RAY DUNCAN
... Jaycee Proxy

He's Interested In Pampa's Welfare

By FRED PARKER
Pampa News Staff Writer
A person with an active interest in the welfare of Pampa is Everett Ray Duncan, known to everyone as Ray, a partner in the Duncan Insurance Agency.
Duncan, who has been a member of the Jaycees for about four years, has recently been installed as president of that organization. He stated that the main project of the club at this time is "raising money to pay for the County Welfare Dental Clinic which we recently equipped."
Another project he is working on at the present time is the Teenage Golf Tournament to be held at the Country Club on May 29 and 30.

Ray has served as treasurer of the Jaycees and has been a director of the club before being elected president.

In addition to his work in the Jaycees, Duncan takes an active part in the work of the Pampa Lions Club. During the eight years that he has been a member of the club he has served on the board of directors for two years. He also takes an active part in the campaigns of the United Fund and served as a major in the last drive being in charge of the Industrial Unit.

French Hold Suspects For Questioning

ALGIERS — UP — French authorities announced Monday they were holding for questioning 522 of the 4,480 rebel suspects they picked up Sunday in a gigantic raid on the Casbah.
The raid was carried out by 6,000 troops armed with tommy guns and heavy machine guns and by 1,500 police and gendarmes. They moved into the Casbah and screened 50,000 Arabs and 4,000 Europeans in a search for rebel leaders, arms and propaganda material.
Authorities said several of the 522 still held were deserters from the French army.
They said they had captured hundreds of rifles and pistols, thousands of rounds of ammunition, grenades, boxes of plastic for gasoline bombs, stores of gasoline and knives.
The French said they found army, customs and police uniforms, a machine gun, medical supplies, 10,000 army of liberation badges and forged official stamps in a secret cache of the national Algerian movement. In another place they found accounting books and $3,408 in cash belonging to the national liberation front.
The troops and police threw a cordon around the Casbah — the famed native quarters — at dawn and then moved in on a house-to-house search. More than 2,000 persons picked up had no identification cards. Another 200 had arms and ammunition.
A helicopter hovered overhead to prevent roof-top escapes and ambulances as paratroopers moved cautiously through the narrow winding streets where few Frenchmen go these days without risking a bullet or a knife.
The Casbah itself is a maze of narrow, filthy tortuous streets winding up the side of a steep mountain in the city. Some of the streets are only a few feet wide. Some resemble tunnels more than streets.

Ray is a member of the Pampa Insurance Exchange, composed of insurance men in the general insurance field, and is a past president of the group.
He is serving as graduate assistant on the Dale Carnegie course which will be completed in the near future.
A member of a pioneer Gray county family, Ray was born in Pampa on December 10, 1923, and has lived here all of his life with the exception of the time spent in the navy and in college.
Ray began his college work at the University of Texas which he attended for two years before entering the Navy in July of 1942.
Upon entering the Navy he was assigned to the V-7 program and attended Tulane University for four months and then was assigned to the Navy Midshipman School at Harvard from which he graduated in July of 1944.
Upon the completion of his training at Harvard, Ray was assigned to the U.S.S. Jenkins, a destroyer, and served in the South Pacific for nearly two years. He was discharged in June of 1946 with the rank of lieutenant junior grade.
Ray returned to the University of Texas to finish his college work and received a Bachelor degree in Business Administration in 1947.
He returned to Pampa and entered the insurance business with his brother.
In November of 1949 he married Hilda Burden. They have two children, Brian who is four years old and Gail who is two years old.
Ray said, "We also have a dog that thinks he is the oldest child."
The Duncans reside at 2115 Charles is one of the newer brick homes in Pampa.
Ray stated that his main hobby is boats and water skiing. He likes to go to Lake McClellan to engage in the sport of water skiing and said that he has a lot of fun doing it.
In the winter, when he can't water ski, he goes skiing in New Mexico.
He stated that next to water sports he likes to fish and hunt. He likes to shoot ducks and occasionally goes after the crows in Wheeler County.

Another H-Bomb Exploded

TOKYO — UP — The United States apparently exploded another nuclear device Monday at the mid-Pacific Bikini test ground, the Japan central meteorological observatory reported.

(The Defense Department in Washington said it had no information about any new nuclear explosion in Bikini area. A spokesman for the Atomic Energy Commission also said he had no such information. Military forces in the Pacific area would not comment.)
It is certain that there was a nuclear explosion in the Bikini neighborhood, Masatsuga Ohta, chief meteorologist at the central observatory, said. "Our data proves that clearly. The wind directions at the site were the same as those on May 21."
Ohta said he believed the latest blast was of the same megaton class as the hydrogen bomb dropped from a B-52 bomber last week. The May 21 explosion was estimated at 16 million tons of TNT.
Observatory scientists said they based their report on earth tremors and atmospheric shock waves that almost duplicated those registered during the recent explosion of a hydrogen bomb.
The observatory estimated the time of the explosion at 3 a.m. — 4 a.m. Bikini time and 12 noon est Sunday.

The United States had announced only two nuclear explosions in the current test series that is to continue to August. Two were observed by American newsmen. Newsmen were excluded from the rest of the series.

who don't like part-time Democrats.
In Wisconsin, Sen. Alexander Wiley, a staunch supporter of administration foreign policy, said he was "confident" of winning that state's Republican senatorial nomination even though the Wisconsin GOP convention refused to endorse him. The convention gave its blessing for the senatorial nomination to Rep. Glenn Davis, who last year voted against the administration's foreign aid program.

Estes, Adlai Wind Up Their Florida Primary Campaigns

By RAYMOND LAHR
WASHINGTON — UP — The two candidates wound up their Florida primary campaigns Monday while Missouri Democrats assembled to put a potentially formidable dark horse in the field.
In Florida, Sen. Estes Kefauver and Adlai E. Stevenson were at the end of a rugged state campaign in which they were bidding for votes in Tuesday's presidential primary. Twenty-eight national convention votes will be at stake.
Stevenson was scheduled to leave Miami Monday morning for California where he faces Kefauver the weekend when Kefauver planned to fly to California Tuesday.
Campaign Wars Up
Their otherwise mild contest in Florida became decidedly heated over the weekend when Kefauver launched a personal attack against Stevenson. The Tennessee bluntly charged that Stevenson "will not be good enough to win in 1956." Stevenson retorted that "it is up to the Democratic voters and not Sen. Kefauver to decide who is the strongest candidate."
Other political developments:
In Missouri, Democrats held their state convention today to select national convention delegates and pledged to the favorite son candidacy of Sen. Stuart Symington. While Symington has given no public indication that he intends to become an active contender, his fellow Democrats in Congress view him as available and perhaps eager.
Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler challenged President Eisenhower to a public debate with the Democratic nominee this fall. But GOP Chairman Leonard W. Hall, in a television debate, (American Forum, NBC) with Butler, promptly rejected the idea "as far as I am concerned." Hall said he was not going to let the Democrats pick any "forum" for Mr. Eisenhower.

Sen. George Bender (R-Ohio) predicted on a television show (Meet the Press, NBC) that he will be re-elected by a "substantial majority" over his Democratic opponent, Gov. Frank Lausche. Bender said he would get the votes of "a lot of Democrats

Between Services

Demos To Hit Feud

By JOHN W. FINEY
WASHINGTON — UP — Democrats Monday were building up an election issue out of the feud between the military services.
Democratic national chairman, Paul M. Butler, sounded the theme of the attack Sunday during a nationally televised debate with Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall (American Forum, NBC).
Butler said "the American people are concerned" over "the constant squabbling among the military sections of our Defense Department." He accused President Eisenhower of failing to exercise proper "control or supervision" over the military.
Charge of 'Total Failure'
He also charged there has been "a total failure" on the part of the President to live up to the 1952 Republican platform promise to strip the Defense Department "clean of conflict."
Hall took sharp issue with these statements. He retorted that in military matters the people trust "former General" Eisenhower more than they do "General Butler or General Symington." Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) is secretary of the Air Force in the Truman administration and is now chairman of a Senate Armed Services committee which will investigate the inter-service row.
The feud involves basic questions as to what roles each of the services will play in future wars which will be fought with radically advanced weapons. One phase of the row is the Army's contention that the Air Force is getting too much of the budget dollar and that too much reliance is being put on air power and nuclear bombs.

