Airman Dies In Freak Mishap

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (UP)—A young paratrooper pinned to the underbelly of a troop-carrier plane mouthed the word "please" more than 100 times, but died dangling in the deafening slipstream Tuesday when crewmen failed to rescue him.

The crew tried for nearly three hours to free Pfc. Wayne H. Flugum, 23, of LeLand, Iowa, whose chute-opening line became fouled during a training jump. His parachute did not open. Doctor's estimated he died in the air before a final effort to drop him on a foam-cushioned runway could be carried out.

A jet plane sent aloft in a rescue attempt, nudged the spreadeagled soldier with its wingtip tank in an effort to dislodge him so rescuers could pull him into the plane.

May Have "Drowned"

"It was a 90 degree angle and we just couldn't get him up that high," said Sgt. Salvador M. Zamudio of San Antonio, Tex., flight engineer of the plane.

"We had hold of him once," he said. "One man had hold of each of his hands and I grabbed the back of his fatigues but the slipstream was so strong we couldn't hold him."

Doctors said Flugum may have "drowned" in the sea of rushing air or been crushed against the plane by the terrific pressure of its slipstream.

Flugum indicated to crewmen trying frantically to haul him back aboard the plane that his helmet strap was choking him.

Body Hardly Scratched

Crewmen finally cut his body loose as the plane landed on a foam-coated runway at nearby Pope Air Force Base. Medical officers said Flugum had been dead for 30 minutes to two hours.

They said he was "hardly scratched" from the fall into the foam which covered 1,000 feet of runway.

Zamudio said later that Flugum "talked to us but he couldn't hear himself because of the noise and it was mostly lip-reading and sign language."

When Flugum indicated that the helmet strap was cutting off his breathing Zamudio said he tried to remove the helmet, "But I just couldn't reach it."

He said Flugum's lips formed the word "please" over and over. "I've must have said 'Please' a hundred times, asking us to 'please' get him in the plane. We just couldn't."

City Grants Extra Time On Contract

In late action yesterday, the City Commission approved the request of Brodie-Enix Construction Company that the firm be allowed more time on its contract with the city.

The firm is doing the construction work on new water and sewer lines and the request for additional time to complete the construction became necessary due to the recent rains that have caused delay in digging the ditches for the lines.

The civics class of the summer term at Pampa High School were guests of the commission yesterday and observed the manner in which city business is handled.

The commission also decided that street lights presently in use on Cuyler between Brown and Browning will be placed in city parks when the new lighting system on these business blocks is completed.

The commission approved a plan of Southwestern Public Service Company whereby new lights will be erected in the seven-block area on Cuyler and in the 100 block of E. Foster. No date for the starting of the work on changing the lighting system was given.

Plans call for the lights removed from Cuyler to be placed in Hobart Street Park, Lions Club Park, Prairie Village Park and Alameda Park. The number of lights to be erected in each park has not been determined but approximately 50 lights will be available for placing in the parks.

Committee Probes Union Fund Handling

WASHINGTON (UP)—The House Labor Committee today kicked off a sweeping investigation into the handling of nearly 40 billion dollars in union welfare funds.

Committee Chairman Graham A. Barden (D-N.C.) urged the inquiry on the ground that Congress should pass legislation to protect workers from any racketeers in labor leadership.

The group summoned as its first witness Art Holbrook, chief examiner for the Washington State Insurance Commission, whom Barden described as an expert on the handling of union funds at the state level.

Also called to testify was Martin S. House, a former official of the New York State Insurance Commission. Barden said House would act as a special counsel for the committee during the investigation.

Barden described the opening session as "setting our compass to see where we are heading." He said the committee would hold a "general discussion" with Holbrook and House on the problems to be investigated.

Oiler Indebtedness Totals $25,000

By CHARLES CULLIN
Pampa News Sports Editor

On May 15, after a wet and unsuccessful partial season which culminated 19 years of professional baseball here, the Pampa Oilers folded with an approximate indebtedness of $25,000.

During the time of the team's organization, there were years of prosperity intermingled with seasons of financial difficulties, but the past three seasons proved too much for the club to pull through.

Things began to look hopeless at the end of last season when the total gate was $10,000 less than it had been the previous season. Plans were made this season, according to G. F. Branson, president of the board of directors for the Pampa Community Baseball Association, to cut operating expenses in an effort to save the club, but weather, and lack of support, prevented this last stand from being successful.

At the time of folding, the Oilers had played five home games and had eight rained out. Average attendance ranged less than 300 fans per game, when 1000 were needed to meet expenses. Another contributing factor, according to Branson, was $1,800 in debts owed the Oilers by Pampa businessmen.

Of the total deficit, $15,000 is on a bank note underwritten by individuals. The remaining $10,000 is a complete loss to debtors.

Debts owed by the club are mainly for meals, hotels, doctor bills, advertising and transportation. Approximately $2,000 of this is owed to out of town firms.

Salaries for players and club

City Grants Extra Time On Contract

By CHARLES CULLIN
Pampa News Sports Editor

Three players were sold from the club for $2,700 but the money was kept by the office of George M. Troutman, National Baseball Association proxy, for Oilers bills.

Before the club folded, a loan of $100,000 was applied for from the $500,000 slush fund set up by major leagues for minor league teams. This request was possibly denied on the grounds that no grant could be given a club with an existing indebtedness, or to a club not responding to requests for financial statements and other information. According to Branson, these rules are set up in such a way as to render it nearly impossible for minor league clubs to receive aid.

He also stated that no attempt at aid to the Oilers was made from the commissioner's office.

When asked if any plans had been made to pay existing indebtedness, Branson said that there were none. He did add however that he thought the "Chamber of Commerce should start a drive to help clear up the debts, especially those owed to other towns. It is definitely a black eye to Pampa," he stated.

He added that he wished to express the thanks of the present board of directors for the help they received during the past seasons, and to the directors themselves for the "great amount of free work and money they contributed."

When asked if he thought professional baseball would ever come back to Pampa, Branson said, "I do not."

Jordan, Egypt Diplomatic Relations Near Breaking Point

By WALTER LOGAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Diplomatic relations between Jordan and Egypt neared the breaking point today.

Cairo radio savagely attacked Jordan's leaders as traitors who should go to the gallows and blamed them for the loss of Palestine in 1948 when Israel defeated the Arab world.

It was the most bitter attack ever made by Cairo's "Voice of the Arabs" on another Arab state; it emphasized that Syria and Egypt had been left alone in the bloc of "positive neutrality."

Libya also was angry at the Egyptian government. Foreign Minister Wahbe Buri summoned Egyptian Ambassador Ahmed Hassan Fagih to his office in Tripoli and protested against Egyptian press attacks on Libya's rulers.

An Amman dispatch said Abdel Moneim El Rifai, the Jordanian ambassador expelled by Egypt, had returned home and accused the Egyptian government of misusing Arab nationalism for its own interests.

King Hussein himself was conferring with King Saud of Saudi Arabia on the worsening relations between Jordan and Egypt and it appeared the Arab rift extended to Saudi Arabia and Egypt as well.

Saudi Arabia and Jordan issued a communique today announcing that travel by Moslem pilgrims to Mecca via the Gulf of Aqaba was undesirable because of the "current situation" in the gulf. The communique cited Israel as responsible for the unsatisfactory conditions in the Aqaba area. Saudi Arabia recently protested to the U.N. Security Council against the presence of Israeli war vessels in what it called "Arab territorial waters."

Israeli dispatches hinted that the United States had urged Israel to tone down its claims to use the Gulf of Aqaba and to go slow on sending an Israeli test ship through the Suez Canal.

Aid for Jordan

Jordan was depending more and more on Saudi Arabia for economic help, and an Amman dispatch today said a plan was being worked out whereby Saudi Arabia would buy more of Jordan's industrial products and invest more money in the Jordanian economy.

Tuesday, in a demonstration of solidarity, Hussein and Saud drove through the beleaguered streets of Jordan to the cheers of thousands of Arabs lining the narrow sidewalks. They did not receive.

US Blasts Red Policy

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States today accused the Soviet Union of waging a campaign of "subversive intervention" in the troubled Middle East.

This government, in a note delivered to the Soviet Ministry of Foreign Affairs in Moscow, also rejected as "unnecessary" an earlier Soviet proposal for a Big Four declaration against using force in the Middle East.

The Soviet proposal was made by Moscow in notes to the United States, Britain and France and dated April 19.

Diplomats said Britain and France also have delivered new notes in Moscow on the Middle East. The notes were said to be "parallel although not identical."

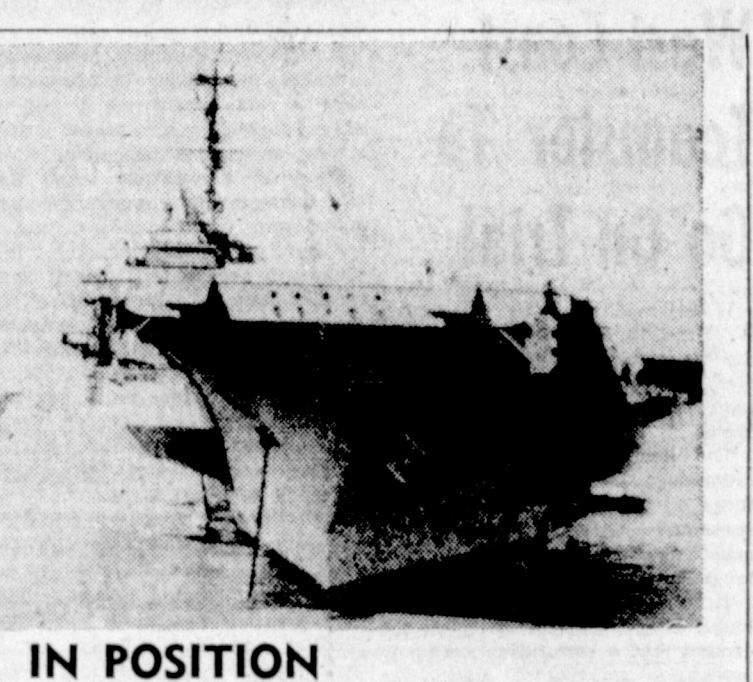

The U. S. note took sharp issue with a Soviet assertion that its concern about Middle East conditions stemmed from the close proximity of the area to Soviet territory.

"It may be generally observed that it is just those countries lying closest to the Soviet Union which have been most vigorously attacked in the recent Soviet campaign of threat and intimidation aimed at the legitimate efforts for self defense undertaken by the nations in question," the note said.

"Public attacks upon governments of these states, together with subversive intervention in their domestic affairs, give them good cause to seek the strengthening of their security."

The United States challenged Moscow to work through the United Nations if it "sincerely desires to contribute toward the establishment of peace and security in the Middle East."

The note added that Moscow could help toward solution "of fundamental problems in the area, among which the Arab - Israeli dispute is outstanding."

Jimmy Dorsey Dies Today In New York

NEW YORK (UP)—Bandleader Jimmy Dorsey, 53, died today at Doctors Hospital five months after he underwent surgery for removal of a growth from his lung.

