine hits, the Oilers squared the series with the pesky Lubbock Hubbers last night at Oiler Park, the Seitzmen winning 13-2 behind Tom Pollet.

The "rubber game" of the series will come off tonight with Red Dial slated for starting duty for the Oilers. Dial will carry a 9-7 record into the game.

Opposing Dial tonight is expected to be Fred Uhlman who is sporting a 4-5 record.

Dial will be seeking his first win off the Hubs. The veteran right-hander has faced the Lubbock crew twice and was defeated in both games, 5-1 and 6-5.

Tonight will mark the second time Dial has faced Uhlman. The Lubbock moundsman got the best of the first argument, he going the route in the 5-1 Hub victory here May 24.

Game time tonight will be 8:15. It will be "Jay's Grocery Night" at Oiler Park.

In last night's middle game of the series, the Oilers combined nine hits with 12 bases on ball and one hit batsman for their decisive victory.

Pollet, meanwhile, was spacing seven hits over the route to gain his 10th win of the season. Pollet struck out two and walked two. One of the free tickets he issued was an intentional walk.

A homerun barrage helped Pollet coast to victory. The big blow was Jim Martin's grand slammer in the fifth that climaxed five-run lead from 5-1 to 9-1.

It was Martin's fifth homer of the season and his third grand slammer.

Other hitting homers for the Oilers were Joe Fortin, Paul Halter and Dick Hairston.

Fortin's wallop, his 21st of the season, put the Oilers ahead to stay in the first inning. Lubbock had scored one of their two runs in top of the first with the Oilers coming back in the bottom of the fifth frame to take the lead on Fortin's homer with one on.

Rach Slider, who had walked, was on base when Fortin delivered his circuit smash, a line drive that carried over the centerfield wall.

The Oilers picked up another pair in the second to go ahead 4-1 and then led the game in the fourth of Martin's grand slam homer.

All of the fourth inning scoring came after the first two were out.

Curtis Hardaway walked to start the fourth inning Oiler rally. Halter singled Hardaway to third and Fortin walked to load the bases.

Dick Hairston walked to force in Hardaway and finished the Hub starter and loser, John Dickson's successor, Ron Peterson, with his homerun over left center.

It was smooth sailing for the Oilers after that.

Halter and Hairston got their homers, both solo wallops, in the eighth. It was the 14th roundtripper for Halter and 10th for Hairston.

The Oilers pulled three double-plays during the night, the first two coming in the first and second innings to choke off potential Hub rallies when the game was still close.

Say Hey Kids Comes Alive, Leads Giants Past Bums

Drives In All Giant Runs In 6-1 Win

Say hey! Shine up that halo. Dust off the superman cloak. Get that door ajar in the Hall of Fame and put those Davy Crockett stories back with the comica. Willie Mays is on a rampage again.

The say hey kid, baseball's All-America boy of 1954, broke loose Wednesday night in a way to give Giant fans a forlorn hope that they still may have a chance in the pennant chase. He hit two homers, including the first grand slam job of his career, and drove in all six runs in 6-1 victory over the Dodgers in Brooklyn.

Sharing honors with Willie was Ruben Gomez, his opponent in that Puerto Rican winter baseball slugging match of last winter. Wednesday night they collaborated in pummeling the Dodgers. Gomez gave up three hits and missed a shutout only when he lost his control and walked three men in the ninth after which Frank Keller drove in the lone Brooklyn run with a sacrifice fly.

Yankees Extend Lead

The Yankees fattened their American League lead to five games and assured themselves of being in first place on July 4, the traditional pennant-measuring date, by beating the punchless Orioles 9-2 and 7-3, while the Tigers stopped second place Chicago 8-2 and Kansas City retarded third place Cleveland with a 12-4 chastising. Boston made it five in a row with a 7-5 victory at Washington.

In other National League games, Milwaukee closed in on second place Chicago with a 14-1 victory. St. Louis defeated Cincinnati 9-5 as Stan (The Man) Musial blasted a homer for his 2,500th major league hit, and the Phils topped Pittsburgh 6-3.

The Yankees who now have defeated Baltimore 11 times in 12 games this year, gained their opening victory on Bob Turley's 11-strikeout performance. It was his 10th victory. Reliever Tom Morgan scored his fifth triumph without a loss in the nightcap over the fledgling Orioles whose top hitter, Dave Pospel, is batting .272.

Goodman, Groth Give Power

Billy Goodman delivered a triple, double and homer and Johnny Groth drove in three runs with a homer and triple in Boston's triumph, No. 6, for Ike Delock.