Other Disputes
There are other disputes over whether the Army Nike or Air Force Talos missile is best for anti-aircraft defense, over whether the Army should have its own air arm, over the value of the Navy's super-carriers and over the validity of the Navy's claim that its carrier-borne planes can carry H-bombs to the heart of an enemy nation as well as Air Force planes can.
Hall said he agreed with Mr. Eisenhower that some "argument" among the military is healthy. He also recalled that under the Truman administration there was a Pentagon feud between the Navy and Air Force.
Among congressmen, the defense debate centered Monday on the adequacy of U. S. air power. The debate was heightened by a warning from Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, strategic air commander, that by 1959 Russia will have twice as many hydrogen bombers as the United States and will be able to destroy this nation if it can launch "a complete surprise attack." But he doubted the Russians could achieve complete surprise.

What Treachery!

ESTHERVILLE, Iowa — UP — Bozo and Gertie, two fugitive monkeys, eluded firemen, policemen and volunteers but finally gave in to a treacherous banana.
The monks escaped from the Estherville jail and spent three happy days swinging through the trees. No one could catch them until a veterinarian dosed some bananas with a sedative. The escapes slept so soundly they didn't even wake up when their tree branches were cut off and they were trundled back to the zoo.

Methodists Name Pastors

Rev. Hubert Bratcher, who has served as pastor of St. John's Church in Lubbock for the past eight years, is being transferred to Pampa as district superintendent and is being replaced in Lubbock by Rev. J. Edmond Kirby, present district superintendent.
The change was announced at the Northwest Texas Methodist Conference in the concluding session yesterday in Big Spring.
Rev. Kirby has served as district superintendent for the past five and one-half years here. He was presented with an honorary doctor's degree from McMurry College several years ago. The Pampa district includes 30 churches in the conference. Rev. Kirby is married and has one boy, James, who is attending Perkins School of Theology at Southern Methodist University.
He will accept the pastorate of the St. John's Church in Lubbock. Rev. Woodrow Adcock was re-appointed as pastor of the First Methodist Church of Pampa by the annual conference. He came to Pampa two years ago from Snyder, where he served for five years.
He was an Army Chaplain during World War II and participated in two battle campaigns in the European Theater of Combat.
He is chairman of the Northwest Texas Conference Board of World Peace and Social and Economic Relations and attended the United Nations World Peace Seminar (See METHODISTS, Page 2)

Free World's Biggest Red Party Trails In Early Returns

By ROBERT E. JACKSON
ROME — UP — Italy's Communist party, the biggest in the free world, suffered losses Monday in the first returns from Italy's nation-wide local elections.

Premier Antonio Segni's Christian Democratic party, the pro-western group that has governed Italy through the postwar struggle against fascism and communism, took heart from the early but inconclusive returns.
A big turnout among the 30 million eligible men and women voting in the West's first big test of the Kremlin's "smile offensive" encouraged Democratic parties which had feared Democratic apathy would give the local posts to the Communists.
But apparently the Communist party was undermined by Moscow's flip-flop on Josef Stalin, for early returns showed Democratic gains.
It was too early for any cheering by the West. Voting continued Monday and there were no results (See ITALIAN, Page 2)

Cyprus Civil War Feared

NICOSIA, Cyprus — UP — A series of bloody clashes this week-end between Greek and Turkish Cypriots increased British fears Monday of a civil war.
British troops enforced a strict curfew and erected barbed wire barricades in some towns to separate the two rival forces, but tension was reaching the boiling point.
Dr. Fazil Kutuchuk, leader of the Turkish Cypriots, said new clashes will make it impossible to control the Turkish element on the British-occupied island.
There were reverberations in Athens and Greek Foreign Minister Spyros Theotokis submitted his resignation early Monday because of a dispute over his moderate approach to the Cyprus problem.
Rioting between Turkish and Greek villagers flared late last week because of Turkish anger over the murder of a Turkish policeman. It increased in scope over the weekend and a Turk and a Greek were killed.

At least one tornado was sighted in Carson County late Saturday, but no damage was reported.
Rains in the region totaled 1.81 inches in Hutchinson County, about two inches in Roberts County, 2.75 inches in Wheeler, two inches in Perryton, 1.25 inches in Canadian, and 2.14 inches in Panhandle.
Laketon reported as much as five inches late Saturday afternoon. Fields were flooded with 4.5 inches of rain in the Wheeler area. High winds accompanied the rain, and occasional hail storms were reported throughout the area.
A 20-minute downpour in McLean left about 1.5 inches of rain, and hail damage to roofs, trees and shrubs was reported.
The weather forecast, according to radio stations KPAT and KPDM, calls for clear and warming weather today and tomorrow with the wind shifting to the southwest. No rain is predicted for the area. It will be partly cloudy today and tonight with a few thundershowers scattered throughout the Panhandle. The low this morning was 54 degrees, and yesterday's high was 63. Today's high is to be about 78 degrees and tonight's low, 60 degrees.

Vandals, Floods Hit Lefors And Area

Violent weather and vandals harassed citizens of the Lefors area of the Top o' Texas over the week end as rising waters and wind destroyed one house in the area and vandals smashed the front doors of a church.
The home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Browning, 12 miles east of Lefors, was ruined late Friday when Canton Creek, some 150 yards east of their house, spilled over its banks.
The water, which Mrs. Browning said, rose to its highest level in 25 years, swept away a room on the east side of the Browning home, taking with it a deep freeze full of meats and other frozen foods and several other articles in the household. The freezer was found a quarter of a mile south of the Browning home.
The Brownings, noticing the dangerous rise of the water, abandoned their home about 4 p.m. Friday and started walking to higher ground, the water already being too high to drive through. They waded through water over their waists in places in their flight.
When they got to higher ground, Mrs. Browning said, she turned around and part of her house was gone. "It must have been a small tornado," she said. "I don't see how it (the water) could have done that much."
The Brownings are staying in Pampa with friends and relatives while the cleaning-up process is taking place at their home.
Following the flood, the home's floors were covered with two to three inches of mud. A tree rested in-kitchen and all the walls were stained about three of four feet high, the level of the water before it receded.
Vandals in Lefors helped themselves to Gray County Commissioner Arlie Carpenter's tractor and proceeded to wreak havoc in the wee hours of Saturday morning.
The group, mostly youths, drove the tractor around on the softball field, hit a guy wire to one of the lightpoles, pulling it over slightly, and then took off for other parts of the town where they clipped a fence. The tractor then, and it is not yet known whether it was driven at the time or running un-driven, careened into the front doors of the Bible Baptist Church, knocking in bottom of the doors. Sheriff Rufe Jordan and Lefors Constable "Charlie" Clendennen investigated the vandalism and several Lefors youths were called in for a hearing at the Courthouse this morning.

Man Fined On Driving Charge
Willie L. Aaron, 27, east of town, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated this morning in county court. He was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail.
Aaron was arrested Saturday night about 9:30 by the Sheriff's Department on the Lefors Highway. He was not involved in an automobile accident.

Infant Choked To Death On Banana

HOUSTON — UP — Two-year-old Candice Harrison choked to death on a banana Sunday at her home.

The little girl's father, Wallace J. Harrison, 29, said he called an ambulance after vainly trying to revive her by administering artificial respiration and forcing breath into her mouth.

Harrison, a maintenance engineer at the YMCA, said he came home Sunday morning and found his daughter had broken into a crate of bananas that he had purchased the day before. The Harrison have five other children.

The father said he gave light spankings to the three older boys, swatted Candice lightly on the seat and put her in bed, not noticing that she was choking on the banana.

He said he noticed a couple of minutes later that she appeared to be unconscious and her lips were blue. He then started trying to revive her.

Justice of the Peace Dave Thompson held an inquest and county pathologist Dr. W. W. Coulter said the child died of suffocation.

Texas Airman Shot By Mate

TOKYO — UP — A U.S. Air Force man from Texas was killed Sunday by another airman in what an Air Force announcement described as an "accidental shooting."

Airman 2C Jack V. Tinnin of 4105 Montana, El Paso, Tex. died instantly when he was shot in the heart.

Airman 2C Richard Jennings, an Air Force policeman from Berkeley, Calif., is confined to his quarters during a formal investigation into Air Forces said.

An Air Force announcement said that Tinnin entered the barracks and Jennings, according to witnesses, called out, "O.K., draw."