Dorsey's brother and long-time associate, trombonist Tommy Dorsey, died last Nov. 26 at his home in Greenwich, Conn.

Jimmy Dorsey entered the hospital last January for surgery and was able to return briefly to conducting at a midtown hotel in February. He returned to the hospital March 13 and had been confined ever since.

Dorsey, famed as a clarinetist, began his career on another instrument—the cornet—in his father's brass band when he was in his teens. Jimmy and Tommy organized their first combination in 1920 and had an off-and-on-again partnership as band leaders until Tommy's death.

Surviving besides the widow, the former Jane Porter, whom he married in 1927, is a daughter, Julie Lou.

Old Air Base Auctioned For $1/4 Million

The site of the old Pampa Air Base and pipe on the site sold at public auction yesterday for nearly a quarter-of-a-million dollars.

The auction was held at the Show Barn at Recreation Park at 2 p.m. and was conducted by Wayne Cook Associates, Inc., of Dallas.

Charles Robertson of Arkadelphia, Ark., was the successful bidder on the water, sewer and gas mains. His bid was $37,500. According to the terms of the sale, (See AIR BASE, Page 2)

Commissions Talk Lake McClellan

The McClellan Lake issue was the topic of discussion this morning in a joint meeting of the city and county commissioners.

The government has offered to give Lake McClellan to the city of Pampa provided the city repairs damage done to the spillway by recent downpours and complies with one or two other stipulations.

A representative from the Civil Defense Agency, Tillman Witt, was here today to make a brief estimate of the cost.

Original construction plans were sent to Fred Brook, city manager, by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Judge Bruce Parker said there was a possibility of receiving some federal aid for the repair project on the grounds that the broken spillway endangered health and life.

Some expressed opinions in the meeting that the project would have to be handled solely on the grounds of a recreational area.

The opinion was also forwarded that the question should be put to the voters, since neither the county nor city has sufficient funds at the present to undertake the project.

The meeting was still in progress late this morning.

Controversy High In Girard Case

By LEE NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—Controversy mounted in the Girard case today over whether a high defense official gave away damaging evidence against GI William S. Girard.

The official, Defense Department general counsel Robert Dechert, said Tuesday night he was misquoted as saying U. S. findings indicated the Ottawa, Ill., soldier "enticed" a Japanese woman closer before firing an empty cartridge that killed her on a firing range in Japan.

Dechert, in a statement issued at the Pentagon, said the statement attributed to him by a Miami, Fla., reporter "omits the crucial words 'the Japanese claim.'"

"At no time did I express a personal opinion as to whether actions charged to Girard were or were not in line of duty, or whether Girard did or did not act to entice the Japanese to approach him," Dechert said.

He voiced "deep regret" his statements had caused "such a complete misunderstanding" and added he "certainly did not intend any injustice" to Army Specialist 3-c Girard.

The reporter for the Miami Herald who interviewed Dechert at Coral Gables, Fla., Monday night insisted he had quoted the defense official correctly. He kept his notes and would stick by his quotations. His editors said they would back him up.

Criticism Follows

Dechert told the United Press he "probably did" tell the Miami newspaper that statements of Japanese witnesses plus that of Girard's GI companion made it clear Girard enticed Mrs. Naka Sakai closer before firing an empty shell from a grenade launcher that killed her.

But the defense official explained this had been in the press and he was merely explaining the Japanese position.

Six Pampa Youths Still Missing

The six Pampa youths reported missing yesterday morning have not been located, Jim Conner, chief of police, and H. A. Doggett, juvenile officer, reported this morning.

Officers in other towns throughout the area have been notified to watch for the three boys and three girls and if they are located to notify local authorities.

The father of one of the boys reported to local officers yesterday morning that his 17-year-old stepson had borrowed his 1957 Plymouth Monday night and had not returned.

Investigation by the officers revealed that the other five youths, all friends, were also missing.

One Collision Reported Here

The only collision within the city limits yesterday reported to the police department occurred at 10:15 p.m. in the 800 block of W. Francis, 25 feet east of Hobart.

A '52 Buick, driven by Henry B. Dunn, Lefors, and a '55 Chevrolet, driven by Dayton Duwain Orr, 903 E. Francis, were in collision.

Damages to the two cars were estimated at $75 each.

Surveys To Be Taken By Council

Plans for the four surveys to be taken by the Pampa Council of Social Agencies were revealed at a meeting of the group at noon yesterday at People's Drive-in, according to Jimmy Massa, president.

Chairmen of the four standing committees that will make the surveys were introduced by Cliff Whitney. The chairmen and the committees are: Don Cain, health; E. E. Shelhamer, youth and recreation; Calvin Whately, family and welfare; and Aubrey Steele, education.

The chairmen of these committees will meet in the near future and compile a skeleton survey form that will be used in making the four surveys. The forms are to be sent to various people throughout the community, Massa reported.

Bill Loving, chairman of the committee compiling the directory, reported to those attending the meeting yesterday that work on the directory is progressing satisfactorily and the directory will be ready for issuance by fall.

The invocation for the meeting was given by Rev. Ronald Hubbard and Massa said that yesterday's meeting was the last one until September.

Agencies Surveying Road, Bridge Damage

A representative of the federal civil defense agency and one from the Bureau of Public Roads were in Pampa today to survey recent rain damage to county roads and bridges and estimate how much federal aid in repairs could be made.

Tillman Witt, federal civil defense administrator of the regional office at Denton, and Edward C. Richardson, an engineer from the office of the Bureau of Public Roads in Austin, were working on the estimate today.

Witt will leave today, however, Richardson is expected to stay several days to complete his figures. He is working with the resident state highway engineer, G. K. Reading, and consulting engineer Wayland Merriman.

Witt told The News this morning he thought Richardson would have a tentative estimate in about three days, but that it would have to go through the regional office in Fort Worth where it would need the approval of the chief engineer.

He speculated that it would be approximately three weeks before the county would know exactly how much money it would receive.

Gray County Judge Bruce Parker had made application to the state civil defense board in Austin for federal disaster aid in rebuilding the county's damaged roads and bridges. Witt and Richardson are here as a result of his request.

Witt said the federal agency would help providing the county did not have surplus money in its treasury.

"This is designed only to put up temporary structures in order to make roads passable."

However, Witt explained, if the county desired to build permanent structures, the aid could be applied toward that, with the county assuming the remainder of the cost.

At the request of the city, Witt was to make an inspection of the damaged spillway at Lake McClellan before returning to get an estimate of replacement costs.

The federal government has offered to give the city of Pampa Lake McClellan if, among other stipulations, the city will repair damage to the spillway.

The federal civil defense office in Denton is in charge of disaster relief for five states, four of which are receiving aid now.

Bond Set By Court On Pampan

Roy Valdez, Green Top Courts, was released from County jail today on a $1,000 bond after charges of breaking and entering at night had been filed against him in 31st District Court this morning.

Valdez was arrested at 2:10 p.m. on Saturday, June 1, after Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hamburg, 1301 S. Barnes, reported to local officers that a man had broken into their house.

According to Mrs. Hamburg, the man, who spoke Spanish, had entered the house through a kitchen window and had grabbed her while she was asleep.

Investigation by the officers established the identity of the man and the case was turned over to the sheriff's department since the offense had occurred outside the city limits.

Valdez had been held in the county jail until this morning when the charges were filed against him. The case will be presented to the Grand Jury at its next session.

Governor Signs 61 Bills

AUSTIN (UP)—Gov. Price Daniel put his signature on 61 bills Tuesday, clearing most legislation passed by the 55th Legislature.

Today is the deadline for Daniel to act on bills passed by the Legislature. If he leaves any unsigned, they become law without his signature.

Daniel signed a bill authorizing commissioners courts to regulate construction of roads or streets in subdivisions outside the boundaries of incorporated towns or cities in counties having a population of not more than 100,000, by Rep. Louis Dugas of Beaumont.

Others included:

Providing that two of the appointees of the Governor to the State Commission for the Blind be reputable blind citizens of the state, by Rep. Criss Cole of Houston.

Removing the requirement that information supplied to the tax collector by a taxpayer applying for his poll tax receipt by mail must be under oath, by Rep. Paul Pressler of Houston.

Creating the County Court at Law Number Four of Harris county, by Rep. Robert W. Baker of Houston.

Establishing the County Court at Law number three of Bexar county, by Rep. Joe Lee Hensley of San Antonio.

Making it unlawful to sell any rat poison or insect poison which contains thallium and sulphate or any other thallium compound in sufficient quantity to be dangerous to health or life of a human being, by Rep. Will Smith of Beaumont.

Increasing funds the board of directors of Texas A&M College may spend without legislative authority on buildings at the adjunct of the college in Kimble County, by Rep. Joe Burkett of Kerrville.

Authorizing the land commissioner to enter into an agreement with the federal government to contract for survey of the Texas Gulf Coast line to determine the low water contour along the Gulf coast, by Rep. R. H. Cory of Victoria.

Providing for declaratory judgment suits to be brought against the state to determine if the anti-trust laws of the state are being violated or if they will be violated, by Rep. Alonzo Jamison of San George.

Regulating fishing in the waters of that portion of Galveston Bay lying within Chambers, Galveston and Harris counties, north of a line extending from San Leon to Smith Point, by Rep. William Elliott of Pasadena.

Requiring storage garages to report identity of vehicles left in storage over 30 days if believed to be abandoned, by Sen. Frank Owen of El Paso.

Creating Wilbarger Creek Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 of Bastrop and Travis counties, by Sen. Charles Herring of Austin.

Authorizing Texas Technological College to lease certain land to the city of Lubbock for an art museum, by Sen. Preston Smith of Lubbock.

Billy Graham Ends First Month Of New York Crusade

By ALBIN KREBS
NEW YORK (UP)—Billy Graham ended the first month of his New York crusade Tuesday night before a Madison Square Garden audience that swelled total attendance at his sermons over the half million mark.

A near-capacity audience of 17,500 brought total attendance for the past 28 days to 501,000. Graham's call for "decisions for Christ" was heeded by 686 persons, bring the total of "decisions" to 16,929.

The committee running the crusade had planned originally to end it June 30, but present plans call for a grand finale July 21 in Yankee Stadium. Graham has hinted the crusade would be extended even beyond July 21.

The evangelist confessed frankly in his sermon that when preachers at one time told him he could be saved by accepting Jesus Christ as his savior "I thought they were off their rockers."

Using Christ's touching and healing of the leper as his text (Mark 1:45), Graham said that "all through the Bible the word leprosy stands for sin" and that "as leprosy separates you from your fellow men, sin separates you from God."

Half Million In Tokens Lost In NY City

NEW YORK (UP)—Transit Authority officials collectively shook their heads today, pondering the whereabouts of the hundreds of thousands of subway tokens that have mysteriously gone astray during the past two years.

Not that they're alarmed. For in this case, the loss of the 15 cent tokens is the Transit Authority's gain—to the tune of more than a half million dollars.

A study covering a recent two-year period showed that the authority netted a profit averaging $17,250 a month in tokens bought but never used. As of April 30, the total was $483,000. It since has exceeded $500,000.