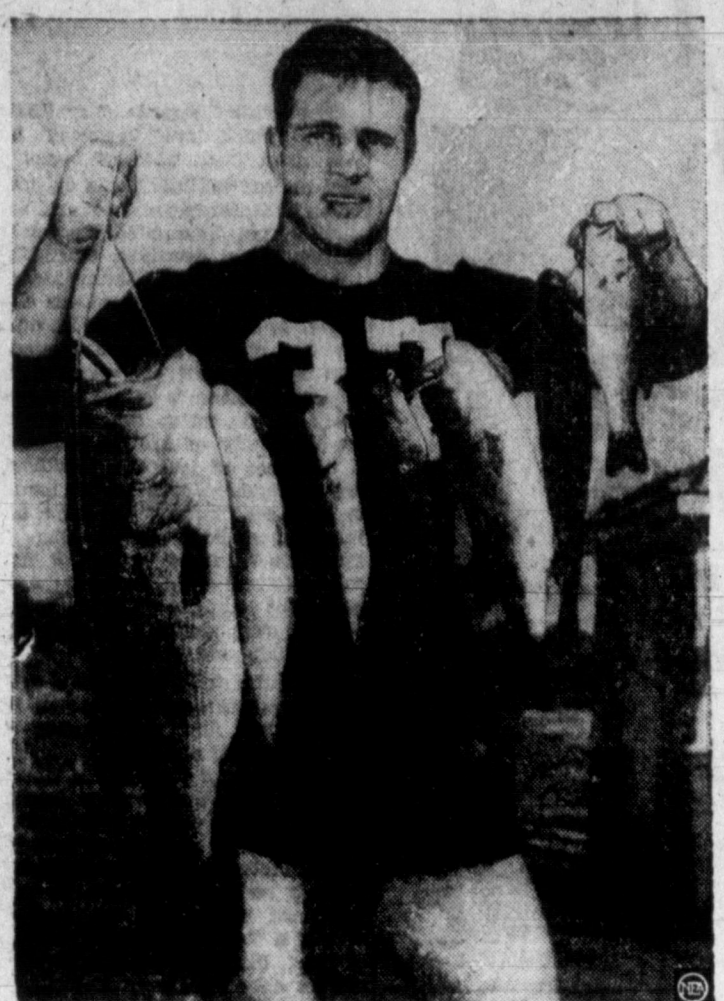

Kansas City had three big batsmen. Gus Jernial with his 17th homer and triple, Harry Simpson with a two-run homer and run-scoring single and Jim Flinagan with a bases-loaded triple.

Musial's homer tied the score at 2-2, accounting for two runs in the sixth and the Cardinals put over five more in the eighth, one on a homer by Wally Moon and three on a two-out single by rookie Nelson Brubank with all runners moving.

The Phils took a 5-0 lead with a rally in the second as Roy Smalley hit a bases-loaded triple and that was enough for Ron Negray to stick it out for a five-hit triumph.

Wednesday's Star

Willie Mays of the Giants who drove in all the runs with two homers and a single in a 6-1 triumph over the Dodgers.

'Spitball' Was Roe's Main Weapon

NEW YORK —UP— Preacher Roe said Thursday that during his brilliant pitching career with the Brooklyn Dodgers from 1948 to 1954 the illegal spitball was the "money pitch" which kept him in the major leagues.

Roe, in the current edition of Sports Illustrated magazine, said he decided to use the spitball in 1947 after the Dodgers acquired him from the Pittsburgh Pirates. Roe, a one-time fireballer in the St. Louis Cardinals' chain, had a 4-15 record with the Pirates that year.

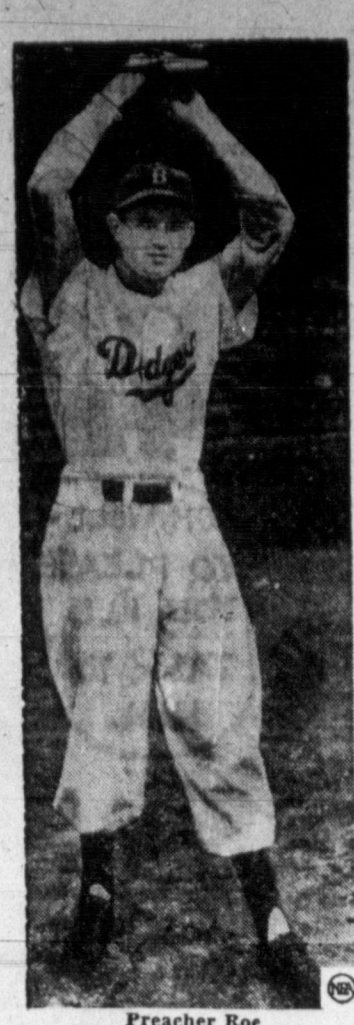

"Why shouldn't I have decided to use the spitball?" Roe asked rhetorically in the article. "I was about through when I decided to get me the pitch. If I get caught, I told myself, 'they'll kick me out of baseball. If I don't, I'm through anyway, so how can I lose?'"

Roe, who retired after the 1954 campaign in which he had a 3-4 mark, said in the magazine story he had no regrets and stated, "I wasn't the only one that did it—there still are some guys wetting 'em up right now... I know one or two of 'em but it's not up to me to tell their names."

Roe compiled a 12-8 record in 1948, his first year with the Dodgers and then reeled off successive season marks as follows: 15-6 in 1949, 19-11 in 1950, 22-3 in 1951, 11-2 in 1952 and 11-3 in 1953. His combined record of 44-8 for the 1951-53 seasons is one of the most remarkable percentages in the history of baseball.

Roe also said in the story that shortstop Peeewe Reese and third baseman Billy Cox of the Dodgers often collaborated with him in getting the saliva onto the ball.

The spitball was declared illegal in 1920, the year the lively ball made its appearance in the game, but Commissioner Ford Frick recently said he was in favor of making it legal again.

Budge Defeats Patty In Straight Sets

By ROBERT C. DOWSON

WIMBLEDON, England —UP— Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas, the United States' brilliant doubles team which regained the Davis Cup from Australia last winter, clashed Thursday with the No. 2 Aussie team in the semifinial round of men's doubles in the Wimbledon tennis championships.

Matched against the Yank stars were Aussies Ken Rosewall and Neale Fraser.

Later in the day's program was the all-American semifinial round in women's doubles, with top-seeded Doris Hart of Miami, Fla., opposing third-seeded Mrs. Beverly Baker Fletz of Long Beach, Calif., and second-seeded Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., faced Montebello, Calif.

Rosewall, disappointed at his surprise elimination in men's singles Wednesday by Kurt Nielsen of Denmark, undoubtedly would cherish a win over Trabert and Seixas as revenge.

Seixas, of Philadelphia, has been nursing a sore shoulder but showed little signs of any ailment as the two Yanks won their quarterfinal match Tuesday. In fact, he carried most of the load so that Trabert, of Cincinnati, could conserve his energy for singles.

That may have helped yesterday as Trabert easily defeated Budge Patty of Los Angeles, 6-6, 6-2, 6-2 in an all-American semifinial.

Nielsen, reaching the final round as an unseeded player for the second time, stunned a crowd of 17,000 with his 11-9, 6-2, 2-6, 6-4 conquest of second-seeded Rosewall. He will meet Trabert in the finals Friday, but Trabert has been established a 7-5 favorite. Nielsen and Trabert have met three times, with Trabert winning every set.