Jennings drew his .45-caliber automatic pistol, which discharged and hit Tinnin in the heart, the Air Force said.

The shooting happened in the air police barracks at Yokota Air Base, west of Tokyo.

Jennings had just checked out his pistol from the operations office and was preparing to go on duty, the Air Force said. Tinnin was a member of the 15th Tactical Reconnaissance Squadron on special duty with the air police, was entering the barracks after checking out his own weapon, the Air Force said.

Tinnin was married to the former Miss Muriel Howthorne of Pampa, Texas. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Tinnin of the El Paso address.

Two automobile collisions occurred within the county over the week end and at least one of the mishaps was attributed to bad weather and slick pavement.

Houston May Get A-Plant

HOUSTON — UP — Rep. Albert Thomas (D - Tex.) said Sunday night he and other government officials are working for the establishment of a huge atomic energy research installation for the Houston area.

Thomas, appearing on a press conference show over KPRC-TV, said such a laboratory would cost between $50 million and $60 million, and would employ between 2,000 and 3,000 persons. He said the installation would require between 2,000 and 3,000 acres of land.

Thomas said he thought a good site for the proposed plant would be between Houston and Tomball, a small town about 30 miles northwest of Houston.

He said the laboratory would be built around an atomic reactor power plant, and would specialize in peacetime and industrial uses of atomic energy.

Thomas said he "guessed" some definite action would be taken on the proposal "in the next year or two."

Ellender Hits Ike-Backed Farm Props

By WARREN DUFFEE
WASHINGTON, May 26—UP—Sen. Allen J. Ellender Saturday trotted out raising farm price support to give farmers "a little political sugar" to escape their wrath in the November election.

The Louisiana Democrat, chairman of the Senate Agriculture committee, said the recent hike of support levels on some crops was from President Eisenhower's veto of the first farm bill.

"The administration decided that since this was an election year, it had to toss a little political sugar to the farmers or face their wrath at the polls in November," Ellender said in a radio broadcast to his home state.

Ellender said he is "confident" Mr. Eisenhower will sign the "second-chance" farm bill which Congress sent to the White House Thursday. The President is expected to act on the measure next week.

Ellender said the new bill, which includes the administration's $1.2 billion crop cut-back soil bank but not some features Mr. Eisenhower objected to in the earlier measure "represents a good compromise."

"I do not mean to say that the new farm bill is what I personally would describe as perfection, but it is a fair compromise—a bill which will bring some immediate relief to our farmers."

Ellender said he was convinced that if the original farm bill which Mr. Eisenhower vetoed had not provided for a return to high rigid support prices, the administration would never have raised support levels on its own.

"If Congress had not passed that bill, our farmers would today be stuck with the pitifully low price supports originally indicated" under Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson's flexible price support formula, Ellender said.

Chaos At Elections Is Feared

By CHARLES W. RIDLEY
ROME, May 26—UP—Moderates, Communists and Fascists squared off Saturday night for two days of municipal elections which observers feared could lead to political chaos at the local level.

The government's Christian Democratic party refused proposals of alliances with the Communists who are faced with the first vote of their party members since the highly unpopular down-with-Stalin campaign. The government party also refused to align its candidates with Fascists, who wound up the lackluster campaign Friday night with riots in Rome and Milan.

Teams from all parties strove to get out the vote. Ninety per cent of the 30 million eligible voters were expected to cast ballots Sunday or Monday. Results would not be announced until Monday afternoon.

The Christian Democrats banked on the women's vote which has given it the balance of power in past local and national elections.

But political experts feared neither the center parties nor the leftists bidding for control of Rome, Milan, Florence, Bologna, Genoa and Turin could win a majority to form a city government.

Such an outcome would virtually force the Christian Democrats under Premier Antonio Segni into agreeing to support from the left or right—something the party has avoided since World War II when the Communists emerged as the biggest Red party in the western world.

Observers said a center-party setback could start a chain political reaction that would affect the national government and harm Italy's role in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

Jacoby On Bridge

Adm. Redfield Mason came into the public eye recently when he courageously and successfully went through to the end of a television quiz program. When we served together in the Navy a few years ago, we knew him as a man of infinite caution and preparation as well as great courage.

The Admiral played the hand shown today in one of our regular Yokosuka games a few years ago. West opened the five of spades, and Mason won the first trick in dummy with the ten. It was now clear that West had led from a long suit headed by ace-queen. If East were allowed to win a trick, he would lead a spade, and the entire suit would be run. Hence declarer had to develop his tricks without giving a trick to East.

At the second trick Admiral Mason led the deuce of hearts from dummy. East played low, and Ma-

Pressure Is Mounting In Big Race

INDIANAPOLIS, —UP— The pressure was on a dozen or so speed demons Monday in their race against the weather and the clock as they attempted to crash into the lineup for Wednesday's 500-mile Memorial Day classic.

The speedway set aside 63 minutes of qualifying time for "bumping." The trials were scheduled to end Sunday, but when rain washed out Saturday and most of Sunday, the management decided on an extra two-hour period.

Five cars were qualified and one of them eliminated in 37 minutes available to complete the 33-car field Sunday. Twelve other racers, including Nino Farina's Ferrari, remained lined up near the starting apron overnight so they would not lose their turn.

However, time may run out before all of them get a chance to make the field.

The forecast called for scattered showers and thunderstorms. If it rains all day, stewards said the trials will be off and no additional time be made available.

fore all of them get a chance to make the field.

The forecast called for scattered showers and thunderstorms. If it rains all day, stewards said the trials will be off and no additional time be made available.

Veteran Cliff Griffith, 40-year-old Indianapolis industrialist plant foreman making a racing comeback, was the fastest qualifier Sunday. He averaged 147.40 miles an hour in the same car which the late Jerry Hoyt put on the pole last year.

Other qualifiers were Johnnie Tolan, Denver, Colo., 140.061; Eddie Johnson, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, 139.093; Duke Dinamore, Dayton, Ohio, 138.430, and Eddie Sachs, Indianapolis, 137.373. The latter's car was ousted by Johnson.

The field now averages 142.507 miles an hour, nearly four miles faster than last year. That average will be boosted somewhat Monday, weather permitting, with the Dinamore car topping the list of machines to be ousted by faster ones.

Had the hearts been developed in the normal way, East would have won a heart trick with his jack. East would have returned a spade, and the contract would have been defeated.

LONG BEFORE THE GREEKS had a word for it, any Egyptian lass worth her weight in sand was bound by traditional law and custom to make at least one rug for her new home before her groom-to-be would even consider getting married.

OF COURSE, that meant that she'd have to sit down with her handy - handy do-it-yourself loom and shuttle away from dawn till dusk in order to whip out a handsome rug or carpet for hubby.

In those early days along the Nile, the present Carpet Institute's slogan — "Home means more with carpet on the floor" — had a rather forceful message behind it — "No rug, no carpet — no hubby."

And then, to add to the poor bride's woes, there was the problem of making a beautiful home "area rug" or a luxurious piece of wall-to-wall carpeting. For, you see, much like today's June bride-to-be, the Egyptian Miss was also faced with the task of deciding whether a wall-to-wall carpet or a good looking area rug would be best for her home. Consequently, if her future tent or riverside granite apartment was large enough and her husband-to-be had a steady, reliable job as a pyramid builder or water-wheel operator, then she could safely make it wall-to-wall.

However, if her future husband should happen to be employed as a papyrus salesman, or as a traveling trader of new and used camels, then in most cases she would make an area rug that was decorative and completely mobile — one that could roll up in a jiffy so that before you could say King Tut-en-hamon, they could be on their way to hubby's new office in Luxor or Thebes.

If you think that sounds a bit far-fetched — well, according to Melva Chesrown, home fashions consultant for Alexander Smith, Inc., bride-to-be and young home-makers today face the same sort of problem that once concerned housewives in ancient Egypt. Furthermore, she points out that because so many American families are on the move, carpet manufacturers like Alexander Smith are now making carpets and rugs designed to meet their every need.

Instead of remaining satisfied with only one type of floor covering, the Mesdames Jones, Smith, and Johnson-to-be can now select any one of a multitude of patterns and colors in wall-to-wall carpeting, or one of the many unique "new art" area rugs with such fabulous names as: Rooster & Rose, Cobblestones, Sun Dance, Classic Flair, and Norseland.