According to the authority, the mass disappearance average about 115,000 tokens a month. The tokens cost about one cent apiece.

What happens to the tokens? Some, transit officials say, just get irretrievably lost. But there are other reasons to explain their disappearance.

E. Vincent Curtayne, authority member in charge of finances, says it has discovered a fad to have tokens gold-plated and strung on charm bracelets.

Many of the tokens leave the city forever with homeward-bound out-of-town visitors.

Recently, Curtayne said, the authority received a check and request from a Chicago man for 30 tokens. He explained that he wanted to distribute them to friends.

Golfers have found use for the tokens on the golf course, Curtayne said.

"They make excellent stymie markers for golf balls," Teamster vice president and executive assistant to president Dave Beck; Nugent Lapoma, secretary treasurer of local 174, Seattle, and Harry Reiss, secretary treasurer of local 284, New York.

Brewster was questioned by the racket committee about his race horse activities and financial procedures in the Western conference of Teamsters.

Brewster, who runs the Needmore Stables as a sideline, told the committee he could not remember if the Teamsters union ever paid any of his personal bills.

9-Hour Swim In Wait For Rescue Ship

GLASGOW, Scotland (UP)—An unsinkable British sailor with a past record of falling into ponds and rivers fell into the Pacific Ocean Tuesday and swam nine hours before his ship returned to pick him up.

The sailor was Douglas Wardrop, second mate of the freighter British Monarch. The ship's owner reported today he fell overboard when the ship was 1,000 miles out of Panama en route to Japan and wasn't missed until the ship had gone 100 miles.

His mother gave high praise for the ship's captain for the "miraculous" rescue—and the incredible navigation that returned the ship to the exact spot. But she said it was nothing new for Douglas.

He fell into a series of ponds while a child and once tumbled into the Thames River while fishing.

Capt. John Couets, 50, steered back to the exact spot where Wardrop had fallen overboard—and found him floating in the sea unharmed despite the fact that the area is notorious for sharks.

First news of the rescue came in a cable from Couets to the shipowners, the Monarch Steamship Company, Ltd.

The cable said tersely: "Second mate fell overboard at 0430 was not missed until 0800 stop vessel turned and steamed on reverse course second mate sighted and picked up at 1330 now all well stop will report from Japan."

Postmaster Warns Against Mail Frauds

Postmaster O. K. Gaylor today urged residents of Pampa to report promptly to their post office any instance of medical frauds involving use of the mails, or of false advertising material involving apparent medical quackery that enters their homes.

Gaylor said his suggestion was prompted by reports he has received from Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield and Chief Inspector David H. Stephens that use of the mails for medical quackery is at an all-time high.

The local post office, Postmaster Gaylor explained, under instructions from the Postal Inspection Service, turns complaints of medical fraud, as well as all other complaints of any type of mail fraud—which are welcomed—over to postal inspectors for prompt investigations.

In accordance with the provisions of said House Bill, the State Highway Commission is authorized and set forth in the proposal the wage rates for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to complete the work on above named project, now prevailing in the locality in which the work is to be performed, and the Contractor shall not pay less than these wage rates as shown in the proposal for each craft or type of laborer, workman or mechanic employed on this project.

Legal holiday work shall be paid for at the regular governing rates. Plans and specifications available at the office of R. K. Reading, Resident Engineer, Pampa, Texas, and Texas Highway Department, Austin. Usual office hours.

West Coast Teamster To Go On Trial

WASHINGTON (UP)—Frank W. Brewster, West coast boss of the Teamsters Union, was scheduled to go on trial today in district court for contempt of Congress.

The Senate last February unanimously cited Brewster and three other Teamster officials for contempt in refusing to answer questions before the permanent investigating subcommittee.

The Teamster vice president based his refusal to testify on the ground that a committee set up to investigate government operations had no authority to look into labor affairs.

Also cited were Einar O. Mohn, H. B. Lawley was table topic master and read 11 table topic questions. An educational speaker, N. P. Olson, gave a short talk.

Three speakers were also evaluated, Lawley was evaluated by P. V. Ellison; O. C. Roles by Olson; and E. C. Juenger by W. A. Morgan.

The general evaluator was L. P. Kuntz, and the acting grammarian was Griswald Rogers. All visitors and prospective members have been invited to attend the meetings.

Information Is Gained On 'Atlas'

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UP)
The explosion of the giant ballistic missile, the Atlas, gave scientists valuable information which was used intensively today. The huge intercontinental rocket exploded shortly after its maiden launching Tuesday.

The silver, nub-nosed projectile, estimated to be about 100 feet long, rocketed 5,000 feet into the sky from this Air Force guided missile center. It then exploded in a blossom of orange flame and red-hot chunks of metal cascaded into the Atlantic Ocean.

In a terse statement, the Air Force announced: "A missile was fired from the Cape Canaveral testing area today. Shortly after the launching the missile exploded. There were no casualties."

Valuable information was gained as a result of this test. Extended flight testing of rocket missiles in support of a long range ballistic missiles program and others has been going on for some time and will continue."

There was no explanation of what caused the missile to explode—whether it was exploded by remote control, or whether something uncontrollable occurred.

Farmers are Moving Into Drying Fields

AUSTIN (UP) — Farmers moved into drying fields this week over most of the state, in some areas for the first time since early April, the U.S. Department of Agriculture said Tuesday. Clearing skies late last week and hot, sunny weather over the week-end let farmers get back in to fields to rush urgent small grain harvest, planting, cultivation or hay baling. The USDA said that by Monday morning better - drained soils were dry enough to work over most of the state. However, bottom lands and scattered areas, particularly in North Texas were still wet. A few wheat and oat fields in the low rolling plains were combined late last week. Summer-time temperatures dried soils over the week-end and as soon as the dew was off Monday morning combines were on the move, the USDA said.

Grains Take Beating Small grains in the cross timbers and northern blacklands "took a terrific beating" from last week's wind and rain, the USDA added. Much oats and wheat were matted on the ground with open weather a "must" to save the crops. The report said even high plains wheat has ample moisture. Leaf rust was widespread and stem rust was reported in scattered localities of that area. Corn prospects were reported poor in most of the northern half of the state. But the outlook was more promising in Central Texas, where the crop ranged from knee-high to tasseling. Good crops of grain sorghums were nearly mature in the Rio Grande valley and Coastal Bend. Most sorghum acreage remains to be planted in North Texas and the Plains.

Sunny Spell Welcome Farmers, taking advantage of sunny spells, drilled sorghums and sudan and mowed hay. Broomcorn pulling started in the Beeville area but the bulk of the crop will not be ready for two weeks or so. The USDA said flaxseed remaining to be harvested was rapidly losing quality. Rice planting was reported progressing and nearly complete in the eastern area. A good pecan crop has set. A few peaches were harvested in north-east Texas and the Fredericksburg area. The report said warmer, open weather the latter part of last week "was just what cotton needed." Development was satisfactory where crops were up to a stand. Harvest of lower Rio Grande Valley tomatoes was resumed in good volume at mid-week and shipments were expected to continue in fair volume another 10 days. The Valley had a light shipment of cantaloupes.

VROMAN, Colo. (UP) — An Amarillo, Tex., truck driver, Charles Jones, was first at the scene where a Santa Fe freight train struck a truck killing 12 persons Tuesday, and became an indirect "casualty" himself. Jones came upon the scene minutes after the crash occurred. He stopped his truck and ran to give first aid to some of the victims. He told authorities later, his small first aid kit was "wholly inadequate" for the job. He began getting sick as others reached the scene and returned to his truck.

Risk Involved When Nixon Cheered Ike

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—It was by calculated risk and no mere chance that Vice President Richard M. Nixon stood up last night to be counted as an all-out cheer leader for the Eisenhower administration.

It was a calculated risk of presidential politics looking to the 1960 Republican nomination. It was no mere chance because Nixon has repeated the maneuver three times this month.

The vice president is likely to be on his feet a good part of the time between now and the 1960 Republican National Convention. He will be telling the voters, especially Republican voters, that they should rally to Eisenhower's support.

Faces Difficult Audience Nixon's defense of the Eisenhower administration last month was before the Iron and Steel Institute in New York. It was all out, unqualified by reservations or doubts. Next came the vice president's address June 5 at Asheville, N.C., before the General Federation of Women's Clubs. He faced a more difficult audience the next day here in Washington.

The occasion was a grass roots Republican conference summoned to harmonize party differences over President Eisenhower's big spending budget. Preliminary regional conferences had established the fact of disharmony and disapproval among local party leaders.

Nixon chose to champion in that speech the modern Republicanism to which party conservatives object. His advice was that the Republicans should cease squabbling among themselves and devote their energies to battling Democrats. As in New York in May, Nixon aligned himself firmly with the administration and its policies.

Urgent Support Plea To the women assembled in Asheville, Nixon directed an urgent plea for support of the administration with special emphasis on three hotly controversial subjects:

1. National defense spending.
2. Foreign military and economic aid.
3. The pending civil rights bill.

His most recent speech was Sunday night before the graduating class of the University of Michigan. In that address, Nixon defended Eisenhower's decision to aid Communist Poland, and spoke for moderation in any legislation to curb labor union abuses — the position taken by the Eisenhower administration.

By these speeches and others to come, Nixon is identifying himself as an administration candidate for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination. By so identifying himself, Nixon is sacrificing some conservative Republican support and he is aware of that.

Hillbillie TV Injected Into Spanish Navy

By JAMES BAAR
United Press Staff Correspondent
ABOARD THE SPANISH SCHOONER DE EL CANO (UP)—A bunch of TV hillbillies wowed the pride of the Spanish navy.

The 400 officers and men aboard the Spanish four-masted sailing ship Juan Sebastian de Elcano may never be the same. They sailed into Hampton Roads to prepare for the International Naval Review whistling a little ditty named "Cacklin' Hen."

The CBS Jimmy Dean Show climbed aboard the big schooner Monday night waving fiddles and gee-tars. Before they left, they had the sons of old Seville join in on a chorus of "Y'all Come." Then Dean sang "Anytime" from half-way up the rigging. "This is some ship, I want you to know," he shouted and the sailors cheered.

French, English and American sailors crowded the deck with the Spaniards and lined the rails of neighboring warships to catch a bit of American culture. Dean shouted "grah - cias, grah - cias" and called Jan Crockett, the former Miss Florida. She did the hula and didn't need an interpreter.

"The hands tell it," a Spanish midshipman shouted happily. Afterwards, the Spaniards invited Dean, Miss Florida and company below decks for some Spanish hospitality and a tour of the ship's mahogany paneled and stained glass public rooms.

"Man what a bachelor's apartment this would make," a fiddle player said. Miss Florida offered the ship's first officer a pink cigaret. "I never see such a colored cigaret in my life," he said.

If You Are Heading For A Wedding, Better Start Preparations Now

A June wedding, traditionally the fanciest as well as the most romantic, can cost quite a bit of money — and someone has to foot the bill.