Miss Hart was rated a strong choice over Mrs. Fletz in their semifinial, although top-seeded Doris played unimpressively in the quarterfinal round. Miss Brough, three-time winner of this tournament, was an even stronger choice over Miss Hart, appearing here for the first time.

Smith Beats Carter For L'weight Title

By JOE PHELAN

BOSTON —UP— Wallace (Bud) Smith said Thursday he fought 15 fights to "win the world's lightweight championship."

"I fought every round like it was a different fight," the 26-year-old Cincinnati, Ohio, brawler said Thursday after winning a split decision Wednesday night from Jimmy Carter.

Smith gave the former champion perhaps his worst beating in lifting the crown fr. Carter who had lost it previously to two other fighters. The fight was nationally televised from hot and muggy Boston Garden.

Though it was Carter's 11th championship bout, it was Smith's first crack at the title.

"I knew I was going to win it and I wouldn't let him (Carter) change my plans," Smith said.

"I planned to fight every round like it was a different fight and I wouldn't let him do anything to stop me," he said.

Smith, a three to one underdog and a quarter of a pound lighter than Carter at 134, hammered Carter with vicious left hooks.

"I dunno how it feels yet," said Smith who was still groggy for a half-hour after the fight. "But I fell like the whole USA," he said later.

Smith suffered a split decision loss to Carter in 1950 and had chased the 31-year-old ex-champion ever since. His first defense of the newly won crown was expected to be against Wednesday night's loser within 90 days.

"Smith was a little better than I thought but I figured I still had the fight won," Carter said.

"I thought I had nailed it down in the last round," he said.

Explaining why he slowed down after taking a good portion of the middle rounds, Carter said, "The heat bothered me something awful."

Smith got the vote of referee Mel Manning and Judge Joe Heitz. Judge John Glynn voted 148 to 143 in favor of Carter.

LA Puts In Bid For Moore-Rocky Bout

NEW YORK —UP— Promoter Jim Norris had a brand new $1.25 million bid from Los Angeles to consider Thursday as he conferred here with the managers of Rocky Marciano and Archie Moore about a heavyweight title fight in September.

Norris, who flew in from Miami Wednesday night, had hoped to close Thursday for the match at Yankee Stadium, probably on Sept. 2, but last Wednesday night's offer of the biggest guarantee in ring history may prolong the negotiations until next week.

Other offers from Los Angeles, Chicago, New Orleans, Milwaukee and Houston already had been considered and apparently rejected.

Promoter Cal Eaton and matchmaker Babe McCo announced the $1.25 million offer in Los Angeles Wednesday night. Eaton, who hopes to place the fight in the Memorial Stadium at Los Angeles or in the neighboring Pasadena Rose Bowl, said he was ready "to put up any kind of bond they want to insure the guarantee."

Baker, Lockman Top All-Star Poll

CHICAGO —UP— Second baseman Gene Baker of the Chicago Cubs and left fielder Whitey Lockman of the New York Giants took over leading positions Thursday in the All-Star baseball poll which ends at midnight Friday.

With about four million votes already tabulated, a new voting record appeared in the making. The present record of 4,637,743 was established in 1949.

In the latest tabulations to pick the eight starters for the American and National Leagues in the All-Star game at Milwaukee July 12, Baker pulled ahead of Red Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals by 7,682. Lockman took first place in the left field balloting Friday, but Trabert has been established a 7-5 favorite. Nielsen and Trabert have met three times, with Trabert winning every set.

Miss Hart was rated a strong choice over Mrs. Fletz in their semifinial, although top-seeded Doris played unimpressively in the quarterfinal round. Miss Brough, three-time winner of this tournament, was an even stronger choice over Miss Hart, appearing here for the first time.

Campy May Have To Undergo Surgery

BROOKLYN —UP— A decision on whether slugger star Roy Campanella of the Brooklyn Dodgers will have to undergo surgery of his ailing left knee was expected to be forthcoming from a special examination of the knee Thursday.

Conflicting doctor's opinions Wednesday were that the Dodgers' ace catcher will be out of action from two weeks to a month.

Campanella, a worried man with the memory fresh in his mind of the 1953 season in which he was wrecked by a hand injury, wasn't offering any opinion on this ailment except "it hurts somethin' fierce so that I can't even bend over."

The injury, believed to have occurred when Campanella was struck by a foul tip in a recent game in St. Louis, has taken Roy and his heavy-hitting bat out of Brooklyn's league leading line-up.

Although resting on the "cushion" of a 12-1-2 game league lead, the Dodgers are making no secret of their anxiety about Campanella, their clean-up hitter.

Challenge

The General Motors Corporation has just announced a program of business aid to education which, to our view, is infinitely superior to the National Education Association's plea for federal aid.

Harlow H. Curtime, president of GM, has stated that this year his company will grant $4,500,000 as a contribution to education in this country. One hundred of the nation's most talented secondary school seniors will receive scholarships from GM which will, in some cases, provide these young people with a complete four-year college course.

One of the most interesting aspects of these new grants-in-aid from business to potential brains is found in the statement made by Curtime:

"We recognize, of course, that many of these scholarship winners will choose professions outside the scope of General Motors and other industries. Our interest in education lies in the contributions which these leaders of the future will make to the progress of the nation's many areas of activity." In short, GM is investing in the future of the country with little thought to an immediate return on its money.

This is precisely the kind of long-range thinking which would do honor to the world of free enterprise. It is, frankly, on this same generous and broad-minded base that the future of education — free education — in this country rests.

So long as the educational picture is dominated by politicians who wield the power to tax, and who demand and coerce, so long will this nation have shoddy results from its educational endeavors. Money earned by enterprise, freely given to enhance the scholarship of worthy students, is far more beneficial of long-range results, than money filched from the lean and ragged purses of widows and wage earners who can ill afford to pay for the education of others.