Best of all, however — they need never be concerned about making one themselves — all they have to do is visit their nearest floor covering dealer, who probably takes pride in the fact that he's never lost a husband yet for any prospective bride.

Supersize Bedding Available In Colors

Now that supersize bedding — the longer, more comfortable way to sleep — is generally available, it's a comfort to know that most of the sheet, blanket, and bedspread manufacturers are joining the movement. You'll find a goodly selection of all these bed linens in the large sizes at your favorite white goods stores.

Color, the big new factor in decorating, is getting more and more into the white goods picture, too. About 25 per cent of all the sheets and pillow cases now sold are tinted. Yellow is the number one color (or pink or blue or what-have-you), with gold in all its various and attractive hues in second place.

You'll find your new supersize bedding far more comfortable if you use the bed linens specially sized for it. The extra comfort is well worth the slight extra cost. Have a look!

Ever see a well-dressed, good-looking woman in a restaurant or some other public place suddenly pull out a mirror and start inspecting her face and then go to work with lipstick and powder puff? As quickly as she begins her self-inspection she loses her look of poise, doesn't she?

Remember it, next time you are tempted to turn away from others to concentrate on your own face.

COOK'S NOOK

Caesar Salad Rated Triumph For Spring Luncheon, Dinner

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor
Caesar salad — one of California's finest contributions to the American menu — makes a satisfying main dish for a spring luncheon. It goes perfectly, too, at dinner with steak and baked potatoes.

There are many variations on the recipe. Here's one from Mrs. Chas. Rehnman who lives in the San Fernando Valley. She reports that her 4-foot, 6-inch husband usually prepares and tosses it himself.

CARSAAR SALAD (Makes about 3 quarts, or 8 servings luncheon or dinner salad)
One package old-fashioned garlic salad dressing mix, vinegar, water, oil, 9 cups bite-size pieces romaine (2 to 3 heads), 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1-1/2 teaspoon black pepper, 1-2 cup grated Parmesan cheese, 1-3 cup mixed dressing, 1/2 cup lemon juice, 2 egg yolks, 2 cups garlic croutons, 8 to 10 anchovy fillets, 2 cut in small pieces, or 8 to 8 slices crisp cooked bacon, crumbled (optional).

Combine salad dressing mix, vinegar, water and oil as directed on the bottle or package. Place romaine in a garlic-rubbed wooden bowl and sprinkle with salt, pepper and grated cheese. Add 1-3 cup of the dressing and lemon juice. Break egg yolks over mixture. Toss lightly until no trace of egg can be seen, taking care that greens are not bruised. Just before serving, add croutons, and, if desired, anchovy fillets or bacon. Toss again.

Note: To coddle eggs, have them in shells at room temperature. Place in boiling water, cover, and remove from heat. Let stand 3 1/2 to 4 minutes. Remove eggs and cool in cold water before breaking open.

GARLIC CROUTONS (Makes 2 cups croutons): One-half cup salad oil, 2 cups 1/2-inch bread cubes, 1 to 2 cloves fresh garlic, minced, or 1/4 to 1 teaspoon garlic salt. Heat oil in large skillet, add bread cubes, and brown lightly on all sides. Add garlic, stirring briskly. Remove from heat. Drain on paper towels to drain. Note: French bread or rolls make best croutons, but any white bread is acceptable.

GRACE FRIEND
Dear Grace Friend,
I'm writing this letter in the hopes that it may reach a few mothers and save at least one child's life.

We have lived in this state less than a year, but I'm sure I will never get used to children playing in the streets.

If mothers who get up in arms and blockade streets would spend a little time on their children teaching them that cars are not to be ignored everyone would be much safer.

I have actually seen children sitting in the middle of the street and they simply act as if a car should dodge them. I'm sure pedestrian right of way was not meant to include such antics.

This is not a peak time of the older child alone. It seems as soon as a child can crawl he heads for the street and stays there.

I am a mother of three children. The oldest is eight. I have found that a good bit of "child psychology" applied in the proper spot when they first go in the street works wonders toward keeping them in their own yard.

Mrs. H. T.

HONEYMOON
Dear Mrs. Friend,
I am engaged to a very nice man and expect to be married before too long, but really, Mrs. Friend, I am scared. When some of my friends tell me what to expect on our honeymoon, I don't think I could go through with it.

Do you think I should call the whole thing off?

Yours truly,
H.B.

Dear H. B.,
Whatever may have happened to your friends on their honeymoons has no bearing whatever on what will happen to you. Each person as an individual will act according to his own character and no one can predict what it will be.

If you love this man enough to want to spend the rest of your life with him then you must love him enough to trust him and to know that your life together (including your honeymoon) will be happy and rewarding.

If a woman wants to get along with men she first has to like men in general.

The woman who honestly and quite frankly likes men doesn't have to pretend or pose in order to please them.

She likes their company and so she is an interested listener. Just by the quality of her listening, she encourages men to feel relaxed and at ease around her.

Because she really likes men she doesn't have a chip on her shoulder that tempts her to try to put a man in his place or to make disparaging remarks about men in general.

Her admiration for men's accomplishments and abilities doesn't have to be feigned.

She never feels that she is in competition with "men." So she doesn't make the mistake of trying to impress men with how smart she is.

Men sense the antagonism despite a woman's attempts to conceal it and so they shy away.

Any woman who has trouble getting along with men or who feels that they aren't drawn to her ought to ask herself one question: "Do I honestly like and admire men?"

We believe that one truth is always consistent with another truth. We endeavor to be consistent with truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

Should we, at any time, be inconsistent with these truths, we would appreciate anyone pointing out to us how we are inconsistent with these moral guides.

Love Thy Neighbor

Is it true that all Ten Commandments are consistent, each with the other?

Here is a lad going to Sunday school. He learns that he should love God and his neighbors as himself. In school there is another young fellow much admired by his contemporaries. This second youth seems particularly mature for his years. He sports rather rakish regalia, has large biceps and a switch-knife. It is known to the select few that he has committed at least one armed robbery and he brags openly of a number of quiet foot-pad operations.

Our lad in Sunday school is in a quandary. He has been told that he must love his neighbor. Instinctively he is attracted by the braggadocio of the swaggering teenager. But in Sunday school he has learned something else, too. "Thou Shalt Not Steal." How can he manage to love his neighbor, who is believed to be a thief, and at the same time believe that stealing is wrong?

Are these two injunctions both of revered antiquity in contradiction?

He has been told that he must hate sin. But the love commandment does not say that he cannot love the sinner. Yet, if he does love the sinner, it he not, in effect, sustaining both the sin and the sinner? Thus, is he not, in one sense of the word, giving his approval of an act of theft? Further, if he truly loves the neighbor, might he not be expected to join with him, perhaps in the planning and execution of another act of theft or other violence?

Perhaps the perplexity of our hero would not be so profound were he to understand a little from the ancient Greeks. In the Athens of ancient times there were three words for love. Anglo-Saxon terminology is frequently limited and must enrich itself by borrowing from every other tongue. With us, love is love, though it may mean a great many different things.

How does one go about loving God? Or one's neighbor as one's self? Isn't self love a form of conceit. Does the Bible recommend conceit?

In the ancient Greek language there are three delineations of love, and a word for each delineation. There is, for instance, a word which signifies physical love. There is a second word which signifies filial attachment, the parent-child relationship. There is a third word which is impersonal and all-embracing. It signifies a love of God, of principle, of truth. It is an abstract feeling which goes beyond the personal relationship of people. Yet it is love, entailing devotion, awe, spiritual intensity and transcendent kinship. This third Greek word is agape.

If we view the commandment to love God and to love one another in the impersonal rather than the personal sense, the word agape might conceivably apply. And in large measure this could also be applied to self-love, which, if it is to be understood, should approach self-entailment rather than self-justification, a linking up of the good within a man with a universal good. It is when one associates himself with principle, with truth, even with God, that the term agape might explain the phrase "Love Thy Neighbor as Thyself."

If our youth of Sunday school can think of his switch-blade wielding friend in terms of agape, he would find that his love was not a personal nor a possessive emotion. It would not require his association with a juvenile delinquent. Nor would it entail an endorsement of his past actions, nor participation in future acts of thievery.