About all it really takes to get married of course is a license. Most weddings however, regardless of the date, cost so much that even though you're heading for a wedding as far ahead as June of next year, it may be a good idea for you to get started now on your financial preparations for the big event.

And these preparations should, in most cases, include a program of systematic saving at your local bank.

Since wedding costs are usually shared, it's important for everyone involved to know who's responsible for what, and to have some idea of the amount of money to be set aside or saved in order to avoid any last-minute embarrassment.

The bride's family, customarily, bears the largest share of the expense. Specifically, it is responsible for the invitations and announcements; clothes for the bride, groom's ring if he is to get one (there's a trend in this direction); gifts and coverages for the bridesmaids; church expenses of organist, soloist, sexton; reception refreshments and flowers; and photographs.

The groom's family, as its contribution, takes care of the bride's ring; clothes for the groom; gifts for attendants; flowers for the bride and for both mothers and grandmothers; boutonnières for the men, marriage license; and gift for the honeymoon.

While there's no limit to what can be spent on a wedding, here are a few average costs as reported by the family-finance experts of the American Bankers Association.

A "small" church wedding, limited to the immediate family, with home reception, costs the bride's family about $200, the groom's family $50.

An "average" church wedding with reception at the church for about 150 guests, costs the bride's family about $750, the groom's $200.

The de luxe affair, with reception at hotel or country club and virtually an unlimited number of guests, will cost the bride's family at least $3000 (more, of course, if it gets very elaborate), and $500 for the groom's.

When it comes to the honeymoon, the financing of course is up to the groom, and as with the wedding, the amount spent can be as little or as much as one desires. The bride, though, must also figure on some expenses incidental to the honeymoon — such as the cost of new luggage and special clothes she may need for travel or resort wear.

Besides acting as the repository of their savings, banks may also be helpful to the couple in connection with their honeymoon. Many banks have travel departments that will help plan the trip and make necessary reservations.

Smart couples, it should be added, carry their financial planning well beyond the wedding and honeymoon. Instead of spending all their money at once, they recognize the need of getting a good start on their savings for such things as home furnishings, appliances, down payment on a new home — and a visit from the stork!

Girl Scout Activities

The last meeting for the current scouting year for Troop 19 was in the form of an out-door hamburger-barbecue for the scouts and their parents in the home of their leader, Mrs. E. J. Griffin, 1324 Hamilton with the assistant leader, Mrs. Carl Warner, assistant hostess.

Scouts, who acted as hostesses for their parents, were Misses Nan Nickols, Georgana Jackson, Peggy Griffin, Marden Deer, Karen Hoover, Brenda Tracy, Sherry Lynn Warner, Hattie B. Goodwyn, Prudence Skelly, and Bennie Alice White.

Money for the outing was derived from the Scout's portion of their cookie sales.

Brownie Troop One finished their year's work by having a "fly-up" ceremony in the Girl Scout Little House with their parents and friends as guests.

As a part of the program, the Brownies conducted a model-meeting for their parents.

Standing before a table centered with an arrangement of red roses flanked by lighted tapers, the scouts gave the Girl Scout laws and lighted candles, and then saluted the leader, giving her Girl Scout pledge. The leader returned the salute and then presented the girl with her Girl Scout pin and fly-up wings.

After the ceremony, punch and cookies were served to Cheryl Kiser, Kay Smith, Nancy Holt, Barbara Holt, Nancy Hall, Barbara Zimmerman, Kay Fort, Marie Engle, Mike Smith, Jimmy Hall, Bob Zimmerman, Mike Kiser; Messrs. and Mmes. Richard Zimmerman, James Hall, Tony Smith, Frank Engle, John Holt, Jr.; Mmes. Warren Kiser and L. P. Fort.

All of the girls received a service star for their year's work.

Fly-ups are Nancy Hall, Kay Smith and Sheri Kiser.

The Scouts handcraft work, which they have made during the year, was on display. Among these were baskets, pictures, first-aid kits, vases, canteens, drinking cups, sit-upons and miser bags.

Paper Plates Do Away With Much Drudgery

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Today's young homemakers have learned that the drudgery of dishwashing can be intelligently bypassed. Modern paper plates offer one solution.

In the kitchen they can be used to protect work surfaces from drippy mixing spoons; placed under the flour sifter; and as handy platters when chopping fruit, vegetables and nuts.

They are hygienic for feeding baby and their use banishes dirty dishes from after-school or mid-night snacks.

CELERY - OVEN - FRIED CHICKEN (4 servings)
One-half cup all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon celery seed, one 3-pound frying chicken, cut in serving pieces, ¼ cup melted butter or margarine, ¼ cup salad oil. Combine flour, salt, pepper and celery seed. Coat chicken with flour mixture. Combine butter or margarine and oil; pour into shallow baking pan. Arrange chicken, skin-side down, in butter or margarine mixture.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 45 minutes; turn chicken. Bake 45 minutes more or until chicken is tender; baste occasionally with drippings during baking period. Serve on plastic-coated paper plates.

Tomorrow's Dinner: Celery-oven-fried chicken, frozen potato puffs, frozen baby Lima beans, heated rolls, butter or margarine, sliced tomatoes with chopped scalions, cantaloupe filled with fresh berries, coffee, tea, milk.

Other officers elected for the coming year are Mrs. Wayne Jones, vice president; and Mrs. Charles Beard, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Rose reported that the circle had been quite active in church activities, as well as in various relief programs during the past year.

The main feature of the meeting was a panel discussion composed of three adults and three young people on "Do Parents Always Know Best."

Adults taking part in the panel were Clyde Carruth, Mrs. Garvin Elkins and Mrs. Robert Swope. Taking the side of the young people were Jeanie Lee, Larry Minnich, and Shirley Moore.

Recently the circle presented a home and family life program under the direction of Mrs. Robert Lee and Don Elledge.

Another recent project of the circle was attending the denomination's district rally at Waka. Those from Pampa making the trip were Mmes. Dean Burger, Charles Beard, Don Elledge, Wayne Jones, Russell West, Wayne Irwin and Ray Burger.

Themes of the rally was "Spiritual Enrichment."

Adult-Youth Topic Presented At Meet

Mrs. Ernest Rose was elected president of the Lydia Circle, a women's church auxiliary club, of the Church of the Brethren last Wednesday at their regular meeting.

GS Council Makes Plans For Year

The executive board of the Top of Texas Girl Scout Council met in session in the Girl Scout office recently. The resignations of Mrs. Calvin Duncan, training chairman, and Mrs. J. G. Crinklaw, treasurer, were accepted.

Discussions were held and plans were made for a barbecue to be given for Girl Scouts and their parents, either on September 13 or 20. Definite date to be set later.

Due to the large crowds attending the Girl Scout banquet last year, at which time, it was necessary to refuse reservations for those who wished to attend, it was decided to hold two banquets this year; one for Brownies and one for Intermediates, Senior Scouts and the council, in order that everyone, who wishes to do so, may attend.

It was approved by the council to combine neighborhood meeting one month and a leaders meeting on month and a leaders meeting on alternate months.

The council is preparing a Patrol Troop Encampment to help prepare girls for the 1959 National Round-Up.

Mrs. Holt, president of the council, announced that there would be another board meeting in July, and that the Day Camps, which are in progress this week and next, were ready to go.

SKELLYTOWN — Brownie Troop 52, directed by Mmes. Delmar Parsons and H. A. Werley, held a wiener roast at the home of Mrs. Parsons recently. Each Brownie made a sun bonnet, a cup, and also a sit-upon to take to day camp.

Girls attending were Becky Durning, Rita McAllister, Anita Werley, Diana Parsons, Carol Ogle, Margaret White, Donna McKisick, Sandra Werley, Lillie Hassler, Linda Green and Glenda Lockhart.

Manners Make Friends

If you are a guest in someone's home, it is in the worst of taste to criticize to others the hostess' taste in furniture, or find any fault with her. That is abusing hospitality. A guest may think "Never again" after a dull evening. But he doesn't say anything that is unkind to anyone.

Minister's Family Welcomed Back

Members of the First Methodist Church had a covered-dish and welcome-back dinner for Rev. and Mrs. Jim Sharp in the Fellowship Hall of the church recently.

H. B. Hill gave the invocation, followed by the dinner, which was served under the direction of Mrs. Cecil Cardwell and her committee.

Mrs. Boyd Williams, president of WSCS, acted as master of ceremonies. J. R. Benson gave the devotional.

Mrs. Williams, on behalf of the WSCS, presented Mrs. Sharp with a $50 certificate; Glenn Bell, chairman of the board, presented Rev. Sharp with a $50 gift certificate, also.

Between 100 and 150 guests attended.

Cards Take 7 Straight With Win Over Phillies

Fifth Team In NL Race Two Games Behind First

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals' longest winning streak in five years today turned the National League race into a five-team donnybrook that threatens to make last year's three-team affair look like a tea party.

The Cardinals, who hadn't won seven straight games since August 1952, reached that total Tuesday night when they celebrated Stan Musial's record-tying 822nd consecutive game with a 5-2 decision over the Philadelphia Phillies.

That victory combined with Pittsburgh's 5-1 win over Cincinnati and Milwaukee's 7-2 triumph over Brooklyn means there are a scant 33 percentage points separating the first and fifth-place teams in the N.L.

The world champion New York Yankees quieted talk of an impending American League runaway with a 3-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox that cut the losers' first-place margin to four games. The season's largest crowd—49,114—saw the Yankees hand the White Sox their third straight defeat and their fourth in five games.

Redlegs Pull "Triple"

Ruben Gomez pitched the New York Giants to 5-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs in the other N. L. game while the Cleveland Indians beat the Boston Red Sox, 7-6, and the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Detroit Tigers, 4-1, in other A. L. games. Washington at Kansas City was rained out.

Murry Dickson turned in a seven-hitter for his third victory behind a 15-hit St. Louis attack that included four hits by Al Dark and three by Del Ennis. Hal Smith homered for the Cardinals in the second inning and started a three-run rally in the sixth with a triple. Musial, who tied Gus Suhr's N. L. endurance mark, contributed only a single.

The Pirates were victimized by the first triple play of the N.L. season in the third inning but got off five-hit pitching from Bob Purkey to win their third straight game over a contender, Gene Baker and Bill Mazeroski had three hits each for the Pirates, who are "getting into the act" with seven victories in their last 11 games.

Bobby Thomson hit a grand slam homer and Joe Adcock also homered as the Braves connected for 11 hits to ease Ray Croce's path to his third win. Gino Cimoli and Roy Campanella homered for the Dodgers who dropped their fourth in a row.

Shantz Rolls On

Bobby Shantz won his sixth straight game for the Yanks and seventh of the year in the opener of the big three-game series with the White Sox. Mickey Mantle cracked his 18th homer to get the Yankees off in front in the first inning and scored the winning run after doubling in the fifth. Bob Grim finished up for Shantz, who weakened in the eighth.

Chico Carrasquel's two-run homer enabled the Indians to come from behind and tag relief ace Ike Delock with his sixth defeat. Roger Maris, Bob Avila and Jim Hegar also homered for the Indians and Ted Williams hit No. 14 for the Red Sox.