There is only one bleak vista in the otherwise rosy scene.

General Motors has listed the colleges which are to receive their largess. Although a number of the nation's finest institutions are listed, there are others in the tabulation which have been notable in recent years for their ineptness in presenting the viewpoint of Americanism. Some of the colleges have, indeed, done little but brainwash their students to standards acceptable to global Marxism.

However, we cannot judge General Motors too harshly on this account. Just where is the school or college that concentrates on the American point of view? Where is the truly libertarian institution to which General Motors might, indeed with a clear conscience send all its money? Alas, even the best in this category leave much to be desired. So with little in the way of choice, the selections of the big manufacturer are not to be wondered at too greatly.

We feel that much has been done to awaken Americans to the reality that their schools, both in the lower and higher grades, have been infiltrated with philosophies which propound the opposite of freedom and morality. But this is only one side of the story. Telling what is wrong is good.

But the educational dilemma in America will never be solved until private enterprise with its own money, and without the duress of government, builds and manages schools which will fill the vacuum.

We look forward to the day when a real choice of ideologies awaits the youth of America, as they prepare themselves for what can be a fine and honorable, and gainful future.

WILL CHRISTIAN MARTYRDOM RETURN?

(Christian Economics)

We believe the church in America stands firmly and will continue to stand against statism, tyranny and dictatorship. What many in the church do not seem to see is that gradually extending the power and functions of the state through more and more government intervention is slowly destroying freedom, curbing individual initiative and self-reliance, and paving the way for, in fact making inevitable, the coming of statism of which the church so generally disapproves.

Government already controls credit and banking. It very largely fixes prices of farm products through its purchase and storage of these commodities. Through its laws and its mediation it is the most important factor in fixing wages. It is now the biggest factor in the construction of housing. It is steadily extending and tightening its control over education. Through the so-called Social Security Program it will eventually become the most important factor in making provision for the retirement of the working population.

Unfortunately, the more government does in these various realms, the more it must do in order to make the controls already set up effective. Thus the area of government supervision, control and operation widens, while the area in which the individual functions, determines his own actions and makes his own arrangements, narrows.

without eventually arriving at statism. History is replete with examples of how this comes about. When the state controls begin to function badly, as they always do, coercion is considered necessary and is supported by public opinion. Those who object to the government program are considered saboteurs and must be suppressed. Then a crisis comes and in order to prevent a breakdown in the economic fabric of a nation, the supreme authority of the government must be asserted to compel the cooperation of all. For a time this may be benevolent.

If the crisis passes, the government officials may indeed relax the rigidity of emergency measures, but power begets power, and sooner or later an ambitious man or junta arrives who will not relax the controls and restore cherished freedom to the people.

When that time comes, the church may continue to oppose statism, but it will do it by martyrdom and through terrible suppression and persecution. Having joined with others in advocating the so-called "social gospel" by force, or what may be termed "welfare statism," or any form of using the power of government to coerce people into accepting systems and institutions which other people consider desirable, the church will find itself the victim of it. It will find the coils so tightened about it that effective resistance is impossible. An infinite number of tiny threads, each considered so innocent and so desirable at the time, have woven the unbreakable fabric of government power until statism, tyranny and dictatorship are the result.

The Conscripted Idea VII

Here is the last installment of an ethical and rational presentation of what conscription will do to our country. It was written by Dean Pursell and published by the Foundation for Economic Education.

Can the Russians and their conquered "allies" invade and successfully occupy the United States? Again categorically, they can't, now or at any conceivable time in the future. I have yet to hear a responsible person offer any evidence that they could.

Even if the Russians can't successfully invade us or start a revolution, this question still remains: Will they drop hydrogen bombs on our cities?

They might try it for either of two reasons: fear of our intentions or retaliation to our acts. If those two possibilities are ruled out, I can think of no reason at all why the Russians would attempt to bomb New York and other cities and slaughter millions of Americans merely for the fun of killing them.

It is true that the Russians' fear of our intentions—like our fear of their intentions—could be responsible for almost anything, including a surprise bombing raid. Fear is such a powerful and unreasonable emotion that it even causes many Americans to advocate a "preventive war" against Russia! It would hardly be surprising to discover that their opposite numbers in Russia are advocating a "preventive war" against the United States—and for exactly the same reasons.

Since the Russians can't occupy America any more than we Americans can occupy Russia, can you think of one reason why the Russians would drop bombs on American cities — or why we Americans would drop bombs on Russian cities — except hideous fear of the intentions of each toward the other? This fear could be eliminated by either side. For example our fear of the Russians would largely disappear if they pulled all their troops back into Russia proper and kept them there. Likewise, would not the Russians' fear of our intentions toward them evaporate if we pulled our troops and military commitments back into the Western Hemisphere and kept them here? If either were done, need there any longer be this horrible fear of hydrogen bombs wiping out millions of people in New York and Moscow? At any rate, this much seems certain: As long as we keep troops in countries on Russia's borders, the Russians can be expected to act somewhat as we would act if Russia were to station troops in Guatemala or Mexico — even if those countries wanted the Russians to come in!

True, if we pulled our troops and military commitments back into the Western Hemisphere, the Russians might attempt to occupy all of Germany or, more probably, to establish a German government of their own choice. Could anyone blame them for that any more than they could blame us for establishing in Japan a "friendly" government under a constitution of our own design?

The Russians might also desire to extend their sphere of influence over various other countries—just as the imperial predecessors did, and just as their successors under any political arrangement will probably continue to do. Every powerful nation in history — has attempted the same thing in one way or another. I can see no more logic in fighting Russia over Korea or Outer Mongolia, than in fighting England over Cyprus, or France over Morocco, or — well, take your pick of any one of hundreds of similar cases. The historical facts of imperialism and spheres of influence are not sufficient reasons to justify the destruction of freedom within the United States by turning ourselves into a permanent garrison state and stationing conscripts all over the world. We are rapidly becoming a caricature of the thing we profess to hate.