It might, instead, entail doing all within the young man's power to help the thief overcome his thieving ways. It might entail setting an example. It could point out a thousand things which would be in complete harmony with both the admonitions, "Love Thy Neighbor" and "Thou Shalt Not Steal."

The limitations of our own language should not cause us to limit our understanding. If one understands the various meanings of love, then the various commandments are consistent each with the other.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR F. JORDAN, M. D.

A correspondent raises a most difficult subject in asking for a discussion of muscle and tendon strain, one of which he says is called myositis and the other tendinitis.

First, what are these conditions?

Myositis means inflammation of the muscle. The word is often used in the same sense as muscular rheumatism.

Tendinitis is inflammation of tendons and tendon muscle attachments.

Tendons, incidentally, are cords of tissue which do not have the power of contraction as muscles do to the bone or other structure to which they are attached.

THERE IS ALSO another condition known as tenosynovitis which is defined as inflammation of a tendon sheath or the thin membrane surrounding a tendon.

There are a number of other names which are often attached to pains in the muscles or related structures which cannot be named on any definite form of neuritis or arthritis. Among such terms are myofasciitis, fibrositis, myalgia, panniculitis, periarthritis, and no doubt, others.

Quite often, it is difficult to separate one of these conditions from another and it is often hard to know what caused them. Sometimes the finger of blame can be placed squarely on some sudden or long continued strain or injury, sometimes on infection elsewhere in the body such as abscessed teeth or infected tonsils, and sometimes on such circumstances as chilling or exposure to a draft.

The latter is perhaps particularly common since many of us at one time or another have had a stiff neck or a stiff back because a cold breeze has blown on this region.

MORE OFTEN than not, however, a single cause cannot be identified.

Infections and toxic conditions are common sources of trouble, muscular aching frequently follows a severe sore throat, influenza, rheumatic fever, and similar general diseases.

In long-lasting conditions of these varieties several different types of treatment may have to be obtained. Hot baths or other forms of heat, carefully chosen exercise, and sometimes massage may be of benefit. Immobilization with splint or cast is occasionally helpful in localized disorders.

OCCASIONALLY, the use of pain-killing drugs may have to be considered. These must be taken with care, and milder ones such as aspirin are safer than strong ones.

Liniments or ointments such as the old-fashioned mustard plaster will sometimes help, but should not be used too long as they may merely give relief while concealing a serious condition.

Most of us have had one or more attacks of one of these conditions and have recovered, this usually good.

More AFL-CIO Errors About Profits And Source Of Capital

I always like to read the bulletin sent out by the AFL and CIO monthly magazine. I like to read this because the 15 million members of the labor unions are paying for this whether or not they believe in what their labor bosses are making them pay for. Of course, AFL and CIO are as large as they are today because of the use of aggressive force or threats of same.

No one knows, of course, what part of the $50,000,000 they collect from labor union members is collected from voluntary members or from members who are coerced into the union to be able to work at their trade. The coercive part of this $1/2 billion must be a major part.

This is true because labor unions insist on a contract with the employer that requires him to deduct the union dues from his employee's pay. If men wanted to belong to the unions, this would not be necessary. But the labor bosses do not care whether men voluntarily support their propaganda or not. They have the power because of the laws made to give them special privilege and they are going to use this power so long as they can.

Source Of Capital

In their May issue they try to leave the impression that capital does not come from savings. They would leave the impression that there was some magical way the corporations can get capital without getting it from savings. I don't know whether these labor bosses are so dumb that they do not know better or not; but they contend that capital comes from depreciation; that corporations have a way of skimming the consumer and benefiting the stockholders because the government allows them to make a charge supposed to take care of replacements.

But instead of the government allowing the employer to set aside enough reserves for depreciation to replace tools when they are worn out or become obsolete, the government only allows enough depreciation to be charged as expense to have enough money to replace the worn-out tools at the same price as originally paid for the equipment.

Everyone knows, even the man who has given no thought to economics, that the dollar does not buy as much as it used to. Therefore, if the dollar only buys half as much ten years later when the depreciation was first set up, the employer will only have one-half the depreciation reserve to replace his worn-out tools. Therefore he will have to take part of what erroneously has been regarded as profits by the government, which are not real profits, to replace his equipment. Thus, the profits in all industry are not as much as the government requires the employer to show according to government methods of keeping books.

Some farsighted, conscientious employers even keep a double set of books. One to show the stockholders what their profits really are, and the other to show the artificial, mystical profits the government requires in order to get more taxes.

In the bulletin they also imply that when the government giving accelerated depreciation for depreciation is a benefit to the employer. What they do not want to admit is that if it is all charged off in one year, then the employer will show more profits each succeeding year and thus pay more taxes than he would if he charged it off in ten or twenty years. And if taxes go up, as they always do with an unlimited government, the employer is worse off with short periods of depreciation than he is when he depreciates over the actual life of the equipment.

The magazine has a great-to-do because corporations get part of their new capital out of undistributed earnings. They show that a relatively small part of new capital comes from investors outside of the present stockholders. The reason, of course, for this is that outside investors have paid two taxes on profits. One as owner of the stock and a second tax on a receipt of dividend.

If the stockholder is in the high brackets and a widower or a single man and had an income before taxes of $200,000, he would have $33,180 out of his $200,000 after taxes, while if his money was retained by the corporation and reinvested for him, he would have $330,000 to buy new tools instead of $33,180.

As to the labor bosses, supported by involuntary union dues, would let the general public believe that eliminating a double tax on earnings was dishonest and harmful to the consumer. They do not tell the truth that the more the man of means is permitted to reinvest without an extra tax, the better off every working man in the world is.

Yes, the labor union bosses repeat economic lies so often and tell such big lies that many, many people have come to believe them.

Any questions?

Demos May Blame Ike For Arab, Asia Loss

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — An effective Republican indictment against the Truman-Acheson foreign policy in 1952 was that it had "lost China" to the Communists. Now, only a sharp and successful reversal of the Administration's program, will prevent the Democrats from retorting that President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles have "lost Asia and the Arabs."

Diplomatic development in the last week has been adverse, if not disastrous, to the West, and especially to the United States. While rulers and peoples reject our aid and alliances, they are entering into closer relationships, political, economic and military, with the Khrushchev-Bulgarian regime.

A brief summary of our reverses presents an appalling panorama. Nasser of Egypt has sent emissaries to persuade his Arabian allies to recognize and trade with Peiping, with whom we have not yet negotiated a Korean peace. Ike is no more popular than Prime Minister Eden in Singapore, Ceylon, Burma, Yemen, Aden and Cyprus, which hold us equally responsible for their past or present colonial subjecting. North African Arabs link us with French domination of their affairs.

Our Mediterranean fleet, for instance, had to be ordered not to touch at principal Cyprus ports for fear of anti-American demonstrations. In fact, there is hardly a harbor from Athens to Singapore where the appearance of an American or British naval force would be welcomed today.

Nor can this antagonism be blamed on proud and sensitive leaders like Nehru, Nasser and Sukarno, although they are partially responsible. Their peoples seem to endorse their views. Ceylon voters have thrown out a pro-Western Premier. Burma tripled Communist membership in Parliament. Jordanian King Hussein bowed to popular clamor when he ordered British officers of the Arab Legion, in Korea, the voters elected a political foe of Syngman Rhee, our mainstay, as Vice President.

Our only other champion in this vast area, Chiang Kai-shek, is losing caste rapidly. The 12,600,000 Chinese of the Pacific and South-East Asia countries are shifting allegiance to Mao Tse-tung. The British and French think our continued recognition of the Formosa exile a diplomatic absurdity. They insist on expanded trade with Red China. In fact, with the new backing of the Arabian bloc, Mao may yet muster enough votes for admission to the United Nations.

These untoward events, which have clamped down a curtain between Washington and the vast Asiatic and Arabian sphere, magnify the importance of Nehru's forthcoming visit to Washington, for this general policy of absolute neutralism, which threatens to turn into outright hostility, is his brain child.

Nehru's advice to Ike and Dulles may be anticipated by analysis of his record. He refuses to engage in alliances with us or with the Communists. He abhors the "cold war." He believes that our "con-

FOR REFLECTION... with JAMES C. MOORE... President, Spiritual Mobilization

Next to President Eisenhower, who would you say is the highest paid employee of the Federal government?