Jim Fyburn's two-run homer—his first round-tripper of the year—sparked the surprising Orioles to their third straight win and ninth in 12 games. Connie Johnson scattered eight hits to chalk up his fifth triumph of the season.

Giants Swap With Braves

BROOKLYN (UP)—If the New York Giants say "yes" today to a "solid, definite" offer made them by the Milwaukee Braves, Red Schoendienst will be coveting at second base for the Braves tonight.

And pitcher Gene Conley, second baseman Danny O'Connell, and outfielder Bobby Thomson—the man who won the 1951 "Little Miracle" pennant for the Giants—will be in Giant uniforms.

General Manager John Quinn of the Braves disclosed he made a firm trade offer to Giant vice-president Charles (Chub) Feeney Tuesday afternoon. He refused to name the players involved but it was learned the 3-for-1 swap outlined above was it.

The obstacle to the deal appeared to be Giant hopes of landing either pitcher Bob Buhl or pitcher Ray Crone instead of Conley, an off-and-on sore arm case.

Campanella Ranked Greatest HR Catcher

BROOKLYN (UP)—Roy Campanella of the Brooklyn Dodgers ranks officially today as the greatest homer-hitting catcher in National League history.

Campanella hit the 237th homer of his career in the seventh inning of Tuesday night's 7-2 loss to the Milwaukee Braves. He had been tied with Gabby Hartnett for the record.

Yogi Berra of the New York Yankees holds the major league mark of 244 homers by a catcher.

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Bill Engesser, seven-foot, one-half inch prep basketball star, said Tuesday he intends to enroll at the University of Southern California in the fall. If he does, Engesser will be the tallest player in the 50-year history of the sport at the school.

Jets Near First In Pennant Race

The Columbus Jets, slow starters in this year's International League pennant race, stand just one step away from the first division today.

Whammy Douglas, a tall right-hander, pitched the Jets to an 8-3 triumph at Rochester Tuesday night as Columbus moved to within a half game of the fourth-place Red Wings. Gail Henley struck the big blow of the night, a two-run homer in the fifth inning, to spark the Jets to their ninth victory in their last 11 games.

Cabot, Cree, Utility Take League Wins

In yesterday's Eastern Little League action Cabot eked out a win over the Hoffman Oil Company team 3 to 2. Cabot's cause was helped immensely by two home runs, one by J. Brashears and the other by J. Strickland.

Batteries for Cabot were Wright, Chase & Frits and for Hoffman Oil Co. were Arthur and Steimbridge.

In Western League play the Utility Oil & Supply Company beat the C. M. Jeffries Trucking Company team 18 to 1 yesterday afternoon. Batteries for C. M. Jeffries was Morgan and Hull and for Utility Oil & Supply were Cox & Storr. Winning pitcher was Cox with Morgan taking the loss.

The Pony League offered another close contest which seems to be the attraction each time the two teams meet, the Cree Drilling Co. team defeated the First National Bank team 8 to 6. Batteries for First National were Huffaker and Langley and for Cree Drilling Company were Wilson & Reed. Winning pitcher was Wilson, with Huffaker taking the loss.

Reds Maul Midland In Two-Header

A total of 20 pitchers worked in Southwest League action Tuesday night and gave up 104 hits as batters, mainly those who work for Clovis, fattened their averages.

League - leading Clovis picked up a game and a half on second place Ballinger as the Redlegs mauled Midland 17-5 and 18-5 in a doubleheader that offered fans more than four hours of baseball.

Both games ran only seven innings each.

San Angelo refused to follow suit and blanked Ballinger in a quiet 5-0 game. Plainview snapped a five-game losing streak with a 20-8 victory over El Paso and Carlsbad stomped Hobbs, 16-7.

Chico Alvarez stretched his league - leading home run output to 23 for Clovis, powering two in the first game and one in the second against Midland. He drove in a total of nine runs for the night.

Ed Raczynski and Buddy Grimes homered for Midland in the first game, and Hank O'Neal belted one for the Indians in the second.

Lou Zava's homer for Clovis in the second game.

John Yanchura slapped a solo homer in the sixth for San Angelo that broke a budding no-hitter by Ballinger's Bob Leach and sparked a four-run rally.

10-Run First

Rufus McNeal and Erwin Ford hit two-run homers for El Paso and Art Bowland, Felix Guzman and Howie O'Flynn homered for Plainview as the Ponies smashed 21 hits.

California Favored For College Title

OMAHA, Neb. (UP)—California was picked today as a solid favorite to win the national collegiate baseball title for the second time in the 11-year history of the event.

The Golden Bears, who routed Iowa State, 9-1, Tuesday night to remain unbeaten in the double elimination tournament, were to meet Penn State tonight for the title. The Nittany Lions edged Notre Dame, 5-4, to win a finals berth.

A California victory over once-beaten Penn State would mean the championship, while a Penn State victory would force a Thursday night rematch of the same clubs.

California was expected to start lanky George Sterling (4-0) against Penn State's Cal Emery (10-0).

The Bears staged an eight-run rally in the sixth inning Tuesday night to overcome a 1-0 Iowa State lead and oust the Cyclones from the tourney.

Penn State saved its win with two runs in the top of the ninth inning. The Nittany Lions led 5-2 when Notre Dame tallied twice in the ninth and had runners on first and third with two out.

Pitcher Ed Drapcho, however, got the final batter, Gene Duffy, to hit to the mound for an easy out.

CINCINNATI (UP)—Frank and Bob Birri, 18 and 19-year-olds, respectively, have been signed by the Cincinnati Redlegs and will report to the team's Savannah, Ga., farm club in the South Atlantic League on June 17. Both are graduates of American Legion baseball.

Hogan Again First Choice As Top Contender In US Open

TOLEDO, Ohio (UP)—Among the men who will try to whip "em, it's Ben Hogan as the man to beat in the U. S. Open which starts Thursday at Inverness with Slammin' Sammy Snead as the second choice and strong liking for such as Doug Ford, Jimmy Demaret and young Dow Finsterwald.

Curly-haired Jackie Burke summed it up succinctly when he was asked to name his three choices. The kid from Texas picked, in order, Hogan, Ford and Snead.

"A chalk eater, huh?" somebody sneered.

Jackie pinned the heckler with a blue-eyed glance and said: "When you come to the big ones, buster, I'll stay with those stake horses."

Like Old Timers

Demaret, one of the finest wind players and, as such, unquestionably to threat in this one, backed up young Jackie.

"You have to stick with the old timers for one-two," he grinned.

"So I like Hogan and Snead, with Finsterwald as an outside possibility."

Vic Ghezzi, the former PGA champion, horned in to add: "Personally, I like Demaret. He's playing as well as anybody on the circuit. After that you have to take a look at Ford and Snead. If it was the Ohio Open, instead of the National Open, I'd like Sam. But, as I've said before, he's finished second four times and he may need a new set of nerves."

Jimmy Thomson, whose forte is blasting the cover off the ball, thinks that Snead has "it."

"He's up," Thomson said, "and he's strong enough to get it out of the rough around Inverness. Also, you might say, it seems about time he won it. I've got to figure that old number two will finally make it number one."

Walt Burkemo, the chunky blond bomber from Detroit who is one of the game's finest match players, put in a strong vote for Demaret, to be followed home by

Texas School Teacher Blasts Pastrano In 10 Round Bout

By JOHN COLTON
United Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON (UP)—Roy Harris, the fighting schoolteacher from Cut and Shoot, Tex., took a big half-step toward a bid for the heavyweight title Tuesday night with a unanimous 10-round decision over third-ranked Willie Pastrano of New Orleans.

To complete the step, the lanky Harris must beat Pastrano again in a rematch called for in the contract within 60 days.

The 22-year-old backwoods heavyweight upset Pastrano by pressing the light-footed Louisiana and apparently keeping him off balance.

Pastrano, unusually sluggish in his dressing room Harris is "strong, but he didn't hit me with nothing that hurt me."

Harris received gashes over his left eye and over his nose from what he called "unintentional butts" during furious infighting in the seventh round. When he came out for the seventh, Pastrano laced him with lefts that tore open the cuts and Harris spurted blood all over the ring until the round ended.

He had no more trouble with the cuts, although both fighters were going for broke during the last two rounds.

Pastrano was unmarked.

There wasn't anything close to a knockdown, although Harris poked a stinging right into Pastrano's left eye in the second, and Pastrano rocked Harris with a right in the sixth and a left in the ninth.

Pastrano, forsaking his ballroom style, charged from his corner at the bell starting the third and met Harris as the latter was moving from his corner and drove the Texas heavy champion into the ropes.

Angelo Dundee, Pastrano's trainer, took a dim view of the decision. He said "People told me it was close we couldn't win."

Enters Reserve

The contract calls for a rematch within 60 days in Miami Beach, Fla., and Dundee wanted it as soon as possible "so we can tear him (Harris) up."

However, the time and place seemed uncertain. Harris Saturday enters the Army reserve for two weeks, and Pastrano goes into the Navy reserve for three weeks in July.

Also, Harris' manager, Benny King, said he was offered $10,000 for the return match in New Orleans.

Harris weighed 190 for last night's brawl. Pastrano 187.

In a semifinal bout, Roland LaStarza, who once challenged Rocky Marciano for the heavy title and lost, took a three-round TKO from Jimmy McMillan of Newark, N. J.

Score Again Delayed From Return To Play

CLEVELAND (UP)—Cleveland pitcher Herb Score, sidelined by a severe eye injury since May 7, will be unable to return to action until at least August 1.

After an eye examination Tuesday, Score was told he must remain relatively inactive for another four weeks. The treatment was prescribed by eye specialist Dr. Charles Thomas who has treated Score since the pitcher was struck in the eye by a line drive.

After the examination Dr. Thomas said, "Herb's condition is greatly improved and his eye has responded well so the medication prescribed for him."

Hogan Again First Choice As Top Contender In US Open

Ford and Finsterwald.

Julius Boros, picked by Pete Cooper to win a head-and-head battle from Hogan and Snead, shrugged off his chances by talking for Hogan and Arnold Palmer in that order.

Worsham Likes Thomson

"That one's from play and his ability to fight that wind which whips in off Lake Erie has to favor Peter Thomson," former Open king Lew Worsham asserted. "After that, look out for Finsterwald and Palmer."

Former PGA champion Chick Harbert nodded confirmation. "That Thomson is my man," he said. "After that I'll take Snead and Finsterwald."

So, with the big one just one day away, the consensus is Hogan. But, as usual, Old Fearless is going to have to go with Slammin' Sammy Snead. To me, it would be one of the best sports stories of all time if the balding from the West Virginia hills could win it.

And I think he can.

Merian Bailey 1st Round Leader In Women's Tourney

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UP)—Favored Merian Bailey led the championship field of the National Women's Intercollegiate Golf Tournament into the second round today.

Miss Bailey, a Northwestern junior, scored a 7 and 5 victory over Sarah Gipson of the University of Illinois in the first round Tuesday. She shot a 79 in the qualifying round Monday to share medalist honors with Ann Rutherford, a Penn State senior, and Judy Bell of the University of Arizona.