I have more faith in myself, and in my fellow Americans than do these politicians and humanitarians who desire to defend my freedom by depriving me of it. Obviously, it would be easy enough to hire good and patriotic men to devote their lives to the task of planning and maintaining defenses against any possibility of invasion from abroad. And I am convinced that the rest of us would be available for voluntary duty whenever an invasion occurred or seemed imminent.

A mania for compulsory equality has swept this nation. It now applies to how we shall die or face death, as well as to how we shall live, work, and be educated. It is as illogical in the one instance as in the other. This compulsory equality disease is undermining our heritage of freedom. This overwhelming majority of our founders and early patriots were opposed to compulsory military service, even under such desperate circumstances as Valley Forge; most of them rejected the conscription idea as a direct violation of the freedom for which they were fighting, and which they wanted to pass on to their posterity. They also warned us to stay out of foreign squabbles and to fear the persons who desire authority over other persons.

"Times have changed," of course. But the principles haven't. They never do. If we continue to ignore them, it is at our peril.

House Struggling With Pan-Am Subsidy Problem

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Behind closed doors, a House-Senate Conference Committee is struggling today with a problem which may cost or save American taxpayers many millions of dollars. It will decide whether Pan American World Airways shall continue to fatten on Federal subsidies, which have totaled more than $1 billion since World War II.

The White House and a House Appropriations Subcommittee, headed by Representative John J. Rooney of Brooklyn, cut the 1956 subsidy figure proposed by the Civil Aeronautics Board from $35,000,000 to $40,000,000. The reduction is not so important as the purpose behind it, which was to force Pan Am to adopt economies that would make it self-sustaining.

Pan Am gets the lion's share of taxpayers' money allotted to airlines subsidies. Its great overseas rival, Trans World Airlines, has just received a special citation from Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield, congratulating it for operating without subsidies. Most other lines, foreign and domestic, pay their own way.

In Senate debate on this question, Senator Paul H. Douglas, of Illinois developed these facts about Pan Am's finances and its relationship with the CAB, the Treasury and the General Accounting Office.

Pan Am receives between $8,000,000 and $9,000,000 a year from the Federal Treasury in order to pay its taxes to Uncle Sam. In some years, Pan Am has received more than it owed in taxes, but it has simply pocketed the "windfall." The Treasury has never tried to recover the excess payments.

Pan Am operates a chain of luxury hotels in Latin America, with fancy bars, golf courses and swimming pools, on which it loses between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 a year. According to Senator Douglas, this loss is financed by many taxpayers who cannot afford an air voyage to these luxurious hostels.

Most amazingly, as several Congressional investigations disclose, neither the CAB nor the Controller General have compiled with legal requirement that they audit Pan Am's finances and operations. Both agencies have failed to comply with a Supreme Court decision to that effect, a decision which revealed the jurists' annoyance over this untidy state of affairs.

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

An important question comes from a reader who asks if it is O.K. to take iodine tablets without consulting a physician. Before discussing the subject of iodine and its relative "iodides" further, I should like to answer the question by saying that I do not consider it advisable.

Iodine is one of the chemical elements. To most people, it is perhaps best known in the form of tincture of iodine which is an antiseptic in use for many years. An iodide, of which there are several kinds, is a compound of iodine joined to something else.

Tincture of iodine is not taken internally but some of the iodides are. Iodine or the iodides have certain definite medical uses, though there are still some serious gaps in our knowledge of their functions in the body.

Iodine preparations have long had a use in certain forms of toxic goiter, particularly in preparing persons with this disease for operation. In some cases of asthma and indeed in some other disorders of the human body, iodides appear to have a beneficial effect, though the reasons why they do so are sometimes rather obscure.

Another use for the iodides has been their addition to salt in the prevention of simple enlargement of the thyroid gland (simple goiter) in those areas where the drinking water does not contain enough iodides.

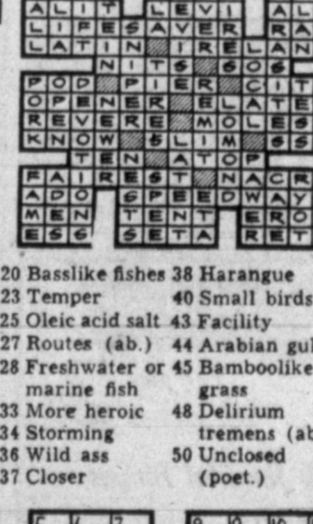

There is no doubt that this has had a remarkably fine effect on cutting down the number of people with goitrous enlargements. But iodine products taken internally may produce undesirable effects as well as desirable ones. Their continued use beyond a certain point (which varies from person to person) may result in irritation of the skin and mucous membranes.

This may be shown by the appearance of skin rashes, inflamed eyes, running of the nose, laryngitis, and other unpleasant symptoms. It can even result in pneumonia.

Fair Enough

Radical Political Fronts Discredit Awards Traffic

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The political awards of synthetic honor which are bestowed by American institutions of learning and radical political fronts disguised as philanthropic and cultural societies have discredited the whole traffic. It was overdue. When Notre Dame hangs its Laetare Medal on George Meany, it reduces the medal to dross and brings its own ideals an avalanche into serious question in the eyes of honest men who know Meany's record and the story of the union racket. When the University of Arizona presents a professor of journalism without an academic degree to his name to hand an "award" for valor on E. Palmer Hoyt, of the Denver Post, for a vulgar exploit, it not only discredits its honorary degrees but impugns diplomas earned by young students through serious study and sacrifice.

Such rubbish ill becomes a system of public education which is putting itself forth as custodian of our culture and our national ideals. The students of the schools which take part in this tawdry traffic have a right to challenge their faculties to justify all such awards in detail. Actually, an honorary degree is no degree at all. It has no more value than the commission of a Kentucky colonel, which, at least, has the quality of humor and is only mentioned sheepishly if at all by the recipient.