Chances are you're wrong. The correct answer, according to a recent dispatch from Washington, is an alleged racketeer named William G. Lias, who is currently being paid out of Federal funds $35,000 a year to manage the Wheeling Downs Race Track in Wheeling, W. Va.

According to Sen. J. Williams (Rep., Del.), as quoted in the news story, the track was formerly owned by Lias but was put in receivership (with Lias as manager) when he was not able to pay a $250,000 income tax claim.

Lias, says Sen. Williams, started bootlegging in 1914 and branched off into betting, numbers, and slot machines, becoming "the owner and operator of several of the plush gambling rooms between New York and Chicago."

After Lias began drawing his Federal pay, Sen. Williams added, the Justice Department started deportation proceedings against him as "an undesirable alien." Mrs. Lias is also on the Federal payroll for racketeer duty, according to the Senator.

The Treasury blames the Justice Department and the Justice Department blames the Federal court for this fine state of affairs. But no one in Washington has yet explained why an alien racketeer who owes the government $250,000 should be on the Federal payroll — and drawing a salary next to that of the President.

Fair Enough Reds, Crooked Unioners Resort To Violence

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York — Victor Riesel has exhorted congress to investigate some aspects of the union movement. There is a widespread assumption that the attack with acid which put out his eyes was made or procured by either Communists or underworld racketeers of the union forces. It is a notorious fact that both Reds and crooked unioners resort to violence and acid is a favorite weapon of terrorists in the garment trades in which he is a specialist.

Another congressional investigation would not be likely to do any good. There have been many such already and I gave testimony in two of them which has never been refuted or even disputed. In the first case, Congressman Sam Hobbs, of Alabama, was showing up spectacular looting by union extortioners on government construction jobs for the war "effort." Locals of the construction trades around the country were charging initiation fees of as much as $300 as the price of jobs on new barracks and factories. The Roosevelt Administration approved this. The hog-carriers and common laborers' racket, a defiant mob with ramifications all over the country, was charging $50 initiation and $5 a week dues. Other "initiatives" and dues varied; new men were laid off and chased away as soon as they had paid their initiation fees in installments, making room for new suckers.

Mr. Hobbs patiently amassed an enormous and terrible record which Eleanor Roosevelt wrote off with a casual remark that of course irregularities were likely to occur in any such massive effort. One gang in the District of Columbia and in nearby Maryland came under indictments, but the prosecuting attorney was drafted to Japan to assist one of the attorneys for the defense in the prosecution of "war criminals." Nothing ever came of the indictments. However, one of the defendants who had run away to sea to escape the draft and criminal prosecution on the racketeering charge was reported to have been killed or otherwise liquidated in a purely social situation in Australian waters. When I gave my testimony, Roy Howard's Washington Daily News published the story, with art, under heads and cut-lines so abusive that, although I was then working for Scripps-Howard, I telephoned the late George B. Parker, the editor in chief, that this was libelous and demanded satisfaction. Mr. Parker said the journalists who had done this were terminating their connection with the paper, so why not let it go? So we let it go.

The files will show that the treatment of this congressional investigation reflected apathy and tolerance of outrage not only by the press generally but by the government and the public. Some of Riesel's friends have said that the crime against him is worse than murder, but that is not the law of the land. Blinding by acid is mayhem and the law holds that murder is worse. And murder has been so frequent and so little resented that it has become a tolerated prerogative of unioners.

However, if the mayhem on Mr. Riesel should arouse public opinion when so many murders and frightful beatings have faded no impression, then his sacrifice will have been suffered pro bono publico. In that case, possibly those who have offered to contribute toward a "reward" fund of $45,000 would be willing to give their money to Riesel as a stake in life.

In the other congressional "investigation" I discovered that the subcommittee of the house committee on education and labor was loaded with congressmen who were professional unioners in their home towns. One, representing Harry Truman's home district, had a batch of charter for locals of the same hog-carriers' union referred to. There were riots at his union meetings and he boasted that his loyal subjects insisted on prostrating him with two new Cadillac for his convenience in Washington. The chairman of the subcommittee, a lawyer from Indianapolis, had built up a profitable practice in suing big unions on behalf of little locals. He had received $80,000 in one case in which he represented a Baltimore local of the Carpenters against the International. The grand headquarters of the Carpenters and the Printers are in Indianapolis, and, the Teamsters, the biggest jackpot union of them all, also had its headquarters there at that time. The chairman wanted the names and addresses of individuals who had protected or aided in the persecution of big unions. He also wanted their letters with the particulars. It seemed to me to be no part of my duty as a witness to put information of such potential value into the hands of a specialist in that kind of lay who might be returning to private practice one year later — and did. Moreover, the boss unioners were watching and these individual faceless men would have been hurt for squealing to me.

However, there was one witness, a New York seaman worker, Helen Kulesha, who named Dave Dubinsky's union. She pursued her grievance alone and locked Dubinsky singlehanded in the small claims court of the City of New York. The professional unioners of congress who wandered in all wandered out all day mused it all away as being too petty to deserve their interest. So it was. After all, nobody broke her leg or skull or blew her head off. So it was a petty affair, measured by gore, although the deprivation of human rights by Dubinsky's union was as grave and dramatic as the chairman legitimately could have wished.

No further congressional "investigation" is necessary.

The disposition is all that is lacking and that politico-spiritual phenomenon may never occur in our time.

Hankering Mac Wants No Decision Week

By HENRY McLEMORE

America celebrates another special "Weeks" than any other country on earth. We have hundreds of them: National Apple Week, Doughnut Week, Be Kind To Ocelots Week, Plant a Tree Week, etc.

Still, I think we should make room for one more — and it could be the most important one of them all.

I'd call it "National No Decisions Week."

For seven days no one would be allowed to make any of the dozens of worrisome little decisions that Americans have to make every day.

Have you ever stopped to think of the decisions you have to make every day? When you get up in the morning you have to decide whether or not you need a shave, whether to wear the green tie with the brown suit, or the bowtie with the blue suit. Then you go into the kitchen and your wife makes you decide what you want for breakfast.

When you get to work, it is decision after decision. And it doesn't end when you get home. Will you have an olive or an onion in your martini? Would you rather eat in the kitchen, the patio, or go out to dinner? Would you rather call the Kellys and ask them to come over for a movie? And if the movies get your vote, which movie?

There's no end to decision-making when you finally get to bed, either. Will you leave the window wide open, or halfway open. Will you set the alarm clock, or trust yourself to wake up on time? This infernal decision-making never stops. It is helping to wear us out before our time. A national "No Decision Week" would be a blessing. It would be like wading in a cool stream on a hot, hot day. Here's how it would work.

If you went into a store to buy yourself a hat, you wouldn't decide which one you liked. You'd have to take the first one that fit, even if it happened to be one of those funny Tyrolean ones, with a sprig of eiderdown growing out of the crown, or a crash helmet with a big "X" emblazoned on it.

When you went to a restaurant there would be no deciding between pot roast, butterfly shrimp, or leg of lamb. The menu would do all the deciding because there would be but one word on it — Food.

The business of deciding on a movie would be eliminated. During "National No Decision Week" every movie house would run the same picture and when you went in the usher wouldn't ask "Down Front?" or "Toward the Back?" He'd just seat you where he wanted to.

When you got up in the morning, you'd put on the clothes that were handiest. It wouldn't matter if you happened to leave for the office wearing slacks, golf shoes, and a Prince Albert coat, because the chances are that half the other men would be wearing attire equally unjucky.

Even a few days of making no decisions acts like a tonic on a fellow. I know, because I gave it a try for two days. I just drifted about like the wind, refusing to say "yes" or "no" to any problem. It was glorious. When Mary asked me if I were going crazy or something, I said I wasn't even bother to figure it out, and when she asked me what I wanted for dinner I just waved my hand listlessly and said "Oh, any old thing. Noodles and tripe, for all I care."

Of course, when I quit my experiment, I had to decide where Mary had gone. But that's another story altogether.

Indianapolis 500 Racers Will Always Remember Vuky

By OSCAR FRALEY
NEW YORK — UP — The men with the iron arms and the eagle eyes are waiting out the final hours Monday before the grueling Indianapolis 500 and they must, at times, think of the black-browed and bandy-legged little man who won't be there this time around. One year ago, as they sweated through a similar period of anxious anticipation, he was labeled as the man they had to beat. He had done it twice in a row yet they vowed he wouldn't again.