Hot Back Nine

Furgol, whose left arm is withered and who is bothered by a bone chip in right arm, shot a four under par 32 on the back nine on a practice round.

Ben Mentally Perfect

As for his putting, the veteran Gene Sarazen, one of the former champs in the field who has been testing the course with Hogan in practice rounds, suggested there was nothing for Ben to worry about.

NEW YORK (UP)—

Ron Murphy, who has been bouncing back and forth from the New York Rangers to minors, has been sold to the Chicago Black Hawks in exchange for 22-year-old center Hank Ciesla. Murphy, a 23-year-old wing, scored seven goals and had 12 assists last season in 33 games. Ciesla netted eight goals in his rookie season with the Hawks.

Something 'New' Is Expected To Win The National Open

THE SPORTS PATROL

By STEVE SNIDER
NEW YORK, June 11 (UP)—This is supposed to be the year someone new wins the U. S. Open Golf championship starting Thursday at Toledo, Ohio, but an even better bet is that some "thing" new will win.

That can be Ben Hogan's new baseball-bat putting grip, Doug Ford's new power swing, Jimmy Demaret's rebuilt accuracy swing, Sam Snead's new attitude, Ed Furgol's new system to calm his nerves or even Cary Middlecott's new bloom if he takes the trouble to slim through it again before he tees off on the first round.

Hoovers Win First Game In TA Tilt

In Teen-Age League play at Harvester Park last night the C. R. Hoover Oilers downed the Pampa News team 7-5.

Morrow, Delaney Compete Saturday

AUSTIN (UP)—Sprinter Bobby Morrow of Abilene Christian and Villanova's Ron Delaney vie for individual honors Saturday night in the National Collegiate Track and Field championships, heavily favored in two races, each.

Morrow would be the 18th man in meet history to score a double in sprints if he wins the 100 and 220-yard dashes.

Dublin-born Delaney could stage a more spectacular sweep with a conquest of the mile and half-mile combination, which has been accomplished only once in the NCAA's 36-year history.

Delaney ran the fastest mile-880 combination in track history last week at Houston's Meet of Champions with 4:05.4 in the mile and 1:55.1 in the 880.

Morrow is defending champion in the century and the 220 dashes. He turned in a 9.4 on the 100 this year and a 20.6 mark in the 220.

The double shot at the mile-880 has been by-passed many times at the national meet. Wes Santee, former Kansas miler, by-passed the double in 1953 after setting the present mile record for the meet of 4:03.7.

Delaney was regarded as a certainty to go for both, since Villanova will be seeking a team championship—won only by Navy in 1945.

California's Don Bowden, who set an American record of 2:38.7 in the mile, will be challenging Delaney in the 880. Bowden isn't expected to run the mile. The Californian holds the best 880 time for 1957 of 1:47.8.

LONDON (UP)—

Soviet runner Albert Ivanov set a 30,000-meter world record of 1 hour, 35 minutes, 1 second Thursday, according to a Tass News Agency report received here. Ivanov clipped 2.6 seconds off the former record set by Antt Viikari in Finland on Oct. 21, 1956, according to the agency.

VANCOUVER, B. C. (UP)—

J. Krol, former University of Detroit tackle who was drafted by the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League in 1954, has signed a contract for 1957 with the British Columbia Lions of Canada's Western Interprovincial Football Union. Krol played the 1954 season with the Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Union, and spent the past two seasons in the armed forces.

Indians 7-2 Over Dallas

By UNITED PRESS

The league leading Dallas Eagles are through with the pesky Oklahoma City Indians until early next month and the departure didn't come any too soon for Eagles manager Saly Parker.

The Indians unleashed their big bats against a pair of Dallas twirlers again Tuesday night for a 7-to-2 victory that gave them a four to one edge in the series.

The Indians are the only outfit in the league to hold a season edge over the front-running Eagles.

Despite the setback, Dallas clung to a 4½ game lead over Houston, however, since Austin's Mike Clark whitewashed the second-place Buffs 4-0.

In other action Tuesday night, third-place San Antonio scored its fourth straight victory over Shreveport Sports with an 8-6 decision, and Tulsa made it three-out-of-four over Fort Worth with a 4-3 victory.

The northern clubs open a southern tour tonight with Dallas at Houston in a showdown struggle. Tulsa at Austin, Oklahoma City at San Antonio and Fort Worth at Shreveport.

NEW YORK (UP)—

The New York Giants Thursday traded a "high draft choice" in next season's annual National Football League draft to the Los Angeles Rams for tackle Charley Two-good. Two-good, who played his collegiate ball at the University of Nebraska, is a six-year veteran of the NFL.

Statement On Ponies Expected

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (UP)—An official statement is expected Friday as to whether the Plainview club of the Southwestern League will fold or attempt to remain in the league.

Fans and stockholders recommended Monday night that the club turn its franchise back to the league after Saturday's game due to a lack of finances.

League President W. J. Green said Plainview officials said "they have decided to continue at least temporarily and hope to be able to finish the season."

However, the Plainview club's board of directors said they had made no agreement with anyone to go on, but that they would "if the proper help is forthcoming."

The board of directors meets Friday. The board has taken no action yet on the recommendation Monday night.

What is so unique about Hathaways?

(Ask the man who owns a few)

ELLERTON JETTE OWNS two hundred and seventy-nine Hathaway shirts, all different. And why shouldn't he, seeing that he makes them?

The remarkable thing is that each of his shirts is utterly different from the others.

When Mr. Jette joined Hathaway some twenty-five years ago, the company was producing the same finely tailored shirts as they do now. But the variety was limited. Mr. Jette felt that the pack. It is Hathaway who set the pace. They are pioneers in new collar designs. Their motto "Never wear a white shirt until sundown" started today's elegantly practical fashion of colored shirts for daytime wear.

And for spring, Hathaway offers you their unique "Suburban" shirts—which combine the comfort of sport shirts with the exquisite tailoring of dress shirts.

Mr. Jette has added other exclusive custom touches to Hathaways. One-piece sleeves, requiring extra bother to tailor, which show less bulk and allow more freedom. Large ocean pearl buttons. Generous shirt tails that stay tucked in. Smart square cuffs. The French front to eliminate puckering.

And, of course, Baron Wrangle "the man with the eyepatch" who epitomizes the man for whom Hathaway exists.

All of this is a far cry from what a shrewd Yankee, Charles F. Hathaway by name, envisioned some 119 years ago in Waterville, Maine.

Mr. Hathaway was looking about for a business and, shirts being what they were in 1837, decided that he could make better shirts than he could buy.

Rounding up some of the ladies of Waterville, Hathaway put them to work sewing shirts in the parlor of his house. Whenever they had produced a trunkful he would go rattling off on the stage to Boston to sell the shirts.

He discovered his premise had been correct. The folks in Boston liked their Hathaways so much that soon demand outstripped production. Sewing machines were brought in. A wing was added to the house. More ladies were persuaded to join the company. Orders came in from other parts of the country. Charles Hathaway had found his métier.

By 1900 C. F. Hathaway had 125 employees. Today more than eleven hundred men and women are at work tailoring your magnificent Hathaway shirts.

The rambling old Hathaway house still stands in Waterville. It is now headquarters for the company and people who carry on the Hathaway tradition.

We feel that old Charles Hathaway would be very tickled if not a mite overwhelmed, at what's happened to the business he began. And we know he'd like two hundred and seventy-nine of our superb Hathaways for himself, too.

Bond Law Protects Farmers

AUSTIN (UP) — Texas farmers were reminded Tuesday they are now protected by a state-wide fruit and vegetable bonding and licensing law.

The measure was put into effect as a protection against unscrupulous buying operations. Until this year, the law affected only certain counties in South Texas and the Rio Grande Valley.

Agriculture Commissioner John White said the law is designed to eliminate "hot check" payments and failures by buyers to fulfill contracts.

Unless payments to producers are made on a cash basis, commissioner merchants, dealers brokers and agents must now be licensed and bonded to do business, White said. Violation provides for a sentence of up to one year in jail and maximum fine of $1,000.

US May Have Some Local 'Oriental Flu' Epidemics

WASHINGTON (UP)—Scattered local epidemics of "Oriental flu" may break out in several parts of the United States this summer. But the nation is not likely to have a major nationwide epidemic until next fall or winter—if then.

That is the present appraisal of U.S. Public Health Service authorities keeping close watch on the new strain of influenza virus sweeping the Far East. So far there have been more than one million cases of flu, with a death rate of about one half of one percent in the epidemic which began in Hong Kong in mid-April.

The Public Health Service disclosed Monday that U.S. drug manufacturers have already developed a vaccine against the new type of virus. Experimental lots are being tested at the National Institutes of Health here. Test will take from 10 days to two weeks.

If the vaccine proves satisfactory, Surgeon General LeRoy H. Burney said the Defense Department is "actively considering" placing orders for about 4 million shots. That would be more than enough to protect all the 2,500,000 U.S. servicemen in this country and abroad.

Burney said that filling of the military order would take full production facilities of six major U.S. drug companies for at least 6 to 8 weeks. Before then, he indicated, a decision will be reached on whether mass production should continue to provide vaccine for widespread civilian inoculations.

Officials see no particular urgency for production of vaccine for the civilian population. It is extremely rare for any widespread outbreak of flu to occur in his country during summer months.

Most flu epidemics historically have occurred between November and March. One exception was the "great pandemic" of 1918-19 which began in Boston in September 1918, and spread like wildfire until it hit nearly 50 per cent of the population. That epidemic claimed about 550,000 lives.

VIENNA, June 8 (UP) — Some 12,000 Hungarian refugees will still be in Austria at the end of the current year, a Ministry of Interior spokesman said yesterday.

Lebanon Inflicts A Defeat On Nasser

Foreign News Commentary
By M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Lebanon has inflicted the latest of a series of defeats on pro-Russian, anti-Western President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt.

The pro-Western, anti-Communist government of Lebanon has won 19 out of 22 seats contested in a national parliamentary election. This follows the successful victory of King Hussein of Jordan against the leftist elements who, with Nasser's backing, plotted to overthrow him.

It follows also the meeting in Karachi, Pakistan, which greatly strengthened the anti-Communist Middle Eastern Treaty Organization—the so-called Baghdad Alliance—that Nasser bitterly opposes.

At present, Egypt and its fellow-traveler Syria are very nearly isolated in the Arab world.

Refuse To Follow Lebanon, Iraq, Jordan and Saudi will have refused to follow Nasser. The remaining countries of the nine-nation Arab League, Yemen, the Sudan and Libya, are giving Nasser no support.

Further, the pro-Russian government of Syria is meeting increasingly strong resistance by anti-Communists in parliament. It has long been apparent that Nasser's hope of making himself the leader of the Arab countries has been shattered.

King Saud of Saudi Arabia had a great deal to do with that. Saud's influence in the Arab world certainly is equal to Nasser's. Saud's visit to President Eisenhower last January and February marked an important turn of Arab countries toward the West.