These schools are not the private political preserves of individuals momentarily in charge. They should be held above the sordidness of political spite and strife, but observation shows that almost invariably there is some political motive back of their honorary "degrees." Few of them are even remotely related to scholarship.

Jim Farley is a decent citizen who never went to college. He was a machine politician, too clever and successful for the good of a country which I am sure he loves. He never got an honorary "degree" until 1933, the year his man, Roosevelt, was inaugurated for the first of four terms which were, altogether, a tragedy to Farley's country and his fellow men. Jim collected 16 phony degrees between 1933 and 1950 when he lost status with the profession. He was out of politics now.

As I have already noted, Paul Hoffman, of the Truman squander-bund, later of the Ford Foundation and now of the Ford Fund for the Republic, accumulated 30 of these ersatz warrants although he had less than two years of college. He is a hustler and promoter with the gait of a carnival pitchman, but learning, in the dignified sense of the term, is not among his traits. So the schools which gave him degrees diluted their honor without enhancing his.

Tom Watson, another salesman and benefactor of the actuarial trade, has a fantastic roster of awards. He has 35 honorary degrees which, in total, do not signify that he can spell "cat" and a drawerful of javalieres, garters, rosettes and badges from the governments of more countries, even the nations, have vanished, but old Mr. Watson still calls the roll of his haubaus in Who's Who. It would be more impressive to be out the list in half, for, on the face of his known achievements, they cannot amount to much, in total.

Harry Truman had the early good sense to realize that these scrolls were worthless. He does not list a single one, though he doggedly insists on stating that he was chief judge of a county court, which means only that he was chairman of the county board, Senator Roosevelt, too, may realize the futility of such things, for she mentions not a one, though she does continue to collect them. However, she can't resist stating that by some miracle the trustees of the Franklin D. Roosevelt Brotherhood Award, whatever that may be, picked her as the first recipient. She is proud also of the Irving Geist Foundation award. Mr. Geist is a New York merchant who made a lot of money and created a foundation in his own honor. Thus, in time, he could patronize pretentious rich men today.

There is a Barney Baruch award which the Veterans of Foreign Wars hung on Cardinal Spellman and Albert Lasker continues to receive his own name posthumously with the Lasker Foundation Awards.

Columbia is the most aggressive of the big plants in the matter of political honors, most of which, across the country nowadays, both at commencements and banquets, play negative politics by saluting enemies of Joe McCarthy.

Hankering

Hank's Wife Badly Bitten By Antique Collecting Bug

By HENRY McLEMORE

The little town in which we live, South Laguna, Calif., has only about seven stores and a post office, and wouldn't you know it would be my luck to have one of those stores occupied by an antique dealer.

He's a nice man, the antique dealer, but I wish he sold corn cobs, pipes or boxing gloves, or was farther up the street so Mary didn't have to pass his windows every time she went for the mail or to the drugstore or market.

A bear isn't drawn to honey any faster, or a senator to a caucus, than Mary is to an antique store. She's happier in one than a kid in a bakery. I sometimes wonder if she didn't marry me because I am getting to be something of an early American antique myself, and might some day age into a real collector's item. I already have a weathered old patina and have to be handled with care.

I have done my best to develop a love for antiques, just as I have or under-cooked duck and Wagner. For I know that's the cultural thing to do. But antiques leave me cold unless they happen to be in the form of those big, oversized dollar bills we used to have when I was a boy. I cannot understand why a chair is more remarkable because it was put together in Daniel Boone's time than in, say, Joe DiMaggio's.

Mary has her eye on a tip-top, gate-leg, pop-up or something-like that table at the moment which she says is just the loveliest thing and the biggest bargain she has ever seen. And when I tell her I saw its best days when Hector's father was just a pup she tells me that I might find my ignorance to be bliss, but please not to try to foist it off on her.

I may be ignorant as Mary implies, but I figure that a table has one primary function and that is to hold things, be it magazines, lamps or Sunday dinner. The Stone Age one she has her heart set on quivers and shakes when you look at it hard, and would roll over dead if you so much as laid a package of book matches on it.

Another thing that gets me about antique stores is that I have never been in one with a woman that she didn't discover at least one item which she wanted so she could make it over into something else.

An ancient fireman's helmet that would be perfect as a flower pot. A brass-bound trunk left over from the days of whaling ships that would be a knock-out as a firewood box.

I almost forgot what Mary did — up in the back of the shop and I crazy to get for me. It's a giant of a number, big as a buggy, that some adobe-pated Victorian gentleman used as a shaving stand. We don't have a bathroom large enough to hold the ego, and if we put it in the bedroom we'd have to use vaulting poles to get around. The only place large enough to accommodate it is the front yard, and I have no intention of starting to shave al fresco at this late date. Finally, it was made for a man who must have been at least seven feet tall, so I would have to stand on a chair to see myself in the mirror which, incidentally, is dark and cracked.

The chances are though that both the table and the shaving stand will eventually become part of our household.

THE CRACKER BARREL

About all you year about these days is like's "old friend" Marshall Zhukov and of how maybe he's going to save our country. Of course, Ike has known General MacArthur a long time longer than he's known Zhukov and MacArthur has a lot of earnest ideas about saving the country but somehow you never hear him referred to as an "old friend." Of course, nobody friendly than. Some of his other "old friends" included Stalin, Beran, argue that Zhukov ain't a Vashinsky and uncounted authors of mass purges, living and dead. If a man is known to be in a dark alley — or even a softly lighted room with old friend Zhukov. And I'd want the future of my country to be with him — even less.

PICTURE NEWS AROUND THE WORLD

DANCING LADIES—One of them is Elfrida Eden, right, 15-year-old niece of British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden, rehearsing the can-can for a benefit show in London. The performance was put on to help raise some money for British charities.