But Bill Vukovich scowled and sneered and promised he would be the first man ever to take the mad merry-go-round three years in a row.

"I'm going to win it," he said flatly. "I didn't come down here for my health."

As if "I'm going to win it" certainly hadn't. But that night at the champion 100-mile-a-hour club dinner, sitting among those others who had driven the grueling 200-mile race at an average speed of better than 100 miles an hour, he regarded his dinner companions almost contemptuously.

He wasn't laughing man, this frozen-faced lobster fisherman from Fresno, Calif., but he grinned as he pulled out a letter from his 12-year-old daughter, Mariene.

"Put your foot through it, daddy," she had written. "I need some new dresses."

"I'll put my foot through it all right," he said in his grating voice. "I'll show 'em it can be done."

Which explains in part why those 33 guys waiting for the starting gun cherish rabbits' feet, good luck coins, baby shoes and four leaf clovers; why they flinch at the color green, don't eat peanuts, refuse to comb their hair before a race and have countless other superstitions. And why they must think at times of the rock-hard little man who dared and died one short year ago.

TWISTED VERDICT—Umpire Artie Gore's clenched fist was ready to call Cincinnati's Frank Robinson out at the plate. But Robinson banged into Wes Westrum, the Giants' catcher, then twisted across the plate safely as the ball was dropped. Robinson had been apparently thrown out while trying to score on a fly ball to Willie Mays in center field.

Three M's Help Cards In Double Win Over The Cubs

By UNITED PRESS
ST. LOUIS — The Cardinals' three M's—Musial, Mize and Mitchell—helped the Cards to a double win over the Cubs Monday night.

Old pro Stan Musial shared the credit with a pair of pitchers Monday for keeping the St. Louis Cardinals breathing down the Milwaukee Braves' necks in the bunched up National League pennant race.

The 35-year old Musial knocked in a total of seven runs and had four hits in six at bats Sunday to swing the "big stick" in the Cardinals' 11-9 and 12-2 triumphs over the Chicago Cubs. But Stan's slugging might not have been enough except for the fine hurling of 30-year old Lindy McDaniel and 25-year old Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mitchell.

McDaniel, a $40,000 bonus baby from Hollis, Okla., stopped the Cubs with one run in the last 4 2-3 innings of the opener to gain credit for his fourth victory without a loss.

Then Mitchell, back after a two-year hitch in the Army, fired overpowering five-hit and 10-strikeout ball in the nightcap to increase his season record to 4-2.

Cards - 13 Points Behind
 The victories left the Cardinals 13 percentage points behind the first-place Braves, who beat the Cincinnati Redlegs, 7-2, although St. Louis has a theoretical half-game bump in the "games behind" column. The Cardinals now have a 6-1 mark against the Cubs, who beat the Redbirds 15 times in 22 meetings last season.

Musial, who increased his average to .292, had two singles in the opener and broke an 8-5 tie with a single in the fifth. In the nightcap, he blasted a double and a three-run homer, knocking in four runs. In all, the Cardinals pounded out 27 hits including nine extra base blows in the two games.

Cub pitcher Jim Davis tied a record by striking out four batters in the sixth inning of the opener but was charged with the defeat.

Veteran Hurler Still Can Pitch Fine Ball

By BILL MABREY
ATLANTA — UP — Atlanta's Sam (Sambo) Elliott tried retiring from the softball mound after 21 years, but after one year he is back in there pitching and adding new pages to his astounding record.

A few days ago the 45-year-old veteran hurler shut out his third straight team, to demonstrate that he still ranks with the best.

Elliott started his softball career back in 1934 as shortfielder on a team that went to the National Softball Association tournament. Following that initial season, he began working to qualify as a pitcher, at the expense of the side of his house.

He painted a home plate on the house and hurled away at it several hours each day. By the time bricks started falling from the house, Elliott had developed the accuracy and speed to begin his climb to softball stardom.

Since he first moved to the mound, Elliott has won 60 games, pitched better than 10 no-hitters, and chalked up some 250 shutouts. He hurled a no-hitter in his pitching debut, and over the years has played his way to softball greatness.

For the first 10 years, Elliott pitched nearly every game, his team played, sometimes four to six a week. His team repeatedly wound up in the national tournaments. In the 1938 tourney, Elliott came under the spotlight by hurling two no-hitters in one day, although his team lost out in the semi-finals.

When World War II came on, Sambo ended up hurling for the team at Jacksonville, Florida, Naval Air Station, where he listed 31 wins without a single setback.

He set his most noteworthy mark in the Georgia State Tournament of 1946 when he hurled three no-hitters in a row.

Elliott recalls his greatest thrill in softball as a ninth-inning homer he smashed in 1951 off John Hunter with one man on base to give his team a 2 to 1 win over the national champions. Hunter had a no-hitter for the Clearwater team.

until Sambo pounded the round-tripper. Sambo says he has one big worry regarding softball, and that is the lack of interest among younger people. He says he sees a lot of people playing the game today who were playing 20 years ago.

"The youngsters around here don't seem to go in for it," he says. He thinks television and cars are mostly to blame.

Game Set

The Pampa Oiler-Carlbad Pot-asher game scheduled for last night here, was cancelled due to wet grounds. A doubleheader is set for this evening in Oiler Park with the first game to start at 6:30 p.m.

Red Dial will pitch one game with Buddy Woods or John Light-berte to twirl in the other tilt for the Oilers. This was the third straight night a Pampa home game has been postponed.

Colleges Are Sponsoring Golf 'Comers'

By ED FITTE
DALLAS — UP — Dallas Centennial Open champion Don January and a couple of other 26-year-old competitive newcomers to the golfing "toed" offered living proof Monday that collegiate golf is spawning the "comers" along the golfing "gold" dust trail.

January, a hometown lad who registers out of Abilene, Tex., after three years as a member of the national collegiate champion team, picked up his first pro championship Sunday — a rich $4,000 — by winning the Centennial Open with a 13-under par 208.

Dow Finklerwald, who primed for his pro career at Ohio University shared second and third place money of $4,000 with National PGA champion Doug Ford of Mahopac, N. Y., at 269, while still another graduate of that fine North Texas State team, Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., finished fourth at 272 and won $1,800.

Finklerwald, who registers out of Bedford Heights, Ohio, boosted his season money winnings to $16,261.85 — tops among the pros, while Maxwell raised his to $11,660.33, and Ford to $10,156.81, all well among the top 10.

January, who led the tournament through the first two rounds and then yielded the lead to Finklerwald, by one stroke going into the final round, blasted 13 feet from a downhill lie in a sandtrap for an eagle, duce on the 18th to finish with a 35-33-67. It was his third eagle of the pressure-packed final round.

The others came on a 25-foot chip in on the first hole and a tremendous drive on the 299-yard 11th hole that left him only four feet from the cup for an eagle duce.

He also rolled home birdie putts of 25 and 30 feet on the ninth and 14th holes to help offset four bogies brought on when his usual accurate and short irons deserted him.

January's First Triumph
 It was January's initial tournament triumph in a year and eight days as a pro, although he had picked up nearly $5,500 in prize money already in this year, thanks mainly to tournament finishes in the Tucson and Pensacola Opens.

Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Jackson Bradley of Houston, split $2,800 between them as they tied for fifth place at 278, while five players won $910 each in deadlocking for seventh with 274. They were Johnny Palmer of Tulsa, Okla.; Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex.; Tommy Bolt of Houston, Tex.; Jimmy Demaret of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., and Don Fairfield of Casey, Ill.

Most of the pros will compete in a $8,000 pro-am at Oak Cliff Country Club Monday while awaiting the start Thursday of the lucrative $70,000 Texas International Open — also over the Preston Hollow Country Club's tight, but treacherous 6,200-yard layout.

Top Stars Still Favored In The Coming Olympic Trials

By HAL WOOD
MODESTO, Calif. — UP — The tuneup for the late-June Olympic trials was in full swing Monday and the favorites started to shape up for the world's biggest track meet.

In the wake of record-smashing Saturday performances at the California relays here, the ICAA, the Big Ten and the other metes, these are the men to watch when it comes time for the showdown on the U. S. Olympic chances.

100-YARD DASH — Bobby Morrow of Abilene Christian, who ran the distance twice at Modesto in 9.4 and looked so powerful that it would take a jet plane to beat him. Bobb Wilden of Texas and Mike Agostini of Trinidad definitely were no competition for Morrow.