Nasser's setbacks, of course, mean a setback also for Soviet Russia in its persistent attempt to penetrate the Middle East. Correspondingly, they constitute a victory for the United States and especially for the Eisenhower Doctrine against Communist infiltration in the Arab countries.

Pro-Nasser Platform The opponents of pro-Western Premier Sami el Solh in the Lebanese election campaigned frankly on a pro-Nasser platform.

In the voting which took place Sunday, the pro-Nasser candidates won just two of the 22 seats at issue. The government would have won 20 instead of 19 seats had not an independent candidate taken sufficient votes in one district to defeat Solh's man.

Dinner To Honor New Residents At Shamrock

(Special to The News)
SHAMROCK — A community dinner will be held at Shamrock at 8 p.m. next Friday, Sam Pagan, president of the chamber of commerce announced.

The purpose of the dinner is to welcome and get acquainted with the new residents who have recently moved to that community.

Fred Thompson, chairman of ticket sales, said that tickets are now on sale.

Harry Clay will be master of ceremonies and Henderson Coffman will have charge of the program.

"Business firms are urged to purchase tickets for their employees," Thompson said.

Shamrock Youngsters Attend Meet

(Special to The News)
SHAMROCK — Charlie Gus Brothers, and Miss Lee Henderson were chosen by the Shamrock High School faculty to attend Boys State and Girls State respectively.

Boys state opened June 5 and closed today, and Girls State began yesterday and will continue through June 19.

The American Legion, assisted by the Boosters Club, Rotary Club and Lions Club, sponsored the boys while the American Legion Auxiliary sponsors the girls.

The pair was chosen on the basis of leadership, ability, scholastic record, honesty and loyalty.

Charlie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Brothers of Shamrock and Miss Henderson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Henderson of Twitty.

The remaining 44 of the 66 seats in Lebanon's single-chamber parliament are to be contested in a succession of elections in other parts of the country on the next three Sundays. There is no reason to believe that the leftists can do any better than they did in the first one.

Review Fleet Starts Shift Of Positions

NORFOLK, Va. (UP)—The gunmetal gray ships of a great international review fleet today began the dangerous shifting of their positions to form a long finger of naval might pointing toward the open sea.

The maneuver called for moving more ships on one day than ever before in the war-torn history of Hampton Roads.

A Navy spokesman said the shifting of 85 American warships and 33 warships from 17 visiting nations had been worked out with such precision that it was expected to be completed without major difficulties.

Rear Adm. Claude V. Ricketts planned to direct the operation from a Navy blimp hovering over the roadstead and the flag-decked ships.

Buoys were placed in advance along the 14-mile course from Hampton Roads to the Virginia Capes. Plans called for the ships to anchor at the buoys in a double row which the review ships will sail down and back tomorrow.

The Navy ordered the fleet to move to the buoys in a kind of giant water ballet, which involved such huge floating fortresses as the 60,000-ton U.S. supercarrier Saratoga, the 40,000-ton British carrier Ark Royal and the American battleships Iowa and Wisconsin. Most of them need more than a half dozen tugs to navigate them while in narrow waters near dozens of other ships.

Dreams Can Be Cruel

Much of man's ability to progress is directly related to his dreams. If man were easily satisfied, which he is not, he would probably make little progress.

But dreams can be cruel. And one of our problems relates to the inability of so many to dream intelligently. It is not enough to dream. Dreaming helps to build the future only when those dreams can be harnessed to reality.

Many of our mentally mal-adjusted are merely the victims of their own dreams. They have imagined that the world is a different place than it really is.

To us it seems that much of the reported increase in mental ill health can be traced directly to our government school system where two things, both evil, are encouraged. One is the false dream, which encourages persons of little if any talents or abilities, to fancy themselves as recipients of great rewards for no effort.

Many of our young people lacking the fundamentals of the great skills necessary, are led to believe that just as soon as the world recognizes what latent abilities they imagine they possess, they will be the center of popular acclaim and large income.

The other evil occurs with other young people. Those are the ones who take to heart the admonition that it is better not to dream at all. They are groomed in "practicality" and conclude that the only thing that matters in the least is the result, never mind the methods used in obtaining the result.

If a young person can avoid classification in either of these groups, then he has a chance. But unfortunately, our government schools do not encourage such individuals.

These are the persons who have learned to dream, beginning their dreams with the reality of life as it is. They take the facts as they are. From there they work toward other facts as they can become.

Thomas Edison provides us with an example. Here was a profound dreamer. The government schools had no time for him and kicked him out. It was probably what saved him. He saw things as they were. But he dreamed of things as they could become.

Another figure is equally well known, Abraham Lincoln. Here is one of the giants of American literature, although he is better known as a politician.

Examples such as these abound. The giants of our industry, the creative geni of our time were invariably the persons who learned to dream and then managed to harness their dreams to living reality.

What must be seen is that dreams in themselves are not enough. Nor is life particularly appealing without them. Each of us is challenged, not only to dream, but to make his dreams come true.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

Religion And Evolutionary Progress III.

I am continuing to quote from H. Bayard Phillips' address at an Evening Forum at the Arlington Street Church in Boston, Mass., on the subject of "Religion and Evolutionary Progress."

In the last article he related why the people in the United States made more progress than in other countries from a material standpoint. Then he continues:

"To advance as rapidly as possible is thus a moral obligation. The parable of the ten talents is an illustration of this principle. A religion based on progress is thus morally as well as scientifically justified, to give meaning to such a religion we must, however, have a more precise definition of progress."

"The conventional way to obtain such a definition would be to develop some abstract concept of value and in terms of this measure progress. Experience, I believe does not suggest that this is a hopeful procedure. In fact, those who have most stressed these abstractions have lagged rather than led the advance. For this there is a simple reason. Human imagination, even at best, merely reflects features which do or even exist objectively in nature. It thus seems better to base our fundamental ideas on the facts of the external world rather than on the second-hand construction of the human intellect."

"Turning then to the real world we find that a type of progress, now called evolution, has existed since life first appeared on the earth. It is curious that knowledge of this fact is of comparatively recent origin. The Greeks looked back to a period when the earth was occupied by gods from which their civilization had descended. In the Dark and Middle Ages people were too much concerned with the approaching end of the world to think much of the little progress which might be made in the meantime. It was not until about the 16th century, with the beginnings of physical science, that people began to speak of a future better than the present. It was only about a century ago that Darwin described the process of development for living organisms. It was only about 50 years ago that the genetic mechanism responsible for organic evolution was discovered. Even now the study of the similar development on the mental and social levels remains largely a work for the future."

"This natural evolution, mental and social as well as organic, has not been arbitrary. At each stage it has consisted in the development of species and societies better adapted to the environment had better able to utilize the available resources. Since this adaptation to environment and utilization of resources is restricted by absolute laws, the type of life and civilization which can evolve is essentially predetermined. It thus seems that nothing man can do will influence the final result."

"This determinism under the laws of evolution should not be confused with the Oriental idea of fate. This Oriental fate applies to the individual. Under evolution the individual is entirely free. It is only the destiny of the species, or system of life as a whole, which is determined. The development in time of this system of life might be compared with the flow of a fluid, but with certain essential differences due to differences in the scale of observation. The fluid is composed of molecules and the smallest drop we can observe contains an uncountable large number of these in rapid motion. During the shortest period of observation each molecule makes an enormous number of collisions with its neighbors. We can thus observe only average motion, and this average motion is determined by definite laws. If an individual were small enough to crawl between the molecules, the ones he could see would appear to be in completely chaotic motion. In the system of life under evolution each individual is like a molecule and his lifetime is comparable to the interval between consecutive collisions of this molecule with its neighbors. We, as molecular observers, see only the local chaotic motion. If this system were observed by a supergiant whose pulse beat once in a thousand years, he would see only the long-term average effects. To him the system of life would appear to advance smoothly under definite laws. This long-term advance as seen by such a supergiant is certain to occur. If our aspirations to promote progress are then to have any hope of success, we must define progress as this long-term development under evolution."

a footnote to the real Hiss story. The main volume is a chronicle of aberration, that's true — but the aberration of a brilliant man who, like too many other Americans, fell victim to the virus of a deadly foreign heresy.

"BASSETT, NEHR, LEADER: At the present time with the greatest prosperity our nation has ever known, nothing is being done to reduce our national debt, but rather the spending is at an accelerated rate. It is said the high rate of taxation is a curb to inflation. Perhaps it is, but for our money we would prefer to see the national debt rather than spend on 'programs.'"

Once Powerful Lobbies Have Been Smashed

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — If Congress succeeds in reducing the Eisenhower budget as a prelude to a sizable 1958 tax cut, it will be due largely to the fact that numerous once powerful lobbies on Capitol Hill have been smashed. The so-called "Third House of Congress" has lost the grip it once had on the legislative body.

This result did not derive from enactment of a weak and discredited Anti-lobby Law, or from the expose of the natural gas lobby, which tried to bribe several Senators with cold cash last year. It resulted from the realization that these special pleaders constitute a "gimme" group which the nation cannot afford.

Assuming that Congress will withstand their current attempts to recoup their losses, it is estimated that the saving for the taxpayers will exceed $5 billion. With an anticipated 1958 surplus of $10 billion, that would permit the second largest tax cut in 35 years.

In repelling these selfish and outside interests, Congress showed no respect for the humblest or highest appellants. It gave no more consideration to the braided brass from the Pentagon and idealistic internationalists than it did to the farm and labor blocs.

Congress will undoubtedly wind up by slicing several billions from the national defense and foreign aid items, despite President Eisenhower's belated rescue operation. It will be the first large-scale reduction in this field since the Marshall Plan was inaugurated in 1948.

The legislators performed a surgical operation on the costly soft bank. They refused to extend parity payments to crops other than those now listed as basic, causing a breakup of the once dominant farm bloc. Legislators from consumer areas were mainly responsible for this rebuff.

Labor has been treated more roughly than at any time since F.D.R.'s first term, when it enjoyed so many legislative grants. There has been no attempt to repeal or weaken the Taft-Hartley Act. There is no sentiment for the AFL-CIO demand that the minimum hourly wage be increased from $1 to $1.25.

Appropriations for stricter enforcement of pro-labor statutes have been hacked. Finally, thanks to Dave Beck, union funds and activities will be brought under rigid Federal regulation. In general, there is a desire to relieve the workingman of the authority which compulsory unionization has exercised over him.