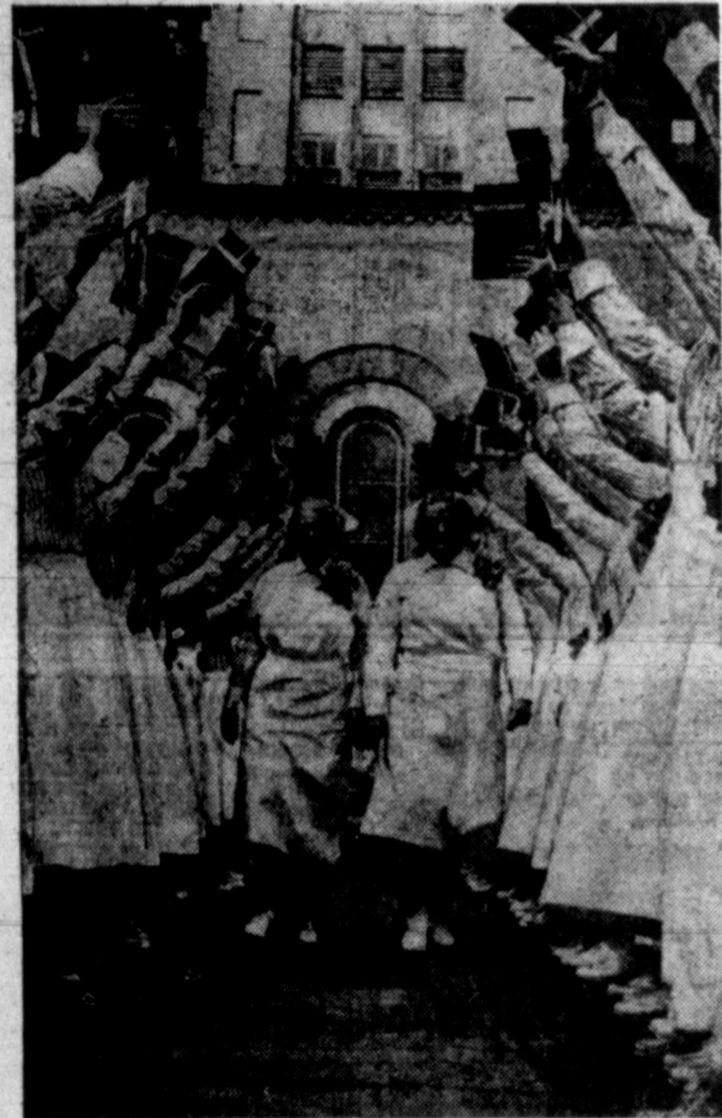

HIT ON PITCH—Ed Robinson of the Yankees prepares to take first base after being hit by a pitched ball during a night game with Detroit in New York. Tiger catcher is Bob Wilson, and the umpire is Larry Napp.

FROM ISRAEL — Designed and manufactured in Israel was this fine-gauge sweater in navy and white. Its striped, long-torso style adapts itself to be worn inside or outside the skirt, as the wearer chooses.

WHERE HONOR IS DUE—As a new squad of nurses was graduating in New York, they "raised swords" in salute to a couple of veteran healers. Margaret Eliot, R.N., left, and Eleanor Lee, R.N., who have seen a lot of duty in their time, are passing under an arch of diplomas held by the new nurses.

KEEPING FIT—Pretty Sally Blythe firmly believes in doing just that. She's a dancer, so she has every reason for it. Sally's dancing right now at the Riviera Hotel in Las Vegas and she limbers up each day beside the swimming pool. She's accustomed to the atmosphere of a ballet studio, but this isn't too hard to take, either.

THIS IS REAL PIGGY-BACK—Mitzl, a monkey, is riding on the back of Seppel, a pig, in Hamburg, Germany. The animals were just about to "graduate" from a training school for circus animals. They're finished performers now, and professionals as well, which means it'll be steady employment from now on, with practice-play days in the past.

THAT'S IT!—Teresa Fitzgerald, of Boston, got a pleasant surprise when she landed on Nantucket Island, off the coast of Massachusetts. There was the legendary "Easy Street" before her eyes! Teresa was vacationing, and a sight like that street sign gets one off on the right foot along with the wind, sun, sand and sea of Nantucket.

ALONG THE RHINE—Like a modern Lohengrin, Professor Walter Minarz piloted a huge swan down the Rhine River near Heidelberg, Germany. The idea was to publicize a flower carnival in Traunsee, a health resort in the Salzkammer Mountains, of which Minarz is chairman. Made of 20,000 plastic flowers, the swan was mounted on a diesel-powered boat.

HE'S NO GREMLIN—During World War II, airmen blamed mechanical mysteries on "gremlins"—and it looks as if the camera has caught one red-handed in Winnipeg, Manitoba. But this man is actually installing a huge replica of a camera being used as a sign over a photographic store in the Canadian city. Camera enthusiasts can't blame those blank negatives on the convenient gremlin in this case.

BABY SITTERS—While mama goes in for a dip at Ostia, Italy, Junior is left with some larger-than-life-size cartoon character dummies. The beach playmates are rented out by a concession for about 13 cents an hour each, but that two-year-old Tad hasn't decided if he really likes them.

ONE BEHIND ANOTHER—Back of that big dog at the left is two-year-old Stephanie Johnson. She had just arrived in New York with her parents and the big four-legged pet, and they were all heading for Minnesota. That little girl needn't be timid about anything as long as she has such shaggy protection as her large pet. At right, it's Mrs. Samuel Notariano behind a turtle in Chicago. Her husband was digging bait on the banks of the Des Plaines River when he spotted the turtle. Not long after that 70 pounds of reptile were deposited on Mrs. Notariano's kitchen table where a pitchfork came in handy.

Parr Trial In Tax Case Set July 18

AUSTIN —UP— South Texas political boss George B. Parr will go to trial July 18 in federal court in Austin on income tax evasion charges.

Federal Judge Ben H. Rice Jr. announced the trial date setting yesterday, and also denied a defense motion seeking to have Parr's trial transferred to Laredo.