200-DASH — Dave Sims of Hurdles — Jack Davis of the U. S. navy is the lad who may come closest to breaking the world record in the highs. He won the high hurdles here in 13.8 and was clocked two weeks ago at 13.6.

HIGH JUMP — If you have to hand it to Compton College's Charles Dumas. The top opposition to Dumas has been furnished by USC's Bill Russell and Southern Methodist's Don Stewart. Both with the chips down the other night Dumas cleared the bar at 6-9 3/4, while Russell failed at 6-8 and Stewart at 6-6.

POLE VAULT — Bob Gutowski of Occidental won the California Relays with a leap of 15 feet 8 1/2 inch, the same time as Don Bragg of Villanova was clearing 15 feet in the ICAA meet.

SHOT PUT — Parry O'Brien looks like a cinch, and Fortune Garlen should win the discus handily.

JAVELIN — Olympic Champion Cy Young is rounding into form and has a toss of 241 feet here. But Jim Higgins of BYU and the world champion, Bud Held, will make it tough.

The best relay teams in the country come from the State of Texas. Abilene Christian, with Morrow running the anchor lap, tied the recognized world mark of 40.2 in the 440 and equalled the world mark of 1:24 in the 880.

The meet at Modesto was won by USC with 39 3/4 points, followed by UCLA, 38. San Diego Navy, 28 3/8, San Francisco Olympic Club, 27 5/8, and Abilene Christian, 25.

Kiwanis To Co-Sponsor Softball

The Pampa Kiwanis club and several churches will sponsor a Church League softball program again this summer.

The Kiwanis club, which earlier had planned on dropping the program because of lack of interest, recently named a committee to work on the program in conjunction with church representatives when interest picked up.

An organizational meeting was recently held in which several churches expressed a desire to play again this summer.

Another meeting will be held in the near future to set up a schedule of play. The club this year will not take the lead in sponsoring the games but will again furnish equipment and help to get the program underway.

Giardello Is The Favorite

NEW YORK — UP — Joye Giardello of Philadelphia, ex-middleweight contender, is favored at 3-1 to turn the tables on Charley Cotton of Toledo, Ohio, Monday night in their return 10-round TV fight at St. Nicholas Arena.

Cotton, 28, won an upset, unanimous decision over 35-year-old Joye at St. Nick's three weeks ago, but Giardello appeared off-form that night, and his supporters expect him to be much sharper this time.

The May 7th match was the first tough fight for "Bad Boy" Giardello since he returned to action after a brush with the law, and he tired in the late going. Cotton, then weighing 154 1/2 pounds to Joye's 159 1/2, had him in trouble in the ninth round.

Turner Switches Partners

MONTICELLO, N. Y. — UP — Howie Turner, the Brooklyn heavyweight who had been working as one of Tommy Jackson's sparring partners at Summit, N. Y., has taken up similar duties here at Floyd Patterson's camp. Jackson and Patterson clash in a 12-rounder at Madison Square Garden June 8.

Head Is Tennis Favorite

BARCELONA, Spain — UP — Lew Had of Australia is favored to win the men's singles title in the Godo International Tennis Tournament which begins Monday. Art Larsen, Herb Flam, Bob Perry and Budge Patty head the U. S. entries.

Backstairs Scenes At White House

By MERIMAN SMITH
WASHINGTON —UP— Backstairs at the White House: Mr. Eisenhower showed some concern the other day about the health of his agriculture secretary, Ezra T. Benson.

Benson, who does not smoke, had had a heavy cough for the last several weeks.

Mr. Eisenhower spotted the condition and recommended that Benson have an immediate checkup. Benson had several examinations. The doctors said he should take it easier. But the Secretary is still going full speed ahead with a heavy work and speaking schedule.

Interesting aspect of the President's recent appearance in Waco, Tex.:

A substantial portion of his crowd from the airport to the speaking auditorium consisted of Negro school children.

Two things really struck the President during the show produced for him by the White House correspondents last week:

A rather bravura opening in which 80 singers did the old familiar songs of Victor Herbert, one of the founders of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Producers.

James Cagney, a fifthish old hooper who has since risen to the "Oscar" plateau in the motion picture industry.

Among the other attractions at the correspondents dinner for the President last week was Dizzy Gillespie and his band. Gillespie is the current high priest of "cool" or progressive jazz any he and his unit returned only the night before the dinner from a highly successful tour of the Middle East under government auspices.

The predominantly middle-aged guests of the President and the association found Gillespie somewhat hard to follow.

When the President left the room, played out to the walls by Gillespie on a shaky "Hail To The Chief," the Chief Executive said:

Chilton Youth Killed
WACO, Tex. —UP— The body of Don Ed Reeves, 17, of Chilton, was found in a ditch near a bridge 12 miles south of Waco Sunday. Authorities said they believed Reeves' motorcycle had struck the bridge about 24 or 36 hours earlier and thrown him head first into the ditch. The body was found on state Hwy. 164 near Golinda.

Mount Etna is Europe's tallest active volcano.

"I like that man and what he's done for us overseas. But what was he playing?"

News In Brief

RALEIGH, N.C. May 28 —UP— Police Chief Tom Davis says too many persons were arrested for drunkenness at a rock and roll music shows here last week. He blamed it on the zealousness of "rookie" officers.

Police arrested 17 persons at the show but Davis said the normal force of four officers was augmented by 10 rookies attending a police training school who volunteered their services.

JACKSON, Miss., May 28 —UP— A woman dog-lover complained to Sheriff Albert Jones about monthly "dogfights" being held at a local country club.

Jones explained that "dogfight" was a term for a golf game in which a four-man team play by a point system.

DURBAN, South Africa, May 28 —UP— Hundreds of radio fans are pestering the South African Broadcasting Corp. for prizes they have not won.

Officials said smooth-talking men posing as announcers have been telephoning housewives, asking quiz questions and awarding all sorts of non-existent cash prizes.

6.1¢ makes any regular gasoline expensive to use;
6.1¢ makes any "cut-rate" gasoline expensive to use:

Now Skelly Supreme Gasoline does for your engine what no other gasoline can do. As other gasolines burn, they build up power-stealing carbon and lead deposits in your engine. And the more you drive, the more these deposits increase and the more troublesome they become.

But Skelly Supreme Gasoline now reduces carbon and lead deposits left by other gasolines. And the more you drive, the more your engine benefits from Skelly Supreme.

The Secret Is Keotane

Keotane is a type of gum-removing formula petroleum engineers have sought for years. The action of Keotane is so different from any previously known gasoline formulation that Skelly has filed patent application for its use.

Gum Is Like A Glue

Gum is the "glue" that holds carbon and lead in combustion chambers. Others have attempted to neutralize the effects of carbon and lead deposits, but Skelly actually reduces them with Keotane, by dissolving the glue-like gum that holds these deposits. And without gum to stick to, carbon and lead go out the exhaust.

Tests Prove Keotane Benefits:

In actual dynamometer tests, engines run on Skelly Supreme Gasoline with Keotane were compared against engines run on the same fuel without Keotane. Based on Southwest Research Institute data, engines that used Skelly Supreme with Keotane averaged:

- 12.7% gain in mileage.
- The performance effect of 3 more octane points.
- 14.6% more h. p. output.

These and other benefits of new Keotane formula add up to over 6¢ extra value per gallon.

So next time you need gasoline, drive into your nearby Skelly station. Ask for illustrated folder on Keotane. Tell your friendly Skellyman to "fill 'er up" with Skelly Supreme with Keotane—the premium gasoline that makes all other gasolines expensive to use!

Estimated Extra Value Per Gallon To You, Of Skelly Supreme Gasoline With Keotane:
(Based on average current premium gasoline prices in the Midwest)
12.7% average gain in mileage	3.8¢
3 octane points extra performance effect	1.0¢
14.6% more horsepower output (h.p. saved or added)8¢
Less gum and cleaner carburetors, faster starts with fewer sputters, longer life for batteries5¢
Estimated extra value per gallon to you	6.1¢

The extra values shown above are conservative estimates by our engineers. These extra values are not figured against inferior premium gasolines or regular grade gasolines, but against Skelly Supreme Gasoline, the best top-octane premium gasoline previously made.