The public power enthusiasts of New Deal-Fair Deal days have not won a single victory at this session. The Federal Power Commission awarded the Hell's Canyon project to private interests, and the decision was upheld by the Supreme Court. Rate discrimination in favor of public power users has been checked on New York's two great ventures — the St. Lawrence and the Niagara Rivers. The "China Lobby" will find it difficult to survive anti-American riots on Formosa. Even Senator William F. Knowland, Chiang Kai-shek's champion, is disheartened. The most spectacular victim of anti-lobby sentiment has been Pan American World Airways, even though it retains prominent politicians — of both parties — on its payroll. In fact, its behavior accounted for the only increase in funds granted to the Commerce Department. For years, the Civil Aeronautics Board, a Commerce Department agency, made no check of Pan American's complicated finances and non-aviation investments for lack of personnel. In 1956, Congress provided funds for 25 additional auditors and accountants. They promptly discovered that Pan Am had claimed and obtained millions in subsidies which it did not deserve, according to CAB, which has demanded repayment. It is estimated that the total may amount to more than $50,000,000. As a result of these discrepancies, the economy-minded House Appropriations Committee approved funds for another 25 auditors. In its report, the committee noted that CAB was reviewing Pan Am's books for only the 1948-1953 period. It recommended strongly that CAB go back as far as 1938, when the basic commercial aviation law was passed. In that period, Pan Am has collected $1.5 billion in mail pay and subsidies from the U.S. treasury. Thus, when all these mighty and politically powerful lobbies fall, the taxpayers get a needed break!

FOR REFLECTION

With JAMES C. BOGERTSON, President, Suburban Mobilization

J.K. Galbraith, Professor of Economics at Harvard, in reviewing, in a recent issue of the New York Times Book Review, Columbia Economics Professor John Maurice Clark's new book, "Economic Institutions and Human Welfare," said: "The author keeps before his reader what many presume to speak on this subject have forgotten or ignored, which is that economic liberty consists not only in freedom of choice but also in having the chance to exercise a range of choices. The requirements here are that the range of alternatives shall be as rich as possible, as responsive as possible to the preference of the people, and as accessible and wellknown as possible."

This is one of the facts of economic life that I think needs to be emphasized, which is that economic liberty consists not only in freedom of choice but also in having the chance to exercise a range of choices. The requirements here are that the range of alternatives shall be as rich as possible, as responsive as possible to the preference of the people, and as accessible and wellknown as possible."

So, if we are going to uphold liberty, it is essential that we support an economic system that, instead of tending toward uniformity — and, hence, conformity — tends toward variety — and, hence, the greatest possible range of wholesome individual expression. Let us never forget that.

TOKYO — American soldier William S. Girard on the many offers of help he has received since he was charged with manslaughter in the death of a Japanese woman: "I just can't understand how an unimportant guy like me has so many friends."

Hit Once Again By The Carving Virus In London

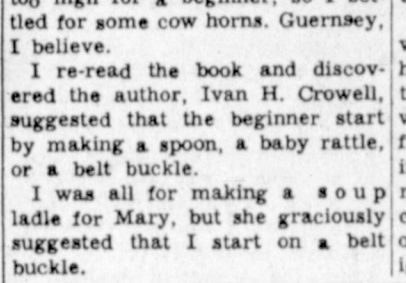

By HENRY McLEMORE

LONDON — Those of you who were reading my column back in February remember that I got carried away by juniper root carving when I was in Malta, and spent most of my time in that historic place locked in my hotel room, carving away on juniper roots. It all started when I happened across a book on juniper root carving in a second-hand book store, and caught the fever. Before I cooled off, I had made Mary half a dozen objects so lovely that she couldn't bear to keep them — she said they were so lovely she wanted friends to have them. Now the carving virus has hit me again. While browsing in Foyle's I ran across another book, reading it in one sitting. I wonder how I ever thought juniper root carving was fun. Horn carving is the ONLY type of carving, I hadn't read more than ten pages of HORN CRAFT (that's the name of the book) than I knew that the Tower of London would have to wait, and so would Westminster Abbey and Whipsnade Zoo. I had to carve some horns. I fairly itched to get a pair of antlers across my lap and get to work on an object d'art for my home. Luckily for me, I found a few blocks from our hotel a dealer in horns for carving. He had a storeful of buffalo, cattle, and goat horns. The buffalo horns ran a little too high for a beginner, so I settled for some cow horns. Guernsey, I believe. I re-read the book and discovered the author, Ivan H. Crowell, suggested that the beginner start by making a spoon, a baby rattle, or a belt buckle. I was all for making a soup ladle for Mary, but she graciously suggested that I start on a belt buckle.

"Make something for yourself," she said. "Something you can keep and wear. After all, you made all the juniper root things for me. I don't want to be selfish." That's one of the many things I love about Mary — she thinks of others before herself. So I went to work on a buckle. The instructions read: "File a piece of horn nearly flat, and then cut out two portions, leaving a central narrow standard through the middle. To cut out these portions drill a few small holes and cut out the remaining horn with a small chisel and smooth with a small flat file. Use sandpaper and steel wool to finish the buckle. Afterwards, apply two coats of floor wax as a polish." It was amazingly simple, the only difficulty being to persuade Mary to go out in a London rain for sandpaper, steel wool, and floor wax. She didn't want to go at first, but I guess I awayed her when I said that I was really making the buckle for her — that all I had to do to make it a novel sports belt for a girl was to bore a hole and put in a rhinestone. I am now working on a set of dominoes, also suggested by the author for beginners. Neither one of us play dominoes and I don't believe we have any friends who do — but even if we have to give them as a Christmas present to a family who forgot us last year, making them will be good practice for me. I look at horn carving this way: when a man retires, he should have a hobby. Everybody says that. So, when I get to be 96, and want to take it easy for ten or fifteen years, I'll have horn carving. My hobby will keep me out of mischief, and in that way I'll be contributing toward solving the old age delinquency problem, which is getting to be quite a serious one.

Fair Enough

Union Leaders Print Own Newspapers, Propaganda

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

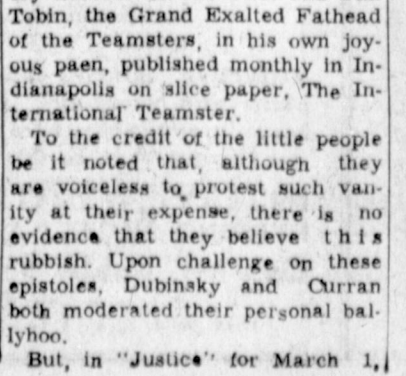

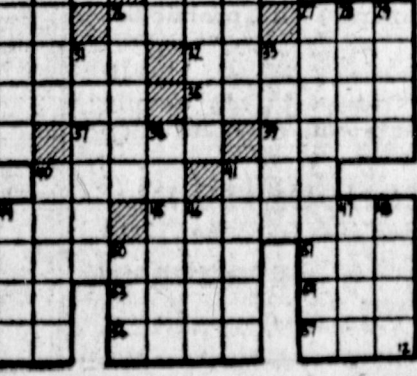

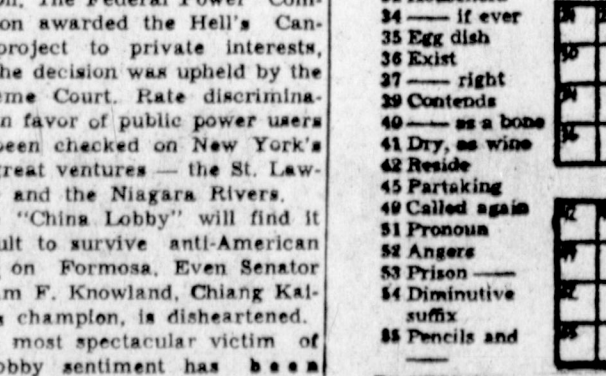

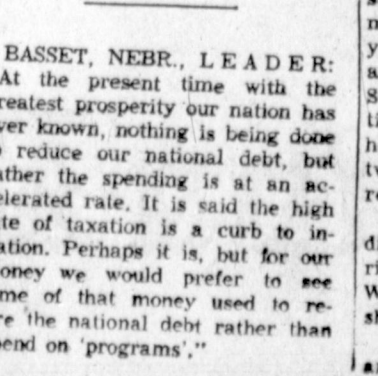

The charge against Dave Beck is "misappropriation" of money which, in legal theory, but never in practice, belongs to the faceless people who are the subjects of any such despot. By "misappropriation" we here mean theft, whether by embezzlement or whatsoever other technical specialty. But misappropriation is not necessarily larceny and the official conduct of Dave Dubinsky, the perpetual president — dictator of the Garment Workers' Union, is a flagrant case in point. Dubinsky prints a propaganda paper, devoted to self-education, called the United National and an arbitrary political attitude on foreign affairs. It is called "Justice." Although he has an employee for the job of "editor," Leon Stein by name, the boss of Leon Stein, named in the masthead, is "David Dubinsky, president and general secretary-treasurer."

Like Dave Beck, Joe Curran of the National Maritime Union and other unblinking fakers of the union racket, Dubinsky relies on docile and stupid submission for his success in the misappropriation of union money for his own aggrandizement. It has been said that Dubinsky has never stolen a dollar. Having no knowledge of the facts, I weave the point, noting, however that even if true this would establish no special claim on our tolerance of known and professed activities which are offensive on other grounds. Hitler, Mussolini or Stalin never stole a dollar, but, like Dubinsky, they exploited their powers to the denial of certain rights inherent in American citizenship. In passing, I may say that neither have I ever stolen a dollar; but that I nevertheless accept full responsibility for all I do.

Until about five years ago, Dubinsky's approval of Dave Dubinsky was so rapturous that almost every issue of "Justice" looked as though it could have been turned out by some saboteur within his own household to make him look absurdly vain. There were photographs of Dave Dubinsky in all the standard activities and postures of the socialistic patron of the little people and the cut-lines were no less lavish than those which drenched Joe Curran in every number of The Pilot and Dan Tobin, the Grand Exalted Fathead of the Teamsters, in his own joyous paen, published monthly in Indianapolis on slice paper, The Internationalist Hammer.

To the credit of the little people be it noted that, although they are voiceless to protest such vanity at their expense, there is no evidence that they believe this rubbish. Upon challenge on these epistles, Dubinsky and Curran both moderated their personal bal-lyhoos. But, in "Justice" for March 1,

Saddles And Six-Shooters To Blanket TV Next Fall

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (UP)— Saddles and six-shooters will blanket television next fall when westerns take over home screens. But lowering Jim Arness, whose "Gunsmoke" started the trend, isn't worried. Since the CBS-TV filmed series, plus Hugh O'Brian's "Wyatt Earp," became such successes, TV, like the movie industry, has clamped onto westerns as a sure-fire way to get audiences. Because show business producers and sponsors are traditionally trend followers, Earp, Dillon and other TV western stars will be joined next fall by the biggest stampede of sagebrush heroes in TV history.

A record number of television series bit the dust this spring to make way for the downpour of westerns and private eye series next fall. Thirty-four old series, nearly double last year's casualties, were axed, including "Private Secretary," "Bengal Lancers," "Noah's Ark" and "Hiram Holiday." ABC-TV leads the networks with eight others scheduled for next fall, followed by NBC and CBS with four each. Some of the new western series being filmed for fall release include "Wagon Train," "Tales of Wells Fargo," "Tales of Texas Rangers," "Bro-

BARBECUE—Bandleader Spike Jones demonstrates that he's serious about reforming his band—and his wardrobe. Spike and his wife, Helen, "barbecue" his loud plaids in the backyard of his Beverly Hills home. It's navy blue cashmere from now on for Spike, who's determined to get rid of his "musical clown" title. He says his television audience "likes the old favorites."