Parr was indicted on charges of evading income taxes totaling some $85,000 during the years 1948, 1950 and 1951.

Judge Rice also denied a defense motion for a supplemental bill of particulars specifying the charges in greater detail than contained in the indictment.

Parr was originally indicted early this year by a federal grand jury at Houston, but that indictment was dismissed by Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly after a later indictment was returned

May 3 by a San Antonio grand jury.

The defense contended the in-

Cop Bitten In Fight With Man

FORT WORTH —UP— Fort Worth radio patrolmen A. E. White and W. F. McGill took anti-tetanus shots at a hospital Wednesday after being bitten in a scuffle with a man they had sought to arrest for threatening his wife and mother.

After chewing White on the right wrist and McGill on the right hip, the man broke away, ripped a microphone from the patrol car radio and fled the neighborhood.

After taking the shots, the policemen went back to the man's home and arrested him when he returned.

dictments returned at San Antonio—in the western district of federal court—should have been dismissed because trial had already "commenced" on the charges made at Houston, in the southern district. That motion was denied June 13.

Parr has pleaded innocent to the indictment.

The defense has appealed from the Houston dismissal of the earlier indictment, contending Parr would receive a fairer trial at Laredo than at Austin. An amended motion, denied today by Rice, asked that trial be moved to Laredo or Corpus Christi, in the southern district.

Parr also faces a government civil claim that he owes $687,012 in back income taxes and penalties. The claim has been appealed by Parr to the U. S. Tax Court in Washington.

Hoover Commission Urges Higher Prices For Power

WASHINGTON —UP— The Hoover Commission urged Thursday that the government jack up sharply the prices it charges for taxpayer-subsidized federal power.

In a controversy-loaded report to congress on the explosive public power issue the commission also proposed that:

1. New government steam generating plants be banned.
2. A special board be created to chart future federal water resources policy.
3. Private utilities be permitted to buy a "fair share" of public power.
4. The Tennessee Valley Authority and similar projects be required to issue public securities to finance any future expansion.

Selling Below Value

On the price issue, the commission declared that the government has been selling electricity for only about 60 per cent of what it's worth.

The commission said it would be desirable for the states to take over federal projects in the great power regions. But though it discussed how it might be done, the commission said it was making no recommendations on this score.

The report, sure to touch off a storm in congress, said the entire water resources program needs overhauling. It said the present program involved haphazardly during a century of changing needs and is riddled with "competition, duplication, and waste."

Partial dissents were filed by Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. and Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Fleming. They voiced concern that the proposals would "impede the government in exercising its proper role" in water resources development.

Comes 'Dangerously Close'

Another member, James A. Farley, said it came "dangerously close to inviting an abdication by the federal government of its responsibilities" in the water resources field. Farley is a one-time Democratic national chairman who now heads the Coca Cola Export Corp.

In all, the commission made 15 recommendations. Other major proposals entailed relaxation of the 160-acre limit on western reclamation holdings, transfer of upstream flood control dams to the Army Corps of Engineers, and a special tax on commercial boats using the inland waterways.

In addition to TVA, the recommendations would drastically affect the future of such big hydroelectric projects as Columbia River basin, Central Valley, Hoover Dam, Missouri River Basin, and the Southeastern and Southwestern Power Administrations.

The commission said a "desirable alternative" to its proposals would be for the states in the seven major federal power regions to set up authorities to take over the federal projects.

Water Needs Increase

Emphasizing the scope of the problem, the commission said more than $84 billion worth of water projects have been completed, are in the works, or are under discussion. Complicating the problem, it said, is a prospective 145 per cent increase in water needs by 1975.

To chart future policy, the commission urged creation of special water resources board composed of five public members and cabinet members whose departments deal with power, reclamation, irrigation, and flood control. The chairman would be from outside government.

"The board's primary purpose would be to determine the broad policies for recommendation to the president, and, with his approval, to congress," the report said. It added that the group also would help co-ordinate actual programs both here and in the field.

On the politically-explosive issue of public power, the commission said "it is obvious" taxpayers are subsidizing such projects. It estimated that federal power sold at about 40 per cent below its value in 1953 because of special tax and interest exemptions.

The commission proposed that the Federal Power Commission be given authority to fix public power rates at levels that will "eliminate the inequities" now imposed on the great majority of the people."

The first national forest was the Yellowstone Park Timberland Reserve, established by President Harrison in 1891.

"EVER GREATER VALUES"

Who's showing its heels to the high-priced cars? The Motoramic Chevrolet! The other low-priced cars aren't even in the running!

..and you're gone!

IT'S EXCITEMENT ON WHEELS!
The light turns green . . . you nudge the accelerator ever so gently . . . and you're gone! That's the way it is in the Motoramic Chevrolet. When your toe says "Let's go," a hoodful of high-compression horsepower explodes into action, sweeping you away from traffic tangles, making short work of steep hills, putting new fun in your driving life!

RECORD-SMASHING ACTION!
That's what you get with Chevrolet's new "Turbo-Fire V8"! In the recent NASCAR stock car competition at Daytona Beach, Chevrolet showed its heels to all other low-priced cars. In the one-mile straightaway run, the first two cars—and six of the first ten—were Chevrolets! And in acceleration runs from a standing start against all comers, Chevrolet beat all low-priced cars—and every high-priced car except one!

Chevrolet's two new "Blue-Flame" sixes have plenty of size, too. In fact, they're the highest powered sixes in the low-price field!

TREAT YOURSELF TO ADVENTURE
Come in and drive the car that is making 1955 famous! That's the only way you'll discover all the exciting reasons why Chevrolet's stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars!

*National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing.

The Bel Air Sport Coupe. You'll find your favorite model among Chevrolet's complete line of Fisher Body beauties.

Combine your new Chevrolet purchase with your vacation plans!
Order a new Chevrolet through us, then pick it up at the plant in Flint, Michigan, see Chevrolets built, if you like, and drive yours home. Chances are, you'll save a substantial share of your vacation travel costs!
